Printing The News.

We often hear some thoughtless fellow say. "If I was running a paper, I would print the NEWS. I don't care who it might hit. If they don't want to get into the paper, let them keep out of trouble."

We remember one particular instance in which a similar remark was made.

We had, through the pleadings of an old mother and a tearful sister, "killed" a good story concerning the escapade of a rather worthless young fellow. But to his mother and sister he was not worthless, and they prevailed upon us not to print the item which would disgrace them forever. And we did not print it.

So we were accused of cowardice by this certain critic and were told that we did not know how to run a paper.

In vain we tried to explain that many things besides our own personal likes and dislikes entered into our weekly labor.

It was no use, he said, we should print the news.

Six months later the same man came sneaking up to our home in the dead of night to plead and beg with us not to print a much worse story in which he himself was mixed up.

We had the story but had no intention of printing it, for it was one of those things that it is best for all concerned and for the public, to suppress.

But our critic had heard that we knew the details and, with the unfairness that characterized his first utterance, at once jumped to the conclusion that we would chortle with joy over a chance to flaunt such a choice bit of gossip in the faces of our readers.

Remembering his attitude on the other occasion we let him squirm a bit.

We reminded him of his former statement that he had at that time opened our eyes. "We would publish the news. If any one did not want to get into the paper, let them keep out of trouble."

He remembered. He admitted that he had so expressed himself.

But he was wrong, he said. And this case was different.

Moreover, he was a prominent man—and married—and he had a family—and all of the same stuff that every editor hears when someone gets into trouble.

Well, the story was not printed. It never would have been. But we feel sure that our critic believes that the only thing that kept it out was his "prominence" and "influence."

No, dear friend, about the only element that was totally ignored in coming to our decision was you, yourself.—Ex.

Dramatic Club.

The Dramatic Club met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Wright, Thursday night, June 10.

During the business meeting it was decided that the Club would disband until the second Tuesday in September, when the following new officers will be given to serve their term; Mr. R. H. Banowsky, President; Mr. E. B. Wright, Vice President; Mrs. E. B. Wright, Secretary; Mrs. W. A. Bell, Treasurer; Mr. Will Adams, Mrs. W. A. Bell and Miss Ethel Treadaway, Program Committee.

After the business meeting rook and forty-two was played until about eleven-thirty when delicious refreshments were served consisting of salad, punch and angel food cake. Those present seemed to enjoy themselves to the fullest extent.

WANTED—Owners of stock farms and ranches in Terry and adjoining counties to list their property with me at once, stating lowest price and best terms, in-cumference, if any. Usual commission charged, references required if desired. J. B. Pickle, Snyder, Texas.

Farming Increases

Live Stock.

"This country is destined to become a greater producer of live stock," says Judge J. D. Hamlin of Farwell, Texas, representative of the Capitol Syndicate. "On grass we figure about fifty head of cattle to the section. Take a quarter section of it to grow feed and a section will carry three times the number. Feed can be grown every year and saved in silos without much loss. Place a stock growing farmer on every section and it will build towns and create wealth."

"Here below us is a pasture of 80,000 acres well stocked with cattle with just one family at headquarters and a few men to look after the stock. Cut this pasture up into one hundred farms and you treble the number of cattle it will feed. The hundred families would milk cows, have hogs and chickens. There would be eggs and cream to sell and pork enough to eat and some to sell. All this means more wealth. It takes people to create wealth."

Judge Hamlin talks advisably.

The Capitol Syndicate has just completed a careful investigation of conditions in eastern New Mexico and northwest Texas before deciding on plans for colonizing their own lands. It was found that even farmers on a quarter section were making good with milk cows, hogs, chickens and feed crops. The opportunity is all over this section for success by growing and feeding stock as a part of mixed farming.—A. M. Hove.

Hen Party.

The Ladies of the Methodist Church are making an earnest effort to raise their church debt, and on Tuesday night week, June 29, will give a Hen Party at the residence of Mrs. Wright. Let every member of the church and every person in town or country, who is interested in seeing this debt raised, come to the party and bring a hen or its equivalent in cash. They will be served to refreshments, play games and have a good social evening.

HOW TO BREAK YOUR HENS FROM SETTING. Sell them to J. R. Hill, at the Hotel.

Uncles Bill and Alf Howard and Jim Lewis came in this week from a trip to Haskell county, where they went to be at the bedside of one of the Howard brothers, who is getting quite old, and had a bad spell of sickness, but we are pleased to relate that he is now on the road to recovery. Jim Lewis reports the fact that a cyclone struck that country that actually blew the spokes out of a wagon. None of that country for mine, thank you.

Dr. J. J. Randal, Dentist, of Paducah, will be in Brownfield June, 15, for 30 days. All work guaranteed first class and prices reasonable.

M. V. Brownfield had a letter from his son, D., this week, who is visiting in new Mexico, to the effect that he was on a trade for a fine cow ranch in that State. We hate to give Dee up, but if he can make it better in that State, we say take to it.

The Stanton Reporter says there are more dry cows on their town section than milch cows, and further advises the citizens owning the dry ones to get them out to a pasture, if they want to do what is right, and if they don't want to do the right thing, they will keep them on the town section. He further stipulates that if anybody gets swelled at him, that it will be a whole heap healthier for them to take their dry cows off the town section than it will be to try to clean up on him. Something like this is just what we have been wanting to say, but—but we feel we are hardly as large a man as Bro. Kent of the Reporter, and there might be some big burley with a dozen cattle on the free range who would take offense. There is plenty grass on the town section of Brownfield for all the milch cows, and keep them in good shape—but there is not enough to keep up all the dry cows and horses of everybody in the county who don't want to pay pasturage.

Do you remember the lazy fellows who used to sit around in the implement store and the barber shops in the old home town and predict the failure of every boy who tried to poke his nose above the common herd? Up in the village of Salem they used to crack lots of jokes at the expense of a lank and ungainly young fellow who clerked in the village grocery, poled flat boats on the river and split rails for a living. They called him Abe in those days. He became the president of the United States and thousands from far places on the earth have visited his tomb at Springfield to do him honor. They used to make fun of Bill McAdoo back in the home town. Of course you've heard of Bill. He dug a tunnel under the Hudson river and is secretary of the treasury now. But there are a lot of old tads back in the old home town who sort of hope that Bill will fall over something yet and land in the consomme. And Orville Wright was a regular joke in his old home town. It is the old home town itself that is the joke.

Our editorial opinion of Bryan's resignation probably isn't worth a cold bottle of beer on a hot day in Kansas, but like the overwhelming majority of this nation's press, and of the entire world, Herald thinks he has made another j. a. of himself.

In fact, it is hard for most people, knowing the nature of the man, to believe him altogether sincere and his intention free from political ambition. Truth of the matter is, he is already busy his hobby, statements that he aims to launch in installments and in competition with other movie serials, while no doubt a chutaqua lecture, fully equal to the "Cross of Gold" is even now in its embryonic stage. While a good man at heart, Mr. Bryan, like Teddy, can't stand to be shadowed, for Wilson was eclipsing him to such an extent that he like Saul, dreaded his own future destiny, on account of this David he had made. And again, there was Teddy at home, one the political circuit, on pleasure or what not, in the best of health, drawing down two column headlines almost every day, while Bryan's work, being submerged in semi secrecy, naturally forced him in some seclusion. His resignation coming at a time of expected turbulence, shows him too weak for the exalted position he has just left, but we, just like millions of other trusting mortals, was in favor of Bryan for the place, but we believed him to be settled, or had at least learned through experience that he could never become president.

THE WONDERFUL AEROSCOPE, HIGHER THAN THE FERRIS WHEEL, GIVES VISITORS MARVELOUS VIEW OF THE WORLD'S GREATEST EXPOSITION

VISITORS ON THE AEROSCOPE 265 FEET ABOVE THE EARTH

THE GIANT FRAME OF THE AEROSCOPE AS IT APPEARED UNDER CONSTRUCTION

For the seeker of amusement there is opportunity a-plenty in the unique mechanical achievement, the Aeroscope, on "The Zone," at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. The Aeroscope resembles a giant crane of a novel and intricate design, its steel construction recalling that of the Bascule bridge. At the extremity of the long arm of the crane is a two-story car with a seating capacity for 100 persons and standing room for 20 more. At the short end of the crane is a giant mass of concrete, which serves as a counter-balance for the long arm of the crane. Beneath the car are two great water tanks, which take on water or discharge it as passengers enter or leave the car, thus always preserving the balance to a nicety. When, for example, a man weighing 160 pounds enters the car an amount of water of equal weight is released from the tank, and when the passenger departs 160 pounds of water are automatically discharged into the tank below the car. The car ascends without perceptible motion, and perfect safety and a jarless ride of ten minutes is assured to passengers while enjoying this trip of 265 feet into the clouds, or four feet higher than the Ferris wheel. Two motors control the ascent and descent in conjunction with the counter-balance of the huge car, and when it reaches its extreme height it begins to swing slowly around on the wheels at its base, giving a magnificent view of the exposition, of San Francisco bay and of the city of San Francisco.

DIED.

On June 13, the death angel visited the home of H. F. Wingo and took from them their infant son, Emmett Earl, aged one year and six months. Little Emmett had been an unusually healthy baby and this was his first illness. He became sick Friday but his parents did not think he was seriously sick until the following Wednesday when they became alarmed and called in Dr. Treadaway who pronounced the baby in a dangerous condition from inflammation of the bowels. Friday afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Wingo started with the baby to their mother's home in Plainview. T. W. Smith and wife took them through in their car that night. Dr. Wayland of Plainview, was called in and all that loving hands could do was done for him, but on Sunday morning his spirit winged its flight. A message came to Harris announcing the sad news and requesting kind neighbors to send the three children who had been left behind, that they might attend the funeral.

Little Emmett was the sunshine of his home and was loved by everyone for his sweet baby ways. He leaves a father, mother, two sisters and two brothers, also other relatives and dear friends to mourn his loss. Their many friends here join Don't miss "The Steel King" at Gomez, the 19th. It has a thrilling plot and is interesting from start to finish.

R. W. Glover is improving rapidly. We hope he will soon be out again.

Irvin Gainer and family accompanied by his father and mother, left in Irvin's car Monday for Midlothian, where Irvin will make his home in the future. J. M. Currier carried Irvin's household goods to the railroad, Monday, to ship them.

Mr. A. P. Moore, who was taken sick while on his visit east, has not improved any since his return, and Dr. Treadaway was called to see him on Monday.

I. H. Hudson, whom we reported sick several weeks past, got up again but did not get well and he is now at a sanitarium in Lubbock. When he left here he seemed to have some kind of lung trouble.

George Tiernan and family, of Brownfield, spent last Sunday visiting Mr. Wolfarth's at the T F M ranch.

Messrs. Bert Shepherd and W. D. Winn shipped a car of cattle to Kansas City. They just shipped to a commission firm there and no one went with the cattle. They got returns from them Monday, and owing to some railroad trouble the cattle were four days on the road and the loss in weight was heavier than it would have been, yet they got as much as they expected for the stock, and Bert seemed well satisfied with the deal. We did not see Mr. Winn.

If you want a few real good laughs don't fail to see and hear the darkey, in "The Steel King" here, the 19th.

Mr. and Mrs. Wright from Knowles New Mexico, accompanied by Mrs. Wright's brother from Hereford, were here Sunday night enroute to Knowles. The young man has tuberculosis, and is going there for a change.

Harry Timms and wife were here Monday.

Dr. Maddux and Andrew Simms started to Brownfield Monday morning, and before they got off the town section, Mr. Kincaid from Plains, in a new auto running at high speed, come up behind them and they did not hear his approach until the horn sounded, then turned square out of the road, but before they got out of the road the car hit the surrey and took off a hind wheel. Mr. Kincaid has just got the car and either did not know how to stop it or just got rattled and pressed the wrong pedal. No one was hurt.

The money taken in at "The Steel King" next Saturday night will go to the Baptist Women's Missionary Society and not as we thought last week to school house repairs. It is to be used as mission funds.

WISHED SHE COULD DIE

And Be Free From Her Troubles, but Finds Better Way.

Columbia, Tenn.—"Many a time," says Mrs. Jessie Sharp, of this place, "I wished I would die and be relieved of my suffering, from womanly troubles. I could not get up, without pulling at something to help me, and stayed in bed most of the time. I could not do my housework."

The least amount of work tired me out. My head would swim, and I would tremble for an hour or more. Finally, I took Cardui, the woman's tonic, and I am not bothered with pains any more, and I don't have to go to bed. In fact, I am sound and well of all my troubles."

Cardui goes to all the weak spots and helps to make them strong. It acts with nature—not against her. It is for the tired, nervous, irritable women, who feel as if everything were wrong, and need something to quiet their nerves and strengthen the worn-out system.

If you are a woman, suffering from any of the numerous symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. It will help you. At all druggists.
