MINUTES

Of Terry County Democratic Executive Committee meeting.

Motion prevailed not to go to the expense of a second primary as there were no more than two candidates for any county office.

Motion made and carried that when any State, District or Co. candidate failed to pay their assessment, to leave their name off the ticket, and the next name, if any, would get their place.

Committee voted to depart from the old established plan in this county of assessing all candidates alike, and assessed them according to the pay of the office; therefore, the candidates for Sheriff, Tax Assessor and County Clerk were assessed $12.50 each, those for County Judge $10.00 each, and for County Treasurer and Precinct offices $5.00 each.

W. B. Bishop was appointed a member of the Executive Com mittee in place of B. M. Hunter, the latter of whom had moved to Colorado, temporarily.

The following were appointed Presiding Officers in the several voting precincts, who are empowered to appoint their Election Judge and two clerks. The Judge and Clerks can be men or women, but must be qualified voters in that precinct.

TO THE VOTERS OF TERRY COUNTY.

The news has gone out over the county that I had withdrawn from the race for the office of Sheriff and Tax Collector for Terry County, this news being spread from the fact that I failed to get my name on the ticket. That the voters minds may be cleared of this allusion, will say to you that I am still in the race and will be there until the final count. And if I am your choice, write my name on your ticket in the proper place.

Promising you faithful service should I be elected, I respectfully solicit your vote and influence.

WORSE THAN THE JAMES BOYS

A few nights ago a comedian on the stage of a Washington playhouse caused roars of laughter and applause by saying that the hotel where he was stopping was being run by the James boys. The statement was a libel on the redoubtable highwaymen seeing that the Washington tavern keepers have reduced the art of fleecing their victims to a point hitherto unknown. Compared to them, Jess James, Cole Younger and Sam Bass were amateurs. Rooms that used to command not over $3 per day are now held at $6 to $9, and with unblushing effrontery the prospective guest is told that is in luck to get a room at any price. The dining room charges are simply outrageous. One of the leading hotels had strawberries on its menu all this season at 75 cents a portion, and half a grape fruit was 35 cents. These are but samples of robbery practiced here, and some people want to know why there cannot be a hotel administrator appointed for the National Capital whose business it will be to protect the American public from the most exorbitant and unconscionable system of plunder yet devised.

The Glee Club put on a nice program here the night of the Fourth, which was composed of an Indian War Dance, patriotic songs and readings, etc. The program was well received, and we have heard many compliments on their efforts. Proceeds to Red Cross.

The Gomez home talent will put on their play, "Claim Allowed" here tomorrow night at the Liberty Theatre. Those of the Brownfield folks who saw it at Gomez gave it unstinted praise. Every cent of the proceeds will go to the Gomez Auxiliary of Terry County Chapter, Red Cross.

Are the Packers Profiteers?

Plain Facts About the Meat Business

The Federal Trade Commission in its recent report on war profits, stated that the five large meat packers have been profiteering and that they have a monopoly of the market.

These conclusions, if fair and just, are matters of serious concern not only to those engaged in the meat packing business but to every other citizen of our country.

The figures given on profits are misleading and the statement that the packers have a monopoly is unsupported by the facts.

The packers mentioned in the report stand ready to prove their profits reasonable and necessary.

The meat business is one of the largest American industries. Any citizen who would familiarize himself with its details must be prepared for large totals.

The report states that the aggregate profits of four large packers were $140,000,000 for the three war years.

This sum is compared with $19,000,000 as the average annual profit for the three years before the war, making it appear that the war profit was 121,000,000 greater than the pre-war profit.

This compares a three-year profit with a one-year profit--a manifestly unfair method of comparison. It is not only misleading, but the Federal Trade Commission apparently has made a mistake in the figures themselves.

The aggregate three-year profit of $140,000,000 was earned on sales of over four and a half billion dollars. It means about three cents on each dollar of sales--or a mere fraction of a cent per pound of product.

Packers' profits are a negligible factor in prices of live stock and meats. No other large business is conducted upon such small margins of profit.

Furthermore--and this is very important--only a small portion of this profit has been paid in dividends. The balance has been put back into the businesses. It had to be, as you realize when you consider the problems the packers have had to solve--and solve quickly--during these war years.

To conduct this business in war times, with higher costs and the necessity of paying two or three times the former prices for live stock, has required the use of two or three times the ordinary amount of working capital. The additional profit makes only a fair return on this, and as has been stated, the larger portion of the profits earned has been used to finance huge stocks of goods and to provide additions and improvements made necessary by the enormous demands of our army and navy and the Allies.

If you are a business man you will appreciate the significance of these facts. If you are unacquainted with business, talk this matter over with some business acquaintance--with your banker, say--and ask him to compare profits of the packing industry with those of any other large industry at the present time.

No evidence is offered by the Federal Trade Commission in support of the statement that the large packers have a monopoly. The Commission's own report shows the large number and importance of other packers.

The packers mentioned in the statement stand ready to prove to any fair minded person that they are in keen competition with each other, and that they have no power to manipulate prices.

If this were not true they would not dare to make this positive statement.

Furthermore, government figures show that the five large packers mentioned in the report account for only about one-third of the meat business of the country.

They wish it were possible to interest you in the details of their business. Of how, for instance, they can sell dressed beef for less than the cost of the live animal, owing to utilization of by products, and of the wonderful story of the methods of distribution throughout this broad land, as well as in other countries.

The five packers mentioned feel justified in co-operating with each other to the extent of together presenting this public statement.

They have been able to do a big job for your government in its time of need; they have met all war time demands promptly and completely and they are willing to trust their case to the fairmindedness of the American people with the facts before them.

TO FLY ACROSS THE ATLANTIC

Two months ago, when the aeroplane controversy was acute and the Liberty motor was under fire the writer rode from Washington to Dayton, Ohio, on a sleeper which had as a passenger a man connected with the production of aeroplanes, by a Dayton factory.

"The Liberty motor will soon vindicate itself," said he.

"In what way?"

"By flying across the Atlantic," he replied.

"When?"

"It may be done in four months at any rate, its feasibility will be demonstrated before the year is gone."

Now the plan is being soberly discussed in military articles, and is generally believed to be practicable. Its success would speed up the winning of the war. The battleship of the air is a comparatively light, but cumbersome vehicle after it is built, it cannot be torn down, packed and shipped in parts and put together on the other side of the Atlantic. A few large aeroplanes would load a transport, although their weight would hardly be sufficient to hold it in the water. To produce the shipping necessary to carry thousands of completed aeroplanes across the sea, in addition to the ships needed to transport and maintain a huge army in France, is a problem of vast proportions. It would be materially reduced if our air fleet can be so equipped as to wing its way to the battle front. Then each battleplane, as it is finished, will rise to the clouds and soar away to France. The Natural sequel would be a great air drive on Berlin, participated in by thousands of planes from all the allies and capable of dropping enough explosive on one locality to blow it to atoms. The Atlantic flight, between the nearest terminal points could be completed, it is believed, within less than forty-eight hours.

THE BONE DRY ISSUE

On the Senate side of the Capitol the burning issue is that of bone dry prohibition for the entire nation during the war period. Hearings are being held and important men from States are coming to testify as to the probable effects of making the country bone dry. There is, of course, much diversity of opinion; some testimony has been adduced to the effect that a bone dry regime will be so greatly resented by thousands of men of alien extraction who are now engaged in the ship building and munition industries that it will cause a slackening of effort on their part and thereby retard government operations in the prosecution of the war. Against this is the experience of Detroit, which is the largest bone-dry city in the United States. In Detroit the leading manufacturers in all the great industrial establishments testify that the elimination of all sorts of spirituous liquors, including beer, has tended to promote rather than to decrease the efficiency of the workingmen.

Generosity

Clearing his throat a little conscientiously, Mr. Hyne looked askance at Caleb Peaslee.

"This is a queer question, Kellup," he ventured at last, "and I d'know's I ought to ask it 'bout a neighbor, but who is the most selfish man you know of, right in his own family, and to'rds his own children?"

Mr. Peaslee glanced about him cautiously, and then replied with a grin that had in it a touch of self-consciousness.

"I wouldn't tell you if I didn't know we're both thinkin' of the same man," he said. "Ben Safford's the pusson. I saw you stop when you came by his place. What's he been doin' now?"

"Nothin' special," replied Mr. Hyne. "What I saw him do is of a piece with all his doin's, only he done it without any color of shame, fur's I could see."

"What was it?" persisted Mr. Peaslee.

"Well," Mr. Hyne deposed slowly, "I had a pocketful of walnuts, and when I got 'long by Stafford's he was standin' out by the gate with the boy of his. I don't care what Ben Safford is—that boy is bright and smart as they make. Mebbe he takes it from his mother. I didn't want the walnuts myself, and I did want to give 'em to the boy. I don't suppose Safford ever brings any bought truck home to that youngster. So I started to give 'em to the kid, but Safford held out his hand."

"I'll shell 'em," he says, and like a fool I put 'em all in his hand—and what do you think he done?"

"Eat the heft of 'em himself," conjectured Mr. Peaslee without a moment's hesitation. Mr. Hyne smote his leg savagely with his hard palm.

"He eat the last solitary one of 'em himself and gin the boy the empty shells to play with," he asserted stoutly. "Yes, sir, he eat 'em all, with that kid watchin' him, and hopin' to the last that mebbe one of 'em would fall to his share. And then his father gin him the empty shells and told him he could make boats of 'em, and the boy went off looking pretty sober."

Mr. Peaslee pursed his lip and emitted a low whistle of surprise.

"I d'know's I ever heard of anything to beat that, I d'know jest how a man could go to work to beat it," he said. "But I ought not to be s'prised at anything Ben Safford does in the way of stinginess. You know what he did when he was courtin' his wife, don't you?"

Mr. Hyne shook his head sourly. "He was married long 'fore I moved into town," he replied, "but I'm willin' and able to b'lieve anything after what I saw this mornin'."

"Well," began Mr. Peaslee, "they say that he took her to a fair one time, bein' as he had some cattle on exhibition and could get into the fair grounds for nothin'. They took their own food with 'em—she put it up for both of 'em—and Ben was havin' a dretful good time, seein' nothin' was costin' him a cent."

"There was side shows and things like that, but of course the girl knew that Ben wouldn't fool away any money on such things. But there was heaps of things to eat—candy and pears and oranges, and I s'pose she had a kind of a sweet tooth. Anyway, after they'd wandered round and Ben'd seen 'bout all he could see for nothin', she sort of plucked up her courage. She is a quiet, patient little pusson, you know, and she had a kind of wistful look even in them days."

"They was goin' past a booth where there was some oranges and she touched him on the arm and says, 'Don't them oranges look awful nice, Ben?' He halted right square in his tracks, and she hardly dared to b'lieve her own eyes at that."

"But when he grabbed her by the arm and begun to fetch her along to'rds the oranges, elbowin' folks out of the way so he could get closer, she felt that she'd been sort of misjudgin' him all along. He made a way through the crowd and led her right up in front of the booth."

"There!" says he. "They look better from here than they did when we was way out there. Now, he says, 'we'll stay here and you can look at 'em long's you're a mind to!'"—Youth's Companion.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

SPECIAL TAX FOR MAINTENANCE OF PUBLIC SCHOOLS AND FURNISHING FREE TEXT BOOKS.

House Joint Resolution No. 27.

Proposing an amendment to Art. 7 of the Constitution of the State of Texas by changing Sec. 3, providing for a thirty-five cent tax levy for the maintenance of the public schools of Texas, and providing free text books in public schools of the State of Texas, and making an appropriation therefor.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section 3, Article 7, of the Constitution, be so changed as to read as follows (creating a new section 3):

Sec. 3. One-fourth of the revenue derived from the State occupation taxes and a poll tax of one ($1.00) dollar on every male inhabitant of this State, between the ages of twenty-one and sixty years, shall be set apart annually for the benefit of the public free schools; and, in addition thereto, there shall be levied and collected an annual ad valorem State tax of such an amount not to exceed thirty-five cents on the one hundred ($100.00) dollar valuation, as, with the available school fund arising from all other sources, will be sufficient to maintain and support the public schools of this State for a period of not less than six months in each year, and it shall be the duty of the State Board of Education to set aside a sufficient amount out of the said tax to provide free text books for the use of children attending the public free schools of this State; provided, however, that should the limit of taxation herein named be insufficient, the deficit may be met by appropriation from the general funds of the State, and the Legislature may also provide for the formation of school districts by general or special law without the local notice required in other cases of special legislation; and all such school districts, whether created by general or special law, may embrace parts of two or more counties. And the Legislature shall be authorized to pass laws for the assessment and collection of taxes in all said districts, and for the management and control of the public school or schools of such district, whether such districts are composed of territory wholly within a county or in parts of two or more counties. And the Legislature may authorize an additional ad valorem tax to be levied and collected within all school districts heretofore formed or hereafter formed, for the further maintenance of public free schools, and the erection and equipment of school buildings therein; provided, that a majority of the qualified property tax-paying voters of the district, voting at an election to be held for that purpose, shall vote such tax, not to exceed in any one year fifty cents on the one hundred dollars valuation of the property subject to taxation in such district, but the limitation upon the amount of school district tax herein authorized shall not apply to incorporated cities or towns constituting separate and independent school districts.

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of the State at an election to be held throughout the State on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1918, at which election all voters favoring said proposed amendment shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "For the amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas providing for the levy of a special school tax for the maintenance of the public schools of the State and to provide free text books in the public schools of the State of Texas," and all those opposed shall write or have printed on their ballots the words, "Against the amendment to the Constitution of the State of Texas providing for the levy of a special school tax for the maintenance of the public schools of the State, and to provide free text books in the public schools of the State of Texas."

Sec. 3. The Governor of the State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for said election and to have same published as required by the Constitution and existing laws of the State.

Sec. 4. That the sum of two thousand ($2,000.00) dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any funds in the Treasury of the State of Texas not otherwise appropriated, to pay the expenses of such publication and election.

CONSTITUTIONAL AMENDMENT

Taking of Testimony in Criminal Cases.

House Joint Resolution No. 2.

To amend Section 10, Article 1, of the Constitution of the State of Texas, providing for certain rights of accused persons in criminal prosecutions, and the manner in which the case may be prosecuted, and providing for the procuring of the testimony of the witnesses for both defense and prosecution.

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Section (10) of Article (1) of the Constitution of the State of Texas be so amended that the same will read and hereafter be as follows:

Sec. (10). In all criminal prosecutions the accused shall have a speedy public trial by an impartial jury. He shall have the right to demand the nature and cause of the accusation against him, and to have a copy thereof. He shall not be compelled to give evidence against himself and shall have the right of being heard by himself or counsel, or both, shall be confronted by the witnesses against him and shall have compulsory process for obtaining witnesses in his favor, except that when the witness resides out of the State and the offense charged is a violation of any of the anti-trust laws of this State the defendant and the State shall have the right to produce and have the evidence admitted by deposition, under such rules and laws as the Legislature may hereafter provide; and no person shall be held to answer for a criminal offense, unless on an indictment of a grand jury, except in cases in which the punishment is by fine or imprisonment, otherwise than in the penitentiary, in cases of impeachment and in cases arising in the army of navy, or in the militia, when in actual service in time of war or public danger.

Sec. 2. The Governor of this State is hereby directed to issue the necessary proclamation for the submission of this amendment to the qualified voters of this State at the next general election for State and county officers.

Sec. 3. The qualified electors for members of the Legislature shall vote upon said amendment at which election all persons favoring said amendment shall have written or printed on the ballot the following: "For amendment to Section 10, Article 1 of the Constitution, providing for prosecution of criminal cases by deposition, under certain circumstances," and those opposed to such amendment shall have written or printed on the ballot as follows: "Against the amendment to Section 10, Article 1 of the Constitution."

Sec. 4. The sum of five thousand ($5,000) dollars, or so much thereof as may be necessary, is hereby appropriated out of any funds of the State Treasury of the State not otherwise appropriated to pay the expense of publishing, proclamation,

HUGHES' AFFIDAVIT

One of our Ferguson friends, M. V. Brownfield, asked us to publish the following affidavit which is self explanatory:

The State of Texas, County of Bell:

I, C. A. Hughes, being duly sworn upon my oath, depose and say:

That until the month of April, 1917, and for eight years prior thereto, I was cashier of the Temple State Bank; that since Jas. E. Ferguson became Governor of Texas he has not held any official position with the Temple State Bank; that during the time that Jas. E. Ferguson was governor of Texas he carried with the Temple State Bank an official account known as the "Jas. E. Ferguson Governor" account an individual account and several other accounts connected with his business. That I was the cashier of the Temple State Bank at the time $5,600.00, item was charged to the Jas. E. Ferguson official account. I am entirely familiar with all the facts and circumstances surrounding and connected with that item. The charge slip was made by me, and is in my handwriting. Mr. J. H. Davis, Jr., the governor's assistant secretary, called me over the phone from Austin, stating to me that the governor owed a note of $5,000.00, with accrued interest to the First National Bank of Temple, telling me to pay the same. He gave me no specific instructions as to what charge to make, merely stating to charge it to the governor. I requested the First National Bank over the phone to send the $5,000.00 which with its accrued interest amounted to $5,600.00 through the bank clearing, which was done. When the item came in through the clearing it was handled by me, personally. I made the charge and erroneously charged the item to the governor's official account instead of charging it as I should have done to the governor's personal account. The mistake was made entirely upon my part, for which I take entire responsibility and now state that neither governor Ferguson nor his secretary nor anyone for him by writing or verbally ever instructed me to charge said item to his official account as Governor of the State of Texas, and I know that he knew nothing of it and had no knowledge concerning the same at the time the charge was made.

In April I was discharged as cashier of the Temple State Bank. I believe I was wrongfully discharged then, and I still believe that I was wrongfully discharged. During the impeachment trial of Governor Ferguson I was summoned as a witness by the prosecution. I went to Austin under process and at General Crane's request submitted to an interview with General Crane as to the facts within my knowledge. In that interview I that interview I told General Crane that I did not feel kindly towards Governor Ferguson, but that I would not let my personal feelings because the wrongful discharge which I have mentioned above, keep me from telling the truth. I told General Crane in that interview of all the facts to which I would testify, General Crane told me I might be excused and go home which I did.

During the impeachment trial I did not discuss any matters within my knowledge or anything to which I could testify with Governor Ferguson or with his attorneys.

I make this statement freely and voluntarily because it is true and I feel in my own heart and conscience that the people ought to know the truth about this trans action; and since the facts are peculiarly and wholly within my knowledge, I feel it my duty that I should state the facts. I myself, having been wrongfully charged, I think I know now how the full effect and injustice of a suppression of the truth or the failure of those who know the truth to speak it.

THE SOLDIERS CHANCE

Great as the danger and large as the losses in the aggregate the individual soldier has plenty of chances of coming out of the war unscathed, or at least not badly injured.

Based on the morality statistics of the allied armies, a soldier's chance are as follows:

Twenty nine chances of coming home to one being killed.

Forty-nine of recovering from wounds to one chance of dying from them.

One chance in 500 of loosing a limb.

Will live five years longer because of physical training, is freer from disease in the army than in civil life, and has better medical care at the front than at home.

In other wars from 10 to 15 men died from diseses to 1 from bullets.

For those of our fighting men who do not escape scatheless, the Government under the soldier and sailor insurance law gives protection to the wounded and their dependents and to the famalies and dependents of those who make the supreme sacrifice for their country.

REHABILITATION OF OUR WOUNDID

Perhaps none of the various uses to which the proceeds of the of the Liberty Loan are to be devoted appeals more strongly to the American people than the rehabilitation and reeducation of our wounded men. To teach these men, to train and fit them for useful and gainful occupations, when by reason of loss of sight or limbs or other injuries they are rendered unable to pursue ordinary vocations, is a work in which every American has a heartfelt interest.

Compensation will be allowed them and family allowance will be paid their families as if they were in actual service while they are taking the training, and every method known to science will be used to restore our woundid men to health and usefulness.

This work has been delegated by Congress to the Federal Board for Vocational Education. The board publishes at Washington a monthly bulletin, dealing with its work, called the Vocational Summary, which will be sent free to anyone upon request

MEADOW

By Farmer

Crop prospects look well enough, but rain is needed. Not many working as there very little that is necessary.

The Meadow patrons and citizens, have all signed a petition to vote bonds to the amount of $2500.00, to build a neat one room school building. They seem to be a unit for better schools.

We are informed that Ropes is soon to begin a $12,000.00 brick school building. There are only three families at Ropes hence this is something unheard of before. Everything in the way of buildings at Ropes are neat.

Meadow stock pens have been treated to a new coat of paint, and water has been installed.

Mr. Farries has just moved nearly 500 head of cattle back from Yoakum. Mr. O. F. Boyd moved 700 head from Lamb Co. to Midland.

Mrs. Jno. Raymer and Mrs. O. F. Boyd are using their cars to day to carry ladies to Brownfield to register. They are two of the most patriotic ladies in Meadow community.

Every body went to Lubbock the Fourth.

The party at Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Carter's. Sat. night was well attended. Mrs. Carter's brother and eight associable boys girls from Lorenzo, were there.

Quite a number were at the Round up at P— last Friday. Mrs. Raymer feasted them to a nice, but war dinner.

Miss Lucile Boyd gave a party in honor of her house guest, Miss Lucy Elkins, of Lubbock. The young people picniced and suppered at Rich Lake then rode to the house for the party.

Mrs. Billy Crosswaithe of Lubbock, spent last week with Mrs. O. F. Boyd.

Miss Neva Stricklin has just returned from a visit at Lubbock and Abernathy.

Mr. Artis received a cable gram that his son had been missing from the battlefield since April. This cast a gloom over the family.

Mrs. Harry Copeland is at the Sanitarium. They say it is a boy. D. O. Kiker has gone to Rotan for his wife. They say it is a girl. We Meadow people are determined that the death rate shall not exceed the birth rate.

Mrs. H. L. Brannen and daughter, Mrs. E. L. Caraway, of Spur, Texas, came down on Monday's train to pay a short visit to their son and brother, Dr. M. H. Brannen.

TOKIO.

(By School Boy.)

There is a large number of people about to catch up with their crops in this part of the county, but all of them say they need some rain.

Several of the ladies of our community are registering this week. Most of them say they want to help defeat Furgeson. Let the good work go on.

The members of the Tokio Sunday School are still a very lively little bunch. They read over five thousand chapters of the Bible last week. Miss Anne Taylor gave a talk on the lesson which was enjoyed by all.

Every one who went to Mr. Mangum's Sunday night report a good singing.

The young people enjoyed a party at Norman Lovelace's Tuesday night.

Roy Taylor who has had such a long spell of sickness, has begun to look like his old self again.

Mr. and Mrs. Castleberry of Meadow, are visiting the latter's father, this week.

Girls look out! Guy Moreman has got his two-cylinder buggy in running shape again.

Mrs. Jones and grandson, of Pecos, came in last week to visit her daughter, Mrs. A. V. Taylor.

The citizens of this school district will vote on the fifty cent special school tax, Saturday, the 13th. If it carries we intend to have one of the leading schools of the county this year.

Miss Elsie McLeary has been the guest of Miss Leila Hill, for several days.

Several enjoyed a social at Miss Ada Cherry's, Tuesday afternoon. There were croquet games and afterward refreshments were served. Miss Ada makes a delightful hostess.

We are glad to announce that the gin is now under way. Mr. Overton, and the construction foreman of the West Texas Gin Co., with a large force of work men came down from Lubbock on Monday's train, and are putting down the foundation for one of the most modern gin plants in Texas.

Clifford Dixon and family, of Herford, were here this week, visiting Mrs. Dixon's parents, F. E. Walters and family.

KEPT HER AWAKE

The Terrible Pains in Back and Sides. Cardui Gave Relief.

Marksville, La.—Mrs. Alice Johnson, of this place, writes: "For one year I suffered with an awful misery in my back and sides. My left side was hurting me all the time. The misery was something awful.

I could not do anything, not even sleep at night. It kept me awake most of the night. . . I took different medicines, but nothing did me any good or relieved me until I took Cardui. . .

I was not able to do any of my work for one year and I got worse all the time, was confined to my bed off and on. I got so bad with my back that when I stooped down I was not able to straighten up again. . . I decided I would try Cardui. . . By time I had taken the entire bottle I was feeling pretty good and could straighten up and my pains were nearly all gone.

I shall always praise Cardui. I continued taking it until I was strong and well." If you suffer from pains due to female complaints, Cardui may be just what you need. Thousands of women who once suffered in this way now praise Cardui for their present good health. Give it a trial. NC-133
