PILED UP THE HUNS

S. P. Simpson was telling it here this week that Sam Arnett, of Lubbock had just received a letter from a friend in the same company with the Allen boys, who reports that Terrell was killed a few days after the death of Phillip.

The writer went on to say that he never saw better fighters than the Allen boys, and especially after Phillip was killed, he says Terrell waded in to avenge him, and that he, the writer, personally saw Terrell after being shot through the body, kill nine huns in hand to hand encounters, before he fell. He reports that Terrell fought more like an enraged bull than anything the writer could picture.

While these splendid Terry Co cowboys now lay under the sod of France, many a Hun home will bewail the never return of the father, son or brother that the Allen boys layed low. May God bless the family of these boys who have fought for liberty and home.

We watched the reports of the North and Northwest Texas Conference appointments to see where they sent our preacher-editor friend, Rev. J. M. Fryar, formerly pastor of the Methodist church at this place, but we just kept on saying nothing, knowing full well he would soon write in to have us change 'er to his new address. We did not have long to wait, for he wrote us even before his family came that he was located in a county seat town of 3000 inhabitants, in the heart of the fruit belt of the Ozarks, was well pleased and wanted Herald to come to his address, Bentonville, ARKANSAW.

Some two weeks ago, the local pastor of the Methodist church, Rev. W. B. Hicks, advertised a get acquainted meeting in these columns for Wed. night, the 4th of this month. Well, the members came as per invitation alright, but they were not all of the Methodist faith (Brownfield people stand together when a good deed is on foot) and they did not come merely to chat and shake hands, but in each arm there was a more substantial evidence that this preacher and his good wife are appreciated in this community. In other words, this get acquainted meeting was combined with an old fashion pounding, much to the surprise of the preacher and the augmentation of his larder. If this old custom was practiced more often there would be a greater spirit of co-operation practiced between the leader and his flock, besides more cheerful sermons.

Uncle Jimmie King left this week for Santa Barbara, Calif., to spend the winter with his daughter. While he most always spends his winters on the coast, he like Terry county best in summer, and spends them here with his son, John.

Local grocery men took pity on the poor package carrying public, and reinstalled city delivery, Monday. While grocery men are obliged to charge an advance to cover this expense, it is nevertheless a convenient luxury.

W. L. Barclay received the sad news recently, that his brother, Clarence, was wounded in action and as a result, accompanied by pneumonia, he died the 10th of November. He was a member of the 141st infantry, 36th Division, and was trained at Camp Bowie. Herald extends sympathy to the bereaved family of this hero.

CHRISTMAS is coming; the Plainview Nursery is already here with a good stock of Virginia Cedars and Arbervitae suitable for your Christmas Tree. Also, fruit trees for the orchard and shrubbery for the lawn. Will trade nursery stock for second hand sacks. Order early. Plainview, Texas.

Mesdames R. W. Glover of Gomez and Ben Hurst of Wootton, Col., were over this week visiting their daughter and sister, Mrs. Bob Snodgrass.

Gus Randolph and wife, of Gomez, were over yesterday, shopping with our merchants.

MUST INCREASE FOOD EXPORTS

America Called on by End of War to Supply Added Millions.

ECONOMY STILL NEEDED.

Over Three Times Pre-War Shipments Required--Situation in Wheat and Fats Proves Government's Policy Sound.

With the guns in Europe silenced, we have now to consider a new world food situation. But there can be no hope that the volume of our exports can be lightened to the slightest degree with the cessation of hostilities. Millions of people liberated from the Prussian yoke are now depending upon us for the food which will keep them from starvation.

With food the United States made it possible for the forces of democracy to hold out to victory. To insure democracy in the world, we must continue to live simply in order that we may supply these liberated nations of Europe with food. Hunger among a people inevitably breeds anarchy. American food must complete the work of making the world safe for democracy.

Last year we sent 11,829,000 tons of food to Europe. For the present year, with only the European Allies to feed, we had originally pledged ourselves to a program that would have increased our exports to 17,500,000 tons. Now, to feed the liberated nations, we will have to export a total of not less than 20,000,000 tons—practically the limit of loading capacity at our ports. Reviewing the world food situation, we find that some foods will be obtainable in quantities sufficient to meet all world needs under a regime of economical consumption. On the other hand, there will be marked world shortages in some important commodities.

Return to Normal Bread Loaf.

With the enlarged wheat crops which American farmers have grown, and the supplies of Australia, the Argentine and other markets now accessible to shipping, there are bread grains enough to enable the nations to return to their normal wheat loaf, provided we continue to mill flour at a high percentage of extraction and maintain economy in eating and the avoidance of waste.

In fats there will be a heavy shortage—about 3,000,000,000 pounds—in pork products, dairy products and vegetable oils. While there will be a shortage of about three million tons in rich protein feeds for dairy animals, there will be sufficient supplies of other feedstuffs to allow economical consumption.

In the matter of beef, the world's supplies are limited to the capacity of the available refrigerating ships. The supplies of beef in Australia, the Argentine and the United States are sufficient to load these ships. There will be a shortage in the importing countries, but we cannot hope to expand exports materially for the next months in view of the bottle neck in transportation.

We will have a sufficient supply of sugar to allow normal consumption in this country if the other nations retain their present short rations or increase them only slightly. For the countries of Europe, however, to increase their present rations to a material extent will necessitate our sharing a part of our own supplies with them.

Twenty Million Tons of Food.

Of the world total, North America will furnish more than 60 per cent. The United States, including the West Indies, will be called upon to furnish 20,000,000 tons of food of all kinds as compared with our pre-war exports of about 6,000,000 tons.

While we will be able to change our program in many respects, even a casual survey of the world supplies in comparison to world demands shows conclusively that Europe will know famine unless the American people bring their home consumption down to the barest minimum that will maintain health and strength.

There are conditions of famine in Europe that will be beyond our power to remedy. There are 40,000,000 people in North Russia whom there is small chance of reaching with food this winter. Their transportation is demoralized in complete anarchy, and shortly many of their ports will be frozen, even if internal transport could be realized.

To Preserve Civilization.

At this moment Germany has not alone sucked the food and animals from all those masses of people she has dominated and left starving, but she has left behind her a total wreck, age of social institutions, and this mass of people is now confronted with absolute anarchy.

If we value our own safety and the social organization of the world, if we value the preservation of civilization itself, we cannot permit growth of this cancer in the world's vitals.

Famine is the mother of anarchy. From the inability of governments to secure food for their people grows revolution and chaos. From an ability to supply their people grows stability of government and the defeat of anarchy. Did we put it on no higher plane than our interests in the protection of our institutions, we must bestir ourselves in solution of this problem.

Food control in America held the price of breadstuffs steady, prevented vicious speculation and extortion and preserved tranquillity at home.

In no other nation is there so willing a sense of voluntary self-sacrifice as in America—that was shown in the abstinence from wheat.

Find more wheat, it came; more pork, it came; save sugar, it was done. So Americans answered the challenge of German starvation.

Good will rules the new world as fear governed the old world. Through sharing food America helps make the whole world kin.

Food control made sufficiency from shortage, kept the rein on food prices, gave the nation's full strength exercise.

Starvation by Germany challenged all the world; food conservation in America answered the challenge.

Food conservation in America has been the triumph of individual devotion to the national cause.

The Living Hun Spirit.

The Hun still is in our midst. The same modern Judas Iscariot who has slunk along the dark alleys of the nation while American boys were dying in France, betraying, conniving with crimes of every description, dipping his hands in the foulest crimes of history is still at large.

He was unable to destroy the faith of America in its time of trial.

All the wiles of a degenerate race could not shake the ideals and principles of the United States while the stress of war was upon us; but he has not despaired.

While the Hun across the sea cries "Mercy, Mercy" when there is no mercy, the Hun in our midst is seeking by every insidious device in his power to dethrone reason and to confound the authorized spokesmen in the coming peace negotiations.

"Brotherly Love" is his theme now. To a Christian nation he comes with the doctrine which Christ taught.

But he forgets that the same Christ who taught brotherly love did not let the money changers back into the temple. He forgets that a Christian nation does not let its murders go free. He forgets that leniency is only meted to those who deserve leniency.

The graves are still fresh in Flanders. The dismantled homes of thousands of humble, peace loving peasants are still smoldering along the old battle front in France.

May these ever rise before the vision of Americans while the honeyed words of Hunied interests are whispered in beguiling tones to American ears!

The fight against savagry, brutality and oppression still are on.

It behooves every American to remember.

We remembered the Maine, we remembered the Lusitania, but we still have ships on the seas.

The dead children of France and Belgium we did not forget and we cannot forget that their debt has not been paid in full.

France wore the yoke of war. Germany must bear the yoke of peace.

CATTLEMEN HAVE RECEIVED $1,000,000 IN LOANS

Actual results from the cattle loan agency of the Federal Reserve Bank are now being obtained. Judge W. F. Ramsey, chairman of the Federal Reserve Board of this district, under whose supervision the agency was established, said yesterday. Money is now actually being received by the cattlemen, and the organization, under Marion Sansom, is working smoother every day.

A total of about $1,000,000 has already been paid out to cattlemen. Judge Ramsey said. Most of this has been within the last few days, as an enormous amount of work was necessary before the loans could be finally put through. Approval from Washington was received yesterday on loans aggregating $275,000, the largest amount ever approved in one day. Applications amounting to more than $3,250,000 are now awaiting the approval of the Washington officials and are expected to materialize during the next few days.

The cattle loan agency has been almost swamped by the numerous applications for loans. Each application has required a close investigation as to its merits, and this involved considerable time. The preservation of the grazing herds of West Texas will be greatly aided by this money, Judge Ramsey said.

Corn & McClure, of Stonewall county, loaded ten cars of mixed cattle at Seagraves, yesterday, and shipped to the Ft. Worth market.

The body of Miss Lela West, of Roswell, N. M., arrived here Wednesday, and was carried to Gomez for burrial. She was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. West of Gomez, who have lived there for several years, and was attending school at Roswell, we understand, when she was stricken with influenza-pneumonia. We certainly sympathize with this bereft family in the loss of their beautiful and dutiful daughter and sister just in the prime of youth.

With the beginning of Christmas ads in this issue it reminds one that old Santa will soon be on his way.

The name "Yank" sticks to our boys "over there" or "somewhere," "everywhere," and the khaki lads from below Mason and Dixon seem to like it as well as those north.

Our trustees have assured us they are doing all they can to ward our new school building. Just before the rise, they cinched about $4,000.00 of furniture that would now cost better than $5,000.00.

Also, as the boys at the front and in the cantonments do not have to close up very tight on account of German spies, we hope old Santa won't miss a one of them. Yea, we hope all of them have two pair of sock.

The Herald wishes President Wilson a bon voyage across and such a glorious reception that a certain jealous Republican will bust the gold off his big front teeth in his gnashing of them. Also, there is a certain bay window Republican that we want to see get real sore.

As Uncle Sam seems to be lifting the censor, the boys will soon be writing home pretty well what they please, and there will be some very interesting letters arrive from over seas, interesting to the general public. If a real interesting one comes to you, turn it over to the Herald, and let us print it.

The War Industries Board notified us this week that they had lifted the ban so far as quantities of paper used by country weeklies go, as the holiday season is at hand, and the board did not wish to hamper either the paper or merchants by limiting them in their holiday advertising. Yet, the board still emphasizes economy with print paper, as there is still a dangerous shortage.

Minority leader Mann, who has been in Congress a long time, who will likely be the next Speaker of the House, and also who seems to be endowed with an atom more grey matter than the average run of disgruntled Latter Day Republicans, has recently made a speech in which he warned the mugwumps of his party to try a little come down off their high horse. His admonition to them is that the American people will stand very little of their trying to embarrass the present administration in this crisis, and it might invalid their small presidential chances, as well as wipe out their bare majority in both branches of Congress.

The Herald has an invitation from the Star-Telegram to come to Fort Worth tomorrow and banquet at their expense at the Metropolitan hotel with Bill and Ma Sunday, and hear the former preach at the Coliseum on reserved seats, with a lot of other West Texas editors that night, (evening.) Now we appreciate the invitation; we would like to hear Sunday on Saturday night, and we should be tickled especially to be hold the white lights on Main and Houston, but—there are some seven million more or less crossties between this city and that barg—besides, we don't believe Fort Worth has the makings of a sure enough banquet. Now if it had been Monroe, La., frequence—

It was recently stated by Frederick Eby, professor of the history of education at the University of Texas, that there was a great scarcity of school teachers in the state, and that there were many places of that kind to be filled. As a result of the recent demobilization of many men in army camps the supply of available teachers has been suddenly greatly enlarged, Mr. Eby said. He has been flooded during the past several days with the letters from young men who are seeking positions as teachers. It is desired by Mr. Eby that these applicants and the school authorities of those places where there may be vacancies at this time be brought together. This may be done by the school authorities communicating with him.

Though a few scattered counties in the State will have not reported to State headquarters their final subscriptions to the United War Work Fund, State Director L. A. Mr. Coulter counts this as very successful, due to the efficient organization throughout the State especially in view of the several handicaps, the first of which was bad weather and impassable roads.

Food Will Win the World.

America earned the gratitude of allied nations during war by sharing food. America under peace may win the world's good will by saving to share.

AMERICAN SPIRIT RELIED ON TO WIN.

In the light of succeeding events it is interesting to recall the confidence with which the United States Food Administrator viewed the gloomy outlook in July of 1917, when this country had been in the war for less than four months and the Germans were steadily sending the western front nearer and nearer to Paris.

"Even though the situation in Europe may be gloomy today," he declared in a public statement, "no American who has knowledge of the results already obtained in every direction need have one atom of fear that democracy will not defend itself in these United States."

PROVED SPIRIT OF DEMOCRACY

Voluntary Basis of Food Saving
Showed Heart of America
Beat True for Freedom.

To the voluntary service and sacrifice of the American people must be attributed the continued health, strength and morale of the Allied armies and the civil populace.

Upon this spirit of service and sacrifice will depend Europe's fate in the months to come. In the past year we have carried out an export program, the magnitude of which is almost beyond comprehension. But with the new demands that have come, with the liberation of nations freed from German oppression, our exports must be almost doubled. Instead of 11,820,000 tons, we must ship twenty million tons of food to Europe in the coming year—as much as can be pushed through our ports.

If the Allies had not been fed by America, it would have been impossible for them to maintain their defense against Germany.

Meeting this world need on a purely voluntary basis, the American people have conclusively proved that democracy is a success and that in time of need it will rise to its own defense.

If there were no other accomplishment to its credit the very fact that it has shown the strength of democracy has in itself more than justified the existence of the Food Administration in the eyes of the world.

Less than four months after the United States declared war the United States Food Administrator expressed his determination to meet America's food problem on a basis of voluntary action and reiterated his confidence that awakened democracy would prove irresistible.

"Many thinking Americans," said Mr. Hoover, "and the whole world have been watching anxiously the last four months in the fear that democratic America could not organize to meet autocratic Germany. Germany has been confident that it could not be done. Contrary proof is immediately at our door, and our people have already demonstrated their ability to mobilize, organize, endure and prepare voluntarily and efficiently in many directions and upon the mere word of inspiration aside from the remarkable assemblage of our Army and finances." The history of the Food Administration has clearly shown that the trust of those who put their faith in democracy has not been misplaced.

Belgium Triumphs.

New York Sun: For years the costly forts at Liege lay idle, with no garrisons or with only a Sergeant and file of men as janitors. When, after Agadir, the black shadow was unmistakably lengthening, these were garrisoned, but German soothing syrup had done its work. Then followed the onrush of August, 1914, and Belgium sank from sight under the German inundation. Within half a year the deep-laid purpose of the Potsdam gang was unmasked. It was not only military—the use of Belgium as a strategic basis—but nothing less than the destruction of Belgian nationality.

The method was to alienate the Flemish-speaking northern half from the Walloon provinces of the south. Heretofore, of whatever speech a Belgian might be, he honored his flag. Henceforth he must be either Gallic or Prussian. A German State, as a defiant western outpost and gateway of the Fatherland, was to be reared on the ruins of a kingdom whose perpetuity had been insured by treaties, Prussia being a signatory.

To build such a State only one method, that of Nebuchadnezzar, was known or employed by the Germans. Force, fines, deportation, rape, violence, desolation, with churches changed to rubbish and hundreds of towns and villages made uninhabitable, filled the program. At the very outset they gave an example, even while unwittingly spoiling their plan, by an explosion of beastly stupidity and destruction, at Louvain. Four years later, in retreat, the torch for the town, the ax and saw for the orchard, and a legacy of infamy, showed their stock in trade.

And the result of it all? The absolute refusal of the Flemish people to do anything but hate their quondam conquerors, secret journalism of defiance, patient waiting for redemption and the victory of the allies; yes, even singing in 1916, and in presence of their oppressors, in St. Gudule's Cathedral in Brussels, the national anthem, "La Brabanconne," and this though they knew the certainty of the fine of one million francs which was levied upon them the next day.

After wiping off the map of Belgium every French or Walloon name and using officially or printing on their map only Flemish or Germanized names, until it looked like a page in a German atlas, they tried to make the University of Ghent a Prussian school. After three years of subsidy, free board and tuition, what enormous numbers flocked thither? Twenty-one students or four pupils to each one of the professors!

As it is in Alsace and Lorraine, after a generation of hated rule, so in Belgium, Africa, China and the so-called colonies, which in the name of humanity, even more than of politics, will not be given back. In Holland, despite fifty years of intrigue, bullying, threats, a diplomacy truly Prussian—Satan and Machiavelli being obsolete or surpassed—and bribes, tendered in a score of ways, the Netherlands repeatedly refused German alliance. The memory of the Prussian invasion of 1887 is still fresh. Ready and willing to submit to high taxation to support their army of defense and to devote one-fifth of the national revenue to support Belgian refugees, the Dutch hold their own.

Now that Belgium is redeemed, with Flemings and Walloons united in a new patriotism that demands no longer dependence on treaties and the powers, but full sovereignty, as a nation able to take care of itself, with defenses stronger than paper walls, the vitality of some old truths is again demonstrated. There are times when even "the lame shall take the prey." A great statesman-poet, even Cromwell's Latin secretary, wrote, and Potsdam may well ponder, "Who overcomes by force hath overcome but half his foe." England learned her lesson long ago. It is time now for Germany to sit on the same bench.

The President Abroad.

New York Evening Post: All the evidence points to an overpowering reception for the President in Europe. There can be no mistaking the fame he has won abroad, both as a statesman and as the representative of the great republic. Mr. Wilson disregards all precedents in going to Europe, and we may be sure beforehand that unprecedented will be the plaudits showered upon him there. It would not be in human nature for the President to be insensible to the universal acclaim that awaits him abroad. He will be able, still in his lifetime, still in office, to enter into the heritage of renown which has come in Europe to our greatest Presidents only after their death. And we think that smart Republican politicians and clever writers in the press will not be able to prevent the American people from taking honest pride in the deferential tributes which will be paid by the mightiest in Europe to their President. The election now being over, and 1920 still in the distance, it is possible that partisan managers will conclude it to be wise not to attempt to diminish the President's honors. He will go to the great task, not as the "large-limbed Goth" of Lowell's fancy, to affright European dignity by slapping Cesar's self upon the back and calling him "Old Hoss," but as the spokesman of a puissant Nation that entered the world war solely for the sake of human liberty and wishes to see the treaty ending it pillared on justice and on enduring right.

Bert Shepherd came in from his farm north of Gomez, this week, with a load of corn, as he and Jim Parks were helping a neighbor, Mr. Rodges, load a car of corn to ship to Parks Grain Co. of Lubbock. By the way, while here, Bert received a fine Poland China male by express. Bert is one of the best hog raisers of old Terry, and this addition to his herd from one of the popular growers of east Texas, will put Bert in class 1 in Terry.

Uncle Billie Pyeatt had a letter from his son, Sam, who went over with the 36th Division, this week, which among other things, said he had just gone back to the rest camps, after a hot round on the front, and that his company was lucky enough not to lose a man. His letter was written November 10th, one day before the armistice, so we guess Sam is safe. However, Sam says he fears he has lost most of his old friends in the 36th Division, but that he could not tell anything.

SEE Tom May before you sell your Sudan and cane seed.

Mr. Rodgers, of the west side, assisted by his neighbors, Messrs. Jim Parks, Bert Shepherd, and son, Houston, loaded out a car of his corn this week, consigned to the Parks Grain Co. of Lubbock.

Mr. T. W. Wilborn, of Saganaw, Texas, is now a regular reader of the Herald, complimentary of his friend, Bert Shepherd, of Gomez.

Barney Blevins, who lives just south of Plains, died of pneumonia, last Friday, and we understand was buried at Plains.

America's Pledge of Food Gave Heart to the Allies In Their Darkest Hour

Whatever is necessary America will send. That was America's pledge to the interallied food council. And because the American food army had hitherto made good they took heart and went forward.

Farm enterprise and much soft corn increased pork supplies, food conservation increased exports—total shipments doubled.

* I do not believe that drastic force need be applied to maintain economic distribution and sane use of supplies by the great majority of American people, and I have learned a deep and abiding faith in the intelligence of the average American business man, whose aid we anticipate and depend on to remedy the evils developed by the war.—Herbert Hoover, August 10, 1917.

The STAR-TELEGRAM BAR GAIN DAYS are here. Let the Herald have your renewal please

Jno. S. Powell got in last week from Dallas, where he attended the State Red Cross Convention. He stopped off in Fort Worth to hear Billy Sunday's initial sermon in that city.

REHABILITATING THE RETURNING ARMIES

The gigantic task fulfilled by the Community Labor Boards and their auxiliary organizations—the Enrollment Officers and the Women's Working Reserve—in furnishing workers for war projects during the constructive war period, was of inestimable value to our Government, enabling those in charge to keep our armies fully equipped with all the necessary pre-requisites of war.

The recruiting of this vast Industrial Army necessarily drained the local non-war industries and in many places the farms, especially in the drought stricken sections of the State. It is, therefore, imperative that a general reconstruction should take place at the earliest possible date, in order that local conditions may be established on a pre-war basis.

The Community Labor Boards, during the war period being instrumental in recruiting men for shipment to war industries, their respective communities will expect them to be instrumental in replacing workers in local industries to their former status as a post war service. On account of the altruistic character of the Community labor boards and the non-partisan status of the Boards, the administrative offices deem it advisable and request that their organizations be kept intact and functioning until the labor and business needs of their community have been properly cared for.

Several of the Community Labor Boards of this State have already notified their constituents through the local papers of their co-operation in the rehabilitating movement. The Bexar County Board made in addition the following public statement: "We will remain at our post without compensation throughout the entire re-construction period and will deem it a pleasurable duty to assist men to obtain positions and employers to obtain men in accordance with their instructions."

We feel certain that the action taken by the Bexar County Board will receive an "Amen" from the other Boards of Texas, so spontaneous and loud that it will be heard throughout the entire country.

We will thank you, upon receipt of this communication, to call a meeting of your Board and pass resolutions expressive of your Board's future conduct in respect to the above subject furnishing a copy of said resolution for our and Washington's information.

H. W. LEWIS,
Federal Director.

THE SOLDIER SPEAKS.

We have fought your fight, we have spilled our blood,
And the graves of our pals are green;
We have gone where you sent, through battle and scourge,
And we've come through with Victory clean.
The years of our lives are shortened by far
That the hopes you cherished might bear,
And all we ask that the fighting is done,
Is treat our dead pals square.

And "Brotherly Love" may go for some,
Who haven't been seared by flame;
And petting the Hun may do for the breed
Who answer a coward's name.
But ask us to take the hand of a beast,
While our comrades' blood drips red,
And we'll say to the teeth of such infamy:
"Remember the boys who are dead."

There may be those who would build their wealth
With trappings of German mould,
And maybe there live a pitiful few
Who would revel in Prussian gold;
But the men from the trenches in Flanders field
Are strong in the pride of race,
We are journeying back to the Westerland
To look our old friends in the face.

We are coming back with the joust with death,
To the old remembered ways,
To tread in the paths of ambient peace,
And we seek neither honor nor praise;
But the ghosts of the pals we left behind
Call out from the new turned loam,
And all that we ask, is remember the boys—
Our pals who will never come home.

—CAPTAIN L. B. MYERS.

Democracy in Education.

Since peace has come so near there is a revival of talk in this country for compulsory military training to prepare for war. The advocates argue that since world peace was suddenly without any warning interrupted by the Hun it would not be safe for America to be without a large army and most of our young men trained for war.

These well-meaning people forget that of all nations taking part in the world war Germany was the only nation where compulsory military training predominated. It was this compulsory military training that gave Germany that lust for power and dominion which resulted in the invasion and devastation of Belgium and France. It will mean the desolation and ruin of the German Empire.

Do we want "Kultur" in this country? Would the American people tolerate such instruction? Not so long as our ideals of democracy and freedom last.

The advocates of compulsory military training have only to compare the bravery, the strategy and the achievements of the American army with those of Germany to see what it takes to win in battle. It takes patriotism, right and the love of home and freedom to win, not mechanical, slavish obedience to authority such as was used by the German army. France stands as an example of bravery. Her army won the admiration of the world. English, Canadians, Scotch and Belgian soldiers, though few had military training before the war achieved victory after victory and helped save the cause of democracy. The victories of America and her Allies prove the efficiency of democratic institutions.

The people of America will not be willing to depart from their traditions in education. Democracy in education is a great factor for our contribution to liberty and the freedom of oppressed peoples.

Our schools must remain in the hands of the people and our teachers, professors and students must continue to be leaders in democracy and Christian citizenship. American people want no federalized military schools and no militarism in America. They will be fully disgusted with the militarism of Germany by the time the cost of war is paid.—Farm & Ranch.

STANDARD TIME ZONES WILL BE MOVED EAST

Washington, Nov. 18.—New and official boundaries for time zones in the United States, unifying existing lines and moving them slightly eastward, were announced today by the Interstate Commerce Commission, to become effective at 2 a. m. Jan. 1, next. This order is pursuant to the daylight saving act, which, in addition to authorizing an advance of the clock during the summer, provided for permanent United States standard time and required the commission to define the limits of the standard time zones, which previously had been fixed only by custom of cross-continent railroads or by local law.

Between central and mountain time the line begins at the Canadian boundary at Portal, N. D.; running thru Minot, N. D.; and following the Missouri river to Pierre, S. D.; then through Long Pine, North Platte, McCook and Republican Junction, Neb.; Phillipsburg, Plainville, Ellis, Dodge City and Liberal, Kans.; Wagona, Clinton and Sayre, Okla.;

Sweetwater, Big Spring, and San Angelo, Texas, and the 100th meridian to the Rio Grande.

So Brownfield and vicinity must change time again, Jan. 1st, but this time we will go back another hour and in the same standard time that Eastern New Mexico now runs. This giving us almost exact sun time instead of 45 minutes ahead of the sun time as at present.

Dick Whitley, a young man of the Needmore community, was carried to Lubbock one day recently for an operation for appendicitis.

W. E. Johnson, of Waco, is here this week placing loans on Terry county farms and ranches.

Uncle Joe Beal, of Meadow, was down this week after a load of fuel for his farm near Meadow, and while here he had us send the Herald to his son, Walter, who is now working for a mercantile firm of Carlsbad, N. M. Uncle Joe said he had never had but one letter from his son, Jake, and that was in August, since he landed in France, with the 90th Division.

"A SPLENDID TONIC"

Says Hixson Lady Who, On Doctor's Advice, Took Cardui And Is Now Well.

Hixson, Tenn.—"About 10 years ago I was..." says Mrs. J. B. Gadd, of this place. "I suffered with a pain in my left side, could not sleep at night with this pain, always in the left side..."

My doctor told me to use Cardui. I took one bottle, which helped me and after my baby came, I was stronger and better, but the pain was still there.

I at first let it go, but began to get weak and in a run-down condition, so I decided to try some more Cardui, which I did.

This last Cardui which I took made me much better, in fact, cured me. It has been a number of years, still I have no return of this trouble.

I feel it was Cardui that cured me, and I recommend it as a splendid female tonic."

Don't allow yourself to become weak and run-down from womanly troubles. Take Cardui. It should surely help you, as it has so many thousands of other women in the past 40 years. Headache, backache, sideache, nervousness, sleeplessness, tired-out feeling, are all signs of womanly trouble. Other women get relief by taking Cardui. Why not you? All druggists.
