ARGONNE VICTORY

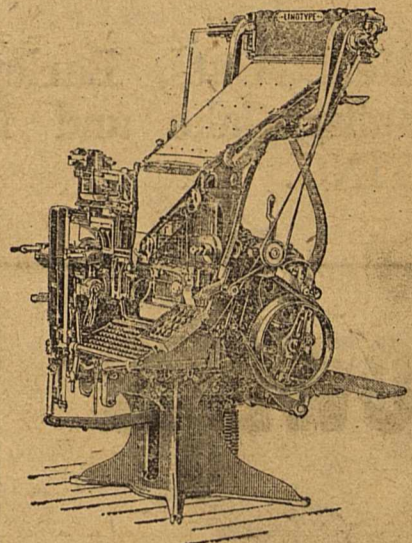

The following newspaper clipping has just been received from Homer Winston, and only shows what the great Pershing thinks of the Texas fighters he had over seas, of which Homer was a part:

The prowess of American arms in the Meuse-Argonne battle is recorded in a general order, just published at G. H. Q. over the signature of the Commander-in-Chief, A. E. F. The order follows:

"It is with a sense of gratitude for its splendid accomplishment, which will live through all history, that I record in general orders, a tribute to the victory of the First Army in the Meuse-Argonne battle.

"Tested and strengthened by the reduction of the St. Mihiel salient, for more than six weeks you battered against the pivot of the enemy line on the Western front. It was a position of imposing natural strength, stretching on both sides of the Meuse river from the bitterly contested hills of Verdun, to almost impenetrable forest of the Argonne; a position, moreover, fortified by four years of labor designed to render it impregnable; a position held with the fullest resources of the enemy. That position you broke utterly, and thereby hastened the collapse of the enemy's military power.

"Soldiers of all divisions engaged under the First, Third and Fifth Corps—here named and included the 90th and 32nd divisions—you will be long remembered for the stubborn persistence of your progress, your storming of obstinately defended machine gun nests, your penetration, yard by yard, of woods and ravines your heroic resistance in the face of counter attack supported by powerful artillery fire. For more than a month, from the initial attack of September 26th, you fought your way slowly through the Argonne, through the woods and over the hills west of the Meuse; you slowly enlarged your hold-on the Cotes de Meuse to the east; and then on the first of November, your attacking forced the enemy to flight. Pressing his retreat, you cleared the entire left bank of the Meuse south of Sedon, and then stormed the heights of the left bank and drove him into the plain beyond.

"Your achievement which is scarcely to be equaled in American history, must remain a source of proud satisfaction to the troops who participated in the last campaign of the war. The American people will remember it as the realization of the hitherto potential strength of the American contribution toward the cause to which they had sworn allegiance. There can be no greater reward for a soldier or for a soldier's memory.

"This order will be read to all organizations at the first assembly formation after its receipt. John J. Pershing, General Commander-in-Chief, of American Expeditionary Forces.

Jazz Band in Venice.

The first jazz band to give a concert in gondolas on the famous canals of Venice is one of the A. E. F. bands composed of the men of the United States Ambulance Service with the Italian Army. So good a record of its entertainment ability did it bring from Italy that it has been granted two months' additional time in France for a tour of leave areas and base ports under the management of the Army Y. M. C. A. This band before it left America, appeared in "Goodbye Bill," a play given for the benefit of the Liberty Loan campaign, and in Italy it played at Florence, Rome, Bologna, Naples and Venice, where they gave a jazz concert in gondolas on the Grand Canal.

Terry Co. Ginned 665 Bales

In commenting on the article in the News of week before last, in regards of a Terry county farmer bringing six bales of cotton to the Click Gin in Takoka, the Brownfield Herald says:

"The reason Mr. Green had to carry his last few bales to Takoka, was that the gin at this place is owned and operated by out of town people, and they closed down some time ago. The Takoka gin is a locally owned gin. These six bales makes 665 bales for Terry county, and we do not know how much Terry county cotton, otherwise, was ginned at both Lubbock and Takoka.

Same over this way, Bro. Herald. To our certain knowledge, all the cotton raised in the northwest part of Lynn county, was carried to Lubbock or elsewhere to be ginned. Lubbock counted this cotton as her own in the total number of bales ginned in that county. Likewise will Lynn county count the Terry county cotton in her total, so Terry will have to get busy and figure up a way to get even.—Lynn County News

Well, that get even job with Lynn is a hard proposition, as Terry has been trying something like that for several years. Indeed Lynn has been counting both cotton and corn for us every year for the past eight, or until we got a railroad. But back to the actual subject, we are still ahead of you by actual count of bales ginned in 1919.

The foundation for the Presbyterian is finished and the building is now under construction, but is being greatly hindered on account of so much rainy weather.

Don't forget the School Trustee election to be held tomorrow. It is just as much, or more the duty of the citizen to vote in the school elections, as it is in any other.

DIVISION OF TEXAS.

Ralls Banner:

There is much agitation of late concerning the division of Texas into two or more states. This is a question that should receive the serious consideration of every citizen of West Texas. It is a matter that pertains to the future welfare of this section of the state. We are now what you might call vassals to the law makers of East Texas, they governing us, and dishing out down at the state capital what they think we need. There has never been a move started that would benefit West Texas that has not been killed. We are considered as an ignorant class of people who know not our desires, and are not capable of self-government. The East and the West have nothing in common, and what is good for them is not good for us. For this to remain as an inseparable state would require that two sets of laws be made. Of course, in speaking of a division of the state sometimes sentiment rises up and says: "Remember what your forefathers did; remember the battles they fought to make this a free and independent state wherein people could go unmolested in the pursuit of happiness," but this is not a time when sentiment should be considered, but hard down common sense employed. Even our forefathers saw the necessity of such a division when we were annexed to the union, and a provision was made by which this could be divided into four or more states. This question has been discussed partially by the press of West Texas, but now, we believe, the time has arrived when every paper in the West should take the question up and put it squarely before their readers.

W. W. Ditto returned this week from Eastland, where he went on business.

The Interscholastic League.

In spite of a number of things that would seem to be in the way, the growth of the Interscholastic League for the past year has been remarkable. This being the case, it behooves the schools of the Panhandle to make an extra effort to take part in this year's meets so that we will not be behind the rest of the schools of the state.

The district meet will be held in Canyon on April 18 and 19 under the auspices of the West Texas State Normal College. Only senior events, in athletics will be participated in at the district meet; there will be both boys' and girls' basket ball. Loving cups will be given in athletics to winning track team, tennis doubles, girls' basket ball, boys' basket ball and individual high man in track. Prizes for the first, second and third place will be given in track events.

Loving cups will be given also to winners in debate, senior boy declaimer, senior girl declaimer, junior boy declaimer, junior girl declaimer, making a total of ten. Appropriate prizes will be offered for spelling, essays, and rural declaimers.

All contestants will be required to pay a fee of 50 cents; this, however, will entitle them to enter all events free, both athletic and otherwise. To all others a single admission fee of 50 cents will be made, this likewise

LOMIS SELLS SLATONITE

"The new proprietor of the Slatonite is Mr. W. Donald, formerly with the McKinney Daily Courier Gazette and proprietor of the Princeton News. Mr. Donald is a competent newspaper man and will give Slaton better newspaper service than we have been able to do. He is a business man of high standing and will be a valuable addition to Slaton's business circle. We are glad to know that in stepping out of the Slatonite we are placing the mantle of proprietorship in such competent hands. Mr. Donald's family will soon be at home here.

In an effort to relieve the curiosity of many of Slaton's readers, Mr. Lomis says:

"The first question that comes to us from scores of friends, is: 'Why are you leaving Slaton?' Recently and entirely unexpected, the opportunity came to us to enter the newspaper business in a much larger field where the volume of business is several times larger than it is in Slaton. That tells the whole story. We are just stepping into a larger job, and felt that we could not in justice to ourself refuse the opportunity, altho it means breaking up business associations and friendships that have been forming for years.—Lubbock Avalanche.

Editor Lomis is generally regarded as one of the foremost editors on the south plains, if indeed not in the whole of west Texas, and it is with many regrets that the fraternity of these parts wish him a farewell.

On account of the bad condition of the roads on account of heavy rains the mail men did not get away from Brownfield in any direction last Saturday. But we must learn to

LUMBER ADVANCES LEAST

Experts representing the four great building material industries have compiled statistics showing how war conditions affected the market. Comparison of price variations cover a period of six years. As was expected, the figures show steel far in the lead of other building materials in its climb skyward since 1912, with an advance of 148.5 per cent. Cement is up 55.5 per cent, brick 38.1 per cent, and lumber only 17.07 per cent.

We understand that the Union School District has been successfully passed in the legislature, and has been approved by the Governor, so that the patrons of that district are now ready to get busy with their bond issue and build one of the best country school houses on the south plains.

From press dispatches, we learn that Joseph Weldon Bailey has quit the Democratic party. Why did not the honorable gentleman tell us something new? We have been of the opinion that Joe separated himself from the Democratic party several years ago, or rather the party separated from him.

As usual, quite a number of all Fools Day pranks were played here Tuesday, and the Herald man bit at the old one about snakes, when really, he has not seen anything to make him the least "snaky" in the last several months. We suppose it was just a force of habit.

Several of the farmers are dipping cattle this week for lice, scabbies and other varmin. The ranchman has learned the farmer something in this country, as they have all learned with more or less experience of their own that they cannot have good cattle when they are burdened with varmin.

The Brownfield Herald says oil stock is not being so eagerly scapped up by the citizens of that town now as formerly, owing to the fact that no revenue is being derived from the stock already purchased; seems to be a case of all outgo, and no income. Better invest your money in Plains real estate, where results are certain. Oil excitement, like a subtle narcotic, often results in misleading judgment.

We are going to write an article next week on the Potash industry, not from the point of view that we can give any information on this big subject, but we aim to confine our remarks entirely to what real authorities on the subject can give us. For instance the most of the article will be taken from the Encyclopedia Britannica, which is universally recognized as a standard authority. However, we shall not fail we call your attention to the great benefits Brownfield will derive from the proposed plant to be erected in this city.

Two representatives of the Pierce Fordyce Oil Company, spent several days here last week, and we understand that they are contemplating the purchase of lots here for the erection of suitable storage room and tanks. Well, if they do not aim to do something like that, and get busy with some advertising, like the Magnolia Company is doing, they had as well to pull up what little is now on the ground and move it to some other place. We are not running their business, however, but only making suggestions. We imagine, though, that no one understand how conditions are here better than the company itself.

Some one at the Brownfield Hardware store—we don't think it was any of the members or employees of the firm—undertook to make the local we wrote about Boon Hunter, last week, look ridiculous, in that the writer tried to make the local sound like Boon layed the eggs himself, but inasmuch as the writer did not sign the article in question, and it being strictly against the rules of an editor to reproduce an article if not signed, therefore we could not use it. Will say however in the defence of Boon, that we do not believe he is a setter, as is probably the writer. But if anything or anybody wants to take the matter up with Boon, they have our consent, and we now give you warning that Boon has a big fist capacity, as well as an egg capacity. Do you get us?

Bluford Adams, of Brownwood, Texas, who has been visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Adams, left last week for his home. He says the oil development is still going on in his town.

The Terrible Pains in Back and Sides. Cardui Gave Relief.

Marksville, La.—Mrs. Alice Johnson, of this place, writes: "For one year I suffered with an awful misery in my back and sides. My left side was hurting me all the time. The misery was something awful.

I could not do anything, not even sleep at night. It kept me awake most of the night... I took different medicines, but nothing did me any good or relieved me until I took Cardui...

I was not able to do any of my work for one year and I got worse all the time, was confined to my bed off and on. I got so bad with my back that when I stooped down I was not able to straighten up again... I decided I would try Cardui... By time I had taken the entire bottle I was feeling pretty good and could straighten up and my pains were nearly all gone.

I shall always praise Cardui. I continued taking it until I was strong and well." If you suffer from pains due to female complaints, Cardui may be just what you need. Thousands of women who once suffered in this way now praise Cardui for their present good health. Give it a trial. NC-133

HOW CAN YOU TELL YOUR FAVORITE TOBACCO?

As Plain as the Nose on Your Face—Just Smell It

Smokers do not have to put tobacco in their pipes to find out if they like it. They can just rub the tobacco between the palms of their hands and smell it. The nose is an infallible guide to smoking enjoyment.

All smoking tobaccos employ some flavoring to improve the flavour and burning qualities of the leaves, to quote the Encyclopedia Britannica. Naturally, there is considerable difference in the kind of flavorings used, and the nose quickly detects this difference. TUXEDO Tobacco uses the purest, most wholesome, and delicious of all flavorings—chocolate. And the almost universal liking for chocolate in a great measure explains the widespread popularity of TUXEDO Tobacco.

Carefully aged, old Burley tobacco, plus a dash of pure chocolate, gives TUXEDO Tobacco a pure fragrance your nose can quickly distinguish from any other tobacco. Try it and see.

Boyce Cardwell, local manager of the R. H. Kemp Lumber Co., came in one day this week and said there was no use of him taking the paper, as his company was on the list, but said he wanted to send it to some one, and gave us the address of a relative at Byers, Texas.

We are sorry to announce that Brownfield is about to lose a good citizen in the person of Judge W. W. Gatewood, who is selling out to go to Los Angeles, Calif., where he will make his home in the future with his son, a new paper man at that city. Wherever the Judge and his amiable wife may decide to locate, the Herald certainly wishes them well, but of course thinks they are making the mistake of their lives in leaving Brownfield.

Judge W. W. Price is attending the teachers convention at Waco, Texas, and of course is doing all he can for the advantage of old Terry, in the way of getting her share of the big appropriations for the rural schools of the State, and we bet that Judge Price comes home with our share.

T. R. Prideaux, local manager of the A. G. McAdams Lumber Co., has bought the Harkins place, and is therefore now numbered with the other home owners of this little city. We congratulate him.

After their regular meeting hours at the home of one of the members, Mrs. O. T. Haley, the Maids and Matron Club members paid the Herald a call to see the new linotype machine at work. Call again some of these days ladies, and maybe we will not have to call on someone else to demonstrate the machine.

J. T. May left this week for Percell, Okla., in response to a message saying his brother was very low. We hope he will find his brother improved upon his arrival there.

Buying and Selling

Rule Review: The world is still not what it ought to be. We have before us a news item that the United States potash supply is inadequate and that the nation must continue its German imports of this product.

State Press in Dallas News: If we buy nothing from Germany, we shall sell nothing to Germany. The world is like a farm—some parts of it produce one crop readily, some another. We put alfalfa in the low grounds, peanuts on the high, thin soils. So with this terrestrial ball. America produces cotton and copper and a hundred other things more economically than other countries produce them. Germany produces potash, dyestuffs, toys and pretzels more cheaply than America can produce them. Therefore it is mutually profitable for America and Germany to buy of each other the things each has to sell. Congressman Hefflin of Alabama, declared last week that he knew of orders for one million bales of cotton from German sources, to be shipped as soon as the blockade is lifted. Very likely it is an exaggeration, not on the Congressman's part, but on the part of those from whom he obtained the information. No shipping is now available for such an export. But there is no question that the surplus cotton now in America will be in demand as soon as Continental Europe returns to a semblance of its peacetime industry. When that is to be nobody knows. In the meantime another cotton crop is coming on, which will add to the present unsold surplus, and if the European demand shall not be restored by next year we of the south will find ourselves face to face with bankruptcy. It is to the intimate personal interest of every person in the south that the world market for cotton be restored at the earliest possible date. But if we do not buy something from Europe we can not sell much there. Trade is the currency of the nations.

Hold on fellows, and just wait till the big chemical mills are located in Brownfield, there will be plenty of potash right here in good old Texas, estimated by experts, to last the United States one hundred years, and we have been practically assured by the capitalist that are promoting them that these mills will be under erection in the next seventy days. Then the old and worn out lands of east Texas and the older states will bloom like a rose.

Conciliation

People who have taken differences to court agree with Abraham Lincoln, who said: 'Discourage litigation. Persuade your neighbor to compromise whenever you can, and point out to them how the nominal winner is often the real loser—in fees, expense, and waste of time.' The idea is not new, but its application is. Judges of the Municipal courts of New York City have provided a means of conciliation, whereby the two boddies in dispute, thru the mediation of the third party called a conciliator, voluntarily reach an agreement. The conciliator seeks to bring the parties into accord. He may make suggestions, but the parties themselves must finally agree upon the settlement. If the conciliation proceedings fail, the parties may arrange for arbitration, in which case they must abide by the decision of the arbitrator. Not willing to arbitrate, they can fight it out in the courts by the slow, tedious, vexatious processes that are such a waste of time, energy and money.—The American Printer.

ALL PARTIES indebted to me will please call at the Brownfield State Bank and either pay or make satisfactory arrangements for extension of any amount that is now due. Please attend to this at once and do not force me to institute action for collection. R. H. Banowsky.

We have heard several of our citizens complaining of the number of stray dogs on the streets lately. One tok up with us lately, but a good charge of shot removed the culprit. The remedy is not patented either.

No Cheap Cars For Awhile

The following to the local Ford Dealer is self explanatory:

On account of recent news paper articles and the many rumors circulating over the country concerning a proposed new car to be manufactured by Mr. Henry Ford, we believe it advisable to inform our dealers generally, in order that you may intelligently and uniformly answer all inquiries.

In the first place, a large majority of the reports afloat are greatly distorted and exaggerated. A new car may be manufactured but as to when it will be manufactured we are not in position to say, except that we do know a new car could not possibly be designed, tested out, manufactured and marketed in quantities under two or three years' time.

There is nothing, however, indefinite about the present Ford car. There are over three million in daily use at the present time; and every one of our dealers, through their continued enthusiastic efforts, can dispose of our product as rapidly as manufactured. We intend to continue the production of the reliable Model T as aggressively as in the past, and feel that we have the cooperation of our entire sales organization in forcibly impressing upon prospective buyers the exceptional high quality and dependability of the present Ford car backed up by the entire strength of an organization already established.

Our factory and assembly plant production is being pushed to the limit, with the thought in mind of reaching our normal capacity of three thousand cars per day as quickly as possible in order that the demands of prospective buyers might be met to the fullest possible extent and that our dealers might increase their profits proportionately.

We are also taking important steps to expand and extend our business abroad, especially in European countries including Russia.

With the above information, you should quickly offset any rumors which might tend to delay immediate sales.

Yours very truly,
FORD MOTOR COMPANY,
Edsel B. Ford, President.

With the fine rains of March on tap, which break all records for old Terry, we are afraid the people will now turn their attention to general field farming, and as a consequence spoil a lot of mighty good and costly seed. We hope we wont have any late blowouts this year, being as we have a mighty good season, the best on record for the time of year, but you never can tell. At least a late sandstorm is the rule rather than the exception. The oldest and most successful farmers of the county, do not risk planting anything until after May 20th, after which, a bad sandstorm is not likely to come.

The Magnolia Oil Can

It isn't steam that runs a car. It isn't Coal or Steel. It isn't coin, it isn't brains that moves each rod and wheel. Not all our strength and all our art and toil and skill could ever make an automobile start without a little oil. An automobile will not mind unless you use the can. The car knows when you are kind, and likewise so does man. No use to urge and push and strain; no use to fume and boil. The world is just an automobile that needs a little, good oil.

KEEP YOUR INSURANCE

Your relatives serving with the colors will soon be back in civil life. They may be at home now. For your protection, and for their own, they undoubtedly have taken out insurance with the United States government.

Tell them personally, if you can—that they may retain insurance with the United States Government.

You should impress upon your relatives in the service of the vital importance of keeping their insurance. Write to them without delay—or the United States Government even after they leave the military service.

The privilege of continuing their Government insurance is a valuable right given to soldiers and sailors as part of the compensation for their heroic and loyal services. If the soldier or sailor permits his insurance to lapse, he loses that right, and he never will be able to regain it.

But if he keeps up his present insurance—by the regular payment of the monthly premiums—he will be able to change it later into a standard Government policy WITHOUT MEDICAL EXAMINATION. Meantime, he can keep up his present insurance at substantially the same low rate. The Government will write ordinary life insurance, 20-payment life, endowment maturing at age 62, and other usual forms of insurance. This will be Government insurance, at Government rates.

Many men will come out of the war physically impaired and will, therefore, be unable to obtain any life insurance protection whatsoever for themselves and their families, unless insured and converted into standard they keep up their present insurance with the United States Government. Uncle Sam's insurance may be continued Government policies, regardless of men's physical condition.

Impress these things upon your relatives in the service. Tell them there is nothing safer or stronger than Government insurance. Tell them to talk about this to their commanding officers and to the insurance officer at their place of duty, before they leave the service. Tell them to carry back with them to civil life, as an aid and an asset, the continued insurance protection of the United States Government. Tell them, for your sake and for their sake, to Hold on to Uncle Sam's Insurance!

Some Popular Misconceptions Concerning Tuberculosis.

That it is hereditary. This is absolutely untrue.

That grown people are susceptible to it. Grown people break down with tuberculosis, but rarely "take it." The germ is implanted in childhood.

That a person who has tuberculosis should be shunned or avoided. Tuberculosis is different from some other contagious diseases in that one who has it, if careful, need not be a danger to others.

That it cannot be cured. Thousands on thousands of people are living and working today because of having taken the "cure" who otherwise would have been helpless or dead.

That medicine will cure it. Fresh air, good food, rest and optimism are the only medicines that should be used except on a physician's prescription. "Patent" medicines are dangerous.

That one with tuberculosis should "Go West and Rough It." Following this advice has killed thousands.

That no one will help or advise the tuberculous. Call on your County or City Health Officer, Local Anti-tuberculosis Society, or write to the State Tuberculosis Sanatorium, Carlsbad, Texas, and you will be given authoritative advice.
