BROWNFIELD, TERRY COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY MAY 2, 1919

NO. 42

Obituary

Frank Wirtz was born at Hinkley Ill., April, 2nd 1882; moved to Miss., with his parents in early childhood.

Has been a consistant member of the Baptist church since the age of sixteen; was married to Miss Rose Gregory in 1899. Died Easter Sunday, Apr., 20, 1919.

Mr. Wirtz has only been living here for about a year, but in that short time in his quiet, unobtrusive manner, his evident sincerity and purity of purpose has won him many friends. His church, his family, and his lodge are all poorer because of his going, but heaven has been enriched and become more attractive to his loved ones.

It was the writers pleasure to visit him many times during his last suffering and was there when he went peacefully to sleep in Jesus.

We do not understand why one so anxious as he, to work for the good of his fellow man should be taken in the very prime of life.

Gods ways are past finding out but we know he doeth all things well and some day, the mists will be all cleared away. To those left behind his life will be an inspiration and his memory a benediction. May the richest blessings of a kind heavenly father abide with his heart broken wife; also the mother, father and brother and the many friends of this good man.

A Friend.

Hogue & Flint of Tullia, Texas, bought and loaded out nine cars of two year old steers at Seagraves, and two cars of the same here, yesterday. They are being shipped to a small town on the Rock Island in the Panhandle, where these gentlemen have pasturage.

BROTHERS & Brothers have just received a car of White Face Flour.

Trades Day Monday

As stated in the last issue of the Herald, one of our citizens, Mr. A. L. Turner was out and busy with the business men of the town in an effort to get a trades day started in this town, and we are glad to report that he succeeded well, as he brought in a list one day this week that contained the name of practically every business man of the city and when it was totaled, there was found to be in the neighborhood of forty dollars, and he did not see all the business men, and there were others that were busy at the time, and told him to call later. So it is very safe to say that the final wind up will find the premium list nearer sixty than forty dollars.

The list includes practically every farm animal, so do not think that there will be nothing offered on the fine animal that you sport, for the committee is working to make the premiums cover all fine stock that is brought here that day.

Now come early, for our merchants are going to offer you some bargains that day, and that means that if you fail to bring the better half and the children, and they find in next issue that they have been deprived of some real bargain shopping, you ought to know what will happen to you when they find out. Come one, come all, and lets have a regular old Central Texas first Monday, that will remind us of old times.

FOR SALE, Sumac Cane seed at the Higginbotham Harris yard.

Com. Dave Cunningham recently had us send the paper one year to his niece, at Arlington, Texas.

Plant Peanuts In Place Of Cotton.

"In reducing cotton acreage one is confronted with the question of a suitable crop to take the place of cotton," says E. W. Cole, former head of the Bureau of Markets in the State Department of Agriculture, and a well known authority on farm crops. "The season is now too far advanced for corn planting in many sections, but peanuts may be planted as late as June fifteenth, as they mature in from ninety to one hundred days. The White Spanish peanut, being the easiest to plant, harvest and cultivate, as well as the most desirable for market purposes, should be planted.

"On soil especially adapted to the growing of peanuts, the yield in bushels will be twice or more than twice as much per acre as corn. Peanuts will probably produce a higher monetary value per acre in East Texas than any other field crop for the amount of time and labor expended. Last season was a very hard year for peanuts but we shall probably not have as bad weather again in a hundred years. Now is the time to plant peanuts."

T. E. Hobbs, a prosperous, north side farmer, came in last week and renewed.

DON'T FORGET the Lion's Claw every Tuesday night. It is now getting intensely interesting. Don't miss a single episode.

Resolutions

As God in his infinite Wisdom has seen fit to call from among us our esteemed friend, brother and Sovereign, Frank J. Wirtz, after a long and trying illness, after which the call came to go, on the 20th day of April, 1919. In the loss of our friend brother and Sovereign, the family has lost a true and patient husband, son and brother, and his Woodmen friends and brothers have lost a shining light; one who was true and tried; one who did not falter from duty, when even his health was fast failing; and one who did not surrender his devotion even unto the end.

Be it resolved that we do hereby extend to the bereaved family the sympathy of the entire membership of the Brownfield Camp No. 1939 of the Woodmen of the World; and be it further resolved that a copy of these resolutions be spread upon the minutes of our camp, a copy be presented to the bereaved family, and that a copy be handed the Terry County Herald for publication.

I. C. Burgess, J. B. Cardwell, and Walter Gracey, Committee.

Card of Thanks.

We take this method of thanking the good people of Brownfield and surrounding country for their help, and the many manifestations of sympathy and comfort during all the long seige of illness and finally the death of our darling husband, son and brother. May God's richest blessings rest on each of you.

Mrs. Frank Wirtz

Nothing New Under the Sun

A St. Louis daily paper, recently discussing the League of Nations and disarmament, reminds us that it is nothing new, pointing to our relations with Canada for over 100 years, in the following words:

"Disarmament by agreement between nations is not an untried idea. We have highly successful examples of it at our own doors. For 100 years the United States and Canada, have observed the compact not to place armed vessels on the Great Lakes. The treaty has been kept without friction and with mutual advantages. The lakes are a fair field for commerce and unquestioned friendliness prevails. A few decades ago the British government closed the last military barracks on the Canadian border. The mutual sentiment of peaceful amity rendered it useless a mere relic of outgrown conditions. It shows how two peoples, living side by side across a whole continent, can get along in a smooth way by simply agreeing to do it. We had for some time a difference with Canada on Alaska's coast boundary, but it was finally settled in our favor by an arbitration board, that held its meetings in England, and the deciding votes were British. As a result Canada is without a seaport of its own on the Alaskan coast. But its shipping interests do not suffer in that region. The disposition on both sides is considerate and amicable. Peace is in a large measure a state of mind and a league of nations is by no means a complex matter as many imagine."

Theo. Smith and wife got in this week from Tyler, Texas, where Theo finished a course in bookkeeping. They left yesterday with his father and family and will make their future home in Wichita Falls, Texas.

In Touch With The World.

Some years ago the United States Department of Agriculture took a census of farmers in certain counties of Maryland and Pennsylvania to find how many read government bulletins and farm papers. The people of these counties were above the average in intelligence and were fairly prosperous. It was found that less than fifteen per cent read any kind of agricultural literature.

Those who live in towns and cities, with free delivery or the post office near at hand and with book stores and magazine stands available, do not realize what the isolation of the farm really means. Generally the farmer has little time for reading, unless it is in the dead of winter, or when by reason of bad weather he is kept out of dead of winter, or when by reason of bad weather he is kept out of the field. If the road to town is a bad one, he cannot read when he has the time because he cannot get the reading matter. The bad road is like the man's house with a hole in the roof. He did not patch the hole when the weather was good because he did not need it and he was busy elsewhere; he did not patch it when the weather was bad because it was raining.

The rural mail delivery service has been a God-send to the farmers and their families: It has made them citizens of the world. This service depends for its efficiency and regularity upon the conditions of the roads. If the road is good the farmer can have his reading matter when he is able to make use of it, and through improved ways of communication his family begins to develop an interest in the community and in the great world from which, otherwise it is, completely barred.

There is no spur to mental growth so great as the opportunity to grow. To be in touch with the world every day in the year, is worth the added road tax, if the farmer should derive no other benefit from paying it. Good roads in Texas mean a greater Texas.

LUMBER ADVANCES LEAST

Experts representing the four great building material industries have compiled statistics showing how war conditions affected the market. Comparison of price variations cover a period of six years. As was expected, the figures show steel far in the lead of other building materials in its climb skyward since 1912, with an advance of 148.5 per cent. Cement is up 55.5 per cent, brick 38.1 per cent, and lumber only 17.07 per cent.

The Herald man takes this method of thanking the Rix Furniture co., of Lubbock, for a complimentary pass to hear Mr. Vernon Dalhart, the gifted American tenor, at the Methodist church, at Lubbock, last Fri. night, but was not able to attend. At this recital Mr. Dalhart concentrated to sing in comparison with his own voice, as recreated on the New Edison phonograph, and besides the great treat of hearing one of the favorite Edison artists, the novelty of hearing the real human voice in competition with the laboratory reproduction would have been something out of the ordinary in this neck of the woods.

We had a remittance this week from a former Terryite, J. V. Newsum for another year of the Herald. He says he still likes to read the old Herald, which tells all about the best spot in Texas.

Mrs. Jimmie Smith left this week for Fort Worth, where she and baby will join the husband and father, Mumfort Smith, who has a position in the post office in that city.

There are four more weeks of school after this, and we understand all the kiddies are working hard to pass the final exams.

We are glad to be able to report baby Frank Martin the III, better after a long seige of pneumonia.

Millard Ellington and family of the Meadow community, are here this week visiting his brother-in-law, Geo. Snodgrass and family.

Two of the best compliments the Herald has ever received, were delivered this week, and coming as they did from non-residents, they are the more appreciated. Percy Spencer of Lubbock, delivered himself about like this: Jack, if everybody in Brownfield had made the progress that you have made in the ten years that you have been in Brownfield, this town would be a larger one than either Lubbock or Plainview, for I know personally how you was situated financially, when you came here. And he tried to prove his assertion by us. And then, R. M. Kendrick, cashier of the First State Bank of Plains, was in to see us and handed us a very favorable compliment from his associate in the proposed First National Bank of Brownfield, Mr. Wilder, of Kansas City, whom Mr. Kendrick reported as saying that the Herald gave him the most satisfying news from its particular territory of all the weekly exchanges that comes to his desk, and we imagine he sees lots of them, as he is one of the editors of the Southwestern Banker. It is needless to say that we highly appreciate these compliments, and that it will not make us put forth even greater efforts to please our readers.

We understand that the suit instituted by Mr. Lumsden against A. L. Gurley and others, over the trespass of the latter on the salt lakes east of town, which Mr. Lumsden had leased, has been carried to the Federal Court by mutual agreement, and will not be tried here as originally planned.

Tom May reports a splendid meeting of the Magnolia Oil Co., agents at Lubbock, last week, and that all such meetings prove a mutual good to every agent in the territory. He says they adopted as a slogan this motto: "Be sure you are right and go ahead."

It seems that the small pox has hit old Terry right square in the middle, as there are well developed cases at both Brownfield and Gomez, and numbers have been exposed to them. Yet, County Health Officer, T. L. Treadaway and County Judge W. W. Price assure us that the utmost precautions are being instituted to keep the disease confined to the families of the two cases now reported. We understand that some new comers brought in the disease.

M. V. Brownfield attended the good roads meeting at Mineral Wells while away, and we hope he returned imbued so thoroughly with the good roads fever, that he will set the whole county into an epidemic.

We gather from the Ropes locals in the Lubbock Avalanche that Mrs. Lense Price, who has been suffering with high fever for the past four weeks, is fast improving.

Elbert Oakley moved out to the Bassam farm this week, as he will make a crop out there.

Clifford Dickson, a former Tahokaite, but who has been living at Burkburnett for the past several months, came over from Tahoka, last Sunday, in company with other parties after his wife and baby, who have been visiting her parents here, Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Walters, for several weeks. We believe that Cliff has a notion to locate on the good old ballies again.

Attorney Roscoe Wilson, and wife of Lubbock, are down this week attending court. Mrs. Wilson is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. V. Brownfield.

Splendid rains have fallen over old Terry and adjoining counties this week, but in some instances it was accompanied by heavy hails. However, in this immediate vicinity, there was no hail to speak of, and the big fruit crop is still safe. The government gauge at Brownfield, registered 2.16 inches up to Wednesday morning.

"Nervous Breakdown!"

When your nerves fail your whole body suffers—headaches, stomach disorders, sleepless nights, make you miserable indeed. The experience of Mrs. H. G. Redman, of New Haven, Conn., is an example. Read what she says:

"For months I suffered from extreme nervousness. My nerves were completely unstrung and I suffered distressing pains across stomach and chest. Doing light housework left me completely fatigued, and loss of sleep made nights long and tiresome. I began taking DR. MILES' NERVINE and the first night slept soundly. I continued using the medicine and soon all the unpleasant symptoms were gone."

Thousands of sufferers from nervous disorders have found relief in DR. MILES' NERVINE. This wonderful nerve soother is non-alcoholic and contains no harmful or habit-forming drug. Your druggist can tell you of its merits and effectiveness. Keep a bottle always on hand.

The County Dads are having a loading pit made in the draw just south of town, and we understand will spend something like $400 on the streets of Brownfield, and of course Lake Superior street will get the bulk of the work. This is west Harden street from the bank corner, and is only named for the big lake in derision of its constant pool of water since it has been raining so much. This fund has been augmented with liberal donations from the business men, and it is estimated that 500 loads of alkali rock will be put on it in order to raise it high enough to drain into Sixth street. Let the good work go on.

What are the Brownfield school trustees doing? This is a question that is propounded to the Herald almost daily, and of course we cannot give them any information, as we know just as little, and possibly less than any one. We have no criticism to offer the present or the former set of trustees, for they are all good and capable men, well and sufficiently qualified to do their duties with dispatch, but they might take the public a little more in their confidence and give out something every once in a while to keep the patrons and tax payers encouraged. Some of the patrons are already talking that there will be no school building ready this fall, and carrying with it the usual crowded conditions. Let us hear from the trustees on this subject.

It seems that Gov. Allen, of Kansas, is greatly taken back, and powerfully disturbed over the fact that southern farmers are reducing their cotton acreage this year, in order that they may get a fair and just price for it, commensurate with the prices they are obliged to pay for everything they have to buy. When the government announced that it would take the entire wheat crop of the country at $2.25 per bushel, there was not a single protest from the south, that we ever heard of. In fact, the most of them were in sympathy with the movement, and we believe that it was southern and western Congressmen that forced an appropriation through for the payment of it, when the war ended, and it was found that wheat would not likely bring this price on the market. We believe that Gov. Allen is trying to build up more political capital than anything else, as in his recent attack on the officers of a Kansas Division, whom he accused of needlessly exposing, and we also might say that in this rupture, the entire country was with the General, as he proved that Gen. Foch was the man that ordered him to take a certain point and he and his boys took it. We imagine that the people of Kansas would have been ashamed of the boys if they had failed. But they did not fail, and the entire country joins Kansas in admiration of this plucky division and their commander, despite the grouchy Allen, who thinks this is not a free country.

GLAD TO TESTIFY

Says Watoga Lady, "As To What Cardui Has Done For Me, So As To Help Others."

Watoga, W. Va.—Mrs. S. W. Gladwell, of this town, says: "When about 15 years of age, I suffered greatly... Sometimes would go a month or two, and I had terrible headache, backache, and bearing-down pains, and would just drag and had no appetite. Then... it would last... two weeks, and was so weakening, and my health was awful.

My mother bought me a bottle of Cardui, and I began to improve after taking the first bottle, so kept it up till I took three... I gained, and was well and strong, and I owe it all to Cardui.

I am married now and have 3 children... Have never had to have a doctor for female trouble, and just resort to Cardui if I need a tonic. I am glad to testify to what it has done for me, so as to help others."

If you are nervous or weak, have headaches, backaches, or any of the other ailments so common to women, why not give Cardui a trial? Recommended by many physicians. In use over 40 years. Begin taking Cardui today. It may be the very medicine you need.

The Government investigation recently made public, shows that this country alone, is "shy" over 1,000,000 dwellings. It takes a mighty lot of MATERIAL and LABOR and TIME to construct that huge volume of buildings--not to speak of the vast amount of Commercial Buildings that are needed this year. It would be simply impossible to produce the actual needed construction this year if all decided to build right now, and the matter of the relation of supply and demand under the most favorable circumstances will be so sharply drawn that those who delay in arranging for their building are going to find that they must wait for the completion of work for those who were wise and energetic enough to TO ACT when the TIME was right. R. M. Kendrick, cashier of the First State Bank of Plains, was over this week on business and announced that he and associates were going ahead where they left off last year on the First National Bank, of Brownfield, and hoped to be in operation in the near future. He stated that they had two locations in view for the bank's permanent location, that would be decided on in the near future, but if they were able to prevail on the department of banking at Washington to begin where they left off last year, they might have to open in temporary quarters till the new bank building was complete. It would not be amiss to also state that in this interview, that Mr. Kendrick said that he believed that to eliminate the possibility that the big salt works would sure go in, he believed that Brownfield would support two banks handsomely, as it had a splendid trade territory.

Joe Whitley, of Gomez, was over this week attending court, and was afraid his Herald might run out on him, and therefore handed us the coin to keep 'er comin'.

Mr. Clyde McFarland, of Amarillo, was here a few days this week in the interest of the St. Louis Cattle Loan Co.

Milton Howard, employee of W. E. Poole, cattleman of Terry county, suffered the loss of three fingers early Monday morning at the ranch headquarters. Mr. Howard was working with some horses early that morning and for some reason or other roped one of the horses, his hand was caught in the loop of the rope around the horn of his saddle and when the horse ran against the rope three of his fingers were jerked entirely off. Mr. Poole brought him here in a hurry to one of the sanitariums, in his car to have the injuries dressed. Mr. Howard is able to be up and around town.-- Lubbock Avalanche.

BLANTON COMES BACK AT GOMPERS

By the Associated Press:

Dallas, Texas, April 21.—In a signed statement yesterday, Representative Thomas L. Blanton, of Texas, reiterated his criticism of Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, made last week in a speech made at Mineral Wells, Texas, and declared that union laborism, Socialism and Bolshevism were working hand in hand, and were practically identical in that they all foster disregard of law and anarchy.

The statement was in reply to one given out in Washington Saturday night by Gompers, in which the labor leader asserted that Blanton's Mineral Wells address was a confession of the Congressman's "utter incapacity of understanding the plainest proposition of right, justice, freedom and democracy."

Congressman Blanton asserts that while American soldiers were "fighting in trenches knee deep in mud the four great railroad brotherhoods forced the government to pay them increased wages aggregating $700,000,000 and the latter by threats "the railway men compelled the director general of railroads to raise their salary an additional $65,000,000. This money Blanton says has come out of the pockets of the people through increased freight and passenger rates and "abominable service."

Blanton charged that the unions have forced Postmaster General Burleson to allow a raise in pay demanded for all telegraph employes and will shortly force him to accede to the demands of telephone operators and the people will again suffer with poorer service and higher cost.

Although demanding and obtaining industrial exemptions, relieving their members from fighting in France at $33 per month, Blanton said some unions have forced wage schedules up to $1 per hour with time and a half for overtime, collecting $11 per day for ten hours work.

By threatening to "march on the capital and cripple the government by walking out," the statement says, "the unions forced President Wilson to veto the law proposed by Congress to make the 240,000 Government clerks drawing salaries up to $2,500 work eight hours per day during the war."

Through these threats Blanton says these clerks secured bonuses of $120 and still are working seven hours a day while temporary Government employes who are not affiliated with unions did not get the bonus. The statement continues:

Gompers refused to let the work or fight order apply to organized labor and thus forced 670,000 18-year-old boys to be drafted.

While the Bolshevik Lenine threatens unless we release the convicted Mooney, Gompers' union threatened a disastrous strike unless we comply with Lenine's demands.

Forty five States have ratified national prohibition, which is made a part of the fundamental law of the land, yet Gompers' unions threaten a nationwide strike on July 1st against the constitution." Blanton's statement said in conclusion.

The Journey of Life

You will find this journey of life is not always what it seems, or that it lies all the way through verdant valleys and flowery meadows. It is not always bright with the sunlight of pleasure. You will not find a bed of roses to recline upon every time you are weary. Don't expect it, or you will very likely be disappointed. You will find about the time the path gets past the schoolhouse it switches off into some rather rough country. You will very probably find some rough hills to climb and deep gullies to cross. The briars will tear your nice clothes, and the stones will wear out your fine shoes, and you will have blistered heels and stone bruises in plenty, before you get through.

There is only one way to avoid all this. That is to set down, a whining beggar by the roadside, despised and self despising. But if you are going through you must brace yourself for hard climbing. You will find plenty of roses by the way, but they grow among thorns, and if you would gather them you must not be afraid of a few scratches. All the fruits are worth having are near the top of the trees. You can have your game suppers and your quail on toast, too, but the game is wild and the birds roost high, and you can't put salt on their tails to catch them. You can have all this, we say, but just as likely as not when you get it you will have no teeth to chew it with, so you mustn't build too much on that.

What The Preacher Said.

While the editor of a certain newspaper was away from home for a while he left the paper in charge of a minister of the gospel. During the ministers stay in the office the following letter came from a subscriber: "I know very well that I paid my subscription to your paper the last time I was in your office. If I get any more letters from you as I received last week I will come in and maul h-l out of you." The minister answered the note like this: "I have been trying to get that out of the editor for ten years, and if you will come down and maul it out of him then, my dear sir, I have twenty of my church members I will let you operate on.—Ex.

One mother in Lubbock asked us a few days ago why the officers in Lubbock did not break up this wholesale gambling among the boys. ### RECONSTRUCTING OUR SOLDIER BOYS.

By Marie Barnett.

Go with me if you will, to Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, and visit the base hospital there, where men who have served in France and Flanders during the great war just passed, are being "reconstructed."

That is, where one man is having a glass eye put into the socket hollowed by a piece of shrapnel; where another is receiving a bit of cork and metal hinge to replace a leg; where still another, suffering from shell shock, crawls and lopes across the floor like an infant or an animal, and looks uncomprehending at you through narrow, nervous eyes.

You feel no sympathy for these boys save, perhaps the one whose bright young mind is shattered by the horrors he endured, and he if he knew, would be indignant that you pitied him. For all of them, permanently crippled in one way or another, impress you, not with their misery, but their bravery.

They don't whine, they don't complain, they don't feel sorry for themselves. They just make their way about limping or on crutches with a joke and a smile, until you, somehow, catch the spirit of the thing. And you go away from them, thinking only that a big part of the Victory Liberty Loan will go to completing this work of "reconstruction" and that the bonds you buy to help finish the job they so splendidly began will be but small return to our wounded heroes.

They don't like to talk about the war, these boys who know its wretchedness.

"It brings it all back," they say, and shudder. "We want to forget. Or maybe some mother would hear how her boy died and was buried—and oh, we wouldn't hurt the mothers."

But listen to Sergeant Benjamin Freasier, a Texas boy of the 141st Infantry, 36th Division, tell reluctantly, of the battle which cost his leg;

"It was last October in the Campaign drive. We were advancing. Before us the earth was pulverized from heavy shells. The enemy's machine guns were turned upon us. Here, there, the boys—the boys we knew—were dropping down. It's awful to see your pals die that way. "The wounded? I am coming to the wounded. Yes, they are worse than the dead. They don't cry out. No voice could be heard above the artillery roar. They just look at you. And that look, with its agony, its pleading!

"Sometimes they lie on the fields for hours, for days. The thing they want most is water. But we don't stop. Our orders are to march on. Assistance for the wounded comes from the rear, unless held back by enemy barrage.

"We step over the fallen if we can, for we feel. A soldier is never too hard to feel. We hate to stumble on a suffering body.

We advanced to a certain point and all dropped to the ground—that is, all but me. I looked around for my lieutenant and couldn't find him. I thought he had been killed and I was next in command. I should have sent a runner to receive orders for me, but didn't want to waste the time or risk mistakes. So I went myself. Just before I reached him I was hit by a one pounder. No, I didn't stop it. It kept on going. I thought I was dead. As I fell I cried out to my brother who was in the ranks. He didn't hear me, but he saw me fall.

He didn't come to me. The orders again were to advance. He had to go on and leave me.

What did I think, as I lay there strange how clearly one's mind works under such conditions. I was at no time unconscious, but knew that I'd soon bleed to death if I did not bind my wounds.

My belt and most of my clothes had been shot away. I had nothing for bandages but my gas mask. I tore it up and tied the stump of the leg that had been shot off. The other leg was shattered.

Then I began crawling, on hands and knees, to a dressing station. The nearest was three-quarters of a mile away. I made the distance in 45 minutes.

That night some one who had seen me crawling back told my brother I was still alive, but we haven't seen each other since."

Sergeant Freasier is a big, handsome youth of 24, and at the time of his injury was a splendid physical specimen weighing 200 pounds. He has fine blue eyes and reddish-brown hair, and a face that is earnest, sincere and "game." He has no kick coming over his misfortune, and laughingly refers to his artificial leg as his good one, because the other, with its missing bones and torn flesh, must always be worn in a brace.

He expects to take an executive course in mechanical engineering at Austin.

"I could have worked my way thru before the war," he says, "The only reason it is necessary for the government to send me now is because I am incapacitated."

It will not be easy to "reconstruct" Private Theodore Moeller of Falls county. He was wounded in the spine and a partial paralysis resulted. He has been lying in bed for six months. He is a young chap of 23, with blue eyes and fair hair.

"The Germans wore breast plates before we got over, then they began hollering for 'back' plates, we made 'em run so fast," he brags with Yankee pep.

"It was on April 12th about 11 o'clock in the morning, when we got word the Huns were coming. Thirteen of us men and a corporal were detailed to carry hand grenades, rifles, and ammunition up the lines, and to bring back the wounded on stretchers.

"A little later when we were holding a line, waiting for relief, three of us lit in a shell hole, where we felt temporarily safe. Our artillery was shooting at the Germans with heavy guns. One shot fell and hit our shell hole.

It killed one of the boys. The second lost his leg, and when he saw that it was shot off, he picked it up and said: "Oh boys, look what has happened to me." Then I felt blood running down my neck and said: "It got me too." It hit my old bean but didn't crack it. I started toward him but fell forward. I put my hand to my back and felt a hole in it about the size of a dollar. Ten minutes later a stretcher bearer got me. I haven't walked since but one thing I am glad of: I was hit by one of our own shells. No hun bullet got me."

Corporal Sam Bliss, of Houston, who served three years on the border, and went over with the Rainbow Division early in the war was permanently crippled on Sept. 12, at St. Mihiel when shot by a machine bullet in the leg. Two inches of the bone had to be removed, making one leg shorter than the other. He says:

"It was midnight, Sept. 11th, when I went into the front line under rain and shell fire. We spent the next few hours fighting—cooties—and trying to keep warm.

At 5:30 we went over the top and advanced two kilometers, taking the German front line. Tanks had gone before us clearing out the machine gun nests. But they missed one pill box. We saw a dead Boche laying over the machine gun, and thought he was the gunner. So we advanced. But it was only a camouflage. The gun opened on us, and a bullet hit my leg and threw it out from under me. I jumped into a shell hole and remained there for three hours, in mud and water."

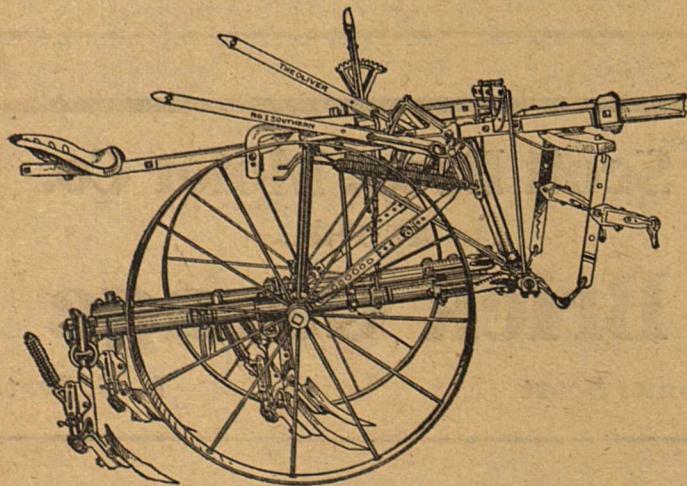

At the base hospital in France, Sergeant Bliss said the wounded men were always cheerful.

"They brag about their native states, and get into great wrangles. Then they try to fight each other. One chap had both arms off, and shrapnel wounds in his legs. We'd offer him candy, and when he would open his mouth for us to drop it in, we'd eat it ourselves. They were always joking. It wasn't safe to feel sorry for any of the other fellows, no matter how mused up they were.

One boy, who came back on the ship with me, was brought over in a basket. Both arms were gone at the shoulders, and both legs at the
