

The Terry County Herald

VOL. 15.

BROWNFIELD, TERRY COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY SEPTEMBER 12, 1919

NO. 9

WANTS OIL NEWS

We had a letter this week from one of our northern readers asking us to give them some oil news and asks if the Lynn and Gaines county holes are dry ones. The Herald does not purport to be a national or even a state weekly; only a local paper, and those who want oil news, we would respectively advise them to subscribe for one or more of the half dozen oil papers in the oil belt. If there is any oil in Lynn or Gaines counties it has not been smelt over this far yet and until we do begin to see and smell it, we shall give out nothing. The fact of the business is brother, we try to print facts. He goes on to say that "oil news" is ten times more important than the "potash" business. Perhaps sir, it is three hundred miles east of here. Texas is some State my friend when you go to putting the tape down on it. But locally friend, to our notion, the potash industry will always be ten thousand times more important than ever the oil business is—this is just our opinion just like you expressed yours. But everybody has a better opinion than the editor.

OIL IN DAWSON

Mr. Carpenter, the man that the American Oil Co. pays $250 per day for locating drilling sites, and it is said that he has never failed, has been in Lamesa this week and has made tests, and now look out, you are on the ground and have your chance. There will be some big doings.—Lamesa Reporter.
Well, let the big doings go on.

We had a letter last week from Jim Moore who is now at Merkel, Texas, working in a gin, wanting the old reliable to keep him posted, and sent the one and one half wheels to insure its prompt arrival.

DIED

The little seven year old daughter of Mrs. Zella Thomason, who is making her home with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Humphries one mile northwest of town, died last Friday night about 8 o'clock, after suffering untold misery for several days with appendicitis. Little Artie was a very bright child and a general favorite with the rest of the children, being a sort of little mother to the younger children, and it was a great stroke to the parent and grand parents to see her go.

Funeral services were conducted at the family residence by Rev. W. B. Hicks, local pastor of the Methodist church, and her little body was layed to rest in the Brownfield Cemetery Saturday morning.

Court of Terry County, to be holden at the Court House thereof, in Brownfield, on the Fourth Monday in October, A. D. 1919, the same being the 27th day of October, A. D. 1919, then and there to answer a petition filed in said Court on the 5th day of September, A. D. 1919, in a suit, numbered on the docket of said Court No. 130, wherein J. L. Hyman is Plaintiff, and Victor L. Scott, Bertha R. Fike, W. P. Fike, W. M. Fellows, and C. Cox and the unknown heirs of each and all of said parties are Defendants, and said petition alleging: That heretofore, to-wit, on or about the 1st, day of September, A. D. 1919, the plaintiff was lawfully seized and possessed of the following described land and premises, situated in Terry County, Texas, holding and claiming the same in fee simple, to-wit, all of Survey No. 1, in Block D-9, Cert. No. 146 issued to the C. & M., Ry. Co. and containing 640 acres of land, that the defendants unlawfully entered said premises and ejected the plaintiff therefrom, and unlawfully withheld from him the possession thereof to his damage in the sum of five thousand dollars. That the reasonable rental value of said land and premises is the sum of five hundred dollars per annum.

Plaintiff also claims title to said land and premises under and by virtue of the three and five years statutes of limitation and specially pleads that on or about the 26th, day of September, A. D. 1908, the defendant Victor L. Scott, made, executed and delivered to Bertha R. Fike, then Bertha R. Lackey, a certain deed of trust on the above described land and premises to secure the payment of one certain promissory note, dated even date with said deed of trust, due five years after date, executed by Victor L. Scott and payable to the order of Bertha R. Lackey, for the sum of five thousand dollars, that said note has been paid, and said lien should be released, and that if he be mistaken as to the payment of said note then he alleges that said note is barred by the four statute of limitation and is not enforceable against said land or this plaintiff, and that by reason of said note and deed of trust, there is cast a cloud on plaintiff's title to said land and premises.

Plaintiff prays for judgment for the title and possession of the above described tract of land, that the cloud cast on his title to said land and premises be removed, for his rents, damages and cost of suit.

Herein Fail Not, but have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness J. C. Green, Clerk of the District Court of Terry County.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Brownfield, Texas, this the 5th day of September, A. D. 1919.

District Court, Terry County.

STRENGTHEN CHURCH WORK

Special Effort of Denomination Along General Lines Will Be Enlarged And Made Stronger As Result Of This Campaign.

Every general interest fostered by Southern Baptists will be strengthened and enlarged through the success of the Baptist 75 Million Campaign which is now well under way, and which will reach its climax in the final drive to secure this sum in cash and subscriptions during the eight days of November 30 to December 7. A period of five years will be provided for the final payment of these subscriptions but for the campaign to succeed, the sum of $75,000,000 must be subscribed within the eight days. Many have expressed the belief that the subscriptions will run to $100,000,000.

At a meeting of the Executive Committee of the Southern Baptist Convention the $75,000,000 to be raised was apportioned among the general interests fostered by the Convention, as follows: Foreign missions, $20,000,000; home missions, $12,000,000; Christian education, $20,000,000; state missions, $11,000,000; ministerial relief, $2,500,000; orphanages, $4,700,000; and hospitals, $4,125,000.

J. H. Anderson, Wealthy Knoxville Merchant, Who is Chairman of the Campaign in the Baptist 75 Million Campaign.

The apportionment of this sum among the several states within the territory of the Convention has been announced as follows: Alabama, $4,000,000; Arkansas, $3,200,000; District of Columbia, $200,000; Florida, $1,000,000; Georgia, $7,500,000; Southern Illinois, $1,200,000; Kentucky, $6,500,000; Louisiana, $3,225,000; Maryland, $750,000; Mississippi, $3,350,000; Missouri, $2,925,000; New Mexico, $250,000; North Carolina, $6,000,000; Oklahoma, $2,250,000; South Carolina, $5,500,000; Tennessee, $4,000,000; Texas, $16,000,000; and Virginia, $7,000,000.

Here is what this big sum of money will help Southern Baptists do for the Master, as set forth by the Campaign Commission:

"It will equip more adequately and multiply manifold the 1,099 missionary workers of the Foreign Mission Board, and the more than 2,000 Home and State Board Missionaries.

"It will enlarge and raise to a better efficiency the 132 Baptist schools in the South.

"It will go far towards meeting the expanding needs of the Southern Baptist Theological Seminary and the Women's Missionary Training School in Louisville, Ky., the Southwestern Baptist Theological Seminary and Women's Training School in Fort Worth, the Baptist Bible School in New Orleans, La., a Theological Seminary for the Negroes, and will provide a first-class college for boys and girls of the mountain region.

"It will increase greatly our hospital service to the sick, open wider our arms to the orphans and provide a strong support for our aged ministers of the gospel.

"It will put Southern Baptists in position to assume a considerable share in the reconstruction of war-torn Europe, and embrace many of the marvelous opportunities for service which thrust themselves upon us from all parts of the world, at home and abroad."

While $20,000,000 of this sum will go to foreign missions and thus be expended in carrying the gospel and its blessings to other lands, the remaining $55,000,000 will be expended at home in building up home missionary educational and benevolent institutions and projects, of which there are a number in every state within the boundaries of the convention.

Rouge Shops in Japan.

Rouge and toilet powders are so extensively used by Japanese women that there are shops that deal exclusively in this stuff, and are indicated by a small red flag, signifying the color which the powder will make the cheeks. A shop with a square piece of wood on which are painted various round dots of different colors, tells the passer-by of a paint shop.

Roots Must Have Room.

The yield of cotton is dependent upon the number of flowers we are able to induce the plant to form, and root space is necessary to flowering. The cotton plant's normal rooting may occupy two square yards of earth, which is several times more than given it in practice, and the yield may often be reduced by this fact as the roots must interlap.

Pride a Strange Thing.

Pride is a strange thing. For instance, a man would much rather be seen by the younger and prettier set of neighbor women filling up the gasoline tank than emptying the garbage, though the latter act is really much more commendable in that he just does it to help his poor, hardworking wife that much.—Columbus (O.) Journal.

Gus Randolph, who has been visiting relatives in the Plainview country, returned this week.

Bob Glover, of Gomez, who has for the past few months been in the grand old state of Ark. disposing of a car of horses, returned this week. Mr. Glover says this is his last trip, and if you want his reasons, just ask him.

The little Renfro girls went up to Lubbock this week to see their mother.

GLAD TO TESTIFY

Says Watoga Lady, "As To What Cardui Has Done For Me, So As To Help Others."

Watoga, W. Va.—Mrs. S. W. Gladwell, of this town, says: "When about 15 years of age, I suffered greatly. . . Sometimes would go a month or two, and I had terrible headache, backache, and bearing-down pains, and would just drag and had no appetite. Then . . . it would last . . . two weeks, and was so weakening, and my health was awful.

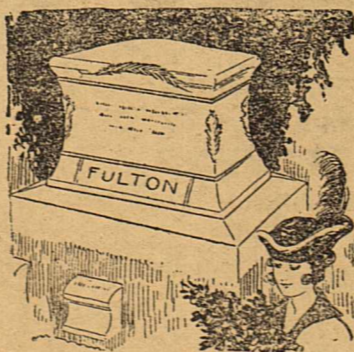

My mother bought me a bottle of Cardui, and I began to improve after taking the first bottle, so kept it up till I took three. . . I gained, and was well and strong, and I owe it all to Cardui.

I am married now and have 3 children. . . Have never had to have a doctor for female trouble, and just resort to Cardui if I need a tonic. I am glad to testify to what it has done for me, so as to help others."

If you are nervous or weak, have headaches, backaches, or any of the other ailments so common to women, why not give Cardui a trial? Recommended by many physicians. In use over 40 years. Begin taking Cardui today. It may be the very medicine you need.

Uvalde Bank is Selling Large Amount of Registered Treasury Savings Certificates

Residents of Uvalde, Texas, are demonstrating their financial wisdom by investing heavily in the attractive new Registered Treasury Savings Certificates. The above check represents sales made in a single day through the First State Bank of Uvalde of which George E. Brashear is Cashier.

This check for $33,520 bought forty $1,000 Registered Treasury Savings Certificates, or in other words, $40,000 worth. The purchasers made $6,480 by investing in August when the cost of each $1,000 Certificate was $838. They showed good business foresight. The price is only $840 for September.

You can buy the new $1,000 Registered Treasury Savings Certificates from banks and trust companies and the $100 Certificates from first and second class postoffices as well as banks and trust companies. The $100 Certificate is blue in color, the $1,000 Certificate being maroon, and both are somewhat similar in appearance to the Liberty Bonds, although considerably more attractive. They are convenient to handle, may be cashed on ten days' notice if desired, in which event the interest to the date of cashing is paid in addition to the principal.

Buy your Registered Treasury Savings Certificates today. Have the satisfaction of owning one of these unexcelled securities. No one person can hold more than one $1,000 Registered Treasury Savings Certificate or more than ten of the $100 Registered Treasury Savings Certificates.

Mrs. Benton, of Fort Worth, s here this week on a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Martin.

Martin & Son carried a bunch of their boots over to the Lovington picnic this week to sell, and to take orders. This is the first time their shop has been closed since they located here, and of course this will be only for a few days.

About the most appreciative present we have received in some time, was a bag of peaches, complimentary of Grandma Proctor, last week. They were two varieties of seedlings, the white and yellow, and were just about the largest seedlings we ever saw, and had a flavor that would make a man hit his granddaddy as the old sayings goes. Thanks old friend.

Jake Johnson and family left last Saturday, for Lorena, Texas to make their future home. This excellent family came to Terry way back yonder about the time the Herald man got here, and it is with many regrets that we see them leave. The Herald will keep them in touch with matters in old Terry.

Mrs. J. W. Lively and daughter, Miss Lively, of Marshall, Texas came in this week to pay a visit to their daughter and sister, Mrs. W. A. Bell.

Bugger Bassham left this week for the Plainview county to work.

The citizens of Brownfield went in together last week and had a lane built to the stock pens, as some of the cattle men had threatened to quit shipping from this point as it was so hard for them to get their cattle in the pens without the lane.

THE IRON TEST

Synopsis

Albert Henry Beresford, 3rd (Bert Forde), heir to the Beresford millions, and an adventurer, joins Jenken's circus in which his cousin, Lewis Craven, is manager. Both are in love with Edith Paige, a beautiful rider. He learns old Beresford is dead and Bert is sole heir to ten millions, while he is next in line. From then on Bert is the victim, almost daily, of "accidents", many times bringing him near death. A mysterious stranger wearing a red mask figures in all the accidents. One night Bert's costume is soaked in a volatile liquid and when, in the air, he leaps through a hoop of fire, his clothes burst into flames and he falls to the ground.

Chapter 2—"The Van of Disaster"

Bert, his clothing ablaze from the volatile liquid poured over him with murderous intent as he slept by Red Mask, maintained his grip in the trapeze bar several seconds after his marvelous leap through the flaming hoop, then fell, a living torch into the center of the circus ring, unconscious and burning alive.

Cries of horror swept through the great crowd. Those in nearby seats rushed toward the senseless rider but were restrained by attendants. There was one person there who did not cry out or lose her presence of mind. Edith's eyes bent close on Bert caught the first flash as his saturated costume came in contact with the flaming edge of the hoop, and they never left him until he crashed to the earth. Then, pale but cool, she rushed to the nearest exit, tore away the portiere and was first to kneel at the side of the death-menaced man. Wrapping the heavy drapery about him, with the assistance of attendants, she quickly smothered the flames, heedless that her own flimsy skirt had caught fire.

Perkins caught her and crushed out the flames and together they carried Bert to his dressing room, while the audience reassured, resumed their seats and the performance continued.

Lurking back in the crowd, Craven and Peaky watched the development of their murder plot and as Bert was carried away, the latter, an evil triumph in his eyes, whispered: "Guess Forde's a gonner this time."

And Craven with a bitterness that startled even the conscienceless Peaky, replied:

"Not unless he inhaled the flames."

An attendant passing through the ring shortly after Bert's fiery plunge picked up a locket and realizing Bert must have lost it, he sought Edith and handed it to her, saying:

"Here's something Forde must have lost. Will you return it to him?"

Edith, assuring him she would, naturally examined the trinket, which bore the Beresford coat of arms and the letter "B" set in diamonds on the outside. Opening it, she saw the faces of a youngish man and woman, whom she took to be Bert and his sweetheart and an expression of pain crossed her face at the thought of his having a sweetheart. Then hurriedly closing the locket, she started for town to fill a prescription for Bert, whose condition was pronounced to be not serious.

But Craven, ever watchful of the girl and Bert, had seen her examine the locket, and stepping up to her, said:

"As custodian of lost property, I'll take charge of that locket."

Edith, however, had no intention of surrendering the trinket and firmly refused, replying:

"It belongs to Mr. Forde—has his picture in it. I will return it myself." Turning quickly, she failed to see the look of anger on the man's face, nor did she dream into what peril the possession of the locket soon was to plunge her.

Craven was scheming how best to get the trinket from the girl when they ran into Peaky, who halted him and with unaccustomed boldness demanded ten dollars, accompanying the request with a significant remark that it was "a mighty curious accident" that happened to Forde. Craven, cowardly as his name, fearing the other suspected any part he might have played in the tragedy, produced the money and added with forced pleasantness:

"There's twice $10 in it for you if you'll get for me the locket Miss Paige has."

Edith had walked a half mile toward the town, keeping well in the shadows of the trees, for it was a lonely road, when a woman's intuition told her of impending peril. She hastened her steps and had reached a bright light in front of a three-story flat roofed house when Red Mask, stepped from behind a tree and seized her in his arms, exclaiming:

"Give me the locket, or I'll—"

Terror did not rob the girl of her strength. There was a brief struggle and Edith, using a trick of the ring, threw the man heavily to the ground and before he could regain his feet, dashed into the house, the front door being open. Up three flights of stairs she raced, then up a ladder and in a frenzy of fear threw her weight against a trap door leading to the roof on the roof. Along the four edges she ran looking for an avenue of escape, for she knew Red Mask soon would be upon her.

In the light from the lamp below her eyes caught a wire stretching to the house opposite and without pausing to count the risk, she swung out into space and began to make her way across just as her pursuer gained the roof to pause agast at her deadly peril.

Hand over hand she made her way until she could see where the wire disappeared into the side of the house, giving no hope of escape, only a sheer drop of thirty feet to the street. The brave girl was almost in despair when she caught sight of another wire, ten feet distant which lead to a porch and mustering her remaining strength she swung back and forth until certain of her momentum, she released her hold, flew through the intervening space, and caught the second wire in her tiring grasp. Two minutes later, she had reached the sidewalk. Then her solicitude for Bert overcoming her own fears, she continued to town, got the prescription and returned safely to her van, in which she hid the locket and made her way to Bert's side.

Next morning the circus started off, Bert bandaged but much improved bringing up the rear in his van. Craven and Peaky, pretending solicitude, volunteered to look out for the injured man, and Jenkins and the other horsemen kept well in front.

Edith worn out by her experiences of the night before, went to her own wagon but again a woman's intuition spoke of peril near the man she loved and stealing back, she climbed into Bert's van and fell asleep on the floor on a pile of blankets.

And while Bert and Edith slept and no others watched, Craven and Peaky planned a new and even more terrible death for the young performer, for they did not know Edith had gone to his van. The caravan was winding its way up a steep mountain side, the road skirting a precipice rising sheer several hundred feet from the valley below.

Assuring himself his victims slept, Craven halted the horses and cutting the traces pulled the pin holding the shafts and the heavy van released from the horses started back down the grade toward a curve at which no human hand could stay it from a plunge into the vast depths below.

It was the violent swinging of the van that awoke Edith and springing to a window a glance told her of their peril. Rousing Bert she told him of their plight and he sprang at once to action.

Clasping Edith in his arms, he drew her to the top of the van, plunging now at dizzying speed a dozen yards from the curve of death. Bert's clear mind visioned their only chance of escape. At the spot where the van must leave the road, a large tree overhung and a limb dropped almost even with the van top.

Commanding Edith to clasp her arms tightly about his neck, he held her to him with his left arm. He swung his right arm up and caught the limb as the careening wagon swept from beneath them and disappeared into the chasm.

For an instant the two hung there in space, then pain and weakness overcame Bert, his clasp slipped and the pair dropped to the fate it had seemed they had missed by a miracle.

F. E. Walters and a crew of workmen began last week tearing down one of the most ancient landmarks of the town. This old building recently known as the Goree store, stood on the northwest corner of the square, and was moved from Tahoka to Brownfield about fifteen years ago. It was first fitted up for a hotel, but later the lower floor was used by J. G. Randal and Ed Ellis for a drug store, and the postoffice. The building was being used for this last purpose when the editor came to Brownfield more than ten years ago. O. T. Halley will use the lumber in the old building for a barn. Madam Rumor has it that a modern hotel building may be erected on these lots in the near future, but we are not giving this last statement for facts.
