ELECTION RESULTS

Owing to the fact that some of our readers failed to get the paper contain the unofficial vote of Terry Co., we are giving the official vote in this issue of the county results, as that is what people want most.

As Mr. Black did not get a majority of all the votes cast in this precinct, there was to have been a run off, but the next high man, Mr. Simms, refused to be a candidate and Mr. Black was therefore declared the nominee. In fact there were no candidates for the place in the first primary, and no one had their names on the ticket.

Cotton Print Paper Soon on Market

Washington.—Cotton linters are to be used in the near future for the manufacture of print paper, it was announced here. Cotton experts of the agricultural department regard the project feasible. Senator Bledsoe to Speak

We had a phone message and later a letter from Judge Geo. R. Bean one day this week stating that Sen. W. H. Bledsoe would speak for the candidacy of Hon. Pat M. Neff here on the 26th, and that Judge Schenck will speak at Meadow on the 24th if the people of that community will congregate and provide a place.

On with the battle.

BIG RAINS ARE FALLING

Some of the biggest rains of the year have been falling over the South Plains country since last Friday night, which rain opened the ball with 2.15 inches according to the local government gauge.

It was the hardest rains that ever fell in the county, and people who were so unfortunate as to be caught in it said it nearly took their breath, as it was accompanied by a high wind. There was not a house in the town that we heard of that did not leak like a mill race, and there was perhaps 1000 sparrows and sissor-tail birds drowned in the court house park. There was no hail reported in the county.

A drizzling rain started in Sunday afternoon about 3 o'clock, that is still going good as this is being put in print Monday afternoon at about 4 o'clock, about one and one-half inches additional has fallen in the gauge.

A bumper feed and corn crop is now already made, and farmers are talking of from a half to three quarters of a bale of cotton per acre.

Total rainfall since last Wednesday night is over five inches.

BROWNFIELD HIGH SCHOOL HAS STRONG FACULTY

Superintendent G. L. Farrar handed us a list of the teachers elected to teach in our public school this term, that begins Aug. 30th, and anyone must agree that the trustees have done well in securing such a strong faculty of teachers in this trying time of teacher scarcity. They are:

High School; Misses Mildred Hulse, Flora Gaston and Pearl Lloyd.

Intermediate; Misses Madalene Wyatt, Frankie Curry and Johnny Weeks.

Primary, Miss Mozelle Treadaway.

Spoiled His "Poem"

The average printer considers poetry a nuisance. Much so-called poetry is all of that and worse. It takes longer to set verse than straight prose, and there are more chances for error. A newspaper versifier recently wrote a few stanzas about his little son, the first one beginning with the line, "My son! my pigmy counterpart." It appeared in the paper, "My son, my pig, my counterpart," and the poet was mad about it.—Capper's Weekly.

SEE JNO. A. DUMAS for lime for all purposes. Ask him to explain the many uses it can be put to. Use Brownfield Lime; as good as the best and cheaper.

R. O. Wilson loaded a fine car of hogs here last Saturday for the Ft. Worth market.

SOUTH PLAINS FAIR

We wish to call attention to the organization of a South Plains Fair to be held at Lubbock, Sept. 23-25th next. All counties adjacent to Lubbock are invited to join it; in fact it is a fair for South Plains products. We believe that it becomes almost necessary for Terry county to place an exhibit there, and if we do, of course, as usual, we must put a good one there.

We ask that each one look carefully through his crops and products and locate his best stuff, of whatever kind and we will later arrange to gather it up. Premiums are offered on exhibits of individual products, as well as for counties. This fair will be a show window wherein the county can display its ribbon-getter products.

This is not a land agent stunt; it means more to the citizens of Terry county than any separate class. We ask everyone to be ready to help make our part in it worth the effort.

Respt.

A Sad Song

Among the passengers on board a ship crossing the Atlantic recently was a man who stuttered. One day he hurried to the captain. "S-s-s-s" he stuttered.

"Oh, I can't be bothered!" said the captain angrily. Go to somebody else.

The man tried to speak to every one on board, but no one would wait to hear what he had to say.

At last he came to the captain again.

"Look here said the captain, I can tell you what to do when you want to say something; you should sing it."

Suddenly in a tragic voice, the man began to sing:

"Should auld acquaintance be forgot and never brought to mind?"

The blooming cook fell overboard and is twenty miles behind.—Ex.

MARRIAGES

Mr. Carl Lewis, son of Sheriff and Mrs. Jim Lewis, and Miss Ruth Turner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Turner, both of this place, were married last Wed. morning at the residence of Rev. J. C. Lewis, who officiated.

Carl is one of our coming young business men, who is now engaged very successfully in the cafe business.

Miss Ruth is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Turner, and is a general favorite in town, and we believe will make Carl a splendid help meet.

And just about the time we got ready to put the marriage of the above popular young people in print, there was another, Mr. Gladys Green and Miss Violet Huckabee, who were married Sunday morning by the same preacher reported above.

Gladys was practically raised in Brownfield, was one of our A. E. F. boys, and is classed among the best painters of the town. He is the son of County and District Clerk, J. C. Green and wife.

Mrs. Green is the accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Huckabee, and while she has only lived here about one year, she is well and favorably known, having visited here a great deal before making this her home.

We join the many friends of these happy young couples in congratulations and we are glad to know that each of them are going to remain citizens of old Terry.

MARRIED AT PLAINS

A pretty home wedding occurred at Plains Aug. 11th at 8 p. m. when W. A. Heath took for his life long partner, Miss Ina Smith, the beautiful and accomplished daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Smith. Mr. Heath is one of the leading young business men of Plains. Rev. J. W. Baughman of this place officiated.

The parlor was tastefully decorated with cedars and wild flowers. The bride carried a bouquet of white carnations and dalias. The bride was dressed in a beautiful suit of dark blue serge and the groom wore the conventional black. The flower girls were the little Misses Wilma Conrad of Plains, and Frances Kendrick, of this city; both being tastefully dressed for the occasion in white. Mr. Lewis York was ring bearer, and Miss Clara Summit of this place sang the beautiful solo "Dear Heart."

After the ceremony, those present enjoyed a turkey supper.

Riches

"Young man, I understand you wish to marry my daughter. What are your prospects?"

"Well, though I have not been nominated for the presidency, yet I am editor of a newspaper."

"While I admit you have a chance in that way, tell me of something more material and immediate."

"I have ten bundles of print paper—not simply ordered or on the way, but right in the house and paid for!"

"My boy, you are a wonder. Take her and be happy."

Reading the Bible.

A college professor, famous as a critic of literature, tells how he read the Bible when he was a boy. His mother not only insisted that he should read the Bible, but also that he should be able to tell her something about each book. This looked serious, but the future professor of literature hit upon a plan to assist his memory. After he had read each book, he illustrated it and, after he had drawn the pictures, he found that he remembered without much difficulty.

No Thunderbolts.

A "thunderbolt" was lately said to have fallen at Cardiff, in Wales. As a matter of fact, there is no such thing as a thunderbolt, but two phenomena often give rise to a belief in something of the sort. When lightning strikes the ground it sometimes bores a hole of considerable depth and vitrifies any sandy substance in the soil. Generally, however, what pass as thunderbolts are aerolites, meteoric fragments which come from the skies, but have nothing to do with thunder.

Averse to Borrowing Trouble.

Jimmy has been rather unfortunate lately in the way of minor accidents, and his mother has grown quite cautious about his taking chances. One day he came in and wanted to ride his tricycle down to his auntie's house. His mother hesitated before consenting to his request, and Jimmy cut in with the comforting assurance, "Maybe there won't be a thing happen, mother, so don't make a worry for yourself till it does."

WATCHED HER SMALL CHANGE

Extravagance a Fault That Could Not Be Truthfully Ascribed to Hetty Green.

Some years ago Hetty Green paid a visit, with her daughter Sylvia, to the Connecticut village of Pomfret. They stayed at an inn conducted by Miss Vinton. On the evening of her arrival Mrs. Green sent Sylvia to the attic for a packet of love letters which Sylvia had that day received from various admirers who had never seen her and who "loved her for herself alone." The room they had taken was on the top floor, because Mrs. Green believed that a syndicate had been formed to kidnap her daughter and herself for the sake of their wealth. The letters she read aloud for the diversion of the other feminine guests assembled before the fireplace.

When the day came to depart it was rainy.

"How much will it cost if Sylvia and I use your carriage to the station?" Mrs. Green said to Miss Vinton.

"Twenty-five cents. But it's an open buckboard and you'd get wet."

"How much would it cost if we used the station wagon?"

"Fifty cents."

Mrs. Green looked at Sylvia's bedraggled bonnet and dress and then at her own clothing.

"Well, Sylvia, I guess we haven't got anything on that the rain would hurt. I guess we'll take your buckboard, Miss Vinton."

FAMOUS CHURCH OF LONDON

Bayard Taylor Considered St. Paul's Cathedral One of the World's Architectural Marvels.

"St. Paul's is on a scale of grandeur excelling everything I have yet seen," writes Bayard Taylor of his first trip abroad in 1844. "The dome seems to stand in the sky, as you look at it; the distance from which you view it, combined with the atmosphere of London, gives it a dim, shadowy appearance, that startles one with its immensity. The roof from which the dome springs is itself as high as the spires of most other churches; blackened for 300 years with the coal smoke of London it stands like a relic of the giant architecture of the early world."

"The interior is what one would expect to behold, after viewing the outside. A maze of grand arches on every side encompasses the dome, at which you gaze up as at the sky. . . . I was never more impressed at the grandeur of human invention than when ascending the dome. I could with difficulty conceive the means by which such a mighty edifice had been lifted into the air. The dome is like the summit of a mountain, so wide is the prospect and so great the pile upon which you stand."

Result of Putting Sun to Work. There is another angle to the subject of harnessing the sun. If such a thing is done will it not lead to a readjustment of the world's population and the centers of political power? Such a result was glimpsed by Prof. S. P. Langley of the Smithsonian Institution, who wrote some years ago:

"Future ages may see the seat of empire transferred to regions of the earth now barren and desolate under intense solar heat—countries which, for that very cause, will not improbably become the seat of mechanical and thence political power. Whoever finds the way to make industrially useful the vast sun power now wasted on the deserts of north Africa or the shores of the Red sea will effect a greater change in man's affairs than any conqueror in history has done; for he will once more people those waste places with the life that once swarmed there in the best days of Carthage and old Egypt, but under another civilization, where man shall no longer worship the sun as a god, but shall have learned to make it his servant."

Lightning's Freaks.

Sometimes lightning is strangely selective. One will be taken and another left. Quite recently 20 sheep were killed under a tree, but the number sheltered was over 40, and those killed were by no means all in a bunch. But a stranger instance is reported. Lightning entered a stable containing 20 cows. The first, third, and so on, were killed; the second, fourth, and so on, escaped.

Two friends were going round the links together recently when a storm came on from which they took shelter in a corrugated iron building. One of the golfers sat near the door, and while waiting for the passing of the storm commenced to cut up an old golf ball with a knife. A very vivid flash struck the knife, melted the blade, made a deep hole in the ball, and scorched the golfer's fingers badly, and that was all!

There They Were.

While attending college I went to church services one Sunday morning with a chum. The house was filled and a large number of students were present. The services were long and my friend grew restless. In changing his position in the pew he extended his feet well forward so that unknown to him his shoes came in touch with those of a young woman who sat in front of him. Finally the service was at an end and as the congregation arose he could not rise, neither could she. The bow of one of her shoe laces had hooked on an eyelet of his shoe, and there they were, and both strangers to each other.—Chicago Tribune.

WHAT COOKE COUNTY WOMEN THINK OF JOE BAILEY

You know that Joe Bailey owns a cemetery lot in Gainesville, Texas, and pays a poll tax there in off years and claims that as home when he wants an office right bad. What the home people think of a man is a pretty safe thing to go by. But let his home county women talk:

1. We endorse the administration of president Woodrow Wilson, both in peace and war. We believe that the future historian will rank him as the greatest American of the age, while his defamers will sink into oblivion.

2. We endorse the San Francisco platform, and we have the utmost faith and confidence in Gov. James M. Cox, and Franklin D. Roosevelt. We commend them for standing four square upon that platform, and in making the league of nations the paramount issue in the present presidential campaign.

3. We condemn and have words of censure for J. W. Bailey because of his rude and unpolished remarks for the good women and mothers of Texas in calling them sissies and shemen, and holding them up to ridicule. We remember how Mr. Bailey used to praise and laud us when we thought he stood for the things we stand for, but now that he is advocating things, which the good women and men of Texas abhor and shun, and condemning what we advocate, he has words of censure for us. We cannot follow him, but he should repent and follow us. We are at a loss to understand how the fathers, husbands and brothers of the good women of Texas can sit and hear Mr. Bailey bemean us as he does.

4. We endorse the candidacy of Hon. Pat M. Neff and oppose the candidacy of J. W. Bailey for Governor for the following reasons:

Neff favors the Wilson administration; Bailey is a bitter opponent, and saays he can find nothing the administration has done worthy of praise; Neff favors the league of the nations; Bailey is its enemy, and calls it a league of notions; Neff, Cox and the San Francisco platform say the Federal Reserve Bank was the greatest piece of constructive legislation of the age; Bailey says money is not legal tender; Neff, Cox Roosevelt and the San Francisco platform finds words of praise for the Texas legislature for ratifying the woman suffrage amendment; Bailey says the legislature embezzled its power. Neff and Cox favors child labor laws; Bailey opposes all such laws; Neff favors the eighteenth amendment; Bailey says it was ratified unconstitutionally; Neff is a staunch prohibitionist; Bailey admits he is in the employ of the association opposed to prohibition; Neff has always been a true and loyal Democrat; Bailey abandoned the party last year, and joined hands with Jim Ferguson to form a new party and make war on the Democratic party, which had once so signally honored him. Neff has always defended the Democratic party, and has words of criticism for the Republican party, while Bailey has bitterly fought the Democratic party and calls President Wilson a socialist, but Bailey fails and refuses to criticize the Republican party, and now a Republican paper urges Bailey's election. Neff is standing four-square upon the San Francisco platform, while Bailey has sealed his lips and refuses to endorse the platform, the yardstick of Democracy. Neff lives in Texas, and has never abandoned Texas while out of office, but Bailey, while out of office lived in a distant city outside of Texas.

We do not believe Bailey is a resident of Gainesville. He pays his poll tax in odd years in the first ward in Gainesville, but where in the first ward does he reside? Give us the name of the street and the number of his house. When Bailey comes to Gainesville, he stops at the Turner hotel, which is in the second ward. His cemetery lot, the only property he owns in Gainesville, is in the 4th ward.

If Bailey is a citizen of Texas, he owes the school children the poll tax he has not paid. Neff made four minute speeches and helped sell the bonds during the war, while Bailey was as dumb as an oyster and kept his mouth closed. We do not believe any man should be governor who is silent in war, when our country needed his assistance, but in times of peace is garrulous and talkative against the administration.

"Committee of five women on resolutions."

We understand that Mrs. Jenkins has sold the hotel at Seagraves to C. C. Wicker, and after a visit in Chicago and Wisconsin, will settle in Dallas, Texas again. C. C. Wicker will make the Seagraves folks a hotel man they are proud of—we know.

DEATHS

R. W. Rambo, one of the most influential and prominent citizens of the county passed away last Thursday morning at the family residence north of Gomez, at about 4 p. m., after a lingering illness of several long weeks with something like cancer of the stomach, at the age of 61 years. Mr. Rambo had been seeking health for some time, and had spent several weeks in Kansas City, but returned home some three weeks ago, and he seemed to be resigned to the impending results.

Mr. Rambo and his excellent family came to Terry when it was a young county, and by his right living has won the hearts of all the people, and his death has cast a deep gloom over the entire county. While he never was a member of any church, his moral convictions were deep seated and he lived his convictions.

His body was layed to rest in the Brownfield Cemetery last Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock, and the large attendance bespoke the esteem in which he was held.

The little infant son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Duncan died at about 1 a. m. last Thursday morning. The little one had hardly seen a well moment since its birth, and no one, not even the parents, but that expected its death any time. But we know that Jesus said "suffer little children to come unto me, for of such is the kingdom of heaven, and we have little patients with people that advocate infant damnation. If adults were as sure of sweet rest beyond the tomb as the baby, this would be a happy old world. Mr. and Mrs. Duncan has the sympathy of the entire community in that they had to lay their first born in the Brownfield cemetery.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

FOR SHERIFF & TAX-COLLECTOR
Wood E. Johnson
R. E. Burnett

There will be some good speakers here during the picnic next week representing both sides of the Governor's race. We understand that a Baptist preacher will represent the Baileyites—don't suppose Bailey knows it though, as he does not like women and preachers—and State Senator W. H. Bledsoe of Lubbock will likely speak for the cause of Democracy and Neff.

The Lamesa Reporter has announced that it has purchased a linotype machine, to be installed as soon as one can be shipped, but that may be months, as the Mergenthaler people are way behind with orders. Anyway the Herald hastens to congratulate Editor Smith on his progressiveness. It will not be long till every South Plains paper is thus equipped, for the South Plains country deserves and will have the best.

His name is not for publication, or yet for private dispensation, but we had a little confab with one of our best business men one day this week and he said: "I went to hear Bailey at Lubbock thinking I would vote for him, but came away convinced that I could not vote for him. He introduced nothing new, and suggested no remedies, and his whole speech was heaps of abuse. We have heard several say that Bailey would have polled more votes had he stayed out of West Texas."

We understand that the Midland & Northwestern Railroad that runs from Midland to Seminole, has discontinued giving service, and the P. M. of Seminole will let bids for the mail to be brought daily except Sunday from Seagraves to Seminole. This action of the railroad, if we are correctly informed, will leave Seminole practically an inland city again, and will greatly retard her development. We never did think much of jerkwater roads with no main lines behind them, anyway. Brownfield can readily thank her stars that although she has a branch road, that branch belongs to the great Santa Fe system.

About the only favorable reference to Bailey's speech at Lubbock, Wednesday, that we have heard, was by a young voter who, in discussing Bailey in general, said, "I like him because he hates negroes and preachers."—Lorenza Enterprise.

JoBailey, as State Press calls him seems to have a bead on the preachers and women, even more than he does the negroes, for he flays the preachers and women in all parts of Texas, but leaves the negroes for only west Texas. We have always found preachers and women up to the average of morality and intelligence, and the editor and Pat are real glad to number the majority of them on our side.

In this land of plenty, the people are not going to let even a country editor starve, for the big end of the horn of plenty has the big end turned out in Terry, for there is no better people under the shining canopy of heavens than live in old Terry—yea, on the great South Plains. Just as we were planning for the usual good Sunday dinner last week, and wondering if our grocery men were in a good humor over the rain, in came W. E. Winn one of our real good old Gomez friends and turned over a big arm full of roasting ears to our tender care and protection. Is Terry a good place to live?—yea.

After a weeks visit with the home folks, of near Gomez, Miss Lorena Jones left Monday for Ranger, where she is holding a position in the post office.

All of us that are really appreciative like to talk of our "friends in need is a friend indeed" but the Herald is not averse to praising its many friends and helpers when it does not particularly need assistance, and it loves to think that when the evil days do come, which they may, we can rest assured that we have so lived and so treated our neighbors that they will not see us suffer. As a recent reminder of true friendship and good will, a non resident owner of some of the rich land over in old Yoakum wrote the obliging County and District Clerk, Mr. W. H. Hague, of that county, to have the Yoakum county paper sent to him. Of course most of us know that this good county is not yet so fortunate as to sport a country weekly, and Mr. Hague so informed him, but he did not stop there; he recommended to him as the next best thing, the Herald, and Mr. Hague then wrote us to send the gentleman some sample copies. This is what we call "flowers for the living."

FOR SALE:—160 acres of land, five miles east of Seagraves, as good as there is in Texas. Has improvements amounting to good house, windmill, good fences and cross fences; 60 acres in cultivation. Price $20 per acre. Possession given Jan. 1, 1921. Address L. T. Baldwin, Brownfield.

FOR TORPID LIVER

Tennessee Lumberman Talks of His Successful Use of Black-Draught for Colds and Headaches.

Jamestown, Tenn.—"I have used Theford's Black-Draught for years, in fact it is the only liver medicine that does me any good," says Mr. L. A. Ragan, a well-known lumberman of this place. "When I was single, I used it for headaches, and especially if I get a cold and feel feverish, I take a good dose of Black-Draught, and it sets me right."

"Since I have been married, I have used it in my family, and never have found its equal for torpid liver or disarranged stomach, especially with children. I can recommend Black-Draught, and gladly do so."

Every member of the family occasionally needs the assistance that Black-Draught can give, in helping to cleanse the system and relieve or prevent the troubles that come from a lazy, torpid liver.

If your liver is not doing its duty, you may suffer with headache, constipation, biliousness, indigestion, etc. Unless relief is obtained, serious sickness may result. In its long and successful use, Theford's Black-Draught has been found in thousands of cases to relieve such disorders, by stimulating the liver to do its important work. Ask for Theford's Black-Draught, and insist on the genuine. NC-137

FEDERAL LAND BANK BONDS

The Federal Land Banks have ceased to make loans to farmers for the reason that the constitutionality of the law is being tested in court. The law was tried in the lower court of Kansas and the constitutionality of the law was sustained, but it was appealed to the Supreme Court and advanced for argument January 6th, 1920. The court rendered no decision in the case, but on April 26th, ordered a re-argument, and said, that no argument would be heard after April 30th. The Supreme Court then adjourned and, as the situation now stands, no hearing for further argument can be had until October 11th. With the normal time for consideration after argument, this means no decision before spring. In the meantime the Federal Land Loan Banks are not permitted to sell any more bonds for money to take care of the millions of dollars in loans to farmers who have fully qualified and are waiting for their money.

The validity of the Federal Farm Loan act is being attacked on the ground that the bonds, that are sold to raise the money to make these loans to farmers, are not taxable. The banks and old line farm loan companies are making this fight. They declare the law discriminates between the loan company and those who buy these tax free bonds issued by the Federal Land Banks, in that the loan company pays a tax on its mortgage while the buyer of the bonds of Federal Land Loan Bank does not.

On the face of the statement this does seem unfair, but when the rate of interest is taken into consideration, the old line farm loan company still has the best of the bargain. About the best rate on farm loans we can get in Oklahoma from the old line companies is 6 per cent and 1 percent, which in effect makes a fraction more than 7 per cent. The interest is a 6 per cent net income to those who furnish the money. Out of that is supposed to be paid the tax on mortgages. No one knows how much tax money comes from farm mortgages. The general belief is that very little tax money comes from farm mortgages. But granting that a tax is paid, it does not amount to enough to bring the value of the 6 per cent loan down to a 4 per cent bond with no taxes to pay.

To look at it another way, since these Federal Land Loan Banks have got started and are proving a practical success, if the tax free bond is a better proposition for the man with money to loan the old line companies can get for their money, why should not the old line companies invest their money in these tax free bonds and allow the Federal Land Bank to handle all of the money to farmers on long time loans? All the man wishes who provides the money for the old line loan company is the net income for the use of the money. No one is barred from buying these Land Bank bonds. If those who provide the money for the old line loan companies find the land bank investor getting the best of the bargain, all he has to do is to stop supporting an army of farm loan agents who take a toll of from 1 per cent to 2 per cent for making a farm loan. The big insurance companies and others furnish this farm loan money as it is being lent through two to five agents in every county seat town and one or more of the other towns in the county. There is really no need for more than one farm loan agency in any county. There is but one tax-collector and he works for a smaller salary than the average farm loan agent.

The Federal Land Bank act evidently contemplated that the gradual development of these farm loan associations would reach a point where there would be but one farm loan association or farm loan bank in a county. It certainly would be the sensible thing to do. But the provisions of the act as it now stands hedge it around with so much red tape that it is doubtful if more than 10 per cent of the money lent on farm mortgages is being done thru Federal Land Banks. The result of this situation is that right now, when every farmer in the land should be on his toes demanding that this law be permitted to stand, and be made even more available, there are but few who really seem interested in the outcome of the case now before the Supreme Court.

These Supreme Court decisions are mere majority affairs. The fact that a re-argument has been required on this case indicates that the members of the Court may be about equally divided in their opinions for and against the validity of the Federal Farm Loan Bank Act. A decision with five voting against it and four for it would end the services of the Federal Farm Loan Act. The present high cost of money for all other kinds of business makes the financial air the Supreme Court Judges are breathing bad for the law, providing for a fair rate of interest for farmers.

The unanswerable argument from the viewpoint of taxes and fair play is, regardless of whatever amount, for which a farm may be mortgaged or the rate of interest paid, taxes on the farm are assessed just the same as on the farm with no mortgage. This is unfair unless the rate is low enough to cover taxes. Here we find the fairness of the Federal Farm Loan act. It means that so far as the nontaxable bonds allow any one to beat a just tax, there is nothing to it. The tax on the bond is paid when the low rate of interest is fixed, leaving the farm borrower to pay only the tax on his land. As farm loans are made through local agents, the farmer is charged interest to pay the commission to the agent, the taxes on the mortgage, if any are paid, and in addition pays the same rate of taxation on his farm as if it were free of debt.

If the difference between the rate of interest fixed by the Federal Farm Loan act and the rate charged by the local farm loan agent be compared and stated in terms of taxes, it makes the farmer pay fully three times as much taxes on that part of the farm mortgaged thru a local farm loan agent as he would have to pay if he could make his loan thru a Federal Farm Loan Bank.—Oklahoma Farmer.

Mr. Shield's was a splendid agent and a good citizen, and many regrets have been expressed that he is no longer able to hold the place here.

Newsom. Let the building act go on.

We had a letter from Lee Thompson one day this week, telling us his new address in Polytechnic, a suburb of Ft. Worth. He reports some hot there. Well, we have the hottest August up to the big rain last Wednesday night in the history of the county, some of the night just before the rain registering as high as 78, when August nights usually never run over 65 and since the rain have been as low as 55. HOGVILLE HOWLINGS

By Dunk Botts

Zero Peck, Sunday reported having seen some kind of strange looking animal in the woods near Bear Ford late Saturday night. This is the first one Zero has seen since the country went dry. However, it seemed to have pretty much the same effect on him—so much so that several interested parties in Hogville have determined to make a searching investigation of the matter at the earliest possible moment to see if they can locate it.

Gape Allsop, in looking over some statistics finds that it requires about two and a half dollars worth of feed for a rat each year. Recently one or more rats eat a nice roll of five and ten dollar bills belonging to the Old Miser. Gape thinks if the rats have chosen this diet, sticians will have to get busy in a hurry or the figures are all going to be wrong.

A woman over near Pumkinville has sued the railroad company for several thousand dollars for running its train over her husband and killing him. Gape says he is sure she would have let him go for a dime a year ago.

Alexander Moseley is proud of a new pair of trousers he discovered and bought while in Pumkinville a few days ago. They are the good old fashion kind which have the pockets in front instead of on the sides, and too, he says he bought them real cheap.

Bill Hellwanger's dream that he was bathing in a lake of beer one hot night recently is interpreted as a bad omen by the postmaster, but Bill says it was an awfully nice dream any way. The only baad feature of it is that he does not remember of drinking any of the beer, though he thinks he must have, as he never knew himself to refuse. Gape Allsop thinks it could have been Bevo or some of the other latter day foolers.

A stray cow followed Sile Sims to the Bear Ford church last second Sunday. The object of her attention was the new shuck collar worn by Sile's mule.

Gape Allsop was a pleasant social caller in the Bear Ford neighborhood Sunday afternoon. He let his mule go slow all the way for fear his new derby hat, which is just a bit too small, would jar off.

THAT DAVIDSON LETTER

At the outset of this campaign, I declared that there were three men in the race that I could support with pleasure, Looney, Thomason and Neff. As a matter of personal preference I chose to support Mr. Thomason. In making this choice I find that I voted for a man who was able to carry Joe Bailey's home county by four hundred majority.

Now that Mr. Thomason and Mr. Looney are out of the running, there is but one legitimate thing to do and that is to support Mr. Neff, and to support him loyally. To elect Mr. Bailey would be to turn Texas loose. It would be to enthrone capital. It would be to invite ill feeling between capital and labor that for a score of years could not heal. It would be to elect a governor who would demand of labor an unconditional surrender. It would be to elect a governor who disregards the well known truth that capital and labor are partners, and must coordinate and be co-workers in the building of the state.

There is not a republican politician in the United States that is not a wellwisher to Joe Bailey's aspirations. Mr. Bailey denounces everything that the democratic administration has done. In his speech at Wichita Falls he expressly so stated. The democratic national platform and its national candidates, Gov. Cox and Mr. Roosevelt, endorse the national administration; Mr. Bailey condemns it. The National Platform endorses the League of Nations; Mr. Bailey condemns it. All the democrats in the senate voted to give Arizona statehood; Mr. Bailey voted to keep her out. The Republicans voted to admit New Mexico; Mr. Bailey joined them. When the American soldier was fighting the battles of his country, Bailey refused to make Liberty Bond speeches. If Mr. Bailey is right, the Republican party is right and Harding and Coolidge should be elected.

It may be that Mr. Neff believes in some things that I do not wholly approve; I can't say that I approve all that Mr. Thomason advocated, and more than that I can't say that I endorse everything, both private and public, that Woodrow Wilson did, but we don't measure men by isolated transactions, but we do measure them by a summary of their whole attitude upon public questions. When that is said, then let us have Neff by all means. If we agreed with a man over everything, it would mean that we had no individuality of our own. If we require him to subscribe to our private doctrine on ever subject, then we would deprive him of his individuality, which should not be.

I have an exceedingly high regard for some of the men who championed Mr. Bailey and are charmed by his personality, but if we will look around ourselves, we will find that they are surrounded by the disgruntled, the pessimist and the malcontent. That is, they register a protest against everything that is. If they dislike prohibition, they vote for Bailey; if they are mad because the women vote, they vote for Bailey; if the wealthy man is mad and outraged because he is taxed too much, he is for Bailey; if the socialist is mad with the government and wants Russia recognized, he is for Joe Bailey too.

Unless we wish to plead guilty of having done everything wrong in the democratic party for the last sixteen years, we cannot afford to elect Mr. Bailey as our governor.

Austin Callan's Essay on "Man"

Man is the queerest of all the animals. He is born barefooted and dies bareheaded. The more you know about him the less you understand why the creator did not make the horse first then quit.

An average he thing will shave a note or clip a coupon, but insists on having a barber to mow his whiskers and clip his locks.

Man is of many ways and full of prunes, when he can't find any moonshine liquor. It takes him a year or so to learn how to talk, but he never learns when to talk. He will lie all night and dream; he will lie all day and scheme. He is a complex assembly of egotism, stomach and stubbornness, believing that a dog which belongs to him is better than a dude that belongs to his neighbor.

Man is an unfinished piece of common furniture. He spends all his spare change trying to keep his teeth and all that he can borrow trying to get rid of his appendix. He imagines himself the king of all beasts, and yet it takes him longer to learn how to walk than a jungle monkey, and longer to grow whiskers than a Mexican billy goat.
