

WPA OFFICE WOULD COOPERATE FOR MITCHELL PROGRESS

MITCHELL VOTERS REJECT DEAN LAW REPEAL BY BIG MAJORITY LAST SATURDAY

Colorado, Traditionally Wet, Says 'No' On Issue; Only Two Boxes Vote Wet

Mitchell county voters Saturday went to the polls to reject constitutional amendment that would have junked the Dean law, writing their verdict against legalized liquor traffic in terms of over two to one. 914 of the electorate balloted against the proposal to only 434 in support of the amendment.

Colorado, traditionally "wet," having rolled up strong majorities in liquor and beer elections of the past few years, turned the tables in Saturday's election and united with all of the other voting precincts, except two, to register a dry verdict.

Loraine, stronghold of dry forces in this county for the past several years, maintains that distinction. Of the 359 citizens participating in election there, 316 registered opposition to repeal.

Every one of the eleven voting precincts gave strong majorities to the amendment providing for old age pension. The total county vote was 1,135 for, to 235 against.

Amendment providing for commitment of mentally ill persons without trial by jury, another authorizing courts to place defendants on probation and still another providing for suspension of the fee system in counties of prescribed population were other amendments to be given approval in the county.

Voting was light throughout the county, all boxes reporting an approximate fifty per cent of normal strength. Colorado polled a total of 635 votes. Only 1,366 votes were polled in the county.

"Hey, you can't park your car there," yelled a cop as he walked toward the Mahon machine, waving his hands and giving off an expression of contempt.

"I am a member of the House," retorted Mahon, equally as disgusted as the copper.

COUNTY ATTORNEY STATES MITCHELL COUNTY IN DRY STATUS PENDING ELECTION

Statutes Affecting Liquor To Be Enforced, Barber Says In Public Statement

Mitchell county remains in the dry column, regardless of vote for repeal of the Dean law in Texas Saturday, and laws affecting the sale of liquor are to be strictly respected, Dell Barber, county attorney, outlined in statement given Wednesday afternoon for publication.

"Mitchell county is dry and we will have no information as to the course to be followed in lifting prohibition until the legislature is convened and enacts laws governing this condition," Barber stated. "Since local option was abolished in Texas in 1925, we no longer have that recourse to determine legal phase of the liquor traffic."

Barber based his announcement on opinion received from the Attorney General of Texas who, on August 26, addressed an open letter to Governor Allred on the liquor question.

Quoting from opinion of the Attorney General in communication received by Mr. Barber:

"Before the sale of intoxicating liquors can be lawfully made in counties that were dry before the amendment of 1919, it will be necessary for the legislature, under section (b) of the recent amendment, to enact a law or laws whereby the voters of such territory may determine whether the sale of intoxicating liquors for beverage purposes shall be prohibited or legalized."

In making reference to appellate court rulings on this question, Attorney General McCraw cites the governor to an opinion handed down in the case of Letcher vs. Texas, a test case carried up from Mitchell county several months ago.

WILL THIS COUNTY REJECT GREATEST OPPORTUNITY IN SEVERAL YEARS, QUESTION

Mitchell In Need Of Public Improvement And Same Is Being Offered

Possibly the greatest opportunity that Mitchell county has ever enjoyed for the development of her public facilities is being offered today by the Works Progress Administration.

L. E. Harwood of the State headquarters office in San Antonio outlines in communication received by The Record Wednesday morning.

"That hardly a city or county in the State is not in need of some type of public improvement is a statement that cannot be well denied," Harwood said in offering urge that local citizens devote themselves to the duty of obtaining their rightful share of the funds to be allocated.

Statement of the State official recalls declaration made before a mass meeting here the other day by Mayor J. A. Sadler, as he appealed for consideration of the merits attending certain proposed improvement projects in Colorado and the county.

"You will be called upon to pay your part of the expense as Uncle Sam goes to retire the huge National debt being accumulated through WPA and PWA works," he stated. "Whether or not we receive any of the benefits now extended."

Using this county as an example and referring to the State as a unit, Mr. Harwood went on to say:

It is upon their own speed in submitting proposals and upon the care of design and planning exercised by the State sponsors that each section of the state must depend for its participation in the benefits of WPA. Unfortunately, many sponsors failed to plan carefully the early projects

FIRST CHRISTIAN CHURCH OFFERS TRIBUTE TO LATE PASTOR, REV. MR. JONES

Mrs. Jones, Too, Lauded in Resolutions Adopted At Church Conference

Resolutions commending the work of Rev. and Mrs. Wallace Jones who this week left for Ballinger where he has accepted pastorate of the First Christian church, were adopted by members of First Christian church here, during a recent conference of the church.

The official statement offered strong tribute to the minister and his wife for their untiring work in the church and the community during the several months he was pastor. Committee drafting the resolution was composed of R. P. Price, F. L. Crowder and T. E. Erwin.

"They have been most loyal and unselfish in their desire to further the cause of Christ," the resolution outlined. "We most heartily commend them to the good people of Ballinger as loyal citizens and earnest workers who will cooperate to the fullest in every effort for the good of the community."

Commendation was given Rev. Mr. Jones Friday by the Lions Club of which he had been an active member during his pastorate in Colorado.

REV. O'BRIEN WILL NOT ACCEPT CALL TO CONROE

A call to the pastorate of the First Baptist church at Conroe, Texas, will not be accepted by the Rev. P. D. O'Brien, pastor First Baptist church here, according to an announcement made by him this week from Clovis, New Mexico, where he is holding a revival.

The Rev. Mr. O'Brien issued this statement:

"After three weeks consideration I have definitely declined the call of the First Baptist church, Conroe, Texas. I do not deny that it was an attractive call. A church of nearly 800 members, a beautiful brick building, nearly debt free and a lovely pipe organ, located in the center of a great oil field, and boasting the largest sawmill in Texas. A church well organized and in fine fellowship. A financial offer that would tempt any man with a growing family.

"But on a basis of the same impression and conviction that God wanted us to come to Colorado, we are deciding to stay as long as He sees fit to use us here. We have had a net gain in membership of 68 during this associational year, and our finances and attendance are reasonably satisfactory. We feel that we are but beginning our work in Colorado."

RURAL CLUBS PLANNING FOR ACHIEVEMENT DAYS

Home demonstration clubs of the county are making plans for their Achievement Days for their yard and improvement demonstrators September 24-27.

During September the clubs will discuss topics of interest and study in the bedroom, including walls, floors, windows, furnishings, bathing facilities, reading centers and accessories.

Tentative dates for visitors to see what has been done by the club demonstrators will be: Tuesday, Sept. 24—Lone Star and Bauman; Wednesday—Looney and Plainview, and Friday—Fairview, Iatan and Hyman.

Each cooperator that has done something outstanding in bedroom work will exhibit their articles at the club demonstrators so that everyone may see some of their products. Also the club girls bedrooms will be open to visitors on the days above.

ANOTHER PUZZLE FACED BY GIN OPERATORS AS SEQUEL TO FILIBUSTER

Colorado gin operators Thursday morning were studying a new complex affecting their industry as they read news out of Washington that due to filibuster of Senator Huey Long their expenses for operating under the Bankhead cotton control law had been tied up.

"We cannot see now where any funds will be available to pay the ginners' expenses," a high governmental official at Washington was quoted as having announced the day before.

Under terms of an amendment, killed by Long's filibuster as congress was adjourned, the AAA proposed to pay ginners not to exceed 25 cents a bale as extra cost incurred by them in operation of the law.

Gratitude For 'Street Sprinkling' Wagon Expressed In Old Newspaper

Gratitude for the services of the "street sprinkling wagon" was fervently expressed in the editorial column of The Record for twenty-five years ago, August 19, 1910.

"There was an outpouring of thanksgiving last week," the editorial said. "When the street sprinkler began work again. . . We take the little things by which our comfort is daily ministered to as a matter of course and rarely appreciate them until they are gone. . . Whatever else the stress of times may compel us to curtail, it's the part of wisdom to hold on to the sprinkling wagon."

Earnest Bauman, who lived three miles south of Lorraine, had brought the season's first bale of cotton to town on August 1. . . J. R. Ledbetter had brought in a bale on Friday, a day later. He sold it to O. M. Mitchell for 15 cents.

On the lawn of the Robert M. Webb home a Japanese party had been given by officers and teachers of the Baptist Sunday school for their pupils. . . Little Robert Whiskey sang "Jesus Loves Me." . . Lela Whiskey was pianist. . . Others having part on the program included Juanita Cook, Ella Free, Inez Nunn, Maudine Person, Robert Smith, Stanley Whiskey, Mary Terrell, Mrs. F. B. Whiskey, Lottie Dohb, Daisy Adams, Lois Whiskey, and numerous others. . . Dora Wulffen was attending an Epworth League encampment. . . Eleanor Van Tuyl was giving a lawn party. . . Minnie Thornberry had entertained with forty-two. . . Mrs. Allen Soper of El Paso was visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Robinson. . . Shell Merrill was working in the law office of W. P. Leslie. . . Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hastings had a new daughter.

Frank Ramey of Kansas City had come here to join his wife, who was visiting her mother, Mrs. Jim Smith. . . Mrs. W. K. Homan and Mrs. Cliff Beal were visiting Mrs. Gus Beal. . . Mrs. E. A. Barcroft and her father, Mr. Lowe, had returned from a visit to their old home in Missouri.

Mrs. W. S. Smith of Greenville was visiting her sister-in-law, Mrs. A. L. Whiskey. . . Isla Bess and Margaret Looney had gone to California. . . School was going to open Sept. 19. . . Contract for the new high school building had been let for $25,000.

A & M GROUP SENDS J. L. GALEY TO ARRANGE THEIR COLLEGE PLANS

Twelve Mitchell county boys of college age who plan to attend A. & M. college under its new grouping plan this year have sent J. L. Gailey to College Station to rent their house and make final arrangements for their attendance. Gailey left Sunday. Under the grouping plan, these twelve boys will rent a house and share expenses of the school year. The college promises them work enough to cover most expenses.

Doyle Williams, head of the vocational agriculture department of Colorado High school and local sponsor of the plan, stated this week that these youths plan to be in the group: Homer Bodine, Lemm Bodine, J. L. Gailey, Lloyd Hughes, J. M. Kirby, T. J. Geiger, Allen Bloodworth (who is already in College Station, working and attending summer school), Cleveland Whitten, Herman May of Westbrook, Jerome Fuquay of Tahoka (formerly of Westbrook), Murphy Byrd of Westbrook, and Frank Blasingame.

FUNERAL OF MRS. DUNN ATTENDED TUESDAY BY SEVERAL COLORADOANS

Several Coloradoans were in Dunn Tuesday afternoon to attend funeral services for Mrs. Vianna Dunn, 85, wife of the late A. T. Dunn, who died at her home Monday evening. She was an aunt of J. J. Billingsley of Colorado. The Colorado Insurance agency, of which Billingsley is owner, was closed during the day. With her husband, Mrs. Dunn settled at the place which was later named for them 45 years ago, establishing the first postoffice there. She was buried in the cemetery for which she and her husband donated land years ago. Vianna Billingsley was a native Texan, born August 4, 1850 in Johnson county, near Alvarado. She was married to A. T. Dunn at Lancaster, Dallas county, in 1874. Three of the five children born to them survive her. They are J. A. Dunn and Mrs. G. N. Richardson of Dunn and Mrs. C. S. Smith of Abernathy. Funeral services were conducted by the Rev. Grady Anderson, pastor of the Dunn Methodist church.

MEMENTO OF EARLY COLORADO IS FOUND UNDER HEARTHSTONES

Hidden beneath the hearthstones of a home for twenty-seven years, a memento of the Colorado of a quarter century ago came to light this week when the fireplace at the Helton home on Vine street was torn down for improvements. The memento was a frayed and yellowed envelope containing an invitation to the late Mrs. Fred Whiskey and Mr. Whiskey to attend an "at home" given by the Reverend and Mrs. R. W. Dotson on June 22, 1908, in celebration of their twentieth wedding anniversary. Mr. and Mrs. Whiskey once lived in the home now occupied by the Heltons. The invitation somehow became concealed in the fireplace after they received it. The Rev. and Mrs. Dodson lived in the Methodist parsonage.

DERBY PLANE MAKES FORCED LANDING AT WESTBROOK AIRPORT

One of the planes in Ruth Chatterton's "Sportsman's Derby" was forced down on the Westbrook emergency landing field late Monday and did not get away until Tuesday afternoon. The plane, a Beacraft, had led the six planes into Midland. It was piloted by Earl Ricks of Hot Springs, Arkansas. Enroute from Midland to Colorado the crankcase began cracking up, dislodging the starter, and Ricks was forced to land. He and his passengers, a man and a woman, spent the night at a Colorado hotel. Fielding Lee, Colorado mechanic, worked with Ricks in getting the motor into flying shape again. Ricks was still in the derby but too far behind to be checked when planes landed in Indianapolis Wednesday. He was in the lead until his trouble here developed.

INITIAL WPA PROJECT FOR COUNTY LISTED IN PAPERS FILED AT ABILENE MONDAY

Changing Second Street Light Standards To Curb Slight Under Works Bill

Mitchell county Monday filed with the Works Progress Administration division offices in Abilene its original project application. The request asks the government to approve cooperating with the city in moving light standards along center of Second street to the curb. Blue prints and specifications for the project were prepared by Dewey Geer of Sweetwater and Saturday were given official approval by the county planning board. Jim Greene, chamber of commerce secretary, compiled information required in filing application on the project and turned papers in the application over to divisional offices.

The project would cost $8,574, according to Geer's estimate. $5,615 of the amount would be paid by the city and the remainder of $2,959 by the government.

AMARILLO CONVENTION MAY BE LAST FOR UCV

AMARILLO, Aug. 28.—When the United Confederate Veterans meet in Amarillo, Texas, September 3 to 6, for their 45th annual reunion, it may mark the closing of this once mighty organization composed of those warriors who followed the Stars and Bars in the War Between the States. Recent years have taken a heavy toll of the once grey lines that followed Lee and Jackson of the Confederacy. Only a trace of those grey waves of Southern men remain. Many, of course, are too feeble to attend a reunion of their comrades. However, in spite of the great inroads which death is making in its ranks, General Harry Rene Lee, Nashville, Tenn., commanding the veterans, expects at least 1,000 members to meet in Amarillo, about 300 more than assembled at Chattanooga last year. Amarillo came forward with an invitation only when it was evident the Confederate veterans would not have a place in which to hold their reunion this year. Other cities, having invited them, later failed to raise a sufficient sum to stage the affair.

1907 GRADUATE AND DAUGHTERS TO SCHOOL

DENTON.—Loyal to her Alma Mater for twenty-eight years, a graduate of 1907 has returned to Texas State College for Women (CIA) with her two daughters, all three being enrolled as students in the second summer session. Mrs. J. W. Mead of Coleman received her diploma in a graduating class of 27 members, the school then being in its fourth year of existence. Contrasting strangely with her memories of that student group twenty-eight years ago is the present appearance of her daughters' class. Her 1907 classmate wore the long blue serge uniform skirts, the square-top hats, and white sun-bonnets for every day use. Erile and Mary attend evening classes in smartly-tailored white linen suits, trim white poplins of fashionable length, sporty white oxfords, and their choice of hats in white or dark blue.

T.S.C.W. PURCHASES KIDD-KEY LIBRARY

DENTON.—The library of 3,500 books belonging to the former Kidd-Key College, Sherman, was recently purchased by Texas State College for Women (CIA). Other articles purchased by the college include a Baldwin concert grand piano and a six-inch refracting telescope, the latter to be used for general observation purposes and for the teaching of astronomy.

COTTON LOANS RAISED TO TEN CENTS PER POUND AS AAA CHIEFS STUDY PLEAS

Subsidy Will Assure Final 12-Cent Total On Crop For Present Year

A substitute compromise plan to provide a loan of ten cents a pound and a subsidy to increase the final producer return on the 1935 cotton crop to 12 cents was announced late Monday by the AAA at Washington.

The new plan, differing in several important respects from the first loan-subsidy arrangement announced last week, was approved at a conference of farm and treasury officials at the White House that afternoon, in an effort to pacify southern senators who had blocked adjournment of congress.

Under the compromise plan, loans of ten cents will be advanced on cotton of 7-8 inch low middling grade or better. The subsidy payments will be based upon daily average prices at the ten spot markets.

Here are the salient differences between the nine-cent plan and the ten-cent compromise.

Loans will be made only on 7-8 inch low middling cotton or better, instead of on 13-16 inch low middling or better as in the nine-cent plan. This reduces by about 200,000 bales the number eligible for loans.

The subsidy payments will be made on the basis of the average price at the ten spot markets on the day the cotton is sold, rather than upon the four month average.

Loans and payments will be restricted to actual production not in excess of the Bankhead allotment. Formerly, each of the 1,004,000 contract signers was eligible to obtain a loan on all his cotton, but subsidy payments would be made only upon the Bankhead allotments.

The subsidy payments will apply to all sales of 1935 cotton including those already made.

The loans are to be handled through office of Ben J. Baskin, county farm agent.

"NO MORE LADIES"
Palace—September 1-2

Smart, sophisticated society comedy with a brilliant cast of players contributing scintillating performances. Amusing situations and dialogue that crackles with wit do much to atone for the comparative lack of action. On his first fall from grace with a night-club queen Joan, to pay him back, arranges a week-end party comprising Robert's past and current flames and their husbands. The ill-assorted group creates many embarrassing situations, but Joan's clever maneuvers bring about a happy ending. Edna May Oliver's cocktail-drinking grandma is a constant delight. Montgomery gives another stand-out performance.

PENNEY'S

J. C. PENNEY COMPANY, Incorporated

(by Hecht and MacArthur)—this must rank as one of the most unusual pictures ever made. Certain to win the acclaim of critics everywhere. Reception by the general public will be surprising. Noel Coward does superb work in the role of a heartless publisher who turns from a woman as soon as he has completely won her love. His friends, being a shallow, cynical lot, there is no one to mourn him when he meets his death in a plane accident. His soul is forced to wander to earth until, at last, a grateful woman's tears brings peace. Julie Haydon and Stanley Ridges measure up in every way to Coward's brilliant performance. Martha Sleeper, the one established screen player in the cast, is effective.

"G-MEN"
Ritz—Saturday Midnight Aug. 31 Sunday—Monday—Aug. 31-Sept. 1-2
Action! Thrills! War on Crime!
See the G-Men in Action!
Fast-moving thriller packed with suspense and action that should entertain any audience. Cagney, bankrolled by a gangster, gets an education in law, but closes up his office to join the Federal forces when his pal, Jiggs Toomey, is bumped off. Episodes from the escapes of Dillinger, Baby Face Nelson, and other widely-publicized public enemies are expertly woven into the footage. The film contains virtually everything that could be incorporated into entertainment of this type. Warners have set a pace in this offering that will be difficult to follow. It is sure-fire entertainment.

WILL ROGERS PICTURES
(From Showmen's Trade Review)
(Submitted by Sherman Hart)

A great question has materialized as a result of the unfortunate accident that ended in the death of Will Rogers.

In the past when a screen personality died, the box office value of his pictures were hurt. In fact, theatre-men were advised to play down the name of the deceased in an effort to detract from the fact that a dead actor or actress was in the particular picture.

No one should take this attitude in the case of the Will Rogers pictures. There is at present available, "Doubting Thomas," "Steamboat Round the Bend," and "In Old Kentucky" are due to follow shortly.

Will Rogers was so definitely a beloved and popular personality that his untimely death should by no means dampen his popularity on the screen. As a matter of fact, millions of movie fans will rejoice at the opportunity of again enjoying his grand humor and acting as will be afforded to them through the remaining pictures to be released.

Will Rogers pictures should still be the tremendous success they were before his death and it is our suggestion that persons in this community should not forget the rare treat that will be afforded them in being able to perpetuate the memory of this outstanding American humorist.

vel grounds and well-sodded, planted campuses and playgrounds is contemplated. Installation of side walks, retaining walls, drinking fountains, out-door theater, seating arrangements for spectators, and fencing on 21 school grounds in that city reflect the result of intelligent planning.

School houses in many smaller Texas towns are sadly in need of side walks, gutters and curbs are expected from small towns.

Although our $600.00 per man-year expenditure restriction prohibits the construction of large buildings, WPA can do much improvement and modernization work on public buildings. County recreational projects, roadside parks, and similar projects may also be undertaken.

Sewer plant and water supply works, both needed in small Texas communities, are expected to form a considerable item in our list of project approvals.

Often a neglected, stagnant pool or creek can be transformed into a parkway encircled by a smooth, pleasant drive with a small amount of labor. Civic-minded persons should study the potentialities of their own communities for projects such as this. Swimming pools and wading pools for children certainly can be assets to any town.

Useful surveys and research work providing jobs for white collar workers are acceptable but sponsors must offer proper management and supervision in order to secure state approval. Women's work, under the direction of Mrs. M. K. Taylor, will encompass such enterprises as sewing rooms, libraries, home hygiene, visiting housekeepers, and certain types of white collar work.

This yard will be one visited September 24th on Achievement Day.

CHAMPION CREEK LAKE PROJECT SPONSORED BY CITY

COUNTY AUDITORIUM HOPE FADES AS COURT OFFICIALS DECLINE TO GIVE SUPPORT

Citizens Urge Progress Ahead For City And County At Meeting Monday

Mitchell county citizens who during the past several weeks had sought cooperative endeavor in pushing two major public improvement projects Monday afternoon saw one of them given the support sought and another held in abeyance, due to respective attitudes of public officials.

Project receiving sponsorship is the proposed lake on Champion Creek south of Colorado. Mayor Sadler and four members of the city council stated to a gathering, convened in the county court chambers, that they were of the opinion the lake should be built and that it was in order that the city accept sponsorship of same. Two members of the council withheld definite approval pending information as to cost to be involved.

"I am in favor of the proposed city-county auditorium and believe the county should sponsor its construction," County Judge B. L. Templeton stated during a brief address before the meeting. Opinion of the county judge was supported by County Commissioner Mack Holt of Bu-

Pioneer In West Texas Methodism Gives Words Of Praise For Colorado Record

Rev. Bill Hart of O'Donnell, superannuated Methodist circuit rider, called at The Record office Friday morning to extend his subscription date ahead another year and offer some words of praise for the paper. This pioneer in West Texas Methodism has left his profession as a minister after forty years as an active pastor. Back in the days when communities were few and far apart in Mitchell county he drove his buggy from one school building to another to tell cowboys and farmers the inspiring story of the Cross. He is beloved by every pioneer citizen of this section.

A friend of Rev. Mr. Hart said of him last week that he had built more churches and rode more miles to progress cause of Christianity than any other preacher identified with this immediate part of Texas. He was here to attend annual homecoming at Dorn's Chapel, a community in which he served as pastor many years ago.

Berry Wildcat Is Holding Attention Of Big Spring Men

The wildcat recently spudded on the W. C. Berry farm at Fairview is attracting interest among Howard county oil men is suggested in the recent article in the Big Spring Weekly News.

The Gettys Drake No. 1 Berry northwest of the Westbrook pool in Mitchell county which was spudded in last week promises to prove a most important oil test.

Pat Moran has the contract to complete this test. It is located 330 feet from the east and north lines of the northwest quarter of section 80, block 97, H&TC survey, near the center of an 1800-acre tract. Large oil corporations own surrounding acreage. Ten inch casing was set Thursday of last week and at last report they were drilling right along making good time.

POST'S WIDOW VISITING HER PARENTS IN NOLAN

Mrs. Wiley Post, widow of the intrepid flyer who recently crashed to death in Alaskan wilds with Will Rogers, arrived in Sweetwater Sunday enroute to Divide, community twenty miles south, to spend an indefinite visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. J. Laine. She came from Oklahoma where last week funeral rites for her husband were held.

Hayes Holman, principal of Junior High school, has returned from Boulder, Colorado, where he has been attending summer school. He is making preparations for the opening of school September 9.

of the public benefits to be derived. Castle estimated that cost of the structure would run from $50 to $75 a seat, depending on type of building and equipment specified. An auditorium with seating capacity of 2,000, it was shown, would cost over $100,000.

"It is apparent to me that the citizenship generally are in favor of this auditorium and I am wondering what we are waiting for," was statement by J. Ralph Lee as he advanced appeal that the county lend cooperation in steps to have the property improvement authorized by the government.

J. W. Randle advanced statement that figures by the architect were high. "A building to cost that much money is not, I believe, the type of auditorium the people of Colorado have in mind," he said.

Considerable discussion as to use of water from the lake by the city was advanced. Cost of pipe line construction connecting the lake with East Side waterworks was outlined in report by the engineer. Mayor Sadler, however, did not express much interest in this feature of the project.

"To my way of thinking this lake project should be of vital concern to the city," Greene declared. "I recall that during a time when I was a member of the city council we were up against a water shortage that might have brought serious consequences, and the same aspect could develop again."

The lake, including land to be required, labor, materials, engineering and other contingencies, would cost $80,000, according to estimate by the engineer.

SEVEN HUNDRED GATHERED AT DORN'S CHAPEL SUNDAY FOR ANNUAL HOME-COMING

Principal Address Delivered By Dr. J. T. Griswold, Former Elder

Seven hundred people, many of the number from ranks of pioneers who years ago had part in organization of one of the first rural churches in this section of Texas, Sunday assembled at Dorn's Chapel to attend Fifth Annual Home-Coming of the congregation.

Dr. J. T. Griswold of Clyde, pioneer in West Texas Methodism and who many years ago was presiding elder of the old Colorado district, delivered the principal address, building his religious theme about the text, "The Bright and Morning Star." Dr. and Mrs. Griswold have recently established their home at Clyde after he closed a colorful career as an educational and religious leader in West Texas.

Among former pastors there to enjoy the celebration was the Rev. Bill Hart of O'Donnell, who forty years ago rode his saddle pony into the Dorn community to preach. J. M. Dorn of Colorado, one of the first settlers there and for whom the church is named, was another honored guest.

Services commemorating the occasion were opened Sunday morning in the church. Sermon address by Dr. Griswold was given at 11 o'clock and at noon luncheon was served in abundance to all present. The afternoon was spent in renewing friendships of other days and the recalling of religious activities that in the long ago attended progress of the church. It is recalled that some of the greatest revival meetings in this county were held there.

An interesting feature on the day's program was in introduction of five of the old timers present as natives of Alabama. The group included Dorn, and E. M. McCreeless of Colorado; Dr. Griswold; Press Phenix of Hamlin and Rev. Hart. Some of these men had known each other since childhood, living in the same community in Alabama in the long ago, later residing as neighbors in Falls county and then locating in the Dorn community.

Dorn stated Monday that ample shade to protect visitors from rays of the sun would be provided by time for the Sixth Annual Reunion next Summer. "Interest in these meetings grows with each succeeding year and it is our plan to make things as comfortable as we can for our visitors," he said.

THIEVES LEAVE HIS GUN BUT TAKE OFFICERS SET OF TIRES SUNDAY NIGHT

Night prowlers who Sunday night took two casings from the car of C. O. Harper, member of the night police force and Colorado's official dog catcher, had no use for the copper's gun.

Monday morning when Harper came to his garage to drive to town he was chagrined to note the casings were missing. Lying on the ground in the alley was his sawed off shotgun, that had been taken from its place in the car and left there by the thieves.

I. Tucker, living near the Harper home, reported theft of a casing from his car during the night.

STRANGERS IN CHICAGO READ ITEM IN RECORD

Strangers in Chicago recently read an item in The Record and wrote a Colorado business man about it—proving thereby that The Record is read far and wide.

The "strangers" were the publishers of the American Lumberman, national lumber journal. The item they were interested in was one about Burton-Lingo Lumber company's sign, which is five feet high and eighty feet long, the biggest in Colorado.

Four Generations Live Under One Roof In Franklin Home At Buford

By JOE BURTON

Four generations under one roof is a daily event of life in the home of J. S. Franklin, who lives seven miles northeast of here in the Buford community. Five generations under one roof is nothing unusual.

Living in the same house are Mrs. M. E. King, 98, her son, C. E. McCullough, her granddaughter, Mrs. J. S. Franklin, and the Franklin family of nine children. When Mrs. Earl Sorrels, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Franklin, brings her eighteen months old boy to visit there are five generations under one roof.

Mrs. King, who will be 99 next February 25, was born in Macon county, Alabama, in 1837. She is very feeble, but otherwise is apparently enjoying good health.

Although her memory is poor, she is still able to recall many interesting ante-bellum incidents of slavery. Her husband was overseer on a plantation near Mansfield, Louisiana.

"All the stealing I ever did," she said recently, "was for negroes. The slaves were allowed, and they would come to me saying that they were hungry. 'You know I has to work mighty hard,' they would say. 'Marster's meat and marster's negroes, and I didn't think it was stealing, so I would tell them to meet me at the smokehouse directly. And I didn't have to let my husband know it either,'" she added.

Often the overseer's wife would have the cook put on more food than the white folks could eat, and when it was done she would give the slaves part of it. Once a slave said to her, "Miss Mattie, I's most as glad to see you as if you was a black woman."

Slave mothers, working in the fields, were allowed to come in once in the mornings and once in the afternoons to allow their babies to nurse. Young negroes ate at troughs, into which had been put turnip greens and bread and over which was poured buttermilk.

A neighbor once told her she said almost starved his negroes to death. One day one of his slaves escaped, came to the King home with gun in hand ready to shoot. Mrs. King invited him in and gave him something to eat.

Once she said she was scared nearly to death. A negro, killed a white woman, and after the murder boasted that he would not lose his life for one woman. There were two or three in the community, he said, that he was going to kill, and no one knew who they were. She could not recall what happened to the negro.

Mrs. King was converted at the age of 15 and united with the Baptist church. She has been a Baptist 83 years. Following her conversion, both her parents also united with the Baptist church and all three were baptized at the same time. She heard the text quoted often, "And a

Local FAA Youths Get Good Returns From Watermelons

A profit of more than $100.00 has already been realized from a five acre watermelon project by Bill Galey, local future farmer, and his father I. K. Galey according to Doyle Williams, teacher of vocational agriculture in Colorado high school.

Bill started growing watermelons three years ago when he enrolled in Vocational Agriculture, and has made a special study of fertilizing, preparing the seed bed, controlling insects, cultivating, selecting seed, and pruning. As a result of this study Bill has been able to produce two or three crops of melons during a normal growing season.

Voyd Beights and several other members of the first year class are realizing nice returns from their watermelon projects this season. Larger melons of higher quality have been produced this season due to the excellent climatic condition.

TEXAS JUNKS PROHIBITION IN DECISIVE WET VICTORY AT BALLOT BOX SATURDAY

Old Age Pension Leads Other Amendments By Four To One; Two Defeated

Rolling up an avalanche of votes considerably stronger than had been anticipated by ardent wets, Texas voters Saturday marched to the ballot box to junk prohibition. Majority against the Dean law Thursday morning was estimated at above 60,000, with a scattering vote over the State unreported.

Constitutional amendment to authorize payment of old age pension swept every part of Texas, rolling up a lead of four to one and in scores of election precincts receiving an almost solid support.

Commitment of insane without the present jury trial was another proposal to receive decisive ratification at the ballot box. Texas citizens gave their endorsement to this amendment at the ratio of three to two.

Amendments having to do with suspended sentences and the abolition of fee system in paying salaries of public officials in counties of certain population were also authorized by substantial leads.

Proposals to authorize the legislature to call for amendment submission vote during special sessions and to provide free text books to private schools, were the only ones to receive defeat. Majorities against both were small.

That's why healthful circulated gas heat is more than a luxury. It is a downright necessity in safeguarding your family's health through the winter.

With circulated heat in every room the temperature of your home will be in the "comfort zone"—between 65 and 71 degrees. Circulated heat is healthful because it knocks cold spots and chilling drafts. It is heat that ends wall sweating.

Colorado's first bale of new crop cotton, grown on the R. C. Lowe farm south of town by J. W. Fox, was sold at auction Friday morning to Max Berman, owner of Max Berman's department store, at $12.50 per hundred. The bale weighed 422 pounds, netting the grower $52.75 for the staple. The bale was sold from Walnut street near the City National bank with Ben Smith, advertising manager on The Record presiding at the block.

In addition to the amount paid by Berman for the bale, citizens of Colorado subscribed $82.65 to a premium for Mr. Fox. The premium was raised by C. P. Gary, manager of the Farmers Co-operative Gin Company, plant where the bale was ginned without charge.

New Heavy Duty Airwheel Tires Boon To Trucks

Operators of fleets of delivery trucks will be interested in the new Goodyear heavy duty commercial Airwheel tire introduced to give longer wear and greater traction than the standard sizes of balloon tires normally used on light trucks. The tire, made in 7.00-15 size, uses a regular passenger car tire tube when equipping half-ton trucks in light delivery work, according to Thomas Bros., local Goodyear dealers.

Features which make this new tire desirable include: greater cushioning because of increased size and lower air pressures; easier on driver, load and truck; longer wear because of greater tread thickness and tread design; better traction because of tread's larger ground contact.

Scientifically placed tread blocks on the shoulder of the tire provide added safety and traction on turns. The tires are a means toward more economical gasoline consumption because low air pressure eliminates road bounce and resultant loss of power.

Table with columns: Loaded Capacity, Air Pressure. Rows for 930 lbs (15 lbs), 1000 lbs (16 lbs), 1100 lbs (18 lbs), 1200 lbs (20 lbs), 1300 lbs (23 lbs), 1350 lbs (24 lbs).

SHALL WE CHANGE THE CONSTITUTION

There is a growing demand for a constitutional change and this subject will undoubtedly be the leading issue in the next presidential campaign hence we submit the following: Observe always that everything is the result of change.—Marcus Aurelius. Unconstitutional! Why not change the Constitution to make possible the enactment of legislation made imperative because of conditions? But some would reply, "Let us not tamper with that sacred document!" Those who look upon the organic law in this way should remember that the Constitution was made for the people, and not the people for the Constitution. It would be a unique document indeed if its provisions made it fulfill the needs of the people when it was written, adaptable to their present conditions, and anticipated with inferrancy and infallibility the future. In such case it would be both historic and prophetic. Its authors were wise men in their day and formulated a document that was a marvel of statecraft, and anticipated with extraordinary foresight conditions that were to obtain under a system of popular government. But it could not anticipate them all and for an indefinite length of time. These observations are not made in any way encouraging a minimizing of the importance of the Constitution, nor suggesting a too free and frequent amendment of it. They are intended as a premise to further remarks bearing upon facts and principles involved in the establishment and maintenance of government. As implied by the old Roman philosopher, in the words quoted at the beginning of this article, change is constant and inevitable. Only the laws of nature are incapable of change. Nothing else in existence is exactly the same today that it was yesterday. Hence everything devised by man, whether laws or mechanical inventions, necessitate amendment and improvement from time to time. Principles do not change, but methods of applying them do because of the exigencies of circumstances. Some Recent Examples Recent examples of this are seen in the enactments of the Congress giving the President authority and powers far beyond anything the writers of the Constitution ever dreamed of. But conditions and the exigencies of circumstances demanded these enactments. It was not a time for discussing their constitutionality so much as their effectiveness in achieving the objects in view. There is no doubt that a score of years ago even the suggestion that such powers should at any time ever be given the Chief Executive would have aroused such opposition as would have effectually prevented it. But such conditions as obtained when they were granted were not anticipated even at that time. When John H. Reagan introduced his Interstate Commerce bill, the cry went up all over the Nation, "That's situational!" But it was enacted and its constitutionality affirmed. Its needs had been amply demonstrated, and additional duties have been given to its members. The same was said as to the Texas Railroad Commission, but it still is performing the functions for which it was created, with additional authority and activities in other directions. More recent and radical authority in practically all the departments of the Federal Government has been conferred on the President, his Cabinet members and others who have been designated to assist in pulling the country out of the slough of financial and industrial despond. Without enumerating these here, they will at once come to the minds of those who have informed themselves as to the activities of the Government since the inauguration of President Roosevelt.

It is not the people who have made it necessary to take the steps that have been taken by Congress and the Government, but circumstances and conditions over which they could exercise no control. The matter of the constitutionality of the enactments delegating to the President the powers which they confer is not under discussion here, but the necessity for change of law to conform to the existing situation. Is It to Be Socialism? It long has been said that "necessity is the mother of invention;" this time it was the mother of experiment as well as invention, as often it is in lesser things than a government. If results were not uncertain it would not be an experiment. The experiment is for finding out whether or not the idea is practicable. The President wisely remarked that there could be no guarantee of the success of plans proposed or the efforts being made, but if they were not successful we should "have to try something else."

Like man and the Sabbath, man was not made for the Constitution, but the Constitution for man. That wonderful document, as fine as it is, evidencing both genius and wisdom, is not, like the book of Revelation, both a history and a prophecy. Fact is it is neither. We should not become alarmed for fear that we are governmentally speaking tending toward socialism. Rehabilitation and recovery are what we want now. If the plans and methods being tried bring this much desired result, they are deserving of further study and trial. Without trying them we can not know. One thing is certain, we can not remain where we are. It is inevitable that we go forward. Whether our destiny is socialism or fascism or sovietism remains to be seen. A socialist system that will last must come by evolution, and not by revolution.

It must be admitted that so-called "Big Business is doing more to promote the trend toward socialism by extorting from the producer and consumer more than it is entitled to. When these are supplemented by general business depression, which may to some extent at least be credited to its grasping methods, the desire on the part of those who suffer to make a change in their governmental system should be no occasion for surprise. The economic principle of co-operation must sooner or later be substituted for that of destructive competition. Wholesome competition can exist no longer than those conditions, which make individual effort possible of success. The national, or even world-wide, systemization in the conduct of certain lines of business, make the consolidation or merger of those concerns engaged in it possible to the extent of being a practical, if not a technical, monopoly. Then the imposition of unjust prices and indifferent quality becomes a matter of option with them. Man's mind is broadened by his experiences and his actions are suggested by his knowledge as to what he thinks is best for him. As Tennyson puts it, Yet I doubt not through the ages One increasing purpose runs, And the thoughts of man are widened With the process of the suns. F. B. W.

Irrigation Advocated By Record Of 25 Years Ago To Insure Prosperity

To rout the "if it rains" bugaboo of West Texas the Colorado Record twenty-five years ago, September 2, 1910, set forth the advantages of irrigation in glowing terms.

With the story The Record ran a picture of Dr. N. J. Phenix's irrigation plant on his farm about three miles up the river. J. G. Doby of South Colorado was mentioned as another successful irrigator.

Derah Wulfjen had returned from Corpus Christi. Prof. Thos. Dawes had returned from a visit to his old home in England. D. N. Arnett had been on a trip to his Plains ranch. Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Bullock were out of town for a week's rest and recreation.

The Methodist women had had an "at home" at the home of Mrs. Q. D. Hall. Leaders in the entertainment were Mrs. J. G. Merritt, Mrs. Carter, Mrs. Lyon, Mrs. Payne, Mrs. Crockett and others. The Misses Dyas had returned from a visit to Brownwood and other points.

Praise for the Log Rolling association which they had attended in Stamford was voiced by J. S. Vaughan and wife and W. M. Cooper. Henry Grantland was back on the job at the Colorado National bank after a visit to Carbon and Gatesville. Mrs. Grantland and the babies had remained in Gatesville for a visit.

Roy Dozier of Fort Worth had spent a few days in the Sterling Dozier home. Roy was working in the Union passenger depot barber shop in Fort Worth.
