The police, sheriff's and constable's departments are cooperating in plans to handle the large crowd expected. It is the hope of these officials that the throng will be handled without accident to any one.

A riot of color, one of the largest holiday crowds in history of Mitchell county, is expected to be remembered by the boys and girls of this county, statement by these officials outlined.

Rural Citizens Nearing Goal Marking Close Of Financial Stress As Debts Paid, Bank Balances Enlarged

Mitchell county cotton growers are today in better financial condition than at any time since inception of the depression in 1929, and they have not, by any manner of means, come to the end of the harvest.

Statistics given The Record Wednesday noon by C. H. Lasky, president of two Mitchell county banks and considered one of the best posted men in this section on financial affairs, depicted just such an outlook. Other citizens interviewed, including several leading cotton growers and cattlemen, advanced the same optimistic aspect.

There are hundreds of rural citizens of the Colorado territory who are jingling cash in their pockets, free of debt and carrying substantial bank balances for the first time in several seasons. Listed among this group are those who have gathered more than from fifty to sixty per cent of their estimated cotton yield from the present crop.

This parade that is leading barons of the county's basic prosperity out of clutches of the recent drought is being realized through income from an estimated 20,000-bale cotton yield and influences of the AAA during this and last year. While production costs have been curtailed, the commodity is being sold at quotations in advance of those in effect during seasons of the recent past.

Business Men Smile After One Of Best Days During The Year In Colorado

Saturday is being recalled by Colorado merchants as one of their busiest days of the year. Prompted by continued advances in quotations on cotton and seed, growers of the territory were patronizing the stores and shops more liberally than during any previous time of the Fall season. The growers did not bring all the patronage that caused cash tills to tinkle during the day. Hundreds of laborers, here from the cotton fields after a full week's work with their pockets carrying good quotas of cash and their arms generously sized bundles of newly bought merchandise, made up a big section of the better business parade.

"DANTE'S INFERNO"
Palace—Friday-Saturday, Nov. 29, 30
Fantastic scenes of the infernal regions are coupled with a sensational modern melodrama which includes such thrilling episodes as the collapse of an amusement park side-show and a disastrous fire at sea to make a picture which spells box-office. The story of one man's spectacular rise to wealth and power is improbable and rambling in the script. Title refers to a little side-show which a penniless stoker assumes and builds into a deluxe attraction, meanwhile crushing those who were his friends. His wife stands by until forced to commit perjury in court to save her husband from jail, but a reconciliation is effected when he sees the error of his ways.

"BROADWAY MELODY OF 1936"
Palace—Sunday Monday, Dec. 1, 2
Box-office dollars will dance plenty to "Broadway Melody of 1936." It is a backstage story about the small-town girl coming to Broadway and making a success after her childhood sweetheart, a big-time producer, gives her the cold shoulder, eventually to welcome her with open arms. Jack Benny, a columnist, to get even with the producer, creates a mythical French artist, broadcasting publicity until the producer wants the French star that does not exist. The small-town girl, through the aid of the producer's secretary, catches on, assumes a French accent and steals the show. Packed with pulchritude, smash tunes, classy dance routines. It marks the screen debut of Eleanor Powell as the small-town girl who made good.

"TWO FISTED"
Thursday—December 5
This is an adaptation of the stage play "Zat Sz." lacking the punch of the stage offering. Lee Tracy, trainer and fight-manager for Roscoe Karns, who has turned out to be a palooka, and Karns, meet Kent Taylor, just coming home from a drunk. Taylor invites them to his home, where they meet Gail Patrick wishing to get a divorce, and Taylor hires them as trainers to get him in shape so that he can sock his brother-in-law for mistreatment of his sister, Gail. Plot revolves around Gail's son, wealthy in his own right, and the father who wants custody of the child, but wanders off to a prize-fight in the drawing room with the father's sure-fire winner getting the K. O. from Karns and spoiling what he figured a sure bet. Tracy is outstanding.

"REDHEADS ON PARADE"
Ritz—Saturday Midnight, Nov. 30
Sunday Monday—December 1, 2
A lot of twisted plot embellishment that never gives a really good cast a chance, keeps this musical with a back-stage theme from attaining importance. A fair exploitation picture with lots of laughs to help entertain the audience. John Boles, Alan Dinehart, and Jack Haley are actor, producer and press agent of a picture, the backer of which has walked out. Haley sells a manufacturer of red hair dye on the idea of using the film to exploit his product, but the latter backs out later when Dixie Lee, his girl friend lead, goes for Boles. Next set of angels are platinum hair dye makers, who manage to confuse everything to a satisfactory conclusion.

"FRECKLES"
Ritz—Tuesday-Wednesday, Dec. 3, 4
Ideal family type entertainment which faithfully retains the human interest values of Gene Stratton Porter's novel, the second best seller of all time. The natural, artless performance of eight-year-old Virginia Weidler, as the mischievous, but lovable, Laurie Lou, is the picture's highlight and she has wisely been given the greater part of the footage. Pleasantly sprinkled with wholesome comedy, the pleasing story tells of the adventures of Freckles, an orphan boy who comes to an Indiana lumber camp in search of work. The pretty school teacher helps him get a job as Limberlost guard and after a few unsuccessful encounters with timber thieves he redeems himself by rescuing a missing little girl and capturing a gang of desperadoes.

Blind Mexican Youth Works To Take Himself And Mother Off Relief Rolls

Working hour after hour in total darkness, a blind Mexican youth of Colorado is patiently trying to become the breadwinner of his family—thereby reversing the usual order of things in which those who cannot see are dependent on those who can. The youth is Antonio Lomeli, who has been blind for two and a half of his twenty-two years. Before he lost his sight, he attended Colorado High school for a time. Last year Antonio was brought to the attention of the Lions club and the Chamber of Commerce and these two bodies, working together, arranged for him to take two six-week courses at the State School for the Blind in Austin. It was there that he learned to make brooms, mops, and tufted bathmats. These are the things he is offering for sale and they are the means by which he hopes to someday remove himself and his mother and his brother from relief rolls. While at the school Antonio also learned to use the typewriter and can write both English and Spanish. When going about Colorado streets he wears colored glasses and is always guided by his mother or some other relative.

THE RED & WHITE STORES

Men For Whom This County Was Named Probably Never Saw It, Facts Show

The two men for whom Mitchell county was named probably never saw the section of country which bears their name, historical facts show.

Interest in the lives of these two men, Asa and Eli Mitchell, has been quickened since news was received that one of the Centennial markers to be placed in this county will be to their memory.

H. B. Barrier, principal of Rogers school, has submitted some facts about the two men, taken from Z. T. Fulmore's "History and Geography of Texas as Told in County Names."

"Mitchell county was created on August 21, 1876, and organized January 10, 1881. It was named for Asa and Eli Mitchell, brothers who came to Texas in 1822.

"Asa was born in Pennsylvania, in 1786, was reared and educated there, and was married in 1816. From Pennsylvania he moved to Kentucky in 1820. While visiting in New Orleans he met Stephen F. Austin and came to Texas and settled in the year 1822 as one of Austin's original 300 colonists.

"His wife died in 1834. In 1835 he was a member of the Consultation and later a member of the constitutional convention of 1836. He was a signer of the Declaration of Independence.

"After adjournment of the convention on March 17 he joined General Houston's army and participated in the Battle of San Jacinto. He first resided at Velasco, then removed to Bejar, where he lived up until his death in 1865.

"Eli Mitchell moved to Gonzales and died there some time in the seventies."

In a sketch of West Texas history which he wrote last summer Judge R. C. Crane of Sweetwater, president of the West Texas Historical association, told how Mitchell county and 53 others were carved out of a "last remaining slice of Bejar territory" in the summer of 1876 by the Texas legislature. Many of the counties were named, he writes, to honor notable men in the early history of Texas. This accounts for Mitchell county's being named for men who probably never saw it.

Kathleen Phillips was absent Tuesday. We hope that there is nothing seriously wrong with her.

Carole and Ray Knight have gone to Sterling. They will return after the holidays when the Knight family goes up there.

The play is over. Three sophomores who were characters are as follows: Kathleen Phillips, Carlos Knight, and Catharine McKenney. Maybe our grades will improve now that we can study both day and night. The question which remains is, "Will we do it?" We hope that the public thinks that our parts were nearly as good as the others.

P. T. A. PLAY

The Iatan P. T. A. will stage "Silas Smidge From Turnip Ridge" in Iatan High school Wednesday night, Dec. 4, at 8 o'clock. This play is a rural comedy-drama in 3 act, by Jay Tobias.

Silas Smidge, once a poor boy, returns after thirty years to give the home town a surprise and a treat. His entry is a sensation, for he comes by airplane and drops in via parachute; but miscalculates slightly, landing on the cowshed of Deacon McPheeters, the stingiest man in town, with disaster to the flimsy structure and the skinny bovine occupant. Silas is not one of those country boys who has gone to the city and made good. He is rural to the core. An orphan waif, contributes paths. The country grocery boy and a stage-struck hired girl contribute riotous comedy. An appealing spinster who is in love with Silas is another good part. Leola Pixley, the postmistress, reads all the mail and tells the news before the people know it themselves. All the parts are good—a hero, heroine, villain, ingenue, and soubrette. The play is a sure hit.

Directors of the play are Mesdames A. T. Barker and Dewey Phillips. Admission 25c and 10c.

MANY TEXAS WRITERS IN RECENT HEADLINES

Names of Texas writers have been occupying the literary headlines for the past few weeks. On last Thursday in New York City, Dr. Dorothy Scarborough, novelist, critic, and associate professor of English at Columbia University, died at her Morningside Drive home. Miss Scarborough was born at Mount Carmel, Texas, the daughter of Judge John B. Scarborough. She attended Baylor University, where she received both the bachelor's and master's degrees. Subsequently she studied at the University of Chicago, Oxford University, and Columbia, receiving the degree of Doctor of Philosophy in 1917 from the last-named institution. From 1904 to 1914 she was an instructor of English at Baylor and in 1916 became assistant professor. Later attending Columbia University she became an instructor, was promoted to lecturer, then assistant professor, and associate professor. In 1923 she founded the Writers Club, whose aim was to bring well-known English and American novelists and playwrights to Columbia to address the several hundred students interested in writing. The club still exists, and Miss Scarborough has been successful in getting such writers as Robert Frost, James Stephens, Clemence Dane, Elmer Rice, Robert Sherwood, L. A. R. Wylie, and Fannie Hurst to give lectures gratis to interested members.

The courses Miss Scarborough taught at Columbia University were those in novel and short-story writing. To those who questioned her belief in the ability to "teach writing," Miss Scarborough often replied: "Of course you can't achieve genius by swallowing a dose of medicine, but if a person has talent he can be trained and saved from mistakes that he would otherwise have to find out for himself. I wonder why writers are expected to burst full-fledged into literary composition without any apprenticeship. In their professions study is considered a necessity. But writers are expected to require nothing but a typewriter and paper."

Most of Miss Scarborough's novels concern Texas or the South. Some of them were "From a Southern Porch," "In the Land of Cotton," "The Unfair Sex," "The Wind," "Impatient Griselda," "Can't Get a Red-Bird" and "The Stretch-Berry Smile." Besides novels, she has written a volume of essays, a book of verse, and more recently book reviews and magazine articles.

The book which received probably the most comment was "The Wind," a story of the country north of Sweetwater in the early days, telling of the hardships and privations of a young girl from Virginia who married and began life in a dug-out on the windswept prairies. Incessant windstorms and sandstorms finally drove her insane. On the publication of the book, some West Texans thought it a true picture of pioneer days in this country. A greater number, however, were rabid in defense of their land and stated that Miss Scarborough had grossly maligned West Texas, that there were no sandstorms, only zephyrs. Miss Scarborough tells the story that she was invited by a Sweetwater group to a dinner there, at which she knew she would have to defend her book. She did appear in Sweetwater, arriving there simultaneously with one of the worst windstorms of the year. "The Wind" was filmed as one of the first pictures with sound, although not a talkie. Even with Dorothy Gish in the leading role, it was unsuccessful. Miss Scarborough's "Can't Get a Red-Bird" is one of the few books dealing with life in Texas among tenant farmers.

Intensely interested in native American folksongs, Miss Scarborough traveled through the South with a phonograph in 1928 and collected scores of Negro ballads, which she published in a collection entitled, "On the trail of Negro Folksongs." She was president of the Texas Folklore Association.

Dr. J. Frank Dobie of Austin, professor of English at the University of Texas and author of the successful "Coronado's Children," in his newest book, "Tongues of the Monte," writes of Mexicans he has known all his life, only those located a little to the south, for this story is of Mexicans in Mexico. A critic of it has written: "Not for a long time has so unusual a book come out of Mexico; a book so true to itself. Here is no sentimental yearning over the picturesque Indian, nor idealist envisaging a socially just Mexican in a modern state. It is a good book, entertaining, often amusing, always readable, and very informative as to the region and type of Mexican that Mr. Dobie has chosen. Nearly all the tales deal with outdoor men, cattle, and horsemen. Compared with other parts of Mexico, it is striking to note how little religious legend is here, how little having to do with farming, with household lore, with the ricks and their amours. Here are the folk tales of Chihuahua competently told; a vast variety of them. It is a man's book, written by a man, and a book that boys of all ages will love."

The new book by Stanley Walker, "Mrs. Astor's Horse," seems destined to be a best seller as were his two most recent novel, "Valiant Is the Word for Carrie". It is the story of a morally bad woman of Louisiana, who is regenerated through the influence of a young boy. The two befriended an orphan and in New York, by their goodwill, succeeded in the cleaning business.

Edwin Lanham, son of Fritz Lanham, of Ft. Worth, has met with success through his first novel, "The Wind Blew West", a story of Weatherford, although in this story of the eighties Weatherford is disguised by the title Rutherford. Although fiction, the book is based on actual people and incidents of that period and vicinity.

Another writer, this time nearer home, is Ada E. Lingo of Big Spring, author of a new novel, "Murder in Texas", published by Houghton Mifflin. It is described as a big time murder in a small town in Texas, said to be entirely fiction. Miss Lingo was educated in the Big Spring high school, and intends later, after finishing another novel, to enter medical school.

BAPTIST NOTES

We are proud of the work our Sunday school superintendent, Mr. George, is doing. Let's be regular and faithful in our attendance and help him in every way possible to enlist those who are not attending some good Sunday school already.

Mr. Ed Gibbs of Dallas was with us Sunday morning soliciting subscriptions for our denominational paper, "The Baptist Standard."

Just before the preaching service we were favored with a special musical number titled, "Thankful Hearts," by Iris and Francis Riden with Lula May Roberts at the piano after which Miss Ruth Ann Hall gave a Thanksgiving reading and Rev. Hardin brought a brief but impressive message enumerating the many things for which we should be thankful. He urged every Christian to either come together in groups or to steal away to some private place and really thank God for the many blessings he has bestowed upon us during our lives.

We certainly should stop occasionally and count our blessings, realizing that every good and perfect gift comes from the Father above, then with thankful hearts let us ask our creator to make us more worthy of his many blessings.

Colorado Ready (Continued From Page One) o'clock. Never has an event of such magnificence, of such great proportions, been presented in Colorado in connection with observance of the Christmas holidays. It is probable that such an enlarged program may never be presented here again. Colorado is ready. Special yule lighting system has been strung over the streets and in other respects a glimpse of the business section tells the stranger that something of importance is about to happen in this town. Show windows are full of Christmas gifts and merchants are talking of their plans for the special unveiling to be given on Monday night. Every part of the county is to have some part in this the greatest pre-Christmas celebration Colorado has ever known. School children will be here enmass from dozens of communities, many of them participating in the procession, marching with school colors, pep songs and yells. Decorated floats will depict the story of Christmas in many ways. Mother Goose and nursery rhyme characters will cavort in real life. There will be marvelous costumes and uniforms, and gorgeous trappings of many kinds. The best part about the entire attraction is in the fact it will be free. It is the wish of Santa Claus, the chamber of commerce and cooperating merchants sponsoring his visit, that every boy and girl, man and woman within a radius of fifty miles be present to witness the parade. It will be Colorado's parade and is going to be something of which to be proud.

True Friends Will Ever Continue Out Here, Croslin Says

'Give Me West Texas' Hand-Clasp And Smile,' Lloyd Croslin Says In Address

Lloyd Croslin, secretary to Congressman George Mahon, stated during a brief address at the Lions club Friday that he was impressed more deeply than ever that out here in West Texas were to be found the greatest people on earth.

"It has been a privilege for me to have been associated with Mr. Mahon," he stated. "In Washington I have met some of the so-called great and found the national capital a most interesting city, but it is here in West Texas where one comes in contact with the best people on earth, those who greet you with a sincere hand clasp and whose smile you know is real," he said.

Croslin expressed his appreciation for the reception given him by members of the Lions club and teachers and pupils in the schools. "They say I am from Washington City," he said, "but give me Colorado and West Texas above all things else. It is out here that I long to be."

LOOKS LIKE NO REST IN SIGHT FOR FETE LEADER

Jim Green, chamber of commerce secretary, will admit that there is little promise of his having time out for diversion other than big rush of office routine. Along with directing plans for the Santa Claus parade Tuesday afternoon he is giving attention to the Red Cross roll call, Will Rogers memorial drive and routine affairs at the chamber office.

Prevent Colds By Proper Ventilation Suggestion Offered

Gas Company Conducting An Educational Drive After Considerable Study Given

A caution against huddling in one room with windows closed during the winter has been issued by the gas company, which is continuing its series of educational messages on prevention of colds by proper heating and ventilation.

The company started the winter heating season with a program of information designed to assist customers to make their homes more comfortable and more healthful. According to investigations by the company, many colds and other respiratory diseases prevalent in this section in the winter time are due to improper house heating. After exhaustive study and advice from the medical profession, the gas company advises its customers that an even temperature throughout all rooms of the house with a certain amount of moving fresh air is one of the best preventatives of colds to be found.

Interesting Chapter In Cattle Industry Of Texas Preserved In Snyder Article

A colorful chapter dealing with the cattle industry in West Texas during early days is preserved in the following article, written by Captain D. H. Snyder of Georgetown, a few years before his death. The pioneer cattleman was the father of D. H. Snyder of Colorado.

My brother, J. W. Snyder, and myself made our first drive to the northwest in 1868. We bought our cattle in Llano and Mason counties, receiving them on the Llano river above Mason. A price of $1.50 was paid for yearlings, $2.50 for two-year-olds, $4 for cows and three-year-olds and $7 for beef steers. All of the cattle were bought on credit, we giving our notes payable in gold coin.

The country above Mason at that time abounded in wild horses and they were fat in the Spring on dead cattle that had been killed for their hides. Thousands of these hides were sold in Mason and Fredericksburg.

We drove from the Llano where the cattle were received to the Kickapoo and Lipan springs and then on to head of the main Concho river. Here we laid up two days doing cooking and parching coffee to do us on the drive across the Plains. It was ninety miles to Horse Head crossing on the Pecos river. This drive we made without water by moving day and night. It required seventy hours to make the distance.

John Chism was the first man to cross this Plains route, making the trip in 1868. His herd was all captured by the Indians excepting about 70 head of cripples and trailers. Attack by the Indians was staged where Roswell now stands.

Chism, John Histon of Palo Pinto county, Rube Gray and his brother-in-law, White, from San Saba county, John and Tom Owens of Williamson county, Martin Cosner of Llano county and our herd were the only ones to cross this route in 1868. There were no settlements of any kind between head of the main Concho to the Apache Indian reservation east of Las Vegas, New Mexico.

At Fort Union we sold our beeves at $35. We met Chas. Goodnight and old man Curtis between Fort Union, New Mexico, and Trinidad, Colorado, and sold them our yearlings at $7 and balance of the herd at the same rate without tallying.

We then went on to Trinidad and Pueblo and down the Arkansas river to Bent's old fort where the overland stage from Santa Fe to Leavenworth crossed the river.

We took the stage to Fort Wallace, the then terminus of the Kansas-Pacific railway and thence by rail to New Orleans by way of Kansas City and St. Louis. We came by steamer from New Orleans to Galveston and thence home at Round Rock overland. We sold the currency received from cattle sales to an Austin bank for seventy cents on the dollar in gold.

In 1866 we drove a beef herd from Llano to Abilene, Kansas. The Indians came up on us in the Territory and drove off 140 beeves for which the government paid us after a long fight. We sold our cattle in Abilene.

In 1870 we drove 5,000 head of cattle north to Schuyler, Nebraska, seventy six miles west of Omaha. This was the first herd to be driven across the Kansas-Pacific railway and on to the Union Pacific in Nebraska.

In 1871 we drove the first cattle to Cheyenne, Wyoming, and continued to make Cheyenne our headquarters until 1885, time of our last drive.

In 1872 we sold a herd to Jno. Tiernan, Ingram & Co., of Salt Lake City and delivered them on Goose Creek in Nevada. The following year we ranched a part of our drive on the Sobel near Ft. Loring, Wyoming. 4,000 additional head were driven into Idaho to be ranched near old Fort Hall on the Snake river.

In 1877 I contracted with J. W. Cliff, Denver, Colorado, 17,500 two-and three-year old steers which we delivered in June of the following year at Julesburg.

In the interview Mr. Snyder outlined three distinct rules that cowboys working for him and his brother must ever abide by. The rules follow:

First, you cannot drink whiskey and work for us.

Second, you cannot play cards and gamble and work for us.

Third, you cannot curse and swear in our camps or in our presence and work for us. The rules were kept inviolate as long as the brothers were in the cattle business.

At time of giving the interview, Mr. Snyder outlined that he was past eighty years of age and had been blind for over eight years.

NEGRO YOUTH KILLED BY EARLY PASSENGER MONDAY MORNING

Apparently having fallen asleep with his head on the rail, Tommy Jones, 22-year-old negro youth, was instantly killed when run over by the 6 o'clock west-bound passenger Monday morning in east Colorado.

Jones' body was found about an hour later by an east Colorado resident who was walking the railroad track into town. Theories of possible foul play were abandoned by officers after an investigation.

Jones was the son of Gardner Jones, well-known Colorado negro.

Knee Action To Be Retained In Year's Chevrolet Models

Master Cars To Be Equipped With Proven Feature. Sales Official Says In Letter

Motorists will welcome the news contained in Chevrolet's 1936 announcement, that fully-enclosed knee action is being continued as a feature of the new Master deluxe models, according to W. E. Holler, vice president and general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Company, who declares that knee action has registered with the motor-car buying public as one of the most important refinements ever incorporated in motor cars.

"After thorough demonstration of its abilities, in hundreds of millions of miles of use on every kind of road, and in every climate, Chevrolet knee action is now entering upon its third year," said Mr. Holler. "Refinements have been made in the unit, but its design and the purpose behind it remain basically the same as when it was introduced, while the riding comfort and driving ease which it ushered in have been carried to new heights.

"Now that knee action and the resultant fine riding and steering qualities have become acknowledged essentials, there will be an increasing wave of orders from those who have heretofore been hesitant! Their friends have reported favorably and even enthusiastically; but the thought that the feature might not be retained in the 1936 product has doubtless held back thousands who would otherwise have bought long before this. With that final question dispelled, and knee action established as an unqualified success, they will cast aside their hesitancy and gratify that desire to own and drive the most comfortable car we have ever created."

Mr. Holler also pointed out that knee action had undergone hundreds of thousands of miles of development work and testing, both at the General Motors proving ground and on the road, before its introduction; and the thoroughness of this preliminary work, so characteristic of Chevrolet engineering operations, was reflected in the public's instant acceptance of knee action as a major improvement, and in the long trouble-free service which it has given in the hands of owners. Official figures for the year to date show that 92 per cent of all Master deluxe models sold were equipped with knee action, offered as optional equipment.

Oil Campaign Was Success, Safeway Official Declares

Popular Demand Throughout The Country Boosted Sale Of Cottonseed Products

The Cottonseed Oil Producer-Consumer Campaign, recently conducted by the entire Safeway Stores organization, was one of the most successful efforts of its kind ever conducted. M. V. Witbeck, District Manager announced.

Increased consumption ranged upward to 489 per cent for shortening and 335 per cent in oils for the various districts in the Safeway system.

Thirty-nine districts with 2,339 stores furnished reports on the campaign. The campaign was effective for five days but the major part of the business was concentrated into the last two days following the week-end advertising.

During the campaign Safeway sold 453,017 pounds of domestic shortening and 57,365 quarts of oil. The tonnage was accompanied with an average percentage of sales increase of 56 in shortenings and 47 in oils. The volume equals twenty-four car loads of domestic oils and shortening products moved in practically two days.

Leadership in district increases directly attributed to the campaign on oils was taken by Eureka with 335 per cent. The other nine leading districts were Omaha, 198 per cent; Tacoma, 163 per cent; Little Rock, 132 per cent; Tucson, 120 per cent; Hutchinson, 114 per cent; El Paso, 110 per cent; Flagstaff, 101 per cent; Dallas, 98 per cent; and Abilene, 88 per cent.

The lead in shortening increased sales was taken by the Riverside district with 489 per cent. Other leaders were Wenatchie, 284 per cent; Eureka, 224 per cent; Kansas City, 214 per cent; Tacoma, 179 per cent; Tucson, 169 per cent; El Paso, 127 per cent; Abilene, 126 per cent; Bakersfield, 117 per cent; and Boise, 102 per cent.

The campaign was launched in Dallas at a banquet for industrial and financial leaders, newspaper men, state officials, and officials of producer organizations. President F. O. Burns presided at the banquet and Riles W. Doe, vice president of Safeway, explained the purpose and organization back of the campaign. Among the speakers were Hon. J. E. McDonald, Commissioner of Agriculture for Texas; A. L. Ward, Executive Vice President of the Texas Cottonseed Crushers' Association; representatives of cotton growers, bankers, agricultural writers, and officials of cotton oil mills.

"The splendid co-operation of all parties, added to the steadily growing recognition of the value of cotton oil products as a part of the daily menu made possible this unusual showing during the campaign," Mr. Burns said. "The nation's housewives recognized that it was an effort in behalf of the consumer and the producer and literally swamped us with calls for products of the cotton seed."

Offer Thanks For Health, Suggestion By Texas Official

Citizens Should Give Thought To Their Physical Being, Is Bid of Prominent Physician

The citizenship of Mitchell county should give sincere thought of their physical being and along with offering thanks to their Maker on this National Thanksgiving day for other good things of life, express due appreciation for the health enjoyed, Dr. John W. Brown of Austin, State health officer, suggests in communication received by this newspaper Monday.

"The first Thanksgiving Day was proclaimed for the purpose of giving thanks for the colonists' health that had allowed them to survive their first rigorous year in America," Dr. Brown stated. "Is it not fitting that we of today offer similar expressions of gratitude?"

The doctor recalled that during the recent depression the people of Texas retained their health to a remarkable degree. Last year Texas was one of the few States to show a further decline in deaths among infants, he said.

Mrs. O. L. Simpson, bedroom improvement cooperator of the Fairview club, has made two comforts and is making a third. She says that her family finds that one comfort with a throw over the feet is sufficient covering for cold nights. Each Mitchell Citizen Would Owe $66 If County Debt Was Distributed Evenly

Each person in Mitchell county would owe $66.70 if the $46,015 debt of all the taxing districts were distributed evenly, according to a recent survey announced by State Auditor Orville S. Carpenter of Austin, a copy of which was received by this newspaper Saturday.

"Average per capita indebtedness of all local units of government in Texas is $115.10. Mitchell county's debt is far less than this figure. Debts range from $13 average for each person in some counties to $400 or $500 in others," Mr. Carpenter said, concerning a recent report of the State Auditor on "Taxes and Indebtedness of Local Units of Government in Texas for 1934."

"Nearly twenty million dollars worth of property, or an average of $1,397.85 for each person, is listed on the rolls of tax districts in Mitchell county," he stated.

"This $19,825,665 worth of property is assessed at an average of 40 per cent of its true value. Other counties have assessment bases ranging from 20 to 100 per cent of their property value," Mr. Carpenter explained.

"Taxing units considered in Mitchell county were school districts, cities, and the county itself. The largest item in the Mitchell county debt was independent school bonds and warrants $249,865," Mr. Carpenter added.

'Split' Plan Of Settlement Provides Initial Half To Be Paid By December First

Saturday, November 30, is the last day on which citizens may take advantage of the statute providing for split tax payments, it was pointed out Monday by the county tax collector.

"In order to take advantage of the special tax settlement law, giving property owners the privilege of paying one half now and taking an extension of six months on the remainder, the first half payment must be made by December 1," the statement outlined.

By making initial payment under the split tax settlement plan within the time specified, remainder of the account may be carried until June 30.

Reference Volumes And Newest Fiction Added To County Library At City Hall

A reference library which is to be kept up-to-date for ten years and three of the newest best-selling novels are among recent additions to the Mitchell county library at the city hall.

The reference group, known as the Progressive Reference library, includes ten volumes and has a newly patented loose-leaf filing system for use in keeping information up to date. The set was ordered especially for clubwomen of the county to use in their study work. Books must be used in the library and cannot be taken out. A children's division of the reference group is yet to come.

The three new best-sellers are Charles G. Norris' "Hands," Margaret Bell Houston's "Gypsy Weather," and Bess Streeter Aldrich's "Spring Came on Forever." All are the latest books of the three authors represented.

Other new novels added to the library within the past few weeks include

Emile Loring's "We Ride the Gale," Alice Ross Colver's "Three Loves," Helen Topping Miller's "Blue Marigolds," Charles Alden Seltzer's "The Mesa," Mazo de la Roche's "Finch's Fortune," Grace Livingston Hill's "The Patch of Blue," Edison Marshall's "Splendid Quest," William Patterson White's "Adobe Walls," Jackson Gregory's "Island of Allure," E. Provisions of the Texas exemption law, as passed by the regular session of the 44th legislature, are detailed in a recent communication received by Assessor-Collector Roy E. Warren from George H. Sheppard, State comptroller.

This law only applies to persons who have become twenty-one years of age since January 1, 1935, or who will become twenty-one years of age prior to any election during the year 1936, Mr. Sheppard stated.

The law also applies to persons who have moved into the State since January 1, 1935, and who will have resided in the State one year prior to an election at which they may wish to vote.

Warren stated that confusion as to provisions of the law had developed in minds of a considerable number of citizens.

Forecast Of Higher Prices Occasioned Smiles In Mitchell

Cotton growers of the Colorado territory Saturday were to be seen on the street behind liberal smiles as they discussed news item out of Washington the day before forecasting 13 cents for cotton within the near future. The good news was credited to statement by A. Cobb, chief of the AAA cotton section.

"The demand for cotton is strong," Cobb said, "and the European stocks of American cotton have been exhausted. The price has seemed fairly steady recently above 12c."

Cobb indicated that an announcement of the 1936 cotton adjustment program might be made Tuesday or Wednesday.

AAA records showed that on Nov. 1, a total of 4,450,678 bales were held under loans of 12c a pound. Title to this cotton is still held by the farmers, who obtained the loans, and before the cotton may be sold, officials said the price would have to equal the amount of the loan, plus interest and carrying charges.

It was estimated unofficially that before the loan cotton could be marketed, the price would have to be 13.50c a pound.

Cobb said he was very optimistic about the outlet for cotton. Most of the current cotton crop is moving out to market rapidly, he added, and records disclosed that on Nov. 1 only 32,628 bales of 1935 cotton had been placed under the 10c loans being made this year.

The 12c loans made last year are due Feb. 1. Officials said they believe that the Dec. 8 cotton crop estimate would be slightly below the November estimate of 11,141,000 bales. Cobb asserted he believed the movement of the 12c loan cotton would not have any material effect upon the market. An extension of the loan is expected and Cobb said he believed that the farmers would cease sale of the loan cotton automatically to arrest any great price decline.

Those who visited in the C. L. Hudson home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. A. K. McCarley and family; Mr. and Mrs. Poe Burleson, and Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Snyder and son, Charles Lamar.

Prof. B. D. Smith, Jr., of Loraine was a dinner guest of Ernest Griffith Sunday.

Kay McCarley, Jr., was elected by the student body of Longfellow to represent our school in the Santa Claus parade in Colorado Dec. 3. It is hoped that Kay will use his influence (if any) in such manner as to acquaint Old Santa with the many needs and desires of the Longfellows, which would, no doubt, bring us all a bigger and better Christmas.

Ernest Griffith returned to Hermleigh Sunday to resume his duties in the school there, after a four weeks holiday for cotton picking purposes.

Miss Geraldine McCarley of Tech is spending the Thanksgiving holiday with home folks.

Several from our community plan to attend the program by Mrs. W. R. Martin's pupils in expression and voice at the Colorado High school auditorium, Nov. 29. This entertainment features the costumes and ceremonies of the American Indian, with songs, etc., and promises to be good. It is sponsored by the Lions Club, the proceeds to go to the Christmas fund for the poor.

THANK YOU, AMERICA,

for more than a Million cars in 1935

This year Chevrolet has two very good reasons for saying, "Thank you, America."

One reason is that people have bought so many Chevrolet cars that production for the year will reach 1,040,000.

And the other reason is that they have placed a record number of orders for new 1936 Chevrolets during the first few weeks they have been on display.

Chevrolet is indeed happy to say, "Thank you, America," and to pledge continued adherence to the manufacturing and service policies which have won and held the friendship of the nation.

ARMISTICE DAY

There is no thrill like the thrill mixed with grief, anxiety, sorrow and joy. Although there were hearts torn with anxiety and sorrow for loved ones, yet when the storm cloud that had been hovering over them so long had passed, and the bright sunshine of peace broke through the darkness, their joy knew no bounds. If they live a hundred years, they will never forget the 11th day of November 1918.

These boys fought for what their country then, as well as now, thought was right, whatever individuals may think about the virtues of peace at any price, this American government has never, and will never consider any but honorable peace. At that time, the country demanded war rather than dishonorable peace. It went to war and fought to a final and successful conclusion. It was our war and we were right. We were sorry that it had to come, but as a fight, they got it in full measure. We believe that even our bitterest foes will admit that we put up a good fight and then treated them white after it was all over.

There are those who claim that we fought for peace. We did, but surely no one is so dumb as to believe that the peace attained at the war's end was a lasting peace. He is only deluding himself, for war is one of the evil heritages of the human race. There has always been war among the human race and always will be.

The above was written for our American Legion boys on Armistice Day but the negligent printer left it out until now.

CAUSE OF THE ETHIOPIAN WAR

On December 5, 1934, an Anglo-Ethiopian commission, while engaged in establishing the boundary line between Ethiopia and British Somaliland, came across a force of Italian Colonial troops at Ualual, a town located in southeastern Ethiopia in the province of Ogaden. Upon a demand that the Ethiopians withdraw, there took place a rather formidable battle between the Ethiopian troops and the Italian Colonials.

That started the present Italian-Ethiopian war. Ethiopia appealed to the League of Nations when she found that Italy demanded reparations. The League answered by telling Mussolini and Haile Selassie to fight out their own troubles. If possible, no agreement could be reached between the two rulers; and the Italian, basing claims upon a century-old treaty which was supposedly signed upon by the two nations, decided to use the United Nations as an avenue for obtaining much-needed African territory for expansion.

That that was not even the real beginning of the trouble in the Ethiopian government. It actually began more than 100 years ago when Emperor nations awoke to the desirability of African possessions as colonial markets.

Ethiopia has been the paven in European diplomacy since the beginning of colonial expansion. Unconquered since Biblical times, the Ethiopians have maintained an independence in their inland mountainous country which has balked more than one attempt of foreign invaders. And because of this inaccessibility, it has ordinarily been used more or less as a buffer among the nations grabbing for more land in Africa. It is true that Britain, France and Italy carved out slices of the Red Sea and Indian Ocean coastline from the black nation, but Eritrea, and Somaliland were considered relatively unimportant by the negro rulers.

It is of more importance that Menelik II, before the close of the last century, caused considerable trouble among the diplomats when he signed away his land as a protectorate to Italy. But that was only what the Italians said, and proved by the Italian text of the treaty. Menelik, however, demonstrated that the Amharic (or Ethiopian) text differed. Italy tried to conquer the country then, and the attempted subjugation ended with the massacre at Adowa in 1896.

Since that time, Italy has increased in importance as a world power, and feels much more capable of conquest, although it is not called "conquest" by the diplomats.

and that in time it will raise tremendous tides of heated water, hundreds of feet high, and that these, along with terrible earthquakes, will destroy cities and annihilate life on the earth. At the end, the moon will split apart, raining molten rocks to the earth, and the residue would form a ring of satellites revolving about a dead earth, void of any living thing.

It is quite evident that President Roosevelt and the new deal Congress should do something about this. If they cannot, possibly Mussolini, Hitler, and Stalin with Kemal thrown in for good measure, should combine to see whether the moon cannot be induced to keep at a proper distance and not try to cultivate a closer acquaintance with the earth. There ought to be a law; something should be done to maintain peace and order in the solar system. Perhaps Japan could be induced to restore lunar order and establish peace.

Fortunately the problem need not receive immediate consideration. Sir James estimates that the final smash up will occur in 36,000,000 years. That does seem to allow time for our politicians to work out some solution for this threatened danger, but it would be well if some start could be made at once. —Dallas News Editorial.

The News overlooked the fact that the Texas Legislature could easily have solved the problem. Look what they did with the whiskey and old-age pension problems. They could have settled the whole matter in less than three special sessions.

We have in our library a picture of the Texas Press Association taken at Corsicana in 1888 or 1889. Of the 40 or 50 faces in the picture are but 3 who have not beards of some kind. Juan Hart was president and Fred B. Robinson of Waco, secretary. The picture is 45 or 46 years old and is of considerable value. Some time ago we clipped from the Dallas News this on the same subject:

"The picture Mr. Everett found was one of participants in the Texas Press Association convention in Fort Worth June 26 to 28, 1894.

"Col. F. P. Holland was at that time president-elect of the association. A C. Scurlock of Cleburne was president. Fred B. Robinson, still active at Waco, from where he pens frequent letters to the press, was secretary. Dallas County Tax Collector John H. Colton, then putting out a paper in Garland, is also among those present.

"How times have changed is shown in the fact that of the fifty-one men pictured, all but seven are adorned with hair on the face in one fashion or another, sometimes in more than one. Of those without whiskers are J. J. Taylor, now State Press of the News, then putting out a paper at Clarksville; Colonel Holland and Mr. Robinson.

Fifty years ago some one asked the Dallas News what they were doing with all those men on the staff and what do they all do? The News replied:

"Every inhabitant labored in the brainery of The News Yesterday noon. The paragrapher was half-soling some ancient jokes that the weather editor had translated for him out of a German almanac. The religious editor was turning one of Bob Ingersoll's 'Mistakes of Moses' into a Sunday school hymn, while the society editor was busy with the tortures of sewing a button on one of his principal garments. 'Over near the stove the headline heathen and the Railroad Rumber were engaged in a spirited contest spitting at the head of a carpet tack for the cigars, and the commercial editor as referee was watching their marksmanship. The city editor, with drawing utensils scattered over his desk, was sketching a bobtailed alligator, typifying dengue, in the act of absorbing a wide-eyed infant with bowlegs and a dimpled shirt front intended to represent the ghost editor.

A few weeks ago this column said Haile Selassie was not a descendant of Solomon nor did he marry the Queen of Sheba. Now comes a historian and litterateur and says:

"One of the strangest things in this world is why Haile Selassie always says he is descended from Solomon when he might say he descended from David. Bathsheba was his ancestral mother before the Queen of Sheba was, and Bathsheba was every inch a show girl."

Proved in '35— NOW BETTER THAN EVER! FORD V-8 TRUCKS FOR 1936

TRUCK operators bought nearly 100,000 Ford V-8 Trucks and commercial cars the first 6 months of 1935—58% more than in the same period last year. These operators found the 80 h. p. Ford V-8 engine ideal for modern trucking. It has exceptional power, flexibility, stamina—and their records prove that the V-8 is the most economical Ford Truck ever built. And they prove far more—the Ford's ability to stay on the job, out of the repair shop—its rock-bottom upkeep costs—the tremendous strength of Ford's heavy-duty chassis and frame.

You get these proved qualities in the 1936 Ford V-8 Truck—plus new improvements for even greater efficiency and dependability. Read the features at the right. Think what value they mean at Ford's low prices. Make Your Own "On-the-Job" Test Ask your Ford Dealer to loan you a 1936 Ford Truck. Let your driver and load prove Ford V-8 value to you with the proven truck Ford ever built. There's no obligation.

Rambling Down The Hill
Well, here it is again just before Thanksgiving. The students of Westbrook are already planning for celebration of the occasion. They have been given Thursday and Friday off. As for me, I can already taste the good old turkey dinner.

Seems as though last week-end was a very busy one. The box supper was well attended. Noticed that some of the buyers of the different boxes got sort of mixed up. Oh, well that goes with a box supper I suppose. Some of the ex-seniors have been coming back to visit and causing some of the senior girls to get nervous sudden-like.

The show attracted several of the people from here Saturday night. In fact, ye old snooper saw several in person. Saw one of the teachers there too.

Six weeks exams have seemed to roll around again. There certainly seems to be a rebellion against "pop quizzes," Mr. Luaderdale, what have you started.

The demerit list seems to have a magnetism that draws the names of the athletes, boys and girls. Here, here, this will never do. But the list must have done something to Rennis. Notice she doesn't chew gum so hard nor so much now.

Lucille Oliver was a visitor in school Monday. You know, she used to be a student in dear old W. H. S. I see Sue has quit chewing gum and gone to chewing toothpicks.

Westbrook Girls Down Colorado
The Westbrook senior girls again defeated the Colorado girls Wednesday night. They won this game by a score of 23-21. This was a well played game.

Here are the scores of the games Wednesday night. Senior boys A team was defeated 37 to 9. The B team was defeated 23 to 3. The Senior girls B team was defeated 11 to 9. The Westbrook Senior boys won from Iatan by a score of 17-11 Thursday afternoon. The Junior girls won from Conaway 22-21 last Tuesday afternoon.

The basketball teams gave a box supper Friday night to help pay for the new suits they are getting. We made about $35. We want to thank everyone who helped us in this entertainment-in any way.

Junior News
The Junior Noisey News reporter is on the sick list this week and has not written his news so this substitute will try and make the forward pass.

We have not yet found out Junior Stribling's Mexican girl friend, nor have we found any trace of Bob Stribling's girl—the one with blonde hair and green eyes.

The Juniors have not decided whether to join the Red Cross or not. Maybe we will have our minds made up by next year when there is another roll call.

Here and There, From All Corners Of the Schoolhouse
The girls' and boy's glee clubs have learned a number of new songs. If you think we can't sing them, "come up and hear us sometime."

If you see any of the basketball girls looking downhearted, don't ask them what's the matter. You should already know—they've postponed the basketball tournament at Divide.

All of the basketball players are looking forward to the new basketball suits. We hope it will help our playing, if that's possible.

through the winter and they now faced the fall with renewed hope.

What Thanksgiving is Now
Today we have just as many things to be thankful for as the Pilgrims had that first day, yet we think of them very little. The things that enter our thoughts first when Thanksgiving day is mentioned are: A big feast (indigestion), a holiday (no school), a few more parties and the biggest football games of the year.

Students Of County Invited To Contest In Centennial Bill

Mrs. Beal, Representative Of Dallas Centennial Office, Speaker At Lions Club

School students of Mitchell county Friday were extended invitation to have part in the general program next year in commemoration of Texas centennial, by submitting historical essays on outstanding events of the past.

"You have heard much about the Alamo and Goliad, but there are incidents occupying prominent places in the history of this community, I am sure that would be glorious if committed to permanent record," said Mrs. E. H. Beal of Dallas, personal representative of the Dallas office of the Centennial organization, as she addressed the Lions Club.

The visitor was introduced by Mrs. J. G. Merritt, chairman of the Mitchell county chapter of the Centennial commission.

"HUDDLED"
CLOSED DOOR!

Many families "huddle" in one or two rooms, during cold days, around a small open flame heater with windows and connecting doors tightly closed. If you are a "huddler," you are violating one of the most important rules of personal hygiene and good health!

Stagnant air is depressing and fails to produce the stimulating effect of air in motion. Connecting doors left open between adjoining rooms, when the entire house is adequately heated for comfort, provide a natural circulation of pure, warm air from one room to the other. Without adequate circulation air may become as foul and unhealthful as that of the tenement slums, even though the home may be the most beautiful in the neighborhood.

If you heat only one or two rooms at a time... if you "huddle" in these rooms with connecting doors tightly closed, sudden temperature changes are unavoidable. Your family goes from an overheated room where the temperature has climbed past the point necessary for comfort, into a cold hall or unheated adjoining room. Then, shivering and chilled, they return to the heated room. This happens many times a day and each time they have unnecessarily subjected themselves to conditions that make them susceptible to highly communicable winter diseases. America's Public Health Enemy Number One, the common cold germ, finds a fertile field in an inadequately heated and poorly ventilated home.

Don't "huddle" in one or two rooms during the short winter season... Guard the health of your loved ones with adequate heat and proper circulation of pure, warm air in every room in the house.

Time in each Thursday night at 6:30, WFAA-WBAP, for vital facts to help you guard your family against the common cold germ.
