

ONE OF COUNTY'S UNUSUAL POLITICAL SHOWS WILL BE GIVEN CURTAINS SATURDAY

Candidates Have Aroused But Passive Interest In Races, Due To Fact Few Of Them Are Facing Opposition

One of Mitchell County's most unusual Democratic primary elections is to be brought to a close at the ballot box Saturday. The 1936 political arena has been unique in that but little interest has been developed, due, so folk supposed to be versed in those matters say, to fact there is little competition in scramble for State, district, county and precinct office.

As voters of the county go to the polls Saturday to mark their ballots they will give curtains to an election year, that up to this date, failed to produce one political rally—those of the old school where the people all gathered at the community center and the candidates mounted the platform to extoll their merits in regulation soap box orator fashion.

Competition for the several offices is less significant this season than in several years. As a rule the candidate is pushing his claims for favor at the polls without the worries of attack from another. Even the candidates having opposition have not gone afield looking for speech making engagements this Summer as in other years. One of the candidates recently explained that farmers were too busy to be molested from their field work by a flock of candidates converging in his community and demanding that their oratory be given an ear.

Unopposed for the Democratic nomination that will mean election in the Fall may be listed District Judge A. S. Mauney, State Representative Howard Davison, District Clerk A. L. Ballard, Tax Assessor-Collector Roy E. Warren, County Clerk J. M. Herrington, County Treasurer Mayme Taylor, B. N. Carter for county attorney, J. E. Skelton, county commissioner at Westbrook, and A. D. Leach, for justice of the peace.

District Attorney George W. Outlaw is being opposed by Zollie C. Steakley. Both of the candidates for district attorney are citizens of Sweetwater. County Judge B. L. Templeton and A. F. King, a former county judge, are contesting nomination for that office. Sheriff R. E. Gregory is being opposed by J. N. Narrell.

There are four candidates contending for nomination as county commissioner at Colorado. They are Porter Hammans, Zeb Wood, Jack Smith and J. M. Thompson. W. B. Myers of Spade is contending with County Commissioner J. S. Boyd for that office in precinct 3 and at Loraine the present incumbent, Frank Crowover, J. A. Black and J. A. Brown are candidates.

LOOK OUT FOR RATTLERS. THIS LITTLE GIRL SAYS

Children of Colorado and vicinity are warned to be on the lookout for rattlesnakes, according to little Miss Jackie Thorp of North Colorado, who the other day came upon a large rattler on Hickory street near her home. COLORADO ONE OF STATE'S HOT SPOTS DURING SUNDAY AS MERCURY REACHES 114

Intense Heat Prevails Through Following Day, Causing Ill Effects To Man, Beast and Crops Of Territory

Colorado was one of the hottest spots in the entire country Sunday afternoon after sweltering sun rays beat down with such intensity as to send temperature up to 114 degrees at 2 o'clock in the afternoon. It was one of the hottest days recorded in history of the city.

The torrid heat continued through the afternoon and night. At 6 o'clock a reading of 110 degrees was registered. Monday the oppressive heat continued, growing more intense as the day advanced until 3:30 in the afternoon when 111 degrees was recorded. A gradual decline in temperature prevailed through later hours of the afternoon and night.

Thalia, small community near Vernon, was the hottest spot in the United States Sunday afternoon, according to newspaper reports received here. The temperature there advanced to register 116 degrees. Jack Bennie, 36, was overcome and died from effects of the heat as he sought relief in a pool of water. Numerous prostrations in various parts of the State were reported.

The heat wave exacted damaging effect on man, livestock and crops. Sunday and Monday afternoons feed crops in vicinity of Colorado were wilted under the torrid sun. These crops over much of Texas were damaged and in certain localities material losses are to result.

Sweetwater reported temperature of 110 Sunday afternoon while at Abilene a reading of 108 degrees was registered. It was 112 1/2 at Seymour, 114 at Sanger and Wichita Falls, 108 at Lubbock and Sherman. Readings from 100 to 108 degrees were reported over much of the State.

Added to the heat that scorched crops and ranges in West Texas Monday was a twister that hit the Big Lake Oil Company property near Texon. A hard rain fell there Monday night, putting electrical service out, and forcing all wells to be shut down.

Showers were reported in vicinity of Big Spring and other points in this section of the State.

Election Of Local Representative On Saturday Is Seen

Mahon To Hold Strong Lead Over Lubbock Candidate, Information Received Here

That Congressman George Mahon of Colorado will sweep the 19th district in Saturday's democratic primary election for nomination to a second term in congress is conceded in reports received here during the past few days from practically all parts of the district.

Political observers in all parts of the large district served by Mr. Mahon are pointing to his record in congress during the past term as a second term in congress is conceded in reports received here during the past few days from practically all parts of the district.

The Colorado man was appointed member of the National Democratic Speakers committee a few months ago and shortly thereafter delivered addresses at important State gatherings in some of the Atlantic Coast and Middle Western States. Such recognition is seldom given a member of congress during his first term, admirers of Mr. Mahon have recalled.

Joe Earnest accompanied the group to Sweetwater for the event.

SCATTERED RAINS TEMPER SEARING HEAT AND OFFER BRIGHTER CROP PROSPECT

Precipitation Ranging From Light Showers To 2 Inches Blanket County; Feed Will Especially Be Benefitted

Scattered rains that blanketed much of the Colorado territory during Tuesday night, brought relief to one of the most severe heat waves the section has ever known and brightened prospects for a good production of field crops this Fall.

The precipitation at Colorado was one-half inch. At Buford one and one-fourth inches fell and in the Spade section two inches of moisture were gauged. The rain extended over practically all parts of the county, rural citizens seen here Wednesday reported.

Cotton had not begun to suffer under influences of the intense heat and dwindling moisture supply in the ground, but feed crops were being deteriorated by the searing sun rays. The range, that before the rain held a discouraging picture for the rattleman has been revived by the needed moisture.

Crops are doing well in all sections of the area. Cotton in several localities will be opening within the next few days and this crop is expected to begin moving onto the market during the next month. Harvest of early feed crops will be the order of the day before close of July, in several communities.

RADIO SCRIPT BY JOE EARNEST USED BY PAUL WHITEMAN SUNDAY NIGHT

A radio script written by Joe Earnest especially for Paul Whiteman was used by Mr. Whiteman on his broadcast last Sunday night, the program originating from Fort Worth but being broadcast on a nation-wide hook-up for Woodbury's shop.

The continuity, which Earnest wrote was that used by Whiteman and his hill-billy hoyden, Miss Judy Canova, formerly a star of the Zigfield Follies. Two years ago a sketch which Earnest wrote was accepted by a musical show playing in New York and starring this same girl, Miss Canova.

While Whiteman is playing for "Jumbo" at the Frontier Centennial at Fort Worth his Sunday evening broadcast is sent by wire from the Ringside night club in Fort Worth direct to New York, where it is broadcast through the facilities of the National Broadcasting company.

Water Carnival Is Planned For Centennial Fete

Mayor Sadler Cooperates In Move To Stage Attraction Here Next Month

The chamber of commerce announced Wednesday afternoon that a water carnival, as one of the feature attractions during the Mitchell County Cavalcade of Progress, August 20 to 22, was being planned. Mayor J. A. Sadler was quoted as having stated that use of the municipal swimming pool could be available for such an attraction.

Merchants are being requested to sponsor a young lady to compete for the honor of "Miss Colorado." Elimination prevue is set for August 21 and winner for first place will be crowned queen of the Cavalcade amid all the pomp and splendor that usually attends such regal functions.

Miss Colorado, in addition to a complimentary trip to the Centennial exposition, Greene stated. Judges are to be non-residents of Colorado. On the evening of August 22 there will be contest for sponsors from neighboring towns and cities. The young lady winning first in this division, too, is to receive a trip to the Centennial. Mayor Sadler has announced that fifty medals are to be given participants in the various water events.

'CAVALCADE OF PROGRESS' TITLE GIVEN SPECTACLE IN HONOR MITCHELL PIONEERS

Centennial Home Coming To Open August 20 For Three Days Being Shaped, State Sponsors of Program

"Mitchell County Cavalcade of Progress" is title under which this county's Centennial celebration is to be staged August 20, 21 and 22. Title for the spectacle was furnished the sponsor anonymously.

Plans for staging the colorful pageant are rapidly shaping into concrete form and rehearsals are to be started within the near future. Mrs. W. R. Martin of Loraine, director of the historic play, was here Wednesday conferring with the chamber of commerce secretary and various committee chairmen relative to details for staging the cavalcade.

A mammoth parade in which every mode of transportation known to the county during the past half century and participated in by civic clubs, cowboys, merchants, Boy Scouts, bands and other organizations, is to formally open the celebration. A number of decorated floats and cars are to be in the line of march.

The pioneer and his family, who, with his personal movable property, including livestock, came to Mitchell county to establish the first home, will make camp on the banks of Lone Wolf Creek in Ruddick park, just as the sun begins to hide behind a western horizon. The Indian attack, the cattle stampede, rescue by the rangers and other features are to follow.

There are to be other features during the three days, including old fiddler's contests, the square dance in which heels of the cowhand are to again stomp through late hours of the night in years of the long ago. A street dance for the more moderns will also be staged during one of the evenings.

The attraction is expected to bring a large number of former residents of the county here for the three days, according to the chamber of commerce. A barbecue at which these folk would be guests is being considered by the directing committee.

Roy E. Warren, directing organization of the band of Indians that are to have important part in the spectacle, stated Tuesday morning that several of his redskins had already been enlisted. Others, sending the number up to some twenty, are to be pressed into service within the next few days, when rehearsals for the raid are to begin.

"Big Jim" Cantrill has been honored by the designation as chief and it will be under his personal leadership and rousing yells that the Indians will attack the pioneer wagon train. Others listed by Warren are Polite McGee, Cotton McGee, Buck Black, C. D. Cain, John Latty, Howard Rogers, Jessie Jones and Bob May.

And Now They Announce A Wedding As Attraction At Cavalcade Of Progress

And now they say that there will be a wedding as one of the feature attractions on bill of the Mitchell County Cavalcade of Progress next month. The nuptials are to be solemnized before visitors at the Centennial attraction. The only requisite needed is a bride and groom, according to Jim Greene of the chamber of commerce. Any Mitchell county swain who may be successful in persuading one of the fairer sex to become his bride should register at the chamber of commerce. Of course the identity of he and the girl will be kept secret until they march to take up their places for the rites. The wedding will prove beneficial to the couple making it possible in a material as well as blissful state, Greene pointed out. They are to be given a shower, with members of the audience furnishing the wedding gifts. Now is the time to get married! Greene agreed late Wednesday to use his cooperation, even to extent of assisting the prospective groom in "popping the question."

Breakfast, Kitchen Shower Open Series Of Affairs For Former Susie B. Snyder

The series of social affairs complimenting Mrs. Arland (Pete) Smith, the former Susie B. Snyder, was launched with a breakfast and kitchen shower given by Miss Gladys Louise Jones and Mrs. John Shropshire Wednesday morning at 8 o'clock at the Jones home.

Carrying out a color scheme of white and gold, shasta daisies in slender crystal vases decorated the living room where the guests assembled and were entertained with dances by little Mary Ellen Jones and piano numbers by Miss Reta Mae Arnold before breakfast was served.

A long mound of yellow marigolds centered the breakfast table, which was lighted by tall yellow tapers in crystal holders at either end of the mound of form. Places were marked by teapot-shaped cards covered with tapestry and tied to small knives, forks, or spoons.

Cantaloupe halves, waffles, bacon, jelly, and coffee were served. While at the breakfast table each guest wrote and read a recipe for the honoree's recipe box. Mary Ellen Jones then came and led her to an adjoining room for the shower.

The gifts were cleverly concealed under the skirts of a life-size negro mammy, who was immediately named "Aunt Jemima." Guests had planned their gifts together so that the honoree received no duplications in the wide variety of kitchen utensils, all of which were green.

Guests included Misses Julia Mae Root, Reta Mae Arnold, Grace Callan, Frances Elaine Price, Mable Majors, Jane Axtell, Helen Snyder, Mary Frances Majors, and Cleo Sheppard; Mrs. Willis Jones, Mrs. Carey Edwards of Iatan, and the honoree.

The hostesses were assisted by Mrs. Ed Jones, Jr.

From the centerpiece lengths of narrow white satin ribbon, looped at intervals around sprigs of orange blossom, extended to the table edge and downward. A few small cellophane-wrapped packages, ornamented and tied in silver, were placed around the centerpiece.

Crape myrtle, zinnias, roses, other yard flowers, all in predominating shades of pink, were arranged in baskets and bowls around the room. Tall floor baskets on either side of the piano held crape myrtle and fern.

Arriving guests were greeted at the door by Misses Frances Elaine Price and Julia Mae Root. They were introduced to a receiving line which included Mrs. Wallace; Mrs. Smith, the honoree; Mrs. D. H. Snyder, Sr., mother of the honoree; Mrs. John T. Smith, the honoree's mother-in-law; Miss Laundry Smith of Olmeca, sister of the honoree's husband; and Mrs. Dudley Snyder, sister-in-law of the honoree.

For the occasion the honoree chose a gown of cerule lace over white satin made with a high neckline and wide cape collar.

Registrations were in a white silk moire bride's book presided over by Helen Snyder. Guests were shown to their chairs by Misses Jane Axtell, Gladys Louise Jones, and Mabel Majors.

A program was announced by Mrs. E. L. Latham. Mrs. N. H. White, Jr., sang "Carmena" with Mrs. Oscar Price as her accompanist. Miss Frances Jones played a piano solo.

The playlet, "Followers," was read by Miss Mary Broadus of Fort Worth. When she had completed her reading she made the presentation speech to Mrs. Smith. The many gifts were then carried into the room by members of the house party.

Pink ice cream roses were served with angel food cake to about 80 guests. Favors were lily-of-the-valley corsages.

Largest Of Affairs Honoring Mrs. Arland Smith Is Shower Given By Mrs. Wallace

Largest of the series of social affairs which are complimenting Mrs. Arland J. (Pete) Smith, the former Susie B. Snyder, this week was the reception and shower to which Mrs. R. J. Wallace was hostess at the Country club Wednesday evening.

The focal point of decorations in the spacious club room was a white and silver table touched with pink to carry out the color scheme of pink and white.

A floor-length white satin cloth, scalloped at the edges, covered the round table. White silk maline was draped softly over the satin. Gleaming cellophane formed the unusual centerpiece. Several layers of the cellophane, with pink flowers showing through the folds, made a rosette circle around a tripod bearing a heart shaped frame outlined with double ruffles of the cellophane and tied with silver-edged cellophane ribbon.

HENNIN' AROUND AT MAX'S

Of course, 't would be exceedingly "smart" and up-past-the-minute to "hen around" about the new fall things at Max's this week. . . . But, with the thermometer soaring well over the 100 mark, 't would be more sensible to hen about something to help one through the some sixty remaining days when the thermometer will probably continue its soaring. . . .

Because this is the most difficult time of the year for the clothes-conscious woman. . . . Summer togs have lost their early smartness. You simply don't feel "dressed up" in them any more. . . . Still, the very sight of the new fall things, lovely though they are, brings an additional and almost unbearable "glow" to an already over-glowed body. . . .

And to the wise woman, keeping in mind the fact that whatever she buys now will be a bargain in price and will be even more useful when warm weather begins next year than it will be now, should betake herself to Max's and see the really wonderful between-season bargains in his ready-to-wear department. . . .

Some of Max's dresses that were marked $14.00 and more early this season are now marked down as much as half—sometimes more. . . . There's no catch in that marking down, either—Max simply doesn't have room to carry these dresses over until another season and at the same time display the new season's things to advantage. . . .

If you are planning a Centennial trip during the remainder of July or in August, you'll be particularly interested in the marked down sport lines. . . . These aren't all cut half-price as some of the more expensive dresses are, but some are marked down as much as $4 or even $5. . . .

An unusual collar design gives extra smartness to one bargain in a yellow smooth-finish linen, a Prima Donna frock. . . . Brown and yellow wool yarn form a double "rossette" at the throat. . . . Wooden ornaments adorn the ends of the yarn strands and the wooden note is repeated in the large belt buckle. . . .

Inexhaustible are the smart uses to which a certain brown and white linen coat-dress might be put at this time of the year. . . . Brown is the background for large white polka dots in the skirt and in the form fitting, belted coat. . . . The white linen waist is muchly tucked and has large square pearl buttons, the tie-on kind, down the front and on the coat belt. . . . Two-dollars have been sliced from its price. . . .

Something dark and sheer that gives the smart suggestion of approaching autumn and yet feels like summer to the wearer is one frock that has been marked down to $4.95 from its original price of $8.90. . . . The skirt is navy blue rough crepe. . . . The waist is sheer with colorful twining figures in shades of blue, pink, and white. . . . Flatteringly soft and full is the wide, doubled round collar. . . .

Revival of your interest in summer dressing will surely result from wearing another sheer creation now selling at $5.90 after being originally priced at $10.85. . . . A vivid blue is background for a chrysanthemum-shaped white figure in the dress itself. . . . The white collar is double decked and accented with blue and yellow piping and a colorful neck corsage to set it off. . . .

Destined to be somebody's "foundation" outfit through seasons to come, a navy sheer jacket dress that was marked $14.50 and still looks every cent of it and more is now on the bargain list at $7.90. . . . The short, long-sleeved jacket has closely set covered buttons with loop button-holes at the neck and at the waist. . . . The upper part of the dress is of white pintucked organza. . . . The wide white collar, fitting either inside or outside the jacket, is of cut-work embroidery on organza. . . .

For that late-afternoon trip downtown after a reviving coc and tomorrow's groceries you'll find intriguing possibilities in Max's wide selection of bargain wash frocks. . . . Nelly Dons, Prima Donnas, and all the other standard lines which Max carries are marked down an average of $1 or more per frock. . . . They include cotton laces, cotton prints, wash silks, voiles. . . .

Sliced practically in half are the prices on a number of white felts and braided straws in the millinery department. . . . They'll give you new interest in dressing yourself the rest of the summer and they'll come back into usefulness for second-best during next year's first sunshiney days. . . . Purpose Of Organization For Control Of Screw Worm Detailed By Supervisor

The screw worm fly, arch-enemy of stockmen, is not new to ranchmen in the Southwest. In general, the purpose of the screw worm control campaign is to convey to livestock raisers that information which has been made available by research workers—information that has been found to be practical and economical in treating screw worm cases and in controlling the screw worm fly.

This campaign is being conducted by the United States Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine, in cooperation with the extension services of the agricultural colleges and other state agencies in the states affected, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana, Texas, Arizona, New Mexico, Oklahoma, California and any other states where screw worm flies may migrate this year are included in the program.

The control of screw worms is essentially connected with better animal husbandry practices according to R. A. Roberts, regional supervisor of screw worm control work in the southwestern United States, and all recommendations made concerning screw worm control will first be tested under range conditions. For this purpose demonstration units or ranches are being set up in different states; three of the units are in Texas. These ranches will represent different range conditions and will cover experiments with cattle, sheep, goats, horses and hogs. On these ranches various animal husbandry practices will be tried, worm killers and fly repellents will be tested and various methods of controlling the screw worm will be studied. Careful records will be made of these experiments to show if they are practical and economical under range conditions. As soon as this information is made available, it will be passed on to the livestock raisers through the District Supervisors.

The District Screw Worm Supervisors are men of practical ranch experience who are employed by the Bureau of Entomology and Plant Quarantine. They are stationed in various counties, where they not only will disseminate information concerning screw worm control, but will collect all available data on the pest.

The campaign on screw worm control is under the direction of Dr. W. E. Dowe, 1010 Travis Bldg., San Antonio, Texas. Each state organization will be advised as to conditions in various parts of the state and as to the type of work needed by a State Screw Worm Control Committee.

Through the district, state and regional screw worm supervisors, the following program will be conducted:

- (1) A series of demonstrations and educational talks will be held.
- (2) Practical demonstrations on animal husbandry will be made under range conditions.
- (3) Estimates will be obtained of the screw worm cases and the number of deaths resulting therefrom in the various counties.
- (4) Demonstrations will be held of other phases of screw worm control which are of practical value and which may be practiced by the livestock raiser.

The adoption and regular use of methods for control of screw worms should inhibit development of large populations of screw worm flies in areas where they are active for long seasons, and should serve to delay occurrence in areas which normally receive them through gradual spread of the pest. The adoption of such preventive methods with prompt and proper treatment of cases should serve to retard spread of the pest. To restrict spread of screw worms through movements of injured animals, the cooperation of railroad agricultural agents will be sought in educational work with dealers, stockyards, livestock associations and operators of local livestock trading centers.

It is requested that stockmen having screw worm cases give the records of them to the screw worm supervisor in his district or to his county agent. The supervisor in this district is Joe Clayton, with headquarters at Gail.

The United States Department of Agriculture recommends benzol to be used in killing screw worms in wounds. Following this treatment, the wound should be coated with dehydrated nine tar oil, specific gravity 1.065. This hastens healing of the wound and aids in repelling further attacks of the fly.

Approaching Marriage Of Miss Allie Merrell Announced At Morning Party

The engagement and approaching marriage of Miss Allie Merrell of Colorado and Fort Worth to Mr. Lowell Ellis Robinson of Fort Worth was revealed in a surprise announcement which climaxed a morning 42 party given by Mrs. E. A. Barcroft and Mrs. J. T. Pritchett at the Barcroft hotel Thursday.

Twelve tables of 42 were entertained, beginning at 9 o'clock. The playing room was decorated with baskets and vases of seasonal yard flowers, including zinnias and lantana mingled with fern and ivy. Ivy was twined over a screen at one end of the room. Nearby was a large table covered with a Normandy lace cloth and centered with pink roses in a silver bowl.

At the close of the 42 games Ronald Pritchett entered dressed as a newsboy and calling, "Extra! All about the Merrell-Robinson approaching wedding!" Mrs. Barcroft bought an "extra" and read the "headlines," which told all about the romance and approaching marriage of Allie Geneva Merrell and Lowell Ellis Robinson of Fort Worth. The story did not "go into detail" but promised "more facts later."

The additional facts were found on cards on each plate when refreshments of green sherbet and green cake were served.

The ceremony is to take place quietly at the home of the bride-elect's mother, Mrs. Mattie Merrell, on Sunday morning, July 26, at an hour yet to be named. Only members of the families are to be present.

Miss Merrell is the daughter of Mrs. Merrell and the late W. M. Merrell, one of Colorado's pioneers. She was reared and received her early education here, and for the past several years has taught in the Fort Worth schools. Mr. Robinson is a Fort Worth business man, being partner with his father in the Worth Garment company. It is understood that Miss Merrell will continue to teach in Fort Worth after her marriage.

Guest list for the announcement party included Mesdames C. E. Way, J. W. Randie, R. H. Looney, Lula Mae Carlton, L. B. Elliott, Earl Cramer, Aubrey Herrington, C. C. Thompson, Ed Majors, R. P. Price, M. J. Dawson, P. C. Coleman, J. G. Merritt, B. F. Dalaney, George Mahon, Sam Wulfjen, J. M. Doss, W. L. Doss, Jr., R. H. Ratliff, E. H. Winn, Oscar Majors, Byron Byrne, A. C. Anderson, J. Ralph Lee, J. H. Greene, Lucian Maddin, J. C. Ethridge, Ed Jones, Sr., C. L. Root, W. R. Motley, Benton Templeton, D. H. Lewis, Lay Powell, W. N. Crosthwaite, Henry Pond, A. C. Melton, Lee Phenix, Ray Womack, Mrs. Womack's mother, Mrs. Davis of Houston, W. M. Merrell, J. A. Buchanan, E. C. Tunnell, and Sallie Dozier, the last four named being present only at the refreshment hour.

Misses Barbara Way, Mildred Coleman, Katie Buchanan, Lula Mae Du-laney, Mary Broadus, Shell and Allie Merrell.

Accompanied by Mrs. King and the children, Judge King left Wednesday night to attend funeral rites, set for Thursday afternoon at Goldthwaite. King stated that he had not been advised of particulars leading up to the fatal mishap.

Another Big Time Promised Visitors At Amateur Hour

Ruddick Park Program Will Be Given Friday Evening; Large Attendance Seen

Another "big time" and another big crowd is advance information to come from the chamber of commerce as the organization calls attention of the public to the weekly amateur hour program to be given Friday night.

Interest in these weekly outdoor attractions is growing so fast that facilities of the amphitheatre and adjacent grounds are to be taxed, Jim Greene, director of the show, declared late Wednesday. Greene recalled that last Friday night several hundred people were unable to obtain seats. His admonition was that visitors arrive early.

"There is to be nothing lacking in quality as the fourth program of the series is given," said Greene. "Again, as on previous programs, we have enlisted the best talent available at Colorado Springs and other parts of the county."

The band is to play a thirty minute concert, starting at 8. The following entertainers have been listed on the program:

Tommy Dawes, Mrs. W. R. Martin, DeVada Barber, Chas. Stevens, Jo Ann Hamilton, Billy Gregory, Leon Taylor, Chas. Watson, Frances Rosso Ratliff, Dr. C. L. Root, Billy Wright of Lorraine, B. L. Pribble

Any person having special entertaining qualities or stunt is invited to register at the chamber of commerce.

Candidates will be invited to take two minutes in which to make their announcement.

WILKINS ATTEND REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Wilkins and Sonny were among children and grandchildren of Emmett C. Winters gathering in Stephenville for a reunion last week-end. The Stephenville Empire-Tribune carried the following paragraph in a news item last week about the impending reunion:

"Children and grandchildren of Emmett C. Winters have been arriving in Stephenville during the past several days for a reunion, and since their father's home on the Glen Rose road was completely destroyed by fire a short time ago, they have been staying in the homes of relatives here at night. A rent house on the farm furnishes a place for the family to meet during the day when all can be together."

Twentieth Annual Convention Of Lions Clubs Is Attended By 5,000 Delegates

The twentieth annual convention of the International Association of Lions Clubs is to adjourn Friday in Providence, Rhode Island, after a four-day program. Early registration returns indicated an attendance of more than 5,000 delegates and guests.

The convention unanimously elected Edwin R. Kingsley of Parkersburg West Virginia, to the International presidency for 1936-37. The new president is a life insurance executive, and has been prominent in Lion affairs for many years. From 1930 to 1932 he served on the Association's board of directors, and in 1933 was elected to the third vice presidency. In successive years he became second and first vice president, and this year was elected to head the association.

Kingsley was born in Springfield, Ohio, the son of Rev. and Mrs. Seymour D. Kingsley, and was educated in the public schools and Adrian College, Michigan. He was admitted to the bar in the states of Ohio and West Virginia, was licensed to practice in the United States courts, and for many years was engaged exclusively in legal work. He was attorney for the State Tax Commission Department of West Virginia during the term of Governor Glascock, and served as chairman of the West Virginia State Municipal Code Commission by appointment of the governor. He formerly represented Parkersburg in the West Virginia Legislature, and served as chairman of the committee on counties, districts and municipalities and as ranking member of the judiciary committee of the House of Delegates. Since his retirement from active politics he has been principally engaged in the insurance business. The convention marked the close of one of Lionism's most successful years. Secretary General Melvin Jones reported a net gain in membership for the year of 10,000 members, a gain of 215 clubs, and an increase from 20,000 to 25,000 in the number of community activities successfully engaged in by the 2,741 Lions clubs which comprise the association.

W. W. Whipkey and Frank Ramsdell attended the convention as delegates from the local Lions Club.

Buffalo Washed Air System Will Cool Local Cafe

The Broadway Is Installing Modern Air Conditioning Equipment This Week

A Buffalo Washed Air cooling plant, considered among the late air conditioning systems in this country, is being installed at the Broadway Cafe by the Buffalo Engineering Company of Dallas. The equipment is manufactured by the Buffalo Forge Company of Buffalo, New York.

George W. Thornton, Jr., of Dallas, engineer directing installation of the system, stated to this newspaper that all air entering the cafe would be washed, cooled and have all moisture removed before entering the building. A complete change of air will be made every one and one-half minutes. The plant will be placed in operation this week-end.

F. A. Burnett, manager of the cafe, stated Wednesday morning that he planned making of the Broadway one of the coolest and most inviting spots along route of the Broadway of America. "We are sparing no expense in determined will to attain that ambition," he concluded.

FIRE SIREN IS BROUGHT INTO PLAY AS CHESTNUT ST. STATION IS OPENED

Fred Dozier, manager of the new Col-Tex service station at Hickory and East Second, refuses to admit that the loud screeching of fire sirens early Saturday morning was a fixed part of the formal opening program. At any rate such a noise broke into silence of the early morning, just as the station was set for formal opening to the public.

The fire alarm was all because the automobile of Jack Osteen, operator of the Colorado hotel coffee shop, burst into flames just as Mr. Osteen drove into the station for gasoline. The car was serviced and he stepped on the starter. There was a deafening roar as the motor backfired and flames issued from under the hood.

Small damage resulted to the car. The fire was attributed to a leak in the gas line.

COMMODITY TRUCK DATES ARE CHANGED

Dates on which relief commodity trucks will distribute goods at Mitchell county points have been changed, according to information received by Mrs. Bonnie Burt, who has charge of the Mitchell County Welfare association office.

Ranchers Facing 'Serious' Drouth Over Wide Area

Pastures In Several States Seared By Effects Of Hot, Rainless Period

As Mitchell county ranchers Wednesday morning were taking stock in one of the best outlooks their industry has indicated in several seasons, the sequel to rains that fell the night before, their neighbors in a score of States reaching from the Rocky Mountains to the Atlantic were facing the most "serious" drouth in history, the agriculture department at Washington reported.

"The drouth is about as severe as the drouth in 1934 and much more serious than any previous one," report issued Tuesday by the department stated.

Except for some scattered areas which recently have had rain, the board said severe to extreme drouth conditions prevailed over practically the entire area from the Rockies in Montana to the Hudson valley in New York and southward over western Pennsylvania, central Maryland, the Ohio valley, the northwestern corner of Arkansas and most of Oklahoma.

The special effort was based on the effect of the drouth on pasture which it said provided one of the best possible measures of the effect of heat and lack of rain on plant growth generally.

THOUSAND CONES GIVEN TO KIDDIES BY COL-TEX

One thousand ice cream cones were given complimentary to children who during Saturday visited the new Col-Tex service station at Hickory and East Second street. Texas Relief Commission Offices Will Open Aug. 1 For WPA Job Applications

Texas Relief Commission offices will be open in the various counties by August 1 to receive applications of persons desiring to be considered for Works Progress Administration jobs, Adam R. Johnson, director of the Texas Relief Commission, has announced at Austin.

Upon the request of Works Progress Administration officials, the Texas Relief Commission has agreed to undertake the task of determining the need of persons who apply for WPA employment, Johnson said. Expense of this service will be paid from federal funds.

In addition to performing this service for WPA, the Texas Relief Commission will continue to sponsor surplus commodity distribution contingent upon the continued cooperation of counties in employing approved case workers, it was explained. Applications for WPA employment or for surplus commodities will be filed and cleared through the same office.

Eligibility for WPA employment or for receipt of surplus commodities is determined upon a basis of need, Johnson explained. Although it is no longer required that a job applicant be a former relief client, present need must be definitely established.

Responsibility and authority of the Texas Relief Commission extends only to the acceptance of clients' applications, and does not encompass assignment of individuals to jobs. Texas Relief Commission employees examine eligibility status of applicants and refer those persons found eligible to WPA.

Johnson pointed out that certification to WPA does not necessarily mean a job is awaiting the person certified as the quota assigned to Texas will permit the absorption of only a portion of those referred to WPA offices. Unless this surplus is absorbed by private industry in the various localities of the state, these persons must remain jobless, he declared.

WILD WEST LIVES AGAIN

Wild and Whoopie Days Enacted in Frontier Centennial

There probably is nothing new under the sun. Electricity existed long before Messrs. Volta, Edison, Marconi, et al, started to fuss with it. There have been wild west shows before... and successful ones. Before that of course there was the real wild west with an arena a million square miles in compass. Now comes a spectacle based on what has gone before but staged with such lavishness and consummate art that one might well believe the old west lives again in "The Last Frontier," one of the outstanding attractions of the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial.

When Billy Rose was engaged as director general of the Fort Worth Frontier, his first act was to set about organizing the biggest and most spectacular wild west exhibition of all time. Some advisors suggested that appeal of such a show passed with the demise of Buffalo Bill. To Rose the suggestion was no dice.

"As long as men live there is a certain glamour about the old days on the frontier that will never tarnish. Like the glimpse of a pretty woman the deeds of brave men always make folks buy tickets," declared the shrewd showman. "That's why I intend to deal as my top ace... girls and horses."

A special set, 263 feet wide and 164 feet deep, representing the plains and foothills, will serve as the locale for such stirring events as attack on the "stage, rescue by rangers, battle with U. S. troops, a prairie fire and concluding with an old fashioned square dance with 160 couples. More than 1,000 Indians, cavalrymen, cowboys and cowgirls, singers and dancers are engaged in "The Last Frontier." Direction of the dynamic spectacle is in the hands of Verne Elliott, foremost rodeo entrepreneur and protégé of Buffalo Bill, and Edward Clarke Lilley, well known New York drama producer.

The good bank is an indispensable institution. The good banker is wise, honorable, discreet and cautious. He is a useful and valuable citizen.

CITY NATIONAL BANK
Tom Stonerod being elevated to the position of President we sought an interview but all he would say was to turn this column over to the bank this week.

Make the City Bank your bank, remembering that all deposits up to $5000 are insured by the Federal government.

MONEY IN BANK
About three hundred years ago Shakespeare had Iago, the perfect villain, to admonish Roderigo, typical lover, "Put money in thy purse." He repeated this admonition half a dozen times in the same conversation. This advice is often repeated in paraphrase these days in about these words, "Put money in thy bank."

It is good advice to both old and young. The old should need no such advice because their experience has taught them the need of so fortifying themselves against the proverbial "rainy day," which never fails to come.

There was a good deal of carrying money in one's purse at the time Roderigo was advised to do so, but modern financial methods are quite different from those of his day. Also those of today who advise the husbanding of one's resources, including money, lack much of being Iagos. Such advice comes from parents, friends and bankers, all of whom know the importance of thrift and economy.

BANKS SAFER THAN SOCKS
The idea that once prevailed that one must carry his money in his purse or wallet naturally was discarded when modern banking developed. Although there still are some who hide their money and other valuables in old socks, or tin cans, or bury it under the chimney corner, not many of these are familiar with banking; and so the newspapers from time to time carry items telling of the loss by fire, or robbery, or accident of life-time savings of somebody who had more faith in such crude and unsafe methods than in banks. One who is known to have a large sum of money on his person is a standing temptation to robbers and thieves. It is the same if he is known to keep it about his home.

It is seldom that we hear of an up-to-date business man being a victim of a highwayman for the reason that such men do not carry large amounts of money on their persons. They have a better place to keep it—to their credit in a good bank. It is much safer in the vaults of the bank than in their pockets, or cached in the mattress, or hidden under a tree trunk.

BANKERS AS FRIENDS

When a boy starts an account at a savings or other bank, there is presented to him an opportunity which he may improve to the extent of becoming financially successful. If he proves himself thrifty and honest the banker becomes his friend, and the counsel and assistance he can and will give to an honest, economical and thrifty boy as he becomes capable of conducting a business, makes such an acquaintance profitable to both boy and banker.

It is much in this manner that good businessmen are developed and big and successful banks are established and made permanent. When man and banker come to know each other well, their mutual trust gives them an understanding that is ever after helpful to both. The profits made by them are profits of both.

Children should be taught about banks and bankers just as they are about other important matters. They should know that the banker is their friend whenever and so long as they deserve his friendship; which means so long as they are honest, discreet, economical and industrious. It should be explained to them why some men can get credit "at the bank" and why others cannot. They should know that the established character of a bank's customer means more to the bank than the indorser on his note, in case he wishes to borrow money. The bank does not expect the indorser to pay the note. It expects the man who borrowed the money to pay it, otherwise it would not lend the money, however wealthy and well known the person signing the note with him may be.

The banker doesn't want to lose a good customer by having him to pay the obligation of a man whose note he made a mistake in signing, which sometimes is the case.

BANKER IS FRIEND AND COUNSELOR

What a banker knows as to the honesty and reliability of the men of a city or community is as much a part of his capital as the cash in the vaults. He naturally must know the reputation of those who are his patrons, if he is to trust them. And regardless of all safeguards, value of collateral and the amount involved, all business is to a greater or less extent done on the basis of faith in the honor and integrity of those conducting it.

Banks make it possible for many poor men of good character but with little capital to go into business for themselves. In some cases men well known for their honesty and good character are extended credit by a friendly and experienced banker, although they have no capital. This writer once heard Jesse Jones, chairman of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation, say that he began his business career by borrowing $300 from a bank. He paid his note when it became due. Again he borrowed and again he paid. Finally he needed no further credit. During the last few years he has been responsible for the handling of more money than probably any other living man.

AGAINST FLY-BY-NIGHT SCHEMES

Those who promote what are called fly-by-night schemes, otherwise swindles, would have to go out of business permanently if their "sucker" patrons would consult a banker about them before investing. Sometimes a banker's advice is worth more to the would-be borrower than the loan would have been to him had he granted it.

The world's business would be crippled perhaps beyond recovery were it not for banks. About four-fifths or more of the world's business is done through the use of commercial and financial paper. Without banks this would not be possible. Banking methods increase the value of money by increasing its circulation through loans and investments. This is why deposits of customers make it poor judgment for those who do not patronize banks to risk their money in improvised and unsafe hiding places.

Through banking facilities there is little trouble about identification, preventing confusion and inconvenience. Banks offer the best guarantees as to the carrying out of fiduciary and other trusts. The facilities and responsibility of banks make such trusts easier to handle and to settle with equity and amity. They make the matter of safeguarding the interests of minor children less difficult and in accordance with provisions set forth by those whose directions are to be carried out.

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Bank of Hallsville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health wasn't good. I suffered from cramping. My pain would be so intense it would nauseate me. I would just drag around, so sluggish and 'no-les.' My mother decided to give me Cardui. I began to mend. That tired, sluggish feeling was gone and the pain disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly because I know it helped me. If Cardui does not help YOU, consult a physician."

Usually the enemy of a bank is one who has failed to borrow money from it under circumstances that the banker could not believe justified the loan. It is such a man who says as did St. Peter to Simon the Sorcerer, "They money perish with the man who asks for a loan and is denied it does not as a rule feel kindly toward the banker, even when he knows full well the banker was justified in his refusal to make it.

BANKERS NOT WITHOUT HEART

The old story of the man who guessed which of the banker's eyes was glass and guessed right because he said, he thought he "saw a little human sympathy in that one," was only a story, and left the wrong inference. It is hard for a man who becomes absolutely sure that he could recoup his losses, or gain much more if he could extend his business, or start in a new business, to realize that it is not by belief altogether that the banker must judge the case, but by the hard, cold facts as they stand.

If the banker does not believe the proposed venture is a good one, or that the time is propitious for such a new business, or that the proposed extension of the business is warranted by its earnings of the last year or so, he certainly would be a foolish banker to make the desired loan. He is acting on his best judgment and to do otherwise would be to betray both the bank and the customer.

How long would any kind of a business last if those handling it were to act in many important matters against their best judgment? Sometimes it happens that a banker is persuaded against his better judgment by the insistence of the patron to make a loan, and when the venture fails is blamed for the customer's loss of money, notwithstanding he advised against it and was reluctant to agree to the transaction.

Those who promote what are called fly-by-night schemes, otherwise swindles, would have to go out of business permanently if their "sucker" patrons would consult a banker about them before investing. Tune Up Before Touring, Advises Chevrolet Agent

Vacation Will Be Assured Of Pleasure If Car Given Check-Up Before Starting

By C. W. WOOD National Service Director Chevrolet Motor Company

Millions of motorists will take to the open road this summer for vacation trips. Some will start with no preliminary preparation of their cars, others will make sure beforehand that all is well mechanically. The chances of enjoying a 100 per cent pleasurable tour are strongly with those who carefully groom their cars for the trip. In fact, "tune up before you tour" is advice that, if followed, will do more than any other one thing to make a motor trip a real pleasure trip.

Many drivers who use their cars daily for only a few miles in their regular routine with never any trouble, do not realize that a car that seems to work well in the city may be quite unfit to undertake long-distance trips. Little faults that need correction remain unnoticed through months of ordinary driving; when the car is suddenly called upon to work at full power over long periods, these little faults may develop into bigger faults that detract largely from the fun of motoring.

Both safety and pleasure are at stake when vacationists start out without having their car carefully inspected and its faults corrected. The principal safety items, of course, are brakes and steering—and in most cases simple adjustments are all that they require. Good tires are required for both safety and pleasure. All lights should have good bulbs, and headlight beams must be properly adjusted. New windshield wiper blades are not costly, but are of much value when needed.

For comfort and uninterrupted pleasure, everything should be done that will guarantee continuous travel without enforced halts. A motor tune-up is one of the best of precautionary measures. The battery should be checked carefully, and the generator charging rate adjusted for long distance running at good speed. A complete change of lubricants in crankcase, transmission and rear axle is recommended and, of course, a thorough greasing of the chassis. Shock absorbers always are subjected to severe use on a vacation trip over strange roads, and should be adjusted before the departure.

For some strange reason, vacation motorists are always greatly surprised to find that cars that have seemed all right at home "heat up" as soon as they get out on the open road. They have overlooked the fact that the faster the run and the heavier the pull, the more heat the engine develops, and that the cooling system that was good enough for runs to the office and the country club may not be up to the job of carrying off several times as much heat on a long climb in the mountains. To function properly the cooling system must allow free circulation of the water, which calls for a clean radiator and good rubber connections, with renewed or tightened pump packing. Highly important, too, is the proper adjustment of the fan belt, which on long, fast runs must carry a far greater load than in city driving.

There will be more motor touring this year than ever before. And there will be a lot of pleasure for millions of tourists—especially for the drivers who carefully groom their cars for the trip before they start.

Larger Attendance At Amateur Hour Program At Park One Of Biggest Crowds To Ever Gather There, Says Sponsor Of Affair

Attendance at the weekly amateur hour program Friday night at Rad-dick Park was considerably the largest yet noted and among the greatest aggregations of Mitchell county citizens to ever be seen there, according to Jim Greene, secretary of the chamber of commerce and sponsor of the weekly programs.

The children of Mrs. Edd Grubbs, Gilbert, Walter, John, and Betty, presented in a vocal quartet with their sister, Hazel Grubbs at the piano, were given first place. Billy Barber, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Barber, and his singing dog were awarded second place.

Several other entertainers, including Nina Katherine Quinney, Miss Frances Jones, Eugene Haley, Travis Bedford, Charles and Richard Lanze, Rev. A. L. Haley, R. P. Rose, Boyd Dozier, J. M. Herrington, Ed Jones, Frances and Florene Watson, Tommie Ratliff, Johnnie DeGarmo, Mike Burt, Jack Long and Arnold Marshall, were heard.

R. C. Snively, Colorado High school Future Farmer, left Monday to attend the state FFA meeting at John Tarleton, Stephenville, and to receive the Lone Star Farmer degree during the convention.

Stiff requirements in both farming and scholastic ability are required of those seeking the Lone Star degree. Snively filed application for the degree some time ago.

He and the 1,000 other FFA boys at the convention are to be guests of the Stephenville Chamber of Commerce at a barbecue Saturday noon. Doyle Williams, head of the vocational agriculture department of Colorado High school and FFA sponsor, is also attending the convention.

GEORGE PLASTERS RETURN

Mr. and Mrs. George Plaster returned Monday afternoon after a two-weeks motor trip with Mr. and Mrs. Walter Jacobs of near Temple to western points. They traveled up the Pacific coast to Washington, followed the famous Columbia river drive and crossed to Salt Lake City, Utah, then visited Colorado points en route home.

SEVEN WELLS SERVICES

County Chairman Lists Qualifications For Participation In Primary Election

People who expect to vote in the Democratic primary Saturday are reminded by J. A. Buchanan, county Democratic executive committee chairman, that there are certain qualifications and requirements that must be met before they are eligible to cast ballots.

Five classes of people are barred from voting under any circumstances, by state election law. These are: persons under twenty-one years of age; idiots and lunatics; all paupers supported by the county; all persons convicted of any felony, unless they have been restored to full citizenship, and all soldiers, marines, and seamen employed in the service of the army or navy of the United States.

All persons subject to none of the foregoing disqualifications are qualified electors and are eligible to vote if they have paid their poll taxes, are citizens of the United States, have resided in Texas one year preceding the date of election, and have resided in the county or district in which they wish to vote for at least six months prior to the election.

Voters eligible for exemption from payment of poll taxes are of three classes: those becoming twenty-one years of age after the first day of January of the year which poll tax was levied (for example, a person becoming 21 after January 1, 1935, is eligible to vote in this month's primary); every person over sixty years of age; and people who are blind, deaf or dumb, or permanently disabled.

All polls in Mitchell county will open at eight o'clock a.m. and close at seven p.m. Saturday.

Texas Cotton Is Making Progress Report Indicates

Plant In Mitchell County Is Not Affected By Pests, As In South, East Portions

Texas cotton made average to good progress in Mitchell and scores of other counties during the week and with exception of parts of South and East Texas where continued showers, heavy rains and increased insect activity are unfavorable, general state of the crop is encouraging. In some localities in South Central part of the State the crop is reported in critical condition from excessive rains.

In the upper half of Texas prospects now are for an average or better than average crop. There are still a few dry portions where a good general rain would be beneficial.

Where moisture has been excessive plants are growing too rapidly, fruiting below average and shedding heavily because of insects and frequent showers. Weevils, fleas, leaf-worms and bollworms are multiplying

THOMPSON FINDS THAT HE CANNOT SEE EVERY VOTER IN HIS PRECINCT

J. M. (Jessie) Thompson, candidate for county commissioner of Precinct One finds that it will be impossible for him to personally contact all of the voters in his precinct and takes this means of sincerely requesting that his candidacy be given consideration by these citizens, whether or not the candidate meets him in person before the Democratic primary election Saturday.

"I believe that I am qualified for a conservative and business-like administration of the office of county commissioner and pledge that if elected to give of my best time and attention to the duties involved," Thompson stated.

Business With Production Credit Ass'n Continues To Expand, Director Declares

More members and a steadily increasing volume of business were reported for the Sweetwater Production Credit Association, according to J. W. Watson, a director of the association, who returned Thursday from a meeting of the directors of a group of West Texas production credit associations held at Sweetwater, Wednesday and Thursday of last week. Mr. Watson declared that directors from all over this territory report that their associations are making very satisfactory progress. Farmers and stockmen are getting a better understanding of this new system of credit and are coming to like the idea of budgeting their loans.

Watson pointed out that the borrowers find that this method enables them to get along on less money and that getting the money as it actually is needed reduces the cost of the loan. He said that borrowers are beginning to realize just how low the cost of a production credit association loan really is.

It was reported at the meeting that the Sweetwater Production Credit Association had increased its volume of business from $145,649.10 at the end of June 1935, to $326,245.00 at the end of June 1936. It also was brought out that the association had net earnings of $3620.00 for the year 1935, and that the net earnings during the first half of 1936 were $3521.00.

Emphasis was placed on the fact that the association is attempting to build up adequate reserves to take care of any losses which may occur in hard times. Watson declared that the facts brought out at the meeting convinced him that stock purchased by members of the association is being protected adequately, and that in the long run it will prove to be an excellent investment.

He said that farmers and stockmen in this territory are making more and more inquiries about the association and that many of the most important men of this county are becoming members.

Among the speakers at the meeting was Walter L. Boothe, president of the association and the meeting was conducted by Tully C. Garner and Virgil P. Lee, of the Production Credit Corporation of Houston, who told of the progress of production credit associations over Texas and the United States. They also led the discussion of income and expenses of the associations, presenting figures showing the financial condition of each of the associations in this territory.

According to Watson, a great deal of emphasis was placed upon the importance of making loans upon a sound basis. A number of cases in which unsound loans had been made were studied and it was shown that such loans are detrimental both to the borrower and the association.

In addition to those mentioned the Sweetwater Production Credit Association was represented by O. H. Berry, secretary treasurer, and G. S. Barnes and Roscoe Holton, directors. Other associations represented at the meeting were the Coleman, Lubbock, Marfa, Midland, Stamford, Texas and Wichita Falls associations.

Modern Gas Cookery

RETAINS HEALTHFUL VITAMINS AND MINERAL OILS

Vigorous boiling in lots of water destroys the valuable vitamin and mineral content of fresh vegetables. The thoughtful woman wants to retain these health-giving elements. The controlled boiling heat which the modern gas range provides does not rapidly evaporate water when boiling vegetables. Mothers can serve more healthful food by following this simple method of modern gas cookery.

Cooking vegetables the semi-waterless way on modern gas range requires no special type of utensil.

2.

Place vegetables in pan and cover with about one-half inch water.

3.

Place covered pan over simmer burner. Turn to fast heat. When boiling starts turn burner to simmering heat which maintains a gentle boiling action retaining healthful vitamins.

4.

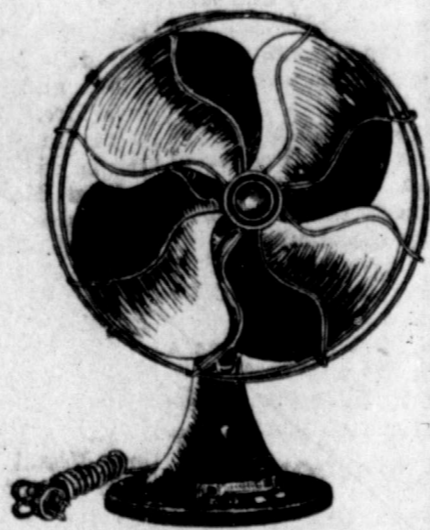

After cooking is completed nearly as much liquid remains as was originally put into vessel, and there is no loss of valuable mineral oils or vitamins.

5.

Gas simmer cookery is clean and labor saving. It means cooler cooking and a cleaner kitchen for there's little escaping steam rising from a covered pot of gently boiling vegetables.

Butler Camp Neighbors Of Mrs. Huff Are Excited Over Her Winning $2,250 Prize

The most exciting thing that has happened at Butler camp north of Westbrook in many months was the announcement via radio Sunday night that a Butler camp woman, diminutive Mrs. Berneice (O. D.) Huff, had won the $2,250 grand prize in the Romantic Texas contest sponsored by the Texas Weekly magazine of Dallas.

Mrs. Huff returned home to her husband and her 6-year-old son, Darwin, Monday afternoon after having been the guest of the publishers of the Texas Weekly in Dallas since Sunday. She was called to Dallas by a phone call on Friday, being informed only that she was a winner of one of the three first places.

She didn't know she had won first place until she faced a microphone Sunday night shortly after 8 o'clock, ready to say a few words over a state-wide hookup from Station WFAA at Dallas. When the radio announcer asked her what she would do with the prize money she replied, "I'll buy a home, I guess."

All her Butler camp neighbors were listening in that night. None of them make any bones about being very proud of her.

The contest consisted of a series of 60 pictures dealing with Texas historical incidents, names, terms, or geographical characteristics. They appeared in groups of four in the Texas Weekly from February until early June. With each picture were a number of captions and contestants were to choose the proper caption.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Huff entered the contest, advertisements of which appeared in state papers during the first few weeks after it opened. None of Mrs. Huff's neighbors heard her say much about the contest, but many of them can now recall her suddenly increased interest in Texas history and terms early this year.

She has never won a contest before and didn't expect to this time. She is described by her friends as being a clever housekeeper, a capable worker, and as having a reserved but pleasing personality. She is small and attractive. Friends call her Marie.

Reared in Coahoma, her maiden name was Berneice Marie Phillips. She attended Coahoma schools but did not go to college. Her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Phillip, moved to Bay City from Coahoma some time ago.

She and Mr. Huff were married 8 years ago. Mr. Huff has been employed by the California company in the Westbrook oil field for nearly 12 years, being the oldest man in point of service in that section. He is a gang pusher. Mr. and Mrs. Huff live in one of the California company houses in Butler camp. Their son, Darwin, will start to school in Westbrook this September.

Mrs. Huff was accompanied to Dallas Saturday by her sister-in-law, Mrs. E. B. Phillips. They were met by Mr. Mickle, a business manager of the Texas Weekly and his wife. They were given a special room in the Baker hotel as guests of the publishers of Texas Weekly. They and the two Dallas women who won second and third prizes in the contest were escorted "in state" over the Centennial grounds, witnessing Cavalcade and other features.

The first intimation that she would be a winner in the contest was received by Mrs. Huff on Monday of last week when she was visited by Mr. Mickle at her home. He informed her that she was "running high" in the contest and asked her if she could go to Dallas if she was one of the three winners.

Peter Molyneux, editor and publisher of the Texas Weekly, is a well-known Texas writer and his editorial opinions are recognized all over the nation. Ex-governor Dan Moody was a speaker on the program which introduced Mrs. Huff and the other winners Sunday night.

SOUTH SIDE MISSION

There was a good attendance at the South Side Mission Sunday school Sunday, a nice offering and good spirit. We are practically out of debt for our piano, for which we paid $50, and now we are ready to do greater things. We have a charity chest ready to be filled for our unfortunates. Would you help us in this great work? Since I started this plea there have come to my door two children who need clothes. They are in a family of six, ranging in age from five to fifteen. We are calling upon the public to help us make it possible for these children to be in Sunday school next Sunday. God will not continue to bless a people who will close their ears to the need of humanity. The sincerity of our love to others cannot be proved until we show it by our deeds and gifts. If you have anything to give please see one of our workers. We thank you for the help you have already given.

MRS. LLOYD, MRS. BANK, MRS. BUCKALEW, MRS. ROGERS.

"Cavalcade of Texas" great historical drama at the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas, is played on the world's largest and most elaborately equipped permanent stage setting. The "Cavalcade" set is 300 feet long, 100 feet deep, and 80 feet high at the back wall.

Drouth-Stricken Cattle Could Be Shipped To Texas

Pioneer Rancher Finds That Range Conditions In West Texas Are Good

An effort to secure pasturage in Texas for livestock in drouth-stricken Middle Western states would be preferable to government purchase of cattle, in the opinion of Ralph H. Harris, San Angelo cattlemen and senior member of the executive committee of the Texas & Southwestern Cattle Raisers' Association.

"The stange from the T&P Railroad to the Rio Grande, except in few areas, is the best I ever saw, and could graze all the cattle in both Dakotas," said Mr. Harris, who came from San Antonio in 1879 as a youth of 12. He estimates that Texas could support 50 per cent more livestock than its present number, which is below the average for the last 10 years.

"If the government buys cattle in the dry states it should do so in competition with the packers and not as in 1934 when it slaughtered 8 million head and let the packers process much of the edible meat," said Mr. Harris.

He scored the administration's reciprocal trade agreements, declaring lowered tariff has permitted Canada to ship heavy cattle into the United States to the detriment of 30 million people dependent and interdependent on livestock raising and agriculture. Largely as the result, he pointed out, the market on corn fed cattle in the United States is $5 per 100 pounds less than a year ago, and grass cattle are correspondingly cheaper.

On the other hand, said Mr. Harris, American products sold in Canada have not come in conflict with basic Canadian industries and have not increased employment in this country.

More than 600 head of livestock are in the corrals at the Texas Centennial Exposition for the World Championship Rodeo plus cowboys and cowgirls from the leading ranches of the United States, Canada and Mexico.

Electricity used to illuminate the grounds at the Texas Centennial Exposition is sufficient to supply power for the lighting of the commercial and residential areas of America's busiest city of 100,000 population!

Scenic backgrounds on the stage of "Cavalcade of Texas," huge spectacular production at the Texas Centennial Exposition in Dallas, are so realistic that the man-made rocks and mountains appear in photographs and under the performance lights as

Colorado Negro Winning Notice Through Building Beautiful And Accurate Ships

He never saw a ship, but his ability to build accurate and beautiful ship models is bringing recognition—and some money—to Lambert Montgomery, Colorado negro who has charge of the shine chair at the Simpson brothers' Palace barber shop on Walnut street.

Lambert's latest work, an exquisite and faithful model of Henry Hudson's famous "Half Moon" that sailed the seas early in the seventeenth century, has been displayed in the show window of Sam Majors' jewelry store for the past two weeks and has attracted considerable interest. He has been offered as much as $15 for the ship. The "Half Moon" was the ship Hudson used in making his famous explorations of the northern regions in the New World.

It took Lambert three months to make the ship in his odd time. His only tools are a jigsaw, drill, a plane, and lots of sandpaper. He never had a lesson in manual training in his life but can't remember when he didn't like to make things with his hands.

Before he became interested in ship models Lambert made furniture, wooden ornaments, or anything else that came to his mind. He began making ships about a year ago and has already made three.

From an ordinary history textbook which he got in school he chooses the ships which he wants to model. Then he orders the blueprint of the ship from the publishers of Popular Mechanics magazine.

The second ship he made was the H. M. S. "Bounty," which was made famous in the story and movie, "Mutiny on the Bounty." Dr. M. B. Nall bought this model and has it on a table in the waiting room of his dental office.

In each ship that he builds Lambert makes more and more of the intricate little parts by hand. His ambition is to make one entirely by

Veterans Pay Off Federal Loans As Bonus Is Received

District Office Located At San Angelo Pays Tribute To These Citizens

Eighty-three per cent of the delinquent loans owed the Home Owners' Loan Corporation by veterans has been paid on the receipt of the bonus. Out of all the loans made in the San Angelo area, four have been paid in full. There are still 1,431 loans out, however, according to a report from the H. O. L. C. office there.

The average loan in this area is $2,119.80 as compared to the state average of $2,317. The highest and lowest loan made in the San Angelo area were made in San Angelo, the highest being $14,000 and the lowest being $177. The total amount was $3,033,437.82.

Texas ranks seventh in the number of loans made and eleventh in the amount of money loaned. The report from the H. O. L. C. board at Washington, D. C., showed that Texas had made 44,360 loans for $103,208,774. New York loaned the most money, $410,024,089 while Ohio made most loans, 98,562.

The total number of loans for the United States is 1,021,817 and the amount $3,092,870,784. More than 98 per cent of the loans were made to refinance defaulted mortgages which had come due in whole or in part at a time when over a million home owners faced immediate loss of their properties if the government did not come to their aid.

hand, down to the last tiny cannon and pulley.

He is now starting work on Captain Blood's famous pirate ship, the "Arabella," which sailed to lasting fame—and notoriety—in the seventeenth century. The hull of this model will be 32 inches long and every detail will be true to scale.

Lambert was born and has been reared in Colorado. He is the stepson of Will Garner and the son of Melinda Garner. He is married and has been working in the Simpsons' barber shop four years.
