Information For Inscriptions On Two Centennial Markers In County Compiled

Information to be used in writing the inscriptions for two Centennial markers which are to be placed in Mitchell county within the near future by the Texas Centennial commission was sent to persons in charge this week by Mrs. J. G. Merritt, Mitchell county Centennial chairman and J. H. Greene, county Centennial secretary. They were assisted by John Tom Merritt in compiling the information.

One of the markers is to be built at Seven Wells. On it will be an inscription saying that Seven Wells was so named for "seven natural unfailing fresh water wells cut deep into sandstone rock."

Part of the inscription will read: "Here was the last watering hole for the buffalo, whose tracks are imprinted in the stone. An old Indian camp and one of the first camping grounds for Mitchell county settlers. Now still visited for its scenic beauty as well as an ideal picnic ground."

Site of the marker for "a battle site where a number of Indians were killed" has been located "on the banks of the Colorado River a mile south of the Texas & Pacific railroad to the side of North Concho street."

Suggested inscription for this marker is "To the memory of Captain Moore and the bravery of his rangers in annihilating the Indians and rescuing citizens in 1840."

Mrs. Merritt and others trying to determine the most authentic location for such a marker as this found their authority for selecting this particular site in "The Frontiersman" and other magazines written in the early days in memory of Texas rangers.

Information about this particular battle was verified by the late Major W. M. Greene of Colorado, one of the outstanding Rangers of early days and life-time president of the Texas Ex-Rangers' association at the time of his death. Major Greene was not active in the particular battle to be commemorated, however, so the marker will be inscribed to the memory of Cap. Moore.

Three Recreational Gatherings Held By Clubs Of County; Others Being Planned

Three recreational gatherings with the families of members as guests have been held by home demonstration club women of the county recently and others are being planned.

With some forty people attending from Bauman, Silver, Seven Wells and Landers an enjoyable gathering was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Adrian with members of the Landers' Home Demonstration club as hostesses.

Music by the boys and girls was the main feature of the gathering. The three Dossey girls from Seven Wells played the banjo, violin, and guitar and Donald Adrian played the guitar. The Finley brothers of Silver and the Duffer boy made more music. Games were played by the younger group.

Another gathering of like nature was held on a creek in the Hyman community for club families. After eating a picnic supper, those attending sang with Otto Schuster accompanying on the guitar. Various types of games were enjoyed.

A third gathering sponsored by a home demonstration club was held at the home of Mrs. J. C. Franklin for the Plainview Home Demonstration club. Forty-two and games were played, affording the families that attended a diversion from the regular routine.

Iatan adults and children held a regular monthly recreational gathering at their school house under planned supervision. The last gathering was in the form of an informal picnic with games furnishing the fun.

Fairview home demonstration club will have a recreational gathering Friday night, August 14th, in the form of a chicken barbecue. Games and music will be the added features for the club families.

Plans to portray the different phases and activities of present-day schools in Colorado in the Mitchell County Cavalcade of Progress during the home-coming were made by a group of Hesperian and Shakespeare clubwomen at a meeting called by Mrs. Walter Wilson Tuesday afternoon, according to a report turned in by Mrs. J. G. Merritt, county Centennial chairman.

Mrs. Wilson is general chairman of Episode One of Part Five in the pageant. This episode will be devoted entirely to modern schools in Colorado and will be in charge of members of the Hesperian and Shakespeare clubs.

EARL POWELL IMPROVES IN EL PASO HOSPITAL

Considerable improvement in the condition of Earl Powell of Stanton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lay Powell of Colorado, was reported Wednesday from the El Paso hospital where he is a patient.

Powell has been suffering from an infected arm, the infection thought to be the result of strained muscles suffered while he was helping to fix a tank foundation on his Bar X ranch near Stanton week before last. He became seriously ill nearly two weeks ago while en route to Carlsbad Caverns and entered an El Paso hospital.

Attending physicians stated Wednesday that he is out of danger, barring complications. It was feared for a time that amputation of the arm might be necessary. Eleven incisions to drain the arm were made. Jinks Powell went to his brother's bedside last week and was followed Sunday by Miss Virgie Powell and the sick man's wife, who had been in Fort Worth at the bedside of her seriously ill father. Miss Powell and Jinks returned home Monday afternoon, leaving Mrs. Powell in El Paso. Physicians say that Mr. Powell will have to remain in the hospital perhaps two more weeks.

HOSPITAL NEWS

Already critically ill from the effects of ptomaine poisoning when admitted to the hospital Thursday noon, Miss Era Blanche Coles of the Valley View section succumbed Friday afternoon at 4:25.

E. E. Baker of Midland was admitted to the hospital Friday morning for examination and treatment of a heart condition. He died Friday evening at 7:20.

Major surgery was administered to Mrs. Zeke Wimberley of Lorraine Saturday. Her condition is good.

A finger which was caught in a car door was X-rayed for Mrs. Earl Gunn Saturday morning but no broken bones were found.

Those who gave skin for grafting on John Miller's burns this week were E. B. Willbanks, Lenn Miller, Fred Dozier, and John Adams. Skin donors for I. G. Haines, the other burn victim in the hospital, were Rex McKinney of Iatan and Red Womack. Haines has received between 250 and 300 skin grafts and may receive that many more.

Mrs. W. D. Melton of Colorado was a medical patient from Thursday until Monday.

Adenoids of John Stribling of Westbrook were removed Monday. Patricia Ann Williams, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Williams, underwent a tonsillectomy Tuesday morning.

Suffering from a crushed chest and a brain concussion received in a car mishap, Dewitt Cory of Lorraine was brought to the hospital Tuesday afternoon about 4:30 and died 2 1/2 hours later.

A wound which Clay Mann Smith, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Smith, received in his foot while jumping from an earth bank some time ago was reopened and cleaned out at the hospital Tuesday morning. The place had become infected.

After a week's absence from duty Mrs. Bennett Scott will return to her position as superintendent of the hospital Sunday and Mrs. Elsie Walker Roberts, who has been taking her place this week, will return to her place near Vincent.

CALLING THE ROLL OF MITCHELL COUNTY'S OLD-TIMERS

This is the second of a series of installments in the publication of the names of those who qualify as Mitchell county old-timers. The list is being compiled in preparation for Mitchell county's home-coming and Centennial celebration August 20, 21, and 22.

These lists were taken from registrations at the last home-coming five years ago and are therefore incomplete at this time, since many who had been here less than 25 years at that time have now been here that long and therefore qualify as old timers.

If your name should appear on either of these lists and does not, or if you know of someone whose name should be included, please turn the name or names into the Chamber of Commerce office or the Record office for addition to these lists. If you know any of the out-of-town old timers write and invite them to the home-coming.

RANCHERS OFFER BEEVES TO FEED OLD TIMERS AT CAVALCADE CELEBRATION

Some time ago J. H. Greene, secretary Chamber of Commerce, invited the cowmen to indicate whether or not they were interested in feeding the old timers at homecoming and requested each one to indicate, with the following results:

"Certainly I think we should give a free barbecue to the old timers," said U. D. Wulfjen, when interrogated on the subject. "I'll give a calf, and help otherwise, too, if needed."

"I have a dandy yearling already picked out for the Old Timers' Homecoming," said O. F. Jones, manager of the Spade Ranch, in reply to the query.

"Sure I'll give one," said Price Maddox, when asked if he would give a calf to feed the old timers. "Just get it out of either pasture and it will be O. K.," he said.

"Say, Jimmie, you can count on us for a beef to feed our old timers at the homecoming," said Byron Byrne.

Other cowmen are expected to respond, Greene stated to a representative of The Record Wednesday.

UPPER COLORADO PROJECT URGED IN MESSAGES SENT ICKES BY TEXAS SENATORS

Extensive Reclamation Work Result Along The Colorado In Coke County; This City Would Receive Benefits

Senators Morris Sheppard and Tom Connally recently joined with Congressman C. L. South of Coleman and other leading citizens of San Angelo and Robert Lee in appeal that Secretary Harold Ickes give approval at once to the Upper Colorado River Project in Coke County.

The project, pending for several months, would entail an extensive irrigation and reclamation objective, converting hundreds of fertile river valley lands, now semi-arid, into one of Texas' most dependable farm and produce areas. The proposed dam site is located a few miles up the river from Robert Lee.

Announcement that the two Texas senators were interesting themselves in the project was received here Monday from San Angelo. Upper reaches of the lake, if built, would extend to within a short distance of Colorado and much of the benefits to accrue would be reflected here.

The following telegrams were received by Congressman South, the first from Senator Sheppard's secretary and the other from Senator Connally:

"Telegram received in absence of Senator Sheppard who is away on a campaign tour. For your information, however, will say the senator recently wired Secretary Ickes urging that detailed examination and survey be made of the Upper Colorado Authority at early date. Victor Russell, secretary."

"Have been pleased to wire Secretary Ickes urging him to approve detailed survey and examination of Upper Colorado River. Shall continue to do whatever I can to be of assistance in connection with this matter. Tom Connally."

SUFFERING IN SIZZLING HEAT, OBTAINS RELIEF

"This is one of the hottest days we have had yet," exclaimed Coy Harris, wholesale dealer for Sinclair Oil, as he parked in an easy chair in front of the Colorado hotel the other afternoon and mopped perspiration from his brow. Then, unannounced, he was "cooled off" completely, as a pitcher of ice water, coming from window above, splashed over his body. Coy stated Monday that he was still looking for the "friend" who evidenced such interest in his uncomfortable state.

These Mitchell County 'Amateurs'

Three "naturals" walked away with the show at the chamber of commerce "amateur hour" at the Ruddick park band shell last Friday evening.

"Mocking-bird" Miles, winner of first place, can just naturally sound more like birds and chickens and hogs than they sometimes sound like themselves. . . . His eight-year-old son, William A., just naturally opens his mouth and sings cowboy songs. . . . Three-year-old Mary Ellen Jones, winner of second place, just naturally loves to perform—and just naturally does it well. . . .

Roaming the woods back in his native Sabine county, "Mocking-bird" began his imitative career by learning to fool the birds and animals into believing some next-door neighbor was calling them. . . . Later he learned to make his imitative sounds to a guitar accompaniment which he worked out himself. . . .

He doesn't know himself how he makes those sounds in his throat. . . . He isn't even sure they come from his throat. . . . All he knows is that he opens his mouth and people begin looking around for a bird or a hog or a chicken. . . .

He's the author of several original songs, among them being the number "Take Me To the Ole Home Ranch and Leave Me There" which he and his son sang together after his imitation number Friday night. This has been published in sheet music form and is on sale at the Colorado Music store. . . . Eight years ago he made a record, "The Lonely Cowboy," for the Victor people. . . . At present he's working on a Centennial song, "Bluebonnet Sweetheart," which he and his son hope to render as guest artists on the amateur hour program in the near future. . . .

Some of the most popular radio stars have sung his songs. . . . He never had a music lesson in his life. . . . As for his "private life"—he's lived in Mitchell county for thirteen years. . . . Before that he lived at Orange, Texas. . . . His present home is four miles south of Loraine at Bauman. . . . His mother, Mrs. Darrel Miles, lives in Loraine. . . . His father is dead. . . .

As for 8-year-old William ("Mocking-bird, Jr.") Miles. . . . He's never had any music lessons, either. . . . He likes to wear cowboy clothes and likes to sing with his father—or without him. . . . He was born in Loraine and goes to school at Bauman, where he will enter the fourth grade in September. . . .

The private life of Mary Ellen Jones consists of three very short but very full and active years. . . . She's the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jones, Jr., of Butler camp. . . . And the granddaughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ed Jones, Sr., of Colorado, C. O. McComb of Colorado, and Mrs. Mary McComb of Abilene. . . . Her birthday is April 28. . . .

She couldn't wait to try her hand at the amateur hour program. . . . She's like that about performing in public and always has been. . . . Whereas the problem of most mothers is to coax their children to get on the stage and to follow instructions while there, the problem of Mary Ellen's mother is to keep her off the stage. . . .

A sea of faces in front of her causes no sickish feeling in the pit of Mary Ellen's small stomach. . . . She studied dancing and reading under Mrs. W. R. Martin for only two months last year and simply lapped it up. . . .

Those who attended a recital given by younger members of Mrs. Martin's classes last spring laughingly recall how Mary Ellen and Dorris Louise Summers came out and gave an encore reading that was as much of a surprise to the teacher as to the audience. . . .

So Mary Ellen took her hands in her hands and did a Sally Rand act for the amateur-hour audience that won her a close second place in the evening's applause. . . . She followed the "fan dance" number with a tap dance. . . .

Tourist Trade Will Build Cities, Avers Road Ass'n Prexy

Henry Stanley Invites Local People Consider Value Of Broadway Of America

The "Tourist Business" is fast developing into one of the largest and most lucrative community and state builders of all the enterprises from which revenue is obtained, states Henry W. Stanley of Dallas, president of the Broadway of America, in open letter calling attention of the Colorado public to value of this international route.

In putting across his impressions of what the tourist may do for Colorado, Mr. Stanley reviews some statistics from California, as follows:

"California is one of the 'big three' States in oil production, an industry which naturally runs into big money. Yet, according to the magazine 'Nation's Business,' California's oil industry is now hard pressed to keep ahead of the State's tourist business. Dollar totals for the oil industry of the State run around $135,000,000 a year; the tourist business is worth $124,000,000 a year. Motion pictures and citrus fruits, California's two most publicized industries, run third and fourth, the former grossing $97,000,000 and the latter $81,000,000 a year.

"Roger Babson estimates that Americans spend five billions a year on pleasure travel. That means that the tourist business is bigger than the automobile business, the iron and steel business, or the petroleum business.

"Summer tourists as well as winter tourists visit California in droves. Over a period of time it has been found that one out of every ten who came to visit eventually returned to locate. They made a consumer market, which in turn made factories and shops."

LORAIN WITHERS BEFORE ATTACK BY COL-TEX CLUB IN SEMI-FINALS CONTEST

Locals Rout Visitors Tuesday
Night Ten To Six To Claim
Scramble For Pennant

Harold's Bennett's Loraine softball club that during early stages of the county league tournament defeated any and all comers, were again turned back as they met withing attack of the Col-Tex defenders in semi-final melee at Cantrill Field Tuesday night. The score was ten to six.

In winning over Loraine the locals qualified for position in a three-way contest for county pennant, at least for twenty four hours, when, on Wednesday night they met the Young Business Men, third contender in the pennant marathon, in another elimination bout. Col-Tex won and is to meet Loraine Tuesday night of next week in the final bracket.

The Col-Tex-Loraine contest was rated by hundreds of fans to have been the best yet offered customers at Cantrill Field since opening of the season. Both teams presented some exciting moments through sensational plays by amateur stars in their respective line-ups.

Simmons of Loraine was outstanding for his club. This chap, playing at center, negotiated more than one sensational feat that brought down the galleries. Once he robbed Robinson of Col-Tex of a home run. Robinson had knocked the ball far over center field and was making knots in his race around the diamond, when Simmons backed against the fence and nabbed the flying missile. Simmons accounted for three of the runs credited to his team.

"Big Foot Bennett" as skipper of the Loraine club is popularly termed in local and Loraine softball circles, managed to avoid getting tangled up in his feet in more than one rush to catch a batted ball. He did some fine work, both in the field and at the bat.

It was the masterful pitching of Mathena for Col-Tex that paid large dividends in cinching the score for Colorado. A favored player through the tournament, he did his best pitching Tuesday night. Harris Brown, playing at short stop, was another member of the refinery club to turn in an accredited record. Robinson for Col-Tex, stationed at his usual post behind the bat, also turned in some fine technique.

The best game of them all, in so far as gate receipts are concerned, Morris Kirschbaum reported Wednesday morning. Cash totaling $30 was counted after the last customer had passed through the wicket.

"Loraine went down in defeat last night but we have not lost the championship belt yet." Skipper Bennett bantered Wednesday morning, as he gave attention to plans for improving his club for the crucial contest next week.

SALVATION SURE This column writer is in trouble again. A few weeks ago in one of our distribe's we published the following:

ONCE SAVED, ALWAYS SAVED Salvation is in three tenses, past, present and future. It means saved from past sins, safe from present sins, and preserved from future sins. Salvation is not blocked into periods of time. It doesn't mean saved today and lost tomorrow. Salvation is the lost saved. How is this done? Paul told the Philippian jailer: "Believe on the Lord Jesus Christ, and thou shalt be saved." One thing for the jailer to do, believe; and one thing for God to do, which he confirmed in these words, "and thou shalt be saved." Each party complied with the conditions, and that sealed the terms of salvation for the past, the present, and the future.

Now comes our preacher friend, John C. Taylor of Georgetown and asks: "Just what does the writer mean by this? Does he mean to say that when a person is saved he can never and will never do anything for which he can be lost? If that is what he means, he is wrong."

We will try to make clear an answer to his question as to what we mean by past, present, and future salvation.

We believe that salvation in the Bible sense is absolute, not conditional, and is a free gift to everyone who "believes on the Lord Jesus Christ." We believe the word salvation, as used in the Bible, is comprehensive, and provides for deliverance, safety and preservation. We believe it to be also a great inclusive word, gathering into itself all the redemptive acts and processes of salvation; for instance, justification, redemption, grace, perseverance, propitiation, imputation, repentance, forgiveness, sanctification and glorification. Works don't enter into securing salvation, but the joy of salvation to the saved depends on, and is measured by acceptable service to God. The Divine order is, first, salvation; and then, works. One of the thieves crucified with Christ did not believe. He said to Christ: "If thou be Christ, save thyself and us," and he was not answered. The other, conscious of his guilt and admitting the justness of his crucifixion, and realizing his helpless condition, believed on, and said to the innocent, suffering Jesus, "Lord, remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom," and he immediately received the following unconditional answer from Jesus: "Verily I say unto thee, today shalt thou be with me in paradise." The dying thief believed and asked to be remembered, and received a place in paradise as a free gift from Jesus. The conditions of salvation were completely met, and the union between Christ and the believing thief was sealed for all time. The union of Christ and the believer, and the spiritual birth of the believer, are separate acts, but simultaneous events. The man of flesh has a birth, and the spiritual being has a birth that comes with salvation, each just as much a fact and event as the other, and each has its own laws under which to operate. "For they that are after the flesh do mind the things of the flesh; but they that are after the Spirit the things of the Spirit." The unsaved man is under the law of sin and death; the saved man is under the law of life and peace. There is but one way, we believe, for the unsaved man to get eternally from under the law of sin and death, and that is to believe on the Lord Jesus Christ and be irrevocably saved. The spiritual man is not subject to the law of sin and death. "For the law of the Spirit of life in Christ Jesus hath made me free from the law of sin and death." The thief on the cross, a commandment breaker, who had been sentenced to die by crucifixion, had not, and did not receive baptism, but saw Jesus, and heard Him speak from the cross, and believing on him, said, "Lord, remember me when thou comest into thy kingdom." He believed and got more than he asked for. He was not only saved, but his new born spirit, something he didn't have before, went that day to dwell in paradise with his Savior, and his body went to the burying place to await resurrection. After salvation a new relationship is established between God and the believer. Before salvation man is an enemy of God and must suffer the penalties of violated law; after salvation he is a child of God, and for disobedience loses the joy of salvation for a season, but does not lose salvation.

POLITICAL

The third party, which was brought into being by declaration and which is the vehicle to which Representative William Lemke has attached his candidacy for the presidency of the United States must surely go down in history as probably the most amazing conglomeration of irreconcilable elements ever brought into being in this country. Townsendites, share-the-wealthers, inflationists, Coughlinites—these are presumed to be the supporters of the Union party, which, according to its spokesmen, proposes at the least to throw the election of the President into the House of Representatives. Delegates attending the recent Townsend convention in Cleveland did not, it is true, officially declare themselves in favor of Lemke's candidacy, but it is no secret that he is depending on the aged followers of the California physician with Messianic delusions to support him in the general election next November; he certainly made a strong bid for such support at the Cleveland convention and newspaper dispatches reported that he was wildly cheered by the Townsendites when he promised that, if elected President, he would sign any fair bill providing old age pensions of two hundred dollars per month. Incidentally, a pretty good example of the kind of appeal Lemke is making may be found in his declaration before the Townsend convention that the late Huey P. Long was "the greatest Democrat the country has produced

Lady's Painful Trouble Helped By Cardui

Why do so many women take Cardui for the relief of functional pains at monthly times? The answer is that they want results such as Mrs. Herbert W. Hunt, of Hallettsville, Texas, describes. She writes: "My health was good, suffered from cramps, my pain could be so intense it would make me faint. I would feel, drag around, and sleep and do less. My mother advised to give me Cardui. I began to mend, and then, almost nothing was gone and the pain disappeared. I can't praise Cardui too highly. I know it helped me. I feel better than I have in years."

FOUR CONJURERS

Four conjurers have created a dangerous national condition. Lemke, who would be President, can climb into the stratosphere on a gossamer ladder; Mahatma Townsend can grow dollars on weeds; the Rev. Share-the-Wealth Smith considers wealth to be paper money and Father Coughlin stands ready to bless this combination of dancing dervishes. This greed for money and power produces strange bedfellows. To me it looks like bile in the rational system; and now is the time to purge the body politic. Millions of men have been taught by the last Congress that the Government owes them a living, and that there are no division lines between the States. This new party is a result of the get-rich-quick congressional policies. Lemke's election means a money printing press for every child. Mahatma Townsend would be Secretary of the Treasury, to deal out with both hands, green bellied dollar marked cigarette paper, fiat brand. On this the eagle would be replaced by a giant cormorant; the Rev. Coughlin would be Postmaster General, and would print on his stamps: "Roosevelt the double crosser and liar." The Rev. Smith would be head of the G-men, to hunt for wealth disappeared like a mist under a hot sun.
