

'THE BEST YEAR EVER FOR COLORADO HIGH,' GOAL SET BY STUDENTS AND FACULTY

Enthusiasm Prevails As Boys And Girls Received Into The Institution Monday; Total Of 416 Enrolled

"We are going to work to the end of making this the best year in history of Colorado High school," was slogan announced Monday morning by Principal C. A. Wilkins as doors of the institution swung open to receive boys and girls of the freshman, sophomore, junior and senior classes with enthusiasm by the more than four hundred students and faculty members present.

There was a total of 416 students enrolled as the school opened. That figure set a new high record for all time, exceeding enrollment last year by sixty. The eighth grade, largest in history, reported 130 pupils registered. The juniors came next with a total of 114. There were an even hundred enrolled in the ninth grade and 72 in the eleventh.

The assembly was called to order at 9 o'clock by John E. Watson, superintendent of the schools. Mrs. Chas. Moerer, director of the school choral club, led in the singing of "The Eyes of Texas" with Miss Hazel Grubbs, a student, at the piano. The Rev. W. M. Elliott, pastor of First Presbyterian church, offered the invocation. C. A. Wilkins, principal, took charge of the program during formal presentation of students and teachers.

That the students may have divine leadership in learning how to live together in a happy, peaceful manner, was suggested in the prayer. Mr. Watson later referred to this objective as one of the major ambitions about which the teachers and students could build their program for the year. Principal Wilkins, visitors and members of the school faculty spoke briefly. Coach Jack Christian outlined plans for sending his Wolves to Snyder Friday night for the conference opening game. Wilkins was roundly applauded when he declared "We have potentially the best football team to ever represent Colorado High."

Students who had entered the school as transfers from other districts were also present.

COLORADO JEWISH PEOPLE UNITE WITH FAITH AROUND THE WORLD IN GALA FETE

Rosh Hashana, New Year, Is Being Celebrated In City This Week; Stores Stay Closed During Thursday

With the setting of the sun Wednesday afternoon, Jews at Colorado and throughout the world ushered in their New Year, 5697. The solemn occasion, called in Hebrew, Rosh Hashana, is accepted by folk of that faith as one of the most sacred on their religious calendar.

The celebration can be traced back to Biblical times when Rosh Hashana, a festival marking opening of the agricultural season, was one of the most joyful of occasions. Following the expulsion of the Jewish people from the Holy Land it assumed an even greater significance as Rabbinic tradition connected the festival with the beginning of creation. It was then taught that on this day the Creator has ever living creature pass before Him for judgment.

To this day the influence of that tradition is evident in Rosh Hashana. Jews are called upon to examine themselves and resolve to improve themselves during the year. Throughout the prayers offered at this time the idea of self-regeneration and penitence is evident. In Jewish synagogues the world over rabbis preach in these services that humble penitence must be offered for past sins.

The religious services, which began Wednesday at sundown, and end with the appearance of stars Friday, are climaxed by the blowing of the shofar, a ram's horn, which takes place in the middle of the service. This horn, which is blown only at this time and at the conclusion of Yom Kippur, is used to remind the worshiper of his responsibilities to God and his fellow men. It is part of the basic New Year's service which has come down from the past.

These Mitchell County 'Amateurs'

This column's spotlight turns this week to Big Spring whence came the five young people who offered the winning numbers on last Friday night's amateur hour at Ruddick park.

The two who composed the Fred Astaire-Ginger Rogers dancing team that won first place were 10-year-old Mary Ann Dudley and 11-year-old Dean Miller.

Mary Ann is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. B. Dudley of Big Spring, Mr. Dudley being a merchant there. During her 10 years Mary Ann has lived in Oklahoma City, Enid, Oklahoma, and Amarillo, Texas, but the last six have been spent in Big Spring. Her birthday is May 5, her birthplace Enid, Oklahoma. She's in the sixth grade.

She toe taps, toe dances, and just taps, usually with Dean Miller. She's had three dancing teachers during her five years of dancing lessons—Miss Booth, Miss Frost, and Robert Riegel. Last February when the Riegel school presented its recital at the Colorado High school auditorium she furnished one of the numbers. Although she enjoys dancing "best of all," her main ambition is to teach dancing and physical training—a rather level-headed ambition for one so young, don't you think?

As for the masculine half of this winning dance team, Master Dean Miller—he expresses the wish to be a "good dancer" when he grows up.

Dean was born in Electra, Texas, on August 4, 1925. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Miller, his father being a dry cleaner in Big Spring. They have lived in Big Spring nine years. Like Mary Ann Dudley, Dean is a student in the Riegel school of dancing. He has been taking dancing two years, and also like Mary Ann, appears in the school's spring and fall recitals.

This school year finds Dean in the sixth grade. According to the mass of opinion in Colorado, he makes a swell but diminutive Fred Astaire.

By design or otherwise, the Big Spring High school girls' trio that won second place Friday night included a brunette (Clarinda Mary Sanders), a blonde (Jane Lee Hannah), and a red-head (Wanda Alice McQuain). And the ambitions of the three range from dietetics to grand opera.

The trio made its first public appearance in December, 1935, and since that time has sung for various Big Spring club functions and has taken part in a number of contests, winning high places. In the Inter-scholastic League meet in Abilene last year they won second place. They have sung over the radio in Midland. As a trio they study classical music under a Mrs. Bruce Frazier and popular music under Miss Mary Vance Kneaster.

Clarinda Mary Sanders, the brunette, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Sanders of 808 Main street, Big Spring. She was born November 13, 1919, making her 16 now. The birthplace was Knox City. The family lived in Eden before moving to Big Spring six years ago. She sings alto—low alto at that—stands five foot five, and weighs 116 pounds. Likes to swim and dance, but golf and football are her favorite sports when it comes to looking on. Has studied voice under Mrs. Frazier for nine months. Collects small china or metal dogs, of which she has more than 200. Has had three years in home economics and is going to major in dietetics in college, her ambition being to become dietitian in some large hospital.

The blonde, Jane Lee Hannah, is five foot two in height, 105 pounds in weight, and sixteen years in age. Has been in Big Spring eight years and before going there lived in Lake Charles, La.; Bay City, Texas; Port Arthur, Texas; Shreveport,

Louisiana; and Dallas, Texas. Her parents are Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hannah of 605 Nolan street, Big Spring. Dancing, swimming, tennis are her favorite sports, and she likes to watch football, basketball, and other active games. Has "no desire" to be a music or voice teacher—likes music but doesn't want to make her living "that way." Is a little undecided about what her life-work will be but has "a number" of things in mind.

She of the singing—and dancing—ambitions is Wanda Alice McQuain, the red-head. At 15 she's a junior in Big Spring High school. Lived in Fort Worth until moving to Big Spring nearly two years ago. Is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. D. McQuain. Likes to sing both popular and classical music, thrills to all kinds of dancing, swimming, and horseback riding. Wants to continue her voice study under Mrs. Bruce Frazier through her high school days. That's the trio—and a tactful as well as talented trio it is, too, because they said, in unison: "We never enjoyed singing more than we did in your city last Friday night."

Supervisors Check Lands Included In Cooperative Pacts

Federal Representatives Are Progressing on Task Begun Thursday of Last Week

Supervisors who Thursday of last week started the task of checking Mitchell county farms for compliance are making progress, it was stated Thursday morning from the county farm agent's office.

Each producer will be notified as to the day and hour on which the supervisor is to call at his farm. Producers so notified are requested to be present at his home at the date and hour assigned. In event he is not, another date for inspection will be assigned, at least thirty days later.

In event the supervisor should fail to arrive on schedule, due to conditions over which he has no control, another inspection date will be set.

Area of the cooperating farms, fields or tracts will not be calculated by the supervisors. Such calculations are to be made in office of the county farm agent.

Ginning Total Of County Rises To Over 2500 Bales

Receipts Advance Nearly 750 Bales In Spite Of Rainy Days

In spite of this week's wet days the ginning total of the county has advanced 746 bales since last Thursday, according to figures tabulated at the Record office Thursday noon. The total now stands at around 2,574 bales as compared with 1,728 bales last week.

Colorado gins gained on those of Lorraine to cut Lorraine's lead of 112 bales last week to only 23 bales this week. Colorado had received 892 bales, Lorraine 915. Colorado's ginning was distributed as follows: Farmers Cooperative, 149; Farmers Gin company No. Three, 316; Lambeth, 85; Concrete, 191; Williams-Miller, 151.

Westbrook reported 372 bales, Buford 1935. Hyman and Valley View together were estimated at 200 bales. Seed was selling at $34 a ton, the staple at 12.15.

Mrs. P. K. Mackey was in Sweetwater Monday.

Wife Objected To Hubby's Parent Doing The Nude And Then The Fight Was On

W. H. Jampey and E. Davidson, justice of the peace and constable respectively of Wilmeth, Sunday afternoon arrested a man at Bronte charged with beating his wife, an expectant mother, at the family home near Wilmeth as a climax to a family fuss arising from the woman's objection to her mother-in-law's alleged nudist practices.

The wife, said to be in a serious condition, told officers that the trouble began some days ago when her husband's mother, a nudist, arrived from California to live with them. She insisted that if her mother-in-law was to stay with them she must wear clothes—this precipitated trouble.

At the time of his arrest, the accused had a rod of iron in his car with which he said his wife hit him before he assaulted her. He was taken to Ballinger and jailed, where he will be held pending the final outcome of his wife's condition.

The couple are the parents of several children, and are located at Wilmeth temporarily until the cotton picking season ends.

Heat And Drouth In August Cause Range Reverses

Ten-Point Decline Reported By Austin Bureau Friday; Feed, Too, Is Scarce

Extreme heat and lack of moisture in August caused a ten-point decline in Texas range conditions, the monthly report of the Division of Crop and Livestock Estimates at Austin showed Friday.

Condition of cattle ranges Sept. 1 was 75 per cent of normal compared with 85 Aug. 1, 80 a year ago and 77 for the ten-year average (1926-1935). Greatest deterioration occurred in the northern half of the State. Grass and feed suffered from the drought. Most ranges in this section still had a poor to fair supply of dry grass, but moisture was greatly needed to revive grass in order to increase the poor to fair prospects of winter grazing and furnish moisture for winter wheat.

Feed supplies in the extreme drought area in North Central and Northwest Texas are limited, and many cattle will have to be moved out of these areas unless moisture is received in time to make some forage feed and provide winter wheat grazing. Stock water is also very short in some areas of North Texas. In South Texas there is ample stock water and ample to surplus feed supplies.

Sheep ranges declined from 88 per cent Aug. 1 to 78 per cent Sept. 1. This compares with a 77 per cent ten-year average. The major part of the sheep area was still in fair to good condition Sept. 1 and ranges carried a fair to good supply of matured grass. Rain is needed to revive the grass to improve sheep grazing. Prospects for winter sheep grazing are still good, the report revealed.

Cattle declined, 88 per cent to 82, from August to September, compared with 84 per cent a year ago and 82 for the ten-year average. Cattle have lost some flesh in the northern part of the State but are in good condition. Shipments were light during August.

Sheep declined from 85 to 81 per cent during the month. This condition compares with 86 per cent a year ago and 82 per cent for the ten-year average.

Sixteen Colorado Teachers Spent Most Of Their Vacation Getting More 'Education'

At least 16 members of the faculty of Colorado public schools spent the greater part of their "vacation" months getting more "education" in order that they might bring more of the same to Colorado school children this year.

More than half of this number were working on their master's degrees in various colleges and universities. The others, with a few possible exceptions, were working on their B. A. or B. S. degrees.

John E. Watson, superintendent of schools, spent six weeks working on his master's degree at Texas Tech. He is majoring in administrative education and minoring in English.

Miss Velma Barrett, head of the high school English department enrolled at the Peabody Teachers' college in Nashville, Tennessee, to work on her master's degree in English.

Charles Brazil, teacher of social science in the high school, worked on two degrees, his master's and his B.B.A., in the University of Texas, majoring in administrative education and business administration.

Omer W. Cline, high school teacher of history, was enrolled in North Texas State Teachers' college at Denton to do further work on his master's degree, majoring in educational administration and minoring in English.

Robert Coffman, geometry teacher in the high school, continued work on his master's in Peabody at Nashville, Tenn. Administrative education is his major history his minor.

Miss Gladys Miller of the English faculty, worked on her master's at Salem College, West Virginia, where she also taught.

Jack Christian, coach, and Adrian Clark, assistant coach, both attended the state-wide coaching school held at Texas Christian university.

Miss Louise Bradford, social science teacher in junior high school, did special work while in the University of Texas as assistant in the government department.

J. V. Glover, Junior High school principal, was in Texas Tech at Lubbock to continue work on his master's with administrative education as his major.

Juan P. Mason now of the High school English faculty, majored in administrative education and minored in English while working on his master's at the University of Texas.

Miss Lenora Cook, who teaches English in Junior High school, worked on her B. A. degree in Texas Tech all summer. She is majoring in English.

Mrs. Floyd Quinney, principal of the Hutchinson Ward school, worked on her B. A. degree in Texas Tech.

Negro School Will Be Opened Monday In Church Building

Allen Connell, Sponsor, Is Anxious That Patrons Have Part In Opening Bill

The negro school is to be opened Monday morning at 9 o'clock in the Mount Zion Baptist church with indications pointing to another good year there, according to Allen Connell, official sponsor of the institution.

"I cannot make an address here this morning for fear such might detract from the things that I have in my heart to do as the school I represent opens next Monday," Connell stated after having been called upon for a brief address during exercises opening high school Monday.

The school board hopes that funds for building a new school building to replace the structure burned last Spring, will be available soon.

McENTIRES NARROWLY ESCAPE IN CAR WRECK

If any enterprising concern wants a testimonial on safety glass they can get a fervent one from Mrs. Randolph McEntire.

Because if there hadn't been safety glass all around in the McEntire car, and if most of that glass hadn't been up when the car overturned on the Sterling City road last Friday—well, this story might be a tragedy instead of whatever it is.

Mrs. McEntire and daughters, Gillian and Marilyn, were driving to Sterling City to visit her people Friday when the car struck loose gravel on a curve 10 miles this side of Sterling and overturned. It turned over completely landing back on its wheels. And the three McEntires had only minor bruises—and a great big scare—to show for it.

The glass was shattered, but held together. That on the side where the little girls were had been rolled up only a few minutes before because of the wind, to which fact they probably owe unbroken necks. The car was pushed on to Sterling and Mrs. McEntire and the girls remained there until Monday, when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Lowe, Sr., brought them home.

Continued Rain In County Brings End To Drouth Period

But Little Stock Water Is Caught In Surface Tanks; Late Feed Benefitted

Continued rain over this section of the State, that Thursday noon had been falling at intervals since Tuesday brought relief from effects of the extended drouth and material benefit to late food crops. An even two inches of the moisture had been registered at Colorado up to 10 o'clock Thursday morning.

The rain covered all parts of the county, according to reports brought into town Thursday by farmers and ranchers. In some localities the precipitation was lighter than here, while in others more moisture was received.

Cattlemen, while appreciating the moisture, were scanning a cloud covered sky and hoping that additional rain would fall. Up to noon they had received but little, if any water in their surface tanks on the range and stock water continued to be scarce in several localities. Lake at the Colorado Country Club is almost dry and fish in the waters there may be lost.

South and east from Colorado the rain grew heavier. At San Angelo a total of 12.91 inches had fallen up to Wednesday night, crippling rail and motor traffic in that section. Some State highways had been closed.

TIMELY ADVICE GIVEN ON WINTER GARDENING

Handed especially timely by the rains that have fallen recently, following advice on the planting of fall gardens has been issued from the office of Miss Emma Ginter, county home demonstration agent, Wednesday.

Instead of plans for Fall gardens it appears plans for winter gardens are the plans at present. For those women that do not have a protected place and water to keep the plants growing a green bed arranged in a hot bed could be used most extensively this winter. Such places have afforded in a small amount of space as lettuce, mustard radishes and turnips for winter salads and turnishes, with little or no trouble. These beds can be maintained all winter and in the early spring can be started and ready for hot beds.

Those that have a cleaned garden can be watered should plan to raise turnips, (Shiraz) beets, carrots, baby mustard, radishes and lettuce. Most of these vegetables will grow quickly and mature in 40 to 50 days.

Nearly every farm home in Mitchell county has been short in obtaining of vegetables this season and consequently will have to buy either fresh or in the can sufficient vegetables to maintain an adequate diet. Since crops are short it behooves every one to take interest in a home grown spot if facilities are at hand for doing so.

DROUTH, LIKE THE POOR, HAVE EVER BEEN NOTED

Devastating drouth, like the Biblical promise regarding the poor, will in all probability be with us always. At any rate the Dallas Morning News in its Fifty Years Ago Today column notes that ladies of the First Presbyterian church there had just shipped 300 pounds of bacon, 1,200 pounds of flour and ten barrels of crackers to drouth sufferers in Midland and Coleman counties. $250 in cash had been raised for the benefit of Stephens county.

HEAVIEST RAINFALL FOR FORTY YEARS AT ANGELO

Torrential rains at San Angelo and over that section of West Texas Tuesday morning sent streams on rampages and left considerable property damage in wake of the flood. A total of 12 inches fell at San Angelo, heaviest in forty years. Rock Springs and other towns in the South Texas area reported unusually heavy downpours.

ROSCOE LOSES TO PONY CLUB IN INITIAL GAME

The Roscoe Plowboys, regional champions in Class B football last season, were defeated 26 to 6 Friday night by the Sweetwater Mustangs at Newman Field, Sweetwater. Thrill of the contest was when Doyle Pitts, quarter on the Plowboy eleven, intercepted a Mustang pass and raced 91 yards for the only touchdown by his club.

Coloradoan Grief Stricken In News Of Youth's Death

Mahon Recalled That Son Of Congressman South Was 'Outstanding Young Man'

Congressman George Mahon was grief stricken early Wednesday morning when informed by The Record that Carl W. South, 18, son of Congressman Charles S. South of Coleman, had plunged to his death from tenth floor of a Lubbock hotel the afternoon before.

"The news is indeed shocking to me and I plan getting in touch with Congressman South at once, Mr. Mahon stated. "The Coleman House member is one of my close personal friends and I had learned to entertain a most high regard for his son, Carl, whom I knew in Washington."

The youth who came to Lubbock Tuesday to enroll as a student in the Texas Technological College, registered at a downtown hotel a short time before the fatal plunge. He left two notes in his room, one that his father be notified in Coleman and the other to Charles Hickman of Lubbock, a friend.

The youth was born and reared in Coleman. He graduated from Coleman high school with honors at the age of 15. Two years ago last spring when his father entered the race for congress, Carl took the stump and won the reputation as a forceful speaker.

Father of Carl, notified late Wednesday in Coleman of his son's death, could offer no explanation for the suicidal act.

practically unchanged over 3,000 years.

It is at this time that families were reunited much as are the Christian families at Christmas time. Greeting cards bearing the sender's best wishes for health and success are sent in abundance. Candles are lighted in homes and many Jewish families hold small at home parties. The celebration is one of joy and happiness without hilarity; one in which serious contemplation of one's self is necessary.

Rosh Hashana, which inaugurates the holy season, is closely followed Friday evening and Saturday by Shabbos Shuvah, the Sabbath of Repentance, and a week later by the Day of Atonement, Yom Kippur, the most solemn of all Jewish holidays.

Jewish stores at Colorado were closed Thursday out of respect to the New Year. These places of business are to again be closed on Saturday, September 26 until close of the sacred holiday, Yom Kippur, at 5 p.m.

STUDENTS ENTER CLASSES AT JUNIOR HIGH AND WARD SCHOOLS MONDAY MORN

Prospects Are Assuring For Successful Year, Heads Of These Units Say; Total Of 755 Pupils Enrolled

Seven hundred and fifty-five boys and girls were registered at Junior high, Hutchinson, Coleman and the Mexican schools Monday morning as doors of those units of the Colorado educational system swung open for another year. Additional class registrations were expected during the week to boost aggregate to near the 800-mark.

Prospects for another school year of progress are evident, leading the faculty and student body to start their routine in the class room with optimism. J. V. Glover, principal of junior high, stated Tuesday morning, "I have never seen a finer school spirit nor a higher type of boys and girls within the walls of this building," was his comment.

An informal program was observed at the school at 9 o'clock with Mr. Glover in charge. Two songs, "America," and "The Eyes of Texas," directed by Miss Cal Yates, faculty member, were sung. Mrs. E. L. Latham played the piano accompaniment. Announcements relative to class room and book assignments were made and the students and their teachers went to their home rooms. Members of the teaching staff were introduced during the program.

No formal opening exercises were held at either the Hutchinson or Coleman schools. Mrs. Floyd Quinney, principal at the former, was all smiles as she talked of her impression that another outstanding year was being started. Miss Pearl Traylor, principal at the Coleman building, was equally optimistic.

Two substitute teachers were being used in junior high school Tuesday morning. Juan Mason, social science teacher there, was transferred to high school Monday night and assigned as teacher of Freshman English. Miss Lea Swope, another faculty member there, was still in the hospital but expected to be in her place within the week. Mrs. Joe Pond, a former teacher, is substituting for Mason and Mrs. Adrian Clark, wife of the assistant Wolf mentor, for Miss Swope.

Enrollment by schools Monday morning was as follows: Junior high, 310; Hutchinson, 155; Coleman, 210; Mexican school, 50.

Glover estimated that forty of the students registered at junior high school were transfers from other districts. Buses are being operated to transfer these scholastics, as well as students attending high school, to and from their rural homes. There was a total of 157 transfers registered at office of Superintendent J. E. Watson before the schools opened.

He Had Longed To Unite With Lions During The Years

C. A. Wilkins Received Into Club Friday; Christian and Williams Are Elected

"I have entertained ambition to unite with this club for ten years and I assure every member of the organization that I am proud to become a Lion."

That was the statement made Friday noon by C. A. Wilkins, principal of high school, after the Rev. Cal C. Wright, pastor of First Methodist church, had presented the recently elected club to the membership.

Coach Jack Christian of the Wolves and Dr. Bill Williams, veterinarian were elected to membership in the club Friday.

It developed during the program that Lion Wilkins' name is "Claud A. Wilkins." President Walter Whipkey ruled that he should be called "C. A." and fined the new member ten cents for not having entered his name correctly on the registration roster.

SCHOOL ADVANTAGES NOT GOOD IN PIONEER TIMES PIONEER EDITOR STATES

There is a vast difference between advantages offered the boy and girl of today and those of more than half a century ago. F. B. Whipkey, pioneer Colorado editor and publisher, stated during an address at opening of high school Monday morning.

"I have found down through the years that I have been handicapped in not having had opportunity to acquire an education in my youth," the veteran newspaper man stated. "You boys and girls should make use of every facility at your command to equip yourselves for the problems of life that are out ahead, and an education such as is to be received within these walls is among the truly important factors in attaining success."

TWENTY STUDENTS ARE ENROLLED AT ROGERS

Only seven grades are being taught at Rogers this year, high school pupils riding the bus to Colorado. Paul Sweatt is principal and Miss Ruth Byrd is his assistant.

ACCIDENT PREVENTION FOR RURAL FOLK LISTED AS AN OBJECTIVE OF RED CROSS

E. L. Griffin, Field Agent Of St. Louis, Addresses Lions On Ambitions About Which Programs Are Built

That the American Red Cross is extending its activities to include educational leadership in the field of farm accident prevention and first aid on the highways, along with its already established relief and rehabilitation program in the wake of disaster, was outlined during an address at the Lions Club Friday by E. L. Griffin of St. Louis, field representative for the organization.

Mr. Griffin was introduced by J. H. Greene, for several years chairman of the Mitchell county chapter. The Red Cross official was in Colorado to outline plans for annual roll call in Mitchell county. In reference to objectives of the American Red Cross, Mr. Griffin said:

"None of you are strangers to the Red Cross. Therefore, it is not my purpose to convince you of its usefulness. Instead, whatever I have to say about the organization's aims or accomplishments should be regarded as a report back to you of your agency's activities. Today, as always, the Red Cross is of and by the people. Hence, the people are entitled to know what is being done with the funds they contribute.

"In the last fiscal year, ending June 30, your Red Cross experienced one of its busiest years in a decade. It not only continued its far-reaching activities in the health field, in extending assistance to service and ex-service men and their dependents, in spreading international good will through its Juniors; but it reached new heights in highway first aid and accident prevention work. Moreover, it experienced one of its heaviest years of disaster relief when calamities averaged two a week for the twelve-month period.

"Your membership made possible the establishment of 1,000 highway first aid stations where volunteers are trained to deal with emergencies until the doctor arrives.

"Your membership made possible the inspection of 15,000,000 homes by children and their parents in a concerted effort to reduce accident hazards in the home where 31,500 persons die needlessly each year from mishaps.

"Your membership and your generous support made possible the successful handling of unprecedented disaster operations, including the devastating eastern floods and southern tornadoes of last spring.

"Your membership made possible the saving of countless lives by the spreading of knowledge and training in water safety by the Red Cross.

"Your membership brought joy at Christmas time to disabled veterans and hospitalized United States soldiers and sailors on foreign soil due to the tons of gifts sent to them by the Junior Red Cross—which is the Red Cross in the schools.

"Your membership gave hundreds of new-born babies a better start because they were given complete layettes made by local chapter volunteers.

"Your membership lightened the hearts of the blind because volunteers completed 342,274 pages of hand-copied Braille in order that the sightless might read more books by the touch system.

"Surely, few of you realize the full significance of your membership or the indispensable place in the community of your Red Cross.

"In all its activities this nationwide organization represents you. It is your agent—and as such it is to you, through the Red Cross, that thousands of friendless, helpless individuals look each year for help."

Duet Dancers Win First In Contest At Park Attraction

Others From Big Spring And China Grove Well Received On Amateur Program

An entertainment bill of exceptional merit was presented at Ruddick Park amphitheatre Friday night by guest artists, brought to Colorado from Big Spring, China Grove and Lorraine.

Major share of the honors, as indicated through applause and allocation of prizes, went to amateurs presented under direction of Shine Phillips of Big Spring. The China Grove orchestra was a top notcher, as were numbers by Mrs. W. R. Martin and children of Lorraine and Miss Gladys Miller of Colorado.

Mary Ann Dudley and Dean Miller in their duet dance captured popular favor as the winners for first place on the amateur cast. Second place was taken by the Big Spring high school trio. Both of these features were included in the Phillips program.

Glen Queen, the singing soda jerker, the bank house trio and the Moore school stringed quartet, other entertaining specialties on the Big Spring guest program, were also good.

GUEST ARTIST DIRECTOR SURPRISED TO SEE SUCH INTEREST IN PARK BILL

"I am delightfully surprised in more than one way," announced Shine Phillips of Big Spring, director of the amateur program given last Friday evening at Ruddick Park, when I look out before me tonight. "I came to Colorado expecting to be greeted by one hundred and fifty to two hundred people, assembled in just an ordinary plat in your park. But I have found one of the most magnificent outdoor theatres I have ever seen and a crowd of from 3,000 to 2,500 people to hear our program."

Mr. Phillips told a representative of The Record in Big Spring a few days later that Colorado had much to be proud of in her park and the facilities for staging community programs provided there. "I wish that my home city had something to equal it in beauty and usefulness," he concluded.

MEXICAN CELEBRATION IS OBSERVED LOCALLY

The Mexican population of this vicinity joined other Mexicans of the state Tuesday and Wednesday in celebrating the 126th anniversary of Mexico's independence from Spain.

Plans for a street dance in Colorado just east of the courthouse fell through when it was found that most of the Mexican musical talent had already been engaged to play elsewhere. A small dance took place in the Mexican settlement near the refinery. Probably the county's largest celebration was held in the Lorraine ball park.

PARK PROGRAM WILL BE STARTED AT 7:30 P. M.

Program to be given at Ruddick Park Friday night is to start promptly at 7:30 o'clock, Jim Greene, in charge, stated earlier during the week. A thirty minute program is to be given by local artists before turning the mike over to the Sweetwater entertainers.

The following local entertainers are to be presented: Hawaiian music, Redwines; violin solo, Boyd Dozier; accordion solo, R. L. Hillburn; vocal duet, Hazel and Walter Grubbs; novelty dance, Vivian Giddens, and a comedy special.

Rabies Scare Sent Scores Of Dogs To Execution Grounds

Official Dog Catcher Rounds Up 210 Of The Animals In The Past Thirty Days

Concerted drive by the administration to rid Colorado of stray dogs, coupled with the recent rabies scare, is credited with sending 210 of these animals to the municipal execution grounds during the fiscal month ending Monday. The record achieved by Dog Catcher C. O. Harper set a new high mark for Colorado.

Attaches at the city hall said Tuesday morning that they had never seen such a collection of dog tails. Ordinance affecting the killing of dogs picked up in town without the regulation license tag provides that terminal appendage of the victim be brought into an executive meeting of the council for official count. Harper is paid so much a tail for his services.

[QUESTIONS THAT ARE ASKED ABOUT BANKING]

"Do Banks pay their expenses out of deposits?"

THE operating expenses of a bank are not paid out of deposits, because deposits belong to customers. These expenses are paid from the income a bank earns. A bank derives its income chiefly from interest on loans, returns on investments and charges for financial services rendered.

The earnings of a bank are used chiefly in three ways: first, to pay for salaries, insurance, equipment and other operating expenses; second, to build up a surplus for added protection of depositors and to set aside reserves as a safeguard against known liabilities and unforeseen contingencies; and third, to pay to stockholders, in dividends, a fair return on the money they have invested in the bank's capital stock.

In the management of this bank we endeavor to maintain maximum efficiency and keep operating costs at a minimum consistent with good service.

BACK TO SCHOOL

Sometimes we doubt if an authority on any subject knows much about it.

On Monday of this week our public schools opened. The public was invited to the opening and amidst much oratory the session began its 1936-1937 term.

One of the commencement orators warned this years graduates from trying to set the world on fire the first year out of school and that seemed particularly timely as the drought has made even a small fire dangerous.

This column writer graduated (?) in a one room, one teacher school back in the 70's. We mastered readen, righten and rithmetic. In Webster's Blue Back speller we got as far as "Baker." In Ray's arithmetic we mastered the multiplication table and in McGuffey's third reader we got as far as "The Boy Stood On the Burning Deck." All of which qualifies us to criticize and advise the faculty.

The merry school bell that the old poets frequently mentioned is rarely heard now when the schools open for business. Perhaps the reason is that all the teachers and many of the students as well have watches on their wrists. The school bell may have gone into limbo with the bootjack and the sunbonnet, but the teachers' problems remain and, in many respects, they are more difficult than ever.

Success in teaching largely depends upon two things, the teacher's personality and the ability to make a subject interesting rather than just a job for the pupil. A teacher must have more than just a mastery of the subject. He may know, but lacks the ability to impart. He should have, as well, a sympathetic understanding of the learner's difficulties and how to overcome them. And so far as it is possible in our crowded schools, he should attempt to know his pupils in their daily life, their interests, home conditions, school records and social life. This is indeed asking much for small pay, but it is hard to find a substitute for knowing one's pupils. The reason is obvious.

The ability to dry up a subject is one of the major articles of any book on "how to fail in teaching." For the beginners in a language, say the Latin one variety of teacher will make it so dry and dusty that the language is ruined forever for the pupil. While another variety of teacher, by a few talks on the derivation of words, with examples given on the board, may make the subject as fascinating as a mystery story. This teacher's pupils will, one day, be found puzzling out a little Latin "for fun," where the first teacher's pupils will forever regard the Romans' tongue with abhorrence and shun it as they would the plague.

Teachers' training classes may perhaps do much for a teacher, but after all, it is the teacher's personality and his own living interest in his subject that will make his success. In every subject taught, there is much work to be done in the kitchen, but if it is faithfully and interestingly done, the students will in time find themselves in the library.

The modern teacher is not so likely to be the victim of intolerance and fanaticism, and while his student may not attain to the world-wide distinction gained by some of old time, still it is just as possible now as it was then; and this should be impressed upon the student. Opportunity is his enemy, as it was for those of the past. Every field of human activity is wide open to the ambitious, studious, energetic and honest young man and woman of today.

TO THE STUDENTS

Brain still challenges brawn. It always has and always will, and it will always win. It always has. If you would be a leader you must be a master, and there is no leadership without mastership. The first thing to master is yourself. Self-mastery is the greatest achievement it is possible for one to accomplish.

He who does not master himself, will himself be mastered by others. One who can master himself—overcome vicious impulses, conquer bad habits, repress inclinations to indulge in immoral and illegal practices—and fails to do it, is not fit for leadership of men and the mastership of situations.

Don't be a slave to anything. A habit is your boss when you can not deny its appeal. When you find it getting control of you, quit it. Better still, don't begin it.

Don't trifle with habits, fire, dynamite, T. N. T. or lawbreaking, civil or divine.

You must have a free mind in a free body to be a master. Better a free mind in a slave's body than a slave mind in a freeman's body. If you are not governed from within you will be from without. Your most formidable foe is inside. New ropes couldn't bind Samson, but Delilah's silken tresses did.

Are You Worth It?

We are told that it costs ten times as much labor, effort and money to make a college graduate as it does to prepare the average man for his work, and a hundred times as much as to raise a boy without an education. Are you worth it?

Those who are educated have heard often the necessity for practicing the virtues, because of the positive need for it throughout life. Therefore you should possess them and, having them, practice them. This admonition is presented here because it is the experience of the ages that without this practice one is a failure. Without this you can't be a master.

You can't be a success without using the equipment necessary to achieving it. You can't gain entrance into the Treasure House of Knowledge by "knocking the knob." You can't gain a seat in the Hall of Fame by "jimmying" a window.

You can't open the door of the Mansion of Success with a "frat" key. The great massive doors to these institutions yield only to him who has a MASTER key.

It is well enough to have dreams as to marvelous things you wish to do, but remember, sometimes day dreams turn out to be nightmares. Aircastles are not worth while unless you can put foundations under them.

Don't waste life mining fool's gold. Know that what you are digging for is the real metal. Don't spend time and skill developing an orchard that will produce only apples of Sodom.

All you will gain by blowing bubbles is the lung exercise. Don't pose. Be yourself. Posing is simply a form of hypocrisy and every one recognizes a poser as a fraud. No imitation is as good as the genuine article.

It matters not how beautiful the original gem, no one wants a counterfeit of it. If you think you are a "diamond in the rough," let your educational advantages be the lapidary that will make you shine. If you are not, every one will know it.

A fool who is wise enough to fool the world is not a fool. But if there has been such a one he's not in "Who's Who." It is easy enough to be rough, but it is not so easy to be a diamond. Develop Your Material. Don't work on the other fellow. Improve and develop yourself. If you have the right sort of material in you, you'll always do more and better work than is required of you.

The man with right ambition, genius, talent is never satisfied with the humdrum monotony of ordinary existence. If you do not use your gifts, small and great, you will be simply human rubbish. Look out for the broom.

Horseshoes, rabbits' feet and "luck pieces" are the talismans of laziness and stupidity. Men are not great because they succeed. They succeed because they are great.

Don't depend upon the reputation gained by some ancestor. Your real worth to the world is represented by zero if it consists in something your grandfather did. You are not great because he was, any more than he was great because you are not. Do something and be something yourself.

You Don't Have To Be Pretty
Good looks are not an index to character, nor indicative of genius. Better be crippled physically than mentally—in the foot than in the head.

The real standard is not length, breadth and thickness, but quality. The true measure of success is usefulness. No life can be called commonplace if it is a useful life.

One reason Progress has not made more rapid headway is that mind has had to be burdened with so much matter. You can not add to your quota of brains, but you can give quality to what you have.

Steinmetz, electrical wizard, was a hunchback and a dwarf physically, but he was a mental giant with an unconquerable will. Genius is seldom found in the keeping of Apollos and Venuses. So rare is the combination of beauty and genius that it is considered a phenomenon. The niches in the Hall of Fame contain few of them.

But don't become discouraged because the unthinking care more for handsome morons than for brilliant minds in unattractive bodies. Try to develop to the limit both mind and body.

Mind Is What You Are
Your mind is what you are. A mental giant in the body of a dwarf is an asset. A handsome fool is a liability.

If you find you are not so well endowed with brains as you thought you were, that proves you are better off than most people, for they never find this out. The "high part of the tune" is to use wisely what you have.

Very few use to the full all their mental powers, just as very few are awake to every opportunity and take advantage of it. It's a steep hill and it requires energy, determination and patience to make the grade. If you don't have these you'd as well stay where you are.

Better be too lazy to start than too cowardly to keep on. Gone are the days when all a girl asked for on the first day of school was a slate pencil and maybe a new hair ribbon.

PICKED UP ALONG THE NEWS PATH

Shortly before dusk Sunday evening crowds were gathered on the river bridges to watch a head-rise come down the Colorado river. It was a very gentle rise, and not a very big one, the river not being up over three, or four feet when the maximum was reached. The water came slowly, spreading thinly out over the river bed. Filled with a large amount of trash, it had a terrific odor. Judging from the rate at which the water was moving down the river channel the rains that caused the rise probably fell several days ago far up the river.

One man watching the rising water recalled a time some 14 or 15 years ago when he saw a four-foot wall of water come rolling and roaring down the Colorado river channel. We'd like to see one like that, but in 20 years of living right by the river bank we never saw the beginning of even a small rise until Sunday evening.

Recently we've heard two different people call Dorris Louise Summers, 3-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Summers, the politest small person they know. Personally, we think any little girl who will say "please" and "thank you" all on her own belongs in something like an "oddtorium"—one for very nice but very unusual people.

Curiosity teaser: The wedding of a well-known young Colorado couple is in the offing. So far as we know, no particular effort is being made to keep the approaching event in the dark, but there isn't—or wasn't at last accounts—going to be any fanfare such as announcements and all that.

It's probably not news to a lot of Coloradans but we didn't know until the other day that a Colorado boy, Bill Viles, is dancing in "The Last Frontier" at the Fort Worth Frontier Centennial. A number of Coloradans who have attended the Frontier Centennial have run into him. He is in the square dance numbers.

Well, the "Promising" oil company had that barbecue for Max Bentley, editor of the Abilene Reporter-News. It all grew out of a story in the Abilene paper on Mitchell county's homecoming parade back in August. The "Promising" oil company had an oil field pickup and a ballyhoos (Bob May) in that parade and the reporter from the Abilene paper was told that the "Promising" oil company was a club of oil men "formed as a joke." The writer of this column has always taken full blame for that statement, if blame there is. But it didn't do any good—we simply were not invited to the barbecue, not even after we reminded the "Promising" oil men who it was that started all this business, anyway.

Ring-leaders in the barbecue plans included "Big Jim" Cantrill, "Diminsky" Dockery, Lay Powell, (on whose ranch the barbecue was held), Bob Brennan, Harry Ratliff, and others. It was Ratliff, Dockery, and other literary-minded members of the club who wrote the letter of "protestation" which Max Bentley published verbatim in the Abilene paper a few days after the homecoming parade article.

Editor Cites Park Attractions As An Honor To Any City

'One Of The Greatest To Be Found In This Area,' Max Bentley Of Abilene Says

The improvements at Ruddick Park, with special reference to the amphitheatre and interest reflected in weekly program there by the people of this county are outstanding in this section, according to Max Bentley, managing editor of the Abilene Morning News and Abilene Reporter, who Friday night was a visitor there while program under direction of Shine Phillips of Big Spring was being presented.

"This amphitheatre would be a credit to any city and the citizenship of Mitchell county have something in which to justly reflect pride, the well known newspaper executive declared. "And look at that sea of faces," Bentley continued as he scanned the large crowd present.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Wyatt arrived last week from Los Angeles, California to spend about a week with Mr. Wyatt's father, Lewis Wyatt, and his sister, Miss Ruby Wyatt. She and Mr. Wyatt met and married in Los Angeles after leaving Colorado.

CHEAP Electricity

WORKS NIGHT and DAY in YOUR HOME!

PENNYWISE SAYS:

Not an hour passes in the night or day but that CHEAP ELECTRICITY is making your home more comfortable, keeping it well lighted and helping with the multitude of daily household chores and kitchen tasks. And yet the cost for electricity is only a few cents a day—one of the smallest items of household expense.

With fall and winter approaching, look to the lighting in your home. You'll be surprised how much a good reading light improves the appearance of a room, and how little it costs to have plenty of light for reading or studying.

"A good light for reading will use only about 1/2 cent's worth of electricity an hour."
