

IMPROVED COTTON SOUGHT FOR COLORADO SECTION AS STEP TO RURAL STABILITY

County Agent, Cotton Buyers and Others Urge Attention To Drive Inaugurated Here During Recent Past

Drive launched in Mitchell county a few weeks ago under leadership of the county farm agent, cotton buyers and other citizens to improve the quality of cotton produced on farms of the Colorado territory is being reflected in statements issued for publication by H. H. Williamson of College Station, director of the Texas Extension Service.

Farmers of the county who attended conferences on this subject at Colorado and other community centers are giving due consideration to the matter, when they are confronted with statistics showing that the short staple varieties are gradually becoming less in demand on the market. Resident buyer for one of the South's largest cotton factories stated Tuesday that his house had instructed him to buy no more short staple cotton.

Williamson pointed out that cotton of less than seven-eighths-inch staple was not tenderable on future contracts and that it was subject to severe discounts. Much of the cotton produced by foreign cotton growing countries is of short staple and Texas growers who produce short staple cotton are in competition with cheap labor than are growers of longer staple lint, he said.

Various specialists of the Extension Service have long worked on cotton standardization and improved methods of producing quality cotton, and county agricultural agents have carried campaigns for careful seedbed preparation, clean cultivation, fertilization, one-variety cotton communities, and insect control to farmers. The addition of F. E. Lichte to the extension staff as cotton gin specialist in 1936 was another move to improve the cotton situation.

PACT TO CURB TRANSIENTS SOLICITING FUNDS SIGNED BY 100 CITIZENS OF CITY

Practice Bringing Abuse To Merchants, Speakers State During Conference At C-C Office; Randle Chairman

An agreement to cooperate through the chamber of commerce in drive to curb abuses of the transient solicitor and bring about a closer relationship as between business and professional interests of Colorado and citizens of rural communities, Monday afternoon was accepted by one hundred merchants and other business factors of the city.

Plans for adopting the pact were discussed by Jim Greene, manager of the chamber; J. W. Randle, designated as chairman of committee accepting responsibility to enforce its provisions and other merchants attending the conference.

Several of the merchants present charged that the practice had reached such proportions as to be rightfully classed as an abuse, both to the business man and citizens of rural citizens in whose behalf the solicitor often claimed to be interested.

Curtains for school buildings that should cost less than $30, installed, often represent an outlay of more than $100 by the merchants purchasing advertising on the decorative screen, it was stated. In instances where it is shown that these curtains are needed by any rural school in this territory, the business men agreed to supply same, without cost or obligation to the institution.

Under terms of agreement "in order to prevent the necessity of refusing some solicitors of whom we have no information and at the same time do justice to those who are deserving, we, the undersigned, hereby agree not to subscribe nor contribute to anyone for anything, including all local as well as transient solicitors, unless such solicitor presents a letter of endorsement from the proper committee of the chamber of commerce." The contract further stipulates that any business or professional man entering the agreement pledges to notify the chamber of commerce immediately upon being solicited by any person not presenting the required committee authorization.

The merchants of Colorado will continue, as ever during the past, to extend full cooperation with every deserving project, fostered in town or country, and feels that all citizens having interest in those things will appreciate the stand taken in this instance, the chamber of commerce manager stated. "The move is simply to afford protection from a practice that has annually cost merchants large sums of money, much of which found its way into the pockets of a transient promoter," the statement concluded.

Mrs. Dobbs and others giving the tests were encouraged by the fact that only 5 of the 69 reactions were among high school students where the disease usually is most prevalent. They were discouraged, however, by the increased percentage of positive reactions among younger school children. When the tests were given two years ago only 21 students out of 450 showed traces of the disease.

Tuberculin for the tests, which were given free and with consent of the pupils' parents, was bought with money obtained from the sale of Christmas health seals in the county, Mrs. Dobbs says.

FEDERAL ALLOCATION ON PROPOSED BUILDING OVER $23,000 IF PROJECT OKED

Cost Of Auditorium To City And County Estimated At $12,600; Bond Election Set For February 27

In the event the Colorado electorate authorizes issuance of the $12,000 auditorium bonds on Saturday, February 27, and the project, calling for erection and equipment of a building to cost $36,000 is given final OK by the Federal government, the property would cost Colorado and Mitchell county only $12,600, according to figures announced Thursday morning by Jim Greene, manager of the chamber of commerce.

It would require an annual payment of $1,056 for fifteen years to retire the bonds, Greene said. Based on the present taxable valuation of property within the city limits, $3,000,000, the tax would cost 35.2 cents on the $1,000 valuation per year, he stated.

"If we build a plant for Federated Club, home demonstration agent, Boy Scouts, the band and to house an auditorium seating approximately 1,500, this should be done for $36,000 if economy is practiced. If we are able to secure approval by WPA on a maximum allowable, this plant should cost the sponsor, based upon 35 per cent, $12,600, with the Federal government paying $23,400," Greene said.

"When we consider the material in the tabernacle building, the county contribution of lots and cash, there is left a sufficient allowance to cover any emergency for WPA. If the city council concludes that it is more desirable to work through WPA, then with the same expenditure we could have a $54,000 plant, including everything, if we are able to obtain approval of appropriation for maximum allowances."

MODERN PIRATES!

The days of pirates are over—are they? The buccaneer looting his victims' possessions was forerunner of a modern freebooter who, trafficking in delusive "cures," takes millions from the public.

Curing symptoms is his procedure. When that aggravates a trouble the patient must seek a physician. Symptoms don't mislead the Doctor of Medicine. He corrects causes. Why not seek him first?

Y. M. S. S. ENTERTAINED
Mr. Roy Edwards, teacher of the Young Men's Sunday school class of the Methodist church entertained the class at dinner Thursday evening, Feb. 11, at Mr. Edwards' home.

The home was tastefully decorated with ferns, and red, and white carnations and the long tables were centered by clear little pools on which floated white swans and big green frogs holding bunches of red and white carnations.

The American flag spoke eloquently of Washington and Lincoln and other famous men who were born in the Valentine month. Covers were laid for 20 guests and places were marked by red hearts to each of which was attached a magic nut, foretelling the fortunes of the hopefuls.

Mrs. Edwards and Miss Margaret Ruth Edwards served the following menu: Grapefruit with cherry sauce, Valentine fruit salad, roast chicken with gilet gravy, and Southern style dressing, celery curls, cranberry squares, candied yams, mashed potatoes, English peas, pickles, hot rolls, coffee, layer cake, cherry sherbet.

Much merriment followed the cracking of the fortune nuts which told all the love secrets of the boys, while some were made great leaders, successful business men and famous authors, actors, etc.

Toast were offered to following: Washington, Lincoln, Dwight L. Moody, Rev. Hamilton Wright, and R. A. Edwards. The following young men, Lloyd Beaty, Byron Bennett, Newby Pratt, Roy G. Edwards and Clyde Wilson, each speaking sincerely and eloquently of his particular hero.

Byron Bennett proved to be the best all around Valentine writer as well as "tops" as an extemporaneous speaker, although Duane Bruce, Garland Faulkenberry, Roy Price and Bill Wright followed closely in his footsteps. Byron was given a two pound stick of Red & White candy which he steadfastly refused to divide because he was saving it for "Mandy." Tall stories ran so tall that one was reminded of a C. C. dinner and jokes were new and original as usual. Mr. Newby Pratt told the tallest chicken tale and Arnold Marshall followed almost neck and neck.

Only one thing marred the pleasure of the occasion. This was the absence of three devoted members who were ill. Charles Glass, Kent McGowan and Harris Hamilton.

The young men and their host and hostess will not soon forget the pleasant evening and as this class is one of the most enthusiastic of the church school, they contemplate a growth of membership from week to week.

This class sponsored the first amateur radio program in Mitchell county and can always be counted "ready and willing" in service and finances. All young men between the ages of 14 and 24 are eligible and have a standing invitation to become members.

Rev. Hamilton Wright, pastor, and John Mahon, superintendent, were special guests.

PICKED UP ALONG THE NEWS PATH

It's rather a rare treat for Coloradoans to hear a book reviewed by someone who is blood kin to the subject of that book but such a thing happened at the Hesperian club last Friday. . . . The reviewer was Mrs. Wm. Riach of Evanston, Illinois, and the book she reviewed was a collection of William Vaughn Moody's letters to Harriet Moody, his wife—courtship letters written before their marriage. . . . William Vaughn Moody was Mrs. Riach's cousin. . . . He was an American poet and playwright, born at Spencer, Indiana, in 1869. . . . A graduate of Harvard, he taught English there, at Radcliffe, and at the University of Chicago. . . . As a poet he was very prominent in his day, but he died in 1910 at the prime of life. . . . Best-known to most people, perhaps, are his "The Great Divide" and "The Faith Healer." . . . Mrs. Riach, who is the mother of Mrs. L. L. Ellwood of the Rendenbrook ranch, left this week to return to her home after spending several weeks at the ranch. . . . She attended several Hesperian meetings with Mrs. O. F. Jones of the Rendenbrook. . . .

Prowling about Monday morning I found myself wanting to linger longest in one of Colorado's helplessly laundries. . . . The Monday morning washing rush was on and everybody seemed to be having a good time in spite of rush and work. . . . Gossip flew about and there was plenty of laughter—almost a social event, so to speak. . . . Quite a far haul from the old wash-days out under the wood shed all by one's lonesome self with a scrub-board to fight for hours. . . . My sympathy went out to the washers, however, when the dust-storm swooped down a few minutes after I left the laundry. . . .

The white smoke that drifted across Colorado the latter part of last week came from a cotton ball pile down near the river banks. . . . Such piles always seem to get on fire somehow and smoulder for days or weeks. . . . The fire truck was called out by the blaze Thursday night. . . .

"Hot" was the sign that topped the Colorado hotel last Thursday night and for a few hours Friday morning. . . . That was as far as workmen got in putting up the new hotel sign before quitting time Thursday night. . . . And of course the hotel came in for considerable wisecracking Friday morning. . . .

A recent issue of the Dallas News stated that picture painted by Hastings Simpson, a former Coloradan, has been accepted for exhibition in the Y.M.C.A. in Oak Cliff at Dallas. . . . Simpson is the son of C. W. Simpson, who now lives at Mercedes. . . . He graduated from Colorado High school with the class of '25 and the high school annuals in those days were filled with Simpson art. . . . He is now employed by the Dallas Mailing company, I think. . . .

It's a moot question: Would you choose sandstorms or floods if you had your choice? C. A. Wilkins maintains that you can leave a flood but you can't leave a sandstorm. . . . It seems to me that the days of unadulterated "sandstorms" were almost the "good old days." You could at least breathe in the darn things and they usually settled with the sinking sun and next day would be pretty as you please. . . . Not so these duststorms. . . . They stay on through the night and are still hanging about next morning—and the next and the next. . . .

Incidentally, a woman who recently came here from Michigan remarked after one of the earlier sandstorms: "Well, no matter how soon I have to go back I can at least say I've seen a sandstorm. . . ." Wonder what she's saying now after the series of the last few days. . . .

THE COLORADO THAT USED TO BE
25 Years Ago 15 Years Ago

25 YEARS AGO
Among Colorado youngsters who had celebrated birthdays 25 years ago were the following, according to the society page of the Colorado Record for February 16, 1912:
Kelly Mitchell, Ford Merritt, Mary Broadus and Robert Whipkey. All four were young enough to have very "kiddish" parties.
The "handsome" Buick automobile of the H. G. Towles had burned on Saturday night while Mr. Towles was coming to Colorado to take Mrs. Towles back home. His lights grew so dim that he had to stop and renew the carbide and an explosion followed.
Dr. Ratliff had been called to Buford on Saturday to treat a finger injury which J. F. Rogers had received while trying to rope a wild horse. . . . Bun Pritchett, who was employed by the Wells Fargo Express company at Galveston, was home for a visit.
Claude Belle had traded for Dr. Lindley's Buick automobile. . . . J. L. Shepherd had announced for reelection as district judge. . . .
Our Buford wife Lena Key of Colorado had visited her cousin, Rena Key. . . . Beulah Hagler had been a guest at a Saturday night party at Mrs. Callaway's.
The Philathea class had had a Valentine party with Miss Byrd Blandford. . . . Mrs. M. K. Jackson was teacher and Roxie Coughran was to be the next hostess. . . .
Jim Costin and Miss Lessie Allman had been married on Sunday, Feb. 4, at the Methodist parsonage by the Rev. Mr. Lyon.
Road bonds for Mitchell county in the amount of $30,000 had been sold. . . . Allan Payne had sold out his business to E. E. King, Jr., of Midland and was going to San Angelo. . . . Lillie Allen was home from Mexico. . . .
Horse clipping "while you wait" was advertised by Tom Payne. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Stoneham Beal were the parents of a "brand new girl".

These two headlines got top display in the Colorado Record for Friday, February 17, 1922—fifteen years ago. . . .
Under the Morrison well headline it was stated that "hundreds of interested people from various sections of West Texas have been in Colorado and at the well daily." T. W. Stoneroad said that he had met 94 automobiles between Westbrook and the well, a distance of 2 1/2 miles, on Sunday afternoon. . . .
"Lake Colorado," which is still a dream after 15 years, was to be formed by damming Lone Wolf "near the eastern city limits."
The first car of oil had been shipped from the Colorado-Tex company from its Foster No. 1 to El Paso. . . . Hotels, restaurants, and fillings stations were "experiencing a brisk trade" that week because of the oil birthday. . . . Robert D. Kennedy had visitors in town. L. B. Elliott said that his abstract company was swamped with requests for oil maps of the county. . . . Western Union reported a boom in business. . . .
A sunrise breakfast had been enjoyed at the J. R. Coon farm by the following Lorraine young people: Thelma Black, Nita Thomas, Beatrice McGee, Magtie Thompson, Jewell Spikes, Gladys Spikes, Foy Spikes, Adine and Willie Howell, Thelma Reeder, Annie Spurgers, Lois Coon, and Anna Braswell.
The R. C. Dales of Lorraine had entertained with a party honoring their daughter, Pearl, on her 13th birthday in New Mexico. . . .
Mrs. A. L. Whipkey was home from a visit with her son, Stansil, who was there from state university for treatment of his eye. . . . Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith and children had spent Sunday at the Hunter Looney ranch. . . . Miss Elsie Hooper of Abilene had visited the Joe Smoots. . . .
A boy had been born to Judge and Mrs. W. P. Leslie. . . . Nelda Garrett was recovering from an illness of pneumonia. . . . Mrs. M. Carter was visiting her son, Jack, in Dallas. . . .
Cards announcing the marriage of Max Berman and Miss Cydell Brodsky of Dallas had been received here. . . . Catherine Richardson and W. B. Crockett had been married in Abilene on Sunday and were at home in the J. L. Pidgion residence. . . .

County Trophy Is Taken By Wolves In Final Bracket

Lorraine Defeated 32-24 As Round-Robin Play Ended Here Tuesday Night

The Colorado Wolves will represent Mitchell county in the district meet at Snyder, having defeated the Lorraine Bulldogs here Tuesday night 32-24 in final game of the round-robin tourney.
Colorado took an early lead and kept in the clear throughout all four periods of play. Walker of Lorraine won high point honors by scoring 12 points.
It was the third win in the round-robin series to be taken by Colorado. Previous victims were Roscoe and Westbrook. Westbrook nosed out Roscoe in a consolation game Tuesday night, 13 to 12, although the losers held the winning club to no score from scrimmage in the second half. Leading 9 to 5 at the half, Westbrook made additions only by sinking four free throws.
Colorado junior boys took a 22 to 14 victory from Valley View junior boys Tuesday night to win county championship in that division.
In the second round played Monday night Westbrook held a lead all through the fracas to spill Lorraine, 18 to 10. Colorado ran over Roscoe 33 to 16, with both teams using an abundance of substitutions. Roscoe girls nosed out Westbrook girls 20 to 18 after overcoming an 11 to 8 disadvantage at the half.

FATHER MRS. WHIPKEY IN SERIOUS CONDITION

W. B. Buchanan of Big Spring, father of Mrs. Walter Whipkey of Colorado, is gravely ill at his home in Big Spring. Death has been expected early since Wednesday noon.
Mrs. Whipkey went to his bedside Tuesday afternoon and was joined by Mr. Whipkey and their daughters Wednesday noon when Mr. Buchanan was thought to be dying. Mr. Whipkey and the daughters returned to Colorado Thursday morning but expect to be recalled to Big Spring any time. Mrs. Whipkey remained with her father, who has been suffering from a heart ailment since before Christmas.

Coloradoan With Raiding Party In Which Two Slain

M. E. Carter, State Liquor Control Officer, Present As Companion Killed

M. E. Carter, for several years a resident citizen of Colorado and who during the past several months has served as member of the State Liquor Control enforcement squad, with headquarters at San Angelo, was member of a raiding party near Austin Sunday night in which W. W. Thomson, internal revenue official, was shot to death.

The body of Thomson and a Mexican, known as "Pancho Pete" were found in brush along the Colorado river after a volley of several shots had been heard. M. M. Mitchell, another Federal agent, was third member of the raiding party.

Belief was expressed that the slain Mexican might have fired the shots that killed the officer. Immediately after the shooting a man was seen to rush to the river bank and row across the stream in a boat.

A still was captured and a man and woman placed under arrest. The killing was staged about five miles out of Austin.

Thomson served as member of the Midland police force during 1931-32, resigning when he received his commission as a Federal officer. Prior to that time he had been employed on ranches in the Midland vicinity several years.

HELPING THE PATROL BOYS

Do you think that the patrol boys enjoy going out and standing in this sandy weather? Are they doing it for their own fun? No, they are not! These boys are thinking of our safety. If they volunteer to do this, should we do the other part? Yes, of course. But what is the other part? Learn the safety rules, practice them, and obey them at all times. Stay in the safety lanes and watch the signals of the patrol boys. The people who are driving cars are not watching for you outside of the safety lanes, so you are endangering your life when you run across the street outside of these lanes.

Help the patrol boys protect your life!

CHATTER

Why are the 7C girls on a strike? ... Some very good Valentine drawings were made last week. ... Why wouldn't Miss Crosswaite's screen work on a certain girl's paper? It always made a spot. ... Most people like real newspapers, but Nyle Mickley seems to prefer samples. Mr. Mac liked his sample and wanted to see his newspaper. ... The basketball boys were glad to see so many from Junior High at the game Tuesday afternoon. Probably that was why they played so well. ... Come to school every day and you will catch up in arithmetic. ... Sandstorms are all right as long as they are only sand, but when they begin taking up gravel—well, that is different. ... Who looked through the Valentine box before we handed them out? ... Was she really looking for one with the wrong name written on it? ...

MINISTERS AND LAITY IN PRAISE OF ALEX HANSON, RETIRING CHURCH RECTOR

All Saints' Minister Given
Praise As Preacher, Lion and Citizen; He Replies
With Evidenced Emotion

Members of the Colorado Ministerial alliance and laymen in the church were heard in brief addresses at the Lions Club Friday as qualities of the Rev. Alex B. Hanson, retiring minister of All Saints' Episcopal church, were extolled. The clergyman, rector of the church for almost nine years, was to leave on Sunday following for Concordia, Kansas, where he has been transferred as pastor of the Episcopal church.

The program was directed by Rev. Dick O'Brien, pastor of First Baptist church, and chairman of the entertainment committee. First speaker to be presented was Thos. R. Smith, Colorado attorney. Smith spoke of the minister's qualities as a preacher, a Mason and a Lion, cataloguing him in each as having been outstanding during his residence in this community.

"I have been living in Colorado longer than any other minister here and it has been my lot to see over 20 preachers come and go, but I have never been associated with a minister possessed with a finer Christian character," Rev. W. M. Elliott of First Presbyterian church said. "He is now president of the Colorado Ministerial alliance and as such has influenced some of our older pastors into an experience of Christian fellowship that has been greatly beneficial. I see in him one of the coming young preachers of the day."

Alex Hanson as an influence among the laity was subject of an address by J. Riordan, superintendent of the Presbyterian Sunday school. "The men of our congrega-

American Legion Again Offering Merit
Awards To Students In Seventh Grade

Oran C. Hooker Post, American Legion, is to again offer merit awards to students of the seventh grade in Colorado, Loraine and Westbrook schools making the highest records on tests having to do with Americanization principles. That the contest would be sponsored this year was announced Wednesday by E. R. Bibby, commander of the post.

Points to be considered are to be based on courage, leadership, scholarship, service and honor. Competing students are to be judged by faculty members of their respective schools. A committee on awards, composed of B. L. Templeton, Colorado; Homer Derryberry, Loraine; and Van Boston, Westbrook, are to supervise details of the contest.

The following speakers, with the subjects assigned, were announced. They are to speak on the respective points on the date and place indicated:

Courage, B. L. Templeton; leader-

tion appreciate Rev. Mr. Hanson deeply and regret very much to know that he is to leave Colorado," Riordan declared.

First Methodist church will miss the minister after that he has gone, because all Christian people recognize in Rev. Mr. Hanson the essentials of a good citizen and a good pastor, stated Rev. C. E. Jameson of First Methodist church.

Jim Greene, manager of the chamber of commerce, spoke for First Baptist church. He offered tribute to the honoree along lines previously mentioned by the men preceding him.

The Christian church will miss Mr. Hanson and every citizen carrying membership in that congregation wishes him success and God speed, wherever he may go, Rev. A. L. Haley, pastor of First Christian church, said.

Rev. Mr. Hanson, called on by the program chairman to "speak in self defense," recalled his almost nine years' residence in Colorado and his association with the public here.

"Usually, when I rise to speak in this club, I am impelled to joke and essay to make things embarrassing for some of you men, but that feeling is not present now," the minister said. "I am leaving an association of friends the realization of which brings a sense of sadness into my life."

President Walter Whipkey, speaking for the Lions Club, stated that Rev. Mr. Hanson had held a commendable record of loyalty and service during the years of his membership in the organization. "Alex has never missed a meeting of this club, excepting when he was out of town or some other reasonable excuse presented itself," Whipkey recalled.

The Rev. P. Walter Henckell, pastor of Saint Mary's Parish church, Big Spring, was the last speaker to be heard on the program. He spoke of Rev. Mr. Hanson, as the clergy and district of North Texas consider him.

That the minister is held in high esteem by his fellow ministers, his communicants at Colorado, Sweetwater and Coleman, and by the Bishop and other officials of the Missionary District of North Texas, was not to be disputed, the visiting clergyman said.

Rev. Mr. Henckell recalled that he and Rev. Mr. Hanson had been personal friends practically all their lives.

"We were boys together in Birmingham, Alabama, and there attended the same church. Later I knew him as student in seminary. In those days as now I have ever esteemed him as my friend and a devoted leader in the church and community."

TRAINING ASSURES HIGHER STANDARD OF CITIZENSHIP

District and Area Officials
In Appeal That Troops Be Supported; Boys Are Given
Honors At Banquet

Quoting from official records of the Boy Scouts of America, compiled through cooperation of government officials and persons having connection with penal institutions of the country, Al F. Stiles of Sweetwater, executive secretary of the Buffalo Trail Council, Boy Scouts of America, told a gathering of Colorado people Friday evening that the boy who has not been a Scout has one chance in forty of becoming a criminal, while the boy who has been under influences of the organization has one chance in 2,400 to develop into such social state.

"The gangster and racketeer go out the window when Scouting comes in at the door," Stiles declared during appeal that the citizenship of Mitchell county give more serious consideration to importance attached to the boys' program.

Mr. Stiles continued:

"The American Boy Scout movement makes no political definitions, urging only that the Scout place the good of his nation above all else. Scouts are urged to look to the principle of fairness and fellowship instead of to selfishness and animosity. The greatest asset to the cause of peace is the hope that through the Boy Scout movement young America may be taught that the pursuit of happiness is to be desired above the pursuit of strife."

The speaker was addressing annual banquet given by Troops 20 and 21, held in basement of First Baptist church. Jim Ferguson presided as master of ceremonies. Several Colorado citizens who have been active in affairs of the Scout movement were introduced, including Dr. W. B. May and Marvin Majors, Scout Masters.

Ferguson gave resume of Scout activities at Colorado during the year, including attendance at Barksdale Camp, district meetings at Midland, Lake Sweetwater and other places. As he referred to finances received locally for the program, Ferguson made the prediction that Colorado would contribute $500 during the present year.

Young men who in other years attained signal honor as Scouts were referred to by Ferguson. One of them, Robert Haley of Big Spring, awarded the gold palm badge, was present. Others included Russell Soper, Eagle Scout; Howard Lewis, Life Scout; Harold Berry and Van Boston, Jr., Westbrook, Star Scouts. Colorado Scouts reported as having received Star badges since the last banquet were Fred Jones, Harvey Cook and Oscar D. Roberts.

Rev. C. E. Jameson of First Methodist church, chairman of the Court of Honor, presided as awards were made to a number of the boys. He was assisted in the presentation ceremonies by Morris Kirschbaum, Jim Ferguson, B. L. Templeton, Dave Bridgford and Joe H. Smoot, merit badge counselors.

Bill Coffey, Louis Latham and Armor Allen Porter were awarded the Tenderfoot badge. Tommy Battliff was promoted to the rank of Second Rank Scout. John J. Smith, Harold Jones, Robert Kirschbaum and Louis Bodzin received the First Class Scout award. Harvey Cook, Curtis Erwin, Earnest Porter, John T. Smith, Fred Jones and Harold Jones were given Merit Badges. Fred Jones was promoted to the rank of Star Scout.

Special awards were made by the two Scout Masters. Dr. May presented Harvey Cook, leader of the Flying Eagle patrol, with statuette of a Boy Scout, in recognition of outstanding work done during the past year. Fred Jones, described by Marvin Majors as the greatest Scout in Colorado, was presented with a gold emblem, insignia of his promotion to the rank of Star Scout.

During early part of the evening's program Mrs. Bill Martin of Loraine presented some of her pupils. The program was as follows: "My Packet," a reading by Joe Bill Jackson; song, "You've Got to Smile," by Gloria Martin; "The Mule," a bit of barnyard poetry; "Joe Bill Jackson"; "Freckles," solo, Mrs. Martin; Winston Coleman who was scheduled to entertain the Scouts with his clever monologues, was unable to be present due to an attack of the flu. Mrs. Martin gave a pianologue instead.

The banquet was dismissed with taps by Wayne Russell and followed by repeating the Scout benediction.

Application Of Taxes Under Title Eight And Nine Explained By Federal Deputy

H. C. Broadus, deputy collector for the Internal Revenue department, Dallas office, offers the following comment on Federal taxes imposed by Title VIII and IX, of the Social Security act approved August 14, 1935:

The Social Security Act imposed two taxes, one, under Title IX, upon employers of eight or more individuals, within the meaning of the Act, the other, upon the employee and the employer, however, certain services performed by an individual are expected.

An employer may be an individual, a corporation, a partnership, a trust or estate, a joint-stock company, an association, or a syndicate, group, pool, joint venture, or other unincorporated organization, group, or entity.

An employee, within the meaning of the Act, is an individual. The tax imposed by Title IX is an excise tax imposed upon the employer, if he (or it) employs eight or more individuals on each of some twenty days during the calendar year, each such day being in a different calendar week. The tax imposed covers wages paid or payable for services performed during the taxable period. The first taxable period is the calendar year 1936 and the time for filing the return and the payment of the tax has been extended to April 1, 1937. The return must be in the Collector's office at Dallas, Texas on or before April 1, 1937 or such return will be delinquent. Mailing the return on April 1, 1937 will not meet the requirements of the law. The form used in filing this return is Form 940 and such form may be procured from the Collector of Internal Revenue, Dallas, Texas.

Regulations 90 relate to the Excise Tax, imposed by Title IX of the Social Security Act and a copy of same may be obtained from the Superintendent of Documents, Washington, D. C., the price is ten cents.

The tax imposed by Title VIII is upon the employee and the employer. The employer shall withhold one percent of the wages paid (within the meaning of the Act) to the employee and shall pay tax in a like amount. The effective date of this tax was January 1, 1937 and the first taxable period is the month of January

Snyder Ready For District 5 Cagers Friday, Saturday

Colorado and Other Clubs Holding Pennant Will Be Entered In Contest

Snyder will have everything in readiness for reception of the Colorado and other county champion cagers of District 5 when the teams converge Friday for two days of basketball technique, C. Wedgeworth, superintendent of the host school, announced Tuesday.

For most of the teams, the tourney will be their first chance to play in Snyder's brand new gymnasium. Its seating capacity is a thousand, and chances are it will stay well filled, especially if the Tigers stay in the race. The playing floor this week was given a "kym coat," to put it in perfect shape. The town also probably will be able to furnish rooms for all teams surviving the first and second rounds of play, scheduled Friday afternoon and night.

Champions of ten counties, and teams from Abilene, Big Spring, and Sweetwater are eligible to participate, and all are expected to report at Snyder by noon Friday. The draw will be held at that time, and four games will be run off in the afternoon, starting at 1 o'clock. Another session is slated for that night, to narrow the field to the semi-finals. The semi-windups will be staged Saturday morning, and the final game that night.

Among the entries will be Hamilton from Jones county; Tuscola, the Taylor champion; Colorado, from Mitchell; Forsan, Howard county; Hobbs, of Fisher county, and Snyder.

"WANTED: JANE TURNER" THROWS LIGHT ON ACTIVITIES OF U. S. POSTAL INSPECTORS

The inside operations of the United States postal inspectors are brought to the screen for the first time in the thrilling photoplay, "WANTED: Jane Turner," co-featuring Lee Tracy and Gloria Stuart at Palace theatre Thursday only.

Dealing with a murderous gang which holds up a mail truck and kills its driver, "WANTED: Jane Turner" throws an illuminating light on the well-organized activities of the postal department experts who, like the Canadian Northwest Mounted Police, never stop until they get their men.

Drawing its exciting incidents from the headlines of the day, the film speedily reaches dramatic heights as the ace department inspector, Tracy, pursues the gang leader after his cohorts have been placed behind the bars.

America's Largest Lake Be Described In Radio Broadcast

Carveth Wells Will Tell Of This and Other Man-Made Wonders Saturday Night

A desolate desert region converted into a vast playground by six and one-half million tons of concrete! That's just one of the accomplishments of Boulder Dam, which has created the largest artificial lake in the world—Lake Mead—a reservoir large enough to supply each inhabitant on earth with 5,000 gallons of water.

These and other interesting facts about Boulder Dam will be discussed by Carveth Wells in the Continental Oil Company broadcast, "Exploring America with Conoco and Carveth Wells," which may be heard at 6:30 Saturday night over station WFAA, Dallas.

"Boulder Dam is transforming enormous areas of the desert into fertile farms," declares the internationally known explorer, "and it will generate about four times as much electric power as Niagara Falls. Mountains have been converted into islands and sandy deserts into bathing beaches. America's newest and most spectacular lake is destined to become one of this country's greatest pleasure resorts."

Wells describes Boulder Dam as the greatest man-made wonder in the world, and points out that this region can also boast the world's greatest natural wonder—the Grand Canyon. "Unless you have seen Boulder Dam, Lake Mead and the Grand Canyon," he says, "you can never claim really to have seen America!"

HOME OWNERS LOAN CORPORATION

Have been asked to write my views on the Home Owners Loan and will do so by first explaining the plan set forth by the Government.

They proposed to take a tenant farmer, buy him a 100 acre farm, put a fairly good house and barn on it, well and windmill, furnish him with team and tools, hogs, a good cow, chickens and feed for first crop, do all this for $5000; forty years to pay it with 4% interest.

Now let us see, we claim the plan is wholly impractical and not possible for any tenant or any other kind of farmer. In the first place nobody wants to tie themselves up with the government for 40 years. A tenant farmer now 40 years old would be 80 years old before he got his little 100 acres paid for. It is also impractical because no farmer could go on 100 acres and ever pay it out. Let us see his payments would be:

Annual payment	$125.00
4% interest	200.00
Taxes and car upkeep	75.00
Groceries and clothing for year	150.00

Making a total of $550.00

And there is not a tenant farmer in Mitchell county that made $550 clear last year or no other year. The result would be after two or three years the government would put him off and try another man.

We have in our possession a series of letters written on the subject of the tenant farmer and for our rural readers who do not have access to the daily papers or much reading we publish a few of these letters.

THE TENANT FARMER

First comes V. L. Jones of Forney, Texas: The advantages and financial possibilities of farm tenancy of today are underestimated. Where a tenant takes judicious advantage of his situation and exercises industry and thrift, he can live well and accumulate with a substantial and steady stride.

If he is a share-cropper his landlord furnishes him a residence, land, tools, seed, teams, feed for the teams, shelter for all live stock and storage for all feedstuff. The tenant plants, works and gathers the crop and gets one half of all the proceeds. In addition he has the privilege of garden space to provide fresh vegetables in season and to can and dry for winter use. He may keep cows, raise hogs, chickens and other domestic fowls, making possible milk, butter and cheese, fresh pork, cured hams, bacon and lard, eggs and poultry meats.

Although cotton is the major crop in this section, where judicious management is applied, corn and other grain as well as forage is grown to feed all work stock kept on the place. The tenant's one-half more than feeds his milk cows, hogs and poultry and fattens an occasional beef for canning. In season corn means fresh roasting ears for present use and corn to can for future consumption. When harvested in autumn it stands for bread, hominy and other dishes.

The demand for dry goods for a tenant farmer's family should be less than it would be were they living in a town or city. The radio and daily rural free delivery makes possible entertainment and good reading matter at a nominal cost and provides wholesome and elevating diversion for his household.

His landlord bears all expenses for repairs on improvements, tools and other equipment. The landowner's taxes build the school-houses, pay the tuition for the tenant's children, supply them with free textbooks and furnish bus conveyance to and from school.

With all of these advantages why are so few sharecroppers today in this part of the country failing to accumulate? Why does a majority of these renters either come out at the end of the year in debt, break even or with just enough funds to run another year? The fact is they live too high. They will not pay the price of accumulation. They must have a car, which not only means the initial cost but also upkeep. The wagon and team furnished by his landlord will not suffice to take him to town on Saturdays to buy groceries, which often include delicacies that his mother and father did without when they were building their bank account. Kit and Beek are too slow for trips to the movies and other lures that claim his cash in near-by towns.

A careful check shows that today a large majority of the owners of farms in this fine agricultural region, acquired their property by renting land, but to gain those acres it was necessary for them to make sacrifices in the realms of the unnecessary.

Now comes Isaac Crawford of Paris, Texas, who writes: I think V. L. Jones has correct ideas concerning tenant farmers. There is no reason why a share worker should not make a living, if he works and uses economy.

Any farmer can make more than a living if he farms on halves and has everything furnished, works and economizes. The second year many of them have their teams and feed and supplies and paid their debts.

I know a farmer in this county who a few years ago had two men, brothers, who came out in the fall in debt to the farmer. However, he kept them, thinking they would do better and pay out in the fall. He told them to make a garden, keep a pig and a cow. They said they had no money to buy a pig and a cow. The farmer being generous bought them a cow and a pig each, to be paid for in the fall. One of the men wanted a car like his brother's. His hog had grown to be a large hog, which he and his family needed, but he thought he needed a car worse than he needed meat for his family. He brought the hog to town and traded it in on a car. When fall came they were still in debt to the farmer.

It seems to me that a landowner would do better now to have his land worked on the shares and have it overseen.

Next we have H. M. Wade of Rockwall, Texas, who writes:

The conditions described by Mr. Jones are foreign to the conditions in this part and everywhere else that this writer had a chance to observe. The prevailing condition with farm tenants who have come under my observation is about as follows, and especially since the farm relief program has been in vogue. The landlord farming on an average in this country of 500 acres allots to his tenant an average of fifteen acres on which he pays the landlord if he is a tenant one third of all he raises and requires him to plant exclusively cotton. He is not allowed to keep a cow, hog or chickens, and is permitted to have a small garden. His contract also requires him to work all his spare time at from 50c to 75c per day for the landlord. The landlord also receives all the money received from the Government.

If the tenant happens to be financially able to furnish himself, which is rare, if he gets a place at all it is an undesirable one, and he pays one third of all crops raised and contracts to release all Government donations to the landlord.

My acquaintance with tenant conditions convince me that the tenant farmer is not more than one step away from slavery. All the land having been absorbed by loan companies and big individual landlords, some of the best men and finest farmers have moved with their families to the city and small town and in a majority of cases join the great army of relief workers. I personally know many first-class white farmers who have been driven by the greed and selfishness of landowners to abandon a life of prosperous farm tenancy to a life of squalor in the city.

Mr. Jones speaks of the tenant farmer as living too high and through his extravagance has brought upon him the dire conditions which oppress. There is not one tenant farmer in twenty-five that is able to own a radio. My idea is that as matter of economic virtue a tenant farmer is entitled to all the necessities of life and some of the luxuries the owner of the land which he tills.

The landlord claims that he pays taxes, insurance and upkeep for his farms, but in the long run the tenant farmer pays these bills by increased rents heaped upon him. The tenant farmer has no option in the matter, for if he complains he is notified to move, and the chances are 50 to 1 that he finds no place to house himself and those dependent upon him. The neighborhood loses a good citizen, the farms a first-class farmer, the church an ardent supporter, the school a loyal patron, and the neighborhood to which he goes to hunt a job as day laborer gets an embryo criminal, because unfair treatment has planted Communism and Fascism in his soul and the only end of such a course is crime and degradation and ruin.

No nation can be enslaved if they own their homes. No nation can live with the major portion of its citizenry tenants and a nation should not live and prosper under such conditions.

Now comes Oran Morrow out at Mesquite, Texas: I am a sharecropper tenant farmer, but believe me, I am in no such a predicament as H. M. Wade of Rockwall, Texas.

I get one half of all crops I tend, one half of the gin premiums and my part of the Government rentals. My wife and I live in a good house, have a cow, hogs, chickens and space to grow vegetables for use in season and to can for winter. We usually manage to pay for the few groceries we can't produce with surplus garden, dairy and poultry products. We have a radio and own a car, but we practice economy and avoid extravagance.

I co-operate with my landlord in carrying out his plans and when I work for him he pays me the prevailing price. The majority of farm tenants in this section are situated as well as we are.

Some are more thrifty and ambitious than others, but all have a chance to succeed, excepting those who spend a lot of time hanging around a nearby town or filling station whining about conditions and criticizing the man who has made good.

Mr. Wade will be interested to learn that tenant farmers in both Kaufman and Dallas Counties where I have farmed are a long, long way from slavery. The situation in their counties is in no such plight as it is where he "has had a chance to observe."

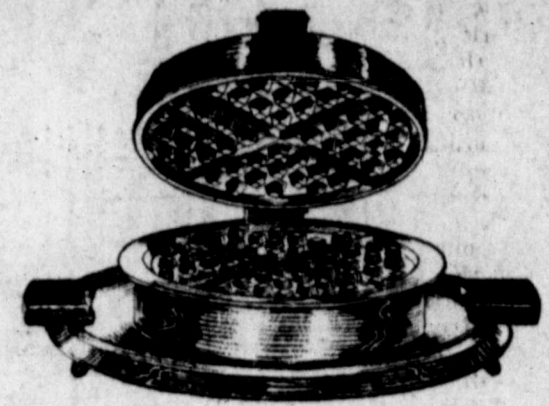

Now we have D. E. Jordan at Wichita Falls: I want to take direct exception to Mr. Schoffelmayer's assertion that landowners are responsible for the plight of the cotton South. Such is not the case. I own some equities in some land have been directly interested in lands all my life and want to say that the reason so much cotton is planted is because it pays more dollars per acre than any other commodity that can be grown in the South. That's the cause and that alone, and the tenant wants a lot of cotton, so he can make a living, and everybody knows that is the reason that so much cotton is planted.

You advocate diversification, and what will you plant that will pay as much per acre as cotton. Nothing will come up to within 25 per cent of it. The darn laws passed at Washington and Austin are what hurts cotton as well as wheat, also tariffs which restrict free flow of commerce for a few favored manufacturers, monopolies that choke out trade and taxes shouldered upon the real property. Very often taxes amount to 50 per cent of the income on it and the tenant wants cotton because it is the only thing that he can hope to feed his family by raising in the South. The landowner wants it because it pays more rent and maybe he can get enough out of cotton to pay his taxes and interest.

They talk about taxes on oil. If it was taxed 50 per barrel it would not be taxed any higher than real estate.

Make Them Right
at Your Table.....

Surprise the family tomorrow morning by serving crisp, golden brown waffles with bacon and preserves or syrup. You can cook them as fast as needed right at the table and serve them piping hot.

Try this recipe which makes 6 waffles: 2 cups of pastry flour; 4 teaspoons of baking powder; 1/4 teaspoon of salt; 2 tablespoons of sugar; 2 eggs; 1 1/2 cups of milk; 6 tablespoons of melted butter. Sift the dry ingredients together. Beat the egg yolks and add milk to the dry ingredients. Beat until the batter is smooth. Add melted butter and fold in stiffly beaten egg whites.

Modern waffle irons are easy to use and easy to keep clean. See the new waffle irons with the heat indicator at our store or at other stores which sell electric appliances.

TEXAS ELECTRIC SERVICE COMPANY

A. L. McSPADDEN, Manager

About 10 per cent of the tenants want land, but 90 per cent do not. It is cheaper to rent land or a residence than own one. That's the meat in the coconut. They want the landowner to spend $3,000 or $6,000 for improvements when the land won't raise enough to pay the taxes and the same man could spend that much on other investments and not have to pay any taxes at all.

Tenants are as good as the landowners as a class and both are as good as anybody else and then some as a class.

I notice that a great deal is being said about long rental contracts. I have rented some land a long time and find that one year is too long in some instances to rent and in others twenty years is not too long. One trouble is that tenants, if they do buy land, when they hit it hard they give up too easily. They make one or two failures and quit or try to move.

Another reason is they buy automobiles and lay awake at nights studying some place to go. I don't blame them, for they should get a price sufficient to allow them to go places, but agriculture is doomed because they can't buy a car at a $1-an-hour wage and pay for it at 10c-per-hour wage. The hourly wage in the different trades is a very great drawback to agriculture. You can put $3,000 in improvements in town and get more rent out of it than putting it on land. If you improve a piece of land properly your rents won't pay a reasonable return on the improvements, let alone the investment in land.

STORY ON DEATH OF MRS. BERRY'S MOTHER IN TERRELL TRIBUNE

(Copied from Terrell Tribune)
At 6:30 o'clock Sunday morning the death angel knocked at the door for Mrs. W. E. Henderson and summoned her to her eternal home, the one not made with hands, as her beautiful life here on earth had earned for her one of happiness there.

Sixty-one years ago this lovely woman became the bride of W. E. Henderson and started her career as a faithful wife and mother at this same home place where she spent her declining years.

She had endeared herself in the minds and hearts of her entire community and all who knew her as well. The large embankment of flowers and the enormous crowd who went to pay their respects as the last sad rites were conducted were proof enough that to know her was to love her.

The funeral was conducted Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock by Elder R. L. Benton of Keene with music furnished by a male quartet from Southwestern Junior College of Keene with interment in the family cemetery near the Henderson home six miles east of Terrell.

Mrs. Mattie Richardson Henderson was a native Texan born March 9, 1858. She is survived by her husband, four daughters, Mrs. J. F. Taylor of Clovis, N. M., Mrs. Will Berry of Colorado, Texas, Mrs. Ross Huffines and Mrs. R. B. Mosley of Terrell; two sons, Forrest and William Henderson of Terrell, and ten grandchildren.

Out-of-town guests for the funeral were Mr. and Mrs. J. Ross Richardson, Houston; Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Scaling, Ft. Worth; Mr. and Mrs. W. F. Casey, Ft. Worth; Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Casey, Ft. Worth; Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Henderson, Jacksboro, Texas; Mrs. Mabel Rucker, Roff, Okla.

Mrs. Henderson lived a faithful Christian life for more than 50 years.

QUESTIONS THAT ARE ASKED ABOUT BANKING

Do Bank examiners investigate loans?

YES, Federal and state examiners investigate loans—and in a very thorough manner. They frequently spend as much time—if not more—on loans than in examining any other phase of banking. Since loans constitute a major investment for bank funds the examiners carefully scrutinize the loan file.

Many questions are asked and much detailed information about the borrowers is scrutinized. On business loans up-to-date financial statements—usually over a period of years—are required, showing such things as earnings, inventory, debts, management, etc. Recommendations are then made directly to the Board of Directors of the bank.

These examinations constitute a real protection to the money of depositors against undue risks. In fact, the primary purpose of these examinations is to assure depositors their money is properly safeguarded.
