Original Cause Entered By Merkel Citizen Is Settled Out Of Court; Others To Be Called For Trial

The second damage suit centered about fatal truck-car crash on Highway One near Iatan on October 18, 1936, in which four persons were killed and another sustained serious injury, has been filed in 32nd district court here by Mrs. Anna Newman of Lenora, Martin county, widow of Alvis W. Newman, driver of the fatal truck and one of the persons losing their lives in the tragedy.

Mrs. Newman, through her attorneys, is seeking to recover $3,000 from the Casualty Underwriters company, charging that the defendant became liable for that amount in the accidental death of her husband.

The other damage suit, filed by W. A. Whitney, jr., of Merkel against the Lenora Oil Company, owners of the truck, has been settled out of court, District Clerk Balfanz stated Monday morning.

Attorneys in the J. J. Hanley estate look to settlement of that legal controversy during this session of district court. Suit calling for removal of John J. Hanley of Lamesa as executor and a receivership is pending. The case was called for trial at special setting of the court a few days ago and continued by agreement to the regular term after a day had been spent in hearing evidence. Several other damage suits, usually for minor claims, are pending.

The following sixteen citizens have been summoned as panel from which the grand jury is to be drawn Monday morning:

E. R. Bibby, Van Boston, J. G. Bruce, Joe Dulin, Roy A. Edwards, P. G. Fuller, Julian Hammonds, M. L. Adrian, Jess Dorn, P. K. Mackey, O. L. Simpson, C. N. Stubblefield, Lon Strain, E. H. Winn, S. O. Wulfjen and J. C. Etheridge.

OUTLOOK CONTINUES GOOD AS ONE TO THREE INCHES RAIN BLANKETS MITCHELL

Ideal Conditions For Range And Field Assured; Brisk Upturn In Business Will Result, Merchants State

The outlook for better times in Mitchell county has again been brightened through the pleasing influence of heavy rains that during Monday night blanketed all parts of the territory. Farmers and ranchers are reflecting a more pleasing attitude as they look into the immediate future of realization that their fields and pastures are amply supplied with moisture to meet every requirement.

The precipitation that began to fall late Monday night covered every part of the county, a tabulation of reports received here indicate. The rain was gauged from one inch in the Loraine vicinity to more than three in western and northern parts of the county. A total of 1.65 inches fell at Colorado, boosting total for the month to 2.55 and for the year to 7.95 inches.

One of the best rains to cover Colorado territory in a long time, was optimistic statement to come from the county farm agents office Wednesday afternoon. Fears that Tuesday morning sustained belief that considerable damage had been done crops, were later dissipated as reports were brought into town from rural communities.

"It is apparent that little replanting will be necessitated as result of the heavy rain," outlined report from the agent's office. "Of course there are those farmers who lost a part of their crops already up and their seed planted and not yet up, as direct result of the rain, but their fields are in excellent condition now and replanted acreage should come up and grow off under most favorable conditions."

Ranchers of the area are especially elated over the rain. Heavy down-pour covered watersheds from which their source of surface water is obtained. Tanks and water holes in streams of the county were, as a general rule, filled to overflowing and along with the satisfaction that comes with adequate water for their livestock they have the additional promise of a luxuriant grass crop on the range.

San Angelo WPA District Is Larger Than Five States

Mitchell Is One of Counties Attached To Area Under Recent Change

The addition of 18 counties to the territory of the San Angelo WPA district which was effected recently has increased the size of this district to 30,780 square miles, an area which is larger by 1,108 square miles than the combined area of Delaware, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, New Jersey and Vermont.

The additions to the district were made by the recent consolidation of the Texas WPA organization into twelve administrative units, according to John C. Burnside, San Angelo district director.

Counties added to the San Angelo district include Andrews, Martin, Howard, Mitchell, Nolan, Taylor, Ector, Midland, Glasscock, Coke, Runtles, Coleman, Brown, Concho, McCulloch, Menard, Kimble and Mason. These counties were transferred from Big Spring, Abilene and Brownwood districts, all closed by the consolidation order. Pecos and Terrell counties have been transferred from the San Angelo district to the El Paso district.

Burnside recently returned from state WPA headquarters at San Antonio where reorganization plans were discussed with officials of the federal agency.

Administrative personnel of the district will remain substantially the same as before the consolidation order, Burnside said. He explained that additions to the staff which will be necessitated by the larger area now contained in the district will be drafted from the experienced personnel released from closed WPA offices.

"Most of the employees who are being released from the closed offices have had practically two years of experience in this organization and this training makes them particularly desirable to supplement the present staff. We hope to employ persons who are familiar with conditions in the counties which are added to this district," he added.

Skeleton staffs are being maintained in the closed offices to effect the transfer of records. This work will be completed within a few weeks, Burnside said.

Number of projects operated and number of persons employed on projects are not affected by the con-

Safety Patrol To Direct Inspection At Colorado Soon

Checking Of Vehicles To Be Given Attention June 11 And 12 By Officials

Making their second annual courtesy motor vehicle inspection campaign through the Lubbock district a squadron of Texas Highway patrolmen will visit this city on June 11-12 in the interest of the movement launched over a year ago by the Department of Public Safety, according to information received here today from Captain W. W. Legge, in charge of the district.

The program this year will include several new innovations featuring safe driving and safe motor vehicles according to the Patrol Captain. The work on the lane will be in charge of Stanmett Vance one of the ace safety men of the state organization while the entire program will be under the direction of Captain Legge in cooperation with the work outlined by L. G. Phares, Chief of the Patrol, with headquarters in Austin.

One of the new features of this year's program will be the appearance of the big white ambulance of the patrol which is equipped with both radio and loud speaker attachments. This machine in charge of Sergeant Ross Dickey recently made a record run from Beaumont to the scene of the New London school disaster and performed invaluable work.

"We received such wonderful cooperation from the authorities, civic organizations and citizens in 1936 on this program that patrol headquarters was extremely anxious to assist us and give this district a most favorable date for the 1937 program," Captain Legge pointed out.

Continuing he said, "I am convinced that the number of defective cars found this year will be far under that of last year for the preliminary survey of the safety crew in this area has awakened all motorists to a realization that it is extremely important to them to keep their vehicles in safe operating condition at all times."

MOVING TO COLORADO
Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Williams, Sr., of Granbury are moving to Colorado June 1 to be near their sons, Doyle Williams and Dr. J. D. Williams. They have bought the Rufa Pritchett place on Walnut street. They have a daughter, Claudia, who attends John Tarleton.

GOING TO INDIANA
Jimmy Kelley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kelley, will leave next week to spend the summer in Salem and Indianapolis, Indiana. He will go with Mr. Kelley's sister, Mrs. A. E. Gessell, and her husband, Dr. Gessell, as they stop here during the week-end en route from California to their home in Salem, Indiana.

SPRAINED HIS ANKLE
Sherman Hart, manager of the Palace and Ritz theatres, is employing use of crutches in getting about. While playing ball at Westbrook the other day Hart sprained an ankle.

Good Rain Falls
Merchants of Colorado, Lorraine, Westbrook and other community centers are joining with their neighbors on the farm and ranch in the general feeling of optimism. The improved outlook is to be reflected in better trade demands.

"What Mitchell county needs is a forty-thousand bale cotton crop and we are looking with greater assurance to that goal," was comment by J. C. Hall, president of the First State bank at Lorraine.

"The rain could not have been better timed to aid us in our membership campaign," President C. C. Thompson of the chamber of commerce, mused from behind a broad smile. "The business and professional interests of Colorado are in high spirits now and I take it they are to continue in that vogue."

The rain was lighter in south portions of the county, but farmers and ranchers there are not complaining. A few days before they received from one to three inches of moisture, while only .90 of an inch was registered here. At the Spade ranch headquarters 1.10 inches fell. Heavy rain was reported in vicinity of the Lockhart farm and extending southwest into the Hyman community.

One of the heaviest rains in months brought definite end to any drought conditions that might have existed in the Westbrook, Iatan and Cuthbert communities. In some parts of that area over three inches fell. Continuing west the rain was heavy with

HOSPITAL NEWS

Mildred Strain, who was injured in a bus-car collision in East Colorado last Wednesday morning, was removed to her home near Colorado Wednesday of this week. Although she was thought to be suffering from only shock and bruises, X-ray pictures later revealed that Miss Strain's leg was fractured just below the knee. Her leg is now in a cast. Mrs. J. H. Letcher, who suffered a broken knee cap and a broken arm in the same accident, is still in the hospital.

A son who will be called Donald Ray was born to Mr. and Mrs. Oather Reese at the hospital Saturday morning at 1:15.

Major surgery was administered to Clarence Moore of Westbrook, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Moore, Monday. Tonsils of Patricia Jones, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. P. Jones of the Colorado hotel, were removed Saturday.

Tonsils of Frank Leslie King, son of Judge and Mrs. A. F. King, were removed Monday.

Mrs. B. F. Davis of Westbrook is a medical patient in the hospital. Three Loraine youths, Kenneth Kidd, Wilson Kidd, and Weldon Ware, were given treatment at the hospital Wednesday night for minor injuries which they sustained in a car accident near Westbrook. Their car was forced off the road by a truck, they said, and in getting back on the road they struck a concrete curb. None of the three remained in the hospital.

Earl Shoter, employee of an oil survey company, suffered considerable injury when the fingers of one hand became entangled in a chain while he was at work in the Spade section Thursday morning. The first joint of the ring finger and the tip end of the middle finger had to be removed at Root hospital.

POULTRY FARMING PAYS THESE GOOD DIVIDENDS

What poultry farming can mean to a community is shown by the phenomenal growth of the Farmers' Produce Company of Comanche which is now shipping cars of dressed poultry to the Atlantic Seaboard every week and giving all-year employment to seventy-five workers.

This plant is one of the largest dressing units in Texas. Wages earned by turkey and chicken pickers depend on skill and some are classed as professionals because of the large number they can handle in one day's work.

The heaviest season is in the fall when fifty cars of dressed turkeys are shipped to several States for the Thanksgiving and Christmas seasons. All birds bought are killed and dressed at the plant and placed in refrigerated vaults before being marketed. Chickens are usually fattened and milk fed before being killed and are classed as the finest of table food.

In addition to the animals, the plant buys from farmers about 700 to 800 cases of eggs a week, affording a stable market for poultry enterprises.

Going To School And Travel To Occupy Colorado Teachers During The Summer

Going to school instead of teaching it, traveling, and "just doing nothing" will occupy Colorado teachers during the summer months, a check-up made Tuesday shows.

Reversing the usual order, this year's account begins with Coleman Primary school and works up to the high school faculty.

Miss Pearl Taylor, Coleman school principal, will spend most of the summer at her home in Santa Anna. Her present plans are to attend the second six weeks of summer school at Texas Tech.

Miss Inez Butler, who completed work for her degree last summer, will "rest" this summer at her home in Abilene.

On the contrary, Mrs. Rees Jones will spend the entire summer attending school at the University of Texas.

Miss Alice Blanks will divide her summer between Colorado and Pecos, where her father, A. B. Blanks, lives.

Miss Hattie Tankersley will spend the first six weeks of the summer at Texas Tech. The remainder of the summer she will divide between Austin, Colorado, and other points.

Mrs. Dene Headstream, who has also attained her degree through several summers' work, will "stay right here."

Miss Opal Davidson, who is included on the primary faculty although her classes are in the Hutchinson building, has no plans except to visit her family in Mineral Wells and to take a trip with them late in the summer.

Moving over to the Hutchinson school, which houses the third and fourth grades, this reporter found Mrs. J. F. Quinney, principal, planning to do "exactly what I did last summer—go to school at Texas Tech and then take a trip the second six weeks." On the planned trip she will be accompanied by her husband and daughter, Nina Katherine, and Mary and Nancy Price on a tour of Yellowstone National park and points between there and the Pacific coast.

Mrs. Farris Lips, whose home is here, has "no plans."

After a week's visit at her home in Crosbyton, Miss Beatrice English will enter Texas Tech at Lubbock for the first six weeks.

Mrs. J. G. Killian will "do some things that have been stacking up at home." Her home is here.

Mrs. C. A. Wilkins will visit her mother in Stephenville as soon as school is out, accompanied by Mr. Wilkins, who is high school principal, and Sonny Wilkins. She will be here while Mr. Wilkins teaches six weeks of summer school. During the latter part of the summer, both she and Mr. Wilkins will enroll in Texas Tech.

J. V. Glover, principal of Junior High school, will spend either the first or last six weeks of summer school at Texas Tech, Lubbock. The remainder of the time he plans to be at his home here.

Farris Bass will attend summer school at West Texas State Teachers' college in Canyon both terms.

Miss Louise Bradford will study business administration at the University of Texas during the entire summer.

Miss Alwilda Crothwaite will spend much of the summer at her home in Weatherford. She will spend one term, either the first or second, at C. I. A. in Denton.

Mrs. Adrian Clark will be enrolled at Texas Tech for both terms.

Miss Eunice Locker will go to her home at Richland Springs as soon as school is out. She will go to C. I. A. at Denton one term.

Howard McLaughlin, will divide part of the summer between his home in Abilene and Colorado. He plans to attend North Texas State Teachers' college at Denton during the second six weeks.

Miss Lenora Cook plans to attend Texas Tech during the first six weeks, and then devote the second six weeks to attending the Texas-Pan American Exposition and otherwise traveling about.

"I'll be here most of the time and will do whatever comes along," was the answer Miss Loyse Price gave to questions about her summer plans.

Miss Lea Swope will enroll at Texas Tech for the first six weeks term, following a week's visit at her home in Killeen.

The check-up at high school reveals that:

C. A. Wilkins, principal, will teach summer school the first six weeks, attend Texas Tech with Mrs. Wilkins the second six weeks.

Doyle Williams, head of the vocational agriculture department, will be "on the job" here most of the summer. From June 7 to June 14 he will attend a soil erosion course at Dublin. He's considering attending A. & M. during the second term.

Miss Cal Yates will go to her home in Grapevine when she leaves here this week. She will go to summer school one term, but she hasn't decided where or which term.

Cool Colorado state will be the setting for Miss Velma Barrett's vacation. She will go to Greeley, Colorado, with a party of friends about June 14, after taking her mother, Mrs. Maude Barrett, to their home at Morris Ranch.

Traveling along the Pacific coast as far north as Portland, Oregon, will feature the summer for Miss Gladys Miller, who will be accompanied by her mother, Mrs. W. M. Miller. They will leave for the west coast about July 1 after visiting in Pampa, Texas, and other points during June.

Work for his master's degree will be completed by Charles Brazil, head of the commercial department, at the University of Texas. He will attend both terms. Mrs. Brazil will be enrolled at Abilene Christian college.

Miss Mabel Smith plans to spend most of her summer here. She will have as house guests much of the time her niece and nephew, Margaret Smith and Royall Smith, Jr., of San Angelo and Austin.

Juan Mason will attend the University of Texas in Austin. He is a member of the high school English faculty.

With headquarters in Greenville at the home of Mrs. Cline's mother, O. W. Cline will attend the East Texas State Teachers college in Commerce all summer. Mrs. Cline will stay with her mother in Greenville and Mr. Cline will drive to Commerce each day for classes.

Mrs. Charles Mooser, who teaches choral singing in the high school, will "stay at home and rest."

G. D. Foster will be another "stay-at-home." He and his wife and little daughter, Maedell, will probably make several short trips round about during the summer months, but they aren't planning any "extensive" traveling.

Coch Jack Christian will be a member of the teaching staff of Camp Stewart for boys at Hunt, near Kerville, from June 1 until August 1. After that he will attend a coaching school at Waco. Mrs. Christian and 7-month-old Jewel Christian will accompany him to the camp and probably to coaching school. They will leave here Monday and will be back about August 15.

OVER 100 ATTEND COFFEY RECITAL

Before an audience of over 100, the kindergarten pupils of Mrs. Bill Coffey presented an interesting and well-received program Monday evening at the Colorado hotel.

A playlet in which the children, all six or under, picked up their own cues opened the program. Then came a skit, "The Doctor's Visit," with Richard DeLaney, Jr., as the doctor and Jimmie Gene Killian as the other character.

Marilyn McEntire gave a solo, "The Dolly Walk." Hubert Ratliff gave a reading on "My Sore Thumb."

The "cowboy" singers, C. A. Wilkins, Jr., and Joe Berman sang "I'm an Old Cowhand" and "My Little Buckaroo." Ann Barber gave a reading, "Missing." Mary Grace Dawson sang "Mighty Lak a Rose."

Ronny Fee read "Good Little Boy" and Gillian McEntire read "Daddy's Sweetheart." Claiborne Davis told about "Seein' Things at Night."

The singing of several group songs and the playing of numbers by the Rhythm Band closed the program.

MELTONS MOVING AWAY

Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Melton will leave the latter part of the week for Cyril, Oklahoma, where Mr. Melton has taken a position and where they will live in the future. Their daughters, Sarah and Geneva, will continue in Draughon's Business college at Abilene until they have completed their courses.

McCRELESS CHILD ILL

Word comes from Big Spring that Arnold McCreless, 12-year-old son of Jim McCreless of Stanton, has been critically ill in a Big Spring hospital. He is suffering from a tonsil infection.

TO VISIT HERE

Margaret Smith and Royall Smith, Jr., arrived Thursday for a visit with their aunts, Miss Mabel Smith and Mrs. R. O. Pearson, and their uncle, Tros. R. Smith.

Don Juan Manuel de Ayala, Spanish explorer, discovered in 1775 the shoals now known as Treasure Island, site of the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition, was built.

WEST TEXAS RELICS WILL BE SHOWN AT FORT WORTH FIESTA

FORT WORTH.—A saddle once owned by Kit Carson, a hotel register signed by Robert E. Lee, old branding irons, historic six-shooters, maps and early settler paraphernalia are some of the objects that may be seen this summer in the West Texas Chamber of Commerce building at the Fort Worth Frontier Fiesta. These, with the elaborate panels and displays used last year, will create the exhibit, West Texas, Old and New. Through this exhibit, visitors may be able to view the progress of West Texas for the past half century. Motion pictures of modern West Texas will also be a feature of the exhibit again this year.

All member towns of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce are urged to have an exhibit. Those having panels last year at the exposition are having their panel retouched and renovated at a small cost. Those not represented last year may have a display this year by paying the actual cost of a panel, picture and sending their antique.

Seven hundred thousand persons visited the West Texas Chamber of Commerce building last year and new industries, new capital and new citizens were gained for West Texas. Thus far, orders for retouching and renovating their exhibits have been received from Alpine, Artesia, N. M., Bangs, Dumas, Albany, Floydada, Falls, Roswell, N. M., Santa Anna, Kerrville, Sweetwater, Abilene and Burnham. According to John M. Hendrix, who has been made curator of the exhibit, it will be necessary for member towns to take immediate action if the exhibit and relics are to be in place for the formal opening, June 26.

SMITHS CIRCULATING UNIQUE CHAIN LETTER

DALLAS.—Fifteen branches of the family of the Rev. John A. Smith, a founder of Dallas, will meet for the first time in twenty years at the Pan American Exposition, which opens June 12.

News of the reunion is being circulated to the family by chain letter. Mrs. Elsie Parker of Dallas started it. Each relative receiving a letter sends a summary of its contents plus a letter on his own activities to the next relative in line.

"It takes about two months to make the complete rounds," Mrs. Parker said. "But for 40 years we've kept account of one another this way."

The unique reunion will call together many relatives prominent in their own communities and many who have never met. Practically every section of the country will be represented.

Mrs. Rosalie P. Smith of Mandan, North Dakota, will probably be the guest number one. She is Mrs. Parker's mother and mother of Captain B. B. Smith of the Dallas Police Department.

The reunion is set tentatively for the last two weeks in June.

INFANT VERY ILL

No word had been received Thursday noon from the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Bryan Lawlis of Abilene, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Smith of Colorado. The child, less than a year old, was given emergency surgery in an Abilene hospital Wednesday night. It is understood that his condition was critical. Mr. and Mrs. Smith and daughter, Lena Smith, went to Abilene immediately after receiving word of the child's condition. His illness is said to have been the result of a fall some time ago, bringing about a rupture of some kind. Mrs. Lawlis is the former Mary Dixon Smith.

Tiney Gracey of Roscoe visited her aunt and uncle, Miss Maude Farmer and Roy Farmer, Tuesday.

Misses Jane and Jo Axtell and Loyse Jenkins were in Abilene Friday.

Misses Irda Mae Viles and Louise Jenkins will be home from Ft. Worth for the week-end.

Small Son Of J. H. Cotton Fell Into Container Late Saturday While At Play

First drowning tragedy of this section for 1937 came Saturday afternoon when Jimmie Taylor Cotton, two and a half year old son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Cotton of Dunn community fell into a concrete watering tank at the Cotton farm home two miles east of Dunn.

The accident occurred at about 7:45 while Mr. Cotton was milking. The child was found in water of the shallow container after Mr. Cotton had completed milking his cows and started to the house. The boy was rushed to a Snyder hospital where efforts at resuscitation were unsuccessful.

Funeral services were held Sunday afternoon at Dunn.

Car Conditioning Plants Assist In Service To Driver

Chevrolet Operates Ten Of These Units; Every Car And Truck Inspected

A recent automotive development with a tremendous influence on the satisfaction which owners derive from their automobiles is the new-car conditioning plant which Chevrolet originated three years ago, and which now is an integral part of the manufacturing procedure at all 10 of the company's final assembly plants.

"Conditioning" is the word that best describes the last operations through which every Chevrolet car and truck must go before it is ready for delivery. It consists primarily of inspection and adjustment. The conditioning plant makes sure that the car is serviced with water, oil and grease, that the latter are of the type suited to the season and the locality where the car will be driven, and that the carburetor is adjusted and the engine tuned for maximum efficiency in that locality.

"Never Forget A Customer"—the central thought in Chevrolet's slogan—sums up the company's policy on which the conditioning system is based. The distinction between conditioning and the processes which have preceded it should be clear at the outset. In the manufacturing plants, the workmen and inspectors are concerned with building the product to the specifications laid down on the designers' boards. It is their responsibility to see that every part is in its proper place and of specified quality.

The duty of the highly-trained conditioning plant personnel is to see that the car is actually ready to operate and is adjusted in every detail for the owner to step in and drive away. The men, in the conditioning plant, inspecting hundreds of cars every day for delivery, naturally become thorough and expert.

More than sixty distinct inspection points, divided into many classifications, are checked on every car. The first classification is the engine, where there are 26 separate operations. Some idea of the scope of the check-up may be gleaned from the fact that the motor is allowed to reach a normal running temperature before the cylinder head, manifold, and exhaust pipe bolts are checked for tightness. The flywheel is viewed through an open port with a stroboscope light, a marvelous instrument in itself, which permits the timing mark on the revolving flywheel to be seen and its position checked.

Next in number of inspections is the road test, with 13 inspection points. As its name implies, it is more in the nature of a wind-up inspection. Here any vagary of operation is checked by an expert whose feeling for "rightness" has developed into almost a sixth sense. A classification called "under car" is next, with eight inspection points. Inspectors working in pits with powerful lights go over some of the most obscure but most important parts of the car. They check, for example, the steering gear-to-frame bolts and the pitman arm nut. They check the drag link and tie-rod cotter keys, and also the alignment of the emergency brake cables. At the same time that these under body operations are being performed seven points are being checked by other inspectors on the "upper body" and six more on the lights and electrical connections.

LETTERS FROM THE PEOPLE

I read in the Colorado Record an item that interested me no little, and that was about the idea of making an underpass at the end of Elm street, and that should be done by all means, and especially now while the old reliable T. & P. is in the notion.

I well remember one day while crossing the track there at the end of Elm street the ghastly sight that I saw, that of a man all cut to pieces, and it was the worst sight that I ever saw, feet in one place, arms in another, head off to itself, and parts of legs in different places, and the torso was all cut to bits. I never will forget that sight.

So I hope that the people in general will help Mayor Sadler and the City Commission in putting this worthy project over.

Yours very truly, A. J. PAYNE, Manager, Board of City Development and Chamber of Commerce.

Standard, Gulf In Lead As Softball League Is Opened

Col-Tex and Shell Fight To Tie Score As Rain Stops Opening Tourney Card

The Standard Oil and Gulf clubs pushed ahead to argue for first place in the Lions Club softball league as opening card was staged Monday and Wednesday nights at Cantrill Field. Col-Tex and Shell are disputing second berth after having their game rained out at the third inning. The clubs had chalked five runs each.

First on the tourney calendar was contest between Little Sulphur and Standard, with J. E. Coles for Little Sulphur and Thompson for Standard on the pitcher's mound. The oil aggregation won by the marginal score of 8-7.

Wednesday night the Young Business Men and Gulf offered a thriller to sideline customers as the two teams fought through the ninth inning to register a 11-1 tie. The tenth inning, however, proved the undoing of Y.B.M. The Gulf team, under withering pitching attack of their skipper, Ney, effected six runs to end the game 17-11. Bass pitched a good game for the losing club.

The Standard and Col-Tex are to take up play Monday night. On Wednesday night a double header attraction is announced by Jack Christlin, boss of the league. Col-Tex and Shell are to settle their initial melee, rained out this week, and Standard Oil is to engage Col-Tex.

Christian and John Egan have umpired the games and A. L. McSpadden is on the gate to collect admission duets. A dime is charged for the attractions.

The Texas Planning Board is now studying the future possibilities of Texas fibers, new uses for Texas farm products, new markets for Texas farm products, slum clearance in Texas, improvement in social and economic conditions in the State, highway safety and maintenance of Texas forest reserves.

Hints to Gardeners

by Harris Draves Vegetable Expert Ferry Seed Institute

Locating Vegetable Crops

WHENEVER possible the vegetable crop should be suited to the soil. By far the best soil for nearly all crops is a loam with good water-holding capacity. Nearly all crops, too, should have full sun. But conditions can rarely be perfect. The following information is offered as a guide for those who have problems in locating crops.

In heavy or clayey soils, grow the following: Beans, Beets, Broccoli, Brussels Sprouts, Cabbage, Cauliflower, Chicory, Corn, Kale, Peas, Pumpkin, Rhubarb, Spinach, Squash, Swiss Chard and Rutabaga.

In light or sandy soils plant Asparagus, Carrot, Celery, Collards, Chinese Cabbage (Celery Cabbage), Cucumber, Egg Plant, Endive, Kohlrabi, Lettuce, Muskmelon, Watermelon, Mustard, Okra, Onion, Parsley, Parsnip, Pepper, Radish, Tomato, Turnip and most of the herbs.

Sandy soil usually yields an early but comparatively light crop. Clayey soils usually mature the crop a little later, but the yield is heavier.

In muck soils, plant Onions, Celery, Chinese Cabbage, Radish, Turnip, Carrot, Kale, Lettuce, Mustard, Parsley, Parsnip, Rhubarb, Spinach, Swiss Chard, and herbs. Onions and Celery are excellent muck crops. In shaded portions of the garden, the following may be tried: Beans, Radish, Lettuce, Endive, Kale, Cabbage, Beet, Sprouting Broccoli, Carrot, Mustard, Parsley, Parsnip, Rhubarb, Swiss Chard, Turnips and Rutabaga.

For planting near the house, which must be considered from the standpoint of appearance, the following are advised because of their more attractive foliage and neater habit of growth: Parsley, Kale, Beets, Lettuce, Spinach, Dwarf Beans, Cucumbers (trailed on trellis), herbs, and Corn (if there is sufficient space).

PICKED UP ALONG THE NEWS PATH

A long-predicted wedding is to take place June 20. . . I might tell you without risking personal harm, but what would be the fun if I did? . . . Most everybody can probably guess without asking, anyway. . .

Among the things I'd like to have: A garden gate under an arched lattice covered with a brightly blooming rambler rose, like the one at Agatha and Bill Dorn's house. . .

"Have you noticed how many pretty girls there are in the senior class this year?" I've heard that question asked more than once lately. . . Personally, I think the whole high school is better off in the matter of pretty girls than it has been in many moons. . .

International snapshot: A well-dressed Japanese man who was wandering about the streets during the noon stop of the Greyhound bus snapped a picture of two little negro boys in front of the Palace theater. . .

Effort of the Snyder families, junior and senior, to get the Dudley Snyder boys, D. H. III and Frankie, not to call their grandmother, Mrs. D. H.

Snyder, by the name of "Snooks" brought about this incident: Frankie saw his grandmother drive up at his house one day and promptly threw down whatever he was playing with. . . With a complacent air of entire obedience he exclaimed, "There comes my Grandmother Snooks!" . . .

Many compliments have reached my ears this week concerning the bacalcaurate address delivered by Harvey Childress, Church of Christ minister, Sunday evening. . .

FOUR TESTS INDICATED IN AREA ALONG BOUNDARY OF MITCHELL-HOWARD COUNTY

Location For Iron Mountain D. H. Snyder 1 Is Staked; Other Wells To Be Drilled In Chalk Vicinity

Completion of Moore Bros. No. 1 TXL, discovery well between the East Howard and Chalk pools for 216 barrels a day on a 24 hour test, coupled with two other recent completions in that sector, has added potentially to interest of local oil operators and property owners in that area.

Showing of the Moore Bros. test precipitated four additional locations in the immediate vicinity, two of which have been staked on property of D. H. Snyder, Colorado ranch owner. Iron Mountain Oil company staked location for its D. H. Snyder No. 1 330 feet from the east and south lines of section 28-30-1s, TP, a direct north offset to the Moore well.

Snyder has been following development in that immediate sector for several days. He advanced opinion here last week that showing in the Moore well, just across fence from his ranch property, gave strong indication that he would be due off set wells. The discovery well is just off highway leading into Chalk.

Eastland Oil company staked tentative location for a diagonal offset on the northeast in the southwest corner of section 27, while Magnolia is planning a direct offset on the east 330 feet out of the northwest corner of section 34. Moore Bros. will sink another test soon 660 feet from the north and 330 feet from the east line of section 33, one location south of the discovery well. The Eastland Oil location is on the Snyder ranch.

Shell is running a four-inch line from its pipeline four and a half miles away.

Other completions for the week were the Shell 3-A Roberts, section

Recently Enacted Statute Is Expected To Get Attention As Court Opens Monday

The revamped drivers' law, signed Thursday of last week by Governor Allred, putting into hands of the State public safety department and trial courts of Texas a new weapon in their war against traffic accidents, is expected to be given reference by District Judge A. S. Mauzey as he convenes grand jury here Monday morning.

Judge Mauzey usually stresses importance of the grand jurors giving attention to reports of law violations having to do with drunken driving, recklessness behind the steering wheel and other motor traffic abuses. With the more rigid State law in operation the court will have even more reason for bringing attention to these matters to the body.

The bill authorizes suspension or revocation of license after hearing before a court of competent jurisdiction and requires examination after a 90-day period for all applicants for license.

SENIORS OFFERED CHRIST'S LIFE AS PATTERN TO BUILD FOR LEADERSHIP, SUCCESS

'The Book Of Life' Is Text Used By Minister Harvey Childress In Addressing Graduates Sunday Night

The yardstick with which Christ measured his application to the serious problem of preparation for meeting the responsibilities of life will direct the youth of this age into paths of success and bring them down to the sunset of life in honor and triumph, Minister Harvey Childress of the Church of Christ outlined during delivery of sermon address to members of the senior class Sunday evening.

The minister spoke from the subject, "The Book of Life." The familiar Biblical reference to development in the life of Christ, "and Jesus increased in wisdom and stature and in favor with God and man," as listed in Luke 5:52, was offered as example that could be adopted with assurance of success in life by any young man or young woman of today.

"This Scripture reminds that Christ made use of opportunity to develop mentally, physically, spiritually and socially, as he passed from the state of childhood to young manhood," the minister recalled. He pictured the several stages of life from childhood down to the sunset and then the reward that comes after death to the righteous.

Frequent quotations from the Bible and the reading of lines as penned by Browning, Tennyson, Kipling and other great poets, were heard as the speaker pictured scenes along the course of life that leads to an honored and triumphal passage from the days of childhood to the setting sun and entry into the world beyond.

That there is no reason in the proposition that young people must sow their "wild oats" was stressed by Minister Childress. "To maintain a clean life in youth assures a better life in the realm of religion and citizenship and makes your passing along the walk from one end of life's span to the other easier," he stated.

The services were held in auditorium of high school, beginning at 8:15. The program was opened by the school band playing the professional as members of the class filed down aisle and took up their places in reserved seats facing the stage. Superintendent J. E. Watson, Principal Wilkins, members of the clergy and the school choral club with their director, Mrs. Chas. Moerer, occupied places on the stage.

"Come Thou Almighty King," was sung with the choral club leading the assembly. The Rev. C. E. Jameson of First Methodist church offered the invocation, in which Divine leadership in building strong character in lives of the graduates was requested. Two special numbers were sung by the choral club and the Rev. Dick O'Brien of Stamford read the Scripture lesson, an admonition in Second Timothy, chapter 3, verses 14-17, inclusive for proper training of the mind and life. The Rev. A. L. Haley of First Christian church dismissed the gathering in prayer.

The auditorium was filled with relatives and friends of the honor students. All churches in Colorado dismissed regular services for Sunday evening in cooperation with the school exercises.

CC EXECUTIVES ELATED IN RESPONSE GIVEN DRIVE TO RAISE ORGANIZATION CASH

'The People Are Ready For Progress,' Speakers Tell Luncheon Club Attendants Tuesday At Noon

The business and professional interests of Colorado, along with employees of those interests, are "ready for progress" through a reorganized and reorganized chamber of commerce, members of the CC luncheon club were told Tuesday noon by executives of the organization.

President C. C. Thompson, presiding, was first to address the club on plans of the organization to build the greatest civic clearing house this city has ever known. He recounted reception given him and other members of the board as they contacted citizens a few hours before with invitation that an additional $2,000 be underwritten to the annual budget.

"We are going to put this drive over in a big way because the people are ready to support the kind of chamber of commerce that this community deserves," was comment of Joe Pond, vice president of the CC. Pond advanced the prediction that three hours time would be required in which to subscribe another $1,000 to conclude the drive. $1,000 was received in annual subscriptions during a brief campaign Tuesday morning.

"What we want is a material increase in members and we accept that there are yet a number of Coloradans who will readily enter their names upon roster of this chamber of commerce for one dollar per month," stated J. Ralph Lee, another board member.

T. W. Stonerod, Jr., associated actively with the chamber of commerce since inception of the organization a number of years ago, declared that everything to be considered impressed him that the financial drive would go over the top. Speaking for his institution, the City National bank, of which Mr. Stonerod is president, he stated "we are for you in the worthy ambition to reorganize into an outstanding chamber of commerce."

Truett Barber, one of the re-added board members, was another Colorado citizen to speak on the subject. "I have never witnessed a finer response than was given the committee on which I served as we contacted the Colorado public this morning with invitation that we unite in the objective to which we all are striving," was his comment.

Entertainment heard on the program was offered by two youthful Colorado musicians, J. T. Williamson, pianist, and Weldon Huns, violinist. Guests introduced included Frank Smith of Dallas, representing the Narge company; Carl Blazig of Brownwood, representative of WPA, and Sefton Pickens. Pickens was announced by Truett Barber as a new member of the club.

Details for opening annual Summer amateur hour programs at Ruddick Park were discussed by R. H. Barber. Barber also made reference to plans of local pastors to sponsor cooperative religious services at the park on Sunday evenings.

Proposed Religious Services At Ruddick Park Are Approved By Ministers Of City

It was apparent Thursday that union religious services featured at Colorado during Summer months of other years were to be assured this season, with the open air auditorium at Ruddick Park as place for holding the cooperative worship programs. These services of the past were held on lawn of First Christian church and at Union Tabernacle.

R. H. Barber, director of the amateur hour programs to be given at the park during season to open Friday evening of next week stated that he had contacted four Colorado pastors and "every one of them expressed his approval of the plan. I feel confident that churches are going to enter into arrangement," he commented.

The plan, as outlined by Barber, would call for services at the park on each Sunday evening during the Summer, with cooperative ministers alternating in delivery of the sermon addresses.

"Local ministers and other church leaders are agreeing that this plan of religious contact would reach a larger number of people," Barber said. "We expect to conclude organization of the goal sought within the next few days and announce date for the opening service."

'BACK TO NATURE' PICNIC FOR 'FISH'

By Catherine Slagel

A "back to nature" picnic was held by the freshmen of Colorado High school Friday afternoon, the scene being Pecan Grove.

Friday being the last day of classroom work, as well as the day of the picnic, teachers and pupils were all a-flutter, but at three-thirty the last bell rang and the Fish poured out the doors and into waiting cars and trucks. Yells of "what happened to the sandwiches?" and "don't sit on those deviled eggs!" mingled with plaintive cries of "I forgot my cup!" while giggles of the girls added to the melee. Finally, the teachers getting not more than ten to each car, the motordade pulled out for the scene of the merrymaking.

Arriving at the Grove, the Fish at once tried to get rid of the pent-up energy which they had been saving all the school year for just such a time as this. The river was explored for almost a mile in each direction from the central spot, though the explorers would have sworn it to be five!

What with getting pushed into the mud, the girls fleeing from frogs, and the boys standing on their heads on the bank to get a ball which had inadvertently fallen into the water, the Fish were quite ready to eat when chuck was announced. It was a muddy, but far from hungry bunch which returned to town just as dark was falling.

Mrs. J. E. Watson, Mrs. Oscar Price, Mrs. J. F. Quinney, and Mrs. J. M. Doss accompanied the eighty Freshmen on the outing. The picnic was arranged by G. D. Foster and Juan P. Mason, sponsors, and a committee appointed by Beulah F. Robinson, president of the class.

The Services a Bank Renders

—are part and parcel of the sound policies and efficient methods it practices.

PRUDENT loan and investment policies safeguard the depositor's funds and help earn for him the expense of handling his account. They serve the borrower by restraining him from unwise ventures and guiding him to embark only on sound operations.

They also serve the Community by giving encouragement only to vigorous, well-managed concerns, thereby helping to maintain a sound business situation.

Good banking stays within these real services; it does not seek by free favors, easy loaning practices or other such inducements to gain customers. Observance of this principle is a cardinal part of this bank's management policies in its relations with all customers at all times.

JUNIOR-SENIOR BANQUET

Among the closing of school activities that failed to get in the paper at the time was the Junior-Senior banquet Saturday evening, May 1st.

Fifty-five juniors, seniors and teachers dined in the school hall decorated like a huge grape arbor. Big bunches of purple balloons hung in clusters from the white lattice work above.

The graduation idea was carried out. Small dolls in caps and gowns were the favors. The menu and programs were fixed like diplomats.

Elizabeth Young, toastmaster and Junior president, gave the welcome address followed by toasts by the Seniors. Maveeta Woodall, Senior president, gave the appreciation response followed by toasts by the Juniors. Roy Davis Coles, county school superintendent, addressed the group. Also some of the teachers gave short talks. Mrs. McAfee gave a toast "To the Fellow Who'll Take My Place."

Several guests were present. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Davis Coles of Colorado, Miss Hilma Joyce of Spade, Mr. Hugh McAfee of Kermit, and Mrs. Hardean of Latah.

Everyone had a nice time and seemed to enjoy the meal.

The menu was:
Fruit Cocktail
Fried Chicken
Sliced Tomatoes
Creamed Potatoes
Iced Tea
Ice Cream
Angel Food Cake

Most of the Juniors and Seniors finished the evening with a midnight show. The end of a perfect day.

The P. T. A. and Sophomore girls helped make this a success. The Junior class was very grateful to them.

There's a Crying Need For instant Hot Water!

In too many homes there's a tiresome waiting for a bath due to old-fashioned or inefficient water heating systems. This is needless, because it is the easiest thing in the world for any home to enjoy continuous hot water on tap any hour of the day. Simply take full advantage of your cheap natural gas service through the efficiency of a modern gas automatic water heater.

One supplies hot water for baths or any of the hot water jobs that come up day after day for a few pennies cost. Won't you investigate how little money it takes to have one installed?

MESKIMEN STUDENTS MAKE HONOR ROLLS AT ABILENE TOURNAMENT

Seven Mitchell county piano students of Mrs. B. H. Meskimen of Abilene made the honor roll during the National Piano Playing tournament held in Abilene last week.

Places on the honor roll were based on the number of pieces played—4 to 6 pieces for the district honor roll, 10 pieces or more for the national honor roll. Three of those playing from here rated excellent on the district honor roll, three made excellent on the national honor roll, and one rated superior on the district honor roll. Excellent is a grade from 90 to 95, superior a grade from 95 to 100.

Minnie Lee and Irene Strain, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Lee Strain of Fairview, rated excellent on the district roll, as did Doris Flo Doss, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Doss of Colorado.

Those rating excellent on the national roll were Mattie Blanche Byrd, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Byrd of Conway; Agnes Thompson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. O. H. Thompson of Colorado; Goodwin Simpson, son of Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Simpson of Fairview.

Edwin Pickens, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Pickens of Colorado, rated superior on the district roll.

OUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS

Graduation days are here again and it is only fitting that we devote this column this week, and next to education and our schools. This writer considers the schools, next to the churches, as the greatest asset Colorado and Mitchell county has and this also applies to the State.

Recognizing facts as they exist and realizing the importance of those having direct bearing on humanity should be sufficient urge to induce every thoughtful person to lend whatever aid and encouragement he can to the promotion of education. That is probably one reason so many offer suggestions to schoolteachers. Some of these suggestions are worth while, some are not; but the fact that they are made is a hopeful sign, for they are at least a manifestation of interest in education.

To the thoughtful layman, one not connected with the teaching profession, there appear to be certain factors bearing upon everyday life and certain elements of thought that are not sufficiently dwelt upon in the schools. They are not, in the way in which the interested but not participating citizen sees them, given the emphasis they deserve. They are not necessarily theological, but so close was the church connected at one time with the school and the State, that these particular subjects are left largely for the church to take care of, even now.

If this could be done by the church, it is likely that it would not be done in a way that the man of the workaday world would call practically effective. Neither is it given the attention it should receive by parents, especially after the youngsters reach the age of 14 or 15 years, as they then have too many diversions. Indeed, these diversions account in large measure for the fact that many are satisfied with superficial knowledge of things that are of paramount importance.

This is another of those instances in which it can be said, "These ought ye to have done, and not to leave the other undone."

CLEAR AND DEFINITE PRESENTATION

The thing most promotive of Education, and therefore of the forward movement of the people as a whole in any country or community, is the comprehensiveness of the instruction given in schools, and this to be effective must be free of ambiguity, and be specific and definite as nearly as may be. As already indicated, knowledge in the abstract must be supplemented by knowledge in the concrete, and vice versa, if it is to be effective.

ALL PROGRESS DEPENDENT UPON EDUCATION

All progress depends upon Education, for the reason that Education, in proportion to the moral and material economies of the times, is the power that pushes forward the car of Progress. Its power to push, however, depends on the general understanding of what is necessary to moving forward. This is why a people's advancement depends so largely upon their moral and economic understanding, which means the economies of morality.

Textbook knowledge and the wisdom gained from experience, supplemented by the understanding of moral and social economies further augmented by the economies of business and industry, are the underlying forces making for advancement. The tide of Education, speaking generally, ebbs and flows to the extent that real Education is applied by man to his life and activities.

IF NEITHER TEACHER NOR PARENT, WHO?

If neither teacher nor parent has the opportunity, or willingness, or qualification to impart the basic instruction as to life and the equipment which enables one to grapple with its problems successfully, who is going to do it? It must be done if the prospective man or woman is to meet the difficulties and solve the problems that are sure to present themselves.

"WHY" IS AS NECESSARY AS "HOW"

The teacher can do more than any one else to fire the student's ambition to do things worth while, and to convince him that only things worth while are deserving of his efforts. Right is always economic, wrong always uneconomic.

INFLUENCE MAY BE PERPETUAL

The influence of a teacher, like that of a mother, may be perpetual. It may not end with the student's life. It may continue in the influence that your student may exercise on those with whom he comes into contact, and so go on indefinitely. It is to the great teachers of the past that the world now is most indebted. Uncounted millions have been guided more or less by their teachings.

Because of the work and influence of teachers on the younger generation a good teacher is about the most valuable asset a community can have.

TOO MUCH EXPECTED OF TEACHER

The fact that the teacher, speaking generally, has realized the truth herein stated as to his duty and responsibility and had made a faithful effort to fulfill the one and be worthy of the other, he finds that there is now more expected of him and his associates than ever before. Much of the teaching and training that should be given by parents is left for the teacher to give.

The ever-increasing struggle for the necessities of life, as well as the time-consuming and money-wasting social activities of many who can't afford them, including amusements, bridge and cocktail parties, leave too little time for the most important work that parents have to do—the training of their children.

ILLUSTRIOUS TEACHERS AND STUDENTS

The teacher's responsibility is made heavier by the fact that he sometimes is instructor of a student who is destined to outshine his tutor in his achievements. Not in each instance of this sort is he a greater man than the teacher, but because of the profession he selects for himself, scientific discoveries he makes, or students he may have later under his own care may become more distinguished than their instructor.

Socrates taught Plato, who increased the fame of Socrates by attaining to distinction himself. He is considered by some to have been a greater philosopher than Socrates because he was himself a genius, and added to the knowledge gained from his teacher by virtue of his own ability and the application of what he knew in a way that distinguished him above others of his day.

Plato taught Aristotle, the Stagirate, who may be said to have been the greatest mind the world had possessed up to and including his time, and at least one of the greatest it has ever had. It seems that during the four or five centuries around Aristotle's span of life quite a number of men of extraordinary mental capacity blessed the world. However, their philosophy and discoveries were very slow of acceptance by the world because of ignorance and religious fanaticism.

ARISTOTLE AND ALEXANDER

But to revert to Aristotle. He was engaged by Philip of Macedon to tutor his son, Alexander, later known as Alexander the Great. The phrase, "the Great," was added to his name no doubt because he was great at slaying multitudes of men, robbing them of their country and enslaving their people. If the people such men lead or oppress do not call them "the Great," they compel them to do so.

Usually the only things great about them is their egotism, their genius for killing men, and overrunning helpless nations.

Just what Aristotle could have taught this boy Alexander one can but wonder. He certainly did not teach him the things he did in after years; nor did he teach him to proclaim himself a god, which he did do, as did Caligula and some other monsters in the form of men. Each of those who so proclaimed themselves proved their assertions that they were gods by playing the devil. Neither is it likely that Aristotle taught Alexander to "break" wild horses, which it is said he could do when but 12 years old. It would be difficult to imagine Aristotle giving Alexander a demonstration of broncho-busting—putting on a sort of Greek rodeo, as it were.

One thing is sure: Alexander rode rough-shod over every one he pleased, finally superinducing his own end by drunkenness and other excesses. It was a fitting end to such a life.

It is small wonder that Aristotle and Alexander finally had a falling out and became anything but friends. This was due principally to Alexander's declaration that he was a god, and that all should declare him to be such. Callisthenes, nephew of Aristotle, refused to do so honor him. So that, notwithstanding the great Aristotle's intercession in his behalf, Alexander condemned him to death. Perhaps Aristotle feared to be too insistent upon his sparing the life of his nephew, since it was altogether possible that Alexander would have given further proof of his godship by killing him.

The names of these two men should be recorded in history as Aristotle the Great and Alexander the Monster. Still Alexander, like Caesar and Napoleon, did some good along with his ruthlessness. He carried Greek civilization and culture into Western Asia.

EDUCATION, ETHICAL AND LITERARY

With the growth of education, both as to its higher branches and its general extent, will doubtless come greater emphasis upon its ethical phases. While many conscientious teachers voluntarily stress rather effectively the importance of moral lessons, with the attainment of widespread and higher education ethical teaching will doubtless be as much a part of the curriculum as any other.

For example, the essence of morality, economics and equity as implied in the Golden Rule will be taught along with textbooks, philosophy and the classics. When one who is inclined to yield to dishonest methods in order to attain his objectives in life is told and understands why "honesty is the best policy," when he is made to see that it is as much an essential to business success as economy and painstaking management, he will be more disposed to make it a part of his business than he otherwise might.

It may be a long way off, but the time surely is coming when there shall be few men who will not be ashamed and humiliated to be guilty of a crime or charged with it, be it ever so insignificant. As time passes this better understanding of what honesty and the other virtues mean will be general, and when it does of course the practice of them will be more insistently demanded by society as well as by business.

EDUCATION'S FUTURE TASK

Education's task in the future when it has become general, when every one who wants it or will receive it may have it, will be more comprehensive than at present. One study heretofore practically neglected in school curricula will not only be taught in the schools but it will be taught and studied in every family; that study is genetics.

It is strange that, after learning as much as we have about the improvement of animals we should not realize that it is even more important to improve men and women. Whether intended as a "wise crack" or as a solemn fact, it is a solemn fact that a Texas woman voiced when told that her friend's husband was a member of the order known as the Improved Order of Red Men. "What this and every country needs," she said, "is an improved order of white men."

According to the fable, a lioness was asked by a mother wolf, "Why don't you have a big family like mine? You have only two children, while I have half a dozen." The lioness replied, "True enough that I have only two children, but they are lions!"

Men have learned the lesson implied in this story in the improvement of livestock and poultry, but do not apply it in the improvement of their own progeny. The matter of numbers is not so important as that of quality. The burden most handicapping mankind's progress upward is that of lack of education, refinement and culture of the great majority.

But with continued growth in education generally, that it, as the number of educated persons increases in proportion to total population, the difficulties in the way of intellectual growth in the mass will be overcome. This is what makes the public school one of America's greatest institutions. When this education of the masses is done, insistence on smaller families will likely become less voluble and persistent.

Continued progress in extending educational facilities until every person within the bounds of the Nation is reached will doubtless accomplish what is most desired—the education of all to the extent that they are capable.
