PICKED UP ALONG THE NEWS PATH

Some day, in one of my more irresponsible moments, I fear that I may give completely away to an impulse which hits me every time I see somebody looking at the "Timely Events" posters in The Record office window. . . The tops of those posters are just right for me to peep over. . . My aforementioned impulse is to walk up there, peep over, and look cross-eyed at the poster-gazer. . . A very lady-like impulse, you will admit, but I cannot tell a lie—tis my very own. . . I tried it once, the "victim" being Bennett Scott. . . The effect was to say the least, startling. . .

I hear it rumored that at least one Mitchell county college girl won't be going back to college this fall but will be heading altar-wed with a Colorado man instead. . .

Tea with a "real" movie star—that's just what a former Colorado woman, Mrs. J. H. Greene, now of Big Spring, is reported to have enjoyed while on a trip to California recently. . . According to the Scurry County Times, Mrs. Greene and Dr. and Mrs. H. G. Towle and Mary Margaret Towle of Snyder had tea with Mary Brian at her beautiful lake home near Hollywood during their stay in California. . . Mary Brian spent part of her early childhood in Snyder. . .

Mischief danced jigs in the eyes of one clerk in the Max Berman Department store last Thursday while she held an "ice-cold rag over the thermometer to "fool" Mr. Berman about the way his new cooling system was working. . .

Among the things I never expect to see: Dick Billingsley squelched. . .

That grand old Mexican custom, the siesta, is being heartily promoted by Pink Wade Hodge following her recent trip to Monterrey and other romantic points in Old Mexico. . . And she makes no secret of wanting "a house with a patio." . .

I hear that Charles Edwin Root has been taking flying lessons at the Big Spring airport and may soon be doing solo stuff. . .

I never knew until Wednesday afternoon that the father of Mary Brian, the movie star, used to work for J. P. Majors here in Colorado. . . In fact, he was a member of the firm in the very beginning and remained so two or three years. . . His name was Tourrance J. Dantzier, and it was on his suggestion that J. P. Majors decided to establish a jewelry business in Colorado. . . From here Dantzier and his wife moved to Corsicana, and it was there that the little Dantzier girl who was to be Mary Brian of the screen was born. . . Mr. Dantzier died suddenly while taking a bath one Sunday morning, Ed and Oscar Majors recall. . . They say that Mrs. Dantzier is a beautiful woman, even lovelier than her famous daughter, but she never fully recovered from the death of her husband. . . She lives with Mary Brian in California at present. . . After her husband's death she worked for Dr. H. G. Towle in Snyder for a time. . . And from this you'll know why the Towles and Mrs. J. H. Greene had tea with Mrs. Dantzier and Mary Brian during

MORE HOME GROWN FOOD
Farm homes it would seem may well increase such home-grown items as milk, eggs, and poultry, if we look forward to providing an adequate diet for the family. In proof of the foregoing, The Progressive Farmer offers the following quotation from Miss Erna Proctor, regional home economist of the Resettlement Administration:

"In order to produce an adequate supply of eggs for home use, Florida needs to increase its production 341 per cent; Georgia 313; Louisiana 352; North Carolina 250 per cent. Other Southern States are in almost as bad condition. With reference to dairy products, the production requirement is met in only the state of Kentucky, with other states requiring percentages of increase from 30 per cent for Tennessee to 403 per cent for Georgia. Other low states are Louisiana, 224; South Carolina, 198; North Carolina, 139."

DETERMINED FIGHT IS SET FOR THURSDAY NIGHT WITH SERIES PENNANT AT STAKE

Col-Tex and YBM To Carry Perfect Record As Final Battle For Lions Honors Opens At Cantrill Field

Thursday night was to have been attended with heated interest among softball fans as Col-Tex and Young Business, undefeated contenders for championship in second half of the Lions Club league, got under way at Cantrill Field. Winner of the battle was to be qualified to meet Standard Oil, winner of first half, for the league pennant.

Both of the clubs have a perfect scoreboard rating with no games lost during the last-half series. Captains of the opposing clubs have announced their intention of going into the melee determined to win and capture the coveted belt. Fans Thursday were advancing the promise the fight gave promise of being one of the best buys offered customers since opening of the league contests.

As the opposing clubs meet to do battle for first place in the series, they will also be opposing each other for the first time during the half. This feature is expected to add considerable spice to the game.

Accepting that one of the contenders will win in Thursday night's game, the play-off schedule, set to open Monday night of next week, will not be followed. Dave Bridgford, boss of the league, Thursday noon had not announced date for pitting winner of the Thursday night contest with Standard Oil for the League trophy.

The league season opened on May 24 with Standard Oil and Little Sulphur playing the first game, and the first half closed June 24. No play-off schedule was required as the Standard Oil club shunted all opposition aside to easily win the pennant. Second half of the league opened July 3.

Detailed program for the joint conference of Associated Retail Credit Men and Credit Bureau Secretaries of District Two in Colorado on August 22 was released this week through Clarence Cook manager of the Retail Merchants' association here. The programs are being printed in Colorado.

Although a pre-convention dance will be held at the Colorado country club Saturday night, the convention proper will not begin until 9 o'clock

Divisional Engineer Offers Cooperation
In Placing Historical Marker Near City

Cooperation with the Mitchell County Centennial committee and the chamber of commerce in locating historical marker commemorating an Indian battle on the Colorado river near here in 1840, was pledged Friday afternoon by W. A. French of Abilene, divisional engineer for the State highway commission.

Mrs. J. G. Merritt, chairman of the Centennial group, stated Monday afternoon that plans looking to locating the marker were being mapped and it was hoped to have the imposing marble shaft in place before the passing of many more weeks. Tentative sites along Highway One immediately west of the Colorado river were inspected.

The marker, done in Texas marble, gives interesting data on the battle, fought between a tribe of Comanche Indians and Texas volunteers, along banks of the river a short distance south of Colorado on October 24, 1840. Ninety Texas volunteers under command of Colonel John Henry Moore, attacked the Red Men, killing

Sunday morning when registration will be held in the Colorado hotel lobby.

More than 100 are expected to be in attendance from over the district, which extends from Fort Worth to El Paso north and south of the Texas & Pacific railroad. They will be welcomed Sunday morning by Mayor J. A. Sadler of Colorado. Response will be by J. E. R. Chilton, Jr., of Dallas, manager of the Retail Merchants' association and secretary of the Associated Retail Credit Men of Texas.

The two organizations will alternate with numbers on the morning program, the speakers to be Robert A. Ross, president of the Associated Retail Credit Men of Texas and credit manager of Neiman-Marcus, Dallas; E. G. Graves of Fort Worth, president of the Texas Retail Credit Bureaus; W. S. Genaro, manager of the Retail Merchants' association at Mineral Wells; and Dr. F. A. Buechel, assistant director of the Bureau of Business Research at the University of Texas.

Following a luncheon, the two groups will go into separate sessions Sunday afternoon. Each group will elect new officers while in separate session, but will go back into joint session to select their next meeting place.

E. E. Reynolds of Abilene is president of the Associated Credit Men of district two. A. S. Jacobs of El Paso is vice-president and Miss Pauline Sullivan of Big Spring is secretary. Bob Genaro of Mineral Wells heads the Texas Retail Credit Bureau Secretaries' organization. Mrs. L. A. Eubanks of Big Spring is vice-president, and Mrs. Margaret Weinrich of San Angelo is secretary.

RAPID SPREAD OF LIONISM
WILL BRING WORLD PEACE

The rapid spread of Lionism into remote parts of this and other nations of the world is to be reckoned as among the leading factors in establishing permanent recognition of international brotherhood and the subsequent dispelling of those conditions that bring about misunderstandings as between one people and another, delegates attending the recent International convention in Chicago outlined during addresses at the Lions Club Friday.

Vivid picture of 12,000 Lions, representing the United States, Canada, Cuba, Mexico, Panama and other countries, assembled in convention for the sole purpose of setting up the principles of the great service organization more firmly in lives of the people, regardless of race or creed, were painted as District Governor Joe Pond, President Jack Helton and Boyd Dozier, detailed some of their experiences and inspirations during the four days in Chicago.

Helton was the first speaker to be heard. He covered in an interesting way several of the convention highspots. He expressed pride in fact that out of the 2,800 Lions Clubs in existence today, carrying membership of 92,000, ten per cent of the number were in Texas. Goal of the International association for 1938 is 3,000 clubs with a combined membership of 100,000, he said.

Helton expressed appreciation of himself and the other Colorado delegates for having been privileged to board the California special train at Sweetwater and travel with that delegation into Dallas. "Some of the great men in Lionism were aboard that train and we met every one of them personally and were shown every courtesy," he noted.

Dozier spoke briefly of the convention and expressed his appreciation for the privilege of having been selected a delegate from the Colorado Club. Helton and Pond, too, made reference to their appreciation for the honor of representing Lionism here at Chicago.

"This convention trip to me was one of the greatest experiences of my life, and especially so in view of the fact I am to represent this district as your governor during the next year," Pond stated during opening of his address. "I have been under obligation to this Lions Club ever since you invited me to become a member back in 1927 and that obligation has been becoming greater all the while."

Pond stated that he was impressed while traveling on the train and attending the convention sessions that some of the greatest men in this country are leaders in carrying into the lives of others the ideals for which Lionism stands. He painted an interesting mental picture of an occasion in the convention hall when flags of the several countries into which Lionism has extended were presented.

That the Boy Scouts of America, another international organization that is devoting of its resources liberally to sustain the principles of peace and good will, had part in the convention, was outlined by Pond. The flags were brought to the platform by Scouts and placed in position on the stage.

Pond recalled of having attended meetings in the room in which Lionism was born in 1917 and attending conferences with men who during the intervening 20 years had made liberal contribution in personal effort and money in building the greatest service organization in the world.

The three Lions wore jackets of orange and purple, colors of Lions International, as they attended the club meeting. All of the Texas delegation wore the convention jackets. Helton recalled, a fact that caused the Texans and Texas to be outstanding during the meeting.

FOREIGN SOLICITORS ON DECLINE AFTER CONTROL
POLICY STARTED BY C-C

There are less foreign solicitors and salesmen frequenting the stores and offices of Colorado since policy of checking the practice a few months ago by the chamber of commerce went into effect.

With practically every business and professional interest in town cooperating in the protective measure—that of definite refusal to consider any proposition unless the petitioner presents accredited credentials from the CC the solicitor is finding hard sledding.

BISHOP SEAMAN CALLS ON CHURCH PEOPLE TO STAND FOR RIGHT AS DID ELIJAH

The influences of Ahab and Jezebel in directing the unwary into paths of idolatry and sin are as pronounced in this age as during the Biblical times when Elijah stood up to defend the God of his fathers as against the god of Baal, Bishop E. Cecil Seaman of Amarillo, stated during sermon address at Ruddick Park Friday evening.

The speaker was appearing on cooperative religious program given each Sunday evening at the park amphitheatre. He arrived in Colorado early that afternoon from Sweetwater and had intended to preach at All Saints Episcopal church at 8 o'clock but accepted invitation to speak on the union service program.

The distinguished churchman was introduced by Rev. C. E. Jameson of First Methodist church. The Scripture lesson, taken from the 19th chapter of First Kings, was read by Rev. A. L. Haley of First Christian church, Rev. Mr. Jameson offered the invocation and Dr. W. M. Elliott of First Presbyterian church, pronounced the benediction. Thos. Dawes directed the choir and Joe Earnest was at the piano.

There remain today many people who have not bowed the knee to Baal, as did those believers back in the days of Elijah, Bishop Seaman stated, and these were given the urge to remain faithful in that the principles of Elijah's God be sustained in the earth. The troubled conditions existing in Spain, China, Italy and other nations detailed by the speaker would not have been had the people there been influenced with the true ideals of Christianity, he explained.

That Christian churches of America and other countries are doing a wonderful work through their missionaries in India, Africa, China, South America and other dark places on the globe was claimed by the Bishop. He noted that a total of 23,000 missionaries were laboring in those lands.

The miracle that day when God sent down fire out of heaven to consume the offering of Elijah stood out then and has ever since remained as one of the most convincing demonstrations of the omnipotence of God, and failure of the gods of Baal to respond to pleadings of their prophets to perform a similar feat established definitely in that early day that idol gods cannot hear and answer prayer, he continued.

The cooperative religious services being conducted at the park were referred to as an effective agency in leading Christian churches and people into closer communion with their God and the subsequent will to witness in stronger men the ideals of the God of Elijah, Bishop Seaman stated.

Cotton Prospects Now Top Average; Lint Ahead 1936

Crop Maturing Rapidly With Heat Favorable Fruiting In All Parts Of Texas

Another hot, dry week of favorable growing weather speeded Texas cotton on to earlier harvest than usual, with progress of fruiting well above average and insects largely held in check. The Dallas News summary for the week ended Friday shows:

All sections of Texas report the cotton crop outlook as well above last season, but there are some dry counties on the South Plains needing rain before late planted cotton can set a normal crop of bolls. There has been more than average shedding in South Texas, where hot winds are beginning to hurt, with soils getting very dry from Bee and La Salle on the south to Bexar county on the north.

North Texas has the best prospect in several years and similar prospect for Central Texas is reported. Blooming is general in all sections and safe bolls range from 50 per cent in East Texas to 60 per cent in South and 75 per cent in Southwest, 50 per cent in Central and about the same in North Texas.

Heat has checked flea hoppers, grasshoppers and weevils, although weevils and leafworms will need watching. Leafworm moths are flying in three counties on the South Plains of Northwest Texas, four or five counties of North Texas, six counties in Northeast, two in West Texas, nine in West Central, twelve in Central Texas and the worms are active in fifteen counties of South Texas. They could destroy late fruit but they also might aid cotton to ripen early.

Oklahoma cotton crop outlook is average to good except in the west, where it is dry and hot winds are hurting. About 50 per cent of bolls in the State are considered safe. Insects have practically stopped except in the west.

New Mexico's cotton is fruiting well and outlook is average.

Educational Cries Here Interested In School Levy Fight

Legal Procedure Looking To Slicing Per Capita Rate Watched With Interest

Controversy over the scholastic apportionment for next year, developed at Austin shortly after the State Board of Education fixed highest per capita apportionment in history of Texas, is being watched with considerable interest among educational leaders at Colorado. Proposed reduction in the allocation would affect every school district in the county, it is pointed out. An injunction against the board has been granted.

The temporary injunction was granted in San Antonio by District Judge W. W. McCrory and forbade the board, pending a hearing on whether the order should be made permanent, to change the apportionment, recently set at $22, or $3 more than the amount for this year.

In moving to ask the attorney general's department for advice on the law involved, John W. Laird of Lufkin, a member, said he believed the board had done "the right thing" in setting the $22 rate, but otherwise there was no discussion of the subject.

Shortly after the education board had set the apportionment, the state automatic tax board, of which Governor James V. Allred is a member, reduced the ad valorem tax levy for school purposes from 20 cents on the $100 valuation to seven cents. The governor voted for the reduction.

The comptroller's department had estimated that to sustain the $22 rate it would be necessary to continue the 20-cent levy and that the seven-cent rate probably would allow an apportionment of $20 in addition to providing for textbook purchases.

THIS IS THE SEASON OF PARALYSIS IN CHILDREN STATE OFFICIAL STATES

AUSTIN.—Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, states that infantile paralysis, like typhoid fever, is largely a summer disease. Although cases may occur during any month of the year, over half the total number come in July, August, September and October. To date, 69 cases of poliomyelitis have been reported to the State Health Department in 1937.

Direct contact between persons is regarded as being the chief factor in the spread of infantile paralysis. Because of the seasonal prevalence of the disease, flies and other insects have been suspected of conveying the virus or germ. Insect transmission has not, however, been demonstrated. Although animals are subject to paralysis, they are seemingly not susceptible to the human type of this paralytic disease. Carriers are difficult to determine; this fact makes advisable the reduction to a minimum of human contact during an outbreak.

Early symptoms of infantile paralysis comprise headache, fever, vomiting, bowel disorder, drowsiness and irritability, followed by neck or back stiffness. Prompt medical care, early recognition and reporting of cases make possible the use of valuable preventive and control measures.

After the acute stage of the disease has passed and walking is finally permitted the patient, under no circumstances must the affected part be fatigued. It is thus observed that the secret of successful rehabilitation lies in continuance of professional guidance and large doses of patience.

Children under five are more susceptible to the disease and all children under 12 should be watched for suspicious symptoms. There are important things to do when a child shows symptoms. Your family physician should be called at once and physicians should report all cases to the health authorities immediately. When the disease occurs all cases should be isolated for 21 days. All milk should be boiled unless it is pasteurized.

Children should not visit homes where the disease exists or there are symptoms of it. Flies should be killed and their breeding places destroyed. Promptness in diagnosis of poliomyelitis is important in preventing spread of the disease.

KIDDIES LIKE CEREAL DRESSED UP AS DESSERT

Youngsters who are "as cross as a bear" at breakfast and won't eat their cereal are big problems. Usually they are the ones who are sorely in need of the nourishment which a good cereal, such as Quaker Oats, gives them: Often a cereal disguised as a "dessert" and served at luncheon or supper is eaten with youthful zest and a lusty call for "second helpings."

Just such a cereal-dessert are Oatmeal Bouchées, which are made as follows:

OATMEAL BOUCHEES
Pour left-over breakfast porridge in small coffee cups and place them aside to cool. When cool turn them out and scoop out the center, leaving a wall and bottom about half an inch thick. Fill this with fruit—berries, sliced peaches, pineapple—dust with powdered sugar, and serve with cream or with a soft custard.

This equipment, put to much harder use than the average car or truck, serves as a laboratory for testing Humble motor fuels, motor oils, greases and automobile specialties. As one of our own best customers, we agree with thousands of other Texans who say of Humble products, "They're definitely second to none."

Certainly, we leave no stone unturned to keep Humble motor fuels and Humble motor oils in the front rank—not with sporadic improvement from time to time, but with continuous improvements from day to day. But you, as a user, are even better qualified than we to pass judgment: We invite you to try Humble motor fuels and motor oils in your car. Make your own decision regarding their quality. We think you'll agree with all of us customers—that continuous improvement keeps Humble ahead.

DIPHTHERIA KILLED 351 TEXAS CHILDREN DURING 1936, REPORT OUTLINES

Texas loses more than three hundred of its children each year from one preventable cause, according to State Health Officer Geo. W. Cox. Diphtheria, that ever present menace to children, was responsible in 1936 for 351 deaths.

No parent would allow his child to run in front of trains or automobiles, but many allow them to run the danger of contracting diphtheria. Prevention of diphtheria in children is a simple matter of inoculation with toxoid.

If you have a child six months old or more, take him to your family physician and ask to have a Shick test made to determine whether the child is susceptible or immune to diphtheria—for 75 to 90 per cent of children under twelve years of age are susceptible.

Information that as high as ninety per cent of all children under twelve are susceptible was gained from Shick tests carried out on thousands of children during the past decade, and indicates that young children should receive immunizing treatment against diphtheria without a preliminary Shick test. Such a test should, however, be carried out six months after preventive treatment, to make certain that immunity has been established. In older children and adults, a preliminary Shick test is advisable, since immunity may already be present.

Diphtheria immunization is accomplished by the injection of toxoid. Your doctor can tell if the immunization was successful by giving you the Shick test four to six months after the last treatment of toxoid. It takes that long for protection to develop.

There is no guess work about toxoid, it is a safe and proven preventive. The wise and cautious parent will take his child to the family doctor now, before school opens, and have him protected against the danger of contracting diphtheria, by immunization with toxoid.

Coloradoan Fights To Advance Better Farm Life Estate

Tribute Given Mahon During Discussion At Bible Class Here Sunday Morning

The fight that George Mahon is making in congress to protect interests of the Southern farmer and ease tension in this country's farm tenancy problem is commendable and when the American people send more men of his type to Washington much of the present day evils will be discarded. J. E. Watson, superintendent of the Colorado schools, stated during discussion of the Sunday school lesson at First Methodist church Sunday morning.

"I recently received statistics from Mr. Mahon showing trend of movement of our youth from the rural sections into the big city, and this information was alarming to me," Watson stated. "But we cannot attach blame to the young man who leaves the farm for the city to accept an exchange in income from that of a bare existence to a wage of $7 and $8 for a few hours work in the industrial center," he suggested.

Watson explained that efforts of Mahon and other friends of agriculture to effect legislation favorable to the farmer had been halted through opposition supported by capitalistic interests.

The Scouts were guests of James Herrington and Morris Kirschbaum, Troop officials who accompanied the boys to camp.

Twins, One Of Them A Mitchell Countian, Have 120 Descendants; Lives Run Parallel

The world has 120 more people in it than it would have had if a certain set of twins, J. W. Stewart of near Colorado and Mrs. Mollie Hopkins of Munford, Alabama, had never lived.

These twins, now only 68, counted up their descendants when Mr. Stewart visited Mrs. Hopkins recently and found that they totaled 120. It was the first time the brother and sister had seen each other in 8 years.

Their lives have run strangely parallel courses. Mr. Stewart is the father of 11 children, 9 of whom are living, and Mrs. Hopkins is the mother of 10 children, all living. Both brother and sister have been married twice. Mrs. Hopkins had all her children but one during her first marriage. All Mr. Stewart's children were by his first wife.

Their 120 descendants include on Mrs. Hopkins' side 10 children, 52 grandchildren, and 15 great grandchildren; on Mr. Stewart's side 11 children, 23 grandchildren, and 9 great grandchildren.

This brother and sister are the only surviving members of their family, although they have five half brothers and sisters by their father's second marriage. G. P. Stewart, who lives near Cuthbert in Mitchell county, is one of their half-brothers. Their mother died when they were 2 years old, shortly after the birth of a second set of twins, again a boy and a girl. One of the twins lived 6 weeks, the other three months.

Mr. Stewart and Mrs. Hopkins were born near Oxford, Alabama. Mrs. Hopkins has spent all her life in Alabama, but Mr. Stewart came to Texas in 1905, settling in Erath county. His first wife died in March after they arrived in Texas in October. Just a year later Mrs. Hopkins lost her first husband—another parallel incident in the lives of the twins.

Impressed by Mitchell county's farming advantages during a visit with relatives here, Mr. Stewart moved here eleven years ago. He is now farming on the Joe Shepperd place about four miles northeast of Colorado.

Mr. Stewart's nine living children are: Mrs. Frank Thomas of Hamilton county, Mrs. Dick Bishop of Erath county, Mrs. Early Shepperd of Colorado, Mrs. Jeff Newman of Pecos, Mrs. Carl Glover of Cranfield Gap, Mrs. Artie Palmer of Altus, Okla., Mrs. George Oglesby of Cranfield Gap, A. B. Stewart of Claiborne, Texas, and N. E. Stewart of Colorado.

Loan Official Well Pleased In Report On Colorado Ass'n

Little Rock Executive Here Monday To Confer With Local Secretary

Howland H. Seargeant, field representative for the Federal Home Loan Bank of Little Rock, Arkansas, spent a few hours here Monday morning in conference with L. B. Elliott, secretary-treasurer of the Colorado Federal Savings and Loan association, and other officials. The local unit is a member of the Little Rock bank.

Seargeant stated that the Colorado association had been making steady progress, as might be attested in the fact the dividend paid members June 30 was the fifth consecutive of such payments in semi-annual earnings. The dividends are paid on the basis of 4 per cent and represent earnings of the association after all operating costs have been paid.

A special educational campaign, through the medium of advertising is to be authorized to better acquaint the public with merits of the association, Seargeant stated. Ample funds are available at low interest rate for the construction, refinancing, purchase or repair of homes in Colorado and vicinity, Elliott stated.

Short Illness Was Fatal To Donald U. Crispin On Sunday

Former Coloradoan Visited Here A Few Hours Before His Death

News of the death of Donald U. Crispin, formerly of Colorado, in Abilene Sunday morning came as a shock to Coloradoans who became acquainted with him while he was employed as bookkeeper at the Colorado express several months ago.

Crispin, who had been employed by the Humble Oil and Refining company near Monahan during the past four months, was a visitor in Colorado a few hours before his death. He was the guest of Miss Billie Wyatt Friday evening and complained at the time of not feeling well. Spending the night at the Barcroft hotel, he drove to his mother's home in Abilene Saturday morning.

His condition grew worse Saturday afternoon and he was removed to a hospital in the early hours of Sunday morning. He experienced difficulty in breathing and swallowing, it is said. Death came at 4 o'clock Sunday morning just as preparations were being made to place him under an oxygen tent.

He was the only child of Mrs. Virginia Crispin, member of a pioneer Abilene family. He was born and reared in Abilene and was graduated from the Abilene high school. Before going to the oil fields he kept books at the express here. He was a nephew of the late John Guitart of Abilene and of James Guitart of Colorado.

Funeral services were held from the Crispin home in Abilene Tuesday afternoon at 4 o'clock. The Rev. P. D. O'Brien, pastor of the Stamford Baptist church and formerly pastor here, officiated. Burial was in the Cedar Hill cemetery.

Funeral services were held at the home of Mrs. Fred Guitart, Jr., of Merkel, James Guitart, Jr., of Colorado, John Guitart, Jr., Ray Lockett, Bob Richards, and Bill Guitart, Jr., all of Abilene. All six were cousins of Crispin.

Among Coloradoans attending Crispin's funeral Tuesday afternoon in Abilene were Miss Billie Wyatt, Miss Neal Mills, Mrs. E. J. Crowlev, Bonnie Bill Brizendine, Mrs. J. A. Ferguson, Frances Newsom, Mrs. W. M. Mosley, Mrs. Bill King, Lela Roddy, Catherine DeLaney, Otha Rice, Mary Rice, James Guitart, Sr., and others.

EDITORIAL

A COLUMNIST

A good Columnist is crazy as a bed-bug. I am glad one of our readers has seen fit to bring up the "crazy as a bed-bug" matter. It should have been threshed out years ago.

There has been a crying need for reliable data on the origin of this simile ever since editors began making use of it to describe a competitor. Up to now nobody seems to have come forward with an authentic explanation of its source.

I have been on the point several times of writing to the press giving the unpurged facts in the case but in recent years have refrained from sending my views on topics of the days to newspapers. I have found you can't do it and maintain any sort of prestige in the community. Nothing gives a man a bad name quicker than writing letters to editors, especially after the linotype man gets through editing them.

I recall a letter I once sent to a newspaper explaining the cause of the Spanish-American war. When it appeared it was so garbled and lacerated by editorial scalpels you couldn't tell whether it referred to the Spanish-American war, or the war on the boll weevil. Anyone reading it would think the writer was either drunk or crazy. Naturally this proved very embarrassing to people who didn't know me, especially those who weren't sure that I drank. Fortunately I was able to bring several acquaintances to swear they had never seen me drunk. Others testified they had never seen me drunk enough to write anything like that article and, as most everyone knew I was incapable of writing such truck while sober, I was exonerated. But it was a valuable lesson to me and after that I was always careful to keep a copy of all my letters to the press so that when the question of whether I or the editor was drunk arose, I could always prove it wasn't me.

Before I started writing this column I was numbered among the leading citizens of Colorado, highly respected and esteemed, by all—including several creditors of the better class. There was no movement, social or political, in which I was not among the first to be called upon to give of my purse and time. I became so identified with community affairs that I was mentioned several times as a possible candidate for the post of third vice president of the volunteer hose company. When I declined, on learning that the third vice president is the fellow that sponges off the truck and puts things in place after a fire, everybody was disappointed for the report had somehow got around that I was one of the best spongers in the county.

However my refusal of the post did not hurt my standing in the community one whit for immediately a movement was started to place me in charge of the collection plates at the Baptist church. Quite a few buttons and telephone slugs had been appearing in the offerings of late and as I had quite a reputation as a sort of amateur detective I was deemed the man best fitted for the job. Somehow I never felt badly over my defeat for this post for there was very little in it in the way of recompense except the sheer joy one might get out of serving the Lord and the church deacons. When I learned that I was also expected to forage around the back alleys for wood to heat up the place and keep the congregation from linking up with the devil in order to keep warm, I was glad I had been rejected.

It was along about this time that I began sending in my views on the vital issues of the day to the press. Soon the whole town was talking about me and my articles. After a time they quit talking about the articles and confined their comment to me. I could tell people were talking about me by the sudden increase in the number of threats I received from tradespeople over unpaid bills.

But the thing that hurt me the most was to note the way Ford Morris began putting his meat away the moment I stepped into his shop. Somehow I didn't seem to mind the way people peered out from behind the lace curtains at me as I passed by. And felt not the slightest resentment when I glimpsed a neighbor putting a lock on his woodshed door. Nor did I feel the least bit perturbed on observing how the children stopped their play to gaze at me with open-mouthed wonder. But when I saw how Morris hurried into the ice chest with his shin bones and lamb shanks it pained me more than words can tell. I had known him for years. There hadn't been a Saturday night that I hadn't stepped into his place and bought a soup bone or a couple of pounds of tripe for Sunday. He had often told me that if it hadn't been for customers like me he would have closed up years ago but now didn't dare to because everybody owed him so much he had to stay open to collect it.

Even the two grocers in town whom I knew well, both having often called at my house to spend a pleasant evening discussing the grocery business, seemed to change and finally began spoiling our friendship by refusing to leave peaceably. When I think of the happy times we had matching pennies to see which one of them would send back to his store for more ginger-ale, it makes me sometimes wonder if their friendship was genuine or only pretended.

I also observed a tendency after this column began to appear in the press to exclude me from among the invited guests at molasses candy pulls, bean suppers and social events of equal importance. There was a noticeable movement to eliminate me from helping the ladies of the guild arrange the hall decorations and assist in folding the paper napkins, a service I had rendered faithfully for 25 years. And there were some who even wanted to take away from me the job of putting the chairs back in the basement and sweeping up the debris after the orgy was over. If you think being forbidden to even sugar the lemonade or help tack up the festoons for the Annual Firemen's Ball does not make a man lose faith in his creator and fill him with impious thoughts just start being a Columnist. There were times when it was all I could do to keep from running down to the newspaper office and blowing the editor's brains out. I would have done it too had I been sure where to point the pistol.

Many a brilliant writer has been branded a moron after his stuff appeared in print. Those who have never been alluded to as a moron have no idea how humiliating it is. To continue to hear such remarks, years after you've quit writing is positively nauseating, especially if you're uncertain of it yourself.

I'm sick of it all. Sometimes I am tempted to enter politics, open a law office, or run a newspaper just to see if there's any ground for the accusation.

I am very glad to have had the opportunity to clarify and settle the controversy over the origin of the "crazy as a bed-bug" phrase.

The writer of this column expects to become famous and nationally known because we have some 25 or 30 readers who endorse this claim. When we reach that stage we expect to carry a cane, wear a derby and spats. Only a very few people can hold their heads after becoming famous.

How will strangers know of my success unless I dress the part. After all a good cane can be had for 50c, a pair of spats for $1.00, a nice derby for $2.00. With a total outlay of $3.50 we can prove we are a great writer. It is hardly supposable that the accessories above mentioned helped us to win success yet when we didn't have the money for them they may have been in the back of our mind. My yearning for the symbols of elegance and distinction may have stimulated us in our earlier efforts to achieve a position that would make them possible and allowable. Every man needs an objective toward which to strive.

If he is an artist in oils he may strain to paint a picture that will be hailed as the work of a genius and himself be the genius. If he is a bum artist he may realize his inability to create legitimate art, therefore abandon legitimacy for cubism, futurism and dadaism, or the whole family of asinine arts such as Hitler and other witnesses describe as litter.

Again if the artist in oils follows the petroleum trail and becomes conspicuous along that line he is entitled to dress the part one way or another. If he doesn't develop a cane and derby and spats, he may develop a stable of race horses, a reputation as a polo player or even a yacht racer.

Success has its outside as well as its inside.

W. S. Cooper down at The Record office is subject to and a victim of hayfever. Psychologists have discovered that cultured people are more likely to get hayfever and other "allergic" diseases than yokels and savages. Let a doctor study your sneezes.

A summary of recently compiled statistics shows that although the gross sales of worsted wools and luster bathing suits has outstripped the 1929 figures, the net coverage is far behind.

In talking to Brother Jameson this week he claimed to be half Irish. We thought all the time he, "Faith and Begorra," was an ordinary Methodist preacher but to prove his contention he said: "Do you know that the human species, in their trek down the corridors of time, were all fussed up with many and curious specimens, but by perseverance and by preserving the best patterns with cumulative experience and advancing skill an Irishman was fashioned and given to the world with a commission, doubtless from heaven, to specialize in dissipating the gloomy haze of human imperfection?"

One of our regular trash haulers was told he couldn't get his money until he submitted a statement. After much meditation he evolved the following bill:

Three comes and three goes, at four bits a went, $3.

Joe Mills, the Chevrolet dealer asked a lady, "What make is your nephew's new car?" The lady replied, "I think I heard him say it was a wow."

Prof. Watson in clearing up a problem asked one of his class: "What fundamental theorem of the Calculus is involved there?" The reply was: "I don't recall the theorem but it is all based upon something trying to approach something else and it never does quite there."

This writer's granddaughter was dressing for a party when her grandmother said, "I'm afraid you'll be late at the party." The granddaughter replied: "Oh, dear, grandma don't you know that in a fashionable set nobody goes to a party until everybody else has got there."

A patient dropped into Dr. Root's office one day this week and said: "I am never well, I can't say why. I get a sort of pain, I don't know exactly where. It leaves me in a kind of, oh, I don't know what."

Dr. Root wrote him a prescription: "This is the prescription for I don't know what, take it I don't know how many times a day for I can't think how long, and you will feel better, I don't know when."

Dick Billingsley overheard his wife talking to another lady in which she referred to him as a "model husband." He needn't get all puffed up over it, according to the dictionary "model" is "a small imitation of the real thing."

An optimist believes in letting bad enough alone, on the assumption that the worse it gets, the more likely it is to get better, eventually.

WHO IS HE?

We have a citizen of this town rather conspicuous and who thinks he will become nationally known. I will describe him and then you guess who he is.

He is one of those overbearing males that seem to have become a part of Colorado the past few years. He is at every gathering, brash, bad-mannered and cocksure. A poltroon, a sophisticated rhetorician, inebriated with the exuberance of his own verbosity and gifted with an egotistical imagination that can at all times commend an interminable and inconsistent series of arguments to malign his opponents and to glorify himself.

He claims to be a friend of this writer. Who is he?

One of the pupils in the seventh grade asked the teacher, "How far is it between to and fro?"

A Colorado father was rebuking his daughter and said, "I don't mind your young man smoking my cigars, but I do object to him taking the morning paper when he says goodnight."

Someone notified A. C. Connell that Dr. Ratliff was out in front of his garage with a flat tire. Connell said, "Diagnose the case as flatulency of the perimeter and charge him accordingly, that's the way he does."

One of the seventh grade pupils named Sammy was not prone to overexertion in the classroom. Therefore his mother was both surprised and pleased when he came home with the announcement: "I got a hundred this morning."

"That's lovely, dear," she said, as she kissed the boy tenderly. "What was it in?" she asked.

"Fifty in composition and fifty in grammar."

One of our boys while in Dallas had occasion to pawn an article in a shop with the three ball sign. He asked us, "What do the three balls in front of a pawnshop mean?" We told him, "It means two to one you don't get it back."

Floyd Jay, chief tonsorial artist at Roy Dozier's seemed to be having trouble with a customer in the chair. After considerable fidgeting by the customer Floyd asked: "What's the matter? Ain't the razor taking hold?"

"Yes," said the customer, "It's taken hold alright but it ain't letten go again."

The Greek idea in early times was preparation for the duties of citizenship, military, political and religious.

What sculpture is to a block of marble, education is to the human soul. The philosopher, the saint, the hero, the wise, the good, the great very often lie hid and concealed in a plebian, which proper education might have disinterred and brought to light—Addison.

Education is a companion which no misfortune can depress—no crime destroy—no enemy alienate—no despotism enslave. At home, a friend; abroad, an introduction; in solitude, a solace; and in society, an ornament. Without it, what is man?—a splendid slave, a reasoning savage.—Varle.

A true education aims to implant a love of knowledge; an adherence to truth, because it is truth; a reverence for man, because he is a man; an enthusiasm for liberty; a spirit of candor, of breadth, of sympathy; and above all, a supreme regard for duty.—H. L. Weyland.

GETTIN' THE BUSINESS

means giving the mileage

It's up to me to make this business go, because it's mine. I never did a smarter thing than featuring Conoco Germ Processed oil, with all its long mileage for you. Talk doesn't make mileage or customers, but I can tell you what does... Oil-Plating your engine with Germ Processed oil. The patent Germ Process makes oil actually take hold of every working part and keep it coated with a durable Oil-Plating... entirely extra to the regular moving type of oil film. Oil-Plating backs up the oil film while the car is running, and never drains down during hours of parking. Then you'll never start up without lubrication. And at the end of your longest run on a hot day, your engine will still have its full safe plating of Conoco Germ Processed oil. The way it lasts gives me a right to be called Your Mileage Merchant.

BOWEN BARN BURNS

After receiving news last week of the destruction of one of his barns by fire, J. L. Bowen returned home from Santa Fe, New Mexico, to superintend the rebuilding of the barn. ### DISTURBANCES AT PARK GATHERINGS WILL STOP DIRECTOR BARBER SAYS

Alleged disturbances at Ruddick Park during rendition of the weekly amateur hour programs are going to be stopped if within the power of park authorities to do so, Director R. H. Barber stated Saturday morning after receiving complaint from several citizens that groups of young people had persisted in disregard of the rights of others to listen to the program.

Barber said that he had been informed that several people were forced to leave comfortable seats on top of the terrace, obtained by arriving at the park early, and move to another section of the amphitheatre and be seated on the grass in order to hear any part of the program. "This is a condition that we mean to check and invite any citizen being disturbed to report the matter either to me or one of the special park officers stationed there," Barber suggested.
