Colorado business and professional interests extended full cooperation to the American Legion in commemoration of the Armistice Day occasion. Commander Rogers stated that continued activities of appreciation of the American Legion and the principles for which the organization stands was appreciated.

COTTON HARVEST SLOWING UP IN COLORADO AREA DUE TO RAINS, OTHER FACTORS

Picking Reduced To Remnant Stage In Some Sections Of County; Quotations In Further Drop This Week

The Mitchell county cotton harvest was slowed down considerably during the past week due to fact bulk of the crop has been picked, leaving scattered remnants in many of the fields, and that rains blanketed the territory Sunday night and Monday. An even inch was registered at Colorado, placing total rainfall for the month at 1.35 inches.

The rains, while slowing up progress of the cotton harvest, did not bring any material damage to open bolls remaining in the field. Rather than be listed as hindrance to interests of the farmer, the moisture came as a welcome requisite to winter wheat, a large acreage of which has been seeded in the county. Some farmers have planted additional acreage to small grain since the rains.

With continued lowering prices on the commodity here and other concentration points of the territory, growers are selling but a small part of the crop. The cotton is being delivered to accredited warehouses for grading and loans. Wednesday night the Colorado cotton market was centered about 6 1/2 cents, a drop of fifteen points during the week. Seed continued to sell for $18 a ton at the gin.

Only 870 bales were reported ginned during the week, as compared with 2,378 bales of the week before. Total county ginnings Wednesday night had reached 24,109 bales. Colorado gins received 270 bales during the week to boost total for the season to 10,645. Loraine reported 6,576 bales received for the season, Westbrook 4,300 bales, Buford 1,388 bales and Valley View and Hyman 1,500 bales.

Born in Whitney, Texas, on June 28, 1898, Mr. Custer had lived in Mitchell county for 25 years. His father died when he was six years old, and the family lived for a time in New Mexico. Mr. Custer was married in Mingus, Texas, on April 3, 1922, to Betty Olga Fanning, who survives him.

Program Given Friday Night At School Building Was Well Received

The "amateur night" program given Friday night at the high school auditorium by members of the school band was successful from both viewpoint of entertainment and in a financial way, H. F. Ward, one of the sponsors, stated Monday. $39 was realized from ticket sales.

The money will be used to purchase additional uniforms for the band, Ward stated. "We have 63 boys and girls in that band—one of the finest musical organizations in West Texas—and only have uniforms for 45 of the members," he said. "I am confident that additional funds for the band will be provided by the people of this community."

Superintendent J. E. Watson of the schools, offered strong tribute to Ward for his leadership in "doing big things for the band."

A trumpet solo, "When You and I Were Young, Maggie," by Johnnie DeGarmo, was among the high spots heard on the evening's program.

The single ring ceremony was said by the Rev. A. L. Haley, pastor of the church, before an altar banked with greenery, including ferns and trailing ivy. Here and there chrysanthemums and other autumn flowers added a touch of color. The backdrop of the baptistry, lighted from behind, added to the beauty of the altar with its clouds and hills etched in stained glass.

The pre-nuptial solo, "At Dawning," was sung by Mrs. N. H. White, Jr., with Mrs. Farris Lipps accompanying. Mrs. Lipps also played the wedding march. Sefton Pickens and Russell Soper were ushers.

The dress was fitted in front, belted in the back. Her small veiled hat, high crowned and set far back on her head, was of matching material and color and had a full, banded veil. She wore white gloves and carried an arm bouquet of pink Briarcliff roses and delphinium.

Miss Price wore a two-piece dress of chestnut velvet. The waist was buttoned down the front with large covered buttons and flared at the waist-line. The sleeves were short and full. Rhinestones outlined the high crown of her small hat, which was veiled. Her bouquet was of bronze chrysanthemums and yellow daisies.

FFA Chapter Gives Attention To High Quality Of Porkers

Registered Individuals Have Been Purchased In Drive To Improve Stock

The Colorado FFA boys are showing much interest in improving the quality of pork produced in Mitchell county. We have the following boys who are really showing action. Charles Stevens and Alvin Smith own a registered Duroc Jersey gilt each that was purchased from Mr. Hestand, local Duroc breeder. H. W. Venus, Tommy Owens, and J. N. Ellis own registered Duroc Jersey gilts purchased from Rudel Glover, local FFA member.

The gilts purchased from Mr. Hestand are direct descendants of the Lillard Stock Farms at Ft. Worth, one of the largest breeders of Duroc hogs in Texas. The gilts purchased from Rudel Glover are descendants of Lillard Stock Farms and Williams Duroc Farm, Vega, Texas. Rudel's sow was bred by Williams Duroc Farm.

Raymond Jones owns a registered Poland China gilt bred by Roscoe FFA boys, descendant of a noted breeder in South Texas. Two boys are to purchase registered gilts from Mr. Hestand when they reach weaning age. Four boys are to purchase registered Poland gilts from W. W. Lincecum, Scurry county. They are descendants from a noted breeder in South Texas. Two more boys are considering buying registered Hampshire gilts from Roscoe which are of Lillard breeding.

In all, we will have approximately fifteen registered gilts started. The boys hope that these gilts will do much in improving the "run down" hogs on Mitchell county farms.

"LOVE IS ON THE AIR"
Palace—Thursday Only, Nov. 11th
Emerging as an obvious and fairly successful rewrite of an early Warner success, "Hi, Nellie!" this is nevertheless a brisk programmer in which a capable cast fulfills all the demands of a lively script. It heralds the advent of a personable new player, Ronald Reagan, who talks fast and does well with his role as an ace news commentator for a broadcasting station. When, on the eve of disclosing a plan for ridding the town of its racketeering element, one of the prominent citizens disappears, Reagan gets on the trail. The sponsor of his broadcast, in league with the crooks, has him taken off the program and put in as "Uncle Andy" on an innocuous children's hour. Aside from building the air into a top feature, Reagan solves the mystery. Nick Grinde directed. Players are Ronald Reagan, June Travis, Eddie Acuff, Ben Welden, Robert Barrat, Addison Richards, Raymond Hatton.

A grab-bag of humor in which is to be found every known classification of comedy, from subtle and sophisticated farce to pie-throwing slapstick reminiscence of Keystone days. The picture is lavishly produced and directed at express-train speed. Edward Arnold's typical role of a financial tycoon is seasoned with a dash of tomfoolery. Jean Arthur's performance reveals that she has not lost her flare for the facetious. A madcap yarn tells of the adventures that befall a working girl when an irate banker throws a $58,000 sable coat, which his wife has bought against his wishes, out of the window to land on her unsuspecting head while she is a passenger on a passing bus. The romance comes when she falls for the capitalist's son and the suspense drags in a raid on the stock market. Directed by Mitchell Leisen. Prayers are Jean Arthur, Edward Arnold, Ray Milland, Luis Albern.

A favorite children's book comes to the screen with none of its emotional tug deleted, portrayed by Shirley Temple with that little lady's usual excellence, and so superbly mounted and directed that exhibitors will find it as heavy a grosser as any of this top-ranking boxoffice favorite's previous pictures. The story of Heidi, whose trials and tribulations cannot daunt a staunch little heart, makes A-1 screen fare in which children and adults alike will be absorbed. Shirley dominates the picture throughout, with Jean Hersholt and little Marcia Mae Jones running nipped-and-tucked for second honors. Swiss Alpine snow scenes and rustic mountain villages lend an air of pictorial magnificence to the production. Allan Dwan directed. Players are Shirley Temple, Jean Hersholt, Marcia Mae Jones, Mary Nash, Sidney Blackmer, Helen Westley, Arthur Treacher.

"DANGER—LOVE AT WORK"
Palace—Tuesday and Wednesday
November 16 and 17
Completely crazy—downright daffy—and one of the funniest pictures Hollywood has turned out in many a moon, this film scores heavily, with old-fashioned slapstick in modern dress and can be tagged for outstanding grosses everywhere. A cast full of comics are turned loose with a screenplay that gives them free reign. Mary Boland, Jack Haley and Walter Catlett, get the nod for laugh honors, but Ann Sothorn, Edward Everett Horton and John Carradine, to mention but a few, press them closely. The story has Jack Haley invading the sacred premises of the Crazy Pemberton's estate for the purpose of buying a farm they own. From there on out the story is lost amid the guffaws, but Haley finally gets the farm and the girl. Directed with distinction by Otto L. Prelinger. Players are Ann Sothorn, Jack Haley, Mary Boland, Edward Everett Horton, John Carradine, Walter Catlett, Bennie Bartlett.

El argumento de esta pelicula es un tema tan sencillo y tan natural, que es en verdad un pagina de vida Hispano-Americana; el ambiente perfecto de los capitales de America, crisol donde se funden elementos raciales de toda Europa para crear sobre el tronco hispano una nueva raza homogenea en caracter y lealtad. Drame y comedia se mezclan en "La Familia Dresell" sin confundirse y sin chocar, porque realmente produce los incidentes de la vida cotidiana de una familia, con sus conflictos sus momentos de expansion, sus sinsabores, sus querellas familiares, y los trances serio-comicos que origina el menor de la familia, incorregible calavera y humorista a la vez.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE
BALLOTING ON DIRECTORS
AND PROJECTS FOR 1938

Three Ballots Delivered This Week To Members; Plans For Annual Banquet Are Being Formulated

It is election time for members of the chamber of commerce in so far as designation of seven new directors to enter office with advent of the New Year and the listing of objectives about which the organization should build its program of work during the months to follow are reckoned. Ballots on the two questions went out from the office of Carl A. Blasig, manager, this week to every member of the CC.
Sponsoring another referendum vote in Colorado this week. The latter is not confined to members of the organization but, rather includes all customers of the municipal water department.

Several weeks ago the chamber of commerce interested Mayor Sadler and members of the city commission in proposition to inaugurate a municipal trash hauling service, for which the citizen would pay a fee of 25 cents per month. The city agreed to put the service into operation on condition a majority of water customers voted in favor of such a plan and authorized the city water department to bill them for the 25 cent monthly fee along with their current water bills.
Members of the band have accepted to distribute and collect the trash hauling ballots. The chamber of commerce hopes that every citizen affected will vote one way or the other. Balloting on this question is to be closed Saturday afternoon at 5 o'clock.

As to the director's election, each member of the CC Wednesday was mailed a list of the organization membership, from which it was requested that seven be voted for. These ballots must be returned to the chamber of commerce office, either through the mail or in person by 5 o'clock next Monday afternoon. Announcement of winners in the election are to be announced at annual banquet to be held on night of Thursday, November 18.
The other ballot, also being delivered all members of the CC, calls for suggestions as to what, in opinion of the individual, the organization should undertake during the ensuing months. "It is our plan to make this chamber of commerce as nearly democratic as possible and we sincerely wish that each citizen listed on our roster take part in this important referendum," Blasig stated during an address at the CC luncheon club Tuesday noon.

PICKED UP ALONG THE NEWS PATH

Remember when Armistice gave you a hushed feeling in your throat because you honestly believed that, down through all the rest of the years of the world, it would commemorate the end of the last great war.

Forgot to ask you last week if you were noticing what a really autumn-like fall Colorado has had this year... It's not so very often that we of this section get to see leaves turn so golden yellow on the trees and then fall as story books have them fall, scurrying before the winds... Usually most of the tree leaves cling sickly to the branches until the first real sting of winter causes all of them to fall, silent and limp, some still, frosty morning...

Glimpses: "Pop" Snyder in the Keybrook showing snapshots of his latest oil well going over the top... Ross Daniels turgung newboy to help "lote" The Records out to the car for their trip to the postoffice on Thursday afternoon... J. W. Randle patiently to curious friends how he happens—and see through them, too—for several days while in the hospital recently, and admitting that he didn't know the difference until his own pair turned up in the pocket of a vest about to go to the cleaners...

Bad moments for Gillian and Marilyn McEntire one morning last week when their beloved little fox terrier, Susette by name, was missing... But Susette, sans her identifying collar, had just gone visiting and had spent the night across the alley with the Raymond Garys...

Colorful Lives Reviewed In Memories Of A. E. Maddins As 60th Anniversary Passes

Life patterns which have been generously splashed with the bright colors of adventure, danger, romance, and all the glamour of by-gone days were reviewed in memory by Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Maddin as they quietly passed their sixtieth wedding anniversary Monday.

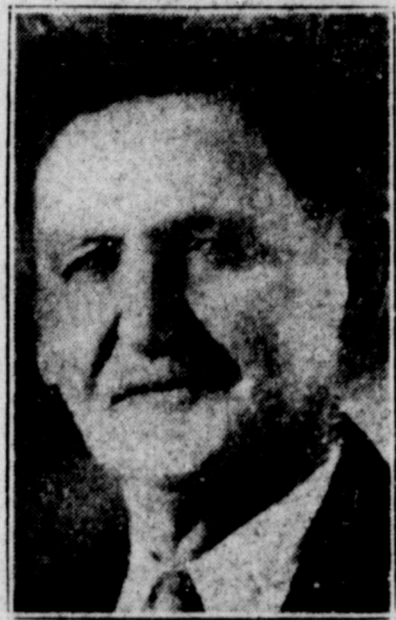

The memory of Mr. Maddin goes back to the poverty-stricken Civil War days on a once-prosperous Texas farm, back to years when he was an orphan cattle-herder living with friendly, intelligent Chickasaw Indians in outlaw-ridden Indian Territory.

He was born three miles south of Honey Grove in Fannin county on August 11, 1877. His mother died when he was 10 months old, and his father, R. W. Maddin, placed him with a well-to-do widow, Mrs. John Bagby, who lived near the Maddin place. His sister, Georgia, six years his senior, was sent to boarding school in Daingerfield.

Mrs. Bagby was the only mother Mr. Maddin, who was called Billy, ever knew. She had another orphan boy, Jimmy Robnet, the same age of Mr. Maddin. They were great pals. They called Mrs. Bagby "Mammy" and their negro nurse "Black Mammy." Mrs. Bagby had a number of slaves.

But the poverty and fear of Civil War had reached even to Texas before Mr. Maddin was old enough to remember much of life on a slave-kept farm. His father went to war in 1861, joining the Eleventh Texas Cavalry. Four and a half years passed before he came home.

Mr. Maddin remembers well the grinder which was used to make meal for the only bread they had during the war. It resembled a huge coffee grinder with two handles, and it was bolted to a post oak tree in the back yard. Nearly every day's handles were kept busy by two negro women or two negro children. Biscuits were rare indeed, although Mrs. Bagby tried to serve them each Sunday morning. Flour had to be brought by the barrel from Jefferson, Texas, 150 miles away. Negroes made the trip by ox wagon, and the trip required 18 days.

The first hat Mr. Maddin remembers having had was made by Old Mose, one of Mrs. Bagby's trusted negroes, out of black sheep's wool. He wore it until it got so small that the brim was stretched up into the crown. Old Mose also made his first pair of shoes, using hide tanned right on the farm and making ties of buckskin. They were, Mr. Maddin recalls, as "stiff as a board."

When his father returned from the war and remarried, taking young Billy back home to live, the nine-year-old boy was very unhappy. He began hiring out to herd sheep for neighboring land-owners. At the age of 12 he began herding cattle—a profession which he was never to give up.

The late B. L. Murphy of Hunt county was his first full-time employer. His most vivid memory of working for Murphy was rounding up a herd of wild cattle from the Middle Sulphur creek bottoms.

The cattle, numbering around 500, belonged to a man named Brown, who lived at Bonham. In the herd were steers 8 and 9 years old which had never been penned, and never touched except for branding. Many attempts had been made to round them up, but at the first attempt to drive or herd them they would break and scatter through the bottom lands which they knew so well. Murphy told the owner that he believed he could take young Billy Maddin and get those cattle to market.

On a moonlit night in May the two rode to where the cattle were grazing. They began riding around and around the herd, singing all the while. Slowly the herd moved, and by dawn it was some ten miles from the Middie Sulphur bottomlands. Other cowhands joined them then and the herd was moved on to market at Bonham.

"There wasn't anything in our way," Mr. Maddin recalls. "All that country was just bald prairie then."

In 1871 14-year-old Billy decided to get away from home and the step-mother who was "good to me but of course loved her own kids more." Heading toward Indian Territory, he crossed the Red River at a place called Sow's Bluff, just east of where Denison now stands. He had ten cents in his pocket and his horse under him. That was all.

When he had crossed the river he rode 8 or 10 miles across the prairie and a skirt of timber 100 yards wide. Coming out of the timber, he found that the road forked. One fork led along the edge of the timber. The other led out into the endless prairie. Today, after 66 years, Mr. Maddin can remember just how the boy on that pony felt as he sat there on his pony facing a strange, new, Indian-filled country—and two roads.

He'd been told that the Indians usually lived along the timber lines, so he took the road that led along the timber. Soon he came to a two-story log house. In answer to his call a Chickasaw Indian woman came out on the porch. She told him, in broken English, that she would give him food and lodging for the night.

While they were sitting at a supper of cold possum, corn bread, and buttermilk, the yard filled with jabbering Indians. Young Billy's heart thumped and he thought about his scalp. But he went on eating. Supper over, the Indian woman led him upstairs, lit a small brass lamp, and showed him a bed "as nice as I've ever seen."

When she had gone he blew out the lamp and peeped into the yard. It was white with moonlight, and in the moonlight scores of Indians stood in groups, still jabbering. They wore civilized clothes, but they were Indians just the same, Billy knew. In later years he was to laugh at his fears. Everything got quiet about midnight, and Billy slept fitfully, lying across the bed with his clothes on.

Daylight came, and Billy Maddin slipped out of his room, tiptoed downstairs, and out into the yard, picking his way silently among the Indians who were sleeping on pallets in the yard and on the porch. When he saw that his horse was still all right his fear seemed to leave. Then he began to worry about paying for his night's lodging. After a 10 o'clock breakfast, the Indian woman told him that he could pay by plowing a six-acre plot and planting it to wheat. Billy Maddin had never plowed in his life, but he told her he had, and he made the lie good, even though his hands were solid blisters when he finished. He kept working for her a month.

That Indian woman was the wife of Uncle Charley Chico, who was in Tishomingo attending council at the time. Uncle Charley was an elder in the Presbyterian church, chairman of the board of the Indian boys' academy at Tishomingo. When he came home he hired Billy to stay on and work for him awhile longer. That "while" extended to three years. Billy Maddin came to love Uncle Charley, and Uncle Charley loved him. He even tried to get the boy to let him educate him at the academy in Tishomingo. But young Billy said he "didn't have time."

While herding Uncle Charley Chico's cattle, Billy Maddin worked under Joe Perry, Indian foreman for Uncle Charley. Maddin was the only white man on the job. He and the Indian herders established a cattle camp on the heard of Allen bayou, about 40 miles northwest of where Durant, Oklahoma, is now located. That bayou was the dividing line between the Chickasaw and Choctaw nations. The camp was in the northeast corner of what was called in those days Twelve-Mile prairie.

It was beautiful country, plentifully watered, rich with rolling prairies of grass. "The best cow country I ever saw," Mr. Maddin says today. The canebrakes on the creeks were so high that cattle stayed "hogfat" all winter on switch cane. Maddin and the other herders worked a territory extending from the present location of Purcell on the Canadian river on the north to the Washita river just above Paul's Valley on the west.

The only white people young Maddin ever saw were outlaws. He saw outlaw shoot outlaw many times. He admits that, but won't talk about it. Outlaws visited the camp frequently for food and lodging. They never molested the Indians, and the Indians never gave them away when government marshalls came along on their trail. Especially does Mr. Maddin remember Jake Craven, who held up stage coaches, robbed trains, and otherwise broke the law, always fleeing into Indian territory when the law got too close. Mr. Maddin admits that he admired Jake Craven because with the people in the Indian cattle camp he was always "square." They liked to have him come.

Standing out in Mr. Maddin's memory is the time when Joe Perry sent the herders on a special ride so that they could be at a certain "Lone Oak" tree when an Indian from Tennessee was preaching there. The tree, huge and spreading, stood on a rise of land in the midst of open prairie. The white-haired Indian preacher stood beneath its branches and talked to the Indians squatting and standing on the ground about it. Mr.

Maddin was the only white person there. The preacher talked in Indian, then in English. He said:

"The nahala (white man) came with all his guns and all his artillery and he couldn't civilize the Indians. But when he came with this," and here the preacher held aloft a small, frayed Bible, "then the nahala brought the Indian civilization."

Mr. Maddin learned to talk Indian, almost to "think Indian." He learned their customs—how they feared witches and spirits, their "perchofa" ritual to drive illness from a house, how they always built their homes with doors to the east. He loved them, admired them, and today thinks them among the "best people in the world."

After three years in the Indian country Mr. Maddin came back to Texas in 1874, returning to Hunt county. It was then that his courtship of Jennie Bailey began, although they had known each other before he went to the Indians.

Jennie Bailey Maddin was born in Goodwater, Alabama, on Feb. 25, 1863. She never saw her father, who died of measles in Rome, Georgia, during the Civil War. Before the war her father had owned a string of stage coaches across Alabama, but when the war came all his fine horses were confiscated by the Yankees. She had two older sisters, and with the three little girls Mrs. Bailey came to Texas with a brother and sister when Jennie was four. They settled at Ladonia in Fannin county, and later moved a few miles south into Hunt county, where Jennie was reared.

She remembers the first time she ever saw the mischievous, daring boy whom she was later to marry. She was seven years old and she was sweeping the yard one sunshine-filled morning. Young Billy Maddin, then 13, came by on his horse. It was, she admits today, the beautiful, bald-faced horse that first caught her eye. That and young Billy's long hair. He stopped and asked her where a certain man lived. She didn't know and he knew she didn't, for the man was his uncle and he knew the way to his house by heart. But the seven-year-old girl made an earnest effort to find the way for him, and got a laugh for her efforts. Later the two were thrown together for three months in school in Hunt county. That three months amounted to about a third of all the schooling Mr. Maddin ever got.

Their courting was done entirely on horseback, and it was interrupted for one year while Mr. Maddin went back to the Indian Territory. They were married in Hunt county on November 8, 1877, and began their wedded life with two horses and $15.

For 10 years after their marriage they lived on a rented farm in Hunt county. Mr. Maddin never farmed. He hired out to work cattle and sheep and used the money to have his farm worked.

The call of the Indian Territory became strong again at the end of ten years. By that time the Maddins had their first baby, Myrtle, now Mrs. R. T. Emmett of Amarillo. Mrs. Maddin didn't want to go to the Indian Territory—she feared the Indians would get her baby, she says. But they went, and Mr. Maddin went to work for Joe Perry's brother, Eli Perry. The five years which they spent there neighboring with the Perry family are now remembered by Mrs. Maddin as five of the happiest years of her entire life. The Perrys built the Maddins a comfortable house of logs, much like their own home.

When, after five years, Mr. Maddin bought a farm in Texas, near Sonora, Mrs. Maddin hated to leave the Indians as much as she had hated to go to them five years before. After two years on the Sonora farm, Mr. Maddin went to work as foreman for the late J. H. Nail, Sr., on his ranch near Wolfe City. The time was 1892. Nail lived at Wolfe City at that time, later moving to Sherman and then to Fort Worth, where he died a few years ago. Mrs. Nail still lives in Fort Worth.

Mr. Maddin was identified with the Nail interests for 44 years, the first 21 years being spent at Wolfe City. Nail moved him from Wolfe City to Mills county for 18 months, and then, 25 years ago, to Mitchell county, where Nail had bought the famous Tuff ranch in southeastern part of the county.

Most of the time since moving to Mitchell county the Maddins have maintained a home in Colorado so that their children could go to school. They have a son, Lucian of Colorado, several years younger than his sister. There are only the two children and one grandchild, Alfred Edgar Maddin of Colorado.

The Nail estate was divided after the death of J. H. Nail, Sr., and since then Mr. Maddin has devoted his time to his own interests, although he still acts as agent for Mr. Nail's heirs in California in handling their ranch near Midland. J. H. Nail, Jr., of Albany, frequently comes over for a talk. Maddin has a 1,100 acre farm south of Colorado. He keeps it stocked with just enough cattle to give him, he says, "an excuse to ride." At 80 he still sits his horse as straight as a young man and rides just as fast as her ever did.

Both Mr. and Mrs. Maddin are active members of First Presbyterian church. Mr. Maddin being an elder. He is also a Mason and an Odd Fellow. He talks intelligently and well, and his memory is crystal clear.

According to historians, Alexander the Great stored kegs of wine in trenches filled with snow and covered with straw, so that he might be refreshed with cooling beverages in the summer time. Nero is supposed to have had slaves carry quantities of snow from the Alps to Rome for the same purpose.

License Examiners For Drivers To Be Here On Tuesday

Driving Tests Scheduled At Court House From 9 To 11 O'clock A. M.

AUSTIN, Nov. 10.—Two driver's license examiners of the Department of Public Safety will be in Colorado on Tuesday, Nov. 16, to conduct tests for drivers applying for their first license, according to Col. H. H. Carmichael, director of the public safety department.

Establishing headquarters at the county court house, the uniformed officers will give the examinations every Tuesday of each week from 9 a. m. to 11:30 a. m. In applying for the driving tests the applicant must furnish his own vehicle or one he proposes to operate after he secures a license, the safety director pointed out.

After oral quizzes are completed each applicant will be required to drive his car or truck over a designated route under the supervision of one of the trained examiners. During the drive the operator must demonstrate the use of his foot and hand brakes, stop for signals and perform other acts necessitated in ordinary traffic situations. Before the actual driving test is made the examiners will quiz the license applicants on safety regulations and signals, highway laws and make tests of their eyesight and hearing. Any physical deformities will be recorded on a grade card.

Not only will driver's license applicants be examined as to their ability to handle a vehicle with safety, but the vehicle itself will be tested for defects in brakes, horn, lights, rearview mirror, and windshield wiper.

If a driver proves his ability to operate his vehicle with care and safety he will immediately receive his license at the examination headquarters. If a passing grade is not made after the test is completed, an instruction permit card will be issued which requires the applicant to return at a later date for another examination. Examiners of the Safety Department estimate that a complete test can be given in 12 minutes.

Truck, bus, and other commercial vehicle drivers will be issued licenses divided into three classes, A, B, and C, according to the type of vehicle to be operated. Passenger and school bus drivers are issued a permit bearing a special endorsement of the Department.

Col. Carmichael urged that drivers seeking their licenses verse themselves in safety regulation, rules of the highway and the mechanical operations of their vehicles in preparation for the tests.

ALBINOS AMONG ANIMALS, SAME AS WITH THE RACES

In many species of animals albinism occurs such as abnormal whiteness of skin, feathers or hair, due to similar causes, as in human albinos. In many Eastern countries the white elephant is held in veneration by the natives.

Albinism is found in all races but is most common in the negro and Indian races. The name "albinos," says a writer in the Detroit News, originated with the Portuguese who thus designated this condition among the negroes of Africa. The condition is due to the absence of the minute particles of coloring matter which is in the lower and last deposited layers of the epidermis and to the presence of which the skin owes its colors. With rare exception, it affects the entire body.

Another peculiarity is an affection of the eyes; the pupil is red and the iris is of a pale rose color. This redness is attributed to the absence of a coloring matter of the membrane of the eye which serves to protect the eye. Therefore, albinos cannot bear a strong light. Apart from these distinctions albinos are no different from other people or other animals.

SHAKING HANDS UNKNOWN IN SOME DISTANT LANDS

The handshake is by no means universal. Inhabitants of bleak Tierra del Fuego welcome the rare strangers who come there with a bear-hug and a back-patting, meanwhile jumping up and down, the New York World Telegram says. An African west coast negro, on greeting a friend, may fling himself to his knees and kiss the ground three times. Israelites of old bowed themselves to the ground seven times.

Andaman islanders blow into one another's hands with a cooling sound. Indians on the Gulf of Mexico blow into each other's ears. Africans of the French Colony of Dahomey twist their finger knuckles until they emit a loud crack. Eskimos rub noses. They are bewitched by the sight of handshaking, assuming it to signify that when you shake hands you are tired your friends help you hold it.

A Mohammedan, according to ancient custom, may shake hands with you with thumbs up, then touch his hand, forehead and lips with his breast to signify that you are cherished in his heart and thoughts, and are entitled to a bit of thought.

SEVENTH GRADE NEWS

We are very sorry to be defeated in the P. T. A. contest but we were glad that the first and second graders won. We appreciate your membership and are sure you will enjoy the P. T. A. this year.

The talk Brother Childers gave for the seventh grade was enjoyed by all. Miss McMurry, you had better be careful with that history exam and not get it too hard. We know you like history but we had rather day dream!

Mr. Cox, we are so sorry you forgot the exam you promised us. Some of us are still worrying about it!

I wonder who furnished the seventh graders with candy. Who was it? Anyway, Miss Ingle, oh yes, Mrs. Cope, we still get all mixed up. Well anyway she didn't catch us.

Seventh graders, when will we ever grow up? Santa Claus is not far away. You had better start changing your ways and be good.

FISHES FUN

It seems that the Junior girls basketball team has faded to disappointment in their trip to Highland. Perhaps later and with a little more training they can bring back a better victory.

We know three boys who don't approve of the demerit system. Better luck, next time, boys, or better behavior.

Mr. Fowler said our science papers will be graded soon. We think it's a bargain to get to trade our pictures for a passing grade.

John C.—"Where do you live, Helen?"

Helen R.—"You shouldn't worry, I don't have boy friends."

Don't forget the Senior Carnival Saturday night at 7:30. We have everything in the way of fun and entertainment!

SOPHOMORE REPORT

We have no report for this week. I guess the reporter is already out for the Armistice holiday. I guess we'll have to slam her like we did the Junior reporter to get the desired results of a little bit of news! Come on Ruby Joe, give your public a break!

How long since you have seen a real old square dance. If we can get enough rhythm into the Seniors we will have one for you at the Senior Carnival Saturday evening, November 13.

JUNIOR NEWS

After the slam the Junior reporter received in last week's paper she has suddenly come forth with more news! First, I wish to call attention to an incident that happened in Public Speaking class last Wednesday. Mr. Hood had been writing on the blackboard and as he started to back off to look over his work, he backed into a chair. He quietly turned and smiling graciously said, "Pardon me, please." Imagine his surprise when he noticed that the chair was empty!

This was setting a good example for the Speech class he has tried so hard to teach to be polite. Elizabeth Young also made a bright remark during speech class. She happened to remember that "a year ago today, it frosted tonight." We wish to call attention to Jack McDonald's new hobby. He is collecting girl's autographs, it seems. Come on, girls, if he don't have yours, drop around some time and see him. Jack also asked Mr. Hood what our holiday, Nov. 11, was for. Listen, Jack, don't you know that the World War isn't still raging?

We are sorry that Oleta Dockery has been out of school for several days because of her sore foot. But we might add that we think your new, red, bedroom slippers are pretty and classy, Oleta. We have one sad Junior that can't play basketball because she has an infected knee. This member is Lucille Hart, so don't invite her around for a nice game of basketball or you might get "a cold shoulder."

Mr. Hood became very generous Monday morning and gave four mild tempered Juniors 2 demerits each. Better luck, next time, Juniors, with your candy!

Remember that this is your Junior news reporter who doesn't make excuses although she may not make good, she will be back again, trying.

COME TO OUR CARNIVAL!

DON'T MISS IT!

The Senior carnival is ready—and it is a wow! If you do not come you will miss the time of your life and will surely wish you had. Everyone will tell you what a grand time they had and you'll wish you hadn't missed it. These Seniors will never give another carnival for you and there will never be another one just like it. You are assured of a good time.

I'll try to tell you some of the things you may see: There are many side-shows, a style show (in which you will see two Miss 1938's), a stunt show (which includes everything from an old fashioned square dance and a hula hula dancer.)

You can play Bingo, "Hit the Negro," Fish and so many things. Just be sure to come and see them for yourself.

There will also be plenty to eat. Peanuts, popcorn, candy, cookies, sandwiches, hot dogs, and all kinds of drinks for sale.

We'll have a tight rope walker, boys imitation of a girl bathing and even our band will play. So DON'T MISS THIS CARNIVAL. COME AT 7:30.

Ball games—As we have stated in the paper for the last two weeks, there will be three ball games at Highland Friday night, the first of the season. The Senior girls and boys and the Junior boys will play. AND LAST, BUT NOT LEAST, Don't forget the Senior carnival Saturday night.

The fort at the entrance to the harbor of Santiago de Cuba is also called Morro castle and was built shortly after the Spanish-American war (1898). Morro castle on the harbor of San Juan Puerto Rico is also a picturesque old Spanish fort.

Rev. Mr. Jameson will carry a good report to the conference, maintaining a commendable distinction of this congregation for several years.

Bishop H. A. Boaz, presiding, is to be retired at this conference. The prelate will be continued on roster of the Southern Methodist church as a Bishop with an inactive status, due to superannuation.

THE PRICE OF SPEED

As everyone knows, speed is the great highway killer. The motorist who drives at an excessive rate endangers not only his own life, but those of everyone else on the public streets and road. He can offer but one excuse for his conduct—that super-fast driving gets him to his destination sooner.

The truth is, the minutes we save by excessive speed are pitifully few in the light of the risk involved. A short time ago a test was made in Chicago. A radio announcer was told to drive his car on an eight-mile trip through heavy traffic, observing not only every traffic regulation, but every rule of courtesy. At the same time, a police officer followed the same route under instructions to take every risk and reach the destination in the shortest possible time. Twenty-three minutes later the reckless driver pulled in at the stopping point. The safe, supposedly slower driver, who had taken no risks at all, got there exactly two minutes later.

We have all met the motorist who makes a trip in a length of time that required him to risk a hundred lives, and then spends twice the amount he saved over a normal, safe passage, boasting about it. None of us are so busy, none of us have so great a need for saving a few minutes or a few hours, that we can afford the "price of speed."

"Save ten minutes—take a life." That should be the motto of the driver who "opens her up" on every possible occasion. Speed and speed alone is the dominating factor in the great bulk of the nations serious traffic accidents. Look at it from your own point of view and from a purely selfish standpoint—is it worth it?

FORT BELKNAP, ONCE ACTIVE MILITARY CENTER BE REBUILT

If present plans materialize, Fort Belknap will become a center of club activities for Young county and a mecca for tourists.

A club room is to be equipped with chairs and other furnishings to provide a meeting place for community gatherings of all kinds. This room will be on the second floor of the rebuilt commissary of the old fort. In the same building on the ground floor will be a museum displaying Indian and pioneer relics of all kinds. As yet no active campaign has been planned to secure relics for the museum, this being deferred until arrangements can be made for adequate cases in which to display these articles.

In front of the commissary building is the old well, which tradition says, was dug under orders from General Robert E. Lee. The well itself is just as it was in the early days of the fort, when soldiers maneuvered on the parade ground to the orders of brilliant young officers, many of whom achieved prominent places in the history of the State and nation. It was necessary to rebuild the rock curb around the well, however—Graham Leader.

SPECIAL VENIRE ORDERED FOR NEGRO MURDER TRIAL IN 32ND DISTRICT COURT

Thompson Case Set Monday; Several Criminal Trials Docketed For Hearing As Third Week Begins

Judge A. S. Mauzey of 32nd district court ordered a special venire of 36 to appear Monday morning in the trial of A. T. Thompson, under indictment for murder in connection with the death of Richard Hall, hotel porter who died in a local hospital from effects of injuries received during an altercation with the defendant. Thompson was indicted by the grand jury last week on the charge that he committed murder with malice aforethought. W. H. Garrett, Colorado attorney, has been appointed by the court to represent the Black. District Attorney George Outlaw will be assisted by B. N. Carter, county attorney, in the prosecution. Jury panel summoned for the third week of court is also to appear as the tribunal is opened Monday morning at 9 o'clock. Judge Mauzey stated Monday that some seventeen or eighteen cases were pending on the criminal docket. Several of the cases are not to be contested and should require but little time in which to dispose of.

During this week the court has been hearing civil matters, including a few divorce cases. Judge Mauzey and Court Reporter Bill Swain returned to their homes in Sweetwater Monday morning after spending a short time at the court house.

Albany Lions To Be In Good Mettle For Friday Night Game

District 9-B Club Held The Haskell Eleven To 7-0 Count Last Friday

One of the strong Class B clubs in District 9-B will engage the Wolves here Friday night as the Albany Lions come to Colorado for a non-conference engagement. Albany is boasting one of her best grid machines in several seasons. Potential strength of the Lions may be indicated in comparison with the Albany schoolboys with Haskell in battle at Haskell last week. Haskell, rated as much the stronger club, was held to a scoring record of 7-0.

Coach Yarborough of the Lions has several good ball otters in his squad. Josslet, star player on the Albany eleven, was outstanding in the game with Haskell.

Colorado fans are reminded that only two more games are scheduled for Cantrill Field during the season. On November 19 the Wolves are to meet the Roby club. Concluding battle will be at Snyder November 26.

MITCHELL COUNTIANS WILL SUSTAIN RED CROSS, ROLL CALL CHIEF HELTON AVERS

Quota of $500 Expected Soon After Annual Drive Opens Friday Morning; Personal Solicitors Are Announced

The public spirited citizenship of Mitchell county are again to sustain the American Red Cross, "The Greatest Mother of Them All," as annual roll call is opened Friday morning. Jack Helton, chairman of the membership drive committee, stated Friday. "This benevolent organization rightfully merits the appreciation reflected for it within the hearts of our citizenship," Helton continued, "a pleasing condition that assures success of our campaign even before we start."

Helton, in conference with other roll call drive leaders, has appointed citizens to take appeal of the organization into homes of every community of the county. As he discussed plans for opening the campaign Friday morning at 10 o'clock, Helton expressed his gratitude for the reception given the annual drive already. Scores of citizens at Colorado and in other communities have already taken out membership cards, he stated and "we expect to enlist many more on register of the American Red Cross before the county-wide drive is opened."

That the quota of $500 would be oversubscribed within a short time after opening of the campaign was promised by the chairman. "The American Red Cross means too much to the public of this county for me to accept any other proposition than that of a most liberal response to our appeal for finances with which to carry on work of this great international organization," Helton recalled that the quota of $500 for a year ago was oversubscribed several hundred dollars.

Harold Bennett is to direct the campaign in Colorado. Friday he announced appointment of several business and professional men as his aides. These drive committees are to start work in the districts assigned them promptly at 10 o'clock Friday morning. Earl Guin, representing the refinery and Texas & Pacific; Business and Professional Women's Club, representing the residence section, and members of the school faculty are others to direct the roll call in Colorado.

Listed on the special committees as announced by Helton Friday are the following:

Coy Harris, Lester Short, Henry Vaught, C. D. Hornberger, A. C. Connell, Bill Hogue, O. H. Majors, Lee Carter, W. M. Mosley, E. B. Elliott, Dick DeLaney, Roy E. Warren, Nat Thomas, Floyd Quinney, Jack Mayes, Max Berman, W. W. Whipkey, M. O. Chapman, Philip Berman, Clarence Cook, Bill Oswald, M. L. Kirschbaum, W. L. Doss, Jr., Edd Pyland, J. M. Herrington, H. H. Herrington, W. R. Morgan, R. F. Fee, A. L. McSpadden, E. R. Bibby, Jake Richardson, Dick Billingsley and Jake Merritt.

Roll call leaders for other communities, who are to perfect their own organizations through appointment of such committees as may be required, follow:

Kirk Taylor, Loraine; Van Boston, Westbrook; Weldon Moore, Bauman; Mrs. Frank Shannon, Butler Camp; Mrs. H. B. Cook, Silver; A. K. McCauley, Longfellow; Mrs. Chester Hart, Valley View; W. H. Gregory, Carr; J. S. Boyd, Hyman; U. D. Wulffen, Seven Wells; O. F. Jones, Spade; E. L. Coleman, Iatan.

Wreck Injuries Prove Fatal To J. C. Erwin, Pioneer Resident Of County

Injuries which he sustained when his car overturned near Big Spring Wednesday afternoon proved fatal to J. C. Erwin, 82, pioneer Mitchell countian, in a Big Spring hospital Saturday morning about 4 o'clock.

Mr. Erwin was driving alone at the time of the wreck, returning from one of his frequent trips to Lamesa. He sustained a broken arm and a back injury which were not regarded, in the beginning, as likely to prove fatal. He grew steadily worse, however, and his death was expected several hours before the end came.

Born October 26, 1855 in Huntsville, Tennessee, Mr. Erwin came to Texas as a youth of 20. He lived for a time in Dallas, then moved to Waxahachie, where he was married on August 6, 1872, to Mollie Taylor. They lived in Waxahachie for a time, then moved to Garland, where Mr. Erwin was in the drug business.

In 1892 they moved to Mitchell county, homesteading some land near the Cuthbert community. The land on which they settled is still theirs. They moved into town 20 years ago, leaving one of their sons on the home ranch.

Funeral services were held for Mr. Erwin at the Jones Russell chapel Saturday afternoon at 4 o'clock, the Rev. M. C. Bishop of Big Lake officiating. Pallbearers were A. F. King, Roy Dozier, Dick Hickman, Joe Smoot, C. E. Hammond, P. K. Mackey, Roy Warren, and Jack Helton. Burial was in the Colorado cemetery.

Mrs. Erwin and twelve children survive. The children are Mrs. H. G. Whitmore, Mrs. Arlie Taylor, Albert Erwin, Emmett Erwin, and Grover Erwin, all of Colorado and vicinity; Curtis Erwin of Stanton, John Erwin of Lamesa, Mrs. Harlan Thurman of Carlsbad, N. M., Mrs. Estelle Coe of Bartlett, Mrs. Art Spalding of Loggotee, Indiana, Mrs. John Davis of Austin, and Mrs. Mary Gattin of Venezuela, South America, formerly of Midland. Two brothers and a sister also survive. They are H. L. Erwin of Ennis, M. E. Erwin of Fort Worth, and Mrs. Bess Green of Francisco, Alabama.

Jones & Russell had charge of arrangements.

GIN PLANT OF FORMER COLORADOAN IS BURNED

The O. Lambeth gin plant at Lamesa was destroyed by fire Friday morning, according to information received here. Estimated loss was not available. Lambeth, a former Coloradoan, has been engaged in the gin business here and at Lamesa several years.

At one time Lambeth operated two gin plants in Colorado. He sold last of these holdings to Anderson-Clayton several months ago.

FACILITIES FOR PUBLIC SHOULD BE PROVIDED IN CITY, C-C SPEAKERS SAY

The charge that Colorado is asleep at the post in the matter of providing needed rest room facilities for the people who visit in the city on business was heard Tuesday noon at speakers' address the chamber of commerce luncheon club. The question was advanced by L. B. Elliott, program chairman.

Business and professional men speaking to the subject agreed that something should be done to relieve the condition, described by some as acute. Motion prevailed that President C. C. Thompson name a committee to make further investigation into the question.

PUBLIC SPEAKING CLASS Imitation Roll Call

The public speaking roll call proved very interesting and amusing Thursday. As Miss Miller called the roll, each individual answered by imitating the sound of some animal, wild or domestic bird, or a mechanical sound. If those animals and birds that were imitated could have heard them, it is certain they would have been very much amused. There were imitative dog barking, chickens calling, loon whistles, lonesome howls of coyotes, sheep bleating, and cows mooing. All in all, it sounded like the dawn of a new day for the barnyard creatures. Even the roosters were crowing. Honestly, there were (after all) some very good imitations.

Another thing of interest this week was the meeting of the verse choir for practice. The girls marched upon the stage, took their places and proceeded to recite "Little Boy Blue." They drilled on this for quite a while; then they adjourned, resolving to meet again Tuesday.

 The agriculture class is taking up farm management. This study includes keeping records on the farm and selecting what is best to raise.

The first year class is taking up culling this week. There are 32 boys in the class and every one is going to cull his home flock. Those in town wishing their flock culled may get assistance from the C. H. S. Agriculture Department.

THE WOLVES PROGRESS

The Colorado Wolves have progressed very much since August 24, 1937. They have worked hard and steady. They have shown much spirit and cooperation. The Wolves have three more games to play and everyone is hoping that they come out victorious.

The Wolves will lose many good players this year, but many of them will be back next year. The boys that will be back next year hope to do as well as they have done this year and even better. They are going out for the district next year, and if some neighboring district teams don't watch out, the Wolves will snap the district out of their hands.

JUNIORS SPONSOR "HOWL"

Miss Barrett's Junior English classes are glad to represent the Colorado High school this week in publishing the "Howl." It is a great interest for all those who make contributions to this publication. They enjoy getting news out of every person who is a sort of newsy person. It is the desire of this staff to please all in this issue of the Howl.

JUNIORS SUPPORT THEIR F. F. A. CONTESTANTS

The Junior class has been lending over the entire school because they have two contestants in the race for the F. F. A. Sweetheart. The class has pledged its honored support to these contestants, Dorothy Morrison and Fannie Fay Porter. Look out, rivals! The Junior class is backing their contestants!

NEWS IN THE COMMERCIAL CLASSES

Mr. Brazil is getting tired of having to correct Joe Robertson and Sam Richardson for helping Catherine Slagel in the fifth and sixth period bookkeeping class.

Wonders will never cease! Barry Joyce was on time to class for practically the first time this year Friday, November 5, 1937. Remember the date. It may never happen again.

New interest was aroused in the bookkeeping classes this last term when Mr. Brazil provided an adding machine for the pupils' use. It is very popular. In fact it is so popular that Mr. Watson, school superintendent, climbed three flights of stairs in order to use it.

Mary Miekley. JUST A WARBLING ALL THE TIME

The Choral Club is very enthusiastic about the new songs that they are going to learn soon. It seems that Mrs. Mooser is giving much effort to make a good choral club and possibly even better than it was last year, for there are more voices to be blended into the beautiful songs the club has chosen. They have already been asked to sing; however their director said that they weren't quite ready yet. Still, it won't be long.

Aleene Bodine. BAND NEWS

The band has been working hard on several new pieces of music, some of which are, "Popular Melody No. 1," "March Ponderosoc," "Bugle Call Rag," "The Merry-Go-Round Broke Down" and still others. Last Friday, November 5, the band gave a benefit concert. The proceeds are to pay for the new uniforms that were ordered for the pupils which came in this summer. There are about fifty band members and all have uniforms. The band has a good chance to go to the Chamber of Commerce which is to be held sometime in May in Wichita Falls. If the members work harder, their chances are that they will get to go.

Francis Watson. HOME ECONOMICS NEWS

The first year class had a company breakfast last week and the guests were Miss Miller and Mr. Pratt. The meal was splendid experience for the girls.

The H. E. IIA class is making preparations for a study of meals and their planning. They had a laboratory on quick breads and many of the girls were sadly disappointed in the results. That is why they made solemn resolutions to do better next time.

Freddie Watson. FRESHMEN NEWS

The Freshmen had a class meeting Wednesday after assembly and spoke more of the "Just Fishin'" magazine. This title was kept because it is already known throughout Texas. We felt that since it already had a reputation it would be better to keep the same name. Joye Levens was appointed as joke editor and John DeGarmo as art editor. We decided upon the price, two cents a copy, or ten cents for the year. We shall probably issue about six copies, so the year's subscription will be a benefit.

Mary Price. KNOW YOUR LIBRARY

"With Malice Toward None" by Florence Willkie Morrow is a novel of the last two years of the Civil War, and the struggle between Lincoln and the man he loved.

"The Log Cabin Lady," an autobiography of an American girl, known today as a distinguished, charming woman despite her handicaps in pioneer life.

Students who go on scouting tours for new books shouldn't overlook these two.

Geneva Campbell. ENGLISH CLASS

Meaning—the Most Modern Automobile in the World is the new 1938 Buick—with DYNALASH ENGINE and TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING

And wherever there's a Buick dealer there's a chance to try this great car out—now, today!

If YOU'VE put a sparkling 1938 Buick through its thrilling paces—

And tried to say in words what this standout car's got—

And found to your surprise you couldn't begin to do it justice—

Listen, don't think you're the only one!

"It's gotta lotta ummph!" say trier-outers vainly trying to express all the marvelous things they've felt.

"Ummph!" meaning zip—flash—power. "Ummph!" meaning all you ever expected to find in a car—and a great deal else in addition!

Fact is—demonstration, not conversation, is the thing to describe this new Buick.

To say it's quick—nimble—agile is to do only fractional justice to its DYNALASH engine and what it does every time you touch off its thrifty power.

To call its TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING ride velvety is only to picture its ride. Use the words jarless, level, floating, serene—and you come a little closer.

But still you neglect the directability this car gets from its new rear springing, the reduced risk of skidding, the simpler maintenance, and longer rear tire wear that go with it.

No, you can't cramp a new Buick into words—only its action can tell its story.

MATCH THESE VALUES!

Complete with DYNALASH engine and TORQUE-FREE SPRINGING, these models deliver at Flint, Mich. at these prices: Buick SPECIAL business coupe, $945; Buick SPECIAL 4-door touring sedan, $1047; CENTURY 4-door touring sedan, $1287; ROADMASTER 4-door touring sedan, $1845; LIMITED 8-passenger sedan, $2358. ### IT MIGHT LOOK UNDIGNIFIED . . .

For a newspaper over 30 years old to dance a jig, but that's what we'd feel like doing right now if we received $1.50 from you for the next twelve months for the Record. We've gone along as far as the law allows. We sent a couple of papers after your subscription expired on the 1st, but postal regulations prevent us from sending too many free copies so it looks like we'll have to part company unless we hear from you right away. We'll be mighty disappointed if you cut our acquaintance.

COLORADO RECORD

The next two weeks, will be held our annual FFA Sweetheart contest. The contestants for the sweetheart will be chosen from Dorothy Morrison and Fae Porter, Juniors; Frances Robinson, Sophomore; Katherine Hodges, Senior, and Betty Lou Whipkey, Freshman. I should dislike choosing from these girls. They are all beauties and each would fit the part. Now, sure 'nough, who is going to win? I'll betcha you'll just have to wait and see, I'll betcha.

The popularity and happiness of our beloved teachers is caused by the thoughtfulness of some Freshmen girls. Such as Frances Mae Porter and Tommy Ruth Grant, who bring posies to them. Now, friends, it isn't because these girls want good grades; it's just because they adore and admire their teachers. But now on the square, don't you think it adds a hundred per cent to the appearance of a school room to have a sign of nature in it?

Even though we have a very good student body this year, we lost some of our smartest boys and girls last spring. The accomplished typist, Hiram Duffer, and an outstanding member of the Senior class, Lucille Bodine, wrote to their family and friends of their success so far in college. Hiram Duffer as you may know is at Howard Payne College and acting as secretary to the minister of the First Baptist church. He stated that he made the excellent grades of A in English, education, trigonometry and B in Bible. Lucille Bodine writes from State University complimenting Colorado High. She says that she does not regret any studying she did while attending our school and wishes to encourage those she left behind to put in good time working hard. It's all quite complimentary to dear 'ole C. H. S., isn't it? You'll have to admit it deserves every compliment it ever received.

SOPHOMORE NEWS
 Beulah Frances is gaining her lost health rapidly, but writes that she is very lonesome. To dispel this gloom, each Sop scribbled a line and mailed it to her. She is at Milling Sanatorium, Mineral Wells.

Several Sophs attended the Abilene-Stephenville game, coming back plastered with stickers and talking incessantly of the thrilling; last quarter touchdowns. Among those on the bleachers were Jeanne Morrison, Harry Etta Landers, Harriet Pritchett, Sam Majors, Jack Smith, Dook Cox, Burl Ballard, and others.

The treasurer, Freddie Watson, reports that the class of '40 has in its savings account $22.20. This, we hope, is to be used toward publishing an annual during our Senior year.

CLASS CHATTER

The Sophs were well represented at the band concert, though some people remarked that they made more noise in the audience than on the stage, what with giggling and whispering.

Which reminds us that many remarks have come to our sponsors about rowdy conduct in the halls. Such actions should be discontinued.

Who was it who said that gentlemen had to prefer blondes, the brunettes were always dated.

Freddie Watson has made three mysterious bets—totaling a dollar—which she seems to be undecided whether to win or lose. How about it, Freddie?

Albany hears for Friday night. We have heard unconfirmed rumors that that team is good and rather heavy. We'll see!

Tips on etiquette: A gentleman is one who can eat crackers and celery at the same time and not make any noise.

Armistice holiday! But in our joy, we must not forget the significance of the eleventh day of the eleventh month.

What has happened to everyone's pep and school spirit? Even the noisy Sophs have stopped yelling as loudly and as long as formerly.

Still Coughing?

No matter how many medicines you have tried for your cough, chest cold, or bronchial irritation, you can get relief now with Creomulsion. Serious trouble may be brewing and you cannot afford to take a chance with any remedy less potent than Creomulsion, which goes right to the seat of the trouble and aids nature to soothe and heal the inflamed mucous membranes and to loosen and expel the germ-laden phlegm. Even if other remedies have failed, don't be discouraged, try Creomulsion. Your druggist is authorized to refund your money if you are not thoroughly satisfied with the benefits obtained from the very first bottle. Creomulsion is one word—not two, and it has no hyphen in it. Ask for it plainly, see that the name on the bottle is Creomulsion, and you'll get the genuine product and the relief you want. (Adv.)

John Brown has "a cold",

John Brown is usually a careful man. But John Brown, like many others who catch cold during winter months, ignores the dangers of sudden changes of temperature. Some rooms of his house are heated and others are not. Now John Brown has a cold!

And the little Browns are sniffing,

Like their Daddy, the little Brown girls have a cold. Although the room where they play is kept cozy and warm, frequently they go to unheated parts of the house. It doesn't take the cold germ long to strike when the girls go into the cold bedroom to bring additional toys.

And Mother Brown is taking chances . . .

Mrs. Brown hasn't a cold . . . yet. But Mother Brown is constantly taking chances with her health as she goes from the warm rooms into cold ones during her busy day. Wouldn't it be safer for the Brown family to HEAT THE ENTIRE HOUSE this winter?

Loraine Might Tie Race With Roscoe In District Fight

Grid Battle At Loraine Next Friday Will Be Tops For Fans In This Section

That the Loraine Bulldogs might come from behind to defeat Roscoe as the two teams meet at Loraine Friday afternoon of next week and tie standing of the two schools in scramble for 6-B district title is a popular suggestion for sports writers in this area. And Loraine fans are supporting with a deal of enthusiasm the proposition that such a deal is to be definitely undertaken.

Proxy Anderson, who writes sports lore for the Abilene Reporter-News, one of the prophets seeing probable upset for the Plowboys, offers the following comment:

"It looms as the toughest business remaining on the district program for Roscoe, which heads the race without a defeat or tie. Loraine was tripped its only time by Colorado, 14-13, and Roscoe in turn drove the Wolves to cover, 26 to 0. Nevertheless, there are other scores that make it appear Loraine has a chance to throw the championship derby into a three-way tie by stopping the Plowboys.

"One set of comparative figures is this: Loraine squeaked Rotan, 52-12, last week, seven days after the Yellowhammers had come out on the short end of a 19-0 count with Roscoe."

Mrs. Schuster Tells About Her Work As Kitchen Demonstrator For Hyman Club

In her own words Mrs. Otto Schuster, kitchen improvement demonstrator for the Hyman Home Demonstration club, has told the following story of her kitchen work this year:

"In planning my kitchen I decided on the color of green and yellow.

The wall, which is covered with oil-cloth and may be cleaned, is figured green and yellow. The woodwork is green, and I bought new linoleum which is green and brown. One improvement which I made, and which I like very much is a window-sash which I put in so that my window may be lowered from the top. This, of course, makes better ventilation.

"I used natural color scrim for the curtains with a small fold of yellow for the trimming. I needed a shelf for the stove, so I built one and painted it green. This shelf is the handiest thing in my kitchen, because I always need a light close to the stove. I also put salt and pepper and other things there, so that they will be handy. I put a curtain rod just beneath the shelf, so that I will have a hand towel ready for use at all times.

"I bought a high stool so that I can sit some times when I am peeling potatoes or doing similar work and do not get so tired. I can also use this stool for a stepladder, which a housewife always needs. My son made a new kitchen table, painted it ivory and put rollers on the legs, so that I can move it around anywhere I may need it.

"I put rollers on my wood-box, since I use a wood range. This makes it easy to move so that I can clean behind it, and I do not have to carry the wood so far. I put a lid on it and painted it ivory. Now it looks much more attractive.

"I already had my built-in cabinet, but I rearranged the shelves which makes it more convenient. I also already had water piped into the kitchen and a sink, so now my kitchen is attractive and convenient, and I like to work in it, as I do not have to take very many steps to get my work done. The total expense was $10.14."

ARMISTICE DAY

Yesterday, Nov. 11th, was Armistice day and we write this article dedicated to the American Legion Post.

THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER

The Unknown Soldier, who is the central figure in every Armistice day program, is a prototype of the unknown heroes, men and women, in everyday warfare of life.

The "Unknown Soldier" represents in the best way those who died as he did—died for others. The word "Armistice" at once presents to our minds the sacrifice made by thousands, even millions, in a struggle that they hoped would make unnecessary future wars.

What a stupendous, ghastly and ineffective sacrifice it was, in the effort to make other wars impossible. The thought should be enough to shock humanity throughout the world, that millions of men had given up their lives on the field of battle, in hospitals and in after years because of wounds, without effecting the goal they hoped to achieve. The most barbarous instrument ever used in war—poison gas—simply meant the prolongation of the victim's life to make it more terrible than gun wounds. It creeps like a fog out of an ocean of death, over the field of battle, causing him who meets it to breathe into his body the vapor of destruction.

The goal of making "the world safe for democracy" was not reached, and the still greater object, to make the world sick of war, also failed.

The world war of itself did not settle any ethical question, nor has any other war. A physical struggle cannot determine the merits of any mental or moral controversy.

Man is himself the greatest problem he has to solve. He is the most formidable opponent he has to overcome. When he shall be capable, if he ever is, of mastering himself, he shall then be able to master and solve all his problems.

The destruction of men's bodies cannot decide questions that their minds present. It is seldom enough that they agree on subjects about which they contend. Physical combat cannot succeed where mind fails. Mind can and should decide on what is best for the body, but the body cannot decide what is best for the mind.

War can never determine the merits of any question, nor justify itself.

Naturally and logically enough one must conclude that the intelligence which realizes the folly of war should be sufficient to convince and enforce any plan by which it can be averted. But however logical this may be, it has not yet succeeded in doing so.

Surely we some day shall have mind and mercy take the place of barbarity and brutality in the solution of all individuals or organizations, States or Nations.

Beyond all argument war is the most stupendous folly of which man is guilty. No profit is ever derivable from folly, therefore only death and destruction can be the results of war, either individually, nationally or internationally.

Bleeding wounds and bleeding hearts, bleeding bodies and bleeding minds, grief and woe, death and destruction, these are the fruits of war, always have been, are now, must always be.

Only reason can settle questions, and war is anything but reason. War does not only settle questions, but brings about still more problems which have to be solved by intelligence and good judgment.

It was not the fault of those who did the fighting, for they won the battles, but the war that would guarantee world peace must be fought with different weapons. Only peaceful weapons can accomplish that most desired of all consummations. Intelligence and spiritual and moral instruction, are the means by which man can be saved from himself.

MAN A PROBLEM TO HIMSELF

Man is a problem, even to himself. He mourns for those robbed of their lives by war, then proceeds to prepare for other wars wherein other lives shall be lost and bodies maimed and mangled, minds shocked and weakened, after which he will do as we are now doing—hold memorial meetings to express sorrow for the passing of his friends and brothers and his admiration for their heroism and self-sacrifice.

It is as singular as it is sorrowful that man has not learned by the experience of the past and the knowledge and wisdom acquired meantime how to avoid the madness and carnage of war; that he has not found a way in which problems of nations can be solved without resorting to the cruelty, barbarity, folly and destructiveness of war, by which they are not solved.

The Gentle Galilean died on the cross a sacrifice for mankind. His death achieved its purpose—it made it possible for men to escape eternal punishment. But the victims of the titanic struggle in which millions of men lost their lives and others still suffering and dying from injuries received, failed of attaining the end desired, although gaining the victory over the foe.

WORLD OWES MOST TO "UNKNOWN'S"

The world always has owed more to those "Unknown Soldiers" of peace than to others, because it is they who have triumphed over the undirected forces of nature, disease, and hidden secrets of latent ills. Theirs has been the work of progress, and it was to these activities that those whose lives were taken by the Great War were engaged when commanded to go to war.

It would be small credit to humanity were our heroes only those whose achievements were spectacular, whose names were blazoned abroad, or accompanied by flourish of trumpets and the loud acclaim of the multitudes. The real hero is a hero in private as well as in public. He is a doer of little kindnesses as well as the maker of gallant and courageous charges against a valorous enemy.

The nomenclature of achievement counts for more, both here and hereafter, in the balance of human welfare and Divine consideration than the most illustrious patronymic borne by him who has no credit for heroic endeavor, no record of generous self-denial or of self-forgetfulness—even to the extent of the Supreme Sacrifice.

THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER IS KNOWN

The Unknown Soldier is known. He is the gallant hero of the most terrible holocaust the world has ever experienced. He is known in the hearts of men and women of today, which constitutes the world's greatest Hall of Fame. This is the only real Hall of Fame. It is greater than any marble pantheon ever created to honor and glory; greater than Westminster Abbey, or other fauces containing the marble effigies of the world's greatest.

This Hall of Fame also keeps sacred those who were the Unknown Hero's comrades when he fell a vicarious sacrifice for a cause that should have been settled in a better, more enlightened and more effective way. Their names are not only enrolled in the archives of the war departments of the nations, but in that Great Book of Life where the heroes of Peace as well as of War are enrolled in letters of gold and will remain on eternal record.

As long as earth exists grateful hearts will keep them in sacred memory until after marble and bronze have disintegrated into dust. Indeed, it matters not where they lie, whether on the poppy-clad fields of Flanders, or in the fastnesses of Belleau Wood, in the valley of the historic Marne, or even as the Unknown Hero who sleeps surrounded by the classic sarcophagi of the Nation's great, they shall be known and honored.

It matters not whether the Unknown Soldier fell in one of the first conflicts of the awful struggle, in the last fierce combat at Chateau Thierry, or succumbed of wounds or disease after reaching his home in his beloved America, God knows him, the world knows him, and generations yet unborn shall rise up and call him blessed.

STILL OTHER HEROES

Those who contend for the mastery in the awful carnage of battle fields are taking part in only one of the struggles of life. Life is necessarily one continuous combat with various and sundry enemies. The personnel in its armies is not confined to men alone.

No one is exempt from its ranks. All are drafted. Men and women, old and young; even little children, must "do their bit." All must fight. The contest is universal. There is no living creature that does not have to fight in order to live; but it is not necessary that men should fight one another.

The warfare of life does not consist of a few great battles, then peace for awhile. It is one continuous series of struggles, great and small. The final battle is with death, either in contests of armies, or fables of daily existence.

Death was vanquished nearly two thousand years ago on a little hill near Jerusalem by One who is Victor over him forever, and guarantees Life Eternal for every one who fights under His ever-victorious banner.

The world has progressed as to war only in the matter of eliminating much of the unnecessary and uncalled for torture that was formerly the certain accompaniment of war. The incredible cruelty and brutality formerly practiced by one army in the execution or punishment of the prisoners captured from the other, is recognition of the wrong of it proportionate to the lessening of such cruelty. It has in some measure outlawed such crimes as rapine, destruction of property that there was no need to destroy, rob and murder.

Victory by either army does not prove the righteousness of the claim made by either nation.

The corpses of men scattered by the thousand over the landscape furnish no argument for either side.

Maimed and crippled men without hope of ability to walk again, or to use their hands again, or to enjoy the health that once was theirs, does not mitigate the awfulness of the wholesale destruction of human life.

The rivers of tears shed by parents and relatives, wives and children, do not wash away the stain that must remain after the carnage is over.

The doing away with war will be achieved as will man's weaknesses that provoke him to go to war, and that is by education. The principal psychological causes of war have always been egotism, selfishness and revenge. There are others, as before mentioned, but these are the principal causes. Egotism is of itself a phase of selfishness. As enlightenment spreads throughout the earth, the influence of the weaknesses constituting man's evil impulses, will be less powerful and the likelihood of war proportionately less.

Egotism is potential despotism. He who is possessed of it will use his power and authority to the limit of cruelty to accomplish his purpose, regardless of the suffering of the people.

Every despot, every tyrant, every monster who every occupied the place of ruler of a people was an egotist. Some have been so drunk of egomania that they became egotists to the extent of proclaiming themselves God. The mental attitude that makes one an egotist destroys consideration for others because it is only of himself that he thinks. Examples: Belshazzar and Herod, Caligula and Commodus, Vitellius and Domitian.

He is a rare individual who uses his power, however great or small it may be, with discretion and prudence, thoughtfulness and mercy. This applies to men in every activity of life, including politics and business.

"Were all the power that holds the world in terror,
Were all the wealth bestowed on camps and courts,
Given to redeem the human mind from error,
There were no need of arsenals and forts."

Lone Explorer Transports Panda Half Way Cross World

To a lone woman explorer, Mrs. William H. Harkness, Jr., goes the credit for the capture of the only live giant panda in captivity. Although innumerable expeditions had gone after pandas, less than a dozen persons had succeeded in seeing one alive and only four skins had been obtained.

Mrs. Harkness succeeded not only in capturing the animal alive but in transporting it halfway across the world without a mishap. When the animal was found in a hollow log in the bamboo forests of southwestern China on November 9, 1936 it weighed only three pounds and still had its eyes closed. Today, thanks to the careful supervision of Mrs. Harkness, the panda weighs more than fifty pounds and is one of the most interesting, lively and apparently intelligent animals in the Chicago Zoological Park.

Mrs. Harkness named the panda "Su-lin", which means "a little bit of something precious." The name is very appropriate, considering that the animal is regarded as the most valuable animal in captivity.

A hot Quaker Oats breakfast with plenty of sugar and cream is the choice of many who have to guard their nerves and digestion. Mrs. Harkness, who is regarded as one of the country's greatest explorers, says, "I consider Quaker Oats a splendid breakfast for active people."

Cotton Planters Of This District Favor Strict Control Bill

Nature of Legislation Cannot Be Predicted Now, George Mahon Believes

Congressman George Mahon, prior to his departure for Washington to attend the special session which convenes Monday, made the following statement concerning the prospects for farm legislation:

"I think it is impossible to predict just what kind of bill will be passed. In our district a strong preference for a compulsory control bill has been expressed by a great majority of the farmers with whom I have come in contact in farm meetings or otherwise. Most cotton producers favor adjusted payments equivalent to parity, 16 cents or above, on that portion of the crop produced for domestic consumption. They feel that a moderate reduction program is necessary, but that adjustment payments will be required in order to get a price for cotton domestically consumed commensurate with the American standard of living.

"In view of the tremendous foreign production they realize that American cotton sold abroad will have to be sold in competition with the world and at a low price. In each county they favor allotments to each farm on a uniform basis of equality regardless of the length of time the farm has been in cultivation. They favor no discrimination against new farms in areas where a normal development of agricultural land is taking place. They favor a program which will place the emphasis on a normal size farm in each locality. They favor a farm policy which will encourage operation of farms by tenants or occupant owners and which will discourage the displacement of tenants and large operations through hired labor methods.

"In minds of the producers there is a wide variety of opinion as to what should be done. In Congress, which is made up of representatives from all sections of the nation, there will be even a greater diversity of opinion. However, I think it can be safely predicted that the new program will be an improvement over the old."

Thirteen cars of calves have been shipped from the Renderbrook ranch

These shipments represent about half of the calves to be shipped from cording to O. F. Jones, manager of both ranches. The total will be about 1,600.

Branding of young calves on the Renderbrook will be started within a

Thursday morning he resumed court after a recess since Tuesday afternoon, when practically all major criminal cases were either cleared from the docket through trial or continued for the term.

Some four or five criminal trials are docketed for next week, last week of the present session. The petit jury, recessed Tuesday afternoon, reported back Thursday morning but the gentlemen were not expected to be detained long. Most of the causes yet to be called for trial are listed as non-contested cases in which a trial by jury will not be stipulated.

Dave Everheart, alleged swindler returned to Colorado Wednesday of last week from Greenville to face trial on an indictment charging the defendant with having cashed a worthless check at the Max Berman department store on last August 25, dings. Father of the accused was here last week and intimated to court attaches that such a course was being considered. Everheart is due to be brought to trial next week.

Everheart is alleged to have cashed a check for $81.90 on the National Bank of Commerce, Dallas. The check was over signature of the Texas Production Company, L. E. Light, cashier. The signature was later found to be fictitious.

Jury trying A. T. Thompson, negro hotel cook, on the charge of murder, found the defendant guilty of murder without malice and assessed his punishment at two years in the State penitentiary. Thompson was under grand indictment in connection with the death of Richard Hall, hotel porter, fatally wounded during an affray in kitchen of a local hotel on last August 13.

A special venire of 36 men had been called for the Thompson trial as

ARMISTICE DAY

Yesterday, Nov. 11th, was Armistice day and we write this article dedicated to the American Legion Post.

THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER

The Unknown Soldier, who is the central figure in every Armistice day program, is a prototype of the unknown heroes, men and women, in everyday warfare of life.

The "Unknown Soldier" represents in the best way those who died as he did—died for others. The word "Armistice" at once presents to our minds the sacrifice made by thousands, even millions, in a struggle that they hoped would make unnecessary future wars.

What a stupendous, ghastly and ineffective sacrifice it was, in the effort to make other wars impossible. The thought should be enough to shock humanity throughout the world, that millions of men had given up their lives on the field of battle, in hospitals and in after years because of wounds, without effecting the goal they hoped to achieve. The most barbarous instrument ever used in war—poison gas—simply meant the prolongation of the victim's life to make it more terrible than gun wounds. It creeps like a fog out of an ocean of death, over the field of battle, causing him who meets it to breathe into his body the vapor of destruction.

The goal of making "the world safe for democracy" was not reached, and the still greater object, to make the world sick of war, also failed.

The world war of itself did not settle any ethical question, nor has any other war. A physical struggle cannot determine the merits of any mental or moral controversy.

Man is himself the greatest problem he has to solve. He is the most formidable opponent he has to overcome. When he shall be capable, if he ever is, of mastering himself, he shall then be able to master and solve all his problems.

The destruction of men's bodies cannot decide questions that their minds present. It is seldom enough that they agree on subjects about which they contend. Physical combat cannot succeed where mind fails. Mind can and should decide on what is best for the body, but the body cannot decide what is best for the mind.

War can never determine the merits of any question, nor justify itself.

Naturally and logically enough one must conclude that the intelligence which realizes the folly of war should be sufficient to convince and enforce any plan by which it can be averted. But how ever logical this may be, it has not yet succeeded in doing so.

Surely we some day shall have mind and mercy take the place of barbarity and brutality in the solution of all individuals or organizations, States or Nations.

Beyond all argument war is the most stupendous folly of which man is guilty. No profit is ever derivable from folly, therefore only death and destruction can be the results of war, either individually, nationally or internationally.

Bleeding wounds and bleeding hearts, bleeding bodies and bleeding minds, grief and woe, death and destruction, these are the fruits of war, always have been, are now, must always be.

Only reason can settle questions, and war is anything but reason.

War does not only settle questions, but brings about still more problems which have to be solved by intelligence and good judgment.

It was not the fault of those who did the fighting, for they won the battles, but the war that would guarantee world peace must be fought with different weapons. Only peaceful weapons can accomplish that most desired of all consummations. Intelligence and spiritual and moral instruction, are the means by which man can be saved from himself.

MAN A PROBLEM TO HIMSELF

Man is a problem, even to himself. He mourns for those robbed of their lives by war, then proceeds to prepare for other wars wherein other lives shall be lost and bodies maimed and mangled, minds shocked and weakened, after which he will do as we are now doing—hold memorial meetings to express sorrow for the passing of his friends and brothers and his admiration for their heroism and self-sacrifice.

It is as singular as it is sorrowful that man has not learned by the experience of the past and the knowledge and wisdom acquired meantime how to avoid the madness and carnage of war; that he has not found a way in which problems of nations can be solved without resorting to the cruelty, barbarity, folly and destructiveness of war, by which they are not solved.

The Gentle Galilean died on the cross a sacrifice for mankind. His death achieved its purpose—it made it possible for men to escape eternal punishment. But the victims of the titanic struggle in which millions of men lost their lives and others still suffering and dying from injuries received, failed of attaining the end desired, although gaining the victory over the foe.

WORLD OWES MOST TO "UNKNOWN"

The world always has owed more to those "Unknown Soldiers" of peace than to others, because it is they who have triumphed over the undirected forces of nature, disease, and hidden secrets of latent ills. There has been the work of progress, and it was to these activities that those whose lives were taken by the Great War were engaged when commanded to go to war.

It would be small credit to humanity were our heroes only those whose achievements were spectacular, whose names were blazoned abroad, or accompanied by flourish of trumpets and the loud acclaim of the multitudes. The real hero is a hero in private as well as in public. He is a doer of little kindnesses as well as the maker of gallant and courageous charges against a valorous enemy.

The nomenclature of achievement counts for more, both here and hereafter, in the balance of human welfare and Divine consideration than the most illustrious patronymic borne by him who has no credit for heroic endeavor, no record of generous self-denial or of self-forgetfulness—even to the extent of the Supreme Sacrifice.

THE UNKNOWN SOLDIER IS KNOWN

The Unknown Soldier is known. He is the gallant hero of the most terrible holocaust the world has ever experienced. He is known in the hearts of men and women of today, which constitutes the world's greatest Hall of Fame. This is the only real Hall of Fame. It is greater than any marble pantheon ever created to honor and glory; greater than Westminster Abbey, or other fane containing the marble effigies of the world's greatest.

This Hall of Fame also keeps sacred those who were the Unknown Hero's comrades when he fell a vicarious sacrifice for a cause that should have been settled in a better, more enlightened and more effective way. Their names are not only enrolled in the archives of the war departments of the nations, but in that Great Book of Life where the heroes of Peace as well as of War are enrolled in letters of gold and will remain on eternal record.

As long as earth exists grateful hearts will keep them in sacred memory until after marble and bronze have disintegrated into dust. Indeed, it matters not where they lie, whether on the poppy-clad fields of Flanders, or in the fastnesses of Belleau Wood, in the valley
