Among the subjects which will be discussed are "How to Build Colorado Into a Shopping Center," "The Necessity of Industry That Is Lacking," "The Promotion of WPA Projects," "The Necessity of Cooperation in the Building of a Town," and others.

Truett Barber, chamber president, and Spence will lead the discussions. C. C. Thompson is to be a speaker. A round table discussion of all matters will be held at the close of the meeting.

THURSDAY MORNING RAIN ALLEVED FEAR OF 'DOW SPELL' IN MITCHELL COUNTY

Rain came to Mitchell county in the pre-dawn hours of Thursday to allay, for at least the time being, the growing fear that the county was "in for another dry spell." The fear had been fed lately by clouds which had given false promises of rain almost daily.

The fall in Colorado gauged 25 inches. Westbrook reported nearly an inch, and the Shell Pipeline station nine miles southwest of Westbrook gauged about the same amount. Farmers living to the west of Colorado reported a fall about equal to that here.

Virgil Wimberley, living at Landers in the southeastern part of the county, reported .75 inches on his gauge. Porter Hammans and other farmers living from 8 to 10 miles south of Colorado estimated their moisture at around .75 inches.

The rain dwindled farther to the south, only .25 inches being reported at the Rendenbrook ranch headquarters. The Jim Bodines at Buford and other citizens of northern Mitchell county reported a "nice rain." The moisture was not as badly needed in northern Mitchell county, however, as in other sections.

In many places farmers were having to wait for rain before they could go on with their planting. The bottom season is said to be fairly good all over the county, but high spring winds have dried the surface soil.

MENARD MAN IS IN JAIL HERE ON FORGERY CHARGE

Brought here after being arrested in Menard, Laurence McDonald, about 30, is in Mitchell county jail charged with forgery in the passing of a check on Oscar McFerrin, Colorado gravel hauler, last week.

The check was given to Ford Morris, local market man, by McDonald, who had been hauling gravel for McFerrin. McDonald's home is said to be in Menard.

Dick Hickman, chief of Colorado police, says that he has served one prison term for forgery. McDonald was brought from Menard to Colorado by Hickman and H. A. Cook, deputy sheriff.

53-YEAR-OLD TAX RECEIPT FOUND AT J. J. HANDLEY FARM

A 53-year-old tax receipt in a first-class state of preservation was found by Earl Morrison recently when he was making some repairs on the farm home which he bought from the J. J. Handley estate.

The receipt was issued to Mr. Handley on December 5, 1885, for payment of taxes on three tracts of land in Comanche county.

Morrison wonders if anyone can produce a tax receipt as old as this one and in as good a state of preservation.

FIRST AIR MAIL PICK-UP HERE AT 3 P. M. THURSDAY

AIR MAIL TAKES THE AIR DIRECTLY FROM COLORADO AS WEEK'S FEATURE

Air mail "took the air" directly from Colorado for the first time in the town's history Thursday afternoon (today) at 3 o'clock when a mail pick-up plane made a special landing in observance of National Air Mail week.

The plane landed on the L. S. Allen farm three miles east of Colorado, being greeted by a considerable number of Mitchell countians who witnessed the transfer of Colorado's special bundle of air mail from ground to air. The plane was to connect in Big Spring with planes going both east and west.

All mail going out from Colorado in the pick-up was marked with a special Colorado air mail week cachet, and autographed by J. Y. Fraser, postmaster and chairman of air mail week in the county.

For several minutes before the mail plane landed here another plane passed over Colorado, announcing the progress of the former by radio through KBST at Big Spring.

T. J. Goss, Jr., assistant chairman of air mail week observance in the county, said Thursday that all air-mail sent out from Colorado during the week will bear the special Colorado cachet, whether it went in the special pick-up or not.

PAVING OF FEEDER HIGHWAY WILL START WHEN ORDER ARRIVES

Work of paving 4.8 miles of feeder highway near Colorado is pending receipt of a work order out of Austin headquarters of the State Highway commission, according to E. W. Pittman, construction engineer in the office which the highway department has opened at the Mitchell county courthouse.

The order will be forthcoming as soon as contract and bonds are returned to Austin by R. W. McKinney of Nacogdoches, who has been awarded contract for the job. McKinney is now in possession of the papers, Pittman says.

The road to be paved joins highway on a short distance east of Colorado and follows the Robert Lee road southward. From 15 to 50 men are to be employed on the job, labor being secured through the U. S. Employment service.

Sam Fowler, recently of Junction, has been moved here as assistant to Pittman.

BROADWAY MOTORCADE HAS ITS DINNER HERE

The Broadway of America motorcade, enroute from the west to the annual Broadway of America convention in Roanoke, Va., stopped in Colorado for dinner at the Colorado hotel Wednesday evening.

Plans had been made to have the motorcade welcomed by the Colorado school band, but the cars arrived more than half an hour early, so the band played during their meal.

H. B. Spence, manager of the Colorado chamber of commerce, welcomed the motorcadets to Colorado while they were gathered in the hotel dining room. Response was by T. E. Coford, mayor of Bisbee, Arizona. The motorcade left here after dinner to spend the night in Abilene.

BARBER RESIGNS AS PRESIDENT OF CC AT MEETING WEDNESDAY

LACK OF TIME FOR PROPER FULFILLMENT OF DUTIES DURING COMING MONTHS GIVEN AS REASON

Resignation of Truett Barber as president of the Colorado chamber of commerce was tendered at a called meeting of the chamber directors Wednesday afternoon at 5 o'clock. The resignation is to be effective June 1.

Barber has been president since November, 1937, at which time he was elected to succeed C. C. Thompson, who held the office for several years.

In tendering his resignation Barber made the following explanation: "The next three or four months will be the busiest period of the year so far as the chamber of commerce activities are concerned. The amateur hour program will start June 10, and continue throughout the summer months. In addition, plans must soon be made for the annual Frontier Round-up. Other projects being undertaken by the organization must be given immediate attention."

"It so happens that the next three or four months of my time will be entirely taken up in making a political campaign. I would have no time whatever to devote, as president, to these important activities of the chamber of commerce mentioned above. It would be unfair to Mr. H. B. Spence, our new manager, and to the board of directors, for me to continue in the office of president under these circumstances.

"Had I known at the time I was elected president that I was going to make a political campaign this summer, I would not have accepted the office."

"I consider it a distinct honor to have served this organization as president, and I would like to thank the board of directors and the membership of the chamber for their splendid cooperation during my tenure of office. I shall retain my place on the board of directors and will continue to support the work of the organization in any way that I can."

A called meeting of the board of directors is to be held Monday afternoon at 5:30 to elect a successor to Barber.

The amphitheater will be used for the first time this season when the opening amateur hour program of the Colorado chamber of commerce is held Friday night, June 3. Amateur hour night crowds last year overflowed the amphitheater, making enlargement necessary.

BURGLARY THAT YIELDED 30 CENTS LANDS LOCAL NEGRO IN THE HOOSEGOW

The "wages of sin" are practically nil, in the opinion of a Colorado negro who is languishing in the Mitchell county jail after having confessed to a burglary that netted him the grand total of 30 cents.

On Monday night the negro broke into the Oak street cafe of Will Dubose, another negro, and got the latter's penny and peanut machine. It yielded the aforementioned 30 pennies.

Local officers say he is in jail mainly because his breaking into the cafe constitutes burglary, and not because of the 30 cents. But it doesn't matter much to the negro—the fact still remains that he's in jail.

FALSE KIDNAPPING AND HI-JACKING TALE GIVES OFFICERS BUSY INTERVAL

A tale of kidnapping and hi-jacking that gave Mitchell county officers several busy minutes Monday night came to naught Tuesday morning as Hubert Jones, 24, of Terrell, originator of the tale, admitted in the Colorado jail that "there's nothing to it, and I don't know why I told it."

According to the story which officers finally got from Jones and his companion, Hubert Jenkins, 34, also of Terrell, the two drove to Colorado Monday from Terrell. Jenkins got out here, and Jones started back to Terrell. Jones stopped in Loraine and told Nick Narrell, Loraine deputy sheriff, that Jenkins had kidnapped him in Terrell, hi-jacked him of $37, and forced him to drive him to Colorado.

While other officers were out trying to verify Jones' story and find Jenkins, Dick Hickman, chief of police, and Officer Porter Moseley arrested a "drunk" in downtown Colorado, and, on learning he was from Terrell, identified him as Jones' erstwhile companion. Jones, confronting Jenkins later in a jail cell, admitted it was all a "frame-up."

Officers described both men as being in advanced stages of inebriation when arrested. Both pleaded guilty to drunken charges in city court late Tuesday, paid fines, and left for Terrell.

Philathea Members Have Closing Picnic

By Mrs. E. F. Marshall
For their last meeting until September the ladies of the Philathea Sunday school class of the First Methodist church invited their families and a few close associates to Ruddick Park for supper Tuesday night. There were about 60 present.
For supper the women had prepared fried chicken, gravy, deviled eggs, potato salad, ice cream and cake. For drinks they had lemonade and tea.
Mrs. J. T. Pritchett is teacher of this class of young women. They have done some splendid things for the church and community.
They have a regular attendance of about 20. So far this year five members have been taken out for teachers. The motto of the class is "For Others," therefore they hope to have a bigger class every year so they will have more to serve others.

MUTE MEMENTOS OF DAYS LONG GONE IN EXHIBIT ARRANGED FOR HISTORIANS' MEET

Mute mementos of days long gone were guns, knives, powder horns, running irons, and other articles exhibited in the Colorado chamber of commerce office as a feature of the West Texas Historical convention in Colorado Saturday.

The exhibit was arranged under direction of Joe Earnest, chairman of an exhibit committee from the chamber of commerce. Will Berry, whose farm-home museum at Fairview is one of the show-spots of Mitchell county, and Ivy Webb, whose East Colorado home figured prominently in Colorado's earliest history, were among the chief contributors to the show.

Stake pins which were taken from the ranges of the C. C. Slaughter Bull Creek ranch in 1876 attracted much attention. These pins were used to stake horses on the range at night, according to Will Berry, who now owns them.

Berry also exhibited a brass water bucket which was used on the old Bush & Tillar ranch, an old Spanish ring-type bridle bit, running irons used by cattle thieves on Block 97, a chuck wagon knife found on Slaughter's Rattlesnake ranch, a collar iron used by a Chinese laundryman in Colorado in the early eighties.

Of special interest was a gun collection shown by Berry. Probably the oldest in this group was a 250-year old Arabian gun. Another interesting piece was a Henry rifle given to General Custer by his friends and used by him in many of his Indian battles. After he was massacred the gun was passed on to Wild Bill Hickok. Old Joe Clark (the of whom old ballad was written) later came into possession of it, and Berry obtained the gun from Clark's son. Berry also showed a Spencer saddle gun made in the early sixties, and a powder horn and bullet pouch which was once used by Kit Carson.

Mrs. U. G. Harrison of Colorado loaned to the exhibit a money belt which was once the property of General Custer. It was given to her grandparents by Gen. Custer's wife, who often stayed with them in Austin while Gen. Custer was on expeditions. The belt bears the inscription, "Presented by Maj. Gen. Custer, U. S. A., Austin, 1866."

Indian bones and fossilized skeletons which he has unearthed in this section were shown by Ivy Webb. Joe Earnest contributed an iron hatchet which was said to have been used in opening the first box of dry goods ever received in Colorado.

Among interesting documents shown by Ivy Webb were an order of goods bought by A. H. Webb from S. Lapowski & Brothers of Colorado; a handwritten note which followed A. H. Webb up the Dodge City, Nebraska, trail; tax receipts covering the Capitol Syndicate of XIT ranch; a check showing horse-drawn street cars in early Colorado; a mammoth mastodon found on Lone Wolf creek. Bob Northcutt showed a collection of spear and arrowheads which he gathered from the Colorado River bottom.

TEXAS RANGES IN EXCELLENT CONDITION

AUSTIN—With the exception of extreme West Texas where high winds have dried out surface moisture, Texas ranges are in excellent condition and will have good grazing most of the summer, the May 1 range and livestock report of the Department of Agriculture points out.

Cattle ranges are 88 per cent of normal, 8 points better than last year and 8 points over the ten-year average. Sheep and goat ranges are 90 per cent of normal compared with 83 a year ago and 78 for the ten-year average.

On May 1 the extreme southern part of South Texas and a few dust bowl counties of Northwest Texas were deficient in subsoil moisture, but recent rains have improved their condition, the report reveals.

The cold wave of April did little damage to range feeds, but high winds and dust storms in the Panhandle did some damage.

Cattle condition improved 3 points in April and was reported at 86 per cent of normal May 1 compared with 82 a year ago and 81 for the ten-year average. The cold wave resulted in some losses in the High Plains, but they were not excessive.

Movement of Texas cattle to northern pastures is expected to be very light this spring, but a larger than usual number of grass-fat cattle are expected to be available outside the usual Southern-grass-fat cattle area. In West Central Texas cattle are already in marketable flesh, the report states, and shipments direct to market from this area will be heavy this spring.

Sheep are in good flesh, and condition May 1 was 89 per cent of normal compared with 87 a year ago and 83 for the ten-year average. A large lamb crop is being dropped, the report added. Ranchmen are reluctant to dispose of their surplus holdings due to the decline in prices of sheep and lambs. Losses of sheep during the cold wave were largely restricted to lambs dropped April 7 to 9.

Tenth largest of the great lakes of the world, Great Bear Lake has an area of 10,000 square miles.

Coat lapel buttons carrying the figures "1939" are being worn by thousands of Californians to boost the Golden Gate International Exposition on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay.

History Of Early Colorado Clubs Given On Convention Program By Mrs. Merritt

A paper of special interest to Colorado women was given on the morning program of the West Texas Historical convention here Saturday by Mrs. J. G. Merritt, who read an article on "Early Clubs of Colorado."

Mrs. Merritt opened her paper by paying tribute to the memory of Mrs. Martha B. Smoot, known as the "Mother of Colorado Clubs." This done, her paper went on as follows:

"In 1891 she (Mrs. Smoot) gathered together a group of the town's most brilliant and cultured women and organized the Standard club with Mrs. P. C. Coleman as the first president. Among the charter members were Mesdames S. N. Sherwin, J. E. Riordan, B. S. Van Tuyl, Smoot, and others. This club has always studied Shakespeare . . . and other topics of cultural value. . . ."

"Six months after the organization of the Standard, a second club was organized by Mrs. Smoot and named the Standard Unique, a club which became several years later the Hesperian. Mrs. M. Carter was the first president in 1892. . . . The Hesperian was one of the charter members of the State Federation of Women's clubs, an organization perfected in 1897. . . ."

"Mrs. Smoot's last club child was the Woman's club which she organized in 1902. . . . Into this she drew the younger women. . . ."

"The Kindergarten club was organized in 1904, and its three presidents were Mrs. H. C. Landers, Mrs. J. G. Merritt, and Mrs. E. H. Waldo. . . . For seven years this club employed a trained kindergarten teacher and assistant for classes held in the old courthouse. . . . The large membership spent all its time raising money to carry on the work. . . ."

"In 1907 the first TPWC district held its meeting here. . . . This meeting caused many Colorado women to receive district appointments. . . . At that time Mrs. Merritt was president of the Kindergarten club, Mrs. A. A. Bailey of the Standard club, Mrs. Allan Payne of the Hesperian, and Mrs. Vincent Vincent of the Woman's club. . . ."

"The Civic League was organized in 1920, with Mrs. A. L. Whipkey and Mrs. J. G. Merritt as the first and second presidents, respectively and the only ones. . . . Every group interested in civic improvement was brought into this. . . . There had been clean-ups before, but never such as Mrs. Whipkey, Mrs. Jim Dobbs, and Mrs. Boyd Dozier started. . . . Alleys were cleaned by the women themselves when the owners refused. . . . The league worked for a county home demonstration agent. . . . and finally secured one in 1922. . . . The first agent was Miss Georgia Laceywell. . . ."

"In 1921 a group of young women

Traditions And 'Trappings' Of Old West In Limelight As CHS Banquet Held

Traditions and "trappings" of the Old West were in the limelight as nearly 200 persons gathered in the Colorado hotel dining room Friday night for the annual junior-senior banquet of Colorado High school.

Branding irons, one bearing the junior class brand of J. Lazy C and the other the senior brand of S Bar C, were placed beside a statue of a saddle-horse to center the speaker's table. Sombre cowboy statues stood at either end of this table, and at intervals along the other tables. Spurs, boots, cactus plants, and other symbols of life in the Old West were strewn down the table centers. Yucca plants and a saddle decorated the stage. Menus and programs were in the cowboy motif, both the program and the menu being printed in cowboy lingo. The class colors, scarlet and black, were featured. Small sombreros were place favors.

Dressed as a cowgirl, Fannie Fae Porter, president of the junior class, acted as toastmaster. Invocation was by the Rev. C. E. Jameson of First Methodist church. "The Last Round Up" was sung by the assemblage with Mrs. Charles Moeser at the piano and a group of leaders composed of Maurice Watson, Rudell Glover, J. W. Hodges, Dale Simpson, Quinton Hamrick, Frances Merle Cooper, Mary Elizabeth Seth, Betty Hodge, and Lucille Goodie.

Welcome was extended in cowboy ballad form by Fannie Fae Porter, and John Colson, president of the senior class, replied in ballad. "Prairie Moon" and "Home on the Range" were sung by the five boys listed above. Thomas Chadwick, in cowboy regalia and using cowboy dialect, listed achievements of the senior class. Shirley Kiker read the senior class prophecy.

John E. Watson, superintendent of schools, was the principal speaker. His talk was brief. He reminded the students of their heritage from the lore of the Southwest, and pointed out that their success in life will be largely determined by their developing the honesty, integrity, loyalty, love of home and other characteristics of the pioneers of the Southwest.

Two songs, "Gold Mine in the Sky" and "Old Faithful," were sung by Frances Merle Cooper, Mary Elizabeth Seth, Betty Hodge, and Lucille Goodie as the banquet closed. Velma Barrett, Vada Coles, and Jack Christian of the high school faculty were in charge of banquet arrangements. Mrs. Moeser had charge of music and songs. Placecards were designed by Doris Richardson, and the ballads were written by Princess Martin and Bonnie Bill Brizendine.

WIDELY USED ELECTRIC FENCE IS VERSATILE

"Cattle, horses, hogs, sheep, goats, mules, bulls, stallions, calves, or any other type of animal found on the farm will all respect the new Electric Fence. It is a type of fence that effectively turns these various types of animals with a sharp sting from electric current, rather than physical strength of the fence itself," says Bob Fee of the Berry-Fee Lbr. Co. Mr. Fee goes on and says: "The versatility of this Electric Fence does not cease with the various types of animals that can be held, but these units will operate from 6-volt batteries, as well as the high line, or 32-volt home power plant. Another thing is the varied use that is made of the Electric Fence on a farm.

Bull pens, pasture fences, calf yards, barn yards, straw stacks, lane fences, temporary fences, stallion corrals, pig pens, and dozens of other uses can be made of the Electric Fence. What could be a more versatile product than this?"

Farmers report that they can save 80% on their fencing costs.

Mr. Fee has just recently taken on the nationally advertised Prime Electric Fence and is now offering it to the farmers of this territory. Complete line of equipment of the 1938 models is now on display at his store and he welcomes everybody. He is particularly interested in discussing possibilities of demonstration on this new single wire method of holding livestock.

One reason you hear CLEARLY...

Western Electric telephones are made to work together

Whether you're talking across the street or to San Francisco, it doesn't "just happen" that you hear clearly and easily over the telephone. One reason you can do it: Western Electric telephones, precision manufactured for the entire Bell System, are the same all over the country. You might say they're "tuned" to each other, somewhat like radios to a broadcasting station.

If telephones and equipment weren't uniform, voices might not be clear. It would be vastly more difficult for us to give you the good service at low cost that you have come to expect.

HISTORICAL CONVENTION, HIGHLIGHTED BY REMINISCENCES OF EARLY SURVEYOR, IN SESSION HERE ALL DAY SATURDAY

Highlighted by the reminiscences of Capt. Jack Elgin of San Antonio, a man who saw this section of West Texas long before its stable settlement by the white man or the coming of his chief weapon of civilization, the railroad, the fifteenth annual convention of the West Texas Historical association was held in Colorado Saturday.

Capt. Elgin, who surveyed 1600 sections for the Houston & Texas Central railroad in this area in 1872, was presented as the convention opened Saturday morning. His talk followed a welcome address by Harry Ratliff, chairman of the convention committee of the Colorado chamber of commerce, and a response by Judge R. C. Crane of Sweetwater, president of the association.

In opening his talk Capt. Elgin told of having viewed the future site of Colorado in 1873, when it was marked by nothing but a monument which had been placed on the banks of the Colorado river by the surveyors for the Texas & Pacific railroad, known then as the Memphis & El Paso. Actual construction of the railroad was still seven years away at that time.

When Capt. Elgin was sent to survey this land, Gov. Edmund J. Davis commissioned him as a captain of minute men, unsalaried defenders of frontier settlements. Capt. Elgin accepted the commission because the government would furnish him with arms and because the commission gave him military power over a wide territory, where he felt he could be of aid to Indian-harassed settlements.

Outfitting himself at Waco with 16 men, three wagons, and twelve yoke of oxen (oxen being chosen because they wouldn't tempt the Indians and because they could subsist easily on the range), Capt. Elgin followed an old military road that led from Ft. Graham in Hill county toward Camp Colorado. He left the road where it crossed Pecan Bayou ten miles north of Brownwood, and followed the bayou to the Camp Colorado-Ft. Griffin road. He traveled this road north for a distance, then turned west on the Belnap and Fort Phantom Hill road. Camp was pitched at Fort Phantom hill, lying on the Brazos in what is now Jones county, and there he killed his first buffalo.

Later the party went up the Brazos and to the mouth of Sweetwater creek, where surveying of Block 96, which runs from that point to the foot of Double Mountain was begun. Capt. Elgin told of having seen enormous flocks of wild turkeys, of having taken refuge in a niche in a canyon wall while buffalo stampeded past within arm's reach. The stampeding herd was so large that it was an hour in passing.

He told of catfish so large and numerous in the Colorado and other rivers that his men shot them, and of a Christmas dinner in 1872 when he and his men had more than 14 varieties of wild meat. He told of being the first white man to ever climb Double Mountain, which he ascended on December 23, 1872.

Other papers on the morning program were by Mrs. J. G. Merritt of Colorado, who eulogized the late Mrs. M. B. Smoot, known as the "Mother of Colorado Clubs," in giving a history of early Colorado clubs; Jesse Williams of Wichita Falls who told of "Anglo-American Trails in North Texas"; and Ernest Wallace of the Texas Technological college history department, substituting for S. S. McKay, head of the department, who had written report on "Social Conditions in Texas in the Eighteen Seventies." Illness prevented McKay from attending and reading his own paper.

Members of the association were guests of the Colorado chamber of commerce for a luncheon at noon. Trust Barber, president of the chamber, presented entertainment numbers, including a saxophone solo by Freddie Watson, accompanied at the piano by Nancy Price, and old-time "fiddling" pieces by N. T. Smith and Charley Watson. At a business session following the luncheon, all officers were reelected as follows: President, Judge Crane of Sweetwater; vice-presidents, Hybernia Grace of Anson, S. S. McKay of Lubbock, W. E. Brown of Abilene, and Col. M. L. Crimmins of San Antonio; secretary-treasurer, E. M. Landers of Abilene.

R. N. Richardson of Hardin-Simmons university at Abilene, W. C. Holden of Texas Tech at Lubbock, and C. R. Rister of the University of Oklahoma were reelected on the publication committee. W. C. Holden of Lubbock, J. W. Williams of Wichita Falls, T. R. Havins of Brownwood, and H. Bailey Carroll of Portales, N. M., were named on the executive committee, which includes officers of the association.

Col. M. L. Crimmins of San Antonio presided at the afternoon session, when papers were read as follows: "The Hundredth Meridian and the Texas-Oklahoma Border," by I. A. Hicks of Brownwood; "Spanish and Anglo-American Explorers in Northwest Texas," H. B. Carroll of Portales, N. M.; "Some Phases of the Life of J. G. Hardin," Harry Hayes of Abilene; "Fred Cockrell, Pioneer Citizen and Builder," Judge Crane.

Miss Hybernia Grace of Anson presided at the morning session and Col. Crimmins of San Antonio at the afternoon session.

CHECK-UPS BEING MADE MONTHLY ON COLORADO YARDS

YARD BEAUTIFICATION RULES
REPEATED BY MRS. JIM
FERGUSON

Check-ups are being made monthly in the annual yard beautification contest sponsored by the Mitchell County Federation of Women's clubs and the Colorado chamber of commerce, according to Mrs. J. A. Ferguson, president of the county federation.

Mrs. Ferguson stated early this week that it is not necessary for yards to be entered in the contest. A special committee checks up on all yards in the town each month the year around, and prizes are awarded in the late summer on a year-around basis.

In response to several requests, Mrs. Ferguson has repeated the rules and conditions of the contest, these being as follows:

A lawn is the first essential for a beautiful yard. The lawn will be graded on the basis of quality rather than size, provided it fits in with the general scheme. It should be even, well-kept, and the edges well cut. The lawn will fall short of perfect rating if it is cut up by fancy-shaped flower beds, shrubs, or trees. Walks and drives must be kept neat, free from weeds and litter, and the edges must be well-trimmed. Meeting these conditions gives 40 points.

Cleanliness of the entire yard, from front to back, including the alley, will also give 40 points. For trees, shrubs, evergreens and well-arranged flower beds, 20 points are given.

HISTORICAL CONVENTION
HERE SATURDAY DECLARED
BEST EVER HELD BY GROUP

"One of the best, if not the best, convention we've ever had in our 15 years."

That was the way in which leaders of the West Texas Historical association described the association's annual convention here Saturday.

Judge R. C. Crane of Sweetwater, president of the association, openly expressed his satisfaction with the way in which convention arrangements were handled, giving much credit to H. B. Spence, manager of the Colorado chamber of commerce, and others who assisted him, including Sherman Hart, office assistant to Spence, and Harry Ratliff, chairman of local convention arrangements.

John R. Hutto of Big Spring, recognized as a leading historian of this area, said: "I've never missed but one convention since the association was formed, and this is the best one I've ever attended."

88-YEAR-OLD JACK ELGIN, SPRY AND FULL OF AUTHENTIC MEMORIES, STOLE
'THE SHOW' AT HISTORICAL MEETING

Spry and chuck-full of authentic and colorful memories, Capt. Jack Elgin of San Antonio literally "stole the show" during the West Texas Historical convention here Saturday.

Because his talk was shifted from the late afternoon portion of the program to the opening of the morning program, a number of Coloradans who had planned to hear him were disappointed. The change was necessary, however, in order that Capt. Elgin might talk while he was still untired from the day's activities.

Although he was of particular interest to West Texans and Coloradans because he surveyed 1,600 sections of land in this vicinity in 1872 for the H. & T. C. railroad, Capt. Elgin's life history includes many other facts which make him worthy of note.

He was born in Austin on July 31, 1850, and was reared by an uncle, Robert W. Elgin, chief clerk of the General Land office of Texas, after his father died when he was only 10 months old. His uncle moved to Houston after the Civil War, and became land commissioner for the H. & T. C. railway, working in that capacity to locate and build more than 50 towns in Texas.

After working for a time in the general office of the Texas New Orleans railroad, of which he is now the oldest ex-employee, Capt. Elgin entered the engineer service of the H. & T. C. railroad in 1869. He ran the first railroad line into his native city of Austin. A short while later, on Jan. 1, 1870, he ran the first railroad line into Waco.

In Waco Capt. Elgin took off from his engineering duties long enough to attend Waco university (now Baylor) for a year and a half, being graduated in June, 1871. He immediately resumed work as construction engineer on the Waco T. & P. railroad.

His survey work with the H. & T. C. began in the fall of 1872. When he received orders to survey the 1,600 sections for the railroad in this area (Nolan, Fisher, Scurry, Fisher, Borden, and Mitchell counties), Gov. Edmund J. Davis asked him to take, in connection with the survey, a commission as captain of minute men, the minute men being unsalaried defenders of Texas frontier settlements, the only protection available for Texas outposts of civilization at that time.

In making his talk before the convention Saturday morning, Capt. Elgin seemed anxious to make it clear that in accepting this commission from Gov. Davis, he was not politically in sympathy with what he described as "this much despised administration." To prove it he pointed out the fact that he was continued as a captain of minute men under Coke and until the law was repealed, and that he was afterward commissioned as a captain of the Waco Greys by O. M. Roberts and, later, by John Ireland.

Capt. Elgin explained that he accepted the commission because it gave him arms, military power over a wide area, and a chance to help protect the Indian-harassed frontiersmen.

The story of Capt. Elgin's survey in this area is recorded, briefly, in

STANTON DEFEATS LOCAL GOLFERS IN SAND BELT MATCHES THERE SUNDAY

The Stanton team of the Sand Belt Golf association staged a rally on their home links Sunday and defeated the Colorado team by the score of 26 to 14. This victory elevated the Stanton team from the cellar position on which they have had a strangle-hold all season.

Poe Woodard of Stanton defeated James Pritchett, Colorado, one up in 19 holes. E. L. Powell, Stanton, defeated Percy Bond 4 and 3, Stanton winning low ball.

In the second flight, Glazier of Stanton defeated Jimmy Cook of Colorado 4 and 2. Heaton of Stanton defeated Jake Merritt of Colorado 4 and 3. Stanton won low ball.

In the third flight Burnham of Stanton defeated Joe Pritchett of Colorado 3 and 1. Henderson of Stanton defeated Ross Dixon of Colorado one up on the 19th hole. Stanton won low ball.

In the fourth flight, John Baze of Colorado defeated Kennedy of Stanton, two up, and Walter Henderson of Colorado defeated Sprawles of Stanton 4 and 2. Colorado won low ball.

Benton Templeton was in Barstow Monday on court business.

the historical convention story elsewhere in this issue. As he said Saturday morning, he first saw this country as a vast, rolling expanse of lush meadows, waving grasses, and cedar-and-rock hills. Roving bands of savage Indians, thundering thousands of buffalo, enormous flocks of wild turkeys, fish-filled streams—all these were in that expanse. His return here Saturday found all that vast area crisscrossed by ribbons of shining pavement, dotted by towns of brick and steel and concrete, and squared off into thousands of prosperous farms.

After serving the H. & T. C. in various capacities for 10 years, Capt. Elgin climaxed years of law study during spare moments by taking a course of law at the University of Virginia. On completion of this course he entered the practice of law at Waco.

The captain has always taken an active part in the political and civic affairs of state. His activity dates back to the time when he attended the first Democratic state convention after the Civil War, the one when the Democratic party of Texas was organized and Richard Coke nominated for governor. He attended every other Democratic state convention up to the time of Cotton-Shed convention at Houston, when the party split over the nomination of Hogg and Clark.

While Capt. Elgin was a great admirer of Governor Hogg, and probably more in sympathy with his theories than those of Clark, he held to his life-long practice of being loyal to old friends and stood by Clark's cause.

After Clark's defeat, Capt. Elgin took little interest in Democratic politics. All of his old intimates—Coke, Ireland, Ross, Gibbs, Mills, Chilton, and others—had died or been defeated or practically driven out of the party, he says.

Capt. Elgin's most active service in civic affairs was devoted to securing deep water for Texas. He worked with Lt. Governor Barney Gibbs in promoting the first deep-water convention in Fort Worth, and was a member of the committee drawing up the resolutions adopted by that convention. These resolutions were afterwards re-adopted at Topeka, Kan., Denver Colo., and framed into law by Congress, this law securing for Galveston a $6,000,000 appropriation for beginning of its deep-water port.

Hoping to secure deep water at Aransas Pass also, Capt. Elgin joined Gov. Gibbs and a syndicate of North Texas capitalists in the purchase of large land interests at Rockport. In 1889 he moved to Rockport to take charge of the Aransas Pass Land Company's interest. He built up a live and prosperous city, but the long delay in securing active work on Aransas Pass discouraged investors and the enterprise was subsequently abandoned.

After living in Rockport for 15 years and after having lost all hope for its future, Capt. Elgin moved to San Antonio in 1905. He still lives there, residing alone in a house which was built by Gen. David E. Twiggs in 1850. Deed to the land on which the house stands dates back to 1793.

A long period of ill health resulted in death for Jas. Leroy Shaw, 79, at the home of a daughter, Mrs. J. H. McCullough, in the Spade community Saturday morning at 1:30.

Mr. Shaw had lived in Mitchell county for seven years before his death, and had also resided here for some time several years ago. He was born on October 10, 1858, in Georgia, and was married in Cass county, Texas, to Katherine Lewis in 1880.

Survivors include Mrs. Shaw and the following children: Mrs. J. D. Bradley of San Diego, Calif.; J. W. Shaw of Illinois; Mrs. G. P. Burnett of Shreveport, La.; Guerin Shaw of Wichita Falls; Mrs. McCullough and L. K. Shaw of Colorado; Byron and Conrad Shaw of Phoenix, Arizona.

Funeral services were held at Kiker chapel at 3:30 Sunday afternoon with the Rev. C. E. Jameson of First Methodist church officiating for the service. Pallbearers were Otto Van Zandt, W. H. Fulkerson, Geo. Shelton, Vernon Derrett, Lon Allmond, and Erwin Jones. Burial was in the Colorado cemetery.

Kiker & Son had charge of arrangements.

Mrs. T. E. Reed left Friday to spend about a week or ten days in Smithville.

PICKED UP ALONG THE NEWS PATH

Before the week's grind gets this writer to the point where she wouldn't throw a bouquet if she had one, here goes to hand out a few posies: One to H. B. Spence, CC manager, for the live-wire with which he handled the historical convention Saturday (and in handing this one I'm backed by the expressions of Mrs. J. G. Merritt, Judge R. C. Crane of Sweetwater, and other seasoned convention-goers) . . . One to Velma Barrett, Vada Coles, Bonnie Brizendine, Jack Christian, Princess Martin, Doris Richardson, Fannie Fae Porter, Mrs. Charles Moerer, and all members of the Junior class for one of the most original and clever Junior-Senior banquets which Colorado High school has ever had (and in this I'm backed by several who have been attending Junior-Senior banquets here for a matter of years) . . . A special one to Fannie Fae for her cowgirl toastmastering at the banquet, and to Tommy Chadwick for his slings of cowboy lingo . . .

There are, I grant you, piano-players who are anything but "good neighbors." . . . But the other night I had the unusual experience of getting considerable pleasure from a neighbor's piano-playing. . . . It was late, nearing midnight, and from my window I was watching a giant storm-cloud, dusky blue and silver-billed, grow large over a breathless and moon-drenched earth. Soundless lightning flashed constantly in the cloud's dark bluesness. . . . Over at his studio-home across the way Tommy Dawes was playing his piano with the vigor and sure swiftness which only talent achieves. . . . I don't know what he was playing, but I know that, to my untrained and unmusical ear, it seemed to be a part of the hovering storm and the breathless, waiting earth. . . . I imagined that it must be something suggestive of storms, for it seemed to fit in too perfectly not to be. . . . Whether it was or not, I enjoyed the concert thoroughly. Mr. Tommy Dawes, and thank you. . . . And if what you were playing was something entirely apart from storms, like somebody's chariot race or a song of the spring, don't tell me—just let me go on in my fond belief that I'm beginning to learn to understand the language which music speaks. . . .

A card from the J. L. Bowers says that they are "certainly seeing things" in Washington, Mount Vernon, and other points. . . . And speaking of travels, this week-end marks the sailing of Gladys Dorn, a former Coloradoan who now fills a civil service job in Washington, for points in Europe and along the Mediterranean. . . . I knew Gladys when she decided to give up a good job here in Colorado and go back to school so that she could fit herself for even better jobs. . . . Looks like now it was a wise decision. . . . Here's "Bon Voyage," Gladys. . . .

Old-time fiddlin' seems to have something that even modern swing can't tie. . . . Along with everybody else at the historical convention luncheon Saturday, I couldn't quite keep my feet still when N. T. (Fiddlin') Smith and youthful Charley Watson, who plays the guitar, got underway. . . . It seemed to me that even Mrs. P. C. Coleman, handsome and stately person that she is, entered the room with a little more than her usual spirited gait while the music was going. . . .

Speaking of Mrs. Coleman, she's responsible for a suggestion that Colorado ought to have a town flower, and that this flower should be larkspur. . . . She believes every yard in town could be made a riot of loveliness during this part of the year if larkspurs were adopted and planted in profusion. . . . Personally, I think she has something there, because Colorado does boast a lot of larkspur, and there's nothing that shows up to better advantage. . . .

Business women are not usually regarded as the "mother" type, but members of the Colorado Business & Professional Women's club are now "mothers" without a single exception. . . . We hasten to explain they're mothers by adoption, for the club has adopted Thelma (Mrs. A. L.) McSpadden's infant son, Richard Louis. . . . He's been the club's "mascot" ever since his birth some seven weeks ago—truth to tell, the "adoption" was all ready and waiting for him upon his arrival. . . .

This "galloping breakfast" idea that the Methodist women have started seems to offer unlimited "possibilities." . . . The women who attend are simply sent for with total unexpectedness, and they have to drop whatever they are doing and go to the breakfast just as they are. . . . Convenience is furnished by the sender—after, of course. . . . Those who stop to make any change in their attire or appearance are fined—they say Mrs. J. L. Pidgeon is still misput because she had to pay a dime for changing her shoes when she was summoned to Mrs. J. G. Merritt's breakfast Wednesday morning. . . . The summons found Mrs. Pidgeon in the midst of her family wash. . . . Some of the women are rumored to be looking forward to summoning some of their sister workers while they are still in sleeping attire one of these mornings. . . .

PART OF ANCIENT PISTOL FOUND ON L. S. ALLEN'S FARM EAST OF COLORADO

Part of a Colt cap-and-ball pistol believed to be more than 100 years old was plowed up by L. S. Allen on his farm three miles east of Colorado this week.

Only the chamber and the metal portion of the gun handle were found, though the barrel is believed to be nearby, since the break where the barrel joins the chamber is apparently a recent one. The metal portion of the handle, still shiny after years in the earth, has been identified by Ed Majors, Colorado jeweler, as German silver. Three of the gun's five chambers are loaded. Dick Hickman, chief of Colorado police, compared the gun with a similar one of his own, and says that the number on his gun handle is over 3,000,000, whereas the number on this gun handle is only 61,755. Indicating that is much more than 100 years old. The gun number has been sent to the Colt factory with a request for information on the gun. Allen believes he can find the gun barrel by careful searching of his field.

OATMEAL-FED QUINS MAKE RAPID PROGRESS

Recent tests and studies have revealed that the Dionne Quins' personal-social behavior is above average. Yvonne, Cecile, and Annette head the group. That is, they have already learned at the early age of four years to help remove the dishes from the table, to hang up their clothes, and perform other minor duties. Yvonne, Cecile and Annette are the leaders. The Quins, although handicapped by premature birth have made rapid progress and have measured up to all "average requirements." At 15 months they could use a spoon while eating. At 18 months they could turn pages in a picture book. At 21 they could twist the knob while trying to open the door and at 24 months they could tell about their experiences. So, although handicapped at birth, the Quins are today five of the world's healthiest, happiest babies. It is interesting to note that Quaker Oats was the cereal selected for the Dionne Quins. Quaker Oats, being rich in Vitamin B, helps guard against indigestion, poor appetite and nervousness due to lack of the Vitamin. Quaker Oats also supplies minerals, protein and good energy. The Dionne Quins, however, know nothing about vitamins, and upon questioning would probably say that the reason they eat their food, cereal or otherwise, is because they like it.

SPARKLING FILM AT PALACE THEATRE STARS GARY COOPER AND CLAUDETTE COLBERT

LUBITSCH DIRECTS "BLUEBEARD'S EIGHTH WIFE"; GARY STORY OF LIFE IN EUROPE'S "SMART SET" TELLS HOW WIFE TAMES MALE "SHREW"

Claudette Colbert and Gary Cooper form a partnership that gives screen comedy a zest and carnival spirit seldom equalled, in the new Paramount production, "Bluebeard's Eighth Wife," at the Palace theatre Saturday preve and Sunday and Monday.

The peppery maiden who "met him in Paris" and a new, sophisticated "Mr. Deeds" are seen as a penniless French aristocrat and a bored American multi-millionaire, respectively, in a riotous version of the famous farce of Alfred Savoir, produced and directed by Ernst Lubitsch.

Cooper, a spoiled and self-willed financier, goes into a Riviera shop for a pair of pajamas and comes out with the girl he decides to make his eighth wife. But Miss Colbert repulses the advances of her 14-karat suitor, objecting to his conceit and doubtful of his intentions. Only after he hounds her all over the Riviera and even goes so far as to buy a bogus Louis XIV bathtub from her genial old fraud of a father does she realize that he means what he says. A madcap honeymoon follows, taking the battling young couple to such world-famous pleasure spots as Nice, the Tyrol, Vienna, Switzerland and Paris. Miss Colbert, suddenly inspired, sets out to tame her male "shrew" in a manner he has never known before. She pays absolutely no attention to him. She balks his every plan, repulses his every advance, orders him about like a servant and generally tyrannizes him.

Miss Colbert's campaign subdues "Bluebeard" as if by magic. She has him completely in hand when she goes too far, letting him think she has "another man" in order to make him jealous. Now he declares she is like all the rest and sets about getting a divorce, his eighth to date. This makes Claudette frantic, since she has fallen in love with him during the battle. Now it is her turn to do the pursuing.

The incomparable direction of Ernst Lubitsch brings out all the urbanity, wit and sophistication of the typically French story. Aided by a capable supporting cast, which includes Edward Everett Horton, David Niven, Elizabeth Patterson and Herman Bing, Miss Colbert and Cooper bring to the screen a play as subbling as a glass of champagne and as intimate as a pair of silk pajamas.

"PENROD AND HIS TWIN BROTHER"

Palace—Thursday, May 19
A sure-fire picture for the kid trade, the latest film adventures of the Booth Tarkington boy hero, Penrod, will have the Saturday matinee audiences raising the roof from start to finish, though adult patrons who have been absorbing Hollywood's more sophisticated product may find themselves a trifle bored with the adolescent antics of the Mauch Twins and their gang of Junior G-Men. Plenty of solid laughs are scored by the two young stars because of their almost exact resemblance, and a little Negro boy, Philip Hurlie, shares second honors with a multi-breed dog named Duke. The picture is built on coincidence, with Billy Mauch as Penrod and Bobby as Danny—a stranger to town whose proclivities toward getting into trouble all reflect on Penrod. William McGann directed.

Players are Billy Mauch, Bobby Mauch, Philip Hurlie, Frank Craven, Spring Byington, Jackie Morrow, Bennie Bartlett.

"RASCALS"

Palace—Tuesday and Wednesday
May 24 and 25
Possessing less general audience appeal than the last few Jane Withers pictures, this will garner its greatest appreciation from the kid trade. It will be a distinct let-down for those who have come to expect plenty of ginger in this little star-let's vehicles. Jane herself is as lively as ever, and Borrah Minnevitich, the harmonica wizard, delivers some broad comedy, but it will not register with most adult audiences. Jane is a gypsy youngster whose particular pal is Robert Wilcox. The band picks up Rochelle Hudson, society girl who has lost her memory. Rochelle and Wilcox fall in love, but he, noble soul, raises the money necessary to restore her memory. Naturally, she forgets that she was ever in love with him—until Jane rather forcibly stirs her lagging brain. H. Bruce Humberstone directed.

Players are Jane Withers, Rochelle Hudson, Robert Wilcox, Borrah Minnevitich, Steffi Duna, Chester Clute, Jose Crespo.

"HOLD THAT KISS"

Palace—Friday and Saturday
May 20 and 21
Comedy and romance are the principal ingredients used by Producer John W. Considine, Jr., in whipping up a frothy and thoroughly delectable dish to tickle the entertainment palates of every class of theatre patron. Much of the popularity that is being enjoyed by the several current "family" series—such as the Joneses, the Judge Hardy, et al—can be expected for the feature since it is cast in substantially the same mold, albeit treated to a more impressive production background. Maureen O'Sullivan and Dennis O'Keefe are fine in the romantic leads, the latter showing up to much more advantage than he did in his first time at bat in the big leagues, but the thespic laurel goes to Mickey Rooney. Ed Marin directed ably.

"START CHEERING"

Ritz—Tuesday and Wednesday
May 24 and 25
First-rate in all departments, this peppy college musical has what it takes to garner substantial boxoffice receipts. Fragile as to story, it nevertheless avoids the usual collegiate cliches, avoids over-emphasis on football, pokes some subtle fun at university commercialism and packs plenty of entertainment in specialties and rowdy comedy. Hal LeRoy does some sensational tapdancing, matched by Gertrude Niesen's excellent torch-singing, and Jimmy Durante wraps up the acting honors in a hilarious role. Charles Starrett serves well as the movie idol who

EARLY PAYMENT OF 1937 COTTON BOUNTY SAID TO BE ASSURED

Early payment of the 1937 cotton bounty of two cents per pound has been approved by the Senate in adopting the amendment of Senator Tom Connally of Texas to the agricultural appropriation bill, according to information sent out from AAA headquarters. When the bill is finally enacted into law the department will start immediate preparations to make payment upon proper proof of compliance, Senator Connally has been advised.

The benefit payments to cotton farmers are made possible by the Connally-Jones amendment to the agricultural adjustment act of 1935. This amendment, which was sponsored in the Senate by Senator Connally, provided that a percentage of the revenue customs duties should be used by the Secretary of Agriculture to pay bounties to farmers and otherwise aid in the increase of agricultural exports.

Last August Senator Connally offered a resolution in the Senate making a provision for benefit payments to cotton farmers on their 1937 crop under the terms of the Connally-Jones plan. It was finally put into effect but provided that payments should go only to farmers who cooperated in the 1936 program. The Comptroller General ruled that such payments could not be made until the end of the 1938 crop year and officials of the Department of Agriculture said it would be December before farmers would get their checks. Senator Connally then introduced his amendment providing that the payments should be made just as soon as a farmer shows he is complying with the 1938 program. Approximately $130,000,000 will go to cotton farmers as benefit payments under the provisions of this amendment.

HIGHWAY ONE IS DUBBED 'THE SPEEDWAY OF TEXAS'

"Speedway of Texas" is the way in which the State Department of Public Safety describes Highway One, main artery of Colorado and Mitchell county, according to an item appearing in the Big Spring Weekly News.

This announcement was made after the speed of 31,256 passenger cars had been checked. The check-up was said to have revealed facts as follows:

Speeding up to 58 miles an hour in Palo Pinto county, the pace increases to 59 miles in Eastland county; slows up to 58.2 in Callahan, Taylor, Mitchell and Howard counties, but is upped to 61 miles per hour before Martin county is reached; they do 66 miles in Ector county; 64 in Ward and then uphill at 63 miles to El Paso, meeting cars coming down hills at 69.4 miles an hour.

The worst death hazards due to too fast driving are in El Paso, Culbertson, Ector, Midland, Martin, Nolan, Taylor and Eastland counties.

WESTBROOK METHODIST CHURCH

I would like to give my reasons for urging folks to go to church. First, I do not believe that very many of our people have stopped to count the cost, so would like to mention some things that have made it possible for us to have the church today, not to mention the dangers and deaths of martyrs of the early church or the first century or the suffering all through the later centuries even down to our age. The price has been great. Every age has seen its sacrifices upon the altar.

From the time that the gospel was planted on American soil there has been a constant march. Every frontier has been reached by a mighty army of God's people, both preachers and laymen. The old time preachers who without the necessary things of life, with many times only his horse, saddle, a few books and the hand of God to guide them through a trackless wilderness, through swollen streams, over bridgeless rivers, mountains that had not been cut away with beautiful highways, sleeping out in the cold, with rain, sleet and snow covering their trails, facing the wild beast of the forest, with the wild Indians on their trail, and out in this beautiful west where we today have everything for comfort—fine houses of worship, beautiful highways, fine automobiles to carry us through at the rate of 75 miles per hour and more, if we have no more sense than to do it.

Nice little churches dotted throughout the whole country, with good parsonages for we preachers to live in, with good salaries, that is the most have, that while some do not, and the work goes on notwithstanding the fact that some do not have what it takes to make live pleasant, but at the same time men who have been called to do this work go on many times he walks or bums his way. But he will not give up. Yes, the church has cost much to bring it to us. Many sad hours are spent in grieving over our people because of the non-interest taken in that that has cost so much.

Jesus even wept over Jerusalem. Yes the church has cost much in study and in waiting before the Lord. For guidance and leadership of the Holy Spirit. Thousands of mothers have gone on the altar for their wayward boy or girl. There has been many, many tears that have flown down the faces of our precious mothers that we might become Christians, and would help to carry on this that has cost so much. But we are thankful for the thousands who are willing to spend and to be spent for the ongoing of the kingdom of God. So may you see the great need of carrying on this great work that has cost so much. Maybe if the church would do all that God would have them do there might be and would be a decrease in the great number in the jails and there would not be so many trips to the electric chair, which is being filled almost weekly by some mother's boy. There would be fewer of our precious girls who go astray, for there are so many today who go out never to be the same again. So

Well, seventh graders, how was the picnic Monday. The seventh grade pupils came to school very happy Monday morning and reached Ruddick park about 11 o'clock. Most of them went in swimming and stayed in until about 12:30 o'clock. We wandered over the park until the lunch was prepared. We enjoyed the lunch very much. About 2 o'clock the swimming began again. How about that stunt diving Dick? About 3 o'clock we started for home. How is your back Joan and Maxine?

CHEVROLET SCHOOL WILL OPEN WITH 26 ENROLLED
 The second Chevrolet School of Modern Merchandising and Management, for sons of Chevrolet dealers, was opened this week with 26 young men, from dealerships throughout the country, enrolled for the seven-weeks' course. The school, one of many new developments introduced into the automobile industry by W. E. Holler, general sales manager, was designed to equip future Chevrolet dealers with a broad basic knowledge of the retail automobile business and of the functions of the factory and central office departments.
 On the opening day of the school, the new students were welcomed by Chevrolet officials and executives at a luncheon at the Recess Club. They were introduced by Felix Doran, Jr., assistant general sales manager.
 The course, under the supervision of T. O. McLaughlin, includes daily classroom sessions presided over by the heads of different departments, and inspection trips through the various Chevrolet manufacturing plants in and near Detroit. The students will visit also the General Motors Proving Ground at Milford, Mich., and the Research Laboratory in Detroit. The course thus covers every phase of modern automotive operations, from the building of the car to its sale at retail, and even beyond that, to efficient servicing methods.

all and all we should say with the poet:

 Let angels prostrate fall
 Bring forth the royal diadem
 And crown Him Lord of all."
