

MODERN NEW PALACE THEATER WILL OPEN TO PUBLIC FRIDAY

IMPROVEMENTS HAVE COST NEARLY AS MUCH AS THE ORIGINAL VALUE OF THE BUILDING

New throughout, even to the picture which it will be showing, the modernized R. & R. Palace theater will be opened to the public Friday night at its regular time of 8:45, with the show beginning at 7 o'clock.

A. E. McClain, local R. & R. manager, said in announcing the opening that he plans no special features for Friday night other than the presentation of a picture whose release date is the same as that of the opening, July 22. The picture, a Twentieth Century-Fox production, is "I'll Give A Million," with Warner Baxter, Marjorie Weaver, and Jean Hershow in the leading roles.

Prices at the new Palace will continue to be the same as they have been in the past—thirty cents and ten cents—except on bargain nights and special nights, McClain says.

Decorators, painters, carpenters, and clean-up men have been working in double shifts at the theater building this week in order to have it completely in shape for the opening date. A modernistic theme is being used throughout the building, both outside and inside. Indirect lighting has been installed, new carpets laid, new drapes hung. There is a new downstairs ladies' restroom. The foyer has been enlarged and entirely re-done.

The white, tile-decorated front of the building is to be adorned with a new tube lighting system that will make it one of the most modern theater marquees in West Texas.

O'DANIEL LEADS BY WIDE MARGIN AS STRAW VOTE IS TAKEN HERE

Holding true to the percentage he seems to have established in straw votes taken elsewhere over the state, W. Lee O'Daniel led the field by a wide margin when a straw vote was taken on the governor's race this week among 259 Colorado employers and employees, all qualified voters.

O'Daniel received 122 votes, nearly half of the total. Nearest to him was Thompson with 79 votes. McCraw was third with 35 votes. Hunter fourth with 20 votes. Crowley received two votes. Renfro one.

The votes were collected by Dick Hickman, chief of police.

'MISS COLORADO' IS SECOND IN GODDESS REVUE HELD FRIDAY

DECISION BETWEEN HER AND FIRST-PLACE WINNER IS CALLED 'DIFFICULT'

The stream-lined beauty of Colorado's Harriet Ann Pritchett won second place in the Goddess of West Texas beauty revue at Sweetwater last Friday night.

She was seriously considered for the goddess title, judges revealed after the revue. Wynona Keller, 17-year-old Snyder girl, won first place and was crowned by George O'Brien, western movie star. Judges were quoted as having said that they had a "difficult" time making their choices: Third place went to Billie Natt Pittard of Anson.

Around 7,000 people jammed Newman field for the revue. Among them were hundreds of Coloradans. Twenty-seven girls, representing as many West Texas towns, appeared in the revue.

Miss Pritchett, who was 15 last Christmas day, was given a cash award of $15 for second place. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Pritchett of Colorado, and will be a junior in Colorado High school this coming year. After being chosen as Miss Colorado she won first place in a revue held at Big Spring on July 4.

The sisters, Sid and Jane, daughters of R. E. Gracey, established hardware and implement dealer of Roscoe, are to have the agency for John Deere implements in this area. They are to live in an apartment upstairs at the implement building.

TWO FROM HERE TO FIREMEN'S SCHOOL

Two members of the Colorado Fire department, Mark Bynum and H. F. McCordle, are in College Station this week attending the annual firemen's training school at Texas A. & M. college. They left Saturday, and are due to return this Saturday.

The inducement of a probable reduction in their key fire insurance rate was held out to cities and towns sending city officials to the school.

Marvin Hall, State Fire Insurance Commissioner, states that more than 150 cities and towns are receiving both the rating advantage and the benefits from modern fire-fighting methods which are taught at the school.

"Fire insurance rates," Hall explained, "may be lowered in the towns not now receiving credit for attendance to the school, as there is a 3 per cent key rate credit provided for the successful completion of the courses where other schedule requirements have been met."

JUST LIKE VENICE AROUND THE CITY HALL DURING RAIN

It was just like Venice up around the city hall corner during Wednesday afternoon's rain. There was even a boat.

Of course, the boat was a motor boat and not a gondola, and the "gondoliers," Porter Richardson and August Armstrong wore no sashes—or do gondoliers wear sashes? Maybe that's their trade.

Anyway, Richardson and Armstrong piloted a motorboat more than the distance of a full block around the city hall while the water there was at its highest. They started up near the courthouse, and the water was deep enough for their boat nearly to the postoffice.

Ten or twelve cars stalled at the corner during and immediately after the downpour. Mayor J. A. Sadler, Sanitarian W. R. Charters, and others were kept busy helping to get them out. Mayor Sadler maintains that the water was nearly waist deep in places.

THOMPSON ATTENDS TEXAS TECH BOARD MEET IN FT. WORTH

With C. C. Thompson of Colorado among those attending, members of the board of directors of Texas Technological college took up several matters of pressing importance to the college during a called session in Fort Worth Saturday.

One of the most important actions of the board was the appointment of Mrs. J. A. Haley of Midland as acting president of the college, succeeding the late President Bradford Knapp. The board, according to her this appointment "in honor of her long and distinguished service to the college," limited her duties to the executing of diplomas for the graduation class of the summer school. A three-member committee is now serving as actual president of the college, and, according to Clifford B. Jones of Spur, director chairman, will continue to do so until a president is chosen.

At the meeting the directors approved plans for a new dormitory to be constructed at the college, and also approved a PWA grant and loan for the new boys' dormitory, valued at $350,909.

CHURCH OF CHRIST REVIVAL GETS OFF TO A GOOD START

EVANGELIST COGDILL IS PREACHING TWO TIMES EACH DAY

Off to a good start in spite of the fact that Evangelist Roy Cogdill was an unavoidable day late in arriving from Dallas, the Church of Christ revival gives promise of meeting with gratifying success, according to church leaders.

The meeting opened Sunday with Woodie Holden, minister, preaching the two Sunday sermons. Mr. Holden also filled the pulpit Monday morning and evening and Tuesday morning, turning the revival over to Evangelist Cogdill Tuesday night.

Evangelist Cogdill was scheduled to be here in time for the Monday night service, but car trouble which developed unexpectedly prevented his arrival until Tuesday. This is the second meeting which he has held for the local church, the first one having been in the spring of 1937. Services are being held twice daily, at 10 a.m. and 8:15 p.m. The revival will continue through the Sunday night service.

A new Scurry county test was spudded this week on a block assembled a few months ago by R. H. (Jim) Cantrill of Colorado for Tom Largent of Merkel and H. Abramson of Dallas.

The test is located 1320 feet from the south line and 660 feet from the west line of section 14-25, H&TC. Drilling contract has been let to the S. B. Roberts company of Abilene, and the well will be called the S. B. Roberts No. 1 Wellborn. Land on which the test is being made belongs to C. M. Wellborn of Snyder. Local Magnolia officials will watch developments with considerable interest, since Magnolia holds leases near the test.

CAMPAGNS OF CANDIDATES CATAPULTED INTO FINAL LAP AT GATHERING

Catapulting Mitchell county's political campaigns into their final lap before the Saturday primary, the candidates rally held at Ruddleick park Friday night was attended by a throng that filled the park amphitheater almost to capacity.

After a short concert by the Colorado school band, the rally was turned over to Roy Davis Coles, chairman of speaking arrangements, who introduced Benton Templeton as master of ceremonies.

Eddie Pyland operated the gong, allowing state and district candidates a maximum of five minutes, county and precinct candidates a maximum of two minutes. Joe Jackson was in charge of the sound equipment.

The first speaker was Harry Ratliff for Ernest O. Thompson of Potter county, candidate for governor. Pat Neff, Jr., of Waco had been scheduled to speak in behalf of William McCraw, but it was announced that he would be unable to get here until Saturday night, when he spoke downtown.

In the lieutenant governor's division, C. C. Thompson spoke for G. H. Nelson of Lubbock county. No other state candidates were represented except in the state superintendent's race, where Pat Bullock of Lubbock, formerly of Snyder, spoke for S. R. LeMay of Henderson county, and J. V. Glover of Colorado spoke for Dr. L. A. Woods of Travis county, incumbent.

All the state representative candidates were present and spoke as follows: R. T. Dockrey of Mitchell county, C. A. The party will be held on Walnut street in front of The Record office. The publisher of The Record, your host for this occasion, respectfully requests that those attending the party refrain from entering The Record office itself, since those who crowd into the office only hinder the work of getting returns through accurately and quickly.

There will be an adequate force on hand to care for returns as they come to the office, according to The Record management. If outside help is needed, it will be requested.

RAIN TOTALS MORE THAN 2 INCHES IN LITTLE OVER HOUR

STREET GUTTERS OVERFLOW IN WEDNESDAY DELUGE; BUMPER FEED CROP SEEMS VIRTUALLY ASSURED

Visions of bumper feed crops and top-notch cotton yields danced through the head of many a Mitchell county farmer Wednesday night after Colorado and vicinity had received a rain that totaled 2.10 inches in little more than an hour Wednesday afternoon.

The down pour, one of the hardest rains received by Colorado in some time, began about 3 o'clock and lasted until past 4. Rain continued falling softly until past 6 o'clock, when skies began clearing.

During the hardest portion of the deluge downtown gutters overflowed and in many cases water ran through business houses. Around the city hall corner from near the postoffice to the courthouse, water stood so deep that a motorboat was driven through it for near a block. More than a dozen cars stalled there.

Against a sky which had been intermittently overcast all day, the thick gray raincloud approached from the south. So far as could be ascertained Thursday morning the fall was general over the county.

Fall Farmer, who has a farm southwest of Westbrook, said that the fall appeared to be solid from Colorado to the western edge of the county, and even to Big Spring. Some reports placed the rainfall at nearly five inches about mid-way between Colorado and Westbrook. Conway residents reported about one-half inch, but they had plenty of moisture from previous rains during the week.

Apparently the fall south of Colorado was about the same as in town. Bill Thompson reported about two

ETHEL ADRIAN WRITES ACCOUNT OF TRIP TO 4-H SHORT COURSE WITH TWO MITCHELL GIRLS

Returning recently after sponsoring two Mitchell county 4-H club girls, Dorene Adrian of Landers and Juanita Brown of Valley View, to the 4-H division of the A. & M. short course, Ethel Adrian of Landers wrote the following account of their trip:

"When the Chamber of Commerce was furnishing funds for a trip to be taken by winning 4-H club girls of the county, it probably had not the slightest idea of how much pleasure, to say nothing of benefit, it was providing. We went on a bus with twenty-three other girls, boys, and sponsors, besides the driver. When we started, no one knew anyone else, but as hours increased, our acquaintance progressed. And by the time our ten-hour drive was up, we felt as if we were all from Central West Texas, visiting in southeast Texas.

"The first thing of intense interest to us occurred the next morning when the serving of breakfast was at hand. Upon our arrival at College Station our girls had been ushered to their respective rooms which were overseen by special chaperons, and then divided into groups. So this first morning, as well as the other eight meals taken while there, what were we to see but girls, led by Official Group Leaders, marching two abreast from several blocks away, up the walks to the mess hall for breakfast. They marched and kept marching up until it looked like there were enough to conquer a nation. Girls, girls, and more girls! How beautiful they looked, wearing all the bright colors and delicate shades that Heaven could surely provide. The glamor was intensified by the pretty flowered parasols. There were a few boys but they looked almost as scarce in that crowd as teeth do in the mouth of a hen. They served us delicious food in dining rooms as cool as electric fans could make them.

"We attended recreational meetings, lectures, sing-song meetings, clothing demonstrations, group gatherings, and all kinds of 4-H club programs. We met and heard speak Cletis Clinton, a girl who won a state scholarship for being champion speaker on 'How 4-H Club Work Has Helped Me.' Oh, yes, we heard Con. Tom Connally contrast the 4-H club boy of today and that of ten years ago.

"Yes, we saw Jane Alden, stylist, Chicago Mail Order Co., of Chicago, Illinois. She said women's styles were made by men, and that men were as interested in fashions, or even more so, than women. She had characters to promenade illustrating the Cavalier, the French Court Dandy, Beau Brummel, the 1800 Napoleonic lady, the lady wearing crinoline petticoats, one wearing hoops, one wearing bustles and ruffles. The ugliest style was that following the world war, the long, long waist with the very short skirt. These were contrasted with the adoptable style of the modern man and woman of today. Jane Alden's father and mother farm in Iowa. Jane is a beautiful blonde.

"It was something to hear Walter Jenkins, song leader, Rotary International, of Houston, sing. Nobody had a book, neither did he, but when he said 'sing' the whole house sang. A song which he sang as a special and which was very impressive, was 'I Love Life.'

"Mrs. Dora R. Barnes, extension specialist in clothing, sponsored a style review of the 4-H club clothing demonstrators and stated that out of the ninety-eight counties registered in 4-H club work, eighty-nine of them were represented by a clothes demonstrator. As the demonstrators

SALT IN WATER IS URGED BY PHYSICIAN

AUSTIN—If your work is such that it causes excessive perspiration, add a pinch of ordinary table salt to each drink of water you take to help prevent heat cramps. This is advised by Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, to prevent a possible increase in the number of heat victims as the Texas thermometer hits 95 degrees and above.

Laborers, mechanics, farmers and white collar workers whose work causes them to sweat profusely, are in danger of having their body salt content become deficient with resulting heat cramps or heat fag. Salt is a prominent constituent of sweat; the body may lose as high as 40 to 50 grams of salt during hot days.

In industry, a method of preventing heat cramps is to take a tablet of pure salt or a mixture of salt and dextrose with each drink of water. Workmen whose duties require muscular exertion should be especially careful to add more than the usual amount of salt to what they eat and drink.

Salt deficiency may be prevented by taking salt in various ways. Where prepared tablets are not available, table salt may be added to each drink of water. Milk is a source of salt and will help to make up for the deficiency caused by sweating. Alcoholic drinks should be avoided.

Heat cramps is characterized by pains (cramps) in the abdominal region, headache, and in severe cases, by nausea and vomiting. The body temperature remains about normal, likewise the pulse rate. Body salt losses occur without the knowledge of the individual until there is a deficiency; then the abdominal muscles begin to cramp.

Colored motion pictures depicting the scientific growing and development of orchids will be presented at the 1939 Golden Gate International Exposition on Treasure Island in San Francisco Bay.

F.D.R. IN CALIFORNIA—Outstanding pat on the back was given Senator William Gibbs McAdoo by President Roosevelt, when the President arrived in San Francisco to board a cruiser for his Pacific fishing trip. Here is the President, left, as he drove through San Francisco with Governor Frank P. Merriam, center, and Senator McAdoo whom he desires re-elected.

IT'S REALLY THE HUMIDITY—Gracious, but it was a hot day at the Philadelphia Zoo—not so much the high temperature as the humidity. So Cinderella, 3-year-old chimpanzee, wrapped a cold towel around her head, got out the electric fan and fanned herself at the beach by putting a basin in the foreground. That helped somewhat, but you know how it is with the humidity.

HORSES HAVE PLAYED GREAT PART IN THE LIFE OF MRS. C. P. CONAWAY, PIONEER RANCHWOMAN WHO IS STILL BOSS OF LAZY K

There's a picture on the wall of Mrs. C. P. Conaway's bedroom in Colorado that might be said to be the essence of the memories of this pioneer woman who, at 77, is still "boss" of the Lazy K ranch interests in southwestern Mitchell county.

The picture, enlarged and tinted in life-like colors, shows Mrs. Conaway's late husband with his last great stallion, Neptune. Neptune sired many a horse that was sold off the Conaways' ten-section ranch in the years when horses were in demand. All bore on their jaws the Lazy K brand, which came to be known among horse dealers everywhere in Texas and even as far away as Louisiana through nearly three decades.

Horses have played a great part in the life of Mrs. Conaway. As a girl back in Hill county—she was born Mattie Killough near what is now Hubbard on April 6, 1861—she rode horseback all the time, along with all her friends. Her father, W. H. Killough, raised horses and cattle for a living. She recalls, even today, how much pride she and her girl friends took in their riding skirts, voluminous affairs which they donned over their "dress-up" clothes when going to church or a party. They were so long and full that the girls' feet were entirely covered as they rode along on their side-saddles—the only way a "decent" girl would ride.

A horse even had much to do with her first day at school—the first day she was to have spent at school, rather. She was riding to the little schoolhouse behind her sister on that first morning. They crossed a steep-banked creek and met a man driving a yoke of oxen. The horse shied, and little Mattie Killough fell off. She was unconscious all day at the home of a neighbor, where her sister took her.

That first school was a one-room log affair with a huge fireplace at one end. Split logs were benches, and they had no backs. The plank "windows" were let down to form desks. In later years this was replaced with a nicer, larger building which housed 150 pupils taught by two teachers, Mattie Killough and her friends named it "Cloverdale Academy."

Traveling horseback from three to five miles for church twice on Sundays and equally that far for a week-day dance was "lots of fun," Mrs. Conaway declares. The parents and younger children usually went in wagons, but the young people preferred riding horseback along the winding roads.

It was on horseback that Mattie Killough's courtship took place. At eighteen she met C. P. Conaway, an orphan boy who had moved to Hill county from Freestone county with his uncle, Sam Dellis. They were married on Jan. 27, 1881, at her home, and they lived in Hill county for five years afterward, moving to Comanche county at the end of that time. The drouth of 1886 caught them there, and in two years they raised but one bale of cotton.

In the fall of 1890 Mr. Conaway came to Mitchell county on a prospecting trip, and he took up a section of land which had been overlooked in the Renderbrook ranch leases. He built a shack there for himself, and moved Mrs. Conaway and the five children they had at that time to Colorado in January, 1891. After one winter he sold out to the Renderbrook, however.

On selling this section, Mr. Conaway bought a section of school land in southwestern Mitchell county in what is now known as the Conaway community. That was the nucleus of the Lazy K ranch. He built a 14-foot room over a spacious dugout, and that was the first ranch home of the Conaways. They moved there in March, 1891. The next year they added a shed room, and several years later the house was moved off the cellar to a hill 300 yards to the west. It still stands there today, and it is still ranch headquarters, being the home at present of Sam Bullock, ranch manager.

As the years passed more children came until ten were born in all. Mr. and Mrs. Conaway worked hard, she with her cattle and beloved horses, she with her home and children. Mr. Conaway came to be known everywhere as "Uncle P.," and Mrs. Conaway was known for her housekeeping and cooking ability. They bought their land a section at a time until in 1915 they had ten sections, all clear of debt.

The horses which Mr. Conaway raised were for both draft and saddle purposes. Buyers came from as far away as Louisiana, and horses brought more money to the Conaway coffers than did cattle. In the bumper year of 1915 Mr. Conaway built a horse pen in Colorado to facilitate selling his stock. He sold $10,000 worth of horses that fall. That same year he moved his family to town to send the children to school.

Then came the drouth of 1916-1918, and with it the World War.

Old-time ranchmen of Sterling and Mitchell counties were prominent among the scores who braved a downpour of rain Wednesday afternoon to pay final tribute to Tom G. Brennand, 71, well-known Sterling City ranchman who died unexpectedly in Root hospital Tuesday morning about 8 o'clock.

Mr. Brennand, who had been ill two weeks of a heart ailment, was brought to the hospital here by his brother, R. S. Brennand, on Monday morning and put to bed "for a rest."

Born in Arlington, Wisconsin, on Nov. 29, 1866, Mr. Brennand came to Texas with his family when only a small boy. His father, who was also Tom Brennand, lived in San Antonio and San Angelo for a time before moving to Sterling 56 years ago.

He was assisted by the Rev. Mr. Hester from San Angelo and the Rev. Mr. Black from Sterling City. The Rev. Mr. Black conducted the funeral for Mr. Brennand's father 22 years ago.

Pallbearers were Frank Smith and Ed Majors of Colorado with the following from Sterling City: John Lane, J. T. Davis, J. S. Cole, H. W. Hart, Sam Mahaffey, and John Phillips.

Burial was in the Colorado cemetery. Kiker & Son directed arrangements.

THIS LONE STAR STATE By W. T. Carley TYLER—THE ROSE GARDEN OF TEXAS

As far back into the eternal past as the ken of man has been able to penetrate, to the very Gardens of Babylon, some thirty centuries ago, roses have been famous in song, story, religion and philosophy by all the people of this finite realm.

Tyler, the former "Athens of Texas," that in days gone by was famous for its Horace Chilton, Cone Johnson, John M. Duncan and lesser political lights that flashed like a meteor over the political skies, and left enduring footprints upon the shifting sands of Texas politics, now markets annually one-third of the world's roses.

Within a sixteen-mile radius of Tyler we may now find some 150 nurseries cultivating some 1500 acres teeming with seven million roses bushes that produce 150,000,000 roses per year. It is claimed that specimens of practically all the 16,000 known varieties of roses may be found in this flower lover's paradise—this rose garden of the Lone Star State!

PLAY BY PLAY

By Allen Saunders

This doll caught my eye the minute she walked down the aisle of the bus, and I'm not a guy that can be wooed away from his lip-sheet by just any femme. So when she started struggling with her little overnight bag, trying to cram it into the rack over the seats, my old Sir Galahad forefathers whispered counsel in my battered ears and, first thing I knew, I was up on my feet, pinching my hat brim and offering succor.

"Never mind, I don't need any help."

Being a fellow that can take a hint without having it spelled out for him, I murmured a formal "Okay," and sat down. She took the seat right ahead of me and, while I was sitting there admiring the way her silky blond hair curled up around her hat brim in the back, a tall, worried-looking punk stumbled down the aisle and stopped beside her. The bus gave a short and started moving—which he grabbed for an alibi and flopped into the seat.

I said to myself that we'd soon see a crestfallen mug with his ears frost-bit and, sure enough, before we'd got out of the downtown section, I heard him say, "Going far?"

And she was so silent you could hear his chest fall.

"I all but missed it," he said. "I could've stood it if you had," she said, without turning her face from the window.

"Lucky I happened to find this seat empty," he said.

She muttered something that sounded like, "oor you."

We hit a stretch of rough street then and, in trying to keep from landing in the lap of a grumpy old sister across the aisle, I didn't catch what they were saying for a while. But the driver managed to happen onto smooth pavement out near the city limits, and I heard the Romeo still trying to sell himself.

"So you're going to Peoria?" he was saying. "I saw your ticket, you know."

She didn't let on she heard him and he ploved ahead.

"Who do you know in Peoria? I mean, where do you expect to stay there?"

"You'd like to know, wouldn't you?" she snapped back at him.

"Oh, not especially," he bluffed, and slid down on his spine with his arms folded and his hat over his eyes.

They rode along like that for about an hour. I saw her look at him out of the corner of her eye once or twice. Her expression was about like she'd have used on a garbage man at a tea-table. I hadn't given up hope of doing a boy-scout act, so I leaped over and whispered across the back of the seat:

"If that lunch-counter cowboy is getting into your permanent, all you got to do is cheap and I'll . . ."

"You'll keep your face back where it belongs, or I'll have it pushed there," she replied with hauteur.

"The boy was pretty upset, though. He gave me a look that would fry an egg and growled at her:

"Is that clown a friend of yours?"

The next thing, his arm was crawling around the seat back. The girl didn't notice it at first.

"He might be," she admitted. "There are some very gallant gentlemen traveling by bus these days—gentlemen that don't force themselves upon unaccompanied ladies."

We jounced along about twenty more miles and it was beginning to get dark. The driver was a stockholder in the company, I guess, as he only turned the lights on when we were going through towns and didn't need them.

Well, the next thing I noticed about the little play-by-play campaign of the lad up ahead of me was his arm crawling around the seat back. The girl didn't notice it at first. When she did, she gave a twist all at once and moved over.

"Don't be like that—please," he said, with a choke in his voice which I thought very artistic. "Can't we sit here and talk like grown-up human beings?"

"You're not acting like one," she said.

"I've said I'm sorry," he murmured to her. "If I've behaved stupidly, I've had my punishment . . ."

Old boy, I mused to myself, leaning over so as not to miss any of it, you can learn something here! You are listening to a master in the art of spreading the fudge.

But I was too hasty with the bouquet. The girl hopped to her feet right then and threw her words in his face like so much acid.

"Either you don't speak to me again or I'll call the driver and complain that you're annoying me."

"Now look here—" he started to reply. But just then, the passengers up front let go some callopie screams, the driver swore, and the bus did a pivot on the roadbed. The back end crashed into something harder than it was, and, a minute later, I found my head on the roof and my feet in the air.

It was like a can of fishing worms in that bus for a minute—everybody wriggling around hooting a way out. I managed to creep to the emergency door and push it open. I started helping passengers out and the third arm I got a hold of was the girls.

The driver, at the other end of the bus, was dragging the remaining passengers out, and it was a good thing. Just after he'd counted heads and yelled that everybody was safe, something went "Pouf!" in the bus, and pretty soon it was blazing merrily.

About five seconds later, I heard a yell behind me and turned around to see the girl fighting with two men. She was trying to get back into the impromptu furnace.

"He's still in there!" she was screaming. "Let me go to him! Let me go!"

And, believe it or call me a liar, she yanked herself loose and dived for the door. But she never got there. Around the corner of the burning bus came the boy, just in time to grab her in his arms. And what they said to each other pretty near stunned me.

"Charley!" she said. "I was afraid you . . ."

"There, there, Alice," he soothed her. "I was only around the other side trying to fish out your suitcase."

"That's all right," she whimpered. "There wasn't much in it. I really didn't mean to stay away very long. Everything's all right now, sweetheart." Then she held him off and grinned at him. "But I still say no husband has a right to call his wife's pudding sauce 'sweetened water!'"

COLORADO NOT MENTIONED IN LIST OF TOWNS BEING CONSIDERED FOR HOSPITAL

The name of Colorado was noticeably missing from a list of towns to be considered for the location of the new West Texas hospital for war veterans as the list appeared in state newspapers this week.

The same held true for Midland, Big Spring, Odessa, and several other West Texas towns which have been making efforts to secure designation for the hospital.

Seven possible sites are said to be under consideration for the hospital: Abilene, Houston and vicinity, Sweetwater, San Angelo, Amarillo, Fort Worth and immediate area, Dallas and immediate area.

These places were included in the announced itinerary of C. H. Stratton, engineer of the veterans' administration, who is to make preliminary surveys of the possible sites between July 22 and August 1.

The new hospital is to cost $1,435,000, and a maximum of $60,000 is to be spent for the site.

GROWING FUTURE SEEN FOR AUTOMOBILE SALES

DETROIT—A reiterated faith in the long-pull future of the automobile business and of the country was voiced by A. P. Sloan, Jr., chairman of the board, General Motors Corporation, recently in Detroit to the graduating members of the School of Modern Merchandising and Management founded by W. E. Holler, general sales manager of the Chevrolet Motor Division, and conducted for the sons of Chevrolet dealers. Mr. Sloan stressed the importance of relationships in industry and in communities and told how a better understanding of problems is achieved by applying a few simple truths in their solution.

"I think the automobile business will continue to be a wonderful business," said Mr. Sloan, "and you can't learn too much about its intricacies. I can't conceive of anything that will diminish the desire of the public for motor cars. In the evolution of industry and the nation there will be a growing demand for automotive transportation."

"I can't see why the future in retail merchandising of automobiles should not be better than in the past. Automobile retailing requires a high grade of intelligence, a broad understanding of organization, finance and related problems that involve relationships with many enterprises and many people in all communities."

"It takes what Mr. Holler speaks of as the scientific approach. The successful operator must know how one thing fits into another and into the picture as a whole. An opportunity to get an overall view of the background of retail selling has been yours in the school for sons of dealers."

"We look on dealers as partners in our business and honestly strive to promote better relations with them through such agencies as the dealer's council and the dealer's board. As business partners, we know that the consumer has a lot to say about what we do in the automobile business."

"You'll never go wrong in learning intimately the details of the problems that confront you and getting a better understanding of the relationships of those problems that involve your well being and the well being of all."

Twenty-seven students from all parts of the country attended the seven-weeks course that finished recently. All sons of operating Chevrolet dealers, they will enter or continue in their fathers' dealerships and eventually become dealers themselves.

MITCHELL COUNTY FARMERS TO RECEIVE OVER HALF A MILLION DOLLARS FOR THEIR PARTICIPATION IN LAST YEAR'S PROGRAM

For their participation in the 1937 government farm program, farmers of Mitchell county are to receive over one half million dollars in benefits and payments, according to John Mogford, assistant in agricultural adjustment in the office of B. J. Baskin, county agent.

SLAM IT!

One of the best badminton players in Hollywood is Franchot Tone, who terms it his favorite sport. The court seen here is in the backyard of the famous Brentwood Heights home where he lives with his famous wife, Joan Crawford. (Incidentally, Joan is on the other side of the court.)

Mogford issued the following statement this week:

"Mitchell county farmers have their eyes open and all realize what the government program is doing for them and believe it is good business to stay in line with a farm program that will pay them for reducing cotton and at the same time increasing the price of cotton.

"They will receive $165,000 soil conservation checks, $292,500 subsidy payment and $130,000 in 1c per pound loan benefit—that is one cent above what they could get on the street because of the government loan on cotton. Total benefits in 1937 to the Mitchell county cotton farmers is $587,500. That means an average of $478.42 for each farm in the county or $3.30 per acre of farm land in the county.

"More taxes have been paid, more debts met from the benefits that have been derived from the Government farm program than any one thing in Mitchell county.

"The county agent of 10 years ago who culled your chickens and ran your terrace lines and could stop and take dinner with you and thrash out your personal problems, is today over an adding machine and calculator with a bunch of figures staring him in the face, trying to get them to check, and handling the personnel of his office."

SCHOOLS DECLARED TO NEED $24 PER CAPITA

AUSTIN.—Financial needs of the public schools for 1938-39, requiring an estimated $24 per capita apportionment supported by an approximate 25-cent ad valorem tax rate for school purposes, have been reported to the Automatic Tax Board by the State Board of Education.

The increased rate and apportionment were an average of unofficial estimates by several Education Board members.

The current apportionment of $22 was increased $3 last year by the education group prior to the tax board action, which set the rate at 7 cents. Several lawsuits followed, the apportionment was rescinded, but finally was retained.

The figure $37,839,161 was decided upon by the Education Board members as the amount required to operate the schools the coming term for a period of six months, exclusive of the cost of free textbooks. The amount figures $56,743,742 on a nine-month basis as compared to a total cost of $63,950,296 in 1936-37.

In suggesting to the tax board it take that figure, which was a five-year average concluding with 1935-36, the education group adopted the plan of President R. S. Bowers who urged the Tax Board, consisting of the Governor, Comptroller and Treasurer, be furnished with costs of operation as a basis to determine a tax rate.

The Tax Board will meet July 20 or thereafter and the Education Board Aug. 1, at which time it will set the apportionment.

OPERATION OF NYA TO CONTINUE SAME

AUSTIN—An announcement which indicates that the National Youth Administration Student Aid program for the 1938-39 school year will be operated in much the same manner as last year has been received by J. C. Kellam, State Youth Director. Officials of the 2,092 secondary schools and 85 colleges and universities in Texas participating in the program during the past academic year and all county superintendents have been advised concerning these regulations, he said.

The NYA Student Aid program, under which more than 16,000 Texas boys and girls in high school and college were enabled last year to earn a part of their expenses while in school, will provide part-time employment for needy students who cannot otherwise attend school. High school students may earn as much as $6 a month, while college students may earn an average wage not to exceed $15 a month.

Mr. Kellam said that students who wish to apply for NYA Student Aid jobs should communicate with the principal or superintendent of the school or the president of the college they wish to attend, since these officials select the students for NYA jobs at the institutions over which they have supervision.

To be eligible for employment under the NYA Student Aid program, a student must be 16 but not yet 25 years old and must furnish evidence to the satisfaction of officials of the institution that he is in need of such assistance in order to enter and/or remain in school. Participation in the Student Aid program is limited.

NOTICE TO THE QUALIFIED VOTERS OF THE CITY OF COLORADO

There has been called an election on July 29, for the purpose of letting the qualified voters of the City of Colorado pass on whether or not the City Council shall be authorized to issue bonds on the City of Colorado in the principal sum of $60,000 for the purpose of repairing, extending and enlarging the present water works and sewer systems. Said bonds to bear interest at not to exceed 4% and to mature in 20 years.

The United States of America proposes to aid in the form of a grant through its Federal Emergency Administration of Public Works up to 45% of the costs of the project.

To pay the principal and interest on these bonds will take approximately $5,400 the first year, $5,280 the second year, $5,160 the third year, etc., which will add 20c per $100 valuation to your tax rate.

This is not written to try to influence you to vote either way, but to simply set out the facts in the case. If authorized the money will be used to put the sewer disposal plant in first class condition as recommended by the department of health at Austin. To make additions to the sewer distribution system in order to serve East Colorado and that portion of North Colorado, East of Austin street. To lay additional water mains and to replace some 2 inch mains with larger pipe. To tie in all dead end water mains in order that the water distribution system might be a circulating system. To drill and equip two or more additional water wells on land owned by the City at the North water works and to build additional storage for 500,000 gallons of water.

At the present time there is no shortage of water in Colorado, the drilling of additional wells is a form of insurance that there will be no shortage. There is a need at present for additional storage facilities.

LIBERALIZED FHA SET-UP EXPLAINED AT MEETING HERE THURSDAY EVENING

Details concerning the new FHA Better Housing Program to be launched immediately in Colorado were discussed Thursday night at a meeting of lumber dealers, architects, contractors, realtors and representatives of financial institutions, newspapers and utilities, with representatives of the Federal Housing Administration in the Colorado Hotel banquet room.

The meeting was attended by Mr. Lavell, Chief Valuator of F. I. Worth office and R. E. Sikes, Mortgage Conference representative of the Dallas office.

They outlined plans on how local activities can be tied in with the nation and state-wide movement to stimulate building new homes and the repairing and remodeling of existing real estate property, under the new amendments to the National Housing Act recently passed by Congress.

The Better Housing Committee of Colorado, with R. F. Fee as chairman, was set up for the purpose of carrying on local activities. Plans to be put into effect involve indirect public contact through lumber dealers, financial institutions and others directly interested in the program.

Lumber dealers and financial institutions have been furnished with information concerning the new program and are now in a position to develop applications for loans for those desiring to repair, remodel or otherwise modernize their existing property, as well as those interested in building new homes.

Attending the local conference in addition to the FHA officials were the following: Albert Hiser, Ben S. Monroe of Sweetwater, L. B. Elliott, O. V. King, M. E. Simpson, Earl Burgoon, A. J. ## FORSAN'S CONTINENTAL TEAM WINS THE DISTRICT SEMI-PRO BASEBALL TOURNAMENT AT HARVEY MUNS' PARK

Defeating Snyder 9-2 in the final game Tuesday afternoon, Forsan's Continental team won the West Texas semi-pro baseball tournament which had been in progress at Harvey Muns' baseball park in East Colorado since July 7.

In winning the tournament Forsan fulfilled the promise it gave early in the schedule. The Continentals did not suffer a defeat throughout the tournament. Their defeat of Snyder Tuesday afternoon was but a repetition of Sunday's game, when they gave Snyder's team its first defeat, 9-1.

Muleshoe's team was undefeated, along with Snyder and Forsan, until Friday afternoon, when it bowed for the first time to Forsan's strong nine, 6-2. Muleshoe's elimination was completed when it defaulted to Big Spring T. & P. Sunday afternoon.

The Muleshoe-Forsan game of Friday was one of the best of the tournament, according to ball fans. It was featured by the left-handed pitching of Lefty Beard of Forsan, who had a tryout with the Kansas City Blues this year. He fanned twelve. McWilliams, also a left-hander, pitched for Muleshoe. Moore, 17-year-old nephew of Willey Moore, old New York Yankee star, caught for Muleshoe. Fowler caught for Forsan.

Colorado's team was defeated by Forsan on the first Monday of the tournament, and completed its elimination by defaulting the following Monday. The Big Spring T. & P. team, to which a number of teams in the tournament defaulted, was eliminated by Snyder Monday, 6-4. Colorado gave the Big Spring T. & P. team its first defeat on the opening day of the tournament.

Winning the tournament here makes Forsan eligible to play in the state semi-pro tournament which opened in Waco Wednesday.

inches. Farther to the south the fall lightened, only one-half inch being reported at Randerbrook ranch headquarters at past 5 o'clock. Rain was still falling at that time, however.

Reports from the northern part of the county indicated a spotted fall in that area. The Jim Bodine home at Buford received a "fine rain," but Jack Smith said only a shower fell at his farm on the river.

Skies were still threatening rain in Colorado and vicinity Thursday morning, just as they had been doing all week. Good rains had fallen in freakishly spotted fashion over the county before Wednesday afternoon. On Monday a good rain was reported southwest of Westbrook and at Conway and other points. A one-inch rain was reported at the cemetery early Tuesday, and an even heavier rain farther southeast, around the old salt works. In Colorado, however, only 28 inches were recorded for the week until Wednesday afternoon. Total rainfall Wednesday was 2.18, bringing the week's total to nearly 2.50 inches.

MAYOR SADLER SPEAKS ON CIVIC MATTERS AT LIONS PROGRAM FRIDAY

Matters of civic interest, including proposed WPA paving for residential streets and voting on bonds for water and sewer extensions, were discussed by Mayor J. A. Sadler at the Lions club luncheon Friday.

The mayor explained the $60,000 bond issue to be voted on July 29, quoting figures to show its effect on city taxes if voted. He also discussed further moves necessary to secure additional work on Highway 101 south to Robert Lee.

Jack Richardson, president of the club, appointed John E. Watson as chairman of a Lions road committee to confer with the county commissioners' court on this matter.

A past president's button was presented to Jack Helton, retiring president of the club, by Walter Whipkey. Guests introduced were Truett Barber, Lloyd Croslin, Harold Bennett, and Mayor Sadler.

Fred Cravy was voted a new member of the club.

Several other teams in the tournament still have matches to play because of postponements during the season.

FRANK RAMSDELLS ARE HOME FROM CONVENTION

After having attended the convention of Texas Florists in Waco last week, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Ramsdell of the Colorado Floral shop returned home late Monday, accompanied by their daughter, Elsie Ann Ramsdell.

At the convention, which is the largest in the nation, the Ramsdells mingled with florists from 20 different states. They heard lectures and saw demonstrations by such floral experts as Joseph S. Merritt of Dundalk, Md., largest hydrangea grower in the world, and others, including experts from A. & M. college.

Mrs. Ace McShan had charge of the Colorado Floral shop while the Ramsdells were gone. They visited in Austin and San Antonio while away.

IT REALLY IS A PARTY!

Being the true confession of a more-than-somewhat embarrassed 'editor'

Discovered: That when The Record—or any other paper, for that matter—has an "election party," it really is a party!

Judged on its cost and trouble alone, such a "party" would top the highlight affair of any of Colorado's social seasons—that is, if it came under the head of "society."

And there in that "if" phrase lies this very hatched "editor's" only excuse for not having known about "election parties" before. Up until this year, when she's pinch-hitting at the editor's desk, this writer has been just "society editor." How would a society editor know about election parties? Besides, I've just been around here 10 years, off and on—give me time.

Until this week when the office began to stir about in preparation for Saturday night's "party," I didn't know that the last election party cost The Record nearly $100. And that's some party in anybody's average town—now isn't it? And, remember, there are no "paying guests."

Just from being around, I knew something of the preparations which must be made for "election night."

To begin with, the three big blackboards on which the election returns are posted have to be dragged down from their high perches about a week before the big night. It takes that long to free them of two-years' accumulated dust, erase the figures of the last election, apply fresh paint, mark off the new names and columns.

Then the boards have to be put on a scaffold in front of The Record office—a scaffold strong enough to hold the boards erect and support a man to write on them. Special lights have to be arranged. Loud-speaking equipment has to be installed. Election judges have to be reminded to get their reports in. Arrangements have to be made for special out-of-town reports.

All this before the "party," mind you. As I said before, I knew something of all this, just from using my eyes. I also knew something of the real work that comes on the night of the party. Phones ringing, telegrams pouring in, loud speakers going, adding machines clicking, far into the night.

Not being too dumb (or maybe I am but this paragraph has to get started somehow), I had an idea that The Record's telephone and telegraph bills were probably upped a little by election month. And I had more than an idea of the work and preparation and rushing occasioned by the party.

But, so help me, I thought that pretty well told the tale. I didn't know about the $50 or so that is paid for service on state-wide election results. I had no idea that the phone bill and other expenses would soar to make the total near $100. I'll bet you didn't either. That's why I wrote this story.

HOG BREEDERS OF COUNTY, NOW IN PROCESS OF ORGANIZATION, GIVE OUT PUBLICITY ON 'MORE AND BETTER' HOGS FOR THE COUNTY

In line with their purpose to increase the number and quality of and the price commanded by good hogs in Mitchell county, members of the Mitchell County Hog Breeders' association, now in process of organization, have begun the distribution of publicity dealing with "more and better" hogs.

G. B. Slaton, acting secretary of the organization has submitted the following news item of interest to hog breeders:

"Two tons of pork per sow per year! Here is a goal that every practical-minded 1938 pork producer might well shoot at. That this goal is within reach of every up-and-coming hog raiser, is shown by the 1937 production record of John F. Allan of Sullivan county, Ind., in his strictly pork-producing herd. Mr. Allan raised 102 pigs from 12 sows, and in 180 days they averaged 240 lbs.—a total weight of 24,480 lbs., or 12 tons, 480 lbs. "This remarkable record was not an unusual one for Mr. Allan because

SPEED AND EFFICIENCY OF TEXAS ELECTION BUREAU, WHICH SERVES THE RECORD, TO GET STIFF TEST

Speed and efficiency of the Texas Election Bureau, which serves The Record with state-wide election returns each year, will be tested once again in the Democratic primaries of Saturday.

The bureau is known as one of the most efficient gatherers of election returns in the country. Its returns are, of course, unofficial, but they have established a record of accuracy and reliability.

R. L. Johnson, new bureau manager, expects more than 1,000,000 votes to be cast in the first primary. Complicating the collection of returns will be the heavy list of entries in state races, including a record field of 13 seeking the governorship.

"To get in the vote on election night, when it's news, will be the bureau's aim," said Mr. Johnson. "Returns must come in quicker than in 1936 in order to maintain the speed set in that election. This will be because of the longer ballot."

The 1938 ballot in the July primary carries 62 state candidates with contests. In only one office—that of P. L. Hawkins, judge of the Court of Criminal Appeals—is the incumbent unopposed. Two years ago there were only 30 state candidates with contests in the first primary. The Election Bureau also will gather returns on contests for Congress and the appellate courts, as in past years. Results in legislative races will be gathered by mail.

In the 1936 July primary, 53 per cent of the vote was accounted for by the bureau on election night. These returns, totaling 560,957 votes, were from 213 counties, or 85 per cent of the 254 counties in Texas, and 39 counties, or 15 per cent, were complete. By Tuesday every county had been heard from, 215 complete, and 1,019,518 votes accounted for. The official total in that election was 1,053,117.

"The Election Bureau's first purpose is to gather enough returns, from widely separated parts of Texas, to indicate the outcome of the elec-

LIFE-SAVING CLASSES TO BE CONDUCTED AT PARK SWIMMING POOL

Having passed the test as Red Cross life-saving examiner in Abilene last week, J. W. Dunlap, lifeguard at the municipal swimming pool in Ruddick park, announces that he will hold a series of Red Cross life-saving classes next week, beginning Monday morning at 10 o'clock.

There will be classes for juniors, ages 12 to 17, and classes for seniors, 17 and above, both boys and girls. No charges will be made. Regular classes will be held at 10 o'clock each morning, but Dunlap says that he will try to accommodate those who cannot come at this hour.

Juniors will be required to have at least six hours work, seniors eight hours. Tests will be given Saturday morning, July 30, beginning at 10 o'clock. Red Cross life-saving certificates, badges, or pins will be awarded to those passing the tests.

FRONT OF BUILDING PRESENTS ORIENTAL DESIGN AND EFFECT

NEW FURNISHINGS WITH ALTERATIONS FEATURE REMODELING PROJECT

The modernized Palace Theatre, remodeled from the street to the seats, and redecorated throughout, will be formally opened Friday night, it is announced by A. E. McClain, manager.

In reality, the front of the theater, including foyer and other appurtenances, has been rebuilt. The front features modernistic, oriental architecture, with white stucco of oriental design and the inlaid tile featuring the same color motif.

Included in the front modernization scheme are new poster boards. The marquee is set off with phosphorescent green neon tubing which throws a glow seven times stronger than the ordinary red neon. It is stated, and this is the first installation of this nature in West Texas.

More New Features
A new ticket booth, equipped with an ultra-modern change machine, and a new tile floor have been installed at the entrance.

WARNER BAXTER HAS FINE BARITONE SONG SURPRISE FOR FANS

RUNS GAMUT FROM OPERA TO LULLABY IN NEW HIT FOR 20TH CENTURY-FOX

Warner Baxter fans who were given their first inkling that he had a fine baritone voice when he joined Freddie Bartholomew and Arleen Whelan in singing "Loch Lomond" for his romantic role in "Kidnapped," have a new treat in store in "I'll Give A Million."

In this current romance for 20th Century-Fox, Warner sings just once—but what a song!

It starts with grand opera, a difficult solo from "Pagliacci," continues in that grandiose vein with the famed "Toreador" song from "Carmen," and ends with Warner's own version of "Rock-a-bye Baby."

This startling serenade takes place in a menagerie tent, and its purpose is to lull a roaring lion into slumberland.

Warner accompanies himself on the guitar with screamingly funny effects upon the lion.

Baxter is starred in "I'll Give A Million" at the Palace theater Friday and Saturday with Marjorie Weaver, Peter Lorre, and Jean Hersholt heading the cast which includes John Carradine, J. Edward Bromberg, Lynn Bari and Fritz Feld.

Darryl F. Zanuck, in charge of production, selected Walter Lang to direct the film with Kenneth Macgowan as associate producer.

"RAWHIDE"

Ritz—Friday and Saturday July 22 and 23

A topnotch western which boosts Lesser, Productions, another step nearer the summit in the western field. It has plentiful exploitation possibilities in Lou Gehrig, the best of the recent athlete-to-actor converts, who should mean real money in the till when his name hits the sports page headlines this summer. Smith Ballew again delivers nicely, singing several catchy numbers and handling his romantic assignment opposite Evelyn Knapp in fine fashion. Gehrig buys a ranch in the town of Rawhide which is being run by a crooked cattlemen's association. He refuses to join them and, with Ballew, smashes the organization. He then leaves for spring training with Ballew in charge of the ranch and his sister, Miss Knapp. Ray Taylor directed.

Players are Smith Ballew, Lou Gehrig, Evelyn Knapp, Arthur Loft.

MANAGER McCLAIN HAS LONG CAREER IN SHOW BUSINESS

COLORADO AMUSEMENT COMPANY INCLUDES LARGE PERSONNEL

A considerable payroll is furnished through the management of the Colorado Amusement company with nine regular and three part-time employees.

A. E. McClain, manager, came to Colorado January 22 of this year, and with Mrs. McClain makes his permanent home here. He has been in the theatre business since boyhood, starting in as "general flunky" and coming up through the ranks. In his many years he has been advertising and publicity manager, stage manager, and operator among other positions, and before coming to Colorado was assistant manager of the Texas, Roseland and Midway theatres at Oak Cliff in Dallas for two years, working with Manager W. L. Pullen there.

Other employees include the personnel of the Ritz, since the Gem will be closed and the Palace and the Ritz will be operated. Johnny Prude is assistant to Manager McClain. Elliott Dixon is operator at the Palace and Clyde Gregory at the Ritz. At the former Mrs. R. L. Richardson is cashier and at the latter, Mrs. Gurley Cagle. Grover Buchanan is doorman at the Ritz, and Ray Busbee is in charge of posters and advertising. On occasions ushers at the Palace are Bill Sellers, Jake Garrett and Lee Witten. Miss Ruthel McKinney is relief cashier.

Houston Bossett, colored, is janitor and completes the personnel.

"SHOPWORN ANGEL" SHOWS CONEY ISLAND DUPLICATE BUILT ON FIVE-ACRE LOT

Six minutes away from the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio is Venice, the "Coney Island of the West," yet the studio built an entire amusement park on the lot for carnival sequences in "The Shopworn Angel," which opens a two-day showing at the Palace theater Saturday night preview and Sunday and Monday.

The first intention of the production department was to film the scenes at the beach, but further investigation proved it to be a worthless idea.

They found that everyone of the people used in the scenes would have to be paid, and on some days the playground draws more than 5,000 people. They would have to hire that many people to give the park the appearance of being filled. The sequence would require at least a week, with the result that $46,650.00 would have to be paid the extras for a single day's work.

To get the various effects such as close-ups, crews of workmen would have to dismantle the roller coasters, ferris wheels and slides. Thousands of feet of lumber would be necessary for the scaffolding to cover each building so that crews could set their cameras at various angles and lights could be arranged in the event the sun failed.

PARENTS MUST MAKE TRANSFERS OF PUPILS, ACCORDING TO RULING

Parents who have children who will attend school next year outside of the district of their legal residence are again reminded by Roy Davis Coles, county superintendent, that they must individually transfer their children in the office of the county superintendent before midnight, July 31.

In other years it has been permissible for the county board to transfer high school pupils whom parents had neglected to transfer, but this practice has been vetoed, according to the following communication received by Superintendent Coles and all other Mitchell county school superintendents from Dr. L. A. Woods, state superintendent:

"Under a recent opinion given by the attorney general's department, county board transfers are not legal transfers so far as the equalization law is concerned. For the purpose of calculating the amount of aid which a state aid school will receive, only those scholars which have been transferred by parent application through the office of the county superintendent will count on the teacher-pupil load."

"Only those pupils who have been transferred by parent application through the county superintendent's office will count on the teacher-pupil load given in the state aid application. Those scholars who are transferred by voucher after the regular transfer date, August 1, do not count on the teacher-pupil load." These rulings apply to both high school and grade pupils, it is pointed out by Mitchell county school officials.

UNICAMERAL LEGISLATURE

The writer of this column favors a unicameral, or one-house Legislature.

A unicameral Legislature should be of two members from each congressional district, to be paid a congressman's salary; to attract men of character, unusual capacity, sterling integrity, a commensurate salary must be paid.

A suggested composition is that the lawmaking body be composed of one lawyer, two ministers, ten educators, nine business and professional men, nine newspapermen and nine farmers. We now have one-sided class legislation. Why not elect class legislators direct? Make it a felony to receive compensation from any source other than salary during tenure of office.

Revise our ancient, antiquated Constitution.

Take our legislative body, Governor and high State officers out of politics by electing them for one term of four years—or any number of years agreed on by a constitutional convention.

With so-called great nations calling solemn covenants scraps of paper, with selfish interests dominant throughout a world of intellectual chaos, with boys and girls gazing uncertainly on a world riven by strife, there is need that we think sanely, act decisively.

My theory of a legislative body is this: Quality—not quantity. The crying need is not for a large body of untrained men in our legislative body—whose ego, like the old negro mamma's, impels them to tell the world. We need a few highly trained, well-paid, old-fashioned, God-fearing men of unimpeachable character—men who live by the code regardless of any self-interest.

The same service (character) may be obtained in our legislative body only if we pay the price, to wit: (a) Attractive salaries to a comparatively few highly trained men who are invulnerable to outside influences, who are (b) taken out of politics by election for one term.

The man on the street today is tearing his hair over the present Governor's race. He seems innocently unaware that success, if any, must come through our Legislature. The Governor can only recommend. Governor Allred has repeatedly asked the Legislature to pass adequate taxes on Texas' natural resources. To date the Governor's recommendations have been scuttled by our legislative body.

Here are some facts and figures shown from Nebraska's one-house Legislature.

SAVING SHOWN

Inspection of this comparison shows that the total cost of the unicameral for the biennium, including the probable expense of both the permanent clerk's office and the legislative council will be only $169,107.26 as against $219,045.89 for the regular bicameral session, a reduction of $49,938.63, or 22.34 per cent. Even if the unexpanded balances for the clerk's office and the legislative council prove to be only half as large as estimated, the reduction will still be $45,188.63, or over 20.6 per cent. If the expense for the legislative council be excluded for two reasons: First, that it is a new institution not provided for by the bicameral legislature; and second, that its function is to gather and prepare material for the use of the next legislature, the estimated saving jumps to $59,938.63, or 27.36 per cent.

These comparisons are all on the basis of one regular session for the biennium. But what about the comparative cost of unicameral and bicameral in case a special session is found necessary? In 1930 the total cost of a special session of 11 days was $23,861.06, and the next year for another of equal length, $26,746.05. The special session of 24 days in 1935 cost a total of $5,660.51. A little thought will show that the additional cost of a special session under the unicameral set-up will be much less than this. There will be no extra expense for the salaries of the members and the permanent clerk. The extra mileage expense would be only one-sixth of what it was. Other expenses will also be less. Hence a special 2- to 4-week session of the unicameral can be held at an extra cost of $10,000 or less. This would make a total of only $179,107.26 for a regular and a special unicameral session, as compared with $254,506.40, the cost of the two sessions of the last bicameral legislature, a saving of $75,396.14, or 29.62 per cent.

EMPLOYEE ANALYSIS

The chief saving as predicted is in the salaries of members and officers. There is a saving in the expense for employees, but not so great as expected. The amount of work and correspondence devolving upon the 43 members was probably as great as that upon the 133 members of any bicameral session. Hence more secretarial assistance was needed. Then too, committees were supplied with secretaries as never before, to promote the keeping of better records of their proceedings. This expense for assistance was well worth while. But in the future more care should be exercised to assure the selection of fewer employees and of persons more highly qualified in some instances.

There is a striking drop in the mileage and transportation expense. The mileage is only one-sixth of what it was. The transportation expense of only $188.36 is phenomenally low. There was certainly nothing even suggestive of legislative junketing in the record of the unicameral. In fact for this small expense to the taxpayers all or a part of the committee on appropriations without prior notice visited and inspected every State institution without a single exception, a record not equalled for many years.

Another very noteworthy decrease in cost is that for the preparation and printing of the permanent legislative journals and the session laws. The last bicameral legislature spent $4,815.50 for preparing, and $13,330.63 for printing, its permanent journals and session laws, a total of $18,146.13. The cost of printing the unicameral journal and session laws was only $4,063.92. The preparation for printing was done by the permanent clerk and staff. The difference, $12,082.21, is more than enough to pay all the expense of the permanent clerk's office for the entire biennium.

ELECTIONS

Tomorrow is election day and without candidates, elections would be a total failure. Perhaps the candidates would be out of luck if the elections were left off—but wouldn't old John Public be in a tough spot if the races went on and on with the candidates saving the country for Democracy, the New Deal and what have you without a breathing spell?

To the candidates, elections are the end of the road that leads to a job they find hard to fill like they told the boys back home they would fill it, or a back seat among the disillusioned. Some of the aspirants traveled the high road of decency and honesty—others waded along in muck and mire and fought their battle with mud balls. Most of the latter bog up in a mire of their own making.

Even the wildest ideated candidate is harmless unless he is on top when the ballots are counted. In other words, the election puts teeth in the candidate or leaves him flat and harmless.

Now we are getting somewhere. If we vote right we can let the level headed fellow run our public business rather than the wild-eyed idealist who would be a failure at running a hot dog stand.

Down here in Texas we run a couple of trial heats ahead of the regular election and by the time the November finals come around the thing is all sewed up and no more baby-kissing and mid-slugging is necessary. The first heat, commonly known as the first primary, is a sort of warming up exercise. It serves to eliminate the boys with the funny ideas who try to ride into office by thumbing rides from stump to stump, leading swing bands and a dozen other goofy sidelines they use to camouflage their ignorance of running a public office. Whether we like it or not, as individuals, the man who gives the man in the street what he wants, is elected. Most of the old line politicians have their ears pasted flat against their heads from having them pressed against the ground listening to the rumblings of public opinion.

Getting down to earth on this election business, the fellow who howls longest and loudest is generally the spokesman for the pack. There is a much quoted passage from the best selling book of all times which says something about wisdom coming out of the mouths of babes.

LETTERS FROM THE READERS

B. H. Turpin writes:
BUSINESS AND POLITICS PRETTY WELL MIXED

Concerning the plea of W. Lee O'Daniel that the people of Texas elect him Governor for the reason that he is a businessman instead of a politician, it occurs to me to say that Gov. Ross Sterling and his supporters made use of the same plea in 1930. Yet for some reason or combination of reasons the Texas electorate did not choose to re-elect Mr. Sterling in 1932.

Since many men doing business on a State-wide scale are frequently seeking favors from politicians; and since one of the principal paths, if not the only one, to a position of political power involving the whole State of Texas, is so closely guarded by big business men, I wonder if there is really such a thing as a businessman who is not a politician, or a politician who is not a businessman.

It would please me very much for Mr. O'Daniel to give us some enlightenment on this politician-businessman question during one of his radio broadcasts, provided the applause is not too deafening. I wonder if the seemingly extravagant applause really comes from the audience without any prearrangement. If I knew it did I still would wonder concerning the average mentality of the applauders.

Maybe I am too pessimistic, but since we are not keeping politics out of business nor business out of politics, it seems to me that to a large extent life is only a matter of the big eating the little. And it would be the same, perhaps, under a strict policy of noninterference. All of which indicates to me that Utopia is not yet in sight.

ANCIENT HISTORY

In reading ancient history and especially about the Austrian government we get the following story:

William Tell and his boy were in different case. They were subjects of a provincial Governor of Austria, an old gazabo who had neither heart nor brains. William was convicted of some crime against the Governor, who offered to release him from jail if he would shoot an apple off the head of William Jr. Old William performed the feat with entire success, then tapped the remaining arrow in his belt and told the Governor it was intended for him in case the boy was hurt. This enraged the autocrat and he had Old Man Tell arrested again. Having bound him, the Governor set out to take the prisoner to the castle dungeon. Crossing a lake, a storm came up and William was released from his bonds to help with the boat. Watching his chance Mr. Tell leaped from the boat, swam to the shore and shot the Governor from ambush. This brought on a war, in which Switzerland achieved complete independence of Austria. That was 700 years ago. Now look where Austria was.

One of our column readers on the streets criticised us for trying to write of the frontier days and said, "Why I was here in the days that men died with their boots on." I said men still die with their boots on but usually one boot is on the accelerator. It is well to remember that a foot on the brake is worth two in the grave.

CROP DEMAND HIKE PREDICTED SOON

WASHINGTON.—The Bureau of Agricultural Economics predicted recently that increased demand for farm products would follow industrial recovery this fall.

It expressed belief, in a review of the demand and price situation, that the low point in consumer income and demand for farm products had been reached and that both should go up.

It added, however, that business improvement might be "somewhat irregular" and that consumer incomes and demand for farm products probably would continue to be less favorable for the remainder of 1938 than in recent years.

It estimated world wheat supplies outside of the U. S., S. R. and China at about 435,000,000 bushels larger than a year ago and the highest since 1933-34, and the stocks of old wheat on July 1 at about 650,000,000 bushels, an increase of 1,000,000 over a year ago.

The bureau tentatively placed the world wheat production at about 4,160,000,000 bushels, or 335,000,000 more than in 1937.

ATTENDS CAMP

Frances Elaine Price left Saturday morning with Angel Van Horn of Westbrook and other Texas Tech students for the annual camp of Las Chapparitas club of Tech at Turner Falls, Oklahoma. ### TO MY FRIENDS:

I will consider it a personal favor if you, your friends and relatives, will vote for and support my lineman, Jerry Sadler, for the office of Railroad Commissioner of Texas.

Aside from our relationship—I consider Jerry Sadler most eminently qualified for the office he seeks and it is my belief that you will be rendering a real service to yourself and to Texas in voting for him. He can and will do the job with credit to himself and honor to Texas. I will appreciate it. Help us "PUT SADLER IN THE SADDLE."

VOTE TOTAL IN TEXAS MAY BE OVER 1,000,000

AUSTIN.—The majority opinion here is that the vote in the first democratic primary next Saturday, barring rain, would be well over a million and there was a strong possibility it would be larger than in any previous Texas election.

Poll tax payments were 39,222 fewer than two years ago but capitol observers believed the interest in the 12-man governor's race created by W. Lee O'Daniel, the Fort Worth flour salesman, might more than offset that decline.

The largest vote ever cast in Texas was that of 1,071,372 two years ago for the late Judge O. S. Lattimore, unopposed for renomination to the state court of criminal appeals. The vote in the governor's race at that time was 1,053,117.

Dopesters went back to the first primary of 1934 in an effort to get a line on what is likely to happen next Saturday. The gubernatorial sweepstakes that year had only six entrants, just half of the current field, yet the leader received less than 30 per cent of the total.

A few of the more ardent O'Daniel supporters claimed their standard bearer had a good chance to receive a clear majority but impartial observers pointed to the 1934 figures to emphasize the difficulty of anyone doing that.

Candidates in next week's balloting include such proved vote-getters as William McCraw, twice attorney general, Ernest O. Thompson, member of the railroad commission and chairman of the interstate oil compact commission, and Tom F. Hunter of Wichita Falls, who never has received fewer than 220,000 votes in a governor's race.

The other participants are Karl Crowley, former solicitor in the United States postoffice department, P. D. Renfro, mayor of Beaumont for four years, Rep. Clarence E. Farmer of Fort Worth, James A. Ferguson of Belton, Marvin McCoy and Joseph King of Houston, Thomas Self of Crockett and S. T. Brogdon of Stephenville.

Back in my guilder, more girlish years, something more or less "exciting" always seemed to happen to me on "election night". For the life of me, I can't recall now what any of those things were. But the glow seems to linger still, even now when I know that the night will mean nothing but a few hours additional work. I guess it's just the small-town soul of me, liking to see the gathering of lively interested crowds along the streets of a Saturday night. Just think how flat election night would be if radio "election parties" were to displace the old-fashioned downtown party in front of somebody's newspaper office. The only ones in favor of such a change would be, I'm sure, the poor candidates themselves—especially the losing ones.

COTTON ACREAGE LOWER THAN 1937, REPORT SAYS

WASHINGTON.—The agriculture department announced recently that 26,904,000 acres of cotton were in cultivation July 1. This was 78.0 per cent of the acreage a year ago from which the record crop of 18,945,022 bales was ginned.

It was the first report on this year's cotton crop. A law forbids issuance of government reports on condition and probable total production before August each year. That information will be announced August 8.

Cotton in cultivation a year ago totaled 34,471,000 acres, abandonment amounted to 1.0 per cent last year, and 34,001,000 acres were picked. The yield of lint cotton was 266.9 pounds to the acre and total production was 18,945,022 bales of 500 pounds each—records for both yield and production. Cotton seed production was 8,426,000 tons.

Average acreage in cultivation July 1 during the previous ten years—1927-36—was 37,380,000 acres with average abandonment of 2.1 per cent. Acre yield in those years averaged 179.7 pounds, average total production of lint cotton was 13,230,857 bales of 500 pounds each, and cottonseed production averaged 5,867,000 tons.

Cash income from cotton in the 1937 calendar year was reported by the department in December last as $684,622,000 for lint cotton and $16,535,000 for cottonseed.

The acreage in cultivation July 1 and percentage of the 1937 acreage, by states, included:

Louisiana 1,244,000 and 79. Texas 9,960,000 and 78. Oklahoma 1,903,000 and 77. Arkansas 2,479,000 and 80. New Mexico 115,000 and 71.
