INCORPORATION OF ROUND-UP MAJOR C OF C ATTAINMENT

SUCCESSFUL DRIVE TO SELL SHARES LED BY DR. RHODE EARLY IN HIS SERVICE AS CC PRESIDENT

The successful drive to set up the Colorado Frontier Round-up as a permanent, non-profit corporation was chalked up this week as the first major accomplishment of the Colorado chamber of commerce under the leadership of its comparatively new president, Dr. Wm. S. Rhode. Dr. Rhode was elected in June.

Not only is it the first major accomplishment of the chamber under Dr. Rhode's administration, but it is also one of the chamber's outstanding attainments of recent years, according to a consensus of opinion among leading business and professional men.

It is reliably reported that the move to incorporate the Frontier Round-up has met with more whole-hearted support in Colorado and Mitchell county than has been accorded any similar undertaking in the past several years.

Plans for the organization of the Frontier Round-up association were worked out by Dr. Rhode and P. K. Mackey, with the help of H. B. Spence, chamber manager, before the plan was presented to the public. With the help of a general committee, they pushed the placement of scores of $25 shares before the definite organization was launched in order to insure the success of their plan.

Scores of meetings were held by Dr. Rhode and members of his general Round-up committees before all the details for incorporation were worked out.

Collection for the shares was made by various committees, working in relay groups, after a sufficient number had been placed. Well over 100 shares, priced $25 each, had been placed and collected for before the get-up went into permanent organization.

Those who worked on the collecting and selling committees were as follows: Dr. W. S. Rhode, J. W. Randle, B. J. Baskin, Jack Mayes, Dudley Snyder, A. E. McClain, H. B. Spence, C. W. Cook, Dell Barber, A. L. McSpadden, P. K. Mackey, W. R. Oswalt, Benton Templeton, and Dr. Oscar Rhode.

E. E. SMITH MAKES PLANS FOR LETTER CARRIERS' MEETING

Plans for participation of the Texas Rural Letter Carriers' body in the national convention in Washington August 23-26 are being directed by E. E. Smith of Colorado, recently elected president of the state body.

Smith says that the state group will make the trip to Washington by special train.

Paul Attaway of Big Spring was named arrangements chairman for the special train trip.

Concentration points for the special train will be at El Paso, Big Spring, Abilene, Fort Worth, Longview and Texarkana, Attaway said. The trip will be made on the Texas and Pacific to Fort Worth, Missouri Pacific to St. Louis and Baltimore and Ohio to Washington.

Smith designated the Hardin-Simmons University Cowboy Band of Abilene as the official band to represent the Texas association at the national convention.

LOONEY FARMER STORING BUMPER FEED HARVEST IN HIS FIRST TRENCH SILOS

Determined to profit to the fullest extent from one of his best feed crops in years, Herman Miles of the Looney community has just finished filling one trench silo with 53 tons of feed, and plans to dig and fill another before the summer is over.

Miles told B. J. Baskin, county farm agent, this week that he has never used trench silos before. His first one is 75 feet long, 10 feet wide at the top, 7 feet wide at the bottom, and 4½ feet deep.

It was filled with fetaria, hegari, and kaffir, chopped about one inch with a silage cutter. Miles finished filling the first trench Wednesday.

AUGUST 15 TO BE 'COLORADO DAY' AT THE CASA MANANA

HARRIET ANN PRITCHETT WILL BE INTRODUCED FROM THE STAGE

Designation of Monday, August 15, as "Colorado Day" at Casa Manana in Fort Worth was announced recently in a letter to H. B. Spence, manager of the Colorado chamber of commerce.

The management of Casa Manana has extended an invitation to Miss Colorado—Harriet Ann Pritchett—to attend the Casa Manana show on Monday night as their guest. She will be introduced from the Casa Manana stage by Jan Garber, famous orchestra leader. Passes will be issued to Miss Pritchett and her escort—or chaperon—if she attends, according to Mrs. Edwin T. Phillips, official hostess for special nights at the Casa Manana. She will be escorted to the Casa Manana entrance by a motorcycle convoy that evening.

Miss Pritchett said Tuesday afternoon that she hopes to attend the show on the date named, but it was not definitely known this week just who else will attend the show in her group.

EARL GUNN AND COL-TEX PRAISED FOR SUPPORTING ALL CIVIC UNDERTAKINGS

Those who keep in close touch with civic developments have been renewing their praise of the Col-Tex refining company this week because of its loyal support in recent work for the Colorado City Frontier Round-up.

Earl Gunn, superintendent of the refinery has been cited repeatedly for his work in placing more than 30 shares in the Frontier Round-up association. His work in behalf of the movement to incorporate the Round-up has been so satisfactory that he was elected president of the Frontier Round-up's permanent organization Monday night.

Employes and officials of the Col-Tex are well-represented on the list of those who have bought stock in the Round-up, which will be operated in the beginning on a strictly non-profit basis.

The Col-Tex refinery always subscribes 100% to the Red Cross roll call in Mitchell county, and can always be counted on for liberal donations to Boy Scout work and other worthy causes, it has been pointed out.

As one leading Colorado business man put it, "The refinery means an awful lot to Colorado just by being here and furnishing the town its major sustaining payroll. But in addition to this, the refinery and its employes can be counted on as big factors in putting over any worthwhile civic project. We Colorado and Mitchell county people ought to appreciate what such an industry means to us—and I believe we do."

LANDOWNERS & SPORTSMEN ASKED TO GATHER IN THE DISTRICT COURTROOM TO FORMULATE PLANS

Landowners and sportsmen of Mitchell county are to meet in the district courtroom at Colorado Monday afternoon (August 15) at 2:30 for the purpose of organizing a wildlife conservation association for the county.

Purpose of the meeting is to discuss the proposed plan of the Texas A. & M. College Extension service for protecting and propagating native birds, both game and non-game, and fish through a cooperative plan.

Under this plan the Game Conservation association may divide its efforts into four parts: First, protection of wildlife; second, improvement of food and cover; third, control of predators; fourth, wise management of hunting privileges. Landowners in the association will agree to unite their efforts by selecting their own officers, adopting their own constitution and by-laws, outlining a long-time game conservation and management program, and making arrangements for securing breeding stock for future years.

Present at the meeting will be W. T. St. John, district game warden who, as a representative of the Game, Fish, and Oyster commission, is cooperating with the A. & M. Extension service through the county agent, B. J. Baskin.

COLORADO TO BID WEST TEXAS PRESS 1939 CONVENTION

IF MEETING IS HELD HERE IT WILL BE ARRANGED AS A 'HOMECOMING'

With the Colorado chamber of commerce and The Colorado Record cooperating in extending the bid, Colorado is to invite the West Texas Press association, which meets in Seymour Friday and Saturday, to come here for its 1939 convention.

If the West Texas Press association accepts that invitation, then its 1939 convention will be something in the nature of a "homecoming."

Colorado is, in a way of speaking, the "home" of the West Texas Press association, for it was at an informal gathering of West Texas newspaper men in Colorado that the West Texas Press association was organized in 1926.

That organization gathering was held in the basement of the Barcroft hotel in Colorado with the late Dr. P. C. Coleman, president of the Colorado chamber of commerce, as master of ceremonies. Homer Wade, then manager of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce office in Stamford, was the principal speaker. J. L. Martin, who was publisher of the Scurry County Times in Snyder at that time, was elected the first president. Martin is now in McCamey. The office of secretary went to W. E. Reid, now of Breckenridge and then editor of The Record.

Should the association accept Colorado's invitation for its 1939 convention, tentative plans have been made to play up the "homecoming" angle during the convention, with all past presidents invited to be honor guests. Colorado's invitation will be delivered to the convention in Seymour by Walter W. Whipkey, publisher of The Record.

FRED GUITAR, SR., OF MERKEL TO HAVE CHARGE OF OIL MILL INTERESTS

It was announced this week that Fred Guitar, Sr., of Merkel will have charge of the Guitar-owned oil mill at Colorado, succeeding his brother, James H. Guitar, Sr., who was fatally injured in an automobile accident near Plainview two weeks ago. Guitar's son, James, Jr., 24, was killed in the crash.

The Merkel man is said to be planning to move his family to Colorado in the near future. He and Will Guitar of Abilene are the only surviving brothers of the late James H. Guitar, Sr., who helped the late John Guitar of Abilene establish the wide-spread Guitar oil mills, gins, and compresses all over this section of West Texas some 30 years ago. He had been in charge of the Colorado oil mill since it was established in 1907.

FIRST 1938 BALE OF COTTON BROUGHT IN TUESDAY NIGHT

E. E. ERWIN OF CUTHBERT IS LUCKY FARMER; J. M. BARR BEHIND HIM ONLY A FEW HOURS

The first bale of 1938 Mitchell county cotton was received in Colorado Tuesday night and was ginned Wednesday morning shortly after 9 o'clock by the J. T. Browning Gin company, formerly the Gary-owned Farmers Cooperative gin. A second bale was in Colorado when the first was ginned.

Cotton for the first bale was grown by E. E. Erwin, pioneer farmer in the Cuthbert community about 12 miles northwest of Colorado. It ginned a 512-pound bale out of 1800 pounds of snap cotton, and passed strict middling 15-16 test.

The bale was sold at auction in downtown Colorado Wednesday afternoon, bringing 8 cents. It was sold to Oscar Price of Colorado. A premium of more than $55 had been made up by Colorado business men late Wednesday, and other donations were expected.

The second bale was raised by J. M. Barr, who lives just east of Colorado. It was ginned by the Producers' Cooperative gin in Colorado, and weighed 417 pounds from picked cotton.

Gin men were predicting the arrival of at least two or three more bales late Wednesday or Thursday. The rain early Thursday will probably delay further picking for a time.

RANGLES TO ATTEND NATIONAL CONVENTION OF PIGGLY WIGGLY

Bound for the annual Piggly Wiggly convention, J. W. Randle, owner of the local Piggly Wiggly store, and his wife and daughters, Doris and Ann, plan to leave Friday for Edgewater Park, Mississippi, where the convention will be held at the exclusive Edgewater Gulf hotel.

The convention will mark the twentieth year of Piggly Wiggly's leadership in the self-service grocery field, according to information received by Randle from Piggly Wiggly headquarters.

A story received from headquarters on the convention reads as follows:

"Being a member of the great Piggly Wiggly organization, 'All Over the World,' Randle has had and has all of the advantages of a chain store, and none of its disadvantages. Piggly Wiggly has had for twenty years the wholehearted support of manufacturers and jobbers—and so it has been with Piggly Wiggly here in Colorado. This cooperation from manufacturers and jobbers, and the ability of Piggly Wiggly, buying in large quantities, to lower prices has enabled Mr. Randle to become an outstanding merchant.

"When Mr. Randle meets with all the other Piggly Wiggly operators from all parts of the world at Edgewater Park in August, these merchants will discuss and analyze the many business problems that confront grocery stores all over the world. These discussions and the consequent enlightenment will make each one of the members of Piggly Wiggly a better, smarter, broader merchant who can meet his own problems with a sureness of thought and action which might otherwise not be possible. The benefits of this nation-wide organization naturally come home to Colorado and the customers of Mr. Randle."

FRONTIER ROUND-UP INCORPORATED WITH E. H. GUNN AS HEAD

OVER 120 SHARES SOLD IN ASSOCIATION; OFFICIALS BUSY WITH PLANS FOR SEPTEMBER CELEBRATION

Climaxing weeks of effort on the part of the Colorado chamber of commerce, the Colorado City Frontier Round-up this week became a non-profit corporation with nearly 120 shareholders and with E. H. Gunn, Col-Tex refinery superintendent, as president. Formal application has been filed for a charter.

The organization meeting was held Monday night in the chamber of commerce office. Officers elected in addition to Gunn were O. F. Jones as vice-president and Earl Hammond as secretary-treasurer. These men were chosen by a board of directors which included, in addition to themselves, P. K. Mackey, Sam Wulffen, I. W. Terry, and Chas. C. Thompson.

Officials of the association went directly to work this week preparing for the second annual Round-up on Sept. 8, 9, and 10. By Wednesday they had laid out definite plans for construction work on the 20-acre site which the city of Colorado donated to the Round-up last year. The site is already fenced, and men are now at work clearing it. Mayor J. A. Sadler assisted in making ground plans.

Earl Hammond visited the rodeo plant at Big Spring during the week, and he had the order for building materials ready to place this week. Construction is to be started as soon as possible and will be rushed to completion in time for the three-day celebration.

The rodeo will be featured on the three-day program, which will also include a mammoth "homecoming" event, and possibly a horse show.

Pete Ainsworth has been named as arena director, and Gaston Brock will be his first assistant. They are already at work on rodeo plans. Attractive purses are to be offered in all events, and competition will be open to all amateurs.

Lou Heyes and The Rev. P. Walter Henckell Married In Birmingham, Ala.

The marriage of Lou Heyes, daughter of Archdeacon and Mrs. J. W. Heyes of Colorado, to the Rev. P. Walter Henckell of Big Spring was solemnized in Grace Episcopal church at Birmingham, Ala., last Wednesday afternoon, August 3, at 5:30. An account of the wedding as received from a Birmingham paper follows:

Sentimental reasons led to choosing the Birmingham church as the place of the ceremony, since it was the scene of the confirmation and ordination of the bridegroom and was built during the ministry of his father there.

Ven. J. W. Heyes, father of the bride, officiated at the service with Rt. Rev. E. Cecil Seaman, D. D. of Amarillo, Texas, pronouncing the final blessing.

Smilax, white gladiolus, and Easter lilies decked the altar before which the couple stood.

The bride wore a brocaded satin dress with finger tip length veil. Her only jewelry was a golden locket which had been worn by her mother at her wedding. She carried a bouquet of white roses and lilies of the valley.

She was attended by her sister, Miss Peggy Heyes of Demopolis, Alabama, who wore white marquisette over satin and carried pink roses and blue tube-roses.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, J. D. Heyes of Midland.

The groom was attended by his brother, William Henckell, student at Birmingham-Southern college.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held on the lawn of the Henckell home. After the cutting of the wedding cake, Mr. and Mrs. Henckell left for a tour of the Florida coast.

For traveling, the bride wore a gray crepe dress, trimmed in dark blue with harmonizing navy blue accessories.

Mr. Henckell was graduated from Birmingham-Southern college and received his B. D. degree from Virginia Seminary in Alexandria. He is now rector of St. Mary's Episcopal church at Big Spring where he and his wife will make their home.

Shower Given In Loraine To Honor Opal Martin, Bride-Elect Of L. J. Burdine

Of special interest to Colorado because the honoree is the bride-elect of a Colorado boy was the reception shower with which Mrs. W. R. Martin, Mrs. K. L. Taylor, and Mrs. Clyde Smith, all of Loraine, honored Opal Martin of Loraine, bride-elect of L. J. Burdine of Colorado and Midland, at the Taylor home in Loraine last Friday afternoon.

The front porch of the Taylor home was transformed into a bower of summer flowers for the reception of the guests. Huge jardiniere of vari-colored zinnias, roses, and other yard flowers were banked among ferns and pot plants.

As guests arrived they were served punch and cookies by Doris Glass, Blossom Green, Iris Duke, Ruby Jo Marshall, and Evelyn Land. Freddie Derryberry presented the favors, which were white wedding bells tied with vari-colored ribbons and ornamented with sprigs of fern. The inscriptions on the bells read "Opal and L. J., August 14, '38."

The program was announced by Mrs. Martin. Ruth Ann Hall read two selections, "The Tilt" and "Wives." Mrs. Taylor and Earline Brown played accordion duets, including "Go Feather Your Nest" and "Dark Town Strutters' Ball." A medley of popular love songs was sung by Doris Glass and Blossom Green, with Wrenola Martin, sister of the honoree, as accompanist. Bessie Nell Johnson read "Cousin in Kentucky," and Gloria Martin gave a modern swing version of the old song, "Froggie Went a-Courtin'."

This number gave a history of the courtship of Opal and L. J. and finally announced the approaching marriage.

A messenger inquiring for Miss Martin left a package from the J. C. Smith Dry Goods store in Midland. This was opened and found to contain numerous articles which had been arriving from all the guests who had been "shopping" at the sale. The honoree was thus introduced to a profusion of gifts.

A hand-made bride's book fashioned of pink satin and bearing a miniature bride's bouquet on its cover was presided over by Helen Bennett as registrations were made by 149 guests. The book was the gift of Mrs. Glen Coon, Loraine artist.

NEW HIGH QUALITY at a New Low Price

Save 25%

HERE is the tire that is easy on your purse — the tire that puts money in your pocket by saving you 25%. The sensational Firestone Convoy Tire hits a new all time high in value for it has everything you want — safety, mileage and blowout protection. You will have to see it to appreciate all its extra value features and when you do, you will agree that the new Firestone Convoy is the tire sensation of 1938.

New High Quality — First choice rubber and cotton selected that conforms to Firestone's high standards and rigid specifications.

Long Mileage — Safe, silent tread design made of tough, slow wearing rubber that assures long mileage. Sturdy bars and rugged notches give protection against skidding.

Blowout Protection — Nine extra pounds of rubber are added to every 100 pounds of cord by the Firestone Patented Gum-Dipping process. Every cord in every ply is saturated with liquid rubber which counteracts internal friction and heat that ordinarily cause blowouts.

Puncture Protection — Firestone's patented construction of two extra layers of Gum-Dipped cords under the tread protects against punctures.

NEW LOW PRICES — because Firestone saves money by controlling and securing rubber and cotton at the source and by more efficient manufacturing and distribution. These savings make possible the extra values at these new low prices.

Don't miss this opportunity to save money. Let us put a set of the new large size, rugged, long wearing Firestone Convoy Tires on your car today.

PIRATE — One reason why the Pittsburgh Pirates got to the top of the National League pennant race was Lee (Jeep) Handley, timely hitter. His flashy offensive and defensive play at second base also helped the Buccaneers hold the first-grade position.

DEATH LETS MCKENZIE WOMAN KEEP HER BOAST OF NEVER BEING SICK

It was the boast of Mrs. Katie Gore, 78-year-old Mitchell countian, that she had "never been sick a day."

Death allowed her to keep her boast. She died Wednesday morning while she was taking her usual nap at the home of a niece with whom she had lived for five years in the McKenzie community. The niece, Mrs. James Clepper, found Mrs. Gore dead when she went to awaken her at the lunch hour.

Mrs. Gore was born Katherine Allison in McKenzie county, Texas, in 1860. She lived in Cherokee county before coming to Mitchell county. Her husband, Scott Gore, died 22 years ago. They never had any children.

One sister, Mrs. Nance Collins of Clifton, Texas, is her only close survivor. Six nieces and three nephews live in the McKenzie area.

Funeral services are being held at the McKenzie cemetery Thursday afternoon with the Rev. Mr. Bloodworth and the Rev. Mr. Selman officiating. Pallbearers are to be Walter Allison, Marvin Clepper, Elby Clepper, Jim Allison, Horace Allison, and Bruce McFerrin. All but the last are nephews.

CRAIG PORTER WINS HIGHEST HONORS AT BOY SCOUTS' CAMP

OTHER COLORADO SCOUTS DID OUTSTANDING WORK DURING WEEK'S OUTING

The highest possible honor for a Boy Scout in camp work was brought home by Craig Porter, Colorado scout, when he and 13 other Mitchell county scouts returned Monday from a week's outing at Camp Fawcett near Barksdale.

Porter was one of the ten boys at the camp winning the Order of the Arrow, which will be conferred on him and his companions by a national official about Thanksgiving. As one of the instructors at the camp, James Herrington of Colorado will share in this honor. Herrington accompanied the boys on the trip, which was made in the Dorn school bus with Lewis Pierce as driver.

Two other Colorado scouts, Robert Kirschbaum and Louis Bodzin, also won honors at the camp, both receiving life merit badges. Several other lesser honors were won by Colorado boys, it is reported.

The camp was declared by the boys and their adult companions to have been the best ever held at Barksdale. One of the highlights of their week was a visit to the home of Vice-President Garner at Uvalde.

Colorado scouts making the trip were Louis Latham, Tommy Rattliff, Dick Gregory, Jr., Alfred Edgar Mad-din, Curtis Erwin, Craig Porter, Ernest Porter, Robt. Kirschbaum, Jack DeLaney, Jr., Joe Wood, Louis Bodzin, and Allen Porter. LeeCroy Clifton and Jackie Hamilton went from Westbrook.

BEAUTY ASPIRANT—Jeanne Dixon, who will carry the colors of Hollywood, in the beauty contest to be held at Venice, Cal., looks over the trophies to be awarded. Festival finals will be held on Aug. 14, and the victor will be crowned "Miss California 1938." This state queen will then go to Atlantic City, N. J., for the Miss America contest.

PIERCE BROOKS HERE IN INTEREST OF CANDIDACY

Pierce Brooks, candidate for Lieutenant Governor, traveling in his specially equipped sound truck, to which is attached an elaborate float depicting "A business man Lieutenant Governor" driving the "Politicians" from the capitol building, made a brief address here Tuesday, August 9 at 1:00 p.m.

Brooks' panoramic float is a beautiful piece of artistry by one of the most famous scenic artists in the state. This display has attracted wide attention in every locality where week, Mogford says.

Subsidy applications are being taken steadily at the office and are being mailed in to College Station as soon as they are signed. Around 300 applications had been mailed up till Wednesday.

he has spoken.

Brooks said he supported the full payment of the State's social security obligations, and informed the voters that this can be done without the levying of additional taxes. He offered a plan to save $10,000,000 in operation of the state government without impairing the usefulness of any department. He further favored the abolition of the Liquor Board, vesting control in local authorities and saving a million dollars. He said he would abolish the Old Age Assistance Commission, save another million, and place this power with the county judges, with warrants coming from the State Comptroller.

He also advocated the abolishment of the auto license law. In its stead he said he would substitute a registration fee and retain a driver's license law. He pointed out that the highway department is well ahead with its building program, has a large reserve, and this step would not hamper the proper construction and maintenance of highways. At the same time, he asserted it would relieve the farmers and laborers and small businessmen of a useless tax burden. He said he opposed tampering with the constitution, creating a unicameral legislature. He fears this would more easily fall under the control of special interests, he said.

JIM WHITE EXAMINES CLASS IN MASONRY

Jim White, who is a member of the committee on work of the Grand Lodge of Texas, A. F. & A. M., returned Wednesday night after having examined Masonic classes for certificates in several Plains points. He conducted examinations in Plainview, Olton, Littlefield, Morton, and Brownfield.

LORAINE IS PROTESTING CHAMPIONSHIP OF STANDARD IN FAST LEAGUE SOFTBALL

Championship of the fast division of the second half of the Lions club softball league was still undecided Thursday morning, although Loraine was defeated 9-5 by Standard in a tie play-off Wednesday night.

Loraine played the game under protest, and continued to protest after its defeat. Loraine contends that the play-off game was to have been played Friday night, and that Standard forfeited by not being on hand. Those in charge of league play claim that the Friday night game was officially postponed and both teams so notified.

A hearing of the matter is to be held by the softball committee of the Lions club some time this week, according to Jack Christian, who has charge of the league for the club.

Loraine was doped to win the second half of the schedule with a clean record until Shell upset the dope by winning last Thursday night's game 9-6. Shell had been next to the cellar before the game. Joe Cooper's pitching aided the Shell victory. Trotter was at catch, Swafford and Mears as pitchers and Finch as catcher formed Loraine's battery. This defeat placed Loraine in a tie with Standard for top place in the fast division.

China Grove came out a 1,000 per cent winner in the slow division by winning a play-off game with Buford Friday night. Buford had a perfect record for the second half until this defeat. The score was 10-3, with A. Feaster and Roberts as Buford's battery, Krop and Martin as China Grove's.

When the last half championship of the fast league is decided, either Loraine or Standard will play Col-Tex, winner of the first half of the schedule, for the summer fast championship. Col-Tex is coming out third in the second half. China Grove and Colorado High school, winner of the first half of slow play, will play off in the slow division.

Present plans are to have the play-off games, which will be on a best-two-out-of-three basis, on Monday, Tuesday, and Thursday nights of the week beginning August 22. Double-headers will be played each night.

ACREAGE CALCULATIONS READY FOR FARMERS; TO BE MAILED OUT SHORTLY

Acreage calculations for those few farmers who have not yet received notification as to their compliance are ready in the office of the county agent and will be mailed out in the next few days, according to John Mogford, agricultural adjustment official in the office.

Mogford says that any farmer who has not yet received his acreage calculation figures and who is getting anxious to know his status can learn what he wants to know by coming to the agent's office and inquiring. Letters are being mailed out as rapidly as possible, however, and every farmer will have been notified by the middle of the coming

J. L. BOWEN FARM AT HERMLEIGH SCENE OF TRENCH SILO DEMONSTRATION MONDAY

The model stock farm which J. L. Bowen of Colorado owns and operates at Hermleigh was the scene of a trench silo demonstration for Scurry and Mitchell county farmers Monday.

The demonstration was conducted by E. R. Eudaly, A. & M. extension service specialist on trench silos.

Reporting on the demonstration in the Abilene Reporter-News on Tuesday, Harry Holt of the Reporter-News staff wrote as follows:

Currently the No. 1 agricultural problem in West Texas is preserving what promises to be a record feed crop.

That is what E. R. Eudaly, extension service specialist, told a group of Scurry county farmers today at a trench silo demonstration held at the J. L. Bowen farm.

Cheapness of the commodity has caused the growers to take up their belt another notch and dive into thick of the fight. They are unwilling to sacrifice the prolific crop. Consequently they are studying a pay-off plan which is expected to be found in the utilization of trench silos.

Perhaps never before has there been a greater acreage of grain sorghums of a higher yield per acre, both lending cause to the "save your feed" campaign which has been adopted in this area. Many of the visitors attending the demonstration expressed the belief they would accept that method of storing their crop.

Thus interest is centered on the grain sorghums. Visitors at the Bowen farm saw latest development on the grain sorghums. That is use of a lone machine which prepares the feed for a silo and cuts about 10 acres daily. They say a 68-ton capacity that will be filled in two days for a labor expenditure of only $20.

A TIME TO REMEMBER

By Aline Ballard

"You won't forget, will you, Betty?" Peter's tone was a curious blend of doubt and entreaty. It held a note of warning, too.

"Of course not, silly." Betty took his pay check over to the desk and put it blithely in the envelope section of her purse, the part that fastened with a zipper. "I'll stop at the bank on my way to the luncheon."

Under her breath, she sighed a little. It wasn't on her way. It meant going around two sides of the triangle, taking one bus down to the city and another out to Huntingdon Manor; she'd have to start three quarters of an hour earlier. She wished Peter would use the neighborhood bank, but he was afraid of branch banks. He insisted the main one was safer.

She couldn't see what difference it made. They checked their money out almost as fast as they put it in, anyway. That was the trouble now. The landlord had interrupted their breakfast to ask for the rent. Peter had written him a check brazenly, though there was exactly three dollars and nineteen cents in their account.

"It will be all right if you get this in today, hon," he had said when the man had gone. "And I don't see how it can slip your mind."

That last sounded more optimistic than he felt. Betty could—and did—forget everything. Regular things even—like the gas bill. He got there was one in the desk now. There was marked in big, blue letters: Last Discount Day April 25. And today was May second.

He didn't say anything. What was the use? She would promise cheerfully not to let it happen again. Last week, it was the laundry, and he had had to buy a new dress shirt for the firm's annual dinner dance. Once, she even forgot a bridge party.

He thought of that now and added, "Unless you should forget to go to the luncheon; and you aren't likely to do that."

"I wouldn't dare even be late," she retorted.

Peter looked at his watch. "Well, I'd better get started. This deal in Jackson is important."

Still he lingered. Something told him he had said enough and yet he risked one more warning.

"You know, we can't afford to overdraw again!"

The again was not very tactful. At Christmas time, Betty had forgotten to fill in a couple of stubs, with disastrous results. She kissed him goodbye coldly.

During his two-hour drive to Jackson, Peter had plenty of time to think. He was, he decided, a pretty poor sport. What if Betty did forget a few things! She forgot to nag, too. When he got in that poker game with the boys and lost twenty-six dollars, she had only laughed.

In Jackson, he stopped at a drug store to call her up. He would tell eyes ran down the column hurriedly. Had it happened before Betty got there?

Persistent and annoyed hankings called his attention to the fact that the light changed. He drove ahead slowly and pulled over to the curb. At the very end of the column, he found what he was looking for. The bank had not closed until two o'clock. Wouldn't you know it! A month's pay gone! That hurt.

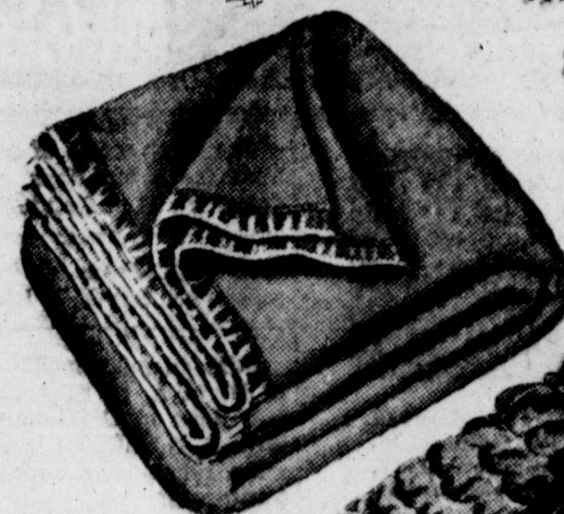

The paper was crushed in his hand when he reached home and opened the front door. Betty came to meet him. He didn't stop to kiss her be-her he was sorry and suggest taking in a show that night. But as he gave the number, it flashed through his mind that the call would only serve to remind her again of the check; in his chastened and contrite mood, the thought seemed traitorous. No one answered, however. It was just eleven. That meant she was safely on her way to the bank. In spite of himself, Peter felt relieved.

He handed her the extra. "Just this once," he said bitterly, "I wish you'd had one of your lapses!"

He had lunch with Bicksky, put his proposition to him, and landed the contract. It was four-thirty when he started for home.

Entering the city, he heard newsboys shrilling "Wuxtra! Wuxtra!" and some unintelligible jargon. At the next red light, one little chap, more persistent than the others, thrust a paper through the car window. Peter glimpsed the headline: BANK FAILURE—FIRST NATIONAL CLOSES.

Peter snatched the paper, and handed the boy three pennies. His fore asking: "You went to the bank, didn't you?" It sounded more like an accusation than a question.

She hesitated, and when she answered, her voice was stiff.

"Yes, I went." Apparently she was still sore about this morning. He wished now he'd kept his fool mouth shut. She might have forgotten if he hadn't been so everlastingly insistent.

"Just this once, I wish you'd had one of your lapses," he said bitterly. That seemed to puzzle her. "Didn't you notice the crowd at the bank?"

"No. Yes. I guess so," she said doubtfully.

He handed her the extra. "I should think you would have guessed that something was wrong."

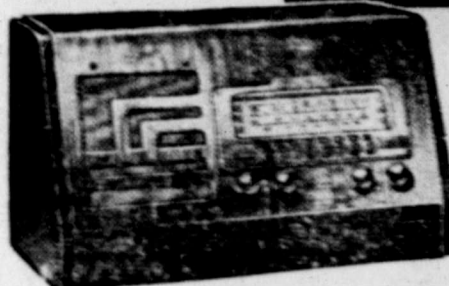

She took a long time to read the news, her face hidden behind the paper.

1928. He had five opponents but one was Mrs. Miriam A. Ferguson, then governor. Primary statute was enacted in 1918 and first used in 1920. In that year Pat M. Neff trailed former Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey but a few votes in the first primary but received a substantial majority in the run-off. Neff was renominated in 1922 with a clear majority over three opponents. Mrs. Ferguson ran behind Felix D. Robertson in the first primary of 1924 but defeated him by nearly 100,000 votes in the run-off. In the 1928 first democratic primary, Moody was renominated with a majority over three opponents. Two years later, Ross S. Sterling finished far behind Mrs. Ferguson in the initial primary yet defeated her in the run-off. In 1932, Mrs. Ferguson was ahead of Sterling in the first primary and again in the second.

O'Daniel was the second candidate for governor in Texas history to receive more than 500,000 votes in a democratic primary. James V. Allred got 553,219 votes in the first primary two years ago. Until then, Allred's total of 499,943 in the 1934 run-off and Moody's total of 495,723 in the 1926 run-off were high.

Some one asked Moody recently whether he would have accepted a federal judgeship appointment as Allred did near the close of his last term as governor.

"Knowing what I did then," Moody replied, "I think I would have known what I do now. I don't know whether I would."

Moody did not conceal he was in debt when he completed his term as governor. He served at $4,000 a year, whereas the present salary is $12,000.

J. J. BILLINGSLEY
COLORADO, TEXAS

The former governor emphasized that he considered a federal judgeship an office "of great dignity and importance."

Moody's name continues to bob up in speculation concerning future United States senate races. He is 45. The former governor says, however, he has no intention of running for anything.

There will be a twin brother team in the next legislature. Ross Hardin was renominated without difficulty to his third term in the house of representatives. His brother, Doss, won by a wide margin in the contest for the state senate position left vacant by the death of Dr. W. R. Newton of Cameron.

The 27-year-old brothers, who live in Limestone county, are so much alike one frequently is mistaken for the other.

MITCHELL FARMERS GET APPROXIMATELY $6,000 FROM TEXAS CO-OP BODY

Approximately $6,000 has been distributed to Mitchell county farmers by the West Texas Cotton Growers' association during the past two weeks on cotton sold through the old Texas Farm bureau between 1923 and 1932, according to E. Barber, district WTGCA director.

The money represented a partial payment on the one per cent reserve deducted from cotton shipped by the organization between the years named above.

Barber said Wednesday that those farmers who feel that they should have received payment but did not should get in touch with W. W. Porter, who was president of the old farm bureau in Mitchell county.

Rosalie Leslie of Eastland, daughter of Judge and Mrs. W. P. Leslie, was here from Thursday until Sunday visiting Kack Price and other friends. Miss Leslie, who spent her childhood in Colorado, is now secretary of a national honorary sorority, and has been doing considerable traveling this summer.

CHILD MISSING FOR HOURS AFTER A NAP IN THE WRONG CAR

A child crying on the porch of the John E. Watson home near midnight Sunday led to a solution of the disappearance of the 5-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Hughes of Valley View while they were attending evening services at the White Church of Christ northeast of town.

The child himself, frightened and incoherent, was something of a mystery for a time after his crying awakened Watson, who is superintendent of Colorado schools, and his family. They contacted officers, who had at that time no word of a missing child. P. A. Burnett, owner of a Colorado cafe, had heard about the missing child at White church, however, and he phoned John Holt, who was among Coloradans attending the White church revival services Sunday night.

Holt took the child out to the church, where the frantic parents and more than 50 others were anxiously waiting. It was revealed that the child had left the church during services to take a nap in the family car. His maternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hoover, were among those in the congregation. It was believed from the beginning that he had climbed into the wrong car.

Investigation revealed that Mr. and Mrs. P. E. Harkins, who live next door to the John E. Watson home, had attended the services—and, what's more, they had an empty back seat. Evidently the child crawled in their car by mistake, and slept all the way to their home, awakening after they had left the car for the night in an open garage.

MAHON IS SEEKING ADJUSTMENTS FOR WHEAT ALLOTMENTS

Requests for adjustments on wheat allotments made to Mitchell and certain other West Texas counties were filed last week by Congressman George Mahon of the 19th district with Secretary Wallace and E. N. Holmgreen, administrative officer in charge of the state AAA office at College Station.

The adjustments are being sought in response to protests received by the congressman from wheat-growers in Dawson, Howard, Mitchell, and other counties not ordinarily classified as "wheat-growing" counties.

In his letter to Holmgreen the congressman pointed out: "The situation presents a serious problem, and one which I sincerely feel should be adjusted for those farmers in this area who have been growing wheat as a part of their normal farm operations."

To Secretary Wallace Mr. Mahon wrote: "Where allotments for other crops have been made on the basis of certain acreage being designated as wheat acreage, it seems grossly unfair to me that under the wheat program a county should be disallowed a wheat allotment."

Those in charge of the congressman's office said that he is requesting check-ups while the formative stage of the program still makes corrections possible.

Prospects For Cheese Plant, Concentration Camp, And Bumper Crop Give Loraine Optimism

Optimism reigns in Colorado's neighbor city, Loraine, according to the following special Abilene Reporter-News article written by the Rev. Hamilton Wright, former Loraine Methodist pastor and now pastor at Baird, while on a visit in Loraine last week:

Sitting on top of the earth! With a cheese plant in offing, a labor concentration camp promised, a bumper row and cotton crop in prospect, and many other things in the future, Loraine has reason to hope as it has not hoped in years.

Weeks ago papers of incorporation were issued at Austin, for the Loraine Co-Operative association, whose purpose is to establish a $30,000 cheese plant here that will consume 4,000 gallons of whole milk daily, to be supplied by farmers within a radius of 45 miles of Loraine. Stock is now being sold. Almost nightly, meetings are being held in nearby communities. For instance, last night an enthusiastic meeting was held at Westbrook where farmers seemed deeply interested.

'Common' To Producers

Alonzo Phillips is temporary chairman of the board of directors and J. W. King, editor of the Mitchell County News, temporary secretary. Common stock only is being sold to producers and $3,000 preferred stock goes to outsiders. Around 1000 shares have already been sold at $1 a share.

Due to the fact that the farmers are unusually busy with crops, set back by heavy rains, the task of disposing of the stock has not been pushed. Among the towns expected to be benefited are Dunn, Westbrook, Hermleigh, Buford, Longworth, Maryneal, Highland. The Cooperative expects all profits to go into improvement of plant and territory served.

The labor concentration camp to be located here is expected to bring thousands of cotton pickers and other laborers to Loraine for distribution in August. An examiner is to be stationed here, it is understood. The only other employment service in this area will be located at Roby. Loraine secured it because of the excellent co-operation given the department last year.

The chamber of commerce was identified with the proposition to secure the concentration camp. The hill east of town is to be used for laborers. It is to be cleared of brush and trees, and toilets and other conveniences installed. Phillips is secretary of the chamber of commerce and Glenn Coon president.

Crops Best Since '32

Loraine has the best prospects of a bumper cotton crop since 1932, according to O. I. Griffin, member of the city council. It is expected that at least 12,000 bales of cotton will be ginned this fall by the four gins. Cotton is farther advanced now than ever seen at this time of year. A few leaf worms have shown up but it is believed it will not become necessary to resort to use of poisoning in general.

Unloading here are gravel and sand for the widening of the Bankhead highway (U. S. 80) through Loraine. Sixteen additional feet are to be put on and a general overhauling of the highway between Roscoe and Colorado is contemplated. A red light is to be installed shortly at the intersection of Main street and U. S. No. 80.

O. I. Griffin, telephone owner, contemplates considerable extensions at Ira in the near future. Recently he sold exchanges at Dunn and Hermleigh. Among other improvements considered is a toll line between Loraine and Hermleigh. Highland community has asked for connection with the Loraine exchange.

Another Fair

Loraine expects to have its second Mitchell County fair this fall. Last year hundreds attended and articular exhibits were many and varied. It is proposed to have a more elaborate exposition this fall.

Loraine continues to have Saturday night band concerts just east of main street.

Loraine expects to go places this fall. During the last two years it was hard hit by short crops, but this year the rains have been abundant with prospects of the largest cotton and row crops in its history.

CC LUNCHEON CLUB NOT TO MEET DURING REST OF THE SUMMER

Since officials and members of the Colorado chamber of commerce luncheon club are busy at this time with plans for the Colorado Frontier Round-up and with vacations, no meeting of the club will be held during the remainder of the summer, it was announced this week.

Plans are for the club to resume meeting after the Round-up.

NUMBER FROM HERE TO GRID GAME SATURDAY

A number of Coloradans were in Lubbock Saturday night to see the All-Star football game which climaxed the annual coaching school held at Texas Tech last week.

Among those attending from here were Gus Chesney, Duff Chesney, Dud Chesney, Mr. and Mrs. E. C. Nix, Bernie Grable, Bob Brennan, Lea Swope, Bill Oswald, Dr. Oscar Rhode, M. O. Chapman, John Baze, Zilpha Thomas, George Witten, Frances Mackey, Mr. and Mrs. Sefton Pickens, and probably others.

GRADY NEWMAN'S RETURN FROM DALLAS FUNERAL

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Newman returned Tuesday night from Dallas, where they were called late last week by the death of the husband of Mr. Newman's half-sister on Friday.

Funeral services for the man, whose name was George Brandon, were held Monday in Dallas. He had been ill since suffering a stroke in 1928.

WORK OF SETTING THE COUNTY'S BUDGET FOR NEXT YEAR IS BEGUN

Work of setting the budget for Mitchell county expenses during the coming year was started this week following the regular session of commissioners' court Monday.

Judge A. F. King and the commissioners, with the assistance of other county officials, are at work on budget figures. After the budget has been worked out, it will be submitted to a public hearing, and soon after that the county tax rate for the coming year will be set.

PICKED UP ALONG THE NEWS PATH

Seems that Frank Kelley of the Magnolia office was talking to Dallas when the fire occurred on the roof of the building where his office is located last Thursday morning. From the plane he saw some smoke drift past the office window. He heard the firetruck arrive. He said to Dallas, very calmly: "I'm sorry, but I'd better be going. This building is afire, and the fire-boys have just come." Then he hung up, just like that.

Whether this is fame or super-super "circulation" or what-have-you, we just don't know, but the fact remains that when the H. I. Bernama registered at a certain Fort Worth hotel early last week the first thing they saw when they went into their room was four Colorado Records lying on the table—believe it or not! They couldn't quite believe that the hotel was giving "hometown weekly" news service along with its other conveniences, so the matter was somewhat baffling. How we'd love to go on baffling you, but the truth must be told: The Walter Whipkeys (that's the boss and his family) had checked out of that room just before the Bernama checked in, and they'd left the papers there—quite by accident, of course. The boss believes in advertising, alright, but he doesn't go so far as to scatter copies of his paper in strange hotel rooms—not intentionally, that is. Even with this angle of the "mystery" solved (and how we did hate to dispel the "mystery"), it's still pretty much of a coincidence that Coloradans so far from home would register for the same hotel room in a place as large as Fort Worth, don't you think?

From all reports we get, Ben Smith, who used to be advertising manager for The Record, is making an all-right record as manager of the Pecos chamber of commerce. You don't have to talk to him but about ten minutes to know why—he's sold on the country, himself, and therefore he can sell it to others. It beats all how he can quote figures on everything from alfalfa and cantaloupes up and down—if there is an up and down. Not only can he quote figures, but he can trim them up with facts that make you listen. Personally, we've begun to believe in Pecos cantaloupes ourselves since sampling a couple which he left at our desk while in Colorado last week-end. It might be of interest to Coloradans to know that Smith reports an exceptionally fine alfalfa crop on the farm of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart Cooper, former Coloradans now living near Pecos.

Speaking of chamber of commerce managers, it seems that J. H. Greene, who left the Colorado chamber to manage the Big Spring chamber over a year ago, has lost none of the stick-to-it-iveness which brought Colorado out on top of many a tussle while he was here. Big Spring was left off the original itinerary for veterans' administration engineers investigating possible sites for the new veterans' hospital, but it has now been promised an investigation of its advantages by the engineers. This change didn't happen through the writing of a few mild letters or anything like that. It happened because Big Spring backed its ears and went after what it had been asking for. Armed with facts and figures and enticing arguments, Jim Green boarded a plane and flew to Washington, D. C., last week. When he came back Big Spring was on the engineers' itinerary. Here's what Joe Pickle had to say about the matter in his Sunday Herald column: "Reviewing the Big Spring Week"

"Anniversary of the designation of Big Spring as location for the state psychopathic hospital finds the city in the midst of another campaign for another hospital. This time the competition is much keener because a federal veteran's hospital is at stake. Whether Big Spring gets much farther or not, it already has won one point—consideration of an unauthorized inspection report on sites here. J. H. Greene, chamber manager, went to Washington for this concession and got it."

While we're on things civic, it might amiss to remember that Colorado and Mitchell county have something coming up soon to test their civic and county get-up-and-do.

That something is the Colorado City Frontier Round-up, September 8, 9, and 10. It already seems to be off to a good start, with shares being sold for incorporation on a non-profit business basis. As is usually the case, a small nucleus of men are doing the real work and the real worrying. That working group is smaller than it ought to be, but this is not meant to be a criticism column, so we'll skip that. The point we're trying to make is this: Let's put our minds and hearts into this thing. Let's believe in it, let's be enthusiastic about it, and let's back up our belief and our enthusiasm by talking it beforehand and attending it when it happens. Perhaps the main thing is to believe in the need of it.

Maybe you can't see exactly what's the good of all this work and expense and worry for three days of bustling and crowding when maybe you don't particularly like crowds to begin with. Well, the good of such things has been pointed out so often that we'll skip that time. It'll help just as much, maybe a lot more, to consider the harm that comes from not keeping alive community things. Consider what Colorado would become if such things were never attempted, year in and year out. It would grow stagnant. It would lose its color, and the vicious habit of attempting nothing and accomplishing nothing would grow and grow.

Rich as this section is in historical background and in material, there's no reason why Colorado's Frontier Round-up shouldn't become one of the outstanding annual events of West Texas. It already has a permanent home, and it is rapidly acquiring a permanent organization. These are the first steps, and the others will come, year by year. From these developments the town and county will acquire a reputation for success, a sense of accomplishment that may bring it undreamed of advantages in years to come. Success begets success—there's nothing much truer than that in this modern world.

Here's a note from Margaret Turner's column, "The Woman's Angle," in the Lubbock Avalanche-Journal that should be interesting to all of us who have thrilled to the annual tent show visits of Harley Sadler:

"Pretty, poised, sixteen-year-old Gloria Sadler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harley Sadler, long-famous for their traveling tent show, will forsake the career planned for her since babyhood and plans to study medicine. She will take pre-med work at Hardin-Simmons university this fall. Last week, convalescing at a local hospital from an appendectomy, little Gloria, who has a matchless complexion and low, laughing voice, saw her first operation and an ambition that has haunted her for several years flamed anew.

"A trouper from the time she began walking, Gloria already has known many of the thrills of a theatrical life that appear so glamorous to stage-struck girls. She wants to have a home of her own, to settle down to the practice of medicine in about ten years.

"She's used to friends thinking her dreams are laughable and replies, even if her hopes aren't realized, what's the harm of aiming high?"

Nice people, folks like the Earl Hammonds of Buford who have enjoyable homes and share them unselfishly. In the past few weeks the Hammonds have entertained hundreds of Mitchell countians—Sunday school classes, Masons, and others—at their lovely summer lodge on Deep Creek, which is a part of their excellent Buford farm. In a county where pleasant picnic spots are not plentiful, such an oasis can be fully appreciated.

Maybe this will be libel or something, I don't know, but I gotta pass it on. Seems that when J. H. (Jimmy) Greene of Big Spring—formerly of Colorado, y'know—made that plane trip to Washington last week the plane stewardess came to strap him in his bunk for the night. When she had finished she said, "Now, isn't that just like mother used to do?" The always irreplaceable Jimmy Greene had an answer, of course, and it was "Yes, only she always kissed me goodnight." Just as calm as you please, the stewardess remedied that little omission and walked away. They say Mrs. Greene is getting a bigger kick than anybody out of the incident, and Mr. Greene is, for once in his life, the "goat."

The countenance of John Ellis Smith, former Coloradan who is now connected with the Monahans News, is a new adornment at the top of his column, "Out of the Sports Fog," in the News. As near as we could gather, it's been added to "get even with" Betsy Ross of Pecos, a feminine news scribbler with whom Smith seems to carry on a rather continuous journalistic battle.

For spelling what am we refer you to the detour around the bridge near the Dulaney home east of town.

"Uncle Fred" Whipkey, senior "columnist" of The Record, believes that at last he has found an honest man. While in a certain downtown grocery the other day, Uncle Fred lost three bills—a ten and two fives—which evidently blew out of his billfold while he had it lying open on a sack of flour. He didn't discover the loss until a clerk in the store came to his home one day this week with the bills, which he had found behind the flour and which he identified as Uncle Fred's because he had noticed the open bill fold on the flour a few days before. The clerk refused a reward. His name was Sol Robinson.

You won't find anything about it in the society columns, but there was a "wedding" in the back yard of the Jake Merritt home Monday evening. It was childhood "dress-up" fun in the nth degree, with little Gillian McEntire as the bride, Ronny Fee as the groom, and Bobby Fee as the preacher. Bobby May was the lone made attendant in a sea of bridesmaids—Dana Merritt, Marilyn McEntire, Tommy Lou Jennings, Betty Lee Phenix, and Ann Barber. For a "honeymoon" the entire wedding party went "around the block," and then had a picture show party topped off with punch, cookies, and candy.

HICKS COMPANY AWARDED NORTH CAROLINA CONTRACT

That Star tires are looming larger in the national picture month by month is shown in the statement from officials of the Hicks Rubber company to the effect that they have recently been awarded the contract to supply the tires for the state government of North Carolina.

This contract covers a 12-month period and calls for tires used on all passenger cars, trucks and school busses owned and operated by the state. Total amount of the contract is $320,000 and delivery is made as ordered through the Hicks offices in Waco.

The fact that these state contracts are coveted by every major tire company in the nation, and is solicited and bid on by the majority of them makes their award noteworthy.

Price naturally has much to do with letting these huge contracts but the quality of the tires must meet the exacting demands and specifications laid down by the state purchasing board. It is not a matter of providing the cheapest tire possible, but one of providing a top-notch, high quality product at the most economical price. This the Hicks Rubber company has been able to do time after time, and they have had great success in receiving contracts based on quality tires at low prices. The unique merchandising, management and manufacturing system of the Hicks Rubber company enables them to provide the finest quality at low prices.

This advantage is reflected in the retail sales of one single tire. The 500 cooperative Star tire stores are enjoying good business because of the buying arrangements and other advantages this system makes possible.

RECORD COTTON SURPLUS

What will Texas cotton farmers get for their cotton this season? That all-important question cannot be answered with finality at this time but with present Dallas spot middling 7-8 inch staple quoted at 8c a pound, or nearly 3c below last season's, there is sufficient indication that everything is not right with American cotton. The explanation for this situation is readily found in the announcement by Henry Plauche, able successor to the late great Secretary Hester of the New Orleans Cotton Exchange, that the long rumored all-time record American cotton carry-over has become an established fact at something like 13,000,000 bales.

American cotton consumption throughout the world is estimated at only 11,117,000 bales or more than 2,000,000 bales below last season's in the face of steadily mounting world consumption of foreign grown cotton. It takes little arithmetic to reach the conclusion that we have much more cotton on hand than the world wants in the next year, assuming that consumption remains about the same. A crop now rapidly maturing in Texas and the South is believed to be somewhere between 10,000,000 and 13,000,000 bales. In other words by late September the South will have enough cotton to supply world needs for the American staple for more than two years without raising another pound. That estimate should answer all questions why cotton prices are down.

In the face of this situation we find Federal high-powered speakers being sent to the Cotton Belt to harangue farmers against falling into such heresy as the Domestic Allotment Plan, which would assure farmers a decent price for the domestically consumed part of their crop and allow the balance to enter world markets at the world price. Had such a plan been adopted five years ago, instead of broadcasting to foreign countries that the South is going out of cotton by curtailing acreage and penalizing growers who might wish to sell their surplus in foreign lands, we might not be in the plight we now face. From the Texas standpoint, where out of each ten bales nine must find a market outside of the United States, the crop curtailment program has played havoc.—Dallas News.

TAX COLLECTION ON GASOLINE HITS NEW PEAK

AUSTIN—Gasoline tax collections rose to a record high of $4,470,719 during July, Comptroller George H. Sheppard said, indicating sales of gasoline last month were the largest in history. During the first eleven months of the fiscal year, there has been an accumulated increase of $2,774,361 in gasoline taxes over a like period of last year. Thus far the rate has collected $44,815,479 from the levy of 4c a gallon compared to $46,485,584 during the entire 1932-33 fiscal year.

If collections this month equal those of August, 1937, even without any of the expected increase, the yearly total will exceed $49,250,000, setting another record. Gasoline tax receipts last August of $4,444,466 set a record which stood until last month.

One in one of the past eleven months has the gasoline tax revenue been lower than for the comparative month a year preceding. That was in May when collections of $3,921,331 were $13,971 under a year before.

The greatest increase was $176,097 in February as receipts rose to $3,734,562.

COTTON SEASON STARTS WITH LARGE SURPLUS

NEW ORLEANS.—The new cotton season opened recently with the largest surplus in history. The annual report of Henry Plauche, secretary of the New Orleans Exchange, placed the world carryover of American cotton, excluding linters, at 12,955,000 bales. The previous record was that of 12,911,000 bales in 1931-32.

The American surplus last year was only 5,740,000, but the all-time high production of 18,945,000 in 1937-38, coupled with decreased consumption, added more than 7,000,000 bales to stocks.

Prospects this year are for a crop between 6,000,000 and 9,000,000 bales less than last year's phenomenal growth, principally because of curtailed acreage under the Government program and unfavorable weather which aided insect infestation.

To the present American surplus must be added the carryover of foreign growths, estimated tentatively by various sources at about 10,000,000 bales.

Thus, as picking of the new season's crop is being started in Texas, the world already has on hand about 23,000,000 bales of the fiber.

MUSIC IN HEAVEN

Those who speculate on the remarkable victory of W. Lee O'Daniel will need to go a little deeper into the psychology of his success than is being done. It was won through the melody of Christian songs. Song and poetry have kept the palpitating world of human beings in its orbit. Simply a jazz band would have left O'Daniel a flour salesman all his life. He wouldn't have sold much flour with it, either. The Song of Moses and the Lamb is now being sung in heaven. In that bright world, preaching is done away. In reading this word, some will hasten to say they are glad there will be no preaching in heaven, but they should not worry—men of that complex wouldn't get there to hear the preaching if it were continued there. Here will be no praying in heaven, for in that good world we will have found full fruition of all our prayers. There will be singing. Celestial music will resound by the River of Life on High throughout the ceaseless ages of eternity.

LETTERS FROM READERS

It has been shown by actual farm records that a well-balanced farm, even in the best part of the Cotton Belt, pays better than keeping from 60 to 90 per cent of the cultivated land in cotton. That kind of farm system does call for more investment in improvements, which is the fly in the ointment. The same records show, however, that within reason, the earning capacity of the farm is enhanced by a higher percentage than the increased investment required.

The philosophy of highest acre returns which Mr. Jordan presents is the very foundation of recurring surpluses which drove us to the enactment of some of the "darn laws" to which he refers. The present signs indicate that a great many cotton farmers and their landlords are this year planning to ignore the lessons of the past and plunge cotton into a price-wrecking crisis.

It does appear time for us to treat the farm as a year-round enterprise, use both the available labor and the plant to the best practical advantage, and get away from the fallacy of "less work, more pay" as the basis for prosperity.

OLD TIME RELIGION

Several years ago this writer spent six weeks in New York on a vacation and while there we attended the Riverside Baptist church and heard the Rev. Harry Emerson Fosdick's famous quotation: "If we could only get religion like a Baptist, experience it like a Methodist, be positive about like a Disciple, be proud of it like an Episcopalian, pay for it like a Presbyterian, propagate it like an Adventist and enjoy it like a Negro—that would be some religion!"

The Scotch adopted Presbyterianism, possibly brought it over from Geneva. Just why should Brother Fosdick intimate that Presbyterians pay heroically for their religion? At a time when the higher clergy were drawing higher pay in Europe, the Scotch Presbyterians put all the clergy on the same level, giving superior rank to none.

Baptists keep all their clergy on the same level, as to rank and insignia. But in the case of the Baptists it wasn't a dodge for saving money to the membership. It was a contribution to democracy. It may be that the Presbyterians had the same motive, that they were not animated by any wish to disestablish higher pay. But the fact that the Scotch took so readily to the Presbyterian faith argues against such an assumption. There are some Baptists in Scotland, we have heard, but they may have gone there as missionaries to convert the Presbyterians.

GENIUS AND MEDIOCRE

Only God Almighty can transform a mediocre into a genius—and he may do it if the mediocre does his part. Only the devil would transform a genius into a mediocre.

It sometimes happens that one whom we think a mediocre becomes a genius by systematic and persistent cultivation and development of the attributes he has to their highest capacity. As a rule, genius is expressed in only one or two directions, but in these it is so pronounced that we at once recognize it as genius. There is room for argument in the question as to which is the greater, the genius as described, or the man who has a well balanced mind and has the additional equipment of patience, prudence, perseverance and determination.

Then, too, much depends upon the plodding efforts of "the average man." There are those who contend that the average man is most useful of all men, since he has to do most of the work. But we shall not argue about this. They are both important factors in the world's progress and development.

Both parents and children should study the youngster's fitness for any proposed calling and decide what is best for him. He may be a genius, or he may be a mediocre. Don't allow him, in either case, to undertake the work of the other.

It is a tragedy to mistake well-rounded minds to be those of geniuses and thus divert them from the work for which they are best fitted. It is a still greater tragedy to mistake a genius for a mediocre and thus deprive the world of the services of a genius.

Selection of a vocation is one of the most important decisions one must make in life. Parents, teacher and pupil should take part in it. The end sought to be achieved is worth it.

LIFE AT LAST THE CONQUEROR

Let us take another view of Time and his work, by which we find that Time really produces the lives he takes. It requires Time to mature the chrysalis that develops into the butterfly. It requires Time to incubate the germ of life in the egg and produce the bird or chick. It requires time to develop the minute life germ that develops into the child and later is born and marvels at all these things we have been considering.

Thus it is that Time defeats the purpose he seems to have in view—the destruction of all life. Yet he does not stop—he cannot. Were he to pause in his journey with the earth around the ecliptic long enough he would destroy all the life he would have created. In one hemisphere it would be too hot, in the other too cold; in one continuous light, in the other continuous darkness.

Thus he must keep going if he would have life enough to keep him busy at destroying it continuously. His job is like that of sisyphus, whose task was to keep the stone at the top of the hill, which he could not do; or like the vulture that worked without ceasing in his effort to devour the liver of Prometheus, which grew back as fast as it was destroyed.

CONGRESSMAN MAHON IS LUNCHEON SPEAKER FOR MIDLAND ROTARY

Presented on the program of the Midland Rotary club last Thursday, Congressman George Mahon of the 19th district made a plea for conservation of resources, both above and below the ground, and for maximum devotion to the county "which does not owe us support," according to the Midland Reporter-Telegram.

Mr. Mahon paid high tribute to the citizenship, the development and activity of Midland section, declaring that he would like to have it in his congressional district. He commended highly Congressman R. E. Thomson of the sixteenth district and gave him much credit for guidance at Washington.

The speaker described the nation's wealth, showing it to be a fabulous wealth were it not for the fact that hordes of American citizens share such a small part of it. If equal distribution were made, he said, each person would have only fifteen acres of land and not more than $3,000 of wealth.

Only through conservation can the resources be made to support the people of tomorrow, he declared.

Referring to the national administration, Mr. Mahon said we should feel proud that our resources have not been spent for war, and that great strides have been made recently toward friendliness between the United States and other countries.

The congressman remained in Midland Thursday afternoon for a meeting of Martin and Midland county farmers.

COTTON FORECAST IS 700,000 BALES MORE THAN EXPECTATIONS

Long green rows of maturing cotton in Mitchell county fields looked a little less promising this week as the government's first official cotton forecast placed the probable harvest at 11,988,000 bales, some 700,000 bales above expectations.

The estimate was 6,958,000 bales below last year's production and smaller than any crop since 1935.

The estimate for production caused cotton to ease moderately under liquidation and outside selling.

Ginnings from this year's crop prior to August 1 were reported by the census bureau to have totaled 158,115 running bales, counting round as half bales, compared with 142,983 bales to that date last year, and 41,150 in 1936.

Selling pressure was not very heavy, however, and December contracts, which had been quoted at 8.44 when the market recessed just prior to the report, reopened at 8.34, or 15 points net lower.

A loan program is required to be established under the law if the average price on the principal market falls below 52 per cent of parity, or about 8.27 cents a pound on figure of 15.9 cents a pound.

The price on the principal markets averaged 8.49 cents Saturday compared with 8.63 a week earlier. After the usual recess while awaiting the report, December contracts reopened on the New York cotton exchange at 8.34 cents, compared with the day's opening of 8.44.

The AAA has authority to fix the cotton loan rate, if a loan becomes necessary, between about 8.27 and 11.92 cents a pound.

The estimate was based on the condition of the crop August 1, which was 78.0 per cent of a normal, and on the area in cultivation July 1, less the 10-year average abandonment, which was estimated at 26,347 acres.

...ready
for your call

At the finger tips of your telephone operator stands many million dollars' worth of equipment in Texas... buildings, switchboards in 315 offices; two and a half million miles of wire... ready day and night to carry your voice the length and breadth of Texas, and beyond.

Last year it took more than 23 million dollars to operate this system for you. Part of this was for materials and supplies. More than four million dollars went for local, state, and federal taxes, to help pay for your roads, schools, police protection, and so on. More than 11 million dollars for wages, to nearly 9,000 workers who are your neighbors in Texas, and who spent that 11 million dollars in this state... no small item in keeping Texas business moving.

The telephone company, like the men and women who operate it, is a part of Texas. Its investment here has been made to meet this state's need for friendly, dependable telephone service. It serves its own interests best by giving you the service you want, at reasonable cost to you.

WONDERS OF MEXICO RECOUNTED IN LETTER FROM MITCHELL COUNTIAN ON COLLEGE TOUR

Some of the wonders and striking features of Old Mexico as seen through student eyes are recorded in a letter which Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Hood recently received from their daughter, Minnie Lee Hood, who is in Mexico with a Texas Tech class this summer. Laurence Snively, member of the Junior High school faculty, is in the same group.

Minnie Lee's letter reads, in part, as follows:
"We spent most of Friday in Monterrey, and saw many interesting places, but I believe you could spend a week there and then not see all of it... We went to the Bishop's palace, which is the oldest building there, having been erected around 1500... It's old and musty-smelling, but so pretty..."

"The climate is grand. We spent one night on a river near the Tropic of Cancer, but it was very nice and cool... There's a world of wild flowers and all kinds of tropical fruit... All the people have the loveliest yards, and flowers such as orchids, which sell as high as $20 apiece in the United States, are just a few cents each..."

"In Laredo we got our money exchanged... For $2 I got $9.48—boy, does that make you feel rich! But I imagine I'll feel pretty broke when I have it exchanged back if I have any left to exchange..."

They call us 'rich Americans' down here..."

"We came through some mountains after we left Monterrey... All the farming is on the sides of the mountains, since there are no valleys... The laborers have to tie themselves to trees along the edge to farm the mountain-sides, but the crops are beautiful... We saw them plowing with oxen and old wooden plows—all of it is just as primitive as the sixteenth century... We saw some hogs with yokes on—I never heard of such a thing... Their cows are all so poor looking and they have long horns..."

"We came through nothing but Indian country the last two days, and some of the sights we saw along the road were almost unbelievable... Some of those old, old men and women, small children, and women with babies hanging in a sack around their necks, all carrying loads one would think impossible... Dr. Holden said he saw one old bare-footed Mexican here in Mexico City with a piano on his back..."

"I want you to write me all the news because I haven't seen any American writing or heard an American broadcast since we left Laredo... We heard somewhere up the road that W. Lee O'Daniel was governor without a run-off—is that correct?"

FINAL PAYMENT TO BE MADE ON 1933 PLOW-UP OPTION CERTIFICATES

Holders of 1933 plow-up option (participation trust) certificates may now make application for a final payment of $1 per bale on such certificates, according to information from the office of B. J. Baskin, county agent. These holders have already received payments of $20.00 and $7.60 per bale.

Such certificates were issued to those 1933 producers who received a "cash payment plus an option of certain stipulated amounts of cotton" for their participation in the 1933 cotton plow-up, it is explained. The last payment on these certificates was provided for in the 1938 AAA set-up, and applications for these payments are now being taken at the county agent's office.

Each producer now holding such participation trust certificates is urged to bring them to the office of the county agent at once and make formal application for the benefits.

Twenty-two were present at the meeting. Any interested women are invited to join the club. A men's mass meeting in the interest of Terrell's candidacy is planned for the near future.
