

COLORADO PROTESTS CURTAILMENT OF T&P PASSENGER SERVICE

THREE FROM HERE TO R R COMMISSION HEARING HELD IN BIG SPRING SATURDAY

Statements showing that Colorado and Big Spring should be given due consideration in the matter of convenient passenger and mail service in view of the fact that they are the largest railroad shipping points between Fort Worth and El Paso were submitted by a special Colorado committee which went to a Texas Railroad commission hearing in Big Spring Saturday to represent the Colorado chamber of commerce in protesting the proposed discontinuance of two afternoon Texas & Pacific passenger trains between Big Spring and Sweetwater.

The Colorado group, including R. F. Fee, Lee Carter, and H. B. Spence, manager of the chamber of commerce, pointed out that whatever loss the railroad may sustain in operating the two trains should be somewhat balanced by the large amount of shipping business done by the railroad in Colorado and Big Spring alone.

Covering a six-hour period, the hearing was held before the commission's examiner, C. F. Petet. At the conclusion of the hearing Petet granted 20 days for the filing of briefs with the commission. He did not say when a decision would be handed down.

Loraine, represented by J. C. Hall, its mayor, joined Big Spring and Colorado in protesting the curtailed service.

The T&P is asking authority to discontinue the eastbound passenger train which originates in Big Spring and reaches Colorado at 1:57 p.m. and the westbound passenger which originates in Fort Worth and reaches Colorado shortly after 3 p.m., stopping in Big Spring. The schedules between Sweetwater and Fort Worth would remain the same. Proposal of the railroad is to substitute truck mail and express service between Big Spring and Sweetwater. The company is claiming heavy losses on operating expenses for the passenger trains between the two towns.

J. H. Greene, manager of the Big Spring chamber of commerce and former manager of the Colorado chamber, spoke for a number of Big Spring business men and outlined their wishes to keep the train service. Business men from Big Spring, Loraine, and Colorado offered testimony to show that the trains are not only a convenience but also a necessity without which citizens would be handicapped.

In arguing that heavy freight shipments should entitle Colorado and Big Spring to certain conveniences in the matter of mail and passenger service, the Colorado delegation pointed out that "private business often has to lose on some phase of service in order to gain on another."

Steel standards for Colorado's first traffic lights went into place this week at four main downtown intersections.

GEORGE B. ROOT, WELL-KNOWN HERE, DIES IN SHERMAN

FUNERAL FOR PIONEER OF THIS AREA TO BE HELD HERE FRIDAY A. M.

Word of the death of George B. Root, early-day Coloradoan, at his home in Sherman Wednesday night was received in Colorado Thursday morning by Mrs. Root's sister, Mrs. Earl Morrison, and her brother, Will Fox.

Funeral services are to be held from Kiker & Son chapel in Colorado at 10:30 Friday morning. The body will be received on the early morning train Friday.

Mr. Root, who was 75, was born in Galveston and came to Mitchell county in the early eighties, working for a number of years on various ranches in this section. Later he operated a livery stable which was located where the Colorado hotel now stands.

While living here he was married to Miss Lily Fox, a Colorado girl who was teaching at Edna. Their wedding took place in Edna. They lived in Colorado for awhile, then moved to Galveston. Later they returned to Colorado for a number of years, leaving here for Sherman about 1917 or 1918. They have returned to Colorado for brief intervals since then. Mr. Root had been connected with the Southland Life Insurance company for a number of years before his death.

Survivors in addition to Mrs. Root are three daughters, Pauline and Frank Ball Root of Sherman and Mrs. Dick Keith, the former Elizabeth Root, of Dallas. There is one granddaughter, two sisters also survive, Mrs. Clara Felts and Mrs. Mary Wortham of San Antonio. Mrs. Felts will be here for the funeral out Mrs. Wortham will be unable to attend.

COLORADO PLANS TO BE HOST TO OIL MEN OF PERMIAN BASIN

ANNIVERSARY OF FIRST SUCCESSFUL WELL 19 YEARS AGO NEAR HERE TO BE CELEBRATED

Oil men of the entire Permian basin will be invited to come to Colorado this summer and join in a celebration of the anniversary of the completion of the first successful Permian basin well in Mitchell county 19 years ago.

Plans for the celebration are now being shaped by the Colorado chamber of commerce. The date will be announced soon by a special committee to be named by Dr. W. S. Rhode, chamber president.

Known as the Underwriters' T. & P. No. 1, the well destined to become the first in the vast and prolific Permian basin was drilled on Earl Morrison land northwest of Westbrook by the Underwriters' Producing & Refining company of Tulsa, Oklahoma, and New York. Steve S. Owen of Tulsa, who is now headquartered in Colorado while drilling a deep wildcat in northwestern Howard county, was vice-president and general manager of the Underwriters, and as such superintended the drilling of the well. W. J. Thompson and Dan Lewis were drilling contractors.

First commercial pay in the well was struck the week of June 25, 1920. The shooting, delayed several days by various factors, took place on July 16, 1920. It was a red letter day in Mitchell county history. The Morrison No. 2, completed in February, 1922, was due to be a bigger well but not a more famous one.

Today the Permian basin has been established from beyond Hockley county on the north to Terrell county on the south and from Mitchell county on the east to Winkler county on the west. Over 5,000 producing wells are included in its expanse.

OIL DEVELOPMENTS IN THIS TERRITORY STILL ENCOURAGING

LEASING IS ACTIVE IN AREA; IRA WELLS ARE BEING CLOSELY WATCHED BY OIL MEN

The oil picture in the Colorado territory continued bright this week as favorable developments were reported in the new Ira field and rumors of extensive leasing activity in northwestern Mitchell county and elsewhere went around.

Reliable sources report that over 30,000 acres have been leased in the past few months. Recently a number of major lease deals have been completed in northwestern Mitchell county, with activity concentrated west of Cuthbert. Several major oil companies have been leasing in both Mitchell and Scurry counties, among them Shell, Humble, Gulf, Superior Oil of California, Phillips Petroleum, T&P Coal & Oil company, and the Magnolia Petroleum, which has had holdings in this area for some time.

In the new Ira field, which oil men are dubbing the "Sherron Ridge field," Coffield & Guthrie's No. 1-A First National bank of Snyder, which drilled through the 2,400-foot horizon of the field's discovery well and on to the Westbrook horizon of Mitchell county, topping pay at 3,033 feet, was reacting favorably to its second acidization at 3,184 feet.

Paul C. Teas No. 1 W. F. Thompson, which showed up as the best well in the field after a 320-quart shot last week, was still cleaning out Thursday. This well filled to within 400 feet of the top within six hours after being shot.

Wheeler & Yarbrough's No. 1 W. H. Sterling was still shut down Thursday morning at 2,500 feet awaiting developments in Coffield & Guthrie's deep test.

One new well has been spudded in the past week, this one being Coffield & Guthrie's No. 1 First National bank of Snyder, a direct offset to the discovery. No. 1 Spears & Brownfield. This well was drilled at 250 feet Wednesday afternoon.

OFF-TOLD STORY OF 'ACRES OF DIAMONDS' COMES TRUE HERE AS PAUL TEAS GETS OIL

The oft-told story of "Acres of Diamonds" practically came to life in oil developments in the Colorado territory last week.

The original story deals with a boy who left his home to search the world for riches. His quest fruitless, he returned home to find an "acre of diamonds" in his own back yard.

The real life story which developed in Colorado last week began in 1926, when a young Colorado geologist named Paul C. Teas became an independent operator and started his quest for riches under the earth.

Those were the days when oil activity in Mitchell county was at its peak. Teas drilled his first well on Ed Strain land in northwestern Mitchell county. There were oil showings, but nothing more. In 1929 a Teas' wildcat missed discovery of the Sayles pool in Jones county by one location.

Deciding that his quest might be more fruitful afar, Teas left Colorado in 1931 to live in San Antonio, his present home. From there he continued his search. He and his associates are credited with having drilled the four deepest wells to test the Edwards lime in Texas. This limestone has produced huge wells in Mexico, where it is known as the Tamasopa. One of Teas' tests on the Smithville prospect in Bastrop county was drilled to 7,500 feet at a time when oil was selling for 10 cents a barrel.

Thus Lady Luck continued to beckon but never waited to be caught. "I have," Teas solemnly affirms, "drilled dry holes all over Texas."

Last week Lady Luck paused at Teas' feet and he caught up with her. His No. 1 W. F. Thompson in the new Ira pool of Scurry county cleaned itself within an hour and a half after being shot, then filled to within 400 feet of the top in the next six hours. Oil men are declaring it the best well in the pool so far.

The Ira pool is only a few miles from where Teas drilled that first unsuccessful wildcat in 1926. He has found an "acre of diamonds" in his own back yard.

THOMPSON RETURNS AFTER HELPING TO REELECT TECH HEAD

Chas. C. Thompson, member of the board of directors of Texas Technological college at Lubbock, returned home Tuesday night after having been in Houston to attend the board meeting at which Clifford B. Jones was elected president of the college despite writs of injunction and other opposition offered by the board's minority group.

Before going into the meeting at which Jones was elected, Thompson and the five other board members voting for Jones allowed themselves to be served with writs of the injunction issued on Saturday by Judge Fountain Kirby of Groesbeck. The injunction was issued on the contention of George Winningham, a farmer of near Mexia, that election of Jones would be illegal because of a ruling by Attorney General Gerald Mann that Jones was technically a member of the board when he was recently elected president of the school, and therefore that the first election was unconstitutional.

The three board members opposing Jones' election did not vote Monday. These three are L. L. Steele of Mexia, Thos. Pollard of Tyler, and Mrs. W. R. Potter of Bowie.

GARDEN PROBABLY MOST VALUABLE ACRE OF LAND ON FARM, SOIL CONSERVATIONIST SAYS

The garden is probably the most valuable acre of land on the farm, according to a statement made recently by A. B. Kyle, soil conservationist in charge of the government water facilities office here, in discussing garden irrigation.

"If we took time to check up on our garden spot in dollars made and saved it is very probable that no other area of equal size on the farm would come close to equaling the returns secured from this small part of the farm," Kyle says.

"On most farms it is relatively easy to grow a good spring garden, but it often becomes too dry for any summer or fall vegetables.

"In sections where a shortage of moisture is the limiting factor in providing a successful home garden, it is suggested that 300 to 400 feet of garden tile be installed for sub-irrigating the garden. When wind and sand are also limiting factors, the sub-irrigation tile may be installed in combination with the frame gardens.

"If the proper water facilities are installed on a farm with enough storage for garden irrigation, this small area would easily be the most valuable land on the farm.

"Sub-irrigation tile can be made by the farmer at odd times for around two and one-half cents per foot. The tile is placed in rows from four to six feet apart, depending upon the soil type, and from twelve to sixteen inches below the surface of the ground."

Neff and Squirt Woods over Joe Robertson on Tuesday night and by the following on Wednesday night: Charles Watson over Duke Cox, Glenn Churchill over Jack Smith, Carl Shelton over Harold Simons, Earnest Burdine over Herman Hall.

Decisional wins were: Louis Latham over Buck Busbee, Jimmie Harrison over Delmar Thompson, Ross Glover over Nat Mann, Walter Grubbs over A. G. Furlow, Harrison Allmond over Carl Shelton, Dick Jones over Clifton Caffey, Robert Lacey over James Nunn, Burl Ballard over Paul Boyd Hunter, J. C. Davis over Tommy Ratliff, Lewis Latham over Cecil Smith, Jack DeLaney over Albert Dolin, Don Henderson over J. B. Crockett, A. G. Furlow over Gene Beard, T. J. Greene over T. J. Williams, Walter Grubbs over Truett Butler, Robert Lacey over Ray Sandeford, Delle Bollin over Squirt Woods.

Draws resulted in the matches of Nat Mann vs. Jack McCorkle, Dale Simpson vs. Lester Hall, Raymond Watlington vs. Don Rutherford, Duff Chesney vs. Chas. Watson, Malcolm Maves vs. Charles Botvidson, Johnny Latham vs. Gilbert Grubbs.

CLOUDED SKIES GIVE TANTALIZING PROMISE OF MUCH-NEEDED RAIN

The tantalizing promise of clouded skies has kept Mitchell countians hoping for much-needed rain during most of the past week. Skies were still overcast as press time came for The Record Thursday.

Rain was received in the eastern and northeastern portions of the county late Monday afternoon. Some reports placed Lorraine's moisture at around 1 1/2 inches. Residents of the Longfellow and Valley View sections reported a fall of between one-half and three-quarters inches. Snyder received .75 inches and Sweetwater an equal amount. Roscoe, however, reported only .21 inches.

Rain is badly needed in this county by both ranchmen and farmers.

MEANING OF METER-MISER IN REFRIGERATION TOLD

Meaning of the term, "Meter-Miser," as used in reference to modern Fridgidaire refrigerators is explained in the following article submitted by S. A. Martin, local dealer for Fridgidaire:

Over a period of several summers, there has appeared in a great many published advertisements the phrase, "Meter-Miser, in connection with one specific make of electric refrigerator. At first, taken to be just an advertising phrase, it has appeared so persistently and has made such a definite impression upon the public mind, that it has stimulated a more complete inquiry as to just what lay behind the idea. Some interesting facts were brought to light as a result.

The term Meter-Miser is the trade marked name of a wholly new design in refrigerator mechanism. The conventional types of electric refrigerators are nearly all equipped with compressors, working on a rotary motor to a vertical compression stroke, very much like an automobile engine, except that instead of generating power from gasoline, the refrigerator uses the power from the electric motor to compress the refrigerant gas in the course of providing refrigeration. Mechanically, however, the compressor is made of cylinder blocks, pistons, connecting rods, crank shafts, valves, and other interior items, all quite similar to the automobile engine in fact. It takes a fairly good motor just to keep all the parts moving before any refrigeration work is done at all. This function is comparable to a train without freight.

The Meter-Miser unit is a complete departure from the conventional. There is no transformation of rotary motor power to a vertical power stroke, requiring all the mechanical parts already outlined. In this it is in harmony with the modern trend in building great ocean liners, and also modern electric power stations. These now use the rotary principle directly, and are not only exceptionally powerful and smooth in operation, but the power plants themselves are far more compact and even neat looking.

In the new refrigerator design, the compression stroke is not vertical, or straight, but is actually rotary. This means that the entire mechanism which moves it built on the shaft of the motor itself. Instead of working back and forth like an engine piston, the Meter-Miser simply spins with the armature shaft of the motor. Everything is simplified. Many power consuming parts are eliminated altogether. There are no more belts, gears or pulleys.

All of this means that the smaller motor on the Meter-Miser will provide the same refrigeration as that furnished by its larger predecessor of the conventional type, or the same size motor will furnish a greater amount of refrigeration. In either event, considerable economy is effected, and long life is assured, since the entire mechanism including the motor is hermetically sealed forever from outside contact, away from dust, dirt and moisture.

The Meter-Miser is truly an innovation in modern mechanical design.

DOWNY LITTLE CHICKENS, SYMBOLS OF EASTER HATCHED BY THOUSANDS IN LOCAL PLANTS

Downy little chickens are almost as traditional to the Easter season as the mythical rabbit, but this pretty sentiment hasn't a thing to do with the thousands of little "cheepers" which are emerging from Colorado's two hatcheries every day. The hatching season has been in full blast at both plants for several weeks and will continue until about the middle of June. D. M. Logan's hatchery has a capacity of 52,000 eggs and M. A. Giddens' plant has a 16,000-egg capacity. Before the season ends these two plants will have supplied Mitchell county farmers and chicken-minded town dwellers with over 160,000 baby chicks destined to become broilers, fryers, or laying hens.

Sales of baby chicks are reported up this year at both plants. A lot of chickens are always sold the spring after a bumper feed crop, and Mitchell county's feed crop last year was more than up to par.

Leghorns seem to be gaining each year as favorites, hatchery men say. A few years ago these chickens were regarded as primarily layers while heavier breeds such as barred rocks, Rhode Island reds, and others were bought for eating purposes. Now people are learning that leghorns make good eating as well as good layers.

ALLOTMENT CARDS MAILED TO COUNTY FARMERS THIS WEEK

SIGNIFICANCE OF CARDS EXPLAINED BY HOLMES OF AAA OFFICE

Allotment card showing farm serial numbers, 1939 cropland, general or feed allotment for 1939, and the total soil depleting allotment for 1939 are being mailed out to farmers of Mitchell county this week, according to J. Wiley Holmes, county AAA director, who issued the following explanation of the cards:

The general allotment is the acreage that may be planted to maize, hegari, kaffircorn, or any other soil depleting crop other than cotton or wheat. The total soil depleting allotment is the total acres a farmer can plant in soil depleting crops and remain in compliance with the A.A.A. program.

The 1939 cropland shown in the upper righthand corner of the allotment card minus the 1939 total soil depleting allotment gives the neutral acreage that should not be planted in such a manner as to be classed as soil depleting.

This acreage will hold its different classifications if left idle, summer followed on contour or is planted to red top cane, sudan or summer legumes, such as cowpeas or soy beans, or is planted to any crop that will be consumed by the people themselves that are living on the farm. According to the instructions that have been issued on the 1939 program, the parity payment of cotton will not be made if the cotton allotment has been over planted. In other words you cannot plow up and get in line for the parity part of your payment. Some of the cotton allotments have been raised since the allotment cards were mailed. The cotton allotment may be rechecked by subtracting the general allotment and wheat allotment, if any, from the total soil depleting allotment for the farm.

Girls going with Mrs. Barber were Johnnie Lou Callison, Sterling Cooper, Theda Howell, Mildred Whitaker, Frances Merle Cooper, Adean Fry, Mary Verable, Marthalee Henderson, Amarie Gann, Bonnie Bill Brizendine, and Zilpha Thomas.

Dorris Dawn Patterson and Ann Barber took part on the Sunbeam division of the program. Mrs. C. P. Gary went over with Mrs. Patterson and the children.

Four women from the local church attended Friday sessions, these four being Mrs. Ray Richardson, Mrs. Lee Lavender, Mrs. Homan Posey, and Violet Moeser. Mrs. Lavender is local W. M. S. president.

FEED BELONGING TO SPADE FARMER BURNS

Twenty-five thousand bundles of feed belonging to E. Barber of Spade were destroyed by fire early Monday morning, the flames being discovered about 5 o'clock.

The feed was stacked in seven ricks near the Spade cemetery about a mile north of the Barber home. Barber expressed the belief that the blaze was incendiary in origin.

ALERT SQUIRREL IS FACTOR IN LATEST HOLE-IN-ONE TALE

This "hole-in-one" story, Colorado's latest and by far its most unusual, is vouched for by a district attorney, a school superintendent, an assistant postmaster, and several banking officials. Further proof is lacking.

It seems that Sefton Pickens, clerk in the City National bank, shot off of Number One at the Colorado country club golf course Saturday afternoon, his ball zooming far down the fairway. As it stopped rolling, an alert ground squirrel darted out, caught the ball and carried it into his hole nearby. Neither squirrel nor ball have been seen since.

If that wasn't a hole-in-one, Pickens and his golfing companions would like to know another name for it.

Playing with Pickens were Truett Barber, district attorney; John E. Watson, superintendent of schools; Ed Moeser, assistant postmaster; J. C. Pritchett, cashier of the City National bank; Charles Moeser and H. E. Grantland, assistant cashiers.

Wearing police costumes, the six girls in the chorus were: Ann Axtell, Lettisha Crabtree, Willie Grace Doss, Barbara Lynn Jones, Harry Etta Landers, and Doris Richardson.

John E. Watson, first vice-president, presided. New members were Leonard Henderson, introduced by Harry Ratliff, and Truett Barber, introduced by Jack Christian.

Guests were J. Wiley Holmes, Joe C. Williams, the new county agent, Bob Battle of Burton-Lingo, and J. W. LeBus of Fort Worth.

TEXAS DRIVER LICENSES EXTENDED AFTER APR. 1

AUSTIN—Police administrators of other states were notified recently of an indefinite extension period for Texas driver's licenses after April 1, Ralph L. Buell, chief of the licensing bureau, announced.

three years of validity. The new licenses will be issued by the public safety department instead of by tax collectors who distributed them when the law went into effect in 1936.

Chief Buell said temporary licenses will be assigned to drivers who pass examinations for their first permits and will remain valid until the amended statute becomes effective. Chauffeurs' licenses, however, will not be affected by the extension period as they are issued annually.

Newspapers will be advised of plans to renew licenses of drivers at a future date, he said.

Listed among marriage licenses issued in Sweetwater last week was one for T. C. Jones and Charlene Walker, both of whom gave their addresses as Colorado.

FIVE RETURNED LETTER MEN AMONG ATHLETES TRAINING FOR FRIDAY NIGHT TRACK EVENTS

Five returned letter men are included among the Colorado High school athletes who are undergoing daily, intensive training under Coach Jack Christian for the county interscholastic league track events on Friday night.

The letter men are Clayton Henderson, John Henderson, Burl Ballard, Jack Smith, and Duff Chesney. Fifteen others are out, there being entries in every event except pole vaulting, according to Coach Christian.

Sprinters are M. A. Webb, Ross Glover, Earnest Porter, and Burl Ballard. John Henderson, Jack Smith, and Lloyd Cox are in the 440-yard run, with Clayton Henderson and Wayne Webber in the 880-yard run, Harold Hamer, and James Nunn are in the mile run.

With the exception of one man, Colorado will have the same relay team which won second place at the district and fourth in the region last year. Jack Smith, John Henderson, and Burl Ballard, all of last year's team, are on this year's quartet. Duff Chesney, who was an alternate last year, is the fourth man this year.

Duff Chesney and Squirt Wood are practicing for the hurdle events, while James Lacey, Harold Hamer, M. A. Webb, Duff Chesney, and Jack Smith are to enter jumping contests. Clayton Henderson, Jack Henderson, and Squirt Wood are weight entries.

Writing Home From Austin

By E. Temple Dickson

Consideration of the pension-tax amendment has been resumed this week, but at this writing it can not be said just what is going to be done.

Last week the proposed income tax substitute for the sales tax almost became a part of the amendment. The house voted by a narrow margin to substitute an income tax for the sales tax, but on the following day the substitute was reconsidered and lost.

Principal controversy then reverted to the matter of natural resources taxes. Several factions are trying to levy higher taxes on natural resources than are provided in the present amendment.

The problem was taken up in the senate Monday, when that body considered a proposed law to divide all pensioners into two classes, "A" and "B" and pay each classification a set amount. The bill would also place administration of the pensions in the hands of commissioners courts in counties of less than 50,000 population.

Governor O'Daniel, although he had formerly objected strongly to the sales tax, said in his Sunday broadcast that he had changed his mind and that he felt the sales tax would be the best way now available to pay pensions.

Both house and senate committees have given approval to a pair of bills that would provide for the assumption by the state of county road bonds. Money taken in from gasoline taxes would be used by the state for this purpose, if the bills pass. Assumption of the bonded indebtedness of counties has long been urged by the Texas County Judges and Commissioners' association.

However, there is a possibility that the law may meet federal difficulties. T. H. McDonald, head of the federal bureau of roads, said assumption of the bonds by the state would be contrary to federal requirements for road aid, while another Washington official said this would not be so. The attorney-general of the United States has been asked for a ruling.

Nearly 1,200 bills have been introduced in the legislature this session, a recent count showed. Of course the majority of them will die in committee, but enough will be referred to the two houses with committee reports to keep legislators plenty busy.

Being considered in the house committee on public lands and buildings is a bill which would completely revise the law regarding land vacancies. Main object of the bill is to provide that land owners adjoining vacant lands have first option to buy state land found vacant. This is intended to stop a lot of racketeering to grab vacant state land, particularly in oil fields.

Texas is different from other western states in that its public property is the domain of the state rather than the United States. This was provided for in the treaty by which Texas joined the union. This has given the state a great deal of wealth which otherwise would have gone to the federal government, for the state has always been rich in land.

KEEPING UP WITH COLORADO GIRLS AT TSCW

By Nina Laura Smith (Held over from last week)

The first TSCW Writers' Conference has come and gone, but Frances Elliott and Moncure Carter haven't published the great American novel yet. These two were the only Coloradans to register for all the lectures and conferences and the banquet. Southwestern authors conducting the conference were J. Frank Dobie, John William Rogers, Walter Prescott Webb, Mrs. Grace Noll Crowell, Patrick D. Moreland, and John H. McGinnis. Phyllis Bentley, English novelist, closed the conference.

Mable Earnest Cooper was very much envied by her friends last week because she was being driven around in a grey convertible coupe Saturday afternoon. Investigation revealed that Miss Cooper was a guest at the Heart-O-Texas Club dance that night, with the other occupant of the convertible.

Efrem Zimbalist, world famous violinist, presented the last solo recital of TSCW's concert season last week. Zimbalist is a very dignified man who seldom smiles or seeks favor with his audience with his personality, but just plays and lets his music speak for itself. A very touching story is told about the reason for his evident sadness. Last fall his wife, Alma Gluck, a famous singer, died after being happily married to Zimbalist for many years. At a luncheon the TSCW music faculty gave him, one of the voice teachers happened to mention that Alma Gluck had been a great inspiration to young singers of this generation. As she said this, two tears rolled down Zimbalist's face.

Ruth Snider, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Snider of Route 1, remains in the running for queen of the redbud festival. Miss Snider is one of ten nominees from her group here to be rector of a church at Bay City. Rev. and Mrs. Henckell left Sunday afternoon for their new home and the best wishes of their host of friends will accompany them.—Big Spring Weekly News.

of dormitories. The identity of the queen will not be revealed until March 25, but all candidates will be honored in the celebrations of the week preceding the coronation. This brunette math and Spanish major was the only one Colorado can claim to represent it on the honor roll this past semester. One has to make 2.3 times as many grade points as semester hours to gain this distinction. Three times as many grade points as hours is the equivalent of a grade of A.

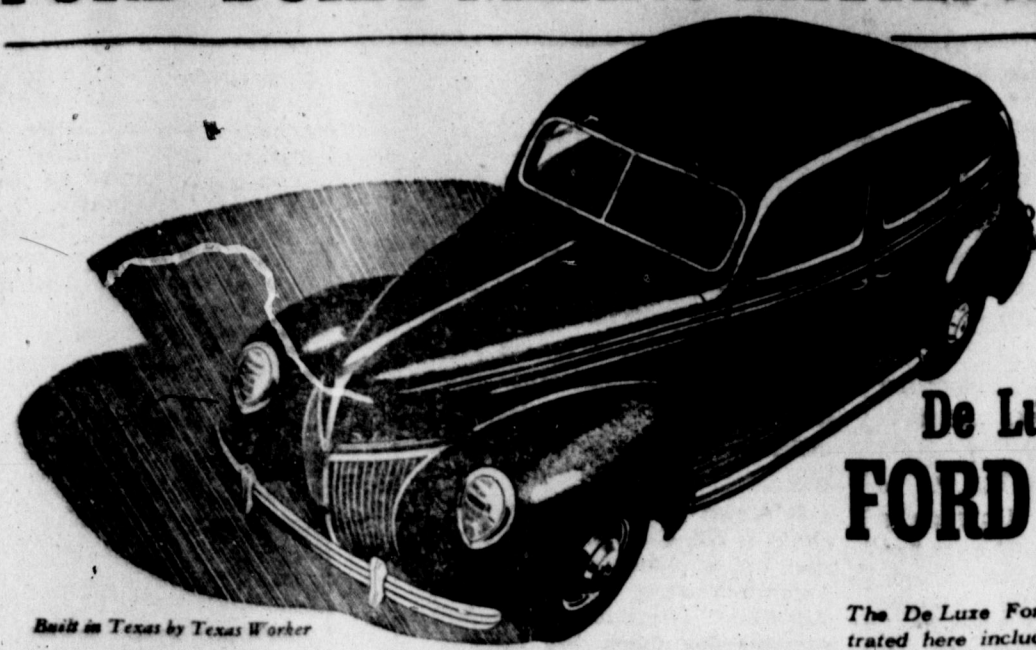

A special assembly program was arranged last week honoring TSCW's intellectual uppercrust of eight per cent who were on the honor roll. The aforementioned Ruth Snider sat on the stage as a member of Alpha Lambda Delta, honorary scholastic society for undergraduates. The College Choir, of which Melba Slaton is a member, presented the musical portion of the program. They looked very scholarly, singing in their traditional black robes from a perch in the balcony.

Melba Slaton was listed in the cast of the junior share of All-College Stunts last Friday night. Each class presents a fifteen minute skit in competition for a cup. Last year the freshman class won, and repeated again this year as sophomores. Some of Colorado's juniors were heard to remark that they got cheated, but sophomore Frances Elliott was properly flattered. Erna Lou Merrill also remarked that the stunts reminded her of waiting to see who had won the class play tournament in high school.

Edna Earle Cox went to Dallas last week-end, as usual. This time she had a fellow traveler in roommate Frances Elliott. The week-end was also remarkable for Frances because she saw some relatives she had not seen since 1933. This must seem like ages to her, since she is always visiting relatives in Denton who are excellent cooks and very hospitable. Some people get all the luck, says Edna.

Mrs. Pink Wade Hodge visited her daughter Betty last week, and helped sympathize with Betty's roommate, Moncure Carter, who was in Hygeia. All TSCW shudders at the thought of going to this place because a very popular medicine there is a big, round, brown pill. Edna Earle Cox, Frances Elliott, and Nina Laura Smith spent last Saturday night with Erna Lou Merrill and Elizabeth Taylor. Divide three single beds by five people and you get a very cozy good night's sleep. Before the usual feast which precedes most lights out on Saturday, this quintet attended a return show-

Simple Recipe for Better Light in Your Home!

IT'S EASY TO HAVE PLENTY OF LIGHT-- AND INEXPENSIVE, TOO!

PUT LARGER GLOBES IN PRESENT FIXTURES

A quick and easy way to improve the lighting in your home is to buy lamp bulbs of higher wattages. You can get a 100-watt bulb for 15 cents, the same price as a 60-watt bulb, but it produces about twice as much light.

ADD LOW COST SCREW-IN UNITS

Inexpensive screw-in fixtures add to the appearance of the home and provide plenty of glareless light. They are ideal for families who rent.

USE PORTABLE BETTER SIGHT LAMPS

Portable lamps serve the double purpose of providing a good light for easy seeing, and also illuminate the room. Every member of the family should have an individual reading light.

INSTALL PERMANENT FIXTURES

If you own your home, perhaps you'd like to have new and modern permanent lighting fixtures installed by a local electrician. Be sure to put in plenty of wall outlets so you can make full use of your electric service in every room.

Light is one of the small pleasures of household existence. A 100-watt reading lamp, for example, uses only about 1/2 cent's worth of electricity an hour.

"JESSE JAMES" ANNOUNCED AS EPIC OF A LAWLESS ERA, GREATEST OF ZANUCK HITS

TECHNICOLOR FILM DUE HERE SUNDAY AND MONDAY WITH TYRONE POWER IN TITLE-ROLE

The most romantic outlaw in the history of America, the desperado whose daring colored a whole era and endowed it with the title of the "Serious Seventies"—the man who invented bank holdups and introduced train robberies—has been brought to the screen at last in Darryl F. Zanuck's production, "Jesse James," the 20th Century-Fox Technicolor epic, starring Tyrone Power, Henry Fonda, Nancy Kelly and Randolph Scott, which shows at the Palace theatre Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday, March 25, 26, and 27.

One of the most difficult problems facing producer Darryl F. Zanuck, who had already shown his good judgment by casting Tyrone Power in the title role, was to ascertain a fairly accurate picture of what Jesse James was really like, and then to present that picture with as much authenticity as possible, taking care neither to whitewash nor blacken the character of the man.

Two years of research into the life and times of this fascinating character before the actual production of the film was begun.

Henry King, the distinguished director of such Zanuck hits as "Lloyds of London," "In Old Chicago" and "Alexander's Ragtime Band," was entrusted with the megaphone, and made a trip into the Ozark region to select actual locales. The little town of Pineville, Missouri, was finally chosen, and it was here that a vast company, including, besides Power, Fonda, Miss Kelly and Scott, Henry Hull, Slim Summerville, J. Edward Bromberg, Brian Donlevy, John Carradine, Donald Meek, John Russell and Jane Darwell, travelled to shoot this gripping photoplay.

Nummally Johnson, the author of some of the screen's greatest successes, was selected to weld this colorful mass of story material into a screen play that throbbled with life. Johnson also acted as associate producer on the production.

"Jesse James" open with the introduction of the "Iron Horse" in its journey through the old West, cutting ruthlessly across the farms of the simple, hardy pioneers.

It shows how Jesse James and his equally notorious brother, Frank (Henry Fonda), began their career of crime as a direct result of the murder of their mother by an unscrupulous hireling of the St. Louis Midland railroad, in the person of one Barshoe, played by Brian Donlevy.

Jesse shoots Barshoe and swears to avenge his mother's death. A murderer with an ever-increasing price on his head, he goes from raid to raid.

Love comes to Jesse in the person of Zerelda, better known as Zee, played by Nancy Kelly, a gently nurtured girl who gave up a life of ease to share the wild, reckless life of this hunted outlaw as his wife, and to bear his son alone in the hills.

When Zee finally leaves him, Jesse becomes a cold and ruthless desperado, and the film follows his reckless deeds across five states, climaxing in his betrayal and death at the hands of Bob Ford, the "dirty little coward" of song and story, who sold him out to the law.

Perhaps the best picture of this good bad man is contained in the words of the mayor of his home town of Sedalia, uttered months after Jesse James had died in the arms of his beloved bride.

The occasion was the dedication of an obelisk on the old James farm. "Jesse was an outlaw, a bandit, a criminal," said the Mayor, "but we aren't ashamed of him. Maybe it's because we understand a little that he wasn't to blame for what his times made him! All I know is, he was the doozedest, dadblamedest buckaroo that ever rode across the United States of America!"

JACKIE COOPER, FREDDIE BARTHOLOMEW CO-STARRED

Tomorrow's heroes are the boys of today!

From the carefree ranks of boys who now spend their lives in sport and play must come the men who will "run the world" tomorrow.

How some of these boys are trained for leadership and courage forms the dramatic theme of Universal's "Spirit of Culver," which comes Friday and Saturday, March 24 and 25, to the Palace theatre with Jackie Cooper and Freddie Bartholomew in co-starring roles.

Told in fast-moving and graphic scenes, the screenplay shows what happens to Cooper, a homeless vagabond, when he is awarded a scholarship and given a chance to prove himself at Culver.

Freddie Bartholomew, who has abandoned his white Eton collar for a trim military uniform in the picture, has the role of Cooper's English room-mate. He is the young cadet who steeped himself in the traditions and ideals of the famous school and helps Jackie forget his grudge against society.

Screen favorites heading the supporting cast include Andy Devine, Henry Hull, Tim Holt, Gene Reynolds, Walter Tetley, Jackie Moran, Kathryn "Sugar" Kane and Marjorie Gateson.

From the moment that he started his first plans for production of "Spirit of Culver," Burt Kelly, the associate producer, took steps to assure an authentic picture of "young America," and entirely different from any former youth spectacle.

More than a thousand boys were interviewed before a company was recruited to appear in the drama with Bartholomew and Cooper.

Brigadier-General L. R. Gignilliat, distinguished head of Culver Military Academy was invited to Universal studios as technical advisor on the picture.

IM FOR IT

For too long a time the slogan of "I'm agin it" has been adopted by perhaps too many of our citizens and we think it apropos to coin a new one. Henceforth our slogan shall be "I'm for it" when issues concerning the progress and welfare of our community are at stake. In this connection we are definitely "for" the proposed paving project for our city. As progressive, interested citizens of this community we cannot see otherwise. This matter is not merely a question of a few dollars and cents for the moment, but goes out beyond the limits of the present. Nothing worthwhile in life is ever accomplished without the expenditure of both time and money, and to hold back the progress of our town because any progressive steps might entail the expenditure of a little ready cash is hardly to be accepted as a mark of good citizenship. We need this paving—it will enhance the value of our property and will help us to build for the future. There will possibly never be another time when we can get it for so little money—and not to take advantage of it at this time seems to us very poor business judgment.

We trust the committees now working on this project can work out means whereby we can start the program. It is our hope also that our citizenship will awaken from their smug spirit of complacent lethargy and respond. Let's move in unison for the up-building of our home town. Let's all be "for" it!

The rodeo stock in the "Colorado Frontier Round-up Association" will be handed out in the next few days to those whose stock is paid out.

CASANOVA CAPITULATES!

Robert (Casanova) Ketcham, long the romantic Lochinvar of the Southwest, has finally met his Waterloo and has fallen before the onslaught of little Dan Cupid whose darts pierced the holes in his armor (and amour) and made him an easy and willing victim to stand before the altar of Hymen and hear the pronouncements of doom. Yep, Casanova has been corralled, hog-tied, hobbled, and branded—and all his romantic past is merely prologue to the bliss he anticipates for the future. In other words, Cassie has "got hitched." The grand affair occurred in Oklahoma City sometime in the early part of March. We don't know who the young lady is, but we bet she is a honey—a guy of Cassie's fine sensibilities should be able to pick 'em gentle and sweet. We just wonder, though, if Cassie has told her all she should know—to paraphrase an old war-days song, "he may have told his wife, no doubt, but we bet he left a lot of it out." Anyway, we have it on good authority that several gals of this section are contemplating suicide or retirement to some monastery since they heard the sad tidings of his being taken out of circulation.

Well, congratulations Robert, and Mrs. Robert—we wish for you all the joys, happiness, contentment, and prosperity that can be crowded into a long lifetime—and may all your difficulties be "wee ones." Bring the young lady out to see us and we will do our utmost to bring her up-to-date on all the things she possibly has not as yet heard about.

PROGRESS REPORTED

Lee Carter, chairman of a chamber of commerce committee in charge of directing construction and operation of a public rest room in downtown Colorado for convenience of visitors in the city, announced before a banquet at Lorraine some time ago that consummation of the project was expected within the near future.

GAY, ROMANTIC COMEDY COMES TO PALACE SCREEN

Marking her third American screen appearance, Franciska Gaal, noted European stage actress, has the starring feminine role opposite Franchot Tone in "The Girl Downstairs," which comes to the Palace theatre Tuesday and Wednesday, March 28 and 29.

In the new picture Miss Gaal has the role of a scullery maid in a home of wealth in Switzerland. The story is a modern comedy romance written by Sandor Hunyady, famous Continental dramatist. Norman Taurag directed.

The supporting cast includes Walter Connolly, Reginald Gardiner, Rita Johnson, Reginald Owen and Franklin Pangborn.

Miss Gaal, an accomplished vocalist, sings one song, "When You're in Love," written especially for her by Bob Wright and Chet Forrest.

In "The Girl Downstairs" Tone playing a wealthy young playboy, falls in love with Rita Johnson. Rita's father, Walter Connolly, decides that he doesn't like Tone and orders his servants to refuse him admittance into the house. To outwit Connolly, Tone strikes up a friendship with Franciska Gaal, the scullery maid. He poses as a chauffeur and Miss Gaal falls in love with him. When in a series of amusing complications Tone pretends to have lost his job as chauffeur and Miss Gaal uses her life savings to buy him a taxi, he realizes the true character of the pretty scullery maid and transfers his affections from mistress to servant.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

Friday of last week was St. Patrick's day. But little attention was paid in Colorado to that Patrick saint.
The patron saint of Ireland, he lived about 396-469. The name is Latin, signifying patrician. According to one tradition he was born near the present town of Dumbarton, Scotland, where his father was evidently a man of some standing, a deacon in the Roman garrison. Patrick was captured by a marauding expedition of Irish Piets and sold into slavery in Ireland. Here he led a hard life, but succeeded after a time in escaping. He then, according to the popular account, fitted himself for the priesthood in France and at Rome, where he obtained permission from Pope Celestine to return to Ireland to convert the natives to Christianity. He left two pieces of writing, one was a so-called confession, is a defense of his work in Ireland and is in a way autobiographical. In reality, beyond the fact that he was one of the earliest, if not the first priest to preach Christianity to the Irish, little is known regarding the details of his life. The popular saying that St. Patrick drove the snakes out of Ireland is peculiar, as snakes never existed in that island. All accounts seem to imply that St. Patrick was not an Irishman at all, but a man of Roman ancestry, born in Scotland, a Christian missionary to the Irish. The 17th of March is observed by the Irish as Saint Patrick's day.

THE SHAMROCK

It is recorded in history that St. Patrick had a good deal to do with establishing the Shamrock as the national emblem of Ireland corresponding to the rose of England and the thistle of Scotland. Shamrock is an old Irish name for clover. St. Patrick is said to have used the three leaves to teach the doctrine of the Trinity. To avoid confusion it may be well remembered that English writers frequently speak of the clover as trefoil. A small yellow hop clover sold on the streets of Dublin is the genuine shamrock.
There's a dear little plant that grows in our isle
'Twas St. Patrick himself, sure, that set it
And the sun on his labour with pleasure did smile
And the dew from his eyes often wet it.
It thrives through the bog, through the brake and mireland
And it's name is the dear little Shamrock of Ireland.

TALKING ABOUT THE RECORD

Lynn Landrum in his Dallas News column says:
American newspapers carry more world news today than they ever carried before. And the world news they print is fresher than world news ever was in newspapers of other years.
You may have a vague recollection that there was a lot of talk about the island of Yap some years back. But you didn't know where Yap was then and you probably don't know now. But you do know where Guam is—and you understand why President Roosevelt wants it fortified. You know where Abyssinia is and know why Great Britain is having to fortify Gibraltar now on the landward side. These things have been diagrammed for you and photographed for you and set out in print for you until you can't fail to have seen something about them.
Newspaperdom is responding to the demand for more information about world affairs. Magazines are devoting more space to such things. As the world is thus brought nearer to our comprehension it becomes larger in our thinking.

A COLUMNIST'S TROUBLES

The 2500 readers of this column are divided into three groups. One division criticizes us for writing too much about the Bible and delivering sermons. The Bible is the most important book ever published and is read less. Man's salvation is more important than all the money in the world.
Another division jumps on us for trying to write about politics and the third group laughs at our almanac, 50-year-old wisecracks and many say the column is not worth the space taken. As we are verging on toward the 80's we submit this week the following epic:

I sit at home and gaze and ponder,
And in my mind I roam and wander
To far off bright and sunny climes
Where one can live beneath the vines,
Where all life's trials a man can shirk,
And never think of toil and work,
Where he can reach above his head,
And pluck from trees his daily bread.

It is amazing how a seemingly small incident, like reading a magazine article out loud, can change so entirely the current of human events and tenor of the way in one man's family.
If a thug, at the other end of a gun, robs you of your money, (if any), he is, (if caught), put where the woodbine twineth not, but if a writer, at the other end of a paragraph, robs you of your contentment and the respect of your family by telling you of a place where a family of five can live like a feudal king on fifty dollars a month and does not even mention where you can get the fifty dollars, there is nothing done about it, when in reality he should be drawn and quartered, or, at least, suspended from a rafter by his great toe.
The other evening I was sitting in the kitchen reading while the little woman was making up a batch of biscuits and the daughter was delving into the mysteries of English composition and rhetoric.
"Listen to this," I say, and begin to read an article on the South Sea Islands in general and Tahiti in particular, written by a guy who had been there and experienced all of its wonders. When I came to where it told of going out into the front yard and shaking a bread fruit from off a tree, the little woman took her hands out of the dough and wiped them on her apron. Giving me a withering look she shrieked: "That settles it, here I have made up enough bread in my married life to sink the good ship Lolly Pop while other men's wives merely get aboard their private yachts, spend days sitting upon deck in the sun as they sail over the green smooth glassy waters of the Pacific, alight in the South Sea Islands, and with a lei around their necks, they merely shake a tree and their bread falls at their feet. May sticks and stones break my bones, if I ever soil my hands making bread again." With that she sailed unapologetically from the kitchen leaving one batch of Pappy's biscuits that never reached the passing stage.
When I got to the part where it told how one could fish and bathe in the blue lagoons or lie basking upon the golden sands the year around, taking time out only long enough to gather a banana, a pineapple or a cocoanut for lunch, the daughter looked up from her studies and asked:
"Daddy, do they have any schools there?"
I told her that I did not see any schools mentioned.
"Then that settles it," she said, as she arose and closed her book with a bang. Then she continued: "Here I am straining a not overly strong mind preparing myself to go through life the hard way when the South Sea Islands hand you a glorious existence upon a golden platter, no more studying for me, I can be ready to start just as soon as I get a large new outfit of clothes together."

The government now runs the whole works, kills the pigs, shoots the cows, reduces the acreage, plows up the cotton, taxes us for pensions because someone happened to be 65 years old, all of which suggests the following verse:

103 YEARS AFTER SAN JACINTO

"Please make a law to regulate
All retail prices in this state,
A law to make all trading fair;
A standard price for cutting hair.
"Lest competition interfere,
A retail price on ale and beer;
A certain day to plant our corn;
A time for rising in the morn.
"A price on every loaf of bread;
A time when all must go to bed,
Lest anyone a duty shirk,
The time when we must go to work.
"A price on copper, lead and brass,
On putty, nails and window-glass;
The speed at which all cars must run;
Time for the rising of the sun.
"A price on trucks and pleasure cars;
A price on candy and cigars;
A price on every fork and spoon;
A time for turning on the moon.
"A day when speckled trout will bite;
And when the light's turned off at night,
We should know every rate of pay
For men who labor every day.
A doctor's price to give a pill;
A lawyer's to collect a bill.
"Then, if you have some time to spare,
Set breathing rates upon the air,
Let Henry Ford or Irene DuPont
Fix Texas prices wherever they want.
Oh, Legislators, our liberties please take;
Freedom, we agree, is an awful mistake."

Some people are foolish because they were born that way, others because they can't help it, and still others because they are trying to look like someone else.

EASTER HATS

Last week we had an epic on the introduction of Easter hats and speaking on this subject S. P. says:
S. P. finds no fault with women's hair; it's the hat that perplexes him. Nowadays hats are architectural wonders, a rare combination of the Leaning Tower of Pisa and the Egyptian pyramids. S. P. suspects milliners are hiring architects to design the feminine head-gear, for no article like the current models could be built without carefully-drawn blueprints. It is a tribute to the milliner and architect that the hats, which seemingly hang off the women's foreheads in midair, can be sold for as little as a dollar. S. P. saw one last week, a beautiful model which resembled a kerosene lamp with a sparrow's nest over it, priced at 50c. If woman has any fault tolay, it's the hat, not the hair.

THE LEGISLATURE

We asked a lawyer friend in Colorado what he thought of the O'Daniel legislature and here is what he said:
The Legislature is certainly moving along, and is making history. I notice they are about to pass the bill protecting bullfrogs. What a work! What a glorious result will this bring to our beautiful state!
The establishment of a few bullfrog ranches will be a good start toward the industrialization of our state and give our legislators a few frog legs and a place to spend their vacation.
Governor Alfred made some great strides during his administration. He made a speech at a mother-in-law convention, cut a ribbon and raised his own salary $8000, while the old people, who made the country what it is by plowing up the prairies, building roads, towns and cities, went hungry. The present generation sits rared back with their feet on a desk, telephone, telegraph, television at their side, while they laugh at the old gimmerats, as they call them. Democracy, where art thou?

ECONOMY

If I were at Austin and could get the floor for a speech I would say:
It seems that the deficit in our state budget grows larger all the time, and the question with our Governor and legislators is to find something on which to levy more taxes.
When I was a boy and the expenses got to be more than the income we had to cut down expenses. But I haven't heard our Governor or any of the legislators advocating a reduction in their salaries or their traveling expenses. They all seem to be very much interested in the old people getting a pension and taking care of indigent and blind—that the old people should get at least $30 per month. Well, if the old people can get along on $30 and furnish their own houses to live in, surely the Governor could get along on less than $1,000 a month and a mansion furnished him. If these old people live on 1 a day or less I think our legislators could make out on less than $10 per day.
Some one will say their salaries are fixed by the Constitution. This is true, but this does not force them to take this exorbitant amount. Again, the amendment to the Constitution allowing the increase in salaries was adopted by about 25 or 30 per cent of the qualified voters of the state, the rest not voting. I do not believe any amendment to the Constitution should be adopted unless at least 50 per cent of the qualified voters in the state vote for its adoption.
There are many other salaries that could be reduced, and if our legislators would turn their attention in that direction there need not be such frantic efforts to raise the taxes on industry and business. And it would also show that they were really interested in the welfare of the aged and unfortunate.

LOOKS-TO-HIM-LIKE ANOTHER GRASSHOPPER ARMY

The opposition to Governor O'Daniel's transaction tax is mostly envy of our Governor, for what he is going to do for Texas, and the old folks. They remind me of the spies Moses sent over, to spy out the Promised Land. All but two, Joshua and Caleb, returned and reported that the land was inhabited by great giants, and that "we are just as grasshoppers in their hands." Just read the book and see how God handled that report.
These weak-kneed politicians see that transaction tax as a great giant, but we have too many Joshuas and Calebs in Texas holding up the Governor's hands; he can't fail.

A FRIEND INDEED

Cooperation
 Have you ever seen that picture of two calves with a rope about their necks! These were two piles of hay farther apart than the length of rope would reach. Each calf strained against the other in order to have a pile of hay by himself. The rope would not stretch or break. The only way for the two calves to eat the hay was to get together. They did. Yet people can not—will not—cooperate to that extent. It seems terrible that people, who are supposed to have a power of reasoning, cannot cooperate.
 Is highly over-developed selfishness the trouble?

WHO'S WHO
Freddie Watson
 Listen, my children. I'm here to give you the low down on Freddie

Watson. So here it is:
 She's the superintendent's daughter (one of them), drives a '37 Oldsmobile, plays a saxophone in the band (pretty good, too), is a beater (you know, argue, argue, argue), is a Junior in High school (treasurer of the class, I believe), has blonde hair and green eyes and grins quite a bit. Sure, you'll like her.
 But she's lazy they tell me. The C.H.S. debater scored a victory last week-end and Freddie didn't come to school Monday. Well, they won, didn't they? She earned it, I guess.

COLORADO AND LORAINÉ DIVIDE HONORS IN DEBATE

"Half lamenting and half shouting," to use the words of the coach, was the reaction to the county meet debates. After several weeks of work, strife, worry, fright, talking, traveling, and cutting classes, the debaters finally reached the crisis, county meet, on Monday night, March 20. The debates were held in the Colorado High school with Lenora Cook as chairman. The Colorado girls drew the affirmative and the Lorainé girls the negative side of the question. Resolved, That Texas should adopt a uniform retail sales tax. Sides were reversed in the boys' debate. Beulah Robinson and Freddie

Watson of Colorado won first place, and Betty Johnson and Doris Black of Lorainé won second in the girls division. J. W. King and Melvin King of Lorainé won first place, and J. T. Williamson and Harvey Cook of Colorado won second in the boys division.
 The old cry rings back again. "Too bad we all can't win," but since we can't, let us say "More power to you, girls."

TENNIS COUNTY MEET

The tennis county meet was held Friday afternoon, March 17, with Colorado, Lorainé, and Westbrook competing. In the boys division Johnnie Grubbs took first place in senior singles with Lorainé in second place. Bruce Nuckolls took first place in junior singles and John DeGarmo and Johnnie Robinson won junior boys doubles while Robert Lacey and Clayton Henderson took a second place to Lorainé in the senior doubles. In the girls division, Virginia Whipkey, senior singles representative, was defeated by Lorainé for second place and Ann Axtell and Emma Lena Tilley in senior doubles took second place to Westbrook. In junior girls singles Marvlyn Martin lost to Lorainé while Colorado did not have an entry in junior girls doubles.

HOME ECONOMICS NEWS

Tuesday, the first year foods class gave a tea honoring their mothers. The St. Patrick's Day theme was carried out. The table decorations were St.

Patrick's hats, white candles and ivy. Sandwiches of white bread and green cheese and Shamrock cookies were served with tea.
 The program consisted of a flute and violin duet by Margaret Smoot and Jan Lee. Then, Betty King gave a reading, "An Explanation."
 The first and second year clothing classes in Home Economics are making a desperate effort to get their dresses completed in time to have a preliminary contest and to get to the State Rally in Galveston in May.

F.F.A. DAY AT FT. WORTH

Due to your reporter's absence the day the report was due last week (not because had too much Stock Show either) there was no writeup on Fort Worth trip.
 Twenty-five boys left on a school bus Friday morning, March 10, at 9 o'clock for the annual F.F.A. day at the Fort Worth Fat Stock show, which was to be on Saturday, March 11, this year.

We embarked on our return trip at 11 o'clock Sunday morning and arrived home about 5 o'clock Sunday evening.

All the boys seemed a bit groggy and dizzy from having been wound up in so many revolving doors and from riding so many elevators. We all agreed that the elevator in the Medical Arts building went the fastest but the one in the Worth hotel was the best to ride because the building was twenty-four stories high. There was a bit of wind and sand in the air on the night of March 11, at Fort Worth too, so the boys had to take a running start to keep from getting their heels mashed when they started out of the hotel because the wind was revolving the door around at a rather fast pace.

 Some of the third year boys were very fortunate in seeing and chatting with their first year Ag. teacher, Mr. Doyle William, who is now teaching Agriculture at Denison High school. Some of the boys saw and spoke to Mr. Benton Templeton, a former Coloradoan, who now resides in Austin.
 A few of the boys who have rhythm in their feet stayed out at the fair grounds Saturday night to see Mr. Paul Whiteman and his orchestra.

We were accompanied on our trip by Mr. and Mrs. Shillingburg and Doris Flo Doss, our F.F.A. sweetheart, who had a free trip for having won the sweetheart contest last fall.
 A good time was had by all.

FUTILITY

We are cowards, aren't we all? We, who in our weakness, fall, We, who in His image fashioned We know not the ways unpassioned!
 We think of naught but worldly gain And pay no heed to needless pain, Which 'caused by us in moneyed strife May hurry a fellow's fading life.
 But, in vain, we strive to gain, That which He gave us in pain, And, as insects do the same, We fly in and are devoured by Life's flame.
 —Harvey Hicks.

AUTUMN

Today, as in the lanes I walk, I see the bare earth turning brown, I hear old winter's chilling talk To autumn leaves upon the ground.
 The north wind brings to me a scent Of burning logs, of pumpkin pies, And curling smoke from chimneys hint That eating time is drawing nigh.
 I hear the cawing of the crows, I see the scarlet skies above, I often wonder if God knows That these are just the things I love.
 —Hazel Laster

ANTS

Thousands upon thousands Go marching by, Like soldiers: ready to fight, And willing to die.
 Through the meadows and over the hills, March these soldiers, past the mills Never stopping to rest, never fleeing of fear, Never stopping of thirst nor shedding a tear.

But on, on to conquer their enemy, Never a thought of being unnumbered, Only the thought of revenge, Revenge to their enemy.
 —Jimmie Mae Wolldr

TO MY ROSES

Oh, rose of honor, you of red, You of courage and of grace, Swaying gently in your bed— Keeping quietly in your place.
 You in nurse's white are garbed, Next your sisters all in red, Your stems with swords are thickly garbed, To guard your precious snow-white head.
 Oh, yellow rose with golden hair, With your lovely golden hair, To others, perfume you impart— You of my tiny garden square.

BASEBALL

The first round of the soft ball county meet was played last Thursday. Lorainé carried off a large percentage of the first place honors in both girls and boys divisions.
 The C.H.S. team drew Lorainé for the first game and were defeated, not without a battle, 13 to 16. Lorainé, then, defeated Westbrook 49 to 9, winning the first place.
 The Colorado High school girls were defeated by Lorainé, the score totaling 47-25. The Junior girls from Colorado Jr. High won the only game Colorado scored in the entire county meet by defeating the Junior girls from Buford.

1,095 meals are cooked in your household every year. Preparing these meals with an obsolete range is like cooking while blindfolded. Guess work is always the hardest way and the most costly in time, money and energy.

Yes, your old gas range still cooks

... but if you can't fit the HEAT to the task you are missing some of the advantages that your modern, low-cost gas service offers.
 The new gas ranges fit the amount of heat to the cooking operation at a finger tip touch of the control lever and selected temperatures are maintained constantly and automatically. Proper oven temperatures, which are so important in baking and roasting, can be measured as accurately as the ingredients of the recipe itself. Top burners provide just the right amount of heat for top-of-the-stove cooking. You can have five tiny beads of concentrated heat for slow boiling or simmering or the intense, powerful heat for quickest frying and in-between heats when and as you need them. At a click of the valve handle you can regulate heat without guess work. No stooping. No experimenting.
 See the new, matchless 1939 gas ranges today. Compare them with your present range. Learn how they will save you fuel, time and money. You'll agree they are designed to do more for you than "just cook."

TREATMENT OF GRAIN AND SWEET SORGHUMS FOR SMUT

In treating grain sorghums for smut we suggest that powdered Copper Carbonate dust be used. This is available at your favorite drug store.

Use two ounces of the copper carbonate to one bushel of seed getting all seed well coated with the dust. Suggest that a half to one bushel of seed be treated in the operation. Put the seed in a tub or barrel and measure out the amount of dust desired to treat the seed. Add the dust and stir or mix very well in order to get each seed coated with the dust. The treatment is only as effective as to your ability to get all of the seed coated with the dust. In treating it is important that the nose and mouth be protected by tying handkerchief or cloth over the nose and mouth to prevent inhaling the dust as it is very irritable to the throat. Be sure that livestock do not get any of the treated seed as it is poisonous to them. Seed well treated will mean that the crop will be practically free of smuts next fall.

Mr. Fred Keating of the Big Spring experiment station stated that if the seed is carried to the station that they will furnish the copper carbonate and treat the seed free of charge to those who are interested.

BLIGHT RESISTANT MILO

Several have made inquiry about getting blight resistant milo seed, it is suggested that in case you cannot secure the blight resistant milo seed locally that you see your local community organization leaders and pool your orders for the seed in order to get it at reduced prices and in larger quantities. This seed is available in Dawson county and can be secured if orders are pooled in large quantities at cheaper rate than if secured in smaller lots.

MRS. L. E. GRESSETT AND MRS. C. E. BUTLER ENTERTAIN

Friday evening Mrs. Gressett and Mrs. Butler were hostesses to the faculty of Westbrook school at the home of Mrs. L. E. Gressett for a St. Patrick's party. Bridge, forty-two and a St. Patrick contest were the diversions of the evening.

The decorations and refreshments reflected the spirit of the occasion. At the beginning of the games each guest was given a number of shamrocks, if any one was caught answering "yes" or "no" during the game they were penalized and had to pay off with a shamrock. High score fell to the one holding the most shamrocks. Miss Ruth Mohon held high score for the ladies and Mr. R. G. Fowler for the men. Next came an intellectual contest. Each one was given a paper, pencil and questions, which had to be answered with a word containing "Pat". Miss Rozelle McKenney scored high for the ladies and Mr. J. R. Lindsey for the men. Mints in keeping with the color motif were served during the games.

Favors were tiny shamrocks centered with miniature hats. Refreshments of congealed salad, cheese sandwich, cake and coffee were served to Mr. and Mrs. I. D. Lauderdale, Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Cox, Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Lindsey, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Hudson, Misses Ruth Mohon, Anna Speights, Winnie Pae Gressett, Rozelle McKenney, Mary Kent, Messrs. John Hood, C. E. Butler, R. G. Fowler, R. G. Crouch, L. E. Gressett.

A St. Patrick day's game was played during the social period led by Mrs. Witt Hines, recreation leader. The hostess served delicious whole wheat bread sandwiches of different kinds, made from home grown wheat which was ground at a local mill, also coffee and mints.

BUILDERS CLASS

The Builders class met with Mrs. R. B. Walden last Thursday. Mrs. Walden and Mrs. Walter Knox were co-hostesses. After the business meeting Mrs. Gressett conducted several interesting games which were enjoyed by everyone.

Refreshments of sandwiches, cookies and coffee were served to 21 members.

SENIOR NEWS

Listen to Winton Lee, Seniors, and bring your dollar deposit for your invitations.

The staff sent off the annual pictures last Wednesday. There were 19 pages. We think we are going to have the best annual in this community. If so we get a reward.

The Seniors have ordered their play for this term. We voted on which to get and the class selected "The Mill of the Gods," an eight character melodrama of four men and four women. It is a deeper play than we have ever put on before.

With only eight characters Mr. Hood says some of us are going to feel left out, but we think that eight of us could come to play practice.

Advertisements in today's news tell you how much foods, clothing and household needs will cost you before you go shopping.

FISHES POND

Here we are at last to make up for lost time. The Freshmen have been very busy working with the county meet work. Of the people in tryouts for the county the following won places: Girls declamation, Joan Hines 2nd and Imogene 3rd. In spelling Imogene won first place.

Many girls are coming out for soft ball. We sure hope that they win. This week brought a new comer to the fishes pond to replace Louise Howard who recently moved to Dallas. Glenn McKay entered school Monday morning. He came from Rotan.

The math test Mr. Crouch gave us was sure hard. Only three managed to keep above the failing mark.

SOPHOMORE NEWS

The Sophomores are well pleased about an entertainment soon.

The Sophs boys are not looking so well after their game with Lorraine Thursday. The girls would probably be the same if they would have played ball too. As it is they will take their beating Tuesday.

The Sophomore class is particularly proud of Winnie Jo Bolin. She won first place in Junior girls declamation and will go to county meet. Calvin Boston is the declaimer for the Junior boys.

There are several Sophomore's ill, and we wish them a speedy recovery.

GIRLS OF W.H.S. PLAY VOLLEY BALL AT PRON
The volley ball girls went to Pron last Thursday and met the Pron and Roscoe teams in some practice games. Pron defeated us two out of three, and we beat Roscoe two out of three.

Volley ball games for county championship will be played some time this week. Roscoe, Lorraine, Colorado and Westbrook will compete in the county games.

Tennis tryouts for county were held at Colorado last Friday evening. Westbrook came out with one first place, that of the Senior girls doubles. They won over Colorado's double team two sets out of three.

The Junior girls singles player came out with second place, and the Senior boys singles player came out with a place of third. Iris Costin and Marjorie Hardcastle were the doubles players. Mary McKenney played girls singles, and Van Boston was the representative for the boys singles.

JUNIOR NEWS

We have been studying English we had in the fourth and fifth grades. We are learning little by little so maybe we will pass on our final exams.

The Juniors are getting ready for another entertainment or should I say an entertainment because we have never had one with a majority of the class present.

Jackie Hamilton is still absent from school on account of injuries from a car accident. Gerald Anderson and James Skelton are also absent on account of illness. We miss them all and hope they will be back with us soon.

Mattie Blanche where have you been the last two days? Oh, yes, we know in the gym, and you had an enjoyable time. Maybe next time you stay in the gym you won't have to grade so many papers.

Considerable space in a special Reporter-News column printed during the Texas D.A.R. convention in Abilene the latter part of last week was devoted to Mrs. Harry Hyman, who is claimed by Mitchell county.

"Most be-medaled visitor among D.A.R. conventioners was Mrs. Harry Hyman of Hyman, a little townsite on a ranch thirty miles south of Colorado to which Mrs. Hyman went as a bride more than forty-nine years ago. Not only does Mrs. Hyman wear fourteen D. A. R. bars, but these bars dangle medals and pins which are the insignia of sixteen other patriotic organizations in which she holds membership. Mrs. Hyman believes she has held membership in the Texas D. A. R. longer than any other member of the convention, her certificate having been issued January 3, 1900, and her national number being 30,529. As state D.A. R. regent in 1914, Mrs. Hyman was instrumental in organizing the John Davis chapter in Abilene. She is an honorary state regent now. She is very proud of her lineage and of the honors which have been bestowed upon her by the patriotic societies, but the thing that has given her most pleasure is that of having been made a steward in the little Methodist church which she gave to the townsite of Hyman. She was the bride of George T. Scott, Jr. when she came to West Texas. Mr. Scott having drawn the West Texas land in a division of the property of his father, Col. George T. Scott, who was a let commercial car manager, "is probably brought about by several factors. One of them, undoubtedly, is the value embodied in the current year's models, another, the wide variety of units available today—45 models on eight wheelbase lengths, in capacities ranging from light deliveries up to heavy-duty haulage vehicles with 14,000-pound gross rating,—and still a third, the AAA-certified performance of the Long-Distance Truck which hung up several major records on its 53,000-mile run last year.

"Regardless of the reasons for it, increased truck volume is a gratifying thing. It shows that business is getting ready to handle greater volume this spring."

PICKED UP ALONG THE NEWS PATH

This is written just as we have finished a story on the death of Mrs. Vivian Shropshire, affectionately known to most Coloradans as "Tillie" Shropshire. . . . Nothing that has happened so recently has shocked Colorado so deeply as her unexpected passing Tuesday night. . . . She was of Colorado, first, last and always. . . . She was born here, taking her first baby steps on Colorado's streets. . . . She went to school here, found romance here, married here. . . . Her children were born here, and their children after them. . . . She lived here and she died here—there's something about all this that gives one a squeezed-up feeling around the heart and makes one know that those who would claim that true living cannot be accomplished in one's own hometown are very wrong. . . .

While home on leave from Little Theatre work which has claimed her talents for the past two years, Elizabeth Arnett of Lamesa has been book reviewing in her home town territory recently. . . . Last week she presented a review of George Bernard Shaw's "Saint Joan" at Lamesa High school, and the Dawson County Courier carried her picture in connection with the story. . . . Miss Arnett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Dudley Arnett of Lamesa, is a granddaughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. D. N. Arnett of Colorado and a niece of Mrs. J. G. Merritt. . . . She and her parents visit here frequently. . . . The Dawson County Courier carried the following brief history of her accomplishments: "It will be remembered that she played the lead in the one act play that went to the state finals from here in the high school contest in 1935, and that she was voted the best actress in the Texas Intercollegiate Dramatic Tournament her first year in Texas Tech, and that she has won an enviable record for herself in Dallas Little Theatre. Recently Miss Arnett played Saint Joan in the play of that name in Albuquerque Little Theatre and in Charleston Dock Street Theatre in Charleston, S. C., and directed "Stage Door" for the Dramatic Society of Charleston College."

With World Fairs again in the limelight this year, one being now in progress on the west coast and another soon to open on the east coast, two souvenirs which Mrs. Q. D. Hall received from the Chicago World's Fair of 1893 are particularly interesting. . . . Both were brought to her by her late husband when he visited the fair. . . . A white silk handkerchief with embroidery trim has Mrs. Hall's name embroidered in one corner, while in the opposite corner there is an embroidered sailing ship with the words, "World's Fair, Chicago, 1893." . . . The other memento is a fringed square of silk, exceptionally well-preserved, with Mr. Hall's name in one corner in red. . . . Center-piece of this second souvenir is a woven picture of machinery hall at the fair with the inscription "Souvenir Woven at the World's Columbian Exposition, Chicago, 1893."

According to Sunday's Abilene paper, among those going to Fort Worth from here to hear Marian Anderson, world famous negro contralto who sang Sunday afternoon, were Buena Wulfjen and Hazel Grubbs of the McMurry College Chanters, headed by Mrs. Robert B. Wylie, fine arts dean of the college. . . . Also driving down were Mr. and Mrs. James Harold Stowe and Mrs. Ellis Douthit, all well known in Colorado.

This-ling and that-ling around town: We are offering a prize for anybody who can name a young couple who get more apparent pleasure out of just being together than Johnny and Frances Prude. . . . Among other things, Lee Carter now has a brief period of mustachioing to live down—he swears he grew it because of fever blisters. . . . That peach tree which blooms so early every spring in a corner at the D. N. Arnett homestead was lovelier than ever this year against the newly-painted whiteness of the house, which is now occupied by the Arnett's daughter, Mrs. J. G. Merritt, and her family. . . . P. K. Mackey and his grandson, young Graham Mackey of Midland, just a couple of "men-about-town" late Monday afternoon. . . . The loveliness of those two plum trees blooming in front of the Dell Barber home will practically take your breath away. . . . Craig and Earnest Porter affectionately call their aunt, Martha Earnest, something that sounds like "Poppy." . . . Mrs. Harry Ratliff collects Dresden pieces and salt shakers, and has a pitcher over 200 years old. . . . Mrs. R. J. Wallace is said to have collected some prize antiques while visiting in Kentucky and Pennsylvania last year. . . . People are talking about the unusual beauty of the redbud blooming in the Aubrey Herrington yard. . . . Mrs. P. C. Coleman and daughter Mildred also have a small redbud blooming in their front yard. . . .

Someone told Sandra Blackard, little daughter of the Lloyd Blackards, that she was looking rather sweet the other day just after her hair had been done at the beauty parlor. . . . "But I have a dirty dress," Sandra answered solemnly, "because I was naughty." . . . It developed that Sandra is effectively punished when she is made to take off a clean dress and don a soiled one. . . . She was being quite a good sport about the matter. . . .

Spring symptom: Four grown men on our street worked all day Sunday getting a kite to fly. . . . All the kids in the neighborhood had a grand time watching. . . .

Under the heading, "They Envy Snyder," the editorial columns of the Scurry County Times, published weekly at Snyder, carried the following item last week: "The statement has been made repeatedly in The Times that Snyder and Scurry county have received as much dollar-for-dollar value from government programs as any communities of similar size in Texas. We can give credit, largely, to far-sighted city, county and school officials. . . .

"One project probably looms above the others as far as community benefit and community low-cost are concerned. That is the Snyder paving program. . . .

"Paving engineers and contractors from several states have come to Snyder to view the local paving job. Mayors and councilmen have come to learn how Snyder can put down good paving at such low cost to the taxpayer and to the property owner. "The local paving program is the vice-president of the railroad now known as the Texas and Pacific railroad. Dividing her time between the Colorado ranch and San Antonio, Mrs. Hyman is a member of a San Antonio D. A. R. chapter. Only two members of the San Antonio Colonial Dames have held membership longer than she has. She has thirty seven lines of descent from Knights of the Garter; she is head of the Order of the First Crusade in Texas, Oklahoma and New Mexico, is a member of the Daughters of 1812, of the Colonial Governors, Founders and Patriots of America, Americans of Royal Descent, the Plantagenet Family, National Officers club, Barons of Runnymede, and as a great-great-granddaughter of John Hart of New Jersey, a member of the Signers of the Declaration of Independence."

After reading Tuesday morning about Elliott Roosevelt's prediction via radio that Vice-President John Nance Garner is "in the driver's seat" for president in 1946, C. W. Weston, who is here from Dallas in connection with his work as supervisor-at-large for the Farm Security Administration, dug out the autographed picture which the vice-president sent him as a Christmas gift in 1937. . . . Weston has always treasured the gift greatly, of course, but all this talk about Garner's presidential possibilities isn't sending it stock down any. . . . The picture, quite large and nicely framed, shows Mr. Garner eating watermelon on his farm at Uvalde. . . . It's autographed to Mr. Weston with best wishes from the giver and bears the date, December 24, 1937. . . .

envy of many towns and cities, including some of our nearest neighboring municipalities. How was it accomplished? Through cooperation, through business sagacity, through getting the right men to do the job right.

"Snyder has earned the title that has been applied several times recently: "The best-paved small city in Texas."

In case we haven't made it clear before, we are in favor of changing Colorado's name to Colorado City, a matter on which voters will express themselves Tuesday, April 4, when the general city election is held. . . . Our reasons, of course, are purely selfish, just as everybody else's will be, whether they're for or against. . . . We have had to ruin many a sentence which seemed to us to be otherwise smooth by having to stick in a "Texas" after Colorado's name when writing stories for the bigger dailies. . . . The Texas was necessary because readers a few hundred miles away wouldn't know that Colorado is the name of a very important West Texas town and not necessarily the name of a state. . . . Not long ago we received some college publicity on a "Colorado" girl. . . . We'd never heard of her, but we took the college's word for it that she was one of our own and ran the story. . . . Imagine our embarrassment when she turned out to be from Colorado state!

If Mrs. J. G. Merritt should seem to have slightly more than usual to say these days, the reason can probably be traced to the fact that while in Lubbock with the 1921 Study club last Friday she kissed a piece of granite which Texas Tech students solemnly declared was a piece lost from Ireland's traditional blarney stone in 1639 and later found in Texas. . . . The piece was mounted on an obelisk erected in honor of "Irish Month" by Tech engineering students. . . .

SALE OF CHEVROLET TRUCKS ON INCREASE

DETROIT.—Chevrolet truck registrations for 1939 to date have shown a sharper increase over the corresponding period for last year than have those of all other truck producers in the industry combined. The announcement was made at Chevrolet headquarters here recently.

Since Jan. 1, the latest records disclose, Chevrolet truck registrations throughout the United States have increased 32.7 per cent over the same period in 1938. The increase for the industry as a whole has been only 18.5 per cent, with Chevrolet's advance figured in. The rise for the entire industry, exclusive of Chevrolet, is shown by the records as 11.5 per cent.
