CAMPAIGN IS STARTED TO GET HEAVY VOTE ON PAVING PROPOSAL

'REPRESENTATIVE VOTE' IS DESCRIBED BY COMMITTEE AS DESIRABLE, WHETHER FOR OR AGAINST

With the city election out of the way, taxpayers and members of the city council are now turning their attention to arousing interest in the paving bond election to be held on Saturday, April 15.

At that time the city qualified property-owning voters will write their mandate on the issuance of $500,000 worth of city bonds to be used in conjunction with WPA funds for a city-wide paving program. Efforts to put over the program have been underway here for some time.

If voted the bonds are to run not more than 15 years and draw interest at the rate of not more than 4 1/2 per cent. This will cost the average tax payer rendering property valuation of around $2,000, not more than $4 per year, it has been pointed out.

A "heavily representative vote" on April 15 is what both the taxpayers' committee, headed by Frank Kelley as chairman, and the city council are working for. Women's clubs, civic organizations, and the public in general are being contacted actively in an effort to arouse the greatest possible interest in the election.

"What we want to learn is the true wish of Colorado citizens in regard to the matter of paving our residential streets," Kelley said this week. "We are anxious to have the will of every qualified voter expressed in this election, therefore we are urging all property-owners, whether for or against the bonds, to go to the polls and write their choice on April 15."

If the bonds carry, the paving will be laid by the city and the WPA. Curbs and gutters will cost the property owner about 30 cents per front foot.

EPISCOPAL RECTOR TO MAKE HOME HERE; WIFE COMING SOON

Rev. Harrison H. Black, minister-in-charge of All Saints' Episcopal church, Colorado, arrived Thursday to occupy the rectory here while serving Colorado and other churches in this field.

Friday he will be in Odessa for Good Friday services from noon until three and he will be in Sweetwater Easter morning.

His first service in Colorado will be Easter morning at 7:45. The Reverend Dr. Black was in Colorado last Saturday afternoon on his way to Big Spring, where he had a service which was broadcast at St. Mary's church.

Although Dr. Black, a native of Massachusetts, comes from Florida, he has lived in Texas before having been in the aviation service at Ft. Worth during a period of the World War. His wife, expected to come to Colorado in May, is now in Ocala, Florida, and his daughter is at Tallahassee.

LAMBETH FEED MILLS ARE CALLED 'ASSET'

The recent purchase of the Colorado Milling company by O. Lambeth & Son adds another link to Colorado's industrial and manufacturing chain. The mill affords a cash market at carload prices for all grains and feed stuff grown in the Colorado trade territory.

The Red Bull brand of dairy feeds manufactured by the Lambeth Mills are sold in practically every city and town in West Texas and are finding favor by the larger dairies in such towns as Big Spring, Sweetwater, Abilene, Odessa, San Angelo, Lamesa and many other towns. The mills maintain a traveling salesman calling on the trade in West Texas.

A meeting of the Mitchell county P-TA council has been set for Saturday at 1 o'clock in the county court-room, according to Mrs. E. T. Stram of Fairview, county chairman. All P-TAs in the county are urged to have representatives present.

SUCCESS ATTENDS EVENING CLASSES IN ADVERTISING

TEN-DAY COURSE SPONSORED BY CC CLOSED WEDNESDAY NIGHT

With one of the largest average attendance records to date, the vocational training school in window display, card writing and advertising held in the local high school for the past ten days, came to a successful close Wednesday night.

These classes were made possible by the efforts of H. B. Spence, manager of the Colorado chamber of commerce through the cooperation of the local merchants and the University of Texas, sponsor of the classes. The courses offered were for the betterment of the individual interested in these three fields of retail selling.

Whitney Anderson, instructor in window display, says he is highly pleased with the results shown in his classes. The interest as manifested in the card-writing class taught by Martin T. Garrison is evident by the great improvement shown in the card work being done by those students who attended regularly. As this course is just a fundamental one, ten days is a short time to derive much benefit without constant attendance, but those students attending from 80 to 100 per cent of the time have shown wonderful improvement through proper application.

Students attending these classes represented dry goods, drug, hardware, groceries, electric service and teachers. Following is a list of registrations: Frank Sam and Milton Bodzin, Thomas Dolman, Troy E. Erwin, Chas. Garrett, Mrs. C. P. Gary, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Kirschbaum, Hubert H. Moore, A. K. Treadaway, H. I. Berman, H. E. Maniss, Grover Williams, Rozelle McKenney, Joe Cox, Geo. Shelton, Philip Berman, W. I. Doss, Jr., Chas. Hutchinson, Merl Hoover, Ted Morris, Alvin Moore, Ed Patrick, H. M. Sanders, Gene Smith, Earl Wilson, Jack Womack, H. F. Ward, Chas. Nuckolls, Chas. Womack, Louis Taylor, Joe Larnest, Everett Timmer, Abulda Crosthwaite, Eunice Locker, Dale Simpson, Bill Coffey and Mrs. J. M. Crumes, all of Colorado, and Ray Preston and Garland Faulkberry of Loreane.

Much appreciation was expressed by both Anderson and Garrison for the cooperation received from all concerns contacted to aid in the promotion of the classes.

SIGNIFICANCE OF EASTER SEASON TO BE KEPT IN LOCAL CHURCHES; TRADITIONAL SUNRISE SERVICE AT 5:15 SUNDAY A.M.

The significance of Easter will be kept in song, story and prayer in churches of Colorado.

Highlight of the day will be the traditional Easter sunrise service, a union observance, at First Christian church Sunday morning at 5:15. Beginning promptly at this hour in a setting of reverent quiet, the service will be held against a backdrop portraying Easter dawn in the Holy Land. Special lighting will be used, according to Rev. A. L. Haley, First Christian pastor, who has charge of decorations.

The service is to end just at dawn and will therefore last only 45 minutes. Rev. C. M. Epps of First Christian church will say the invocation. Rev. Mr. Haley will read the scriptures. Rev. T. A. Patterson of First Baptist church is scheduled to bring the sermon. Eugene Haley, who is a ministerial student at T.C.U. in Fort Worth, will give the benediction. Special music will be a feature of the service.

Earliest of the local Easter services will probably be the candle-light communion service to be held at First Methodist church

ANOTHER BIRTHDAY

F. B. Watson, 29 years old Sunday school teacher of the Record at Loreane, will be the senior pastor of the new Presbyterian church to be opened in Loreane this year. I have a lot of work to do in Loreane. I have a lot of work to do in Loreane. I have a lot of work to do in Loreane."

WOODIE HOLDEN TO CONDUCT MEETING ON THE SOUTH SIDE

A series of gospel meetings in South Colorado will be started on Friday evening by Woodie Holden, minister of the Colorado city church of Christ.

There will be one service daily at 7:45 or 8 o'clock pm, according to the wishes of those attending. The Sunday service will be held at 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

Some of the subjects to be discussed are "A Bible To Please Everyone," "Bible Benefits," "Bible Salvation," "The Bible Church," "Bible Blessings," "Back to the Bible," and "All the Bible But Only The Bible." "If you are interested in the Bible," says Woodie Holden, "and the truth as taught therein, you will want to attend every service in this meeting including the first one on Friday evening."

IT'S 'COLORADO CITY' AGAIN

"Colorado City," which made its first appearance on these West Texas prairies 58 years ago this spring, was born again Tuesday when citizens went to the polls and voted 356 to 136 for changing the town's name from Colorado to "Colorado City."

In so doing they momentarily flung the pages of history back more than half a century to the time when "Colorado City" was queen city of West Texas' vast cattle domain. Gradually, as the town grew older and subdued some of the more colorful and pretentious aspects of its early days, the name came into disapproval and the "city" was painstakingly dropped.

With both the mayor and the city attorney out of town Wednesday, it was hard to determine just what must be done before Colorado becomes officially Colorado City.

Consensus of opinion seems to be that the city council must make the change, write it into the city records, and officially notify the postoffice department.

because of the confusion of the name of the town with the name of the state of Colorado in other sections of the state and nation.

Petitions requesting election on the matter were circulated by a committee of which Joe Earnest was chairman and the city council subsequently set the election date to coincide with the regular city election.

Taking up the "city" on the town's name will doubtless be just as painstaking a matter as dropping it was half a century ago.

OFFICIAL 'FAMILY' OF CITY UNCHANGED AS ELECTION HELD

J. A. SADLER, THREE COUNCIL MEMBERS, AND MERRITT ARE RETURNED

No changes were made in Colorado's official family as 630 voters wrote their choice in the city election Tuesday.

Mayor J. A. Sadler was re-elected to the office he has held for several years, polling more votes than did both of his opponents combined. Sadler's count was 371. Joe Jackson was second with 177. W. S. Cooper third with 126.

Unopposed for election to his second term as city secretary, J. F. Merritt received the endorsement of 625 voters.

All three council members whose terms were expiring were re-elected, these three being V. Jack Richardson, C. D. Hornberger, and E. M. Majors. Richardson and Hornberger each received 503 votes, while Majors polled 468. L. J. Taylor, fourth candidate in the field, got 287 votes.

Results of voting on the change of Colorado's name to Colorado City were 356 for and 136 against.

Town Modlin, election judge, said that the vote was not quite as heavy as in the city election two years ago when over 700 votes were cast.

CALENDAR REPEATS LAST YEAR AS SAND AND SNOW MINGLE

The calendar was repeating itself in Colorado Thursday morning as a stiff norther blew sand over the horizon and smatterings of snow sifted down at intervals.

It was on April 6 last year that winter played a severe return engagement in Colorado to the accompaniment of both sand and snow. Coloradans went to bed that night—it was Wednesday night last year—in a howling sandstorm. They awoke next morning to three inches of snow, considerably the worse for the dust it had fallen through.

Temperatures began going down here Wednesday morning after having been as high as 93 on Tuesday. A thunderstorm Tuesday night, bringing around 20 inches of moisture in Colorado, didn't affect the mercury but north winds arriving the morning after did. A low of 38 degrees had been reached Thursday morning and lower readings were feared.

An official railroad commission pumping test on Paul C. Teas No. 1, W. F. Thompson, which has been showing up as the best well to date in the area was scheduled for Thursday afternoon.

Coffield & Guthrie's No. 1-A First National Bank of Snyder was cleaned out Thursday morning after a 300-gallon flow from 3,033 to 2,150 feet. Before the shot the well was estimated about nine or ten barrels per acre. After the shot it filled 900 feet within 24 hours.

Lockhart Luncheon Is Highlight Of Pre-Easter Social Calendar Here

A highlight of Colorado's pre-Easter social calendar was a luncheon bridge arranged by Mrs. H. L. Lockhart at her home on Thursday.

Pastel shades of spring were carried out in all appointments. A low silver bowl filled with white and orchid iris and varicolored sweet peas stood on a reflector in the center of the dining table. Ten candles in shades of orchid, green, pink, blue and yellow burned in crystal holders on the reflector around the flower bowl. Iris, stock, and sweet peas were banked in a circle around the reflector. Satin ribbon streamers which repeated the candle colors radiated from the centerpiece, forming flat bows at the table edge and cascading to the floor. Violets and baby's breath were caught in each bowl.

Large Easter rabbits were at each end of the table. A basket furnished Easter chicks and rabbits as tallies and favors.

Iris, poppies and wild plum blossoms centered each of the quartet tables where guests were seated for the luncheon and for games afterward. Pastel-colored nut cups marked each place.

Tall snapdragons in spring's favored colors were arranged about the rooms. A silver vase of blue delphinium was on the mantle.

The luncheon menu included fresh crab a la gratin in sea shells, squid stuffed with wild rice dressing with guava jelly, shoestring potatoes, peas in colored cups, tomato aspic with avocado rings, hot rolls, ice cream cake with fresh strawberries and whipped cream. Champagne was served with the bird course. Colored Joe, a local negro musician, played all during the lunch hour.

In the bridge game, high score prize, a tall sterling silver support, went to Mrs. Raymond Galt. Mrs. R. H. Ratliff received six gold crystal salad plates for second prize, and Mrs. Jenks Powell was given a tall rock crystal perfume bottle for low score.

Players in addition to those listed were: Mesdames Joe Mills, W. R. McEntire, Lester Manning, Glad Smith, Bill Dorn, Hunt Gorman, Joe Richardson, A. McSpadden, W. H. Shalley, Austin Bush, J. P. Phillips, Ches Wyatt, A. C. Anderson, Harry Hovis, Jack Christian and Nell Prichard; Alice Blanks.

With it she will wear a wide-brimmed black straw hat, the flat crown of which will be marked with a band and grosgrain fluted rosette of dusty pink. Her corsage, worn at the throat, will be of cornflowers and pink rosebuds.

The gifts were introduced in a rabbit-drawn wagon arranged to Billie Joyce Lacey, wearing pink taffeta, and Peggy Sue Bodine, wearing aqua taffeta, pulled the wagon and make-believe rabbit into the room. Gifts were found in the nest-shaped wagon and other gifts were carried in by the houseparty.

Gifts were opened in the dining room where the table was covered with lace over pink and centered with a mass of sweet peas, white at the center and shading to pastel colors. Grass dotted with Easter eggs was banked around the sweet peas.

Miss Lacey was gowned in pink taffeta made with huge puff sleeves, fitted waistline, and floor-length skirt which was both flared and flounced near the hem-line. Shirring marked the length of the dress in front. She wore a shoulder corsage of sweet peas.

TRACK MEET HELD ON WEDNESDAY NIGHT IN SPITE OF COLD WIND

Tumbling mercury, tearing winds, and stinging sand notwithstanding, track and field events of the independent division of the Mitchell county interscholastic league were held on Cantrill field Wednesday night after three previous postponements due to weather caprices.
 The meet was originally scheduled for Friday night, March 24. There was a rain and hail storm. The next date was Tuesday night, March 28. A gray norther descended, making open-air athletics impossible. The most recent date was Tuesday night of this week. Rain came again on that occasion. School officials said Wednesday morning that the meet would have to be held Wednesday night unless there was a major catastrophe to prevent it.
 Results could not be assembled in time Thursday morning for publication this week. A complete list of winners will appear next week. Coach Jack Christian was in charge of athletics.

PROSPERITY'S HERE, OR SOMETHING—CAR REGISTRATIONS BOOM

Either prosperity is here or the population of Mitchell county has increased considerably, because registrations of motor vehicles for 1939 on April 1 were higher by some 400 units than 1938 figures for the same date.

Bruce Hart, tax assessor-collector, reported a total of 2,530 registrations as the delinquency deadline passed at midnight Friday. Total at the same time last year was 2,150. Neither total included trailers.

Hart's office was hit by the rush it had expected during the final week, some 1,500 of the 2,530 being tabulated during that week.

WHY LAUNDRY WASHED CLOTHES ARE WHITER AND BRIGHTER
THAN "HOME WASHED" CLOTHES

There is no trick or secret to the laundry method of keeping white clothes whiter and preserving the color of colored clothes. It is simply this:

In addition to using greater quantities of rain-soft water, milder soaps and rinsing many times as often as is possible under home conditions . . . extensive equipment enables the modern laundry to separate each washing in a greater number of "classifications" and then wash each classification with a specialized formula of water temperature and type of soap.

Compare this with the small number of separate washings that are possible in a home with but one washing machine . . . you have another reason why—

Completion of the county-wide school health program sponsored this year by the Self Culture club was reported at the club's meeting with Mrs. John T. Howell on Friday. Mrs. Arlie Taylor substituted for Mrs. H. G. Whitmore as co-hostess with Mrs. Howell.

It was reported that between 2,700 and 2,800 children have received dental and health examinations in the progress of the campaign. The club made plans to entertain doctors, dentists, and their wives at the Howell home on April 10 in recognition of their cooperation in the campaign. Husbands are also to be guests.

The club bought sixteen eye charts for various schools in order to discover eye defects. Donation of $5 to Permanent Headquarters was voted. Also $1 to the Penny art fund. The club voted a card of sympathy to Hettie Wallace, teacher in the negro school, on the death of her father, "80 John" Wallace.

An invitation was brought by Johnnie Lou Callison from the Junior Self Culture club to a reception at the country club on Thursday, April 13, honoring the senior club.

Oregon was the lesson topic led by Mrs. J. V. Glover. Mrs. W. L. Hester told of "The Old Oregon Trail," Mrs. Jeff A. Jones of "The Pacific Coast Highway" and Mrs. Jim White of "Oregon Sports."

Members voted a note of thanks to Miss Clara E. Driscoll for her $22,900 gift to the Texas federation to pay off the Permanent Headquarters debt at Austin. Dollar donations were voted to the Fisk art fund, the Penny art fund, and the Sixth district fund.

FSA DEBT ADJUSTMENT GROUP WILL MEET HERE ON TUESDAY AT 10 A.M.

Farmers who are having difficulty financing obligations which might affect their season's operations probably can work out a satisfactory arrangement with their creditors if they will go to the Mitchell County debt adjustment committee, which meets at Farm Security Administration office Tuesday, April 11, at 10 a.m.

According to Milton A. Stinson, Farm Security Administration supervisor, the committee has no money to loan, but offers its services in helping to bring about an equitable agreement between the farmer and his creditors so that he can continue farming and eventually pay out.

"This service, which is free and confidential, has been popular with mortgage-holders as well as debtors," he stated.

"Creditors realize," he said, "that it will mean more in the long run to them to bring debts that farmers will never be able to pay within their prospective income. The FSA will then cooperate in making this income as high as possible." Committee members are Jim Watson, Judge Augustus F. King, and Urda D. Wulffjen.

LONE STAR GAS PAYS TAXES AMOUNTING TO SUM OF $2,254,938

"Tax Collector Hit Gas Company For $2,254,938" is the title of a story released this week from the office of Will C. Grant, of Dallas, advertising manager for the Lone Star Gas System.

The story follows: Government treasuries were enriched $2,254,938.90 by Lone Star Gas System 1938 tax payments completed before April 1, according to official company records. The two and a quarter million dollars paid 55 different kinds of taxes. A total of 19,600 tax and regulatory reports were made by the system to federal, state, county, municipal and special taxing agencies.

This staggering total of taxes is equal to 67 1/2 cents of every gas bill rendered every month during 1938, company officials state. It would require the net income of 155 days of operations to pay the system's tax bill. This includes only direct taxes and does not include numerous indirect taxes hidden in the purchase price of materials and equipment used in operations and maintaining modern natural gas service. The tax bill of the company has been mounting 10 to 12 per cent every year.

Mounting tax and regulation report work is indicated by growth of the system's tax department. A few years ago, one man handled all tax matters. In 1938 fourteen full time employees occupying an entire wing of the system's large Dallas office building, in addition to part time work of scores of employees in various other departments, were required to handle taxes and regulatory reports.

Gas utilities pay three taxes not common to other industries; one-fourth of one per cent of gross receipts is paid by all pipe line companies transporting natural gas; one and seven-eighths per cent of gross receipts in towns of 10,000 population and over, and in towns of from 2,500 to 10,000 population, seven-tenths of one per cent of gross receipts; and a severance tax of three per cent of market value of gas at mouth of the well.

"THE ADVENTURES OF HUCKLEBERRY FINN" BRINGS MICKEY ROONEY TO PALACE IN FIRST STARRING ROLE

ADVENTURES OF HUCK FINN BASED ON MARK TWAIN'S OWN BOYHOOD EXPERIENCES

The river Mark Twain traveled years ago when he wrote "The Jumping Frog of Calaveras County," which first started him toward fame as a writer, served as the locale of another story, rich in Twain's own experiences as a boy on the Mississippi.

For along the Sacramento River steamboats played, and the dash for freedom of Huck and his negro friend, Jim, was enacted for "The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn," filmed as Mickey Rooney's first solo starring picture, and coming to the Palace theatre Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday, April 8, 9 and 10.

As the redoubtable Huckleberry, Mickey was in some measure playing Mark Twain as a boy. Twain (then known as Samuel Langhorne Clemens) was the indolent, dreaming boy who fished along the Mississippi and gathered river and Negro lore in the days before the Civil War. The character played by Mickey is from the author's own description.

Twain, the pen name for Clemens, was born at Florida, Missouri, in 1835, and passed his boyhood at Hannibal. His father, known as "The Judge," was a small storekeeper and lawyer. It was during this period, when the boy knew and loved the river, that the character of Huckleberry Finn existed before the boy grew up to be a brilliant journalist, then novelist.

"The Adventures of Huckleberry Finn" is a sequel to "Tom Sawyer," but the latter character at no time appears in it. Huckleberry appeared as Tom's friend and confidante in the first book, and it was several years later that Twain carried on the series by following Huckleberry through his adventures as a runaway up the river. It was written in 1880, but its period is about 1840.

Sacramento river boats such as the famous Delta Queen and Delta King, probably the only river passenger boats in operation today in the Far West, when railroads, trucks, and planes, to say nothing of automobiles, have made them obsolete, figure in the picture. Director Richard Thorpe and his company were some weeks on location along the river, basing at Sacramento.

"BUCK" BENNY RIDES IN NEW FILM COMEDY

"Buck" Benny rides again!

America's undisputed peer of comedy, Jack Benny, returns to the screen, after almost a year's absence, in a new kind of screen musical comedy and the most lavish production of his career. It is "Artists and Models Abroad," which Paramount will present to local fans next Friday and Saturday at the Palace theatre.

Co-starring with beautiful Joan Bennett, his leading lady for the first time, Benny will be seen as a wise-cracking head of a troupe of American hoofers stranded at the Paris Exposition. Miss Bennett, in one of her rare comedy roles, plays a Texas oil heiress whom Benny takes under his wing when he thinks her as broke as himself. The story was written by Howard Lindsay and Russel Crouse, the team responsible for the musical comedy hit of a few seasons ago, "Anything Goes."

Producer Arthur Hornblow's elaborate supporting cast, under the direction of Mitchell Leisen, the chief of "Swing High, Swing Low" and "Easy Living," includes such favorite stars as the Yacht Club Boys, who play members of the troupe, Mary Boland, cast as a social-climbing American dowager, Fritz Feld and Charley Grapewin.

As an integral part of his cast Producer Hornblow has assembled three dozen of America's most beautiful girls, including glamorous Linda Yale, who is being hailed as the loveliest thing to hit Hollywood in many a season. The girls play members of Benny's theatrical gang and share in the hilarious adventures of their chief. Hornblow has been hailed as the screen counterpart of the late Florenz Ziegfeld, and according to advance reports, the girls he selected for "Artist and Models Abroad" bear out this reputation.

On the musical side are a number of new hit songs by Ralph Rainger and Leo Robin, the composing team responsible for such hits as "Blue Hawaii," "Love in Bloom" and last season's "Thanks for the Memory." On their new list are "What Have You Got That Gets Me," already a ranking favorite, "Do the Buckaroo" and "You're Lovely, Madame," a romantic number.

Sylvia Sidney, Leif Erikson Top Film Cast

Two of the screen's leading dramatic players, Sylvia Sidney and Leif Erikson, play the chief roles in Paramount's "Ride a Crooked Mile," one third of a nation, the screen version of the sensational Broadway play which will have its first local showing Sunday and Monday at the Ritz theatre.

Taking its title from President Roosevelt's epoch-making second inaugural address, in which he said: "I find one third of a nation ill-housed, ill-clad and ill-nourished," the picture makes a bold and thrilling attack on America's vicious slums and makes a heart-breaking plea for a better deal for the oppressed third of our population.

As the principal character in the drama, Miss Sidney portrays a romantic and courageous daughter of the slums, who decides that the time has come to do something about conditions. In her battle against the vested and smug interests she enlists her sweetheart, Erikson, who plays a wealthy but social-minded son of the upper classes. Made on Long Island, "Ride a Crooked Mile" boasts many players prominent on the stage, who were appearing in Broadway productions while the film was being made a short distance away.

EDITORIAL

Next Sunday, April 9th, is Easter. Also of more importance it is this column writer's birthday. Yes I am

And I know of no more important subject to write about than myself, therefore I will elucidate on how it feels to be

I don't look it and don't feel it either. Aside from a slight twist of the bellyache I am perfectly well. When some one near me speaks of "Old Uncle Fred" I look around for some older person. I am as much interested in life and as eager for service as I ever was. I know I am nearer to the end of life than when I was born, but I have never wanted to die, and the closer I get to it, the less I like it. I have always been sorry for those nuts who wanted to take themselves off, no matter if the majority of them could well be spared.

I never thought I'd live to be old, and I have to look at the almanac to believe it now. In my boyhood men were old at 50. They wore long beards and considered themselves patriarchs at a time of life at which men now fairly begin their most potential activities. Considered from one viewpoint, every sick man is old, no matter what his age, and every well man is young, regardless of the calendar.

I have lived 79 years in the greatest era of our world. More colossal achievements have been registered since I was born than in any thousand years of previous world history. The telephone, x-ray, radium, electric light, automobile, airplane, radio, dictaphone, wireless telegraphy, cotton picker, and phonograph have all appeared since I was born.

Yes, the writer of this column is 79 years old today. Born April 9, 1860. It was said my birth was the indirect cause of the Civil War but that claim was never thoroughly established.

I graduated and received my X.Y. degree in a one teacher, one room school, punchon floor, water carried from the spring in a tin bucket with a crooked handle gourd for a dipper. I mastered the three D's (readin', ritin', rithmetick) by getting as far as "baker" in Webster's blue back speller and mastered the multiplication table in Ray's arithmetic and learned to orate in McGuffey's third reader by reciting "Mary had a little lamb" and "The boy stood on the burning deck."

I take long daily walks and sometimes sing that grand old song: "I would not live always, I ask not to stay."

Where storm after storm riseth dark o'er the way,
Truth to tell, I constantly try to be a better man and labor to conquer all my weaknesses, but my weaknesses persist and, while I hope in many ways I am a better man, I'm not the kind of good man I thought I would be if I lived to be this old.

And I never liked the old song about not wanting to live always, because I do. I've never envied Enoch and Elijah, but I do congratulate them. I know I'm not good enough to be taken up in a chariot of fire, and I haven't walked long trips with God, like Enoch did.

The amazing thing to me is that anybody thinks I'm old. When I was a lad, men wore long, unkempt hair and beard, and looked old at fifty. Now a man reasonably sane never gets old. He may get feeble, but youth is a state of mind, rather than a badge of younger days.

In these 79 years I have schooled myself not to worry about gaining wealth. I learned not to crave any more wealth than I needed to live comfortably and have a mite to contribute to my fellow man in need. If I accumulated all the money in the world, at death the poorest pauper would be as wealthy as I. Then why should I struggle to gain wealth that I did not need, and thereby make myself and others unhappy?

The end of these years has found me contented with my lot, I am strong and healthy enough to keep step in the march of time and program and I pray that I may never stop and let the world go past me.

In a way I am very rich. I have a host of friends who respect and love me. Even the little children are a joy to me. The respect and courtesy that the youth accord me is a joyous possession. I have had the joy of seeing more good in my fellow man as the years progressed.

The impatience of youth and manhood has been to a degree replaced with forbearance and contentment. Youth has its glamorous thrills, but old age brings a peace that youth never knew.

I do not dread the dissolution that must come sooner or later, because it is in God's program. God didn't consult me when I came into the world, neither will He consult me when I leave it. I am His creature. Why should I worry? It is in the program.

In the 79 years that I have lived I have seen many things transpire that are now recorded in history. I have been made to realize that Time is Life's banker. That Old Father Time's coin of the realm is centuries, decades, years, months, weeks, days, hours, minutes and seconds.

Sensational changes have been witnessed in many avenues of human endeavor. Religion is the same, human nature remains unchanged and God is the same loving Father of us all that He was when I was born. I have journeyed through more than two generations. Nearly all my boyhood friends are gone. All the family that gathered in our humble home when I was a child have gone on to be with Christ.

Very naturally at a time like this, I look back upon my life and take stock of its accomplishments. I preached a sermon once on the subject, "What I would do if I had my life to live over again." That was some years ago and I am not so sure of myself as I was then. My most poignant regret, as I near my 80th birthday, is that I haven't lived a better life.

I have been in the newspaper business 53 years and they are in a nutshell, and not such an eventful period at that. The world has been too good to me to make a thrilling story. Have never had a serious accident, never arrested and brought into court more than twice, threatened with libel suits, but they "petered" out, and never thrashed for anything I wrote though I had some narrow escapes. Made lots of mistakes, but somehow offended parties considered the source and ignored them. So I pass into my 80th year with a very slim chance of becoming either noted or notorious. Within a few years, at most, I will have become a member of that largest group of humanity, "A Forgotten Man."

While the evening shadows of life grow longer, I am content with the lot that old age brings me. I am strong and able to obey God's mandate when He decreed that "by the sweat of thy face shalt thou eat bread." Labor has made the bread sweet. It has made my dreams the same.

Old age has brought me friendship, the sweet reverence and respect of little children and of those who come after me. Surrounded by those who love and respect me, why should I not be happy? Each day my heart grows more mellow toward old time friends. I see less of their faults than in the days of youth and vigorous manhood. The world seems kinder now. The sun of life seems to shine brighter, and the flowers seem more fragrant and more gorgeous after the passing of 79 years.

But it is in the program of life that the curtain must go down on the drama at the golden sunset. There will be no encores. "Finis" will be written at the end of life's program. The thought of death has no terrors for me. It is in the program and I must execute it. But I shall be happy until then. After that I shall be in God's hands and then I know I shall be happy because it's God's way.

From birth to death is a journey through the world whether long or short. The only paying investments are salvation through faith and treasures awarded for righteous conduct. Pride, wealth and temporal power are delusions through which multitudes pass to destruction.

For nearly 60 years I have tried to so live that I meet my pilot face to face when I cross the bar. And when the army of the just, made perfect with blood-flecked banners and dented armor shall file across the bridge of death for the last grand review by the Lord of Hosts, I expect to be among the foremost, with peace in my heart, a palm within my hand and a crown upon my brow. I shall stand the calm, the cloudless, the immaculate spirit in the presence of my maker.

Old age when men usually look back upon a life of many mistakes and a few achievements and look ahead with either a veiled or a frank dread of death is generally considered an unhappy condition. An environment of younger, still hopeful and less disillusioned folks doesn't help matters, perhaps makes them worse. But the last few years can be like a rosy sunset, given the right environment and health.

I used to think that growing old was reckoned just in years. But who can name the very date when weariness appears? I find no stated time when man obedient to a law. Must settle in an easy chair and from the world withdraw. Old age is rather curious especially to the poor. I know old men at forty-nine and young men at seventy-nine.

I have loved books with a quenchless love, but only in recent years have awakened to the immortality of history. John A. Broadus once said: "If a man doesn't know history, he really can't know anything well." As I have come into maturer years, I have more and more loved to read of the achievements of great conquering men. It is only by our knowledge of history that we can form sane conclusions concerning the events transpiring now.

Old age has brought many surprises, one of which is that when I talk about old age I am thinking of some of you oldsters, not myself. I never think of myself as old. I thought I would be an angel of goodness by the time I was this old, and here I am the same sinner I have always been. I have had the will to fly, but not the wings. I thought that when I got old I would want to die, but I want to live as long as Methuselah. I thought I'd "sit and sing my soul away to everlasting bliss," but not a song! I am just the same in my love of activity, of life, of duty, of service, as ever in all my pilgrimage.

As I write these lines I am thinking of my precious wife (Aunt Rose) who for nearly 40 years journeyed with me down life's way, until February 1929 she yielded her gently spirit to God. She was my kindest critic and most faithful friend. There was never a moment that I was worthy of her. Through the long years she shared my joys, sympathized with my sorrows, forgave my shortcomings and bravely did her part in the life partnership upon which we entered.

She was brave, loyal, faithful, kind and true, and as my memory spans the years between the time I met her first and the night she went home, I can think of none truer or nobler than was she. Out in the cemetery beside her grave, my body is to rest when life is done. I look expectantly across the western hills for the realization of the hope of an endless life. With Paul I can confidently say: "I know whom I have believed and am persuaded that he is able to keep that which I have committed unto him against that day." It would be impudent if I assumed to add perfection to the rhythm of the "Elegy" by Thomas Gray, but I venture, as I close, an attempt to amplify the sentiment:

"The boast of heraldry, the pomp of power,
And all that beauty, all that wealth e'er gave Await alike the inescapable hour:
Of endless life and joy beyond the grave."

THE PRICE OF OLD AGE

Who would to three-score-ten attain
Must know the smiles and tears
And all the sorrow and the pain
That tumber eighty years.

I've never been afraid to die. I look across the western hills with expectant heart, and yet at seventy-nine I no more want to die than I did at sixteen.

Biologists, Psychologists and Theologists have figured it out that there remains but a few more grains of sand in my hour glass of time and I submit with the thought of That Life beyond the Grave shall this life far transcend; Death is the Beginning, not the End. But the curtain has not fallen yet. Until then you may read more of this column in the Record which I am privileged to write.

Will close with what Longfellow said:
"Count that day lost whose low descending sun, Views from thy hand no worthy action done!"

Sunset and evening star
And one clear call for me
And may there be no moaning at the bar
When I put out to sea.—Tennyson.

Thus, I could go on talking about myself because myself is the most important person I know, but I forbear.

The following is a contribution to this column by a friend:

TO MY OLD PAL, DON EDMUNDO

The Alpine Avalanche published this poem with the following explanation: E. W. King, secretary chamber of commerce at Presidio sends in a poem which was written by a friend, Mr. Marshall South of Fullerton California. Messrs. South and King were comrades at one time and Mr. King wrote Mr. South a post card extending an invitation to come to Presidio and visit. Mr. South in his letter states the card inspired the following poem. Since this is the vicinity where the Orient expects to push its rails across the Rio Grande, we produce the poem to give our readers a touch of the romance which lingers, "down by Ojinaga way."

Old Pal, here's just a line to you
To cheer you up if you're feelin' blue
For the whole shebang may have dry rot
And the whole blame works may have "gone to Pot"
But Auld Acquaintance ain't forgot
An here's my hand to you.

Clouds may be dark and prospects gray
(For you can't feed stock without no hay)
But we can remember the days that were,
When each of us felt like a millionaire
So what in the heck do we really care,
An' here's to Auld Lang Syne.

So, dear old Pal, here's this homely serawl,
To tell you I don't seem long a-tall
Since the "good old days when you and me
Saved the U. S. A. in the 'O. M. C. —
And we're still the pals that we used to be—
So here's my hand to you.

OLDSMOBILE SALES CONTINUE STRONG

Oldsmobile national retail sales continued strong during the second ten day period of March with a total of 3,999 new car deliveries, an increase of 39.2 per cent over the 2,872 sales recorded in the same period of 1938, according to a report issued recently from the office of D. E. Ralston, general sales manager.

Sales from January 1 through March 20 aggregated 26,680 units, an increase of 52 per cent over the 17,549 sales made during the like period of last year. An increase in retail volume has been noted in every ten day sales period compared with last year, since the introduction of the 1939 Oldsmobile line last October. Reports from dealers throughout the country are very optimistic in their predictions of a substantial increase in business this spring. Ralston said.

AN EDITORIAL

Give and Take
 What have I to contribute to the world? Ask yourself, too!
 Will it be something to make the day brighter, or will it add to the present gloom? Have you ever wondered why you have to do everything alone? Do you wonder why people frown when they see you coming? Oh, you had not noticed it! Open your eyes and use them for that for which they were given.
 Really, it is about time we were doing something definite about all of this.

MEXICAN NOCTURNE
 'Tis twilight, now—
 Bells peal a vow
 from the 'dobe iglesias.

Into the dusk
 And reeking musk
 of a tiny, dim casita.

Come pushing hordes
 From jacked-up Fords
 at the call of dark-eyed Nita.

Beans and chili—
 Supper really
 "Es muy bueno!" yells young Rita.

A crucifix;
 A baby kicks
 near the smoking velacita.

A Latin chant:
 A mass for Aunt—
 thus comes night in Mejitita.
 —Catherine Slagel.

WHO'S WHO

Walter Whipkey
 Mr. Whipkey's birthplace was Granger, Texas. He attended grammar school there and then moved to West, Texas. He left West in 1906 and came to Colorado, finishing high school here in 1907. He graduated from A. and M. College, Bryna, in 1911 with a B. S. degree.
 Mr. Whipkey worked with the State Building Department in 1911 and 1912. He then settled in Cuero, Texas, for three years, working in an architectural engineering office. In 1915 he moved to Paris as City Engineer and Building Inspector. He retained this job until 1922, when he moved to Colorado and entered the printing business, following in the footsteps of his father who has owned the Colorado Record for many years.

Mr. Whipkey likes picture shows as a form of entertainment. He likes all sports especially baseball and golf. He likes congenial people, likes to read, and likes to listen to music on the radio.

He is tall, has dark hair, and brown eyes, is very quiet and matter-of-fact. Though retiring in manner, Mr. Whipkey has a pleasing way of gaining and holding one's attention.

Truman Watson
 I had heard a lot about Truman before I found out what he looks like—and so forth. Don't you find it annoying not to know what the subject of conversation looks like?

Truman has blonde hair (notice I didn't say curly blonde hair) which he combs back without a part—or perhaps he does have a part. That is immaterial, anyway. He is somewhat slight in stature and is rather quiet. What do I mean by that? I mean that he doesn't throw paper wads at the studyhall keeper and doesn't make faces at the assembly speaker. I don't think Truman does. But I guess you don't know what he did. No? He won the Senior Boy's Declaration contest in the Inter-scholastic League. First place, too! Smart? I'll say.
 Congratulations, Truman.

AT EVENTIDE

I love to sit by the fireside bright
 On a day in cold December,
 And hear the crackling of the logs
 And watch the dying ember.

The chestnuts roasting in the coals
 And corn hung 'round the ceiling,
 The apples redder than before
 And geet what wonderful eating.

My mother sings the babe to sleep,
 My father reads the papers,
 The dog is dozing on the rug,
 The cat is cutting capers.

BUT SUCH IS WAR
 The aged negro crept along
 The lines of army tents
 He knew that death lurked just beyond—
 Yet from his lips come no laments.

His master lay within the fort—
 His penalty was "sunrise death"
 Beneath his coat the Darkie held
 A message signed "from your dear Beth."

A few more steps and he would find
 His "massah," so beloved and dear.
 A shot—a crumpled figure died,
 "O Massah, Massah, I is heah!"

The sunrise found upon the hill
 Two shallow graves of clay. . .
 Within, two figures never knew
 That God had sent Another Day.

COLORADO BOYS FIGHT AT SWEETWATER

Friday night seven Colorado boys went to Sweetwater to compete against boys from Trent, Sweetwater, and San Angelo. These boys were "Dizzy Dean" Davis, Jimmy Harrison, Hardison Almond, Robert Lacey, Tommy Ratliff, Buck Busbee, and Dale Simpson.

Dizzy Dean won the first match over a Sweetwater boy; Jimmy Harrison easily won his fight with a boy from Trent; Hardison Almond lost a hard fight to a boy from San Angelo; Robert Lacey outmatched his opponent in just thirty seconds for an easy win; Tommy Ratliff lost a close decision to a Sweetwater boy; Buck Busbee fought two fights, winning one and losing one; and Dale Simpson won a close one over a Sweetwater fighter.

Colorado won five out of eight fights which is a good average. Boxing is good, clean sport and everyone should encourage it. It teaches you the art of self-defense which you may need at any time.

The A. A. U. tournament is to be held in the C. H. S. auditorium the 6th and 7th of April. Everyone is encouraged to enter this tournament.

THE ENCHANTED GARDEN
 Soft in the noonday light of spring
 I see the jasmine lift its head,
 I hear the bluebird sweetly sing
 The songs the aged poets said.

The breaths of sweet perfume reveal
 The splendor of your many flowers,
 In your domain I justly feel
 That I could spend many happy hours.

The sound of rippling water steals
 Down through your many flowered lawns,
 And there I see behind the hills
 The sunset of a thousand dawns.

More than "changing the number" when you change to OIL-PLATING

CONOCO GERM PROCESSED OIL
 from Your Mileage Merchant

P. G. FULLER, Consignee Phone No. 8 and 9002F3

MAYBE any station would have oil that's at least of the right Summer grade... let's say No. 20, No. 30, or No. 40.

And possibly anyone would know your right amount—5 or 6 or more quarts.

But it takes the Conoco station—it takes Your Mileage Merchant—to give your engine the oil-change that brings you the plus of OIL-PLATING... at an everyday price.

You must choose patented Conoco GERM Processed oil to know that the engine parts—as if "magnetized"—will attract and hold a shield of OIL-PLATING. This shields and smooths the bearings, piston rings and cylinder walls—bottom to top of your engine. Like the chromium-plating that shields and smooths the bumpers, OIL-PLATING holds ever-fast... it's drain-proof... never leaves a precious part naked to friction, during all your thousands of starts and thousands of miles this Summer. You'll see your heat indicator staying down safely; you'll see your Conoco GERM Processed oil staying up economically. Then see Your Mileage Merchant today for the plus of OIL-PLATING. PICKED UP ALONG THE NEWS PATH

"Uncle Fred" Whiskey, founder and senior publisher of The Record, rounds out his 79th birthday Sunday and launches into his 80th year. . . . Approach of this milestone finds him still breathing his weekly threats to stop doing "The Columnist" for The Record's editorial page. . . . Every now and then these threats advance to a stage where we have to do a little cajoling and assure him that he's wrong in his pessimistic mutterings that "nobody reads it anyway." . . . He's a character, this Uncle Fred of ours. . . . He comes into the office late in the afternoons sighing weakly and complaining, "I don't know what's getting wrong with me—I can't hold out to do anything any more." . . . Our concerned investigation reveals that he's walked out beyond the hospital and the waterworks, back via the new junior high school, down through Ruddleick park and out by the Frontier Roundup grounds and thence through the cemetery for his daily visit at the graveside of his beloved "Aunt Rose," who died 16 years ago, and thence down the highway back to town. . . . Just a mere stroll, and he can't understand where the deuce his breath has gone. . . . If he hasn't been for this customary walk, then he's been doing one of two other things—either he's just finished the minor chore of digging up an acre or so in his yard, or else he's been over to the south hills after some cactus or other native plants to go in his yard, the design of which has never been the same any two years. . . . The hill trip has involved straight walking of over a mile, then climbing over rocks, through barbed wire fences, and considerable digging for what he went after, not to mention carting the heavy plants back home in a towrack tossed over his back. . . . It's only after an especially arduous hill trip that he'll let anybody give him a ride home, riding being one of the things he doesn't care a whoop about. . . . Recently he walked all the way out to Euford for a monthly meeting of the Baptist workers' conference, and was all put out because he didn't get to walk back. . . . The walking out there was, bear in mind, his own choice—there were rides looking for him. . . . He reads all night, practically, and breakfasts so late of mornings that he can skip lunch just fine most of the time. . . . This is by way of contrast to the half century or so that he spent coming to work before dawn and hitting the ball until dark and past. . . . But he says that leisure is a curse and he's sincere in that conviction. . . . A prolonged growl is his greeting at the office door each morning, and we miss the growl when it's past noon showing up. . . . He glares as he grows—he would really like to be regarded as a ferocious being, and he might get by with it if he could keep the glare from dissolving in a grin. . . . On each daily visit to the office he views the half-empty printing forms, shakes his head, and makes the dire prediction that "you won't make it this week, for sure." He always professes great surprise every Thursday when the paper makes its appearance as per schedule. . . . The habit of keeping closely in touch with all happenings of public interest is so deeply ingrained that you'll likely see him at any and every kind of public gathering. . . . He is proud of his record for attending church meetings—prayer meetings, Sunday school, church, associational meetings, everything. . . . His knowledge of the Bible is deep and thorough. . . . Although he confesses an entirely human dread of dying, he faces the certainty of death with a philosophy which pitifully few older people possess. . . . He reads voraciously, disdaining the aid of glasses though he has had but one eye for years. . . . His teeth are still his own, too. . . . He gets quite annoyed because his hearing has dimmed a little with the years, but at that his ears are much better than those of most 79-year-old men. . . . One of his favorite complaints is that he's "just in the way" when he hangs about the office, and we of The Record force hope that this is just another of his synthetic growlings, for there's not one of us who doesn't realize that if it hadn't been for his courage and foresight in establishing The Record nearly 34 years ago and his greater courage and good judgment in guiding it through the lean years of its infancy, there might not be a Record for us to have pleasant jobs on today. . . . So this is "Happy Birthday" to Uncle Fred from "The Force," and here's hoping that he'll still be threatening and growling and glaring at us for many years to come. . . . It's even alright with us for him to go on complaining that he's "in the way," just so long as he doesn't decide to do something about it. . . .

It's a good thing E. A. (Pop) Warner and J. H. Carlock get along. . . . We used to think we were the only folks who ever got them confused, but recently we've learned that it's so common that the two of them have become quite resigned to the confusion—indeed, they are outwardly quite pleasant about it. . . . Seeing them together, one wonders why they should be confused, for they really don't resemble at all. . . . They do have one thing in common, though—they are both among Mitchell county's "cream of the crop" rural citizens. . . .

Those who are promoting the paving election on April 15 are anxious to get a truly representative vote on whether Colorado citizens as a whole really want paved residential streets or not. . . . Frank Kelley and others, including the city council, are urging everybody to vote, and their urging does not discriminate between those who are "for" and those "against." . . . It has been suggested that club-women of the town can be of special service to the community by seeing that all their members vote. . . . This goes for the town's other organizations, too. . . .

The warmth of Monday night was more like summer than spring, but remember last April when spring-like mildness dissolved during the first week in a dust-laden norther which turned to dust-stained snow one night. . . . So keep the red woollens handy. . . . The mesquites are greening, but since they got so thoroughly nipped last year we don't trust them any more. . . .

In addition to being Colorado's "beau," as determined in a recent contest sponsored by the Zetaganthian club, "Sandy" McSpadden, son of the A. L. McSpaddens, is mascot for the Business and Professional Women's club, and due note of his first birthday last Thursday was taken by members of the club. . . .

HERE, THERE AND YONDER: It is told that the Roy Doziers were so excited when getting off to Wichita Falls to view their new grandson Sunday morning that they got beyond Roby before discovering that they hadn't a thin dime, the Dozier wallet having been left in the other Dozier pants back at the barber shop. . . . The talents were unkind to Gladys Miller—all she can do is play the piano, sing (especially "The Bells of St. Mary's," my favorite), write poetry, review poetry, coach dramatics, review books, teach English, lead choirs, teach public speaking. . . . Changes are that most of the strange men you've seen about town this week have been insurance adjusters, brought here by hundreds of claims resulting from our hail storm two weeks ago. . . . For perfect facial coloring we nominate Doris Flo Doss. . . . The frame structure which Methodists have been dubbing "the Sunday school rooms" all these years has been renamed by their new pastor, Rev. C. M. Epps—now it's the "educational building." . . . About the hardest thing we've tried to do lately was to identify our various senior friends in their little-boy and little-girl get-ups as they waited to go to the picture show Friday afternoon—funny how curls and a bow can change a girl who's been featuring a half-way upswept coiffure. . . .

The jumping frog that Mark Twain wrote about has nothing on Frank Koley since he began pinch hitting as manager of the Magnolia company's land and lease office at Midland and continues his duties as manager of the office here. . . . Three days a week he's in Midland, three in Colorado, and in between he somehow manages to keep up with the horse and sheep business about the country. . . .

So we're to be "Colorado City". We came down to work Wednesday morning after the election all ready to turn over a new leaf, just like that. . . . We even went through some copy already written and stuck City onto a list of Colorado. . . . Our enthusiasm simmered down to an every-day level, however, after a talk with Postmaster Joe Y. Fraser, who beats anybody else we know or have ever known in the matter of dragging out details and rules and necessary procedures. . . . It's a habit successful government employes seem to acquire after a few years. . . . Someday the "Colorado Record" masthead will come off of this publication and "Colorado City Record" will be substituted, but we can't do that and distribute the sheet through Uncle Sam's mail until several little matters of red tape have been given official okehs. . . . The main point is that we will be Colorado City officially one of these days before long, and here's to our hearty second to the mandate the voters wrote regarding the change. . . .

Anyone who might question the appreciation of Colorado business men for the importance of the Col-Tex refining industry to the town's welfare couldn't have kept any doubts after witnessing the way men rushed to the impromptu mass meeting which was held Tuesday morning after word got around that April prorations orders issued for oil fields in this section would cause the plant to have to cut down one-third on its operations. . . . Over 100 business men gathered in the Colorado hotel within a few minutes after H. B. Spence, manager of the Colorado chamber of commerce, issued a call for the meeting. . . . The unanimous protest which these men voted against the prorations order probably had a lot to do with the favorable change made by the commission in Austin on Wednesday morning. . . . At least, every true Coloradoan would like to believe that it did. . . .

The new traffic lights have been the wonder of the week. . . . Being of the pedestrian stratum of society, we've acquired part of this foolish look from waiting on a perfectly deserted and perfectly clear corner for the "go" sign to come our way. . . . We're still disappointed that there are no bells, even after being assured by those who ought to know that they're obsolete and being done away with everywhere else. . . .

There's nothing to this "third time's a charm" business—such was Coach Jack Christian's disgusted comment Wednesday morning after Tuesday night's drizzle of rain had caused postponement of track and field events of the Mitchell county interscholastic league events for the third time. . . . The events were originally scheduled for Friday night, March 24, and that was the night Colorado got its big rain and hail. . . . Next date was Tuesday, March 28, and that day a dusty norther sent temperatures tumbling far below the comfort point for shorts-clad sprinters or bundled-up spectators. . . . Last reports as this column closed Wednesday noon was that the meet would be held Wednesday night, but nobody was being very open about the fact. . . . "This time we're going to slip up on the weather," opined the coach. . . .

Sixty-third wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. N. L. McKenzie, who lived in Colorado some 40 years ago, was passed on March 22. . . . The McKenzies now live in Crystal Lake, Ill., but they still keep up with Colorado through The Record. . . . "I see the old-timers keep dropping off," Mr. McKenzie wrote recently. . . . He added, "Some day my wife and I hope to come to see old Colorado and what few are left that I knew 40 years ago." . . .

'Twas nice to see Doyle Williams, who started Colorado High school's vocational agriculture department and headed it for many years, pictured in a recent issue of the Fort Worth Star-Telegram along with his Denison High school boys who won first place in meat judging contests at the 1939 Fat Stock show in Fort Worth. . . . Williams and the boys will represent Texas at the American Royal Livestock show next October. . . .

A story in the Sunday Dallas News telling of the participation of three men, a son, his father, and his grandfather, in dedication services of the new Preston Road Christian church at Dallas was of special interest to Coloradans because the grandfather of the group, A. S. Henry by name, was one of Colorado's pioneer citizens. . . . Mr. Henry had a mercantile business here over 30 years ago, and at that time was a lay minister in the Christian church. . . . His son, Patrick Henry, Sr., is executive secretary of Christian churches in Texas and has visited and preached at the local Christian church a number of times. . . . The grandson, Rev. Patrick Henry, Jr., has never been here. . . . He is pastor of the church which was dedicated Sunday. . . .

Alimony troubles of Winfield Scott, heir to a Fort Worth cattle and land fortune which got its start when the original Winfield Scott, now dead, ran his cattle herds on ranges around Colorado, continue to keep the name of at least one pioneer Colorado family fresh in the minds of newspaper readers. . . . Sunday's Dallas News had a story reading in part as follows: "Winfield Scott faces a new motion for contempt and a temporary restraining order preventing him from disposing of community property of himself and his estranged wife, Jessica Patterson Scott. . . . District Judge W. L. Thornton ordered Scott, upon whom service of citation in two previous contempt actions has not been made, to refrain from disposing of the alleged community property pending outcome of the divorce suit filed by Mrs. Scott in the Forty-Fourth District Court on Nov. 12, 1937. . . . At the same time he ordered him to appear and show cause why he should not be held in contempt for failure to pay $6,960 in back alimony at the rate of $480 per month, awarded Mrs. Scott on Jan. 20, 1938. . . ."
