CHAS. DELANEY, 29, SUCCUMBS AFTER TWO YEARS OF ILL HEALTH

FUNERAL FOR NATIVE OF COLORADO CITY HELD HERE THURSDAY

While his brother lay ill at the opposite end of the hall, Charles Neal DeLaney, 29, native Coloradoan, died in a local hospital at 1 o'clock Wednesday morning.

Funeral services were held Thursday afternoon at 3 o'clock from First Baptist church at Colorado City with Rev. T. A. Patterson, pastor, officiating, assisted by Rev. John Scott of the Central Baptist church at Pampa.

Charles DeLaney was born in Colorado City on December 5, 1909, and was reared and educated here. He was married here to Edna Mohler who survives him.

DeLaney has always lived in Colorado City. He and his family returned to Colorado City from Pampa several months ago.

'SINGING CONVENTION DAY' COMES AGAIN SUNDAY, BUT THIS YEAR IT'S DIFFERENT—THERE'S NO TABERNACLE

It's "Singing Convention Day" come Sunday, but with a difference. For thirty-odd years the annual convention of the Mitchell County Singing association has been held on the first or second Sunday of each May, drawing between 2,000 and 3,000 singers and song-lovers from all over West Texas.

But this year, no matter how warmly the sun may be shining, the convention won't be held in the tabernacle because that historic, barn-like structure passed into history early this year and is no more. This year's convention, according to W. W. Porter, president, will be held in the high school auditorium beginning at 10 o'clock Sunday morning.

CC MEN ENDORSE PLAN FOR PERMIAN BASIN CONCLAVE

PLANS GO FORWARD FOR THE INITIAL CELEBRATION HERE IN LATE JUNE OR JULY

Favorable response to Colorado City's proposal to launch a Permian basin anniversary celebration in June or July was made by West Texas chamber of commerce managers during their convention at Marfa last week, according to H. B. Spence, manager of the local chamber.

Each chamber manager contacted by Spence agreed to name three directors from his vicinity to attend the celebration and help form a permanent organization. One of the three is to be a landowner, one a business man, and one a Pan oil man.

Because the first successful well in the now vast Permian basin was completed in the Westbrook field of Mitchell county 19 years ago, Colorado City has taken the lead in launching such an organization and annual celebration. The conclave will be, however, a huddle affair, meeting in different towns of the basin territory each year.

Dates for the first celebration which will be held here, are to be announced by the chamber of commerce oil industries committee in the near future. The basins first well, known as Underwriters' T & P No. 1, struck pay in June, 1920, but was not shot until July 16 of that year.

Members of the oil industries committee arranging for the initial celebration are R. J. Wallace, chairman, Chas. C. Thompson, Neal Pritchard, W. W. Whipkey, J. W. Randle, D. H. Harry, A. Logsdon, Harry Ratliff, Frank Kelley, R. H. Cantrill, and Wm. Brookover.

COLORADO CITY TO BE 1940 HOST TO C OF C MANAGERS

Colorado City was chosen as 1940 host for the annual convention of the Chamber of Commerce Managers association of West Texas during the closing session of the 1939 convention in Marfa last week.

BASKET PICNIC TO FEATURE EXTENSION SERVICE 'BIRTHDAY'

COUNTY AGENTS SPONSOR ARRANGEMENTS FOR MAY 12 GATHERING

An old-fashioned basket picnic at Ruddick park is being planned as a feature of Mitchell county's participation in the Texas-wide celebration of the 25th anniversary of extension service in the nation.

The picnic will be held on Friday afternoon, May 12, from 5 o'clock until 8 o'clock, according to plans made by Vera Crippen, county home demonstration agent, and Joe C. Williams, county agent, and their helpers.

Music is to be provided during the gathering. W. A. Dulin, Mitchell county farmer who was the county's first farm agent 14 years ago, will make a talk on the beginnings of extension work in the county.

Every family in the county is urged to attend the picnic and bring a basket of food, according to those in charge.

ROY DAVIS COLES TO HEAD COUNTY TEACHERS' BODY

ELECTION HELD AT ANNUAL BANQUET THURSDAY; DR. RHODE IS SPEAKER

Unanimous election of County Superintendent Roy Davis Coles as president took place at the annual banquet of the Mitchell County Teachers' association at the Colorado hotel Thursday night.

Elected to serve with Coles were Winnie Mae Gressett of Westbrook as first vice-president, Supt. Ira D. Lauderdale of Westbrook as second vice-president, and Wylene Thompson teacher at Dorn as secretary-treasurer.

Supt. Ed Williams of Lorraine, returning president, was toastmaster for the banquet which featured an Hawaiian theme throughout. Golden leis were favored at each plate. Gold candles, burned in crystal holders along the tables, which were centered with ivy, pineapple-shaped programs served as place cards.

Speaker of the evening was Dr. Wm. S. Rhode, president of the Colorado City chamber of commerce. Although most of his talk was in a light vein, Dr. Rhode paid serious tribute to the teaching profession.

Mrs. W. W. Porter said the invocation. Entertainment numbers included an Hawaiian song by Jo and Sara Bolin with R. G. Fowler of Westbrook as accompanist, a Hawaiian dance by Willie Sue Nail and a character song by Carolyn Rave Womack, both with Mrs. W. R. Martin accompanying.

Banquet arrangements were made by Ira D. Lauderdale, Hilma Joyce, Mrs. Floyd Quinn, Edith Wilkerson, and Mrs. Harold Bennett.

PAVING PROGRAM TO BEGIN ON MAY 15TH AT OAK AND THIRD

THREE OTHER SECTIONS REPORTED READY TO GO; MANY UNITS ARE NEARLY COMPLETE

Definite plans to start Colorado City's paving program on May 15 at the corner of Oak and Third streets, south of the courthouse, were announced this week by Mayor J. A. Sadler. At the same time he outlined at least three other sections of pavement that are "ready to go."

The paving south of the courthouse will be done first because of the drainage problem which has been giving trouble around the city hall and postoffice for some time. Pavement will be extended from Oak two blocks west to Cypress street and will be planned to carry off the water which has been backing up during heavy rains.

The blocks north and west of the courthouse will also be paved, making a paved drive entirely around the courthouse block.

Already started up are two blocks running along Third street from Chestnut street to Hickory street. Two blocks south and east of the Round Top cafe on East Hill are also ready to go.

Several other sections are nearly ready to go. Mayor Sadler says. After the paving south of the courthouse is finished, it will be "first come, first served," he pointed out.

The paving will cost property owners 30 cents per front foot. The city recently voted $50,000 worth of bonds to supplement WPA funds in carrying on the paving program. Nick Jordan of Plainview has been employed to supervise the work and the city has leased necessary machinery from him.

DROUTH SPECTRE LAID AGAIN BY TIMELY RAINS THIS WEEK; COUNTY'S ASSETS AND MORALE BOOSTED 'A MILLION DOLLARS'

If dollar-and-cent valuations could be put on drouth-breaking rains in West Texas, then Mitchell county's assets as well as its morale were up about a million dollars Thursday morning.

Intermittent rains during the week had reached a total of approximately 1.50 inches in Colorado City at mid-morning Tuesday night. The first shower came late Sunday night. Other rains fell Tuesday night at intervals Wednesday and early Thursday. Some moisture seems to have fallen in practically all parts of the county, especially in those sections where it was most needed.

The rains came just as many stockmen were confronting the immediate necessity for putting their cattle on feed for lack of grass. Sam Wulljen, who ranches southeast of town, reported about two inches early in the week. The Rendsbrook ranch was missed, however, by the first rains, according to Otto Jones, manager, but had received at least an inch by Thursday morning.

Sheriff Dick Gregory reported "two tanks full" on his land in the Carr section. W. T. Brooks, southeast of Westbrook, reported "heavy" rain and told of a near-flood at Old Latah Wednesday afternoon. The rain came "just right" for John Shurtleff's inch-high cotton three miles south of town. Roy Farmer got good rains on his farm southwest of Westbrook, having received about 1.25 inches early in the week. He reported Thursday morning that he got 3 inches Wednesday afternoon.

Apparently the moisture lightened in the northern part of the county, but most of the farmers in the section missed were not badly in need because they received good rains which missed the rest of the county several weeks ago. A K. McCauley of the Lonefellow community reported "just a sprinkle." J. P. Hestand, who farms between here and Buford, estimated that he had received about one-half inch, and a similar estimate was ventured by Lon Strain of Fairview. Jim Martin of near Lorraine reported, however, a "big rain" east of Lorraine on Wednesday. Jim Bodine of Buford said Monday that he had had about a half-inch.

PUBLIC PLAYGROUNDS PLANNED FOR SUMMER BY TRUETT FULCHER

VACANT LOTS ARE BEING PREPARED IN VARIOUS PARTS OF TOWN

Four or five public playgrounds are to be operated in Colorado City during the summer months by the city recreational department, according to Truett Fulcher, director.

Use of the playgrounds will be launched on Saturdays until school is out, and afterwards there will be supervised play on the grounds each afternoon, Fulcher says. Softball, croquet, paddle tennis, horseshoes, and perhaps pingpong and other games will be played, all under the direction of some member of Fulcher's recreational staff.

The playgrounds are being prepared on vacant lots in various sections of the town. Fulcher plans to have competitive games between the different age groups from the various sections. Divisions will also be offered for grown-ups.

One playground is to be on Chestnut street, one in the west part of town, another near the mission tabernacle on the south side, a fourth on the junior high school grounds. Site for a fifth has not yet been definitely determined.

The seventh grade graduation program will start at 7:15, the senior program at 8:30, according to Supt. Ira D. Lauderdale. Commencement week for the seniors was officially launched Sunday night when their commencement sermon was preached by Rev. C. M. Epps of the First Methodist church at Colorado City. The service was held in the auditorium-gymnasium.

The senior program Friday night will be a pageant called "Light of Truth," which has been used before. Supt. Lauderdale, John W. Hood, and C. V. Cox have assisted in preparing the pageant, which includes seniors and selected students from other high school grades.

Cast of the pageant is as follows: Master of Ceremonies - Weldon Strange, Guardian of Light - Boyd Anderson, Spirit of Light - Ruth Smith, Successor to the Guardian - Van Euston, Senior President - Geraldine Eikenberg, Valdictorian - Iris Costin, Salutatorian - Winton Lee Coleman.

Eight Home Economics Students Honored At Recognition Dinner

Outstanding work done in home economics this year by eight second- and third-year home economics students of Colorado High school was recognized at a dinner given at the Colorado hotel to honor the girls Tuesday evening.

The eight honor guests were Fae Porter, Megyneta Thompson, Jane Merrill, Lucille Gass, Roberta Hamrick, Catherine Reese, Bazell McQuerry, and Ruth Griffith. Their pages were eight other girls whose work rates honorable mention, these being Esther Elliott, Jo Walding, Bonnie Holt, Blanche Motley, Mildred Hinsley, Billie Blackwell, Elizabeth Aycock, and Ethyle Sue Dawson.

Red roses, official flower of the Future Home-Makers' association, were used with white daisies and other white flowers to decorate the banquet table. Red and white candles were placed at intervals. Tiny Texas flags were favors at each plate.

Vada Cole, head of the home economics department, presided. The dinner table had places for 45 guests, including honor guests, pages, home economics students, several mothers, and Supt. and Mrs. John E. Watson. Helen Womack gave the welcome following invocation by Mrs. M. J. Dawson.

A vocal duet was sung by Esther Elliott and Inez Rogers, accompanied by Agnes Thompson. Billie Blackwell played an accordion solo. Fae Porter, accompanied by Inez Rogers, gave a vocal solo.

The recognition service followed a talk by Miss Cole, who explained the purpose of the dinner. First ribbons and then red rose corsages were pinned on the eight honored girls by their pages. A similar service is to be held later for first-year girls, Miss Cole says.

SEVERAL NEW LOCATIONS PENDING IN SCURRY POOL

Several new locations are known to be pending in the new Ira field of Scurry county although none were definitely announced during the week.

Paul C. Teas, who recently completed the No. 1 W. P. Thompson in the field, is said to be starting another test in the southwest quarter of section 129. Rumors are that Teas, whose home is in San Antonio, will soon be headquartering in Snyder rather than Colorado City. According to the Scurry County Times, Teas has acquired considerable acreage southwest of his No. 1 producer.

W. E. Callahan No. 2 First National Bank of Snyder, an east offset to Teas' producer, was drilling at 210 this week. H. C. Wheeler No. 1 M. J. Sims was shut down at 540 waiting for cement. Wheeler's No. 1 W. H. Sterling is to be shot the latter part of this week. Coffield & Guthrie's No. 1-A First National bank is preparing for its pumping test after cleaning out from a shot. The same partnership's No. 1 First National Bank test is preparing to shoot at 2320 feet.

Considerable interest is being attracted by Robinson Brothers No. 1 A. C. Martin, located northwest of the present Ira field and thought to be an extension of it. This well was shut down several months ago after acid treatment caused the oil to solidify. Now the well has been discovered to be flowing and preparations are being made to give it a new test.

HOSPITAL WILL HOLD OPEN HOUSE MAY 12

M., and Mr. and Mrs. Bill Dubois and baby from Monahans. The Wallaces' sons, Don Wallace of Lubbock and Mumpsey Wallace of Monahans, and their wives will also be here.

ARCHITECT INSPECTS NEW RENDERBROOK HOME

Praising both workmanship and materials, Wallace E. Dibble, prominent architect of Springfield, Mass., was here Monday to inspect the new home which has been constructed on the Renderbrook ranch for Mrs. R. L. Keeney and family of Somersville, Connecticut.

Mrs. Keeney, a daughter of the late W. L. Ellwood, is one of the owners of the ranch. The home will serve as quarters for her and her family when they stay at the ranch. Featuring a rustic design, the house measures 38 by 93 feet, constructed partly of natural stone. The

'LIFTED' FROM THE COL-TEX SAFETYGRAM

Taken from the latest issue of the Col-Tex Safetygram, published monthly for employees of the Col-Tex refinery with N. H. White, Jr., as editor and Joe Gunning as assistant editor in the place of Shorty Winnett, are the following items:

A general safety meeting was held at the machine shop Thursday, April 13th, at 11 a. m., with practically all employes in attendance. Superintendent Neal Prichard presided at the meeting, and general safety conditions over the plant were discussed.

Mr. Prichard complimented the employes on the fine record made for safety during the year 1938, and asked the cooperation of everyone toward making this year the best we have ever had.

G. V. Loyd was selected to make a survey of the entire plant sometime within the next few weeks, at which time he will inspect every department for any unsafe or hazardous conditions which may exist. He will make a report of his findings to the superintendent, together with recommendations for any changes which may be felt necessary in the interest of safe working conditions about the plant.

Col-Tex won the safety contest for the year 1938 and are entitled to a big barbecue and picnic to be given by the company. It was decided to have this picnic on May 10th at Rudderick Park, and all employes and their families are urged to attend.

E. B. Willbanks and G. O. Hudson were designated to make a trip to Don Martin Lake in Old Mexico and bring back enough fish to feed the entire group. The fish will of course be augmented by a beef or so, and plenty of trimmings.

Hank Bryant was appointed as chairman of the entertainment committee and will arrange a suitable program for the occasion.

Skeet Harkins is a new addition to the office force due to the changeover when our old pal Shorty was called to the city office.

Joe Gunning has been drafted as assistant editor for the Safetygram—and is he a good one. You will have to give Joe most of the credit for this issue getting out.

DID YOU KNOW????
 Didja know that Luke (Judge) Scarborough, is a licensed lawyer, and that he studied and fitted himself for this work and kept up with his duties as a stillman and rite shift foreman??? And didja know that the Judge is contemplating taking another extension course, this time in English??? Didja know that Rex Gilbreath has just completed a course in higher accountancy and is taking yet another course in this work, and all this along with his regular duties at the shipping desk and the pipeline desk??? Didja know that he is taking a course in "Speedwriting"—he having long since forgotten all his Gregg shorthand??? And didja know that Skeet Harkins is taking the same course??? Didja know that Jack Richardson is taking an extension course in accountancy—and this in connection with his regular duties??? Didja know that Sam Sanders has completed a course in Petroleum Engineering and kept up with his work all along??? Didja know that Farris Lippis is a real artisan when it comes to brick and rock work, and didja know that he has built a rock wall around his back yard, together with a barbecue oven—and all this he has done at odd times after working hours—and didja know that he has one of the most attractive back yards in our city??? Didja know that a lot of our old Col-Tex boys are making good in jobs with the company in places far removed from here: Hoyt May is now a full-fledged salesman in the emulsion sales department, having East and Southern Texas as his territory, with San Antonio as his headquarters—and didja know that Hoyt recently forsook the single state to get himself hitched up in matrimony??? Travis Daugherty is now head man in the soils laboratory at San Antonio, and doing a fine job of it too. Cliff Yater is in charge of the emulsion plant at Corpus Christi and tells us that he is about ready to start the ball to rolling down there. Baxter Scoggin—now Asphalt Technician with headquarters in the Oklahoma City office, and the whole of the United States as his territory, and didja know that all four of these men are ex-laboratory men here at

Col-Tex, and evidently the training they got here must have been good to place them where they are.

Bob Petrick and Shorty Winnett are now holding down important jobs in the main office at Oklahoma City, and both these boys majored here at Col-Tex.

Didja know that Ed Deklotz has gone from among us to take a job in a research laboratory in Chicago??? Didja know that Frank (Fats) Webber is now a relief rite foreman, and that Frank is doing a grand job in this capacity??? Didja know that Jack Alexander flipped his new Ford over in trying to bend it around a curve between here and Sterling City??? Didja know that Lee (Deacon) Dorn is one of the best golfers in this section, and that the Deacon is consistently shooting under par???

HOSPITAL NEWS

Indications are that the house will remain in session several days after the session ends May 8—perhaps as long as two or three weeks.

The constitution provides that the legislature shall have a regular session of 120 days. That period will be over next Tuesday. However, it is provided that if the legislature wishes, it can refuse to adjourn and continue working, with members receiving only half pay.

Due to the fact that one of the major appropriation bills—that providing financing for state departments for the next two years—will not be completed for presentation to the house until Monday, and due to the fact that few members of either house will be ready to adjourn until the pension problem is settled, two or three weeks more will be needed to finish the work on hand.

Already the end-of-session pressure is on, with the house holding morning, afternoon and night sessions. Many bills of fairly great importance are being put into good shape and passed out.

Monday the house finally passed a bill to regulate optometrists. The law will provide that any person fitting eyeglasses must have certain education in that specialty. Originally the bill would have prohibited advertising by optometrists, but that section was taken out by an amendment.

Another bill passed by the house was a senate measure setting up machinery for creation of the Big Bend international park. The bill, however, provides no appropriation of money for the purpose.

Advocates of the park are hoping that some philanthropist may provide the necessary money to buy the land. They claim that several wealthy persons are considering the matter. If the park is created, it will mean much additional money will be brought to Texas by travelers, many of whom will travel through Sweetwater and Colorado City enroute to the scenic wonder.

Monday Gov. W. Lee O'Daniel signed a proclamation starting machinery for organizing under the far-reaching new soil conservation law. Commissioners courts of each county were directed to call precinct conventions of land owners May 15 to select a representative for each precinct.

In each county the four representatives chosen by precincts will immediately select one of their number to attend district conventions to be held May 22 as follows:

- District 1—Plainview.
- District 2—Fort Stockton.
- District 3—Kenedy.
- District 4—Crockett.
- District 5—Stephenville.

At each district meeting, a member of a state board will be chosen and the board will hold its first meeting

As a result of the program, the federal soil conservation service is expected to spend several million dollars annually in work to prevent erosion of Texas' lands. Farmers will cooperate with engineers and experts in erosion prevention, contributing mostly the labor.

This week several important bills have been before the house of representatives for consideration.

Monday night there was fiery debate on the matter of county road debt assumption by the state. Two bills to accomplish this end have been introduced, and as yet the house has been unable to agree which of the two it wants.

The rural school aid bill has passed out in pretty good condition, despite opposition from some of the big town representatives.

The committee on labor has recommended passage of a bill that would put the state in the insurance business, selling workmen's compensation insurance in competition with the private businesses now doing that. Those favoring the bill, however, say that such action is necessary because of abuses brought about by private companies.

The bill will be controversial, and may not have a chance to pass this late in the session.

The bill that would increase the size of John Tarleton Agricultural college at Stephenville and North Texas Agricultural college at Arlington to four year schools has hit another snag. It has been sent to a conference committee for the second time, technically to iron out differences between house and senate versions of the bill, really to give it a slow death.

There seems to be some opinion that the legislature has been in Austin nearly four months without accomplishing anything. This is due, perhaps, to the fact that the pension problem has not been settled.

But although the pension matter is still unsettled, the house has accomplished quite a bit. Hundreds of minor local bills have been passed, along with dozens of very important general bills.

Among these were bills affecting schools, soil conservation, labor, public lands, appropriations for operation of the government, and others.

As for the pension problem, it will be settled. But it will be difficult, for it is hard to get a dozen men to agree on anything, much less 150. The pension problem is a complicated matter, and many details must be worked out in it.

Some of the readers may have served on school boards. If so, they know how hard it sometimes is to get seven men to agree. It is many times worse in the legislature. But that is not to be condemned. Freedom of debate and discussion in full of governmental problems is one of the things that make our democratic government the best in the world.

Milk utensils should not be washed with dish rags, greasy soap, or soap powder, but with an alkaline washing powder and a stiff brush.

Milk utensils should be sterilized by immersing in hot water of 170 degrees for at least two minutes or by rinsing in a chlorine solution.

Do not mix warm fresh milk with cold milk as this will hasten bacterial growth.

It's Quaker's Ham Loaf—
And So Economical It'll
Win Every "Scotch" Heart

Did we say this new recipe for ham loaf, the tastiest, most savory ham loaf you've ever eaten, is so economical it will win every "Scotch" heart? If so, it is a gross understatement because it'll win the heart of every homemaker, Scotch, American—or what have you. And here's why.

Quaker's Ham Loaf recipe includes Quaker Oats. "Fine oatmeal is just about the best meat 'extender' there is. So when you remember the butcher bills and how little Quaker Oats costs, you'll be delighted to know about this new use for such a delicious and healthful food.

Then, too—oatmeal is rich in proteins for firm flesh and in those valuable body-building minerals, phosphorus and iron. And even more important—it also is nature's richest economical source of vital Thiamin (Vitamin B1) which everybody needs continuously for best health. Quaker's Ham Loaf is a good way to supply your family with additional Thiamin.

Now get out your scissors and cut out this new recipe for the world's most savory ham loaf because you'll want to save it.

QUAKER'S HAM LOAF
(Serves 10-12)
1 lb. smoked ham (ground)
1 lb. veal (ground)

3 tablespoons green pepper (chopped)
3 tablespoons onion (chopped)
1/2 teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
2 eggs
1 cup tomato soup (canned)
1 cup Quaker or Mother's Oats (Quick or Regular, uncooked)
Combine the meat, green pepper, onion, and seasonings. Add beaten eggs, tomato soup and Quaker or Mother's Oats. Pack in a standard bread loaf pan. Bake in a moderate oven (350 d.) for 1 hour and a half.

RAT EXTERMINATION
We have had inquiry in the office numerous times on the kind of poison to use for rats that is safe for other animals. We have found that Red Squill powder gives excellent results when mixed at the rate of one ounce of the powder to one pound of cheap salmon. It is suggested that the mixture be placed in newspaper sheets cut into quarters and with a ball of the mixture about the size of a large marble, then the paper with the bait in it twisted up. The suggestion would be also that baits be mixed up late in the afternoon and placed in and around where the rats are staying. I suggest that the baits be put out after dark in order that they will be fresh and to prevent chickens and other farm animals from getting the baits. There may be some difficulty in getting the rats to take the baits, hamburger meat, ground jackrabbit, sardines, or sausage meats may be used instead of salmon.

The preparation is harmless to cats, dogs, poultry or other farm animals.

COMMUNITY MEETINGS
Community meetings have been held in a number of communities of the county in discussing farm problems. There were one hundred forty-five in a meeting at Looney last week, thirty at Hyman Friday night and twenty out in a meeting at Westbrook Monday night. The next monthly meeting at Looney will be on regular meeting night set aside for the community meeting. Ice cream will be served to all present for the meeting and a good program is being arranged by the program committee. These Farm Association meetings are the result of work done in organization by the farmers of the communities to study farm problems. Very interesting programs are being given in these farm meetings.

COUNTY FAIR
We wonder how many farmers and ranchmen would be interested in exhibiting farm products and breeding stock in a county fair. The Mitchell County Swine Breeders association has gone on record as favoring a county fair and also as a group who will enter hogs and other farm products in a fair if one is held in Colorado City.

If you are interested in helping to put on a county fair may we suggest that you let your county agent know or Mr. Shillingsburg, vocational teacher of Colorado City, Mr. Brown of Lorraine. Mr. Cox of Westbrook, vocational agriculture teachers, or Mr. H. B. Spence of Colorado City. Mr. Spence is secretary of the chamber of commerce in Colorado City.

POULTRY
The agent is getting calls on culling poultry and feedings as well as diseases of poultry. Mr. Guy Madison who has been brooding white leghorn chicks, weighed 275 and the average weight at eight weeks of age was 29 ounces per bird average. Mr. Madison is feeding chick starter and growing mash to his birds. He hopes to get at least 100 laying pullets from the flock after culling. He has about 90 hens on the yard now that are in production. Mr. Madison is using chickens, cows and hogs to make the living at home.

SINGING CONVENTION—

aged to bring basket lunches and spread them in Ruddick park or wherever they choose.

Before the days of automobiles, singing convention day was a meeting time for relatives who, being separated the width of the county, probably hadn't seen each other since the last convention day. The convention has been credited with uniting country and town people of Mitchell county more than any other single factor.

The tabernacle is the second "tradition" which the Mitchell County Singing association has lost in the past two years. The first one was W. L. Doss, Sr., who died in October, 1937. Doss guided the organization of the association more than 30 years ago, and never missed one of its sessions from that time until his death. He was one of its earliest presidents and filled that office time without number. He attended the last convention of his lifetime, the one in May, 1937, in a wheel chair and heard over 2,000 voices sing "On Jordan's Stormy Bank," one of his favorites, and dedicate it to him. The only time the convention has ever failed to meet in its existence was in May, 1918, when the county was so devastated by drought and so torn by war strain that no one had the heart to sing.

MITCHELL COUNTIANS ON BIG SPRING RADIO BROADCAST MONDAY

TOWN'S NAME CHANGE IS BASIS FOR FEATURE STORY BY FRANK REEVES

Recent change of Colorado's name to Colorado City furnished the basis for a column-long feature story by Frank Reeves, Sr., staff writer for the Fort Worth Star-Telegram, in Saturday's issue of that paper.

With the story were pictures taken by Reeves during a visit here some two weeks before. One picture was a street scene, another of the county jail, and the others were of individuals: D. H. Snyder, Sr., pioneer cattleman; C. D. Hornberger, member of the city council; Col. C. M. Adams, pioneer merchant and first mayor after Colorado's incorporation; Dr. W. S. Rhode, president of the chamber of commerce; Lay Powell, cattleman; Joe H. Smoot, bank vice-president who is said to have first suggested the name change; Jack Richardson, city councilman; and Mayor J. A. Sadler.

SENIORS ELEVATED INTO SCHOOL-CLOSING SPOTLIGHT AS JUNIORS GIVE BANQUET

Formally elevating Colorado High school's 82 seniors into their place in the spotlight of school-closing activities, the annual junior-senior banquet was held Friday night at the American Legion hut with 225 in attendance.

A ship theme was carried out in blue and silver. Festoons of blue and silver were draped across the ceiling. Blue and silver tapers burned on the banquet tables and in wrought-iron candelabra on the piano and at the end of the room. Bowls of sweet peas were alternated with candles on the tables. Silver anchors were attached to each place card. A silver ship decorated the blue program-menus, which were tied in silver.

Burl Ballard, junior president, was toastmaster. Jack Smith said the invocation. Cora Mae Bodine welcomed the honor class and visitors, and Fannie Fae Porter, senior president, responded.

During the dinner Mrs. W. R. Martin was at the piano, playing

QUALITY

Is the Seed of Satisfaction

Almost a third of a century ago an organization was founded known as Hicks Rubber Co. This institution was founded on the principle that "Quality is the seed of Satisfaction" and during its many years of operation the firm's policy has never varied. Its founders were firm in the belief that the only key to success was to give each customer more for his money. Through each day's operation, from then until now, this aim has been achieved. The 1939 Star Tire supersedes all expectations. We can truthfully say, without reservation, that it is the finest tire that modern engineering, equipment and materials can produce. We are proud to put it on your car because it represents the finest money can buy!

The Quality of STAR
Tires Is Guaranteed!

Because actual tests in the laboratory and on the road have proved the superior qualities of Star Tires, we guarantee the quality in actual road service up to 18 months against anything that can happen to a tire!

ACTIVITIES OF FATHERS MAKE CARR P-T-A VERY UNUSUAL AMONG SUCH ORGANIZATIONS

The unique situation of having nearly as many fathers working in its Parent-Teacher association as there are mothers prevails at Carr school in northwestern Mitchell county.

One of the most important chairmanships in the organization is held by a man, F. L. Elkenberg, who heads the ways and means committee. Lynn Halbert, principal of Carr school, is membership chairman. Taft Morris is chairman of benevolences. Last year the association had 17 men in active membership as compared with 18 women. Almost the same condition holds this year.

Mrs. E. C. Grant is president, Mrs. Holly Jackson vice-president, Mrs. Tom Jackson secretary-treasurer. Mrs. F. L. Elkenberg is program chairman. The association is to be headed next year by Mrs. Bobbie Rees.

This year the association has raised around $125 for betterment of the school, using the bulk of this to convert two class rooms into an auditorium with a new stage and curtain. A delegate, Mrs. Grant, was sent to the state P-T-A congress in Lubbock, and two delegates, Mrs. Grant and Mrs. Rees, are to be sent to the district meeting in Midland this week. Instruments have been purchased for the Carr Rhythm band, which won first place in the county last year and second this year. Mrs. Lynn Halbert is director of the band.

Sleep sounder and awake refreshed—just be wise enough to take 2 or 3 doses of BUCKLEY'S MIXTURE (triple acting) in sweetened hot water just before you go to bed.

For bronchial coughs—far tougher, old persistent coughs, take a few doses of BUCKLEY'S—by far the largest-selling cough medicine in all cold Canada—Buckley's give definite quick relief from that choking gasping struggle for breath.

It acts like a "rush" and satisfaction is guaranteed. Get it at druggists everywhere.

Joan Crawford Stars In Spectacular "Ice Follies Of 1939" On Palace Screen

The problem of careers versus marriage finds an answer against the glamour of a back-stage romance of Hollywood in "The Ice Follies of 1939," starring Joan Crawford with James Stewart, Lew Ayres, Lewis Stone and the famous "International Ice Follies" troupe. The new picture comes to the Palace theatre Saturday night, Sunday and Monday, May 7, 8 and 9.

Miss Crawford is seen as a singing skater who marries James Stewart only to find that she cannot acknowledge the union due to a "no marriage" clause in an motion picture contract signed in an effort to keep the team of Stewart, Lew Ayres and herself from starving.

The couple separate when Stewart realizes that he is proving a hindrance to her career. She soars rapidly to stardom and Stewart, reunited with Ayres, works on tangible plans for the staging of a spectacle on ice to be known as the "Ice Follies."

Called to New York for a personal appearance, the star arrives on the same night that Stewart's "Ice Follies" is opening. The two are reunited for a brief moment but quarrel and depart for their respective theatres. Stewart's "Ice Follies" wins acclaim as the hit of the season.

Stewart, in the meantime, discovers that his own wife is the mysterious backer of his show and upon verifying this truth renounces all interest in the company. The complications which follow prove thrilling and end with a shot of the name of Stewart's wife added in lights to the cast of the "Ice Follies."

Franciska Gaal Cast Opposite Bing Crosby

Remember the little blonde bombshell who played the role of the little Dutch girl in the recent Cecil B. DeMille epic, "The Buccaneer"—lovely Franciska Gaal? She's coming to town again—with Bing Crosby, in her second American offering, "Paris Honeymoon," which comes to the Palace theatre Friday and Saturday.

lous Pushtalnickian forbears, a rough and hardy race of mountaineers.

Which is right in Miss Gaal's line? Born the thirteenth and youngest child of an aristocratic Budapest family, she was expected to lead the sheltered life of her class. But she shocked her family by announcing on her thirteenth (a lucky number for her) birthday that she was going to be an actress. She went to dramatic school and, through a lucky break, got the lead role in "The Stupid Man," which made her the toast of Budapest.

She went into pictures and appeared in such roles as "Kiki" and a descriptively titled comedy called "Miss Paprika." Then she was seen by the great DeMille and was offered an American contract. Her first role was in "The Buccaneer" where, in spite of such actors as Fredric March, Akim Tamiroff, Margot Grahame and many others just as impressive, she managed to shine and impress American audiences with her portrayal of the Dutch girl "Gretchen."

The gorgeous blonde whom the great DeMille has personally described as "a combination of Helen Hayes, the early Mary Pickford, Elisabeth Bergner and Clara Bow," comes to the screen as "Manya," fairest flower of the mythical principality of "Pushtalnick," famed for its roses and beautiful maidens. "Pushtalnick" is the place where Bing, as an American millionaire, has to choose between Manya and a gay divorcee, played by Shirley Ross, to whom he has already pledged his troth. And it's a role, according to Hollywood advice, which fits her like a glove. It calls for verve, vivacity, vigor and vitriol, because, you see, Manya is a spitfire peasant girl who knows when she is in love and does something about it, in the manner of her glor-

"Blondie," Dagwood and Baby Dumpling will step out of Chic Young's popular comic strip onto the screen of the Ritz theater on Sunday and Monday in Columbia's "Blondie." This is the initial picturization of the foibles and misadventures of the Bumstead clan in a projected series based on the Chic Young "funnies."

Penny Singleton, vivacious young musical comedy star, will be seen in the title role with Arthur Lake, a perfect "Dagwood Bumstead," as her irrepressible young husband. In the role of Baby Dumpling is four-year-old Larry Simms, a chubby little performer who bears a remarkable resemblance to his mischievous comic strip counterpart.

The story of "Blondie" starts on a note that is characteristic with Dagwood, late as usual, making a mad dash for the office. At work Dagwood's woes begin to pile up. It appears that a collector is hounding him for several hundred dollars that had been loaned to Elsie, the office gold-digger, on a note which Dagwood had foolishly endorsed. The boss, Dithers, irate because he can't close the Hazlip deal, apocryphically turns down Dagwood's request for a raise. At home, Blondie purchases some new furniture as a fifth wedding anniversary surprise for a raise. Not knowing the old furniture is security for the Elsie note, Dithers finally offers to let Dagwood try to close the Hazlip deal. It's a straw and Dagwood, drowning in his ocean of financial folly, clutches at it.

The complications mount in a hilarious crescendo, involving Blondie's suspicions of "another woman" and a night in jail for Dagwood.

Baby Dumpling's antics lend a familiar and character touch to the picture, while Daisy, the dog, has a distinctly major role. Four-year-old Danny Mummert portrays Alvin, Dumpling's playmate, with Gene Lockhart, Ann Doran, Richard Fiske, Gordon Oliver and Jonathan Hale in other important roles.

The picture was directed by Frank Strayer of "Jones Family" fame from a screen play by Richard Flournoy.

EDITORIAL

We turn this column this week to the reproduction of a Dallas News editorial.

THE 'BIRD WITH THE BROKEN PINION'

Not every adage that has been looked upon as a truism is true, and not every one that is true in one sense may be in another. There are those which may be correct in their application to practical material things which are altogether wrong when applied symbolically to spiritual and moral things. The analogy is altogether lacking.

An example of this is found in the saying, "The bird with the broken pinion can never fly so high again." This may be true generally speaking as to the physical flight of birds, although even in this there doubtless are numerous exceptions. But when it is attempted to apply it figuratively to the spiritual and moral status of men and women, there is no analogy.

In the one instance the bird's wing has to depend upon the usual processes of nature for restoration to its former strength and usefulness. In the other renewal of strength and usefulness is accomplished by the interposition of God, and is therefore perfect and complete. If the bird's pinion were to be repaired by Divine agencies it might be made even better than before, even as he who "dead in trespasses and sins" is made "every whit whole" when he seeks his restoration at the hand of Him who alone can make him so.

Cannot He who made the bird restore its strength and usefulness? Cannot He who made the man who sins make him anew? He not only can, but He does. Were it not so, only chaos, blackness and despair would wait upon us all.

He could transform a crippled and vile carrion crow into a bird of paradise, just as He can and does transform the sinner into a saint.

It takes a very little while for the saving power of his God to translate him "out of the power of darkness . . . into the kingdom of His dear Son."

He may still retain the scars and marks of his struggles to overcome the wicked one alone. He may recall when his wounds pained and weakened him. He may still from time to time tremble with anguish when he takes a retrospective glance at some of his terrible experiences. But he realizes that he has not merely been restored, but has been "born again," and is therefore very much higher from every standpoint than ever before.

More often than otherwise it requires misfortune, sorrow and affliction to bring about this wonderful transformation in man.

In things spiritual, it is often "the bird with the broken pinion" that ultimately soars the highest.

VICTORY FROM DEFEAT

Marvelous it is that man not only rises higher in a spiritual sense after his broken pinion, but it frequently happens that he attains to greater heights in world affairs because he begins life with a "broken pinion" physically. This challenges his greatest powers and impels his greatest efforts. There are innumerable men and women who have distinguished themselves in various walks of life who began badly handicapped by some physical defect.

One might begin with Fanny J. Crosby, blind sacred song writer whose hymns have swept untold thousands into the fold of the Good Shepherd; Steinmetz, the electrical wizard, hunchbacked and otherwise physically unattractive, but who nevertheless has been a boon to humanity; Alexander H. Stephens, Georgia statesman who weighed less than a hundred pounds, who who though a midget in stature was a giant in legislative halls; Dwight L. Moody, great evangelist, whose "broken pinion" consisted of poverty, ignorance and awkwardness.

Helen Keller, of whom it may be said that she began life with both wings broken, but who by fortitude, perseverance and faith in God, supplemented by the wonderful faithfulness, patience and kindness of her companion and teacher, Miss Sullivan, has set an example to the world that should cause any one with burdens less heavy to be ashamed to complain.

This short list should be sufficient to hush the utterance of such so-called proverbs as that hereinbefore quoted.

It is for such as these, as well as those whose pinions have been broken since they began to use them, that the statue, "Winged Victory," should have been carved.

It might be said of these that theirs were wingless victories, but victories nevertheless. "Some think of God in the sight of difficulties, and some think of difficulties in the sight of God."

Those who desire to overcome difficulties need to look at them "in the sight of God."

The achievement of one victory under difficulties gives courage and strength, faith and hope, for another. Reward for one triumph gives hope and expectation of another.

HOPELESSNESS WOULD ERASE

If the adage about the "bird and the broken pinion" were true in the sense that many construe it, when a man failed in business he would not have the courage to undertake to rebuild his lost fortunes.

If it were true in such sense the convict who has finished his term in prison, whether he was guilty of the crime with which he was charged or not, would never undertake to overcome the odium attaching to his name, but would, with the anarchist, say, "Oh, what's the use?"

If it were so, the man who suffers shame whether justifiably or not, would not feel like seeking to "live it down" by building himself up in the future.

Sometimes it is necessary that we be blinded by tears, in order that we may be made to see.

The process of refining our gold and separating it from the dross requires the fire of suffering. After it is over we can see its necessity.

It is sometimes necessary to have surgeons break the arms or legs of certain ones in order that they may reset them in a way that will make them much more useful and look as they should.

So it is in spiritual things. Our spiritual limbs have to be reset; indeed, we have to have a new life, "be born again," before we shall be willing to fly to heights hitherto unknown by us!

Indeed it is He who fights the battle. "The Lord fought against the enemies of Israel."

Over and over does this statement appear in the history of Israel, but nowhere did He fight for Israel when Israel was in the wrong, nor when Israel failed to fight for itself.

So it is these victories over great handicaps and difficulties which give new pinions to those whose wings are broken. They no longer flutter in the mire of material earthly things. They no more lie hopeless and defeated in the muck and filth of Godless thought and action.

He who suffers realizes that "Your iniquities have separated between you and your God."

It is he who is most sure to become conscious of his own weaknesses and sins. This always happens when the light of the glory from God's throne falls upon us. And so it is that the higher we soar in His sunlight the brighter grows the way and the more glorious the experience.

ON PINIONS OF LOVE

Oh, the Victories attained through faith in God, faithfulness, patience, fortitude, persistence and sanguine hope! The shut-in, the bedridden, the blind, the so-called helpless, have occasion to realize more than their less fortunate brothers and sisters what relying on God and their own efforts and faithfulness mean!

They have had the experience. They have seen the results. They have felt the thrill of triumphant reward. They have known the glow induced by the consciousness of having been rewarded for their trust in the goodness of God and in "the power of His might."

He hath given them wings stronger than the eagle's. They soar higher and higher than they ever dreamed of flying with their old ones. Like those of the Psalmist's dove, they "are covered with silver, and her feathers with yellow gold." They glint and glow in the sunshine of His love.

Such as these can say of themselves as it was said of Jacob: "He found him in a desert land, and in the waste howling wilderness; he led him about, he instructed him, he kept him as the apple of his eye. As an eagle stirreth up her nest, fluttereth over her young, spreadeth abroad her wings; so the Lord alone did lead him, AND THERE WAS NO STRANGE GOD WITH HIM."

Wonderful figures! Impressive symbols! Tremendously significant the words, "And there was no strange god with him."

Most of our defeats, sorrows, pains and sufferings come because we are not willing to part with our "strange gods."

It is the things which we suffer which make us willing to part with them.

God's aid in one struggle means that it is available in another, and with this the result is assured before the battle is begun.

Oh, thou earthling, who may be floundering in the muck and mire of worldly things—who realizes that you have a broken pinion—look up. He who made it can and will for the asking give you new life, new strength and new pinions.

Whereas you at your best only flew among the treetops, you may now soar up to the very sun itself. Though you once mounted no higher than the little hills, you may now rise above the mountains, rejoicing in the knowledge of the love and glory of Him whose you are and whom you should serve.

Faith gives wings to love, and love lifts one higher and higher toward the light and love eternal.

"LOVE LIFTED ME!"

THE HOOVER DAM

The Hoover Dam across the Colorado River at Boulder City, when completed, will stretch across a width of 1180 feet. The base of the dam will be 650 feet sloping up to 45 feet at the top and will be in the form of an arch extending up stream. The reservoir created will store 35,500,000-acre feet of water.

The dam will back water up the Colorado 114 miles and up the Virgin river 35 miles into Nevada. The area of the lake will be 227 square miles, which represents a body of water 700 feet at its deepest place, nearly 15 miles square.

When harnessed, it will give at maximum 1,200,000 horsepower. Water from the lake will be used for irrigation in Arizona, Nevada and California. The electric power generated will be carried over cables to many points in these states.

It is the highest dam in the world and cost $164,000,000.

A canal to take the water from the river below the dam is in the process of construction that will deliver water into Los Angeles, California, a distance of over 200 miles. The construction of this canal will cost $217,000,000. This looks like a big thing, but when completed, it will be worth the money.

A friend of this column sent in the article below and asked its publication:

COMPARATIVELY SO

In case you want to say that this or that is as so-and-so as something else, perhaps you can find what you want in the following old-time poem, which compares almost everything you can think of:

- As wet as a dishrag, as dry as a bone;
- As live as a bird, as dead as a stone;
- As plump as a partridge, as poor as a rat;
- As strong as a horse, as weak as a cat;
- As hard as flint, as soft as a mole;
- As white as a lily, as black as coal;
- As plain as a pikestaff, as cross as a bear;
- As tight as a drum, as free as the air;
- As heavy as lead, as light as a feather;
- As steady as time, as uncertain as weather;
- As hot as an oven, as cold as a frog;
- As gay as a lark, as sick as a dog;
- As slow as a tortoise, as swift as the wind;
- As true as the gospel, as false as mankind;
- As thin as a herring, as fat as a pig;
- As proud as a peacock, as gay as a grig;
- As savage as a tiger, as mild as a dove;
- As stiff as a poker, as limp as a glove;
- As blind as a bat, as deaf as a post;
- As cool as a cucumber, as warm as toast;
- As flat as a flounder, as round as a ball;
- As blunt as a hammer, as sharp as an awl;
- As red as a herring, as safe as the stocks;
- As bold as a thief, as sly as a fox;
- As straight as an arrow, as bent as a bow;
- As yellow as saffron, as black as a crow;
- As brittle as glass, as tough as gristle;
- As neat as a pin, as clean as a whistle;
- As good as a feast, as bad as a witch;
- As light as day, as black as pitch.

A close reader and friend of this column sent in the "B" article which we publish because of its oddity:

- B hopeful, B cheerful, B happy, B kind,
- B busy of body, B modest of mind;
- B earnest, B truthful, B firm and B fair;
- Of all misbehavior B sure to beware.

- B thinking, ere you stumble, of what may befall,
- B truthful to self and B faithful to all;
- B brave, and beware of the sins that beset;
- B sure that no sin shall another beget;
- B watchful, B read, B open, B frank,
- B mainly to all, whatever B their rank;
- B just, B generous, B honest, B wise,
- B mindful of time, B certain it flies.

- B prudent, B liberal, of order B fond,
- Buy less than you need before buying beyond;
- B temperate, B steadfast, to anger B slow;
- B careful, but yet B the first to bestow.

- B thoughtful, B thankful, whatever may betide;
- B trustful, B joyful, B clearly beside;
- B pleasant, B patient, B fervent to all,
- B best, if you can, but humble with all.

- B prompt and B dutiful, but still B polite;
- B reverent, B quiet, B sure and B right;
- B calm and retiring, but never led astray;
- B grateful, B cautious of those who betray.

- B tender, B loving, B good and benign,
- Beloved thou shall B and all else B thine.

CARR NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. Lynn Halbert and Freda Grace York ate supper with Mr. and Mrs. Alvin Eyrd and family Wednesday night.

Visitors in the J. H. Wagner home Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Steward, James and Alex Steward of Big Spring, Mrs. O. E. Nicholas and Jessie Loyd Goodwin of Knott, and Mr. and Mrs. Henry Paige.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Steward of Big Spring visited his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Monroe Steward Sunday, and Florence Steward returned home with them to spend the week.

Mrs. Tom Jackson's Sunday school class invited the Methodist Sunday school and other friends to a picnic Sunday by a tank near Mrs. Jackson's home. About 30 people, young and old, attended greatly enjoying the outing and the delicious lunch of boiled ham, sandwiches, cakes, cookies, and other food.

Mrs. Audrey Rees, Mrs. Alvin Eyrd, Mrs. Bobbie Rees, and Mrs. Kay Morris surprised the Carr Girl Scouts with chicken salad sandwiches, cake and ice cream at their Thursday meeting at the school house. Mrs. Lulu Davenport, assistant librarian of the Westbrook school, met with the Scouts and gave them a lesson in basket weaving. They worked with bear grass, a material new to all of them, and felt that they learned a great deal for a first lesson. Mrs. Davenport promised to meet with them again during the summer if possible, when they plan to work with willow as well.

The Conaway and Carr teachers exchanged schools last Friday and gave the Standardized Achievement Tests used by the standardized schools of the county. We have not heard from all of our test yet, as the visiting teacher gives and grades them, but most of the ones we have heard from were passing; or better.

The supper Thursday night, seventh grade graduation, and a short play by each room will end our school for this year. So this Carr news handed in each week by the Carr school in exchange for a subscription of the Colorado Record for the school, will be at an end unless the Carr community wishes to formulate a plan to continue sending in news. Who would like to be Carr news reporter now?
