H. I. Berman In Business Here 15 Years This Week

Ben Franklin Variety Store Launched On Oct. 17, 1924

This week marks the 15th anniversary of the opening of H. I. Berman's Ben Franklin store in Colorado City, formal opening of the original store having taken place on Oct. 17, 1924.

The store at that time occupied only half of the space now included in the Ben Franklin store. Not only has Berman's original store expanded to twice its size but he also owns the Economy store, which itself is as large as the first store was.

In the beginning the store had but two clerks, Mrs. Percy Bond and Mrs. Homer Costin, now of Dallas. Today the two stores have a regular force of 12, a Saturday force of 41, and a Christmas time force of as many as 58.

In February, 1925, Berman was married to Alice Shapiro of New York, who has since assisted him in the management of the two stores.

Enlargement of the original store came in 1931, and the Economy store was opened in the fall of 1933.

Fall Business Here Reported Encouraging In Spite Of A 'Short' Cotton Harvest

The fall business and prosperity picture of Colorado City and Mitchell county has so far been an apparently encouraging one in spite of the fact that the county's cotton crop will be one of the shortest in recent years.

The situation indicates that cotton, although it may still be a king dictator or pf prosperity or ruin as it used to be.

Colorado City business men in practically every line report business for September, 1939, improved over that for September, 1938. October reports are said to be surprisingly optimistic when one considers that the cotton harvest is coasting to an early close.

Mitchell county gins had received around 14,000 bales of cotton last week. Cotton authorities estimate that only 4,000 or 5,000 more bales will be received. If the harvest does fall under the 20,000-bale mark, it will be the first time since 1936 and the fourth time since 1929.

Parents Of Forsan Gridster 'Blame No One' In His Death

While in Colorado City Tuesday to attend to business matters connected with their son's injury and death here Saturday night, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Thieme of Forsan requested that the following statement be made public:

"Although we are deeply grieved and shocked, we wish to make it clear that we do not blame anyone or any preventable circumstance in the death of our son, Floyd.

"The game in which he played was a clean, fair game. We do not want to see the sport of football receive undue blame in his death. Our boy loved it and we know that if he had had his choice in the matter of his death, he would have chosen this.

"We are deeply grateful to everyone for the sympathy and help which have been extended to us. Westbrook people and Westbrook school officials have been wonderful to us, as have Colorado Citizens, officials of the game, and all others concerned, including our own coach, Brady Nix, and all our Forsan friends."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Thieme said that if their remaining sons want to play football, they shall play. "I was never a football fan until my boy insisted on playing," Mr. Thieme said. "I went to the games after he started playing to watch over him, and I shall go to watch over the others if they want to play.

"As for the danger, I would consider any boy of mine in far greater danger riding the highways as they are today. And if he had to die either on the highway or on the football field playing a good clean game, I'd take the football field."

Activity In Ira Field On Increase; 18th Producer In

Major Development Period Said To Be In Offing; Big Lease Deals Are Underway

Activity was definitely on the increase in the Sharon Ridge oil field northwest of Colorado City this week as the field's eighteenth producer was completed and major lease deals were reported to be underway.

The eighteenth producer was Ordovician Oil company's No. 4 W. P. Thompson, which was cleaning out after a 720-quart shot from 2240 to 2285 feet.

Among the major developments was conclusion of a deal between Helmerich & Payne of Tulsa and G. M. Heinzelman, agent for E. L. Goss, to start drilling operations in the Walter Martin tract of the southwest quarter of section 141. Sixteen wells are to be drilled on the tract. Their No. 1 Martin is located 1650 feet from South line and 330 feet from West line.

Mudge Oil company's No. 1 Dozier in the southwest corner of the northeast quarter of section 142 was drilling at 323 feet, having had to be re-drilled because of a crooked hole to about that depth.

This company recently bought leases from E. H. Cantrill, Obie Bristow, and R. A. May in the Scurry county field. The president, O. G. Lechliter, and the drilling superintendent, J. H. Heath, both make headquarters at the Colorado hotel.

J. R. Stoddard of Dallas, who also headquarters in Colorado City, has let a drilling contract to Kent & Preston of Wichita Falls for 15 wells on the Stoddard R. O. McClure and Grace Holcomb leases of 80 acres each. One of these, the No. 4 R. O. McClure, was spudded Saturday and was at 285 feet Wednesday. Another, No. 8 R. O. McClure, was at 500 feet. The No. 1 R. O. McClure is already producing.

Magnolia's No. 2 R. O. McClure, an east offset to D. & R. No. 1 McClure in section 142, was drilling this week at 2200 feet.

D. & R. Oil company No. 3 R. O. McClure was spudded during the past week and was drilling Wednesday at 519 feet. It is located 660 feet west of the company's No. 2 McClure in section 142.

This is the company of the Robinson brothers, Glenn and Sandy, both of whom headquarter in Colorado City.

R. H. Cantrill and Obie Bristow have "farmed out" their No. 1 S. G. Tomlinson, completed two years ago in the southwest quarter of section 122, for reworking. The well has never produced.

The project is for construction of 194 miles of line, swinging in a large loop around Mitchell county and extending to Roscoe in Nolan county. A few subscribers just over the line in Scurry county are included.

Frontier Story With Renderbrook Springs As Setting Recounted By Big Spring Pioneer

A frontier incident which had Renderbrook Springs in Mitchell county for its setting was recounted by one of Big Spring's oldtimers, Jim S. Winslow, in the special R & R thirtieth anniversary edition of the Big Spring Daily Herald Sunday. Winslow lived in Mitchell county from 1883 until 1886.

The incident occurred in 1879 when Winslow, then six years old, and his mother and stepfather with their family were returning to Parker county after a short stay at Ben Picklin, then the county seat of Tom Green county.

While the family was camped at Renderbrook Springs one night, Indians stole all their horses and they were left stranded on the prairie until more horses could be secured. Winslow recalled in the sketch how his mother stayed alone with the children several days while his stepfather was away getting more horses. She changed their camp from night to night to keep their location secret from the Indians.

Renderbrook Springs gave the Renderbrook ranch its name, and are located at the present ranch headquarters.

Winslow gives the following description of Colorado City as it was when his family was living in Mitchell county from 1883 to 1886:

"Colorado City was the largest town at that time between Fort Worth and El Paso. The population of the town exceeded that of today. It was a supply center for a great ranch territory that stretched from the San Angelo country to far within the present Amarillo territory. Big Spring, during those days, was a railroad town. The town had not yet reached an ambitious stage and was unkempt in appearance. Water was distributed in barrels and hogs and cattle ran at large. It was not uncommon to see hogs stretched out in the streets, wallowing in favorite mud holes. Stock laws that were legally voted were often ignored and Winslow remembers what a definite stand Officer Jim Baggett took against the evil."

KEEPING UP WITH COLORADO GIRLS AT TSCW

By Ruth Marion Elliott

The girls of Colorado at T.S.C.W. welcome Mary Ellen Trickey, Burnice Roberts, and Claudia Williams to their group.

Mary Ellen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles T. Trickey, formerly of Dallas, is a freshman Vocational Home Economics and Home Demonstration major staying in Sayer's Hall. She belongs to the Mary Swartz Rose club. Mary Ellen's father is the engineer for Colorado's new bridge.

Burnice Roberts is a sophomore living in Fitzgerald. Her major is Business Administration.

Claudia Williams is the daughter of Mr. J. D. Williams, Sr. Claudia is a senior majoring in Vocational Home Economics and Home Demonstration. She belongs to the Mary Swartz Rose and the Home Demonstration clubs.

Earlene Brown has had two visits from a young man near her hometown. Oh, how we envy her! Grace Doss will see her mother and father this week-end.

Mabel Earnest Cooper and Melba Slaton were present at the dinner and dance honoring the seniors and the Oklahoma University band boys. Those red and white uniforms caused quite a bit of excitement this week.

Nina Laura Smith met her parents in Dallas recently. Mary Lou Smith of Corsicana, Nina's roommate last year, visited her last week-end. Mary Lou is now enrolled in the University of Texas.

Fannie Fae Porter hasn't lost one bit of her vim, vigor, and vitality since leaving Colorado. Her excellent leader qualities and quantities were again put to use at a Smith-Carroll System meeting where she led Travis Hall in yells for their candidate for representation on the student government.

Fannie Fae felt very small when she fell down a flight of steps and lost the heel from her shoe. There were half a dozen Aggies who witnessed the scene. People do get excited and in a hurry when they receive special delivery letters.

Those Colorado Juniors Nina-Laura Smith, Erna Lou Merrill, and Elizabeth Taylor went on the junior day ride last Tuesday night. It was a pretty cold ride, with quite a bit of walking thrown in, but everyone of them said they had lots of fun. Another junior who really wanted to go was Frances Elliott, but a French movie the same night intervened.

Virginia Gurney went to Dallas this last week-end to the Oklahoma vs. Texas game.

NOTES ON COLORADO CITIANS AT H-SU

By The Snooper

False alarm! The freshman girls didn't have to wear pajamas to the football game after all. They wore slacks, various-colored shoes, sacks from the tailor shop, crazy hats, and had "slime 43" written with lipstick across their foreheads. Preceding the game there was a parade of the freshmen on the football field. That was a victorious night for the Purple and the Gold—33-3. The people from Ranger may be interested to know that Lloyd Flahie made one of those scoring touchdowns.

There were many other interesting sights at the game. "How about a program. Only a dime, ten cents" shouted none other than the football hero of CHS of '38—Chadwick. Fachie Cooper was there with bells on, letting the Cowboys know she was really behind them. Theda Howell played upperclassman's "funkie," going all over the grandstands trying to find an ex-student—of all places to hunt your girl friend. Roselyn Stafford didn't do so bad; her boy friend from McCamey came for the game and then took her to Colorado City for the week-end.

Missing from the game was Marjorie Burgess who went home for a two weeks' rest after a recent operation.

The thrill of the week was Thursday night when the freshmen had to dress for the pep rally in their Sunday go to meetin' clothes and afterwards go to the snakedance down town, which lasted one and a half hours. They went all over town, giving the school yells and songs. It was very exciting and lots of fun for the freshmen who hadn't been to any just like it.

Next week the scheduled game with Loyola in California will not be played, because two of Loyola's men have infantile paralysis and their team has been quarantined, but we may have a game at home in its place Saturday night with Sul Ross of Alpine. Be looking for the headlines "Cowboys win over Sul Ross 50-0" . . . I hope!

FARM ACCIDENTS COLLEGE STATION—Accidental deaths are more frequent on the farm than elsewhere, according to accident studies of farms and other occupational groups made recently by the United States Department of Agriculture. According to M. D. Bentley, agricultural engineer for the A. and M. College Extension Service, factors conducive to farm accidents are the need for haste in rush seasons, which often means working after dark or with makeshift repairs, and occasional attempts to use "home made" electric wiring.

MANY NEEDY PERSONS AIDED

COLLEGE STATION—A locomotive would have to hump its back and do the impossible stunt of pulling 5,000 cars, to move the amount of food that has been distributed to underprivileged families of Texas by the Federal Surplus Commodities Corporation since 1933.

A train of that length could leave two cars full at every town in the state with a post office.

Furthermore, the FSCC has used more than 26 million dollars to buy surplus commodities in Texas since 1933. These products went to undernourished people in this and other states and helped relieve Texas agricultural markets from an overstrain.

That is the summary of a report made to the State Agricultural Conservation Committee here by the Division of Information of the AAA, on steps taken in Texas to end the riddle of hunger despite plenty.

With funds authorized by the Agricultural Adjustment Act, the FSCC bought in Texas the first six months of this year, 21,300 barrels of corn meal; 1,600 bales of raw cotton and 1,188,861 yards of cotton fabric; 738,000 boxes of grapefruit and 663,435 cases of grapefruit juice, processed from 28,845 tons of fresh fruit.

Also, more than 8,746,000 pounds of onions; 3,908,000 pounds of rice;

New President Elected At Meeting Of Permian Basin Board Thursday

Election of a new president, J. L. Green of Midland, and adoption of a charter were accomplished at a meeting of the board of directors of the Permian Basin association in Midland last Thursday.

As president Green succeeds Harry Adams of Midland, who resigned because of ill health.

Odessa was selected by directors as site of the 1940 convention of the association, which will be held some time in June.

Directors decided, to establish business headquarters office at Midland, with the executive committee authorized to set up office and employ a full time executive. The executive was further authorized to fix membership rates, with a drive for members to be instituted soon.

A charter for the association was adopted following its presentation by Judge C. C. Thompson of Colorado City.

Twenty-five directors from Lubbock, Odessa, Colorado City, Big Spring, San Angelo, Lamesa, Midland and Seagraves attended.

SCHOOL CHILDREN MUST HAVE HEALTH

COLLEGE TATION—Since school houses are empty in many rural sections of Texas, awaiting the slackening of the cotton harvest, parents are still in the process of preparing children for school.

"It is important that your child have trousers and blouses or pretty little wash dresses for the opening of school, but it is far more important that he be ready in body with good health habits well established," says Dosca Hale, specialist in parent education and child development for the A. and M. College Extension Service.

By the time a child is six years of age, the age of most beginners, he should be able to care for himself in washing, eating, dressing, managing his own pencils, keeping up with his "belongings" and going short distances alone, the specialist explains.

"Sometimes it bothers us because the young child wants to touch, smell, and feel everything he sees, but that is the only way he has to learn the many things we expect him to understand," she comments. "This curiosity is the basis of all learning. Soon he will want to know how things are made and how they grow, so he needs time to watch and ask questions. We can't answer all the questions, but he finds that learning can be fun."

Play, Miss Hale says, is the young child's education, especially group play. She urges parents to conserve empty spoons, boxes, lids, screws, cloth, cardboard, and other materials for their children's amusement.

"If your child has learned to care for himself reasonably well, has plenty of curiosity and imagination, and helps to plan and carry out plans, he or she is ready for school," she concluded.

17,850 barrels of wheat cereal; 31,800 barrels of wheat flour and 33,570 barrels of graham flour.

Other items distributed in Texas—the state—have been cheese, eggs, butter, milk, cattle, goats, hogs, canned and fresh beef, salt and smoked pork, mutton, veal, lard, sugar, beans, peas, potatoes, tomatoes, cabbage, raisins, dried prunes and peaches, apples and pears, sugar, syrup and seed.

COMBATING BAG WORMS BEST BY PICKING FROM TREES

COLLEGE STATION—Since poisoning bag worms on shade trees is not effective this late in the year, the next best thing to do is to hand pick the bags, says R. R. Reppert, entomologist for the A. and M. College Extension Service.

Before the bag worm can be successfully combated, one must know something of its life history. By fall the female insect has entirely shriveled, leaving nothing but a mass of eggs within the bag. These eggs, the winter and hatch the following spring producing a great number of small worms, each of which builds a new nest and so repeats the cycle.

Hand picking the nests in fall or winter will remove the eggs and is practical on deciduous trees, those which lose their leaves after frost. These nests should not be destroyed but placed in boxes covered with screen or placed in a pile some distance from the trees.

Mr. Reppert points out that a number of parasitic insects which are present in the nests destroy the worm. For that reason, placing the nests in cages or piling them allows these small beneficial insects to escape so that they will destroy any bag worms which may have been overlooked and would ordinarily hatch in the spring.

"Care should be taken that the collected nests be removed some distance from the trees, so that the young worms which hatch will be unable to crawl to the trees before starving," he warns. Boxes or barrels in which the collected nests are placed should be protected from the rain to prevent rotting of the parasites.

DETAILS OF 1940 AAA PROGRAM ARE WORKED OUT

COLLEGE STATION—Details of the 1940 Agricultural Conservation Program for the Southern Region were worked out at the regional meeting of the AAA in Clayton, Ga., in September.

Out of the meeting probably will come final announcements concerning earlier 1940 conservation payments, the 1940 range program, and more details on the South-Wide cotton marketing quota referendum Dec. 9, George Slaughter, chairman of the State Agricultural Conservation Committee, said.

Representing Texas at the meeting were all members of the state com-

CARD OF THANKS

To all the people who called or came to see me during my illness while in the hospital I want to express my appreciation and thanks to you and to all who sent or brought flowers. Words are useless to try to express what they meant to me. Thanks to all who were so thoughtful to send cards. Thanks to Eddy Pyland for a painless ride home. May the Lord bless and prosper one and all.

Forsan Gridster Succumbed Here Saturday Night

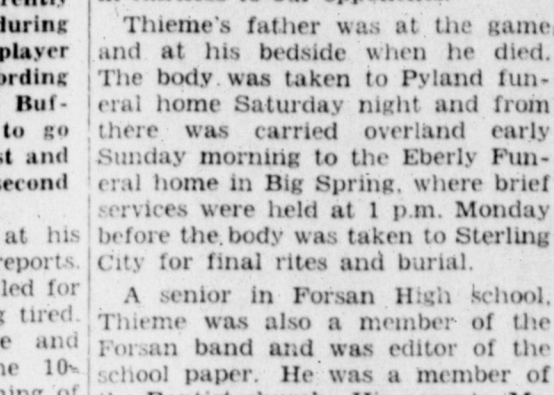

Funeral Held Monday Afternoon For Floyd Thieme

Collapsing between halves of the Forsan-Westbrook six-man football game here Saturday night, Floyd Thieme, 16, center on the Forsan team, succumbed in Root Memorial hospital at 10:05 Saturday night.
 Contrary to a belief which prevailed generally for a time after the game, Thieme was not the Forsan gridster who had to be assisted from the field, apparently winded and in some pain, during the first half of play. That player was Tension, left end, according to Coach Brady Nix of the Buffaloes. Tension was able to go back in the game after a rest and played practically all of the second half.
 Thieme started the game at his own insistence, according to reports. After five minutes play he called for a substitute because of feeling tired. He came out of the game and rested the remainder of the 10-minute quarter. At the beginning of the second quarter he again insisted on going back into the game. Again he played five minutes, and again he asked to be taken out of play. He said that he was weak from having been struck in the stomach while blocking an opposing man. Again he walked off the field unassisted and stayed on the sidelines until the half.
 At the half he went to the gymnasium, still walking without assistance. He grew worse after getting inside the gymnasium, and was carried to the hospital a few minutes later. He did not collapse until he was being taken to a car.
 Hospital attendants said that he complained of pain in the upper portion of the left side. Death was attributed to possible internal injuries, with the explanation that a recent illness of malaria might have left the youth in such a condition that an otherwise minor injury might prove fatal. The father said that the youth had complained from time to time recently of considerable pain in his left side.
 "The play in which Thieme was injured was a fair play," Coach Brady Nix of the Forsan Buffaloes said. "Thieme was doing his best to block the Westbrook player, and the player was simply doing his best to avoid being blocked. There was no undue roughness. I must say this in fairness to our opponents."
 Thieme's father was at the game and at his bedside when he died. The body was taken to Pyland funeral home Saturday night and from there was carried overland early Sunday morning to the Eberly Funeral home in Big Spring, where brief services were held at 1 p.m. Monday before the body was taken to Sterling City for final rites and burial.
 A senior in Forsan High school, Thieme was also a member of the Forsan band and was editor of the school paper. He was a member of the Baptist church. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Thieme, live near Forsan. Three brothers and four sisters survive in addition to the parents and a grandmother, Mrs. Henry Bade of Sterling City.

Local Theatres Are Written Up In Special R & R Edition Of Big Spring Daily Herald

Local theatres, which operate under the name of Colorado Amusement company with A. E. McClain as manager, were written up in a special edition of the Big Spring Daily Herald on Sunday.

The special edition commemorated the thirtieth anniversary of Robb & Rowley theatres in Big Spring. Robb & Rowley United has a controlling interest in the Colorado Amusement company.

The writeup on local theatres follows:
The first line on a new page in the amusement history of Colorado City was written early in 1937 when Robb & Rowley United bought an interest in the Palace and Ritz theatres.

Another line was written when A. E. McClain was sent from Dallas in January, 1938, to manage the two theatres. The new page reached its climax in August, 1938, when the thoroughly modernized Palace theatre was formally opened to the public.

The remodeling and redecorating which the Palace underwent prior to that opening made it one of the most modern and most beautiful theatres in West Texas, practically doubling its original value.

Front of the building features modernistic oriental architecture, with colorful tile design on white stucco. Phosphorescent green neon tubing is used all around the marquee, which is brilliantly lighted.

Colors used in the tile design on the front of the building are repeated in the modernistic decorations of the interior, with the addition of a brilliant blue. Wall columns are blue, while wall and ceiling stripes are in shade of red against an ivory background. All lighting is indirect.

McClain, who was born and reared in Tryon, Okla., has been in the show business since boyhood. He has served as advertising and publicity manager, stage manager, operator, and in other capacities. Before he became associated with Robb & Rowley in 1933, he was with the Griffith Amusement company, which owns theatres in Oklahoma, New Mexico, and West Texas. While with this company he was stationed in Pampa, Texas, Altus, Oklahoma City, Duncan, and other Oklahoma points.

When he first went with Robb & Rowley he was assistant manager of R & R theatres at Sherman for three years, then went to Dallas as assistant manager for two years. He came to Colorado City from Dallas.

McClain has been active in civic affairs of Colorado City from the beginning. He is a director of the chamber of commerce and is chairman of the publicity committee of the Colorado City Frontier Roundup. He is a tall twister in the Colorado City Lions club.

Ross Dixon, Sr., and his son, Ross, Jr., original owners of the two Colorado City theatres, still hold an interest in them. The theatres operate as the Colorado Amusement company. Johnny Prude is assistant manager.

Days Of 'Bucket Brigades' Recalled At Lions Luncheon

Days when Colorado City's main fire prevention weapon was the history-famed "bucket brigade" were recalled by Jerold Riordan when the Lions club turned its attention to fire prevention week during its regular luncheon Friday.

From this beginning, Riordan sketched the history of the Colorado City fire department to its present modern status.

Leonard Henderson of the fire department made a talk on fire prevention measures.

Rev. F. E. Swanner of Paducah, preacher for the Baptist revival, was introduced as a guest and talked briefly.

Westbrook Wildcats Defeat Forsan Buffs On Cantrill Field

Defeat Is First For Buffs In Six-Man Play; Player Is Fatally Injured

A well-trained, fast-moving pack of Westbrook Wildcats defeated the powerful Forsan Buffaloes 30-0 on Cantrill field Saturday night, taking revenge for three previous top-heavy losses at the hands of the Buffaloes. The victory put Bill Pletcher's Wildcats into a tie with the Buffaloes for first place in the over-100-enrollment division of six-man district 12.

Fatal injury of Forsan's center, Floyd Thieme, 16, in the second quarter of the game, marred the victory. Thieme was blocking when he was hurt. He was able to leave the field unassisted, but his condition quickly grew serious and he died little more than an hour later of possible internal injuries in Room Memorial hospital. He had recently been ill and had complained during the week of abdominal pains his father said later.

Junior Oglesby, flashing quarterback, made three of the Westbrook touchdowns. Red Davenport made the fourth. Buel Claxton kicked all extra points. All the touchdowns were made on long runs. Westbrook made a fifth touchdown in the fourth quarter but it was voided by a penalty.

First downs were seven for Westbrook, four for Forsan. Last year Forsan defeated Westbrook twice, 56-12 one time and 55-6 the other. In a game played early this season they defeated the Pletcher boys 22-7.

Starting lineups: Forsan: Tennison, lb; Yarbro, re; Thieme, c; Hughes, qb; Qualls, lb, and McDonald, fb. Westbrook: Hines, lb; Anderson, c; Jackson, re; Oglesby, qb; Davenport, lb, and Claxton, fb. Substitutions for Westbrook were Calvin Boston, McDonald, Moore, O. D. Kite, Skelton, Lambert, and Jackson.

FSA Group To Help Farmers Work Out Tenure Agreements

Farmers who anticipate difficulty in working out tenure agreements for next year because of excessive debts may get expert help from the Mitchell county farm debt adjustment committee which meets at 10 a. m. Tuesday, November 13th at FSA offices.

"This is the time of year when creditors are most active in pushing collections," said M. A. Stinson, Farm Security Administration supervisor, "and it is imperative that every farmer make his arrangements now. He must begin his next year's crop free from the possibility that he might be forced to abandon it because of foreclosure of land or chattels."

"The Mitchell county farm debt adjustment committee, which is sponsored by the FSA, is composed of public-spirited local business men and farmers," the supervisor said, "and has been quite successful in working out voluntary agreements between farmers and their creditors whereby the farmers can continue to operate and eventually pay their debts. Each case is considered on its merits and the matter kept confidential."

Farmers in need of this service should go to the county FSA office, or to one of the committeemen, or they might appear at the meeting.

Funeral Held In Abilene For Rev. J. T. Bryant, 69

Funeral for Rev. Joseph T. Bryant, 69, one-time Colorado Citian and retired Presbyterian pastor, was held from the Central Presbyterian church in Abilene Tuesday afternoon.

Attending the funeral from here were his sister, Mrs. W. O. Evans; E. Keathley, a brother-in-law, accompanied by Mrs. Keathley and Sterling Keathley; and Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey May.

Rev. Mr. Bryant died at Wrightsboro Saturday following a long illness. He had served churches in Colorado City, Breckenridge, and Loraine since his ordination at the age of 29. He was born in Preg county, Ark.

Surviving are his widow, a daughter, Alice Pearl Bryant of Dallas, and a son, J. T. of Fort Worth. Two sisters, Mrs. W. O. Evans of Colorado City and Mrs. Essie Forbus of Kermit, and a brother, W. S. Bryant of Meridian, also survive.

Loraine And Colorado City Play All Over The Field To Hang Up Scoreless Tie

Playing all over the field and mugging at least three big chances to score, the Colorado City Wolves and the Loraine Bulldogs fought their annual feud classic on Cantrill field Friday night to a scoreless tie. It was a 6-A conference game.

The Bulldogs lived up to tradition by showing more fight and strength in their encounter with the Wolves than they had shown in any game of the season. A large delegation of Loraine fans was on hand to back the Bulldogs all the way.

Loraine's snappy band, drum corps, and pep squad put on a good marching show between halves. Philco loud speaking system was used for the game through courtesy of the local dealer, J. Riordan and Co.

Colorado City chalked up eight first downs to six for Loraine. The game was unusually short on penalties, the Wolves receiving one for five yards, the Bulldogs two for 10 yards.

The Wolves threw away two touchdown chances within Loraine's 20-yard line, the Bulldogs one. Fumbles were frequent on both sides.

Meek at guard, Mathers at tackle, and Simmons at quarterback were outstanding for Loraine. Smith, Neal, and Cox turned in good performances for the Wolves.

Wolf fans were brought to their feet by Glover's long run from Colorado City's 40-yard line to Loraine's 15-yard line late in the third quarter. The Wolves lost the ball on a fumble on the next play, however. A fumble also cost Loraine when Royal James caught a long pass and dropped it in the second quarter. Just before the half ended, Simmons of the Loraine backfield intercepted a pass from Grubbs but it came to nothing.

The nearest any team ever got to the goal line of another was when Loraine lost the ball on downs at the Wolves' one-yard line. The Wolves punted into safer territory.

Starting line-up for Colorado City: Ballard, lb; Blassingame, lg; Cafferly, lt; Coker, c; Cox, qb; Glover, lb; Hunter, rt; Majors, rg; Neal, rh.

I am sure Thieme would always say Carry on my friend; carry on.

Dear old pal we will always love you and your memories are so true We will cheer them that are grieving And try not to be blue As we carry on my friend; carry on In memories of you.

After the Garner basketball games Westbrook did not seem to be so happy. The senior girls and junior girls both got beaten. Well girls don't feel so blue it was Friday the 13th (unlucky). We will win the next game. As you know we took most of our six weeks exams that day and it doesn't seem that we were so very successful there either. At any rate, you girls played an excellent game. If you did happen to get beaten. The juniors are really making progress.

Say do all of you realize that Saturday night is the big night at Westbrook. The seniors are really going to show you how to have fun. Come on folks we need your help. Don't forget that the football game will be crowned after the carnival and the votes have been counted for the winner.

GENERAL SCHOOL NEWS We are starting off our news for this week which is very very sad about the football game played between Westbrook and Forsan Saturday night at Colorado City.

We are very sorry that the Forsan's best player, Thieme, got hurt in the latter part of the first half and died in the Colorado hospital a short time afterward. We are hoping this will not make the players and the school too hard against football which is a very interesting sport. We all have to carry on in sadness and in heartbreak.

Schoolmates, teachers and relatives let us think of Thieme as we think of this poem. I am sure he would want all to carry on.

"When in sorrow and distress We will try to do our best And work with all the rest, Just to live and take a test-- To carry on, my friend; carry on.

There are days that seem the saddest While we try to make them the gladdest As we pass along the way

Fiesta Time In Colorado City's 'Little Mexico' Sunday As Big Wedding Celebrated

It was fiesta time in Colorado City's picturesque "Little Mexico" Sunday as the year's outstanding Mexican social event in these parts, the wedding of Serapia Heredia to Eulalio Carrasco, was solemnized and celebrated.

The wedding and the events following it were typical of the colorful living pattern which Mexicans of these parts have developed by combining the ways of Mexico with the ways of Texas.

Although the pattern is followed continuously within Colorado City's northwestern limits, and although most Colorado citizens know that the pattern is there, only a few are familiar with any portion of it. Even the religion is more or less unfamiliar in this area where Protestantism predominates.

Printed invitations which went out to friends of the Heredia and Carrasco families a few days before the wedding were headed "Matrimonio" and bore bids from the parents of both the bride-elect and the bridegroom-elect, along with the names of the six attendants (padrinos).

Events to follow the wedding were also outlined on the invitations. The bride's parents, Hilario and Maria Heredia, live on the J. H. Greene farm some two miles south of town, while the bridegroom's parents, Jose and Esquel Carrasco, live in Little Mexico. Jose Carrasco is deputy sheriff in the Mexican settlement.

Early arrivals at the church found Father Alejandro, black-robed and bareheaded, standing in the sun-washed doorway talking to Mexican children who lined the steps. All the children wore their colorful best. Some were carrying paper flowers. Black hair shone with diligent brushing and wide black eyes were missing nothing.

Inside the church one is impressed at once by two things--the are not going to tell you what. Just attend the basketball game Thursday night and you will find out.

You might ask Virginia, Skipmy and Smitty what it is like to collect advertisements. They seemed to get along just fine.

Well, this is I signing off till next time. Reporter: Helen Moon SENIOR CARNIVAL

The seniors are giving their annual carnival Saturday night, Oct. 21. Everyone is invited. Prizes of all kind are to be given. For each nickel spent a ticket will be given and the person having the lucky ticket will get a prize. Each one is given a free guess on a jar of beans; the person guessing the correct number of beans in the jar or the one guessing the nearest to the correct number will be given a prize, if that person is present immediately following the stage show. Along with a lovely blanket many other prizes will be given. Come and get your prize.

Many types of entertainment will be offered such as a cake walk, a stage show, shooting the candles out making the basketball goals, throwing the horseshoes, bingo, shooting arrows, throwing at the milk bottles, and others. Be sure to have your fortune told Saturday night as we have an excellent fortune teller. It is very seldom that you find a fortune teller who is trained and as experienced as this one is.

The football queen contest ends the night of the carnival and no one will know who the queen is until she appears to be crowned. Come and vote for your favorite candidate now.

If you wish to, dress in your Halloween costume and have more fun. Get your eats after you get here as we shall have hot dogs and hamburgers made by experts. Also pies and coffee, candy, pop corn and cold drinks.

Placed in the school building will be a number of advertisements advertising a number of business firms that have helped us with our carnival. We offer a prize to the person finding the greatest number of advertisements and we promise that no ads will be hidden. Many thanks to the business firms and others who have been so nice to help with the carnival. We sincerely hope that the results from these advertisements will more than repay the firms for the amount they paid.

The P.-T.A. membership drive ends the night of the carnival. The room having the most members will be given a prize of three dollars.

P.-T.A. The Westbrook P.-T.A. met last Thursday night, Oct. 12, at the gymnasium. We were glad to have a large number present at our meeting and especially are we proud to have the fathers present. That is one purpose of our night meetings; having meetings at this time makes it possible for the fathers to attend.

The program on fire prevention given by Miss Kent's room was enjoyed by all. Also the talk on "Individuality" given by Mr. Hood in the absence of Mrs. Boston.

We have a number of new members now and will be able to report our membership number after Saturday night when our membership drive closes.

Tuesday, Oct. 24, at 7:45 p.m. has been set as our date for the welcome party for all members of the P.-T.A. Be sure to come and enjoy the good times with us.

altar, moving from center to side and back to center again, chanting meanwhile in a low voice.

As the singing ceased the bride was conducted to the altar of the Virgin Mary, two of her attendants bearing her train. When she was back in place, the priest read again, for a time in Latin, and then in English.

A little girl, not more than four, tiptoed outside, keeping her hands folded devoutly and her eyes down-cast all the way down the aisle and to the door, where she shed devoutness and began running.

The priest began talking to the audience in Spanish. To one whose Spanish is, in spite of high school and a little college training, just a word here and there, he seemed to be discussing the marriage, the families united through it, the circumstances leading to the union.

As the priest's talk ended, Luciana Mendoza came to the table and lighted the two candles in front of the bridal couple. As he did so, the bride's attendants looped over her shoulders and those of the bridegroom a white satin ribbon with their names printed in black in front.

A chant in which the audience joined followed, with periodical rising and kneeling. The priest was again busy at the altar as the children's group sang once more around the organ. A bell rang frequently at the altar.

Collection time followed, with Luciana Mendoza passing up and down the aisles with a long-handled wire basket into which each person present dropped a coin.

Offering time over, the orchestra began playing. The bridal party began moving toward the door, but many of the audience were out before them. The bride had to stop at the end of the aisle, just before going outside, and be kissed by each member of the Children of Mary, an organization of young Mexican girls each of whom wore a white cotton head covering reaching below her waist.

The ceremony had taken an hour and fifteen minutes.

At the door solemnity ended and the celebration began with a shower of rice and confetti. Out in the sunshine again, the bridal party and invited guests piled into cars to go to the home of the bride's parents two miles south of town for a wedding feast which lasted most of the afternoon.

Climaxing the day's festivities was a dance (baile) at the Salon Cruz Azul in Little Mexico, beginning at 8 o'clock Sunday night. It is said to have been one of the biggest affairs in Little Mexico in years.

The bride and her attendants were present in their white satin dresses, and the bride still wore her veil.

Apparel of the women and girls ranged all the way from the head scarfs of Old Mexico to the smartest hats of today.

Flinging the bell by the priest was the signal for all the doornest waiters to come inside. It was also the signal for the arrival of the Sisters with their scores of little charges. In Little Mexico only a portion of the children attend the public school which is provided there. Most of the children attend the parish school taught by the Sisters.

The children marched two by two, each with brown hands folded in an attitude of prayer.

What would be to Protestants a "responsive reading" was conducted by one of the black-robed Sisters and the children while the latter knelt with folded hands.

The Sisters moved about quietly from time to time early in the service. They smiled kindly at mothers whose babies were fretting. They straightened small shoulders which were beginning to slump or quietened small whispering mouths.

In the back of the church an orchestra tuned up--a saxophone, a guitar, a trombone, and a cornet. Two little girls, each bearing four white satin pillows, came down the aisle and placed a pillow in each of the eight chairs at the table before the chancel rail, facing the altar.

The orchestra launched into a spirited tune as the bridal party appeared in the doorway. They stood there, the bride and groom with the three attendant couples behind them, until the priest and two robed boys came to meet them and lead them to the altar. The priest had donned a black headpiece and had changed into a white satin robe with gold fringe.

The attendants were Jose Ornelas and Simona Ribera, Heriberto Alvarez and Jesuita Cienegas, Mike Flores and Gertrudis Alvidres.

The bride wore a floor-length dress of white satin with a lace-bordered net veil caught about her head with a pearl-trimmed tiara. She carried white artificial flowers. Her attendants were also in white satin. They wore white gloves and carried artificial flowers. Their caps were of white net with large bows in the back.

After kneeling at the table before the chancel rail, the bridal party was seated at the table, the bride and groom together in the center with the bride and her attendants on the left, the groom and his attendants on the right. The priest sprinkled water on the entire group, one by one, after reading a service.

The orchestra kept playing until the priest had chanced his robes again, this time appearing with a green satin vestment over his white robe. A gold cross ornamented the vestment in the back.

With his back to the audience, he busied himself at the altar, then brought a liquid in a small metal container from the altar to the bridal group and touched it with cotton to the lips of all eight. The tall candles highest on the altar had been lighted just before the party entered.

Babies cried, but they were unnoticed save by their mothers. The Father read a chant-like service. The audience knelt and sat and knelt again.

A Sister went to the organ and children grouped around her to sing a song reminding of "List to the Voice." The priest stayed busy at the

"STAR MAKER" SAGA OF SHOW BUSINESS

Presents Bing Crosby in a Grand Glorious Cavalcade of Old and New Songs

Local lovers of the grand kind of entertainment dispensed by Bing Crosby on the screen and radio can look forward to seeing Bing in a picture which really measures up to his talents when Paramount's "The Star Maker" comes to the Palace theater Saturday midnight, Sunday and Monday.

The new Crosby vehicle, which might readily be termed a singing cavalcade of show business, gives

Bing the best role he has ever had. It casts him as a tin pan alley song writer, a small time hooper who believes that he can rise to the top in show business by taking talented kids from the sidewalks of New York, and building them into great acts.

Produced by Charles R. Rogers, who has discovered many stars, directed by Roy Del Ruth, who has brought many great musical hits to the screen, "The Star Maker" presents the best cast ever to appear with Bing. It includes Louise Campbell as his practical-minded wife, Linda Ware, fourteen-year-old singer discovered by Rogers, as a youngster Bing builds into a star, Ned Sparks, as Bing's press agent, Laura Hope Crews, as an ex-opera singer, and Janet Waldo, as Bing's secretary. Walter Damrosch, "grand old man" of American music, will also be seen in the picture, conducting The Philharmonic Orchestra of Los Angeles. In addition, the largest group of singing and dancing youngsters ever assembled for a motion picture, appear with Bing in the production numbers.

Bing's Songs Won't Sell
The story of the picture—suggested by the career of that grand showman, Gus Edwards—starts with Bing trying to persuade Louise Campbell, a girl who assists the matron of an orphanage, to marry him. She finally consents, and they are happy even though Bing writes songs which won't sell and loses job after job.

Watching a group of newsboys sing and dance while on his way to get another job, Bing decides to organize them into the greatest act ever to hit the stage. The act gets a tryout, is successful. Bing hires Ned Sparks as press agent, launches kid acts all over the country. Then Laura Hope Crews, brings Linda Ware to him. Bing is enthused about her great talent, decides to make her a star, and presents her in an all-kiddie musical revue on Broadway.

Helps Singer Succeed
When the Gerry Society closes the show by enforcing a law which forbids children to perform after ten o'clock at night, Bing takes Miss Ware to Walter Damrosch, persuades him to present her in a concert. She succeeds, but Bing has lost out on his kiddie acts, is forced to seek success in a different field, radio.

The picture affords Bing a chance to sing the great Gus Edwards' numbers, "School Days," "In My Merry Oldsmobile," "Jimmy Valentine" and many another. He also sings four new songs by the ace Burke-Monaco team. They are entitled "An Apple for the Teacher," "A Man and His Dreams," "Go Fly a Kite," and "Still the Bluebird Sings." And of course, the talented Miss Ware sings a wide selection of numbers, ranking from "Darktown Strutters' Ball" to Tschalkowsky's "Waltz of the Flowers."

Thirtieth Anniversary Of R&R Partnership Has Double Interest For Colorado Citizens

Celebration in Big Spring this week of the 30th anniversary of the Robb & Rowley theater partnership, which was launched in Big Spring in 1909, has a double interest for Colorado Citizens.

The partnership, which now has headquarters in Dallas, owns controlling interest in the Colorado Amusement company, including all three local theaters, Palace, Ritz and Gem. In addition to this, the partnership includes the husband of a former Colorado citizen, Ed Rowley married Juliet Looney, daughter of the late Judge and Mrs. R. H.

Looney, prominent pioneer residents of Colorado City.

A history of and commentary on the partnership appeared in the Big Spring Daily Herald's special R&R anniversary edition. It was written by Robert Whipkey, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. L. Whipkey of Colorado City and now managing editor of The Herald, and reads as follows:

They like to call themselves "country boys in the show business," but the executives in theatrical offices from Broadway to Hollywood probably would tell you that there's nothing rural in the way they do their business trading.

Reference is to Harold Robb, Ed Rowley and Yull Robb, the "R's" of the R&R-United corporation, one of the major exhibiting circuits of the Southwest. Their company can trace its start back to the theatres in Big Spring, which this week will observe their 30th anniversary.

If they are "country boys," then describing these guys is as difficult as translating the reveries of a farm youth as he rides a cultivator on a hot summer's day. Harold presents a front of brusqueness; Ed's keynote is suavity; Yull is the quiet one.

Put the three together and you touch off as startling a display of temperament, action and ideas as the movie industry can produce. A lot of fireworks, but the harmless kind.

That they work shoulder to shoulder in all undertakings is evidenced by a three-way partnership that runs back to 1916, a partnership that has been successful. Their intimates can see a devotion that is extremely deep.

Harold and Yull went into the show business as youths; Ed joined them when he bought a half-interest (the Robbs had the other half) in a roof garden theatre at San Angelo in 1916. From then on, it has been a three-way proposition. They'll tell you there have been some lean years; and they admit there have been some good ones. Through it all, there's been a triumvirate directing R&R to its important position in Southwest show business today. . . . Many of their showhouses are operated on a partnership basis, the local manager being an owner also; and relationship with these men in the field has never been anything but cordial. Many of the R&R partners and managers are "old-timers," having remained at the same posts since—or before—R&R acquired an interest.

Today, the "R's" have varied interests. Harold has realty holdings, and with Ed has some oil properties. Ed is a sole owner of some theatres. Yull has farming and livestock interests near Big Spring that get his attention. They're a typical trio of successful American business men, with some extra added attractions thrown in.

Big Spring, where the anniversary occurs, occupies a warm spot in the hearts of the three men. Harold got his start here, succeeding his father in the business, as did Yull. Both married Big Spring girls. Ed, son of a railroad man, lived here in his youthful days, too, being one of a Big Spring high school graduating class of two. He admits he stood second in the class. He lived for a number of years at Sweetwater, working with the Orient railway before going to San Angelo, and he married a Colorado City girl. Harold and Ed moved to Dallas because business called them there. Yull to date has preferred to remain in his "home town." There's a lot of West Texas—which we know as a good quality—in all of them.

Wallace Beery and Chester Morris in "Thunder Afloat"

Wallace Beery Stars At Palace In "Thunder Afloat"

Supported by Chester Morris and Virginia Grey in Thrill-Packed Drama of Tugboat Captain Who Tries to Fight the War Single-Handed!

Thrilling story of those little-known days of the World War when U-boats attacked Atlantic Coast shipping and improvised subchasers with untrained men went out to meet the menace. "Thunder Afloat" brings Wallace Beery to the screen, of the Palace theatre Friday and Saturday in one of his best two-listed roles.

As a tugboat captain who tries to fight the war single-handed after a submarine has sunk his beloved craft, Beery is supported by Chester Morris, who appears as his bitter tugboat rival and later his commanding officer in the navy, and by Virginia Grey, seen as his daughter.

Among the thrilling action sequences are scenes showing the raiding and sinking of Beery's tugboat and string of barges by a U-boat, the torpedoing of a lightship, the disabling of a subchaser and Beery's near-death when he goes under water to cut a fouled rudder cable, a U-boat opening fire on and sinking a Gloucester schooner when the schooner tries to ram her, and the crippling of the sub by depth bombs as the subchaser fleet closes in.

Cast in featured roles are Douglas Dumbrille as the District Commander, Carl Esmond as the U-boat captain, Clem Bevans as a veteran of Manila Bay, John Qualen as a mate, Regis Toomey as Beery's second-in-command, Charles Lane and Phillip Terry as naval officers, Henry Victor, Addison Richards, Hans Joby, Henry Hunter and Jonathan Hale.

Action shots at sea were filmed off the Atlantic Coast with the remnant of the chaser fleet of World War days, and off the Coronado Islands on the West Coast with the U.S.S. Sturgeon, one of the newest of the navy's submarines.

George B. Seitz directed, with J. Walter Ruben producing from an original story by Ralph Wheelwright and Commander Harvey Haislip.

company of Hollywood's most expert professional skaters.

According to the story, these take place as part of the floor-show at a swank Palm Beach night club, where Roscoe Karns, a kibitzing and highly impractical uncle, has secured an engagement for the youngster. Arriving at the resort with Irene, her mother and older sister, Karns installs the entire party in an expensive hotel, and proceeds to put the family in a serious financial hole by spending money like water. His attempts to marry off the sister to a supposedly rich man merely add to the hilarious complications of the story, as affairs go from bad to worse.

The situation is relieved only by the timely arrival of Irene's father, Joe, an industrious barber, who gets his money the hard way and spends it accordingly. Joe really makes the story fly, and the story comes to a close in a gale of laughter.

Karns heads the supporting cast, and other important members of the well-rounded company are Edgar Kennedy, Lyne Roberts, Eric Linden, Mary Hart, George Meeker and Bob Watson. Unusually attractive backgrounds add to the gaiety.

OUR WEEKLY SERMON

"Let not your heart be troubled; neither let it be afraid."
John 14:27.

The whole world is a seething mass of trouble and strife. Fear, in every form, is dominant in all lands; and strong men's hearts are failing.

Isn't it mockery then, to bid men to be calm and unafraid when real and serious dangers lurk on every hand?

Is it possible to find rest and hope in the very midst of strife and despair?

Yes, it is possible, provided we are able and willing to see the TRUTH.

It is obvious that all creation is governed by unchanging laws, and behind every manifestation we see these laws in operation.

Now, bear in mind that every one of these laws was ordained by our Heavenly Father, who foresaw their very effect and consequence, before the world was created.

These laws, with all else God had made, He pronounced "VERY GOOD." (Gen. 1:31) and out of good evil does not come. Therefore, while our weak eyes cannot trace all of the designs of the Supreme Architect, nor fathom the reasons behind every process He employs, we can trust His Love and Wisdom in the knowledge that "He doeth all things well."

The little sick child, stretched on the operation table, needs to trust the skill and kindness of the surgeon and remember he will cause no unnecessary pain.

We older children need to trust the Great Physician, and know He will permit no unneeded pain and anguish in all the universe. Infinite Love and Wisdom give us assurance of that, so we can be unafraid no matter what comes to pass.

The sin-sick world, like the sin-sick individual, can learn many vital lessons in no school except that of grim and painful experience, where the lessons are repeated, with ever increasing severity, until finally mastered.

If we were unselfish we could learn without pain; but where selfishness reigns, suffering is inevitable and serves a good purpose in the end.

Therefore let us do the best we can, trust God, and be not troubled in heart or fearful of what may come to pass.

WHY CONDEMN A SALES TAX IN ONE INSTANCE AND PRAISE IT IN ANOTHER

In 1917 when Texas took the first step toward establishing a system of good roads by creating the Highway Department, it merely set up the machinery for the operations of the Commission and left the financing to the counties, which of course led to a veritable spree of issuing bonds with which to build roads. This was a fatal mistake and for generations the people will be paying these bonds. As we grew "older and wiser" we levied a sales tax upon the gasoline used on the highways and the best evidence of the wisdom of this change and paying as you go, is reflected in our great highway system and substantial bridges of today. We venture the statement, not one in 20 who opposes a sales tax would vote to abolish the four cents on gasoline and let our highways deteriorate and disappear.

When we bought gasoline and traveled we paid a sales tax of four cents. We quit issuing bonds to be paid in the future.

Who in Texas would favor abolishing the gasoline sales tax to build and maintain highways? Such a tax runs to perhaps an average of $30.00 to $40.00 per year to the car but saves expenses or repairs and etc. that would amount to from $50.00 to $175.00 per year to the car. The amount of tax paid by the people is approximately $50,000,000 per year and about half of it goes to roads.

A PARALLEL CASE

We have with us what is known as social security that involves about $18,000,000 to $20,000,000 per year. It will be with us as long as highways are needed because old age assistance-teachers retirement, the needy children and the blind for these four classes of persons will always be with us. Then, why not in justice to ourselves and to these people fix a definite amount to pay them each year and make the payments as sure as it is humanly possible to make them.

We now get about $10,000,000 from the liquor tax, cigarette tax, and stamp tax that goes to the old age pension fund. We will owe about $2,500,000 annually for teachers' retirement, $500,000 for the blind and $1,500,000 for needy children per annum. This makes a total of $4,500,000. Let's raise the amount of old age pension from $10,000,000 to $15,000,000 and this will make a total of approximately $20,000,000 for social security.

The distribution of this $20,000,000 annually will help the druggist, the grocer, the baker, clothing store, the doctor, the dentist and etc. All those who use the highways pay a sales tax of four cents on the gallon of gasoline to build and maintain them, then why not support social security with a 2 per cent retail sales tax on tangible personal property bought at retail? One is to support social progress and the other is to support those who cannot help themselves. All will admit both should be supported then why apply the oft repeated phrase that a sales tax is a tax on poverty to one and refuse to apply it to the other?

The gasoline tax should be fixed by constitutional amendment at not exceeding three cents and all should go to building and maintaining highways. A 2 per cent sales tax should be limited by constitutional amendment to: $15,000,000 to pay the old folks, $2,500,000 to teachers retirement, $1,500,000 to neglected children, $500,000 to the blind. If more is received than is required to meet these obligations apply it to the reduction of the State property tax on a county population basis. This will guarantee a definite and ample support of two activities and at the same time protect the taxpayer against the unlimited power to tax.

By installing a tax system in the counties and providing for the one method of enforcing the tax lien by having the tax collector to sell property for taxes when necessary, will take care of our deficit in the general revenue and will soon provide a reasonable surplus in that fund. People should formulate a definite plan for these two purposes without imposing unreasonable tax increases and force many of those who run for office from the cheap "clap trap" and deception that has characterized the handling of the old age assistance fund in the past.

There is another matter that people should store away in their memory and that is the South has lost its foreign cotton markets to the main. This has sent the price of our rich cotton land down more than 50 per cent in most cases. Our local units of government exist on taxes received from land and other property. The loss of this value is having a very material effect on these local units of government, especially school districts and cities and towns. From every point of the financial compass, comes the impelling, logical force that it would be good business to provide the financing of the social security program, with a small retail sales tax with constitutional limitations as suggested.

TRAFFIC AND DRIVERS

Some people here apparently have come to regard downtown traffic lights as more or less of a joke, believe that if they succeed in getting through a red light without being caught they have done something funny. On the streets here late Saturday not a few pedestrians were seen to deliberately walk against red lights, and in one case, particularly, two girls walked two red lights at one corner, laughing as they did so. The other day a woman driver ran through a red light near the high school and narrowly missed striking a truck which turned into the street on a green light. As she passed, she proceeded to hurl a few harsh remarks at the truck driver. On North Locust a delivery truck the other afternoon ran fast through a red light while other cars were waiting for the change.

The truck driver is often blessed out for the errors other drivers make. We have never driven a truck but we used to drive a wagon and therefore know that pleasure drivers are a good deal prejudiced against business drivers. The pedestrian who deliberately walks across against the red light deserves to have his accident policy canceled. By and large, and altogether, traffic has become a problem in even the minor cities of America.

Our watermelon friend W. M. Turner came across again this week with a watermelon three feet long (about). Mr. Turner is a large liberal citizen with a heart that beats in unison with all the pulsations of the poor, but he is rather tight with his honey, if one may venture to discuss the quantitative rather than the qualitative spirit of Turner's philanthropy. The largeness of the gift has no relation to the size of Mr. Turner's feet but is emblematical or symbolical of the largeness of the heart prompting the gift. We lived off the relief a week and then the wife made the rinds into preserves and we lived another week. Thanks.

Bill Turner down at the printing office went to the boss and said:

"I'll have to have a raise sir, there are three other companies after me."

The boss said: "Is that so? What companies?"

Bill replied: "Light, phone and gas."

U. S. GOVERNMENT HAS 29,785 ON ITS PAYROLL IN TEXAS

WASHINGTON.—The Federal government, with a total of 923,856 civil employees, has 29,785 on its pay roll in Texas.

The Civil Service Commission, making these figures public, emphasized they had no relation to the number of legal residents of the State employed by the government, some of whom may hold jobs in other States, many among the 101,491 federal employees in Washington.

Texas' population of 6,172,000 was 4.26 per cent of the estimated national total of 144,985,000 in July, 1937. The federal workers in the State constituted 3.22 per cent of the total government employment, and .48 per cent of the State's population.

HITLER AND THE JEW

God said to the Jews over 3,000 years ago, "I will bless thee that bless thee, and curse him that curseth thee." If Hitler ever read this statement in the Bible, his treatment of the Jews convicts him of unbelief. About fifteen centuries afterward another statement was made in the Bible to this effect, that the time would come when ten men from all languages of the nations, shall take hold of the skirt of him that is a Jew, saying we will go with you, for we have heard that God is with you. Hitler has never read this statement in the Bible. If he has, he does not believe the Bible, for it would be a sockdolager to his pride if he believed he had to scramble with nine others for a hold on a Jew's coat-tail for safety. It would beat a scramble for a football to see Hitler and nine of his gang butting each other around to get a hold of a Jew's coat-tail for safety.

OLD AGE PENSIONS

Everybody is talking about the old-age pension and like Mark Twain's weather nothing is being done about it.

Our idea is for the Government to take over the pension system. Texas and California alone furnish us with convincing proof that all state pensions are hopeless failures, and that an adequate federal pension system is the only solution.

Out of the many pension bills pending in Congress let it enact the following tentative plan: Give to each bonafide citizen of the United States, man and woman alike, who is 65 years of age or older, with good moral character, a monthly pension of $40, to be paid at Washington, just as the war insurance beneficiaries were paid, free from graft.

In furtherance thereof, append the following provisos. First, no person would be eligible to receive this pension who in any way was receiving governmental aid from any source, unless he should elect to receive this pension in lieu thereof; second, no person would be eligible to receive this pension whose net income was in excess of $1,000 per annum, if not the head of a family; or if a family unit whose net income, or incomes, was in excess of $2,000 per annum.

Here in Texas there is no expense for it not being paid, and there is no need of members of the Legislature serving a special session free when a 5c tax per thousand cubic feet on the natural gas production of Texas annually will raise $50,000,000, pay 130,000 old people $30 per month, without government matching, meet the State's obligation to the teachers and other units of the social security program. According to oil engineers this source will meet this obligation for a continuous period of thirty-five years, as long as the present system of old-age assistance for unemployed is expected to continue. The old people simply want the Governor and members of the Legislature to quit playing politics and do their duty.

Some months ago a group of college students in New York took a vote on who were the first and second most hated creatures on earth. They voted Hitler the most hated, and the devil the second. A well-informed bunch of students.

TEXAS SCHOOL CENSUS

While the Texas school census does not reflect the current birth rate, it does fluctuate to a considerable degree with the birth rates of six to seventeen years earlier. Today, in spite of a growing population, Texas has fewer children of school age than at any time since 1929. For five of the last nine years, the state's school census shows declines; a drop of 14,000 has been disclosed for this year.

Years ago Mark Twain went to church and heard Dr. Doane, later bishop of Albany, preach one of his best sermons. After the service he approached Dr. Doane and said: "I have enjoyed your sermon this morning, as it is an old friend. I have a book in my library which contains every word of it."

The good doctor was agast. "That can't be so, Mr. Clemens."

"All the same, it is," replied Mark.

"Well, I should certainly like to see that book," said Dr. Doane, with dignity.

The next morning he received, with Mark Twain's compliments, a dictionary.

I AM THE PRINTING PRESS

Some one defines the Printing Press in the following language: "I am the printing press, born of the mother earth. My heart is of steel, my limbs of iron and my fingers are of brass. I sing the songs of the world, the oratorios of the past, the symphonies of all time. I am the voice of today, the herald of tomorrow. I weave into the warp of the past the 'wool' of the future. I tell the stories of peace and war alike. I make the human heart beat with passion or tenderness. I stir the pulse of nations and make brave men do better deeds and soldiers die. I am the laughter and tears of the world and I shall never die until all things return to the immutable dust. I am the printing press."

HELP THEM TO STUDY BETTER WITH BETTER LIGHT!

• To make homework easier for your children . . . to enable them to concentrate on their lessons . . . give them plenty of glareless light and a quiet place in which to study. Science has proved that seeing is a muscular activity, just like walking, and that good light makes seeing easier and less tiring.

Better light is good for other members of the family too. A reading lamp by every easy chair, lamp bulbs of sufficient size in ceiling fixtures, in the kitchen and other rooms of the house add to the appearance and the comfort of the home. FROM THE SIDELINES
Alas! That last white line was never reached Friday night. For the second time this season those vicious Wolves of Colorado City High school were held at bay, this time by the Loraine Bulldogs.

There were several outstanding plays made by both teams throughout the game. Smith and Glover played a whale of a game for ole C.H.S. as did Mathers and Simmons for Loraine High. Both teams did some swell defensive work.

Many favorable comments were made about the work of the Loraine pep squad.

Everyone come out next Friday night and see the Wolves harvest those Roscoe Plowboys. They're gonna mow 'em down.

JACKRABBITS LOSE TO HERMLEIGH

Last Friday afternoon the Colorado High school Jackrabbits went over to Hermleigh to play their first string. The boys played a good game but emerged in defeat 6-0. Hermleigh scored late in the first quarter after their most powerful back got loose for about ten yards. He went over the six point marker standing up. About four Jackrabbits had their hands on him, but just couldn't bring him down.

James Paul Cooper, Henry Feaster and Harry Webber stood out in the Jackrabbits' line while Finas Shurtleff, Toby Dearen, and Junior Sadler stood out in the backfield. Royce Smith was the outstanding substitution who went into the game. Royce and Toby were the constant ground gainers for the Colorado squad.

The Rabbits were in scoring position several times. The nearest scoring chance came after Toby intercepted a Cardinal pass and ran it back deeper into Hermleigh territory.

The City National Bank

Hermleigh never threatened seriously to score again after the first quarter. An observer from the sidelines stated that the Rabbits outplayed the Cardinals, but just received a bad opening break. The Cardinals outweighed the Colorado boys about ten pounds per man.

ART EDITOR

An addition was made to the annual staff last week. Weyman Moseley was made the art editor. This is his second year in this office.

FORMER STUDY HALL TAKES ON NEW DRESS

Work was begun on Miss Miller's "studio" this past week. If you haven't seen it, do so, as there is already a marked improvement. The other work will be more gradual, and will establish a beautiful room.

JUNIOR CLASS PROGRAM

The second in the series of three class programs was given Monday in assembly by the Juniors. Following the example of the seniors, they presented a musical program. This program met with the approval of all and was very entertaining.

A bass solo by Karnes King (how are you classified Karnes?) opened the program with musical selections by the juniors in the choral club, a duet, a harmonica solo, a guest artist, and a tumbling act. The guest artist was lovable Judy Christian who said a reading.

Next week these programs will be concluded by the sophomores. To compare with the success of the preceding programs will be a big assignment, and they are just the ones to do it.

CHAUCER READING

No, you didn't understand them, nor did I. However, Miss Miller's group who read Chaucer's Prologue to the Canterbury Tales afforded a great deal of amusement for us who heard them. The way to read Chaucer was given by Jane Machia, an interpretation by Beulah Robinson, life of Chaucer by Harry Landers and a joint reading of it by the group.

Miss Miller's English classes have studied Chaucer this year. Because they were so amused with it, she decided to let the entire student body in on the fun. She didn't estimate it either, and everyone apparently enjoyed it.

TO HAVE OR NOT TO HAVE

You have answered the annual staff with an emphatic yes on the question of a 1940 Lone Wolf. If you want this yearbook, why haven't you responded to the sales campaign? Whether or not Colorado has an annual this year lies entirely with you. Though practically all of the student body have expressed their desire for an annual, the sales are comparatively low! Since you have pledged your support, try to uphold that pledge. The number of sales made by Friday the twentieth decides the issue.

P.F.A. SWEETHEARTS NAMED

Once again the annual P.F.A. Sweetheart contest is upon us. Those dashing, daring Romeos who are to be the farmers of tomorrow have dazzled us again this year with nominees so beautiful that we are in doubt who we want. From Jr. High the nominee is Fay Franklin, while the divisions of Sr. High have chosen Jean Morrison and Verna Campbell. Have you noticed the boxes in which you cast your votes? Further still, have you cast any votes? Votes are a penny each, so why not vote for your favorite of the above named.

The P.F.A. Sweetheart will accompany the Ag boys on several trips and will help represent them at various meetings. This year's sweetheart will succeed Doris Flo Doss, the Ag Sweetheart of '39. Who will '40' she be?

EVERYTHING IS NEW TO THEM

We have a number of new students this year. Some of them have lived here before, moved away, and come back. Others have transferred from other schools in other towns and districts. Even some have come back to school after deciding, loafing doesn't pay.

From Big Spring come Grady and Frances Milap. Coshoma is the origin of Harold and Elizabeth Ann Cook. Lucile Haggard, Billy Wade and Stewart Cooper have come back to Colorado City after being away some time. Bobby Lynn Dockery, Ruth Lambeth, and Peggy Trickey are also new transfers.

We hope that all these new students will find Colorado High school a place that will live up to their expectations. If you don't know these students, get acquainted with them, because friends are the greatest possession man can have.

CAMPUS CAMERA

Your snooting sadies are revealing everything in fact this week. We are printing names in black and white for your benefit. However, we do remind you that the opinions printed in this column do not necessarily mean they are the opinions of the writers (and whoever said the writers had an opinion?). The gossip-gossiping know-it-all declares that Dan Cupid rides again on CHS campus. M. A. WEBB is evidently not discouraged at the outcome of the last affair. He has naturally been scouting about for RUTH GRIFFITH has received the coveted blue ribbon. . . . Have YOU bought an annual???

Remember that in later years you will glance through the pitcher-book and it will mean very much to you. Support the Lone Wolf staff. . . . EUGENE HALEY is still hoping for the best of the best as far as BILLIE MARGARET GREGORY is concerned. She still gives him the whizby, though. We wonder if that little boy in Snyder—BRYAN JORDAN—still has the rightaway. . . . HARVEY RYALL HICKS may be serious about the whole thing, but what does the other party (none other than BETTY LOU WHIPKEY) whisper about it. . . . It's Loraine for LEE BROWN. . . . And she is an attractive brunette. . . . Friday night after the game there was an exhibition of St. Vidas gone moderne at the club. The way the participants were teamed up in some cases was rather eye-filling and probably will keep the members of the Have-you-heard club in a longer session this publication. P. B. HUNTER and DORIS FLO DOSS helped make the rig cuttin' more fun. SUZANNE SIMONS and GLENN CHURCHILL coupled it as well as the ones who just can't make up their minds: PHYLISS BERMAN and W. B. CROCKETT, JR. WALTER GRUBBS, accompanied by WALTER GRUBBS, forgot his arthritis and joined the group. . . . Listen, you collich students, you wouldn't be reading this for information, would you? After all, CHS is still here even if it isn't blessed with your presence and we are merely trying to replace the C.C. of the days gone by. . . . HARRY LANDERS is undoubtedly reaching for higher interests. He is blond. . . . CRAIG PORTER and VERA CAMPBELL are sighted together evah once and a bit. Cute! . . . Some of our boys in Colorado High seem to forget that one doesn't have to be grown to be a gentleman. . . . Jotted down in our little black book is the affair of BILL COFFEY, JR. and MARGARET SMOOT. Due recognition also is a similar feeling between VIRGLE PICKENS and MILDRED WYNNE. . . . The junior assembly rated nearly as well as the seniors. The reading of their guest artist, Little Judy Christian, was praised and is still talked about. She is a natural born performer and mucho sweeto. . . . There's an old saying that when the cat is away, the mice will do such strange things. Such is the case of JUNIOR COX. Or have you noticed? . . . MACKI LOVING has been recently squired by a tall-l-l-l Romeo. He is registered as LEON CALLAN. . . . The P.F.A. Sweetheart contest is in full swing and loyal high school gals and boys should tuck their pennies in the box marked Jean Morrison or Verna Campbell. . . . We wonder if TOM MACHIA was dating MAJORIE PLASTER Friday night. . . . Daffynitions: Shoulder—Man who fights for U. S. A. Ankle—Man who married your aunt. Boom—A Kentucky trail blazer. First name was Daniel. Yawn—A silent Indian war whoop. Remember the Alamo, the annual, and the game Friday night.

NEWS FROM JUNIOR HIGH SCHOOL

LET'S BE CAREFUL

Editorial
By Gwendolyn Graves
Our new building should be such a pride to all of us that we should make every effort possible to keep it as pretty as the day we came into it. But some of us students were disappointed when we were called to assembly Friday, September 22. One of the things most noticeable was the way some of our students disobeyed one of the recently made rules. They not only put their feet on the seats, but they walked on them. In showing our appreciation for this lovely school building we should take care to keep it clean, neat and orderly. And in keeping our building clean we must be careful not to spill any ink in the halls or the rooms.

SOCIAL SCIENCE

In social science Mr. Eugene Haley sponsors a Traveling Club. They have nominated Udell Moore as their president. They visit all over the world each Tuesday and Thursday. Last week they visited the European War. All of this is very interesting.
Betty Jo McCorcle

THE 7B LANGUAGE ARTS CLUB

The 7B class organized a club in Language Arts. Bradford Landers was elected president. John Adams was elected vice-president, and Ruth Renfro was elected secretary. The leaders of the five committees were chosen as follows:

1. For the Good of the Building—Mozell Vaughan;
2. Safety First—Vernell Vaughan;
3. Good Citizen—Weldon Miller;
4. Good Manners—Austin Fuller;
5. Thrift—Charles Womack.

The 7B class hopes to make the club good and satisfying.
Bonnie Jackson

OUR PLAYGROUND EQUIPMENT

When school first started we had no playground equipment and had nothing to play at noon. Boys aren't known to twiddle their thumbs. But soon we are to have a tennis court with back steps on the east side of the building. We also hope to have a football field when all the ground has been leveled off on the east side of the building.
Gwendolyn Graves

A NOTE FROM THE EDITOR

A new column is being put in our next issue of The Tattler. Watch for it.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAMS

The High School Choral club appeared on the new Junior High stage Friday, October 6. They sang the following songs: Twiligh, Deep River, Volga Boatman Song, Hark! The Vesper Hymn is Stealing, My Evening Star, The Heavens are Telling, Now The Day is Over. We enjoyed the songs and expect the choral club back throughout the year.
Willie Nell Grisham

On October 9, the pupils of Junior High school enjoyed Mr. Glover's review of the book "The Texas Ranger." We will all like to read it. We also enjoyed a short play, "The Auto Age," presented by the Dramatic club. Sarah Carter sang "Beer Barrel Polka" and "I'm Sorry for Myself" accompanied on the accordion by Pannie Brinkley. The concluding play was "The Hero at Tea." The numbers were very good.
Reeda Bell Franklin

AGGIE CONTEST

Each year the Future Farmer club sponsors an Aggie Sweetheart contest. This year our candidate from Junior High school is Fay Franklin. This contest ends November 7, 1939. One penny vote will be our lot. Anyone is eligible to vote. The Aggie Sweetheart will be awarded a beautiful blue sweater bearing the P. F. A. emblem on the front.

ANCIENT ORDER OF BOOK WORMS CLUB

The Ancient Order of Book Worms club is a reading club organized for the purpose of reading for pleasure. They want to get more acquainted with good books and authors. The club is sponsored by Miss Loyse Price. Bob Moore was chosen as president and Marietta Church as secretary.

Billie Hammans

RIDERS OF THE HOBBY HORSE

The Hobby Horse club is sponsored by Miss Alwida Crosthwaite. The president of the club is Audra Cary; the vice-president is John Doss; the secretary is Claudia Renfro. This club is for the purpose of carrying out hobbies. The members who do not have a hobby are going to get one. The purpose of this is for the members to spend their leisure time wisely. It might result in someone using it for his life's work.

The thirty-two members of the club are boys and girls from the sixth, seventh, and eighth grades.

HOME-MAKING GIRLS GIVE PARTY

The Homemaking girls of the cooking class gave a party Wednesday night at Miss Lovelace's home. They invited boys and girls to the party. Everyone seemed to have enjoyed the games very much.
For refreshment, ice cream and cake was served.
Gwen Carter

CHATTER

What would the Dramatic club do if they didn't have Mary Tilley to prompt them when they forget their lines?—and isn't her stage giggle "fetching"?

What boys would rather pick cotton than write outlines in English? . . . What boy would rather go to church than to a party with a girl? . . . The school is still buzzing about the "Trickey" from Dallas. . . . We hear that Coy Loving likes to "duck walk" and run around the trace. . . . (Continued in the next issue.)
