THE Commissioner General of the Land Office has been investigating certain reports reaching that office of extensive timber depredations on public lands adjacent to the Canadian boundary line. The Commissioner was convinced that depredations on a great scale were about being inaugurated. Of the timber already stolen a large percentage has been seized by the Government, and criminal proceedings will be begun against the guilty.

THE American Rapid Transit Company of Washington recently notified their employes that all advantage accorded them turing the strike had been revoked, and tective from that city. that hereafter they will receive the same pay as before the strike, and will also be compelled to labor the same number of hours. This is the company that acceded after the strike, and received for this action great praise.

J. B. GARDNER, of Boston, recently deceased, provided by his will that a large sum of money in bonds and other securities, aggregating in value $931,900, should be turned over to the United States Treasary to be used and held to pay the national debt. The bonds were received at the Treasury Department, and placed to the credit of "Patriotic Donations."

THE paper mill of Howard Lewis, near Chester, Pa., burned recently. During the fire a boiler exploded killing one man and injuring three others. Loss, $80,000.

THE yacht Mystery, which sailed from New Haven, Conn., for Nantucket, has been missing since the 10th. She had on board Leicester Sargent, of New Haven; Rupert Sargent, of New York; Mr. Hawkins, of New Haven; and Mr. Bartlett, of New York. Several bodies were reported picked up that had been washed ashore dressed in yachting suits, but had not been recognized.

THE party who sailed from New Haven in the yacht Mystery were undoubtedly lost. Several of the bodies were washed ashore and identified.

PLEURO-PNEUMONIA broke out among cattle at Salem, Conn. The Treasury Department felt no apprehension as to the spread of the disease beyond the present locality.

REPORTS from Portsmouth, N. H., stated that malaria had appeared at several New Hampshire beaches, and many people were ill. Lewis, a wealthy Philadelphian, died at his cottage of malignant typhoid fever and his servants and family were ill. Defective drainage was supposed to have caused the trouble. Mrs. Ward, a botel guest at Rye Beach, also died.

THE other day a party of fifteen or twenty persons left the hotel at Wells, Me., drove to the beach and entered the surf. The whole party were swept out by the undertow and Eddie Little, son of Rev. THE Commissioner of Internal Revenue issued instructions to Revenue Agent his team were stung to death by a swarm Powell, at Raleigh, N. C., to investigate the report that several revenue officers in the upper part of South Carolina have been systematically swindling the Government for some time. It is charged that the officers in question hire persons to put up old stills in remote places, and then capture the material in the night time and obtain the Government reward of $50 for each seizing. The same material is then put up in another part of the State and seized again. It is alleged only a few of the stills captured in the mountains of South Carolina have really been used for illicit distilling.

The Democratic party is preparing to enter another Presidential campaign.

Interviews are had here and there; opinions are expressed upon this man and that; lines of policy foreshadowed, and all the movements which indicate great political commotion are evident to the most casual observer. There is a percentible seeking and a great deniend to the country was carried in 1876 by the cry of Democratic in 1876 by the cry of Democ ceptible seeking, and a great demand to see this restored again will range for the leading issue. One is certain it himself upon the Democratic side. Let must be this, and another is equally the men nominated be the pledge of rease making a fight.

Has t ever occurred to the Demoeratic leaders that there is an issue now struggle. - American Register. before the country, and one that has attracted public attention for some time, an issue grander and broader than mere questions of tariff construc-tions or the abstract considerations of purely economic measures; an issue that the farmer in the West and the grand in the Farmer in the State and the State Virginia mechanic in the East thoroughly understand, although they may know little of the science of government? There is such an issue; it is wider and deeper than all others, and it may be expressed in a few words; Democratic control because of Republican greed and corruption. View it as you may, and argue it as you please, that is the real issue; all others sink by comparison. It is the one issue which the country can understand and upon which the battle may be safely fought. Back of all the broken promises, the honeyed words of reform, and the moral exists to handle all the grain throughout them, and this service is offered to be done for all alike on equal terms by prohibiting track loading from wagons or by other means than elevators, to which the Company that the compan promised, any pledge made, or any position assumed. It yitalizes every ispromised, any place sition assumed. It vitalizes every issue, galvanizes every promise, and infuses life and vigor into every campaign. The reality of the present lends strength; the prospect of the future inspires hope, and together they open the safe of the capitalist and the heart of the ambitious, until the sinews of war the ambitious. In the present House the representation elected stands nine Damocrats to four Republicans. party conflict widens into the acclaims of victory. Over all the qualms of Johnston, in pursuance of the resolution of the recent Legislature, to assist him in the may make; and over all the breaks and bolts which independence may organize, is heard the slogan of party strife and the watchword of party conflict. It is Pacific Railway Company. It has not been settled as to who will be employed in his place, but Roscoe Conkling, Clarence A. but Roscoe Conkling Roscoe Conkl Seward and Ben Butler have been suggest. In this common desire all factions mingle and all forms of belief agree. The Stalwart marches by the side of the Half Breed, and the Free Trader and the Protectionist sink their differences for the party good. Platforms are noth-ing; the past is a blank and the future a question, but the duty of the hour is success. If anything is popular it is praised and accepted; if questioned, no position is taken, but the party is always all things to all men for success. The soldier is remembered by patriotic mention; the negro placated by renewed assurances; the capitalist interested by secret pledges; the laborer quieted by liberal promises and in every method and by every means known to

> Against the victorious legions of the with arms and ammunition, and entrenched in the power and plunder of a long and corrupt reign it is useless to fulminate edicts or present issues. Well defined principles of policy may serve as standards around which the thoughtful may rally, but the moving, propelling power must be the defeat and overthrow of the enemy. The true princi-ples of Democracy as distinguished from centralism, viz., individual Cliberty, home rule and honest government, are enough for the common purpose, and amply sufficient for party declaration. The common people, the working masses, have neither time nor patience to fathom the mysteries of tariff and finance, but they know what personal liberty means and what honest government indicates. Let Democratic restoration be the aim, and considerations of public policy the object. Let the aim be first to overthrow, and the object afterward to reform. This is the platform the people want and for which the popular masses are willing to battle. Let us not confuse the public mind with many declarations, nor puzzle the people with nicely drawn distinc-tions upon political economy. The issues are already joined. They are known and read of all men, and are, in a word, whether the liberty-loving doctrines of the Democracy shall prevail, or the country remain in the power of those who have abused its confidence and been false to their piedges. This is the question of the hour, transcending in importance all other questions, and upon this simple and naked proposition the country will have to divide. Upon some things there will have to be a compromise; for there is a diversity of opinion touching some questions, but upon the great central idea, the triumph of Democratic principle, there is no division. Every Democratic principle, there is no division. Every Democrate principle, there is no division. of Democratic principle, there is no di-vision. Every Democrat knows what the party stands for and advocates, and it would certainly not be wise to con-fuse that large body who are ready to vote with us upon the simple proposition of a change of rulers, by dragging deavoring to adjust a swing. — N. With men whose devod, and the other, that the need of the hour is men, born leaders, who can and whose administration can be safely sway and influence popular opinion. The most numerous crowd are they who insist upon the tariff as the great may appeal to the voting masses for issue—some wanting to leave it as it is, some wanting moderate protection and all reasonable hope of success. Indeed, some others as much of it as the party with nothing to produce division and will stand, but all are firmly persuaded everything to encourage harmony, the that enless there is an issue there is no Democratic party may hope for such an Democratic party may hope for such an accession of popular strength as will settle in advance the result of the

The Republican Party Repudiated.

There are now Democratic Governors in twenty-five States of the Union, Re-

State, Virginia.
The so-called "Northern" States with Democratic Governors are California, sey, New York and Pennsylvania.

The States with Republican Governor are Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Maine, Minnesota, Nebraska, New Hampshire, Ohio, Oregon, Rhode Island, Vermont and Wisconsin.

Of these States Illinois in 1882 elected a Republican State Treasurer and a Democratic Superintendent of Public Instruction. In the last Congress the Republicans had a majority of seven out of nineteen Illinois Representatives. Of the present Illinois Congressmen elected last November the Republicans have only a majority of two out of twenty Representatives.

These are most important and interesting facts bearing on the next Presidential election. They show that four of the most important States still holdmethod and by every means known to political strategy points are made and Democrats in 1882 and turned their positions won, until merged into one Republican majorities into Democratic majorities. If those four States had elected Governors at the last election they would have chosen Democrats and the Republicans would have been left with Republican party, plentifully supplied Governors in only eight of the small States of the Union having among them forty-six electoral votes. In a National point of view the Con-

In spite of the frantic cries of the Republicans. Indiana, Ohio and Wisconsin completely reverse the polit ical complexion of their delegations and Illinois very nearly does the same

Is it likely that these emphatic expressions of the popular will on Na-tional issues will be reversed in 1884? The States with present Democratic Governors cast 272 electoral votes. Vir ginia, now with a Readjuster Governor casts 12 electoral votes, making in al 284 votes. Of these the Northern States in the Democratic column cast 131 votes.

The States with presen. Republicar Governors cast 117 electoral votes. If the Republicans should retain all the States they now hold, including Ohio, Indiana, Illinois and Wisconsin and should redeem Connecticut, Kansas. Massachusetts, Michigan, Netada and Pennsylvania, they would still leave the Democratic President with a majority of seventeen electoral votes.

Instead of redeeming all these State the Republicans are likely to lose Indiana, Ohio, Oregon and Wisconsin, and probably Illinois.

The signs of the times all indicate that the country, especially on Nationa issues, repudiates the Republican party.

Truly, his reasons for complaining that his party does not support him are well founded, if his assertions are true, and we have no reason to doubt them, and it has been a wonder to us that Timmons has not renounced his party long ago. If the Democracy were as good to their organ as their organ is to them it would be the best patronized paper in the county, and if there ever was an editor whose lot was cast in rough places, Timmons is that one. Kansas State Fair.

From the Santa Fe Trail.

The Trail is in receipt of the premium list of the Kansas State Fair to be held at Topeka, September 10th to 15th inclusive. It appears that this is to be good feed at the Red Front stable a joint exhibition by the State Fair Association, the Kansas State Horticultural Society, the Kansas State Wool Growers' and Sheep Breeders' Association, the Kansas State Poultry and Pet Stock Association, and the Kansas State Band Union. This looks like putting it a little strong, but the co-operation of these various societies was secured last year, and their joint exhibition was universally conceded to be the finest exhibit of the resources of the State ever made, and the management say that no effort will be spared to improve upon the grand success of last year.

Among the specialties advertised is the third meeting of the Missouri and Kansas Racing Circuit; a grand parade representing the trades and industries of the State; a sham battle by -whose parade at Denver during the late Grand Army Encampment was of her goods from the late are, and pronounced the most brilliant display ever witnessed in that city-and the first State bench show, to which dogs from other states will be admitted. This last is a new feature in a State Court to instruct the jurry to bring your horses fed, hire a team, or fair but in a country where the herdman's collie and the sportsman's pointer or setter are bred with care, if will no doubt, be an interesting department of the general exhibition.

The people of Kansas will be glad to know that the railroads of the state have promised very liberal reductions in rates, and the management of the Fair are increasing their accommodations for visitors and exhibitors in anticipation of a larger attendance than ever before. The state fair of 1882 was attended by many people from all parts of the East-prospective immigrants, who, very wisely, selected that time for their visit to the state, as it gave them an opportunity • to see, collected in one place, a complete exhibit of the agricultural, horticultural, and live stock products of Kansas. same opportunity will no doubt be enrbraced by many more next month. I am a locomotive engineer, and have been for twenty years, and am now running on the Maine Central Raifroad. Life on an engine, as all engineers know, is very trying to health and strength. The continual jar of the engine, and strain on our long trips all tend to weaken the kidneys and urinary organs. In addition to this, ten years ago, I met with a severe accident, and I was taken from under my engine with severe internal injuries, which gave me great pain. I was laid up for six months, and suffered more than I can describe, and more than I wish to suffer again. I resumed work, but my kidneys began to disturb me, and my nervous system scened to be out of order. I could not sleep, as my water demanded such constant attention that I was kept awake a great part of the night; to dinate caused severe pains. I employed the best medical skill in Portland and elsewhere, but continued to grow worse. I was persuaded to try Hugt's Remedy, as I found that many of my friends in Portland had used it with great success, yet I had no faith that it would reach my case. However, I sent for a half-dozen bottles at one of the drug stores, in Portland, and from the use of the first bottle found a great relief. My water was much better and the pain in the back and limbs greatly relieved. I continued its use until I had used ten bottles in all, and it has been to me a wonderful blessing, and I have deemed it a duty and privilege to recommend it to those troubled in a similar manner; and you may publish this for the benefit of our railroad men and the public in general, as it has compictely cured me.

CAUSE FOR ALARM.

LICE E. CURTIS, of Brunswick, Me., writes us or May 15, 1883: "That she has suffered very much at frequent intervals with kidney disease, and the attacks were increasing in severity so steadily as to cause alarm. Her aunt, Mrs. N. M. Small, persuaded her to use Hunt's Remedy, and after using several bottles Miss Curtis has been 'reed from the severe aches and pains to which she had long been accustomed, and further says that Hunt's Remedy never falls to relieve the severe pains in the side and intense backache, and Miss C. pronounces it a real blessing to woman for all kidney diseases, and she cordially recommends it for the many fits and pains peculiar to women."

DR. SCHENCK'S PULMONIC SYRUP, SEAWEED TONIC. and MANDRAKE PILLS.

As the proprietor of these medicines I conscie tiously offer them to the public as safe, reliable and certain remedies for the Cure of Consumption, and with equal confidence as almost a specific for those morbid conditions of the body, which, if neglected, are apt to terminate in fatal diseases of the lungs. I claim that the use of my remedies will cure Con-lungs are destroyed, for no medicine can create new ones: but I maintain that the first stages of Consumption are curable, even when the lungs are partially decayed. When one lung is sound I am almost certain of making a cure, if the patient will take proper care of himself and follow my directions.

It maybe asked : "How is it that you can know so much about this disease, and pretend to cure it, when so many educated physicians, who have made a study of it for years, pronounce it incurable?"

The question is a fair one, and shall be fairly answered: I do not claim to know more than other physicians about the causes, nature and history of Consumption. I suppose that my views on these points would be found to agree with those of most educated and intelligent physicians. We should agree that while the final cause is obscure-in other words, while it is not possible to say why Consumption selects this or that person as a victim-yet the prediaposing

1st. Inheritance. Consumption is hereditary in wonderful degree. One parent very often entails i upon the offspring, and both still more frequently, so that whole families are often swept away, and hand

2d, Cold. By this we do not mean those changes of weather which often produce inflammation; but longcontinued and steady cold, so that a condition of de bility is produced. Indeed, whatever tends to pro duce long-continued debility will, in some persons generate Pulmonary Consumption. Prominent among these influences are insufficient diet, living in an un wholesome air, sedentary habits, grief, anxiety, dis appointment, whether of the affections or in bust ness, and all other depressing emotions; the abuse of mercury and the influence of weakening diseases, I also agree with the best doctors as to the manner in which the lungs become affected. Pulmonary Consumption is also called Tuberculous Consumption, by which we mean a disease of the lungs caused by tubercles. A tubercle is a small, roundish body, which is deposited in the substance of the lungs by the blood. This is the beginning and first act of the discase. Many of these are often deposited at once Each one undergoes several changes. After producing inflammation of the parts of the lung next to it, it ends in ulceration, opens a passage into the bronchial tubes, and passes out at the mouth by spitting. The place where the tubercle grew and ripened now becomes a cavity, and where there are a great many tubercles, of course they make a great many of these little cavities, which gradually unite and leave great holes in the lungs. Unless a stop can be put to this process, it will go on until the substance of the lungs is consumed and death ensues.

Of course I agree with the faculty upon the symptoms and course of the disease; the short, dry, hacking cough, so slight at first, but gradually increasing: then shortness of breath, a quickening pulse, then feverish sensations, Aushing of the checks and heat in the palm of the hands and soles of the feet; the slight but growing emaciation, with feeble appetite, hemorrhages, increasing cough, disturbed sleep, fevered tongue, then loss of appetite, taken to the bed, then expectoration of softened tubercie in the shape of small lumps of yellowish, cheesy, or curdy matter; hectic fever, brilliant eye, chills, night sweats, sharp pains in the side, increasing emaciation and debility, disordered stomach and bowels, diarrhos, nausca, awollen extremities, hollow checks, sunken eyes, w akness so great that expectoration is impossible; then death, bringing welcome relief from the tortures of this horrid monster.

Now, as I have said, I mainly agree with the medical aculty on these points. But when we come to the realment of the disease I differ from it totally. The treatment of the disease I differ from it totally. The doctors believe Pulmonary Consumption cannot be cured. Therefore they do not try to do anything more than to smooth the patient's path to the grave, and seem quite reckiess of the medicines they give, so that the patient is kept comfortable and easy, even if his life is shortened. As soon as tubercles begin to appear in the lungs of a patient, it is a common practice with many leading physicians to begin dosing with whisky in inquasing quantities, until the ravages of excessive dram-drinking are added to the ravages of the disease; and I have yet to hear of a single case of Consumption which was cured by stimulants. I can say dram-drinking are added to the ravages of the disease; and I have yet to hear of a single case of Consumption which was cured by stimulants. I can say the same of Cod Liver Oil. Many physicians send their patients away from home on distant voyages, to Minnesota or Florida—anything or anywhere so that they may diseasy. For they do not pretend to cure, and they have no remedies which will do so. Now I say not only that diseases of the lungs can be cured, but that my medicines do cure them. The proof is, that by their was thousands of Consumptives have been and are now being cured by them.

The whole science of medicine is based on experiments. We cannot by any process of reasoning decide that any particular medicine will help or cure a 1y particular disease. How was it found that Quinine will cure Chills and Fevers? Why, by trying one thing after another, until experience demonstrated that it was a specific for that disease. In just that way the knowledge was gained of my remedies, which are almost a specific in diseases of the lungs.

Pulmonary Consumption is hereditary in my father's family. His father, mother, brothers and sisters died of it, and he had reached almost the last stages of the disease when he was providentially led to experiment with the articles which are incorporated in these medicines. He was coused by them, and lived a strong, healthy mas for over forty years after his recovery. What cured him has cured thousands of others all over the country.

What cured him has cured thousands of others and over the country.

These results are not arcidental. There is no such thing as accident in nature.

Wholever may be the cause, the origin of Pulmonary Consumption is in the blood. Whenever, from any of the predisposing causes which I have just now mentioned, the blood becomes degenerated, it begins to make tuberculous deposits in the substance of the lungs. This must be stopped, or death will surely follow. It will not be enough to get rid of the tuberclessiready deposited, and heal up the sores already made, siready deposited, and heal up the sores already made, but something must be done to stop further deposits. What shall that be? The regular faculty say nothing can be done. I say purify, enrich, and tone up the blood, until it becomes so healthy as no longer to make tubercles. Can this be done? Yes. How? By the easiest and most natural way in the world. Take a man who shows to the experienced eye, by many in-fallible signs, that Consumption has set in. He is feeble and without appetite. Now, see what I intend

First, I propose to cleanse his stomach and bowels of their dead, silmy, clogging matter. This I shall do with my Mandrake Pills, which are the best cathartic pills in the world. They contain no calomel or other minerals, only vegetable matter. They evacuate the stomach and bowels gently but thoroughly, and do not weaken or gripe. They act like magic on the liver, rousing it out of its dull, torpid state, and promoting a full, free flow of healthy bile, without which there can be no perfect digostion. Now that the stomach and bowels are cleansed and ready-what next? Create an appetitie. This I do by my Sea Weed onle. The effect of this medicine is wonderful. Unlike a temporary stimulant, which by reaction lets the organs affected sink lower than before, this not only tones up the stomach, but keeps it toned up. The organs affected sink lower than before, this not only tones up the stomach, but keeps it toned up. The natural craving for food returns in all its force, so that we have now a stemsch hungry for food, and a digestive apparatus ready to make way with it. What next? Any one can answer that question. Put into that hungry stomach an abundant supply of nutri-tions food to be converted by the strange chemistry of digestion into rich red blood. This will stimulate the digestion into rich red blood. This will stimulate the heart into stronger action, and it will pump a fuller current out through the arteries; healthy blood will take the place of the thia, blue, flattened fluid in the veins, and soon a circulation will be established which will flow through the longs without making any unhealthy deposits; strength and flesh will increase, and the bad symptoms steadily diminish. At the same time use my Pulmonic Syrup; it is the best expectorant known. It blends with the food, and through the blood goes directly to the lungs, attacks and loosens up the yellow, foul stuff left there by the ripened tubercies, and strengthens and stimulates the bronchial tubes and coatings of the air-passages until they chial tubes and coatings of the air-passages until they get strong enough to life it out and expel it by expectoration. Then the lungs get over their soreness and have a chance to rest and heal.

So you see that I have not only shown that my medicines do actually cure consumption by experi-ment, but it also seems plain that they, or some-thing like them, would, from the nature of the case, oso.

-A correspondent of the Farmer's Review has practiced during several winters the plan of keeping apples in dry sand, poured into filled barrels after storing in the cellar, and finds it 'a decided improvement on any other plan ever tried," the fruit remaining till late Spring "as crisp and apparently as fresh as when first gathered." -A correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette tells how he succeeded in keeping clover hay in stack: "Make good long ricks, widening all the way from the ground to as high as you want to build. Then fill the center up until the sides slope just like the rafters of a house. The rick can be roofed over, like shingling a house, by beginning at the eaves, with old hay, straw, corn-fodder, or by freshly-cut timothy. When the rick has been carefully widened from the ground up to the eaves, and then carefully covered over in the manner mentioned, clover hay will keep nicely for any length of time."

Breeds From American Crosses.

Under the above heading, the Breeders' Gazette takes a position that it seems to us is the right one regarding the breeding of animals in this country. While it recognizes the good qualities possessed by imported animals, it does not ignore real merit in those which are now native to our own soil and climate. It admits that "what we call the common or native stock, especially of horses and cattle, in many sections have ac quired remarkable fitness for their environment. There are many "scrub" common horses and cows in this country, but there are also many excellent, hardy, intelligent, every way useful animals without any claim to belong to any of the recognized imported breeds. This is notably true of the 'general pur-pose' horse and the cow suited for those farmers who wish to give large but not exclusive attention to dairying.

Naturally, there is much crossing of these animals with pure breeds. It is quite in the possibilities that intelligent effort might produce an improvement of these 'common stock' animals which would give a given locality a variety really better than any of the now recognized breeds." This is exactly the ground that the New England Farmer has taken. We believe it is safe to assert that not more than one in five or ten ordinary farmers have had sufficient training and experience to enable them to take any one of the high-priced pure breeds, and make a success of the business of breeding and selling stock. Even among those wealthy fanciers, who are not compelled to get their money back in order to pay their debts, it is doubtful if one in four could show a satisfactory balance sheet in their business. There is a large element of risk in breeding animals, all the way from a common chicken up to a Maud S. colt. There are a great many more blanks than prizes. But it is a perfectly legiti-mate business, one that is open to all, and not without reasonable hope, provided one does not wade in too deeply before learning to swim. There are very few herds of cows in the country that are nearly so perfect that it would not be desirable to improve them. Most herds might be improved by the use of better males, and the improved breeds are now so widely disseminated through the country that it does not require a very heavy outlay, nor any excessive risk to procure a better bull than the risk to procure a better bull than the average native stock commonly produces. A good bull calf a week or two old, from almost any of the choice popular breeds, can be purchased for an average price not exceeding twenty-five dollars. A great many bull calves from very excellent pure bred cows are given away every year or sold to the butchers for veal. Better ones in some hands might be cheaper at fifty dollars, but even these cheaper ones, which are sold or given away because their owners or given away because their owners have no use for them, would improve many of our common herds, while the risk would be no greater than from the use of the most common of ordinary stock. We would have every farmer breed from the best animals he has, and use the best males he can afford to procure, but we can not join in the advice given by some writers, to discard all of our native animals as being entirely unworthy of use .- New England Farmer.

DR. PIERCE:—A neighbor of ours was suffering from "female weakness" which the doctors told her could not be cured without a supporter. After considerable persuasion my wife induced her to try your "Favorite Prescription." After using one bottle she threw away the supporter and did a large washing, which she had not done in two years before.

The Preacher's Quiet Habits:

Sedentary and studious men sometimes become prostrated before they know it. Those who spend much time in close mental work and neglect to take enough exercise often find their stomachs unable to do the work of digestion. The liver becomes torpid. The bowels act irregularly. The brain refuses to serve as it once did. Their preaching becomes a failure, and there is a state of general misery. So many ministers have been restored to health by the use of Brown's Iron Bitters that the clergy generally are speaking to their friends of this medicine as the very best tonic and restorer they know of. It restores thin and watery blood to its proper condition by toning it up with the purest and most invigorating preparation of iron that science has ever made. It is pleasant to take, and acts immediately with the happiest results, not only on the parsons, but on other folks as well.

Or CHILLS and FEVER,

AND ALL MALARIAL DISEASES. The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller tain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and long-standing cases. Usually this medicine will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken three or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY FILLS will be sufficient.

Eminent Testimony.

[N. Y. Witness, Aug. 15, 1880.] "I find that in addition to the pure spirits contained in their composition, they contain the extracts of hops and other well-known and highly approved medicinal roots, leaves and tinctures in quantities sufficient to ren-der the article what the makers claim it to be, to wit, a medicinal preparation and not a beverage—unfit and unsafe to be used ex-cept as a medicine.

"From a careful analysis of their formula —which was attested under oath—I find that in every wine-glassful of Hop Bitters, the active medicinal properties aside from the distilled spirits are equal to a full dose for an adult, which fact, in my opinion, subjects it to an internal revenue tax as a medicinal bitter."

Hardened Liver. Five years ago I broke down with kidney and liver complaint and rheumatism. Since then I have been unable to be about at all. My liver became hard like wood; my limbs were puffed up and filled with water. All the best physicians agreed that nothing could cure me. I resolved to try Hop Bit-ters; I have used seven bottles; the hardness has all gone from my liver, the swelling from my limbs, and it has worked a miracle in my case; otherwise I would have been now in my grave.

J. W. Morey, Buffalo, Oct. 1, '81.

"I was dragged down with debt, poverty and suffering for years, caused by a sick family and large bits for doctoring. I was completely discouraged, until one year ago, by the advice of my pastor, I commenced using Hop Bitters, and in one month we were all well, and none of us have seen a sick day since, and I wint to say to all poor men, you can keep your families well a year with Hop Bitters for less than one doctor's visit will cost; I know it."
