First, and by long odds foremost, he is the son of his father; and his father has the hielest his father has the highest seat in the Republican pantheon. This, of course, gives him a claim upon Republican sympathies and support which can not consistently be repudiated. The fact that he is immeasurably the inferior of his father, except in the education derived from books, counts for nothing in the case. Then as Garfield's Cabinet officer—the only one left—he has a rather shadowy claim upon the friends of the late President, while his share in "whooping up" the third term business and his retention by Arthur entitles him to a warm place in the Stalwart heart. Finally, he is a negative character, with no record worth mentioning and a fine talent for concealing his deficiences by keeping his mouth shut.

One or two Republican papers of sonfe prominence are, we observe, namto enhance the value of the tail of the Brady Hence he is not so much for Lincoln as he was, and will not he sitate to put a sp dhas forgiven the father the "grand so justly administered twentyone years ago. - St. Louis Republican.

Very Grand Larceny.

The disposition and willingness of the Republican party to obtain by fraud what can not be gained by fair means have so often been exhibited that little or no surprise will be expressed, though some indignation may be felt, at Connecticut from the Democrats. On election day in that State the tickets used by the Democrats were printed in white letters on a black ground to prevent the trading and cutting the Republicans were resorting to in order to defeat Mr. Waller, the Democratic candidate for Governor. The people of the State expressed their will by electelecting the Democratic ticket by a good majority. A Republican candidate for Auditor in New Haven, however, was on clean white paper. The New Haven Judge under the law decided that the Democratic black ballots were illegal. Seeing a chance to defeat the will of the people, the Republicans im-Karr, for the murder of M. S. test the election of the whole State Our Washington special recently contained a dish of interesting gossip in record to a political process gossip in record to a political process and to a political process and the ground that the bailots cast by the Democrats were illegal. They overlooked and were totally unabashed regard to a political programme said by the fact that their own tickets were to have been evolved from the fertile prain of that lively octogenarian, Simon or that lively octogenarian, Simon brain of that lively octogenarian, Simon Cameron. This programme sends Secretary Lincoln to England as the successor of Lowell, makes Hartranft the successor of Lincoln in the War Office, retires Bradley from the Supreme beach for the benefit of Brewster, and puts "a Western Republican," whoever that may be, in Brewster's shees. The object of these changes is, according to "an intimate friend" of the venerable Simon, "to prepare the way for the nom nation of Lincoln for the Presidency in 1884." While it is hardly necessing the fitting is the distinguishing marks upon them. The purpose of the framers of the Connecticut law was obviously to prevent employers from exercising improper influences over their men. To accomplish this it was not necessary that all the ballots should be printed upon "clean white paper;" it was simply necessary that they should all be alike. Even if the Democratic tickets had been printed upon "clean white paper" there would have been a difference as the Republican tickets bore distinctive marks upon them. The manner of printing nom nation of Lincoln for the Presidency in 1884." While it is hardly necessary to attach much, if any, credit to the aforesaid gossip, the candidacy of Lincoln—as the situation now stands—is quite within the range of possibilities, and even of probabilities. When his appointment to a seat in Garfield's Cabinet was first rumored the Republican ballots were no part of them and were openly intended to destroy their secrecy. But the Republican pointed out his availability, and intimated that if the feud between Stalwarts and anti-Stalwarts continued until 1884, and Lincoln maintained "a way to get it. In these days when the way to get it. Republicans and the Spoils. Many Republican Civil-Service reformers who are Republicans first and Civil-Service reformers afterwards have tried to persuade themselves and other people that if President Garfield had lived a fatal blow would somehow have been struck at the spoils system. In point of fact, there never was a President who took office, not even except-ing Mr. Rutherford Hayes who was not elected President, who was more completely incapacitated than Garfield from attacking the spoils system or reforming anything. Hayes paid the people who helped thimblerig him into the possession of an office to which he was not chosen by giving them offices. But Gar-field would have had to do and did do precisely the same thing by the people who gave time or money to elect him. It is as much an axiom in economic "politics" as in political economy that a man can only pay with what he has. some prominence are, we observe naming Lincoln in connection with the Vice Fresidential nomination: but he is, we think, much too shrewd to sell his ticket in the political lottery for that price notwithstanding what Guiteau has done to enhance the value of the tail of the kite. He sees that a combination of nature of the case admitted, that if circumstances may assign him the first place, and is therefore likely to decline which it was at the time strongly susthe second with thanks—unless convinced by events as yet undeveloped that it is "half a loaf or no bread." Two years ago we thought and said that Lin.

BURNS FESTIVAL.

Lust Thursday night, January 25, 1883, our Scotch fellow citizens, together with their wives and daughters and invited friends, from this and adjoining counties, of various nationalities, creeds and polities, met in Music Hall to celebrate the 124th anniversary of the birth of Robert Burns, that poet whose life and writtings will live forever, fresh and green, in the hearts of the Scotch people, and the anniversary of whose birth will ever be made joyous wherever Scotchmen happen to be on God's green footstool, on its recurrence, while time shall last. Yes, last Thursday was a most happy day with the Scotch people of this county, in fact, with many others of our fellow citizens, who entered into the exercises of the evening with an earnest that seemed to say that they, too, were Scotchmen. The beauty, chivalry and intelligence of Chase county "Kendall's Treaties on the Horse." was well represented in Music If you are a non-resident and have Hall, that night; and well might paid up your subscription, you, too, the speaker hesitate before beginsing a response to a toast, when he would behold before him such an intelligent assemblage of people. There were upwards of two hundred persons present, all of whom partook of a most sumptuous repast prepared by Mrs. J. N. Nye, who knows so well how to cater to all arrearages, and then tell the pubthe palate of man. The supper lisher to discontinue sending it to was served at 8 o'clock, the Rev. John Taylor asking the blessing; but, as the gathering was so large, all could not eat at one time, and there were, necessarily, three ta bles before the programme proper could be begun, which was about 11 o'clock, and the completion of which occupied nearly three hours; atter which Prof. Hardy, of Kansas City, gave several songs, and then dancing was begun. At the conclusion of supper the tables were removed from the Hall, and then the following exercises were carried out: PROGRAMME

Taking it all in all, it was the those who were there will, in the were allowed to stop for a few short hours and refresh themselves with the sweets of friendship and to drink in the joys of sociability and good feelings for their fellowmen. It might, very properly, be compared to a beautiful island in the river of Time, at which they were permitted to land, in their voyage down its mighty current, and there enjoy themselves for a time gathering the exquisitely perfumed flowers of man's better nature, his kinder feelings, those feelings that make the world akin to him. Yes, all who were there will look back through the dim vista of years, when Old Age shall have laid his heavy hands upon them and bowed their noble forms, and say to them. selves: "That Burns feetival I attended in Cottonwood Falls, in 1883, is one of the brightest pages written on the tablets of my mem-

KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE. The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. Also executent for human flesh. READ PROOF BELOW.

COL. C. L. FOSTER. Youngstown. Obio, May 19th, 1880.

Dr. B. J. KENDALL & Co., Gent: -1
had a very valuable Hambletonian colt that I prized very highly; he had a large bone spayin on one joint and a small one on the other, which made him very lame;
I had him under the charge of two veterinary surgeons, who failed to cure him. I was, one day, reading the advertisement of Kendall's Spayin Cure, in the Chicago Express, I determined at once to try it,
and got our druggist here to send for it;
they ordered three bottles. I took them sil and thought I would give it a thorough trist; I used it according to threetions, and the forth day the colt ceased to be lame, and the lumps have disappea ed. I used but one bottle, and the coit's limbs are as free from lumps, and as smooth as any tree from lumps, and as smooth as any horse in the State. He is entirely cured. The cure was so r. markable that I let two of my neighbors have the semaining two bottles, who are now u-ing it.

Very re pectfully.

Mushroom.

Several gardeners have fifted up cellars especially for the purpose of growing mushrooms in winter, and after some tried to tell her family not to bury her some rascally rover of the deep long ago more or less troublesome experience at the beginning, have come to depend upon hilltop. Both limbs and senses refused the beginning, have come to depend upon them as a regular item of farm produc-tion. The conditions for growing them are simple enough to discover, but not always easy to provide with unfailing for the purpose of working the beds, does not harm. The beds are made of fresh horse dung, free from long straw, mixed with its bulk of fresh loam. The dung and loam are mixed in a shed and allowed to heat for a day or two, when the compost is packed upon shelves in the cellar about a foot deep; the moisture will heat up and after the heat has subsided a few days so that a thermometer plunged in the bed will make about 90°, the spawn is put in. The spawn is imported from France and England, and very much depends upon having a good article to begin with, it is broken up from the square blocks resembling bricks made of mud, and pieces about as big as hen's eggs are planted every foot or so in the bed just under the surface; after a few days the surface of the bed-is covered with fresh loam an inch deep; in five or six weeks the mushrooms should begin to come up in clusters all over the bed, it takes them three or four days to expand to their full size, when they should be carefully plucked and packed in cotton wool in paper boxes for market. The demand for them seems to be on the in —The shortage in the which was caused by the great drouth of 1881 has been fully repaired by the season of 1882, and beef of good quality is again plentiful. The pinch was felt, however, until last fall. The potato famine of last year still has an effect upon the market, and potatoes are much wight be, considering the potato of the pota seems to depend upon what is called "luck," which simply means ignorance of some required conditions of success, or inattention to such as are well known In Paris and London immense quantitie of mushrooms are grown and consumed and it is likely the demand for them here will increase .- N. -John Gilbert, the actor, writes to the Boston Gazette that he must decline to contribute to its columns any reminis-centees of the old Boston stage. "To re-peat the words of other people's brains," has been a constant duty for so many years that he would "surely make a mess of it" and might a surely make a mess of it," and might as well undertake th feat of writing an original play. "Should I attempt," he adds, "to give an idea of the stage in former times, it would no be very complimentary to the present state of the drama. No doubt I am by many called an old fogy. I am not an-noyed by the term. Seeing what I have seen, and seeing what I see, when theatres are crowded to witness the feeble at-tempts of notorities, when stealing matter was, the two huge blacks had garrotted him and tied him face downward upon a bench; -and gave him fortytwo lashes with very heavy whips upon his unclad person. The newspaper article had contained forty-three lines, so that Phillip-Effendi got a lash for each line save one. After this summary proceedure the wretched American, being untied, snatched his breeches and shot like an arrow through the doorway, forgetting to salute the terrible pacha, who from the summit of the stairway shouted after him: "Now, go tell your master that I reserve the forty-third lash for him!"

So Phillip-Effendi, running as though the black devils were still after him, never stopped until he reached the Sub lime Porte, when he told the Prime Minister how Ahmed Vehfik had received his visit. And his Highness, notwithstanding his anger, could not help laughing at the pitiful state of the poor wretch who was still unable to stand up straight since he had been doubled up by the whips of the negroes. The Minister promised him, nevertheless, a radical cure for his affliction, a plaster for his

A Premature Resurrection.

A Washington lady, who fell insensible became motionless, pulseless and cold as ice. She was thought to be dead. A physician recognized the suspension of animation, applied the proper restoratives, and had the satisfaction of seeing his patient, a few hours thereafter, sensible, happy and talkative. The experiences during her trance, which lasted about two or three hours, were singular, and are described by her with vivid force. She was conscious of voices around her, and knew that the priest and the physician were pronouncing her death as near at hand. She struggled with all the power she could master to open her eyes, or move or speak, or in some way to show that she was not altogether lifeless. Particularly did she endeavor to whisper a wish not to put her on ice, having an intuition that she might after all be frozen to death in an ice-box. Then she hilltop. Mr. J. G. Tyler, chief clerk at the Union Phillip-Effendi, an American, and managing editor of the Turkish journal El Vakit, has just been created Walad of the First Class, a dignity which of itself confers the title of Excellency. There is a very queer story current in Turkish official circles regarding the history of this appointment; a story which I will not appoint the cheek at the Union Depot Hotel, Ogden, had rheu natism in the muscles of the chest and left shoulder. By applying the Great German Remedy three days he realized complete restoration, and he is of the opinion that there is nothing equal to the St. Jacobs Oil for pain. The Great German Remedy is also a specific for burns appointment; a story which I will not me not devoid of verisimilitude when the character of Ahmed Vehfik its principal actor, is taken into consideration.

Some time ago there appeared in El Vakil, a severe article attacking the ex-Governor of Brousa; aud it was generally believed that the article in question had been inspired by the Prime Minister, Said Pachar Forthwith Ahmed Vehfik invited Phillip-Effendi to his residence; and the managing editor forthwith accepted the invitation. On arriving at the conak he was received by the ex-Governor's servants with every mark of respect; but no sooner had he passed the threshold of the apartment in which the Vehfik was awaiting him, than he was instantly siezed by two sinewy negroes, who robbed him of his nether garments in the twinkling of an eye.

Our Watchful Guardian and Faithful Pro-MR. HENRY A. WATERMAN, of the city of Provi MR. HENRY A. WATERMAN, of the city of Providence, R. I., for many years the faithful and vigilant night watchman of the Barstow Stove Company's very extensive establishment, having been confined to his home several weeks by a very distressing tilness, on resuming his duties again avails himself of this early opportunity for stating briefly a few plain facts.

MR. WATERMAN, says:

"A few months ago I was taken down with a severe sickness, which confined me to the house quite a long time, and much of the time I was so very lame as to be unable to walk, and my left leg. from the hip to the toes, became monstrously swollen, and I suffered ex-toos, became monstrously swollen, and I suffered ex-remely from the constant intense pains produced by so great inflammation; I was trying the various so-called cures, all the time, and was under the treatment called cures, all the time, and was under the constantial of a physician seven weeks, but getting no substantial relief. At this time an old time friend, a police officer, called upon me, and during our conversation informed me of the great benefit which he had obtained by the use of Hunt's Remedy, and urged me to try it, as he me of the great benefit which he had obtained by the use of Hunt's Remedy, and urged me to try it, as he considered it a wonderful medicine. I commenced taking Hunt's Remedy, having very little faith that it would do much in such a stubborn case as mine, but my doubt was soon dispelled, for before I had taken one bottle I began to get better, the severepains disappeared, the swellen leg gradually decreased if size, and I was encouraged to continue the use o the Remedy; and the improvement to my health continues, my appetitels good. I have regained my arrength, and I am now performing again my duties as watchman at the foundry. Every night I go up and down stairs more than one hundred times, and am in good condition, and feel that my recovery is due to Hunt's Remedy alone. My severe sickness and terribly swollen leg was caused by the diseased state of my kidneys, and I think that it is a most valuable medicine that will so speedly, relieve and cure such a severe case as mine. I therefore most cheerfully recommend Hunt's Remedy to all afflicted with kidney diseases, as I know it to be a safe and reliable remedy.

The Doctor's Endorsement.

Dr. W. D. Wright, Cincinnatt, O., sends the subjoined professional endorsement: "I have prescribed Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs in a great number of cases and always with success. One case in particular was given up by several physicians who had been called in for consultation with myself. The patient had all the symptoms of confirmed coasumption—cold night sweats, heetic fever, harassing cough, etc. He commenced immediately to get better and was soon restored to his usual health. I have also found Dr. Wm. Hall's Balsam for the Lungs the most valuable expectorant for breaking up distressing coughs and colds that I have ever used." The Doctor's Endorsement.
