means "spending enough." Leastwise that's the clothing dictionary's definition.

A suit of clothes skimped in the making to the amount of a dollar is robbed of half its "style-life."

SPERO, MICHAEL & SON, "New York Made" clothes are never skimped in materials, labor or fashion features. The makers would rather skimp their own profits than skimp the clothes. They are always endeavoring to make these clothes better—never poorer.

ONE WHO WAS PRESENT

Reminiscences of the War With the Yanks.

By J. F. JACKSON.

On our retreat before General Grant we reached Jackson, Mississippi, July 9, '63. On the 10th we were ordered to relieve a South Carolina regiment on the skirmish line, which we did. I was and had been sick and not on duty for three months. Brother William was detailed on the infirmity corps and I volunteered to go out with the company. He let me have his gun. The captain objected and said we might have to do some running. I went and we took our position on the skirmish line under a hot fire. Two of the boys were slightly wounded as we took our position, and early that morning the officer of the day gave our major orders to have the battalion to charge the Yankee batteries playing on us in the front at 9 o'clock sharp. While waiting for orders to charge, Tom Norris, a noble soldier, rushed up to me and said, "Mr. Jackson, I never hated to go into a fight as bad in my life." I said to him, (he was a brave boy) "What is the matter, Tom? He said, "I am afraid I'll get killed." I said, "You put your trust in God and do your duty." Tom came through all right. One of our bravest men, so he said, got his face turned the wrong way—he charged the wrong way. He said he got his gun choked. (maybe he did) We made the charge through a dense thicket. I was on the extreme left of the company and obliques too far to the left but I heard the Yankee batteries limber up and make their escape and I was not sorry. I stepped out in an open place to lock to the right to see if I could see the command. We were not firing then and a Yankee took a shot at me, not more than 50 yards, front behind a small tree. I thought he had taken off part of my ear, but my ear was all right. The Yank shot too high at close range. There was a big stump close by and I took shelter behind it, and the Yank shot four shots at me, and I got five at him, and I silenced his battery. Just then I heard the boys open a brisk fire to my right and I left my stump and ran down to where the fighting was going on, and took a hand, and just then the major rushed up and ordered a retreat on double quick back to the old skirmish line and my recollection is that I ran in the front line, sick as I was. We lost in this engagement 9 men killed and wounded, is my recollection.

If you think my statements are not true, ask old Comrade Carothers. He was there and I think he will testify that my statements in the main are correct, that this was real war. The report was that there were eleven thousand engaged along the line that morning, and I thought it was a real battle and think so yet.

BABY GREGORY.

Mr. and Mrs. George Gregory arrived Tuesday morning from Gainesville, Cook county, with the remains of their little 2-year-old daughter, who died Monday morning, and was brought here for burial. They were met here by relatives and sympathizing friends and the funeral services were held in the Odd Fellows cemetery Tuesday afternoon. Mr. and Mrs. Gregory formerly lived here and have a great many friends in this and other communities in the county who greatly sympathize with them in their bereavement.

Mrs. T. P. Hawkins left Wednesday for her new home in Arizona, after spending several weeks with her parents and other relatives here. Mr. Hawkins, who was here a few days ago and returned to Oklahoma to wind up his business affairs, met her at Sweetwater en route to Arizona.

W. A. Teague of Star had business in the big town Monday.

CORN CLUB SHOW.

Goldthwaite, Texas, Oct. 15, 1912.

Dear Club Members:

We are going to hold our Boys' Corn Show at Goldthwaite, Saturday, Nov. 2, 1912, in the Masonic building north of the ice plant, and we would like you to be present by 10:30 a. m., bringing ten ears of corn and your report blank, which was furnished you by the department, properly filled out. If you have no report blank, write me, and I will send you one. I am writing to Mr. C. M. Evans of College Station to return to me all the report blanks that have been sent to him, so if you have sent your report to him, it will not be necessary for you to fill out another one.

We want every member to be present, whether he made any corn or not. It is possible for a member to win a prize under the third division even if he made a complete failure on corn; if he fills out his report blank carefully, telling all he did to his acre, it will be considered in the contest under the third division. Each division has its separate prizes and no member will be allowed to win more than two prizes. Under this arrangement each member will have twelve chances to win a prize.

We have arranged to give each member a gold medal, provided he brings his report blank or a ten ear exhibit. This gold pin is the National Corn Club emblem, and is to be worn on the coat as a badge of honor. Each member who complies with the above will be given one of these pins whether he wins any of the following cash prizes or not.

Cash prizes will be awarded under four separate divisions as follows:

Yours very respectfully,

R. L. BANKS, Agent.

Just thirty years ago this fall Thomas A. Edison opened the first electric light station in New York City. This initial plant, which was the beginning of a mighty industry, was located in an old warehouse in New York City on Pearl street. The single dynamo, now preserved as a curio, was driven by a steam engine and supplied current to about four hundred lamps distributed over a territory about a mile square. The wires were all laid underground. The newspapers were dubious about the success of the new lamps, although they admitted that they gave plenty of light, but Edison himself, coatless and collarless as he watched the machinery, was thrilled with success. The growth of electric lighting since that eventful day, thirty years ago, has been truly wonderful until now the very world is illuminated nightly with millions of electric lights. The first electric motor was connected to the electric light wires in 1884 and for six months, it is recorded, this same motor lay around collecting dust before the company could find anyone willing to try the new power producer. Today, in New York City alone, nearly 350,000 horse power is used in electric motors.—Electric News.

The Harvest Jubilee at San Antonio, which is now in progress, and the Cotton Palace to open in Waco next Saturday will attract many people.

A RUSHING BUSINESS.

The Goldthwaite merchants are all doing a rushing business now and many report sales greater than at any period during a long term of years. The people all appear to have money and are buying liberally in all lines, and many of those who have outstanding obligations are meeting them promptly. There is no part of the state where there are more evidences of prosperity and more contentment among the people.

BAPTIST MEETING.

The revival at the Baptist church is still in progress and is decidedly interesting, especially to the Christian people of all denominations. Rev. Newman, pastor of the church, does the preaching and two services are held each day, at 10 o'clock in the morning and at 7:30 at night. All Christian people have been invited to take part in the services and one of the pleasing features of the meeting is the united spirit of the church people.

BALDWIN P. LEE.

"A great man has fallen." These words are easily spoken; but were never more truthfully said of any man who had passed from the walks of men, than of him who is the subject of this sketch. An intimate friendship sprang up between this grand old man and the writer very soon after they first met. The world has suffered a great loss at his going, I have suffered a personal loss. Then what must be the sense of irreparable loss to those who were bound to him by the strong ties of blood relationship and long years of intimate association. But how consoling in this dark hour is the knowledge that this old soldier of the Cross, this true friend of humanity, lived more than four-score years, and in all that time left no stain on his character, left nothing for his loved ones to apologize for in his life and conduct. Why may I say that his life was a superior life? Why may I say of him what might not be said of any old man who quits the walks of life? I may so say because among all my acquaintances I have found none like him. I shall miss him. During the past few months it has been his custom to come to my office two or three mornings a week and sit with me for a few moments, only a few moments, because, with that innate sense of propriety so rare, he seemed afraid he would bore. These comings I shall miss, for he never came and went that I did not feel truly helped by his counsels, and the impress of a superior manhood, I have never before met any man who seemed able to look into the very recesses of the soul of the man who talked to him and to whom he talked and to read its every secret. One rarely meets a man possessing ideals so lofty, and who is so true to those ideals. He really lived them. It is not hard to espouse a cause in the vigor of physical manhood, or to pursue one with ardent zeal when the zeal is not founded on mature judgment. These do not count but when the advocate has lived more than his three-score and ten, and still stands for the principles that his worthless youthful aspirations have conceived, we cannot turn them aside lightly. Many have had superior advantages in what is popularly called education; but few men were better educated than was B. P. Lee. He was a close observer, a clear thinker, a student of human nature,—all these supported by a strong personal character and true conviction of right gave him an insight into the problems of the day that was unusual. So many men who figured in the affairs of a half-century ago, are unable to enter into the spirit of the present. This was not true in the case of this old man. There was no line of worthy progress that did not find in him a friend and ardent advocate. But he had no compromises to make with questionable methods of obtain-

R. M. THOMPSON, Editor

An unusually large attendance at the Dallas fair has been reported for almost the entire time of the exposition. The hotels were inadequate for the demands made upon them and the eating places were overcrowded. This is an indication of prosperity among the people of the state.

The main arsenal of the United States government on the Pacific coast, located at Benning, Cal., was destroyed by fire Saturday night. The loss to the government is estimated at a million dollars. Spontaneous combustion is believed to have caused the fire.

At Bellville Sunday night, O. A. Blucher, a Santa Fe freight train conductor, fell between the cars of a moving train and was so badly mangled that he died soon afterward. A brakeman on his train who witnessed the accident, at once resigned his position and quit the service.

A young lady of Gray, Ind., was recently burned so badly that skin grafting was necessary to save her. A crippled newsboy who had never seen the girl offered his crippled leg for use in the emergency and it was accepted. The limb was amputated and the boy died in the hospital there last Saturday as a result of the operation.

An attachment for telephones has just been patented that will be of great benefit to phone users if it works correctly. It is a device which registers and retains the number of the phone from which calls come and by its use a phone user can ascertain what calls have been entered for his number in case of his absence.

The death of United States Senator Heyburn of Idaho occurred in Washington Friday, after a long illness. He gained more notoriety from his hearty hatred of the Southern people than in any other way and on numerous occasions took advantage of his position to offer insult to the South and especially to those who took part in the civil war.

An explosion beneath the floor of a drug store in Marshall last Saturday caused the destruction of four business houses and the death of one person and the serious injuring of a number of people. The cause of the explosion will probably never be definitely determined, but the report says the prevailing idea is that a leaky gas main caused the explosion.

Political leaders in Texas express confidence in being able to raise the necessary amount of campaign funds to pay the share of this state in the national campaign. The Democratic women of the state have raised $1,000 for the national committee and the leading men are making appeals to Democrats to make donations of any amount from $1 up.

The end of the present revolution in Mexico appears to be very near and the announcement of the surrender of the Madero administration is expected at any time. Felix Diaz, nephew of the former president, appears to have the confidence of the revolutionary leaders and their followers in all parts of the country and his announcement that he will neither seek nor accept the presidency has added to his popularity with the leaders.

The war in Mexico has been detrimental in almost every way, but it has had the effect of advertising the wonderful resources of that country. Before the revolution which cost General Diaz his office, or more properly, his throne, it was not generally known that there were in that country some of the wealthiest men of the world and that located in the state of Chihuahua is the largest ranch in the world. Many of the property owners in that country have been ruined financially by the revolution and a vast amount of blood and treasure has been wasted by the war.

Last Wednesday morning when Walter Gilmer, assistant engineer at the pump station, was going to his work he saw an object in the road and kicked at it, and that object, a plied skunk, bit him on the foot. He went to Mullen the following day and applied a madstone, which stuck for two and a half hours. Upon his return to Brownwood he called on other physicians with the result that he was advised to go at once to the Pasteur Institute at Austin and he left last night for that place. Friends hope that he will be alright but agree that it is a wise plan to go to the Pasteur Institute.—Bulletin.

The ladies of the Central Christian church served dinner at the old bank building on the north side of the square on circus day and were well patronized, having deposited $86 proceeds which will be used in improving the church property.

Col. John L. Spurlin came in Sunday from a two weeks' business trip to Philadelphia, Cincinnati, and other Northern cities. He also visited Beaumont while away. He returns very enthusiastic over park building, seeing many possibilities for such development in Hamilton, and is eager to see the work taken in hand.—Record.

The truth is that it is our normal mood in these days to desire to be amiable to our fellowman, and to leave a good impression on his mind. Quarreling, except in the unrestricted freedom of the family circle, is almost a lost art; nobody cares to give a piece of his mind to anybody except a very near relative. Unless you are in a comparatively humble rank you may go through life without once hearing the plain unvarnished truth about your character, as conceived by an impartial friend. There was a time when a stranger was an enemy; he is now an object of benevolent interest everywhere.—London News.

The general election takes place one week from next Tuesday. In this county and in the state campaign the success of the Democratic candidates is not questioned. The result in the national campaign is not so sure, but Democrats all over the nation are hopeful, and it is certain that Texas Democrats will do their part toward electing Wilson and Marshall.

About the latest in the way of a criminal is a blind pickpocket. One of this kind was said to have operated on a train going into Fort Worth a few days ago.

If you should wake up some night and find your house on fire, or if it should happen to burn in your absence from home, what would become of those valuable papers you have or that little money you have saved up and secreted there for safe keeping? Pale Faces

Pale-faced, weak, and shaky women—who suffer every day with womanly weakness—need the help of a gentle tonic, with a building action on the womanly system. If you are weak—you need Cardui, the woman's tonic, because Cardui will act directly on the cause of your trouble. Cardui has a record of more than 50 years of success. It must be good.

The Woman's Tonic

Mrs. Effie Graham, of Willard, Ky., says: "I was so weak I could hardly go. I suffered, nearly every month, for 3 years. When I began to take Cardui, my back hurt awfully. I only weighed 99 pounds. Not long after, I weighed 115. Now, I do all my work, and am in good health." Begin taking Cardui, today.

BACK GIVES OUT

Plenty of Eagle Readers Have This Experience.

You tax the kidneys—overwork them—

They can't keep up the continual strain.

The back may give out—it may ache and pain.

Urinary troubles may set in.

Don't wait longer—take Doan's Kidney Pills.

Goldthwaite people tell you how they act.

Mrs. Robert Urbach, Goldthwaite, Texas, says: "I was seriously afflicted with kidney trouble. The first symptom was pain in the small of the back, which gradually grew worse until I was hardly able to move. At night it changed to a dull ache and I could not sleep. If I caught cold it settled on my kidneys and increased my suffering. I finally decided that my kidneys were at fault, as the kidney secretions were unnatural. When a friend told me about Doan's Kidney Pills, I procured a supply at R. E. Clements' drug store and through their use I received prompt relief. I am never without this remedy in the house. I am pleased to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

SAVED BY HIS WIFE.

She's a wise woman who knows just what to do when her husband's life is in danger, but Mrs. R. J. Flint, Braintree, Vt., is of that kind. "She insisted on my using Dr. King's New Discovery" writes Mr. Flint, "for a dreadful cough, when I was so weak my friends all thought I had only a short time to live, and it completely cured me." A quick cure for coughs and colds, it's the most safe and reliable medicine for many throat and lung troubles—grip, bronchitis, croup, whooping cough, quinsy, tonsillitis, hemorrhages. A trial will convince you. 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed by R. E. Clements. (adv.)

A VOYAGE TO THE CATSKILL MOUNTAINS.

On Tuesday evening, Oct. 15, Brother and Sister Newman entertained the Baptist Ladies Aid and their husbands in a charming manner.

On entering, the guests were invited to the "Old Oaken Bucket," where they partook of the "Nectar that Jupiter sips." After the guests had all assembled in the parlor they bought tickets to the Catskill mountains, by the way of the G. C. & S. F. The car was the spacious dining room of the parsonage. After the tourists were seated and well on their way, the news boy passed through and sold peanuts, popcorn, chewing gum and bananas. All were hilarious and spent their money freely for these little commodities. On the tickets were subjects to be discussed along the way and every time a new subject was introduced the tourists changed cars, or rather, changed partners.

On arriving at the Catskills, the first thing to be enjoyed was a picnic. The men were allowed the privilege of fishing and were delighted with their catch, which brought them a partner and a nice box lunch to be shared with her.

At the close of the feast, Brother Anderson read a chapter from the Bible and Brother Moore led in prayer. Nearly all the men present were added as honorary members to the Ladies Aid, for they said that a society that could give them so much pleasure for one evening was a good thing to belong to.

INSURANCE & COLLECTIONS

Fire Insurance

I represent fifteen of the best Old Line Fire Insurance companies doing business in the United States. I represent no Mutual Fire Insurance Companies, representing Stock Companies only, and all are duly authorized to transact business in this state. I am prepared to handle practically all classes of business, mercantile buildings and stock, churches and schools, public buildings, private dwellings and barns, live stock, cotton gins, AND CAN PLACE LARGE LINES ON BALED COTTON ANYWHERE. I have a very attractive proposition for the farmer who desires insurance on his dwelling and barns, machinery and live stock.

Tornado Insurance

Why take the risk yourself when you can protect yourself against loss by cyclones, tornadoes or windstorms, at such a small cost? You can get this class of Insurance for only 20c per $100, or say, a policy for $1,000 would cost you $2.00 for one year or $4.00 for three years.

"Jones pays the freight"

Accident and Health Insurance

Everyone needs a policy of this kind. It is in reach of all, and is especially beneficial to the man employed on a salary basis. You are protected from loss of wages should you become confined to your room by sickness or accident and the policy provides for a liberal sum to be paid in the event of an accident causing loss of feet, hands, eyesight, and in the event of accidental death.

Surety Bonds

Why trouble your friends to sign your bond? In nearly all cases you can procure a bond from a Surety company. The cost is small.

Collections

We will handle your notes and accounts, good or bad, large or small, at the customary rates. We are better prepared than ever before to handle this class of work as we have three persons to follow up this particular line of business. We have our own teams and don't mind driving them. We don't guarantee to collect, but guarantee not to pigeon-hole your notes and accounts and will give them attention and do the best we can. No collection no fee.

Hail Insurance

At a very small cost you can protect yourself against loss by insuring your crops against hail. The company is absolutely reliable, being duly authorized to transact business in this state and having assets of something like $3,000,000.

Life Insurance

We represent the Fort Worth Life Insurance company, which is second to none in the state, its policies containing provisions very liberal to its policy holders and its rates are very reasonable. I am assisted in this work by Professor A. J. Street, who has had considerable experience in the life insurance business, and either of us would be pleased to show you the Fort Worth Life Plan. The Fort Worth Life Insurance Company is a TEXAS COMPANY and we are MILLS COUNTY MEN. Why patronize foreign companies and foreign agents? Keep your money in Texas, and as much of it in Mills county as you can.

Dear friends, as it is impossible to see each one of you and express our gratitude for your kindness and help at the death of our dear husband and father, we take this method of expressing our thanks for the same. SOUTHERN STATES COTTON CORPORATION.

All who wish to or are in need of money, can turn their cotton over to the Corporation and receive in cash three-fourths of the price cotton is selling for at that date, (or $40 per bale, basis middling,) and the difference between it and 15 cents in script bearing 6 per cent interest, the Corporation assuming all expenses of warehouse, insurance and interest from the time the cotton is turned over to it. You will understand that if this is done by the farmers, it takes cotton off the market which pushes the price up. Every bale has its weight in doing this and the faster people take hold, the sooner the price will be 15 cents.

MONEY TO LOAN.

I have no money to loan—because you who owe me have not all paid. I have had some complaint because I employed a collector to attend to the collecting of my notes and accounts. I do not mean to, and am not insulting anybody, who wants to pay, with a collector. You can save the annoyance of a collector by paying me before he comes. If you can't pay, and want to, come in and arrange for it in the future. If you don't intend to pay, I wish you would be kind enough to call or write me such information, and tell me why. I want settlement of some kind on notes and accounts, old and new. If everybody will pay me I will have
