The People Who Sell It For Less

Texas

THINGS IN GENERAL.

Farmer Radford has shown us the penalty of over-production in a graphic and startling manner, insofar as relates to cotton. The figures he presents, taken from the reports of the Federal department of Commerce and Labor show that we produced in 1910 in the United States 12,095,688 bales and sold them for $963,180,000; in 1911, 16,250,276 bales sold for $895,840,000 and in 1912, 14,090,863 bales sold for $920,630,000. Those who farm do not have to depend upon statistics for information. They can feel it at the market, the home and the field. The curse of over-production is a worse blight than a pestilence and production without profit is the most staggering blow that can be dealt agriculture.

Our census report shows that fifty-eight per cent of our foreign born citizens own their homes. This is a splendid average and speaks volumes in favor of foreign immigration. The foreigners who desire to dig wealth from Mother Earth can do no better than leave the agricultural prisons of the old world and buy a home in Texas where there is room for all to sit at the table of life's opportunities. We need more of these sturdy foreigners to settle our fertile lands and dot our valleys with homes.

Farmer Radford has announced that the bankers have made available $40,000,000 to finance distress cotton at six per cent per annum. It is refreshing in this strenuous commercial age to find so many dollars with souls. The men who sit on the financial throne in Texas have proved themselves shrewd bankers in throwing the strong arm of the dollar around the cotton farmer. The problem of slow marketing of cotton has absorbed the attention, of leaders of economic thought for the past half a century and as first aid to a glutted market, the bankers will lend money on cotton stored in warehouses at six per cent. It is up to the farmer to take advantage of the facilities of fered and to market his cotton more nearly in obedience to the laws of supply and demand.—Commercial Secretaries.

FARM FACTS.

(By Peter Radford, President Farmers' Union.)

Facts always have stubborn enemies.

Money is the motive power of civilization.

Those who surfeit can be as sick as those who starve.

We have learned how to produce, now we must learn how to market.

The two most powerful influences in agriculture are markets and credits.

Cheap money is one of the greatest ministers to human needs the world possesses.

Cheap money is afforded every business man in every line of business except in the business of farming.

What is sometimes called an 'over-production' is merely the clogging of the markets by a bad system of distribution.

The inventive geniuses are the most valuable farm hands we have and they perform an enduring service to mankind.

The farmer gets more out of a fair than anyone else. The fair to a city man is an entertainment; to a farmer it is educational.

An exhibition of perfect products of the soil stirs the genius in artists, and their purity furnishes models for growth of character.

The farmers' assignment in the vineyard of industry is one of toil and his compensation is paid by competitive lines of industry.

The home dollar should take up the burdens of the hour rather than lie in wait to drink prosperity from the dripping wings of outside capital.

A farmer who produces a crop he can neither use nor sell at a profit is an unsuccessful farmer, regardless of the science he employed in production.

COMMERCIAL CLUB.

The meeting of the club Monday night was not as well attended as it should have been, but there was not a great deal of business of importance to be transacted, which probably accounted for the small attendance.

President L. E. Miller and Vice President J. C. Street being absent, B. F. Geeslin was chosen to preside over the meeting and B. P. Hurdle was elected secretary pro tem.

The road committee was instructed to have road work commence at once and it was suggested that the Antelope Gap and Goldthwaite road was in need of attention, as well as other roads.

A report was received from road work already done by Mr. Berry, under direction of the club which was very satisfactory.

J. S. Sealy reported good progress in securing subscriptions for stock in a fair association and he announced a determination to visit Mullin, Star and other towns in the county to solicit stock subscriptions.

The president appointed J. S. Sealy and R. M. Thompson to secure space in the exhibit hall at the Dallas fair for a display of Mills county products and to make other arrangements for the display. It was suggested that a member of the club be placed in charge of the exhibit at the fair, to give information and distribute literature relative to the county.

A small boy was killed and horribly burned by a live electric wire in Waco Saturday night. The wire was broken by a storm and one end dangled over the sidewalk and was unseen by the boy.

J. O. Swindle visited Temple the first of the week.

J. J. Casbeer of Center City had business in the metropolis one day this week.

MILLS COUNTY'S HISTORY.

The history of Texas counties is being written for the Dallas News by Judge Fullmore of Austin and proves quite interesting. In last Saturday's issue of the News the biography of Judge John T. Mills, a pioneer of Texas, is given and it is stated that Mills county was named in his honor. This is correct as far as the records are concerned, but in truth and in fact the county was named for Hon. Roger Q. Mills and very few people here ever heard of John T. Mills, and certainly would not have favored naming the county for him.

When Mills county was organized in 1887 there was a division on the question of a name for the county. Some of the citizens favored naming it in honor of Hon. Roger Q. Mills and others favored the name Ross, in honor of the "little cavalryman," General Sul Ross. A public meeting was held, at which Hon. P. H. Clements of this city presided and here again the division was manifest. When a vote was taken it was found that those favoring the different names were exactly equal and the Chairman cast the deciding vote in favor of Mills. When the matter was brought before the legislature it was found that a rule had been adopted that a county would not be named for a living person and as Hon. Roger Q. Mills was alive at that time it was necessary to find another Mills to put in the records in order to secure the name wanted. As Judge Mills had been a prominent man in the state in early days it was decided to use his name on the record and for that reason it appears that the county was named for John T. Mills, when in reality the honor was intended for Hon. Roger Q. Mills.

IN MEMORIAM

Mrs. Mary E. Tippen.

The above named Christian lady died on July 22, 1913, in the Ebony community, at the home of her son, J. H. Tippen, with whom she had made her home for several years. She was born June 6, 1838, in Hall county, Georgia. Her maiden name was Miss Mary E. Robertson. She was married to John M. Tippen on April 2, 1856, at Canton, Ga., whom she outlived 18 years. They had born to them five children, three of whom are still living and were present at her death.

She professed religion and joined the Baptist church in 1860, at old Mt. Olivet church, Cherokee county, Georgia.

She and her husband came to Texas in 1869 and settled on Wallace creek, San Saba county. Grandma, as she was familiarly called, was a devout Christian, and died in the full triumph of a living faith. She frequently talked of heaven and glory, and her greatest desire was to see her children brought to Christ.

Her burial took place at the Buffalo cemetery, the funeral services being conducted by Elder J. H. Briley, in the presence of a large congregation of relatives and sorrowing friends. Bro. Briley spoke in the very highest terms of her Christian life and character. While we keenly feel the loss of Sister Tippen, we meekly bow our heads as we pass under the rod, knowing what is our loss is heaven's gain. "Asleep in Jesus! Blessed sleep, From which none ever wake to weep A calm and undisturbed repose, Unbroken by the last of foes."

A REAL TRAGEDY.

One of the greatest tragedies of everyday real life is an honest young man, struggling hard to earn a livelihood and save a few dollars, and having a foolish wife who keeps his nose to the grindstone by her extravagant ideas of living and an effort to do society. It is the most discouraging thing in the world to a man to see day by day that every dollar he makes by struggling and planning is being thrown away by an unsympathetic wife.

The right kind of man thinks as much of his credit as a woman does of her honor. When his business probity and credit are gone he is an outcast from the world of men. He goes about the streets afraid to look his fellows in the face, and wherever he goes he feels the burden crushing the life out of him. He grows timid, loses his stamina and manhood, all because he is unable to meet his obligations.

The best years of his life are passing, and instead of laying up a bank account he is going in debt to pay millinery and dressmaking bills for society functions, carriages, long distance messages, expensive presents, fancy stationery and grocery bills that are twice too high. The wife of a busy workingman, holds the family purse-strings, and it rests largely with her whether they are to be always poor or have a bank account. It rests largely with her whether her husband is to live a happy, vigorous life, or to be harrowed almost into insanity by unpaid bills, and a future which holds out no hope.

It pays young married people to be sensible. Save at least a part of the earnings and live on the rest. The world will think infinitely more of them for doing this than it will for trying to live above their means and make a weak show of having plenty money to spend. There are men growing gray, nervous and stooped before their time just because their wives haven't the judgment to help them save their money, and get a start.

All women are not this way by any means. Some men won't save when their wives would like to. A good woman, sensible and saving, sympathetic and loving, is the greatest blessing that ever came to man. But a wasteful, spendthrift of a wife is a curse.—Cleburne Review.

Notwithstanding numbers of detectives and officers have been investigating the murder of Miss Florence Brown in Dallas last week, not the slightest evidence has been secured against anyone. The girl was murdered in one of the prominent business offices on a public corner in the middle of the forenoon. No cause has been found for the murder of the young lady, as there was no robbery and she had no known enemies. The murderer made his escape without any one seeing him either enter or leave the building and the indications are the author of the crime will never be known.

W. E. Egger this week bought Henderson's Racket Store on the west side of the square and will continue the business at the same stand, with Mrs. Whit Smith in charge. Mr. Egger is one of the city's best fixed men and has financial interests in other business enterprises.

BAPTIST MEETING.

The meeting in progress at the Baptist church is one of the most interesting ever held in the town. The sermons are interesting, the song service is good and the united work of the Christian people will result in much and lasting good. Rev. Rouse arrived from Hamilton Monday and has since been doing the preaching, but the pastor, Rev. Newman, and the other ministers of the town are giving valuable aid and the meeting grows in interest. Services are held in the church each forenoon and in the open air west of the church at night. Large congregations attend every service and interest is good throughout.

The services will continue over Sunday and perhaps longer, but no announcement has yet been made of the time of closing.

NEW BANK COMMISSIONER.

Mr. W. W. Collier of San Antonio has been appointed state commissioner of banking and insurance and entered upon his duties Aug 1, succeeding Mr. B. L. Gill, who resigned to take a position with a bank in New York at a salary of $10,000.

The governor requested the bank examiners of the state to recommend a man for the position to succeed Mr. Gill and they unanimously recommended Mr. W. C. Dew, cashier of the Trent State Bank of this city, but he could not afford to relinquish his holdings here and at Mullin for the salary of the commission, which will be $5,000 per annum after Sept. 1, but it was a decided compliment to be selected for so responsible a position and especially when the selection was made by men who have access to so many banks and know the ability and qualifications of the men engaged in that business. Mr. Dew, no doubt, highly appreciates the honor and it is certain his friends appreciate it, for it proves to them that his splendid qualifications and his high principles have been recognized by others than those who are actuated by personal regard and intimate acquaintance.

Mr. Dew's extreme modesty prevented him making the fact of his selection known to his friends here and it probably would not have been known to them had not Mr. Gossitt, one of the bank examiners, made a visit here this week and made the fact known.

ANOTHER STRONG FIRM.

There is a strong probability that McKinley-Corrigan Co., of Hamilton will open a general merchandise business here in the near future. Messrs. T. S. McKinley, Lee Jones and Carter Walton of the firm were here the first of this week looking into the proposition and expressed themselves as highly pleased with the conditions and the outlook. It is understood that arrangements are under way for securing a business house for the new firm and when this has been accomplished it is likely that more definite announcement can be made. The splendid trade that comes to this town and the prosperous condition of the people and the business institutions here necessarily attract people with business foresight and capital.

BARNES & McCULLOUGH.

Intolerance is the cause of much unhappiness in the world, and it is the handmaid of ignorance. When one is intolerant it is sure evidence of a lack of information. Who is there in this world who has all the wisdom, or who is there who knows he is right? We simply have opinions, not actual knowledge, in the realm of right and wrong. We do not know the result of a single act. The thing that we believe is wrong may be right and the thing that we believe is right may be wrong. It is alright to have convictions and to live according to these convictions, but we have no right to condemn others who differ with them, so long as these others are within bounds of the law. If we are tolerant we may learn something from the other fellow, but if we are intolerant we can never learn, but will continue to move in the same old circle, believing the same old things until the end of time for us. It should be the duty of everyone to learn what he can in this world in order to occupy just as high a plane as possible in the other world beyond the stars, and just the moment we refuse to listen to what the other fellow has to say, just then we begin to stand still and then the next step is retrogression. Be tolerant in all things. In religious matters people are more intolerant than in any other things. It has been so since the world began, and right then and there is much room for improvement. The best of us only believe, we have no definite knowledge about religion. After the story is all told the other fellow may be right.—Cleburne Enterprise.

A collection of over 300 birds taken in the Isthmus of Panama has been made by L. L. Jewell of the Coion during the last three years. The birds include both residents and transients and each one represents a distinct genus or variation thereof. There is a proverb regarding Panama that says: "The flowers have no perfume, the birds no song, the men no honor." In fact, most of the flowers here are fragrant and the wild flowers, such as orchids, passion flowers and trumpets, are pungently so; the birds sing very sweetly, the isthmian robin and oriole quite surpassing their northern brothers; and as for the men, well, their standards are little different from those of Americans, but they are quite as good, and the men live up to them just about as well as Americans do.—New York Sun.

The negro who was arrested in Angleton a few weeks ago charged with the murder of a white woman in that town has been carried to Houston for safe-keeping, mob violence being feared. The evidence against the negro is mighty strong.

A traveler who has arrived in New York from Africa announces that the cannibals among whom he lived are "the most splendid gentlemen in the world." He says the men eat human flesh but the women do not and that the cannibals are intensely religious in their way.

It is now definitely known that this government will neither aid the present alleged government of Mexico nor interfere with the affairs of the greasers in any way. This has been definitely settled by President Wilson and those who have hoped for armed intervention can be sure of disappointment.

The revolution in Venezuela has reached proportions that have caused serious concern. The former president of that country, who was ousted and banished has returned and is leading the revolution. He came to the United States some months ago, but was not allowed to remain, because it was known that he was planning a revolution for his country, with the hope of again securing the reins of government.

The Interstate Commerce Commission purposes the reduction of express rates to an extent that will reduce the express companies' revenues $26,000,000 per annum. The greatest reduction will be on larger shipments and long hauls. Express rates have been burdensome and unreasonable for years and it was hoped the parcel post would force a reduction of the rates, but the reduction was not sufficient to justify the government in allowing the express companies to operate without restrictions.

President Wilson has accepted the resignation of H. L. Wilson, United States ambassador to Mexico, and will send ex-Governor Lind of Minnesota to Mexico as his personal representative to learn of conditions there and look after American interests without recognizing the assassins' government. Ambassador Wilson is in bad with the great mass of American people for the manner in which he has conducted affairs at his post and for his fellowship with Huerta, the greaser assassin, who claims the presidency of that republic.

While Governor Cruce of Oklahoma was taking a few days vacation the lieutenant governor took advantage of the opportunity to pardon several convicts, approve a school book contract that had been rejected by the governor and make other displays of his authority. The governor hurried back to the state and issued orders annulling the orders of the lieutenant governor. Just how the contest will end can not be foretold, but it is mighty likely the lieutenant governor will win out, for he was acting governor and had the same authority as the man who was elected chief executive of the state would have had under similar circumstances.

CONFEDERATE MONUMENT.

I was instructed by our camp, at its meeting last Saturday, to make a statement of our views with reference to the contemplated monument, to be published in the county papers.

We do not think that too much ought to be expended on it. This, however, we will leave with the citizens who have kindly undertaken the work for us. We prefer that it should not be too tall, but that there should be sufficient space near the base for the record of the names of all the members of our camp. We know that this is costly, but we want to pay for this part of the work ourselves, hence it was agreed that each member of the camp should make such contribution as would place his own record there. A large per cent of our camp has already passed over the river, but nearly all of these have friends or relatives here who we know would gladly do this work for them, and if there are any that can not be provided for in this way, the camp will do it, so that every name may be placed on the monument. We want this to commemorate the private soldier, so we recommend that the rank be left off and that we just give the name, company and regiment to which the comrade belonged.

Our camp book with the roll was burned in the old court house, so it will be hard for us to get up all of these names and, hence, we ask the entire citizenship of this county to assist us in this work. If you know the name of any person who at any time belonged to our camp and whom you think we may have forgotten, send it in to our adjutant, L. G. Blackburn with the letter of his company, number of his regiment and we will see that it is attended to.

Besides this special work, we are going to contribute all we can to the general fund. We would like for the work to be done by November next and are making our contributions payable at that time. We shall not claim, as we know we shall not deserve the honor of building this monument. We want that bestowed upon our friends upon whom we know the burden will fall, and we want them to make such record on it as will set forth this fact.

And now, to us and to all who are friendly to this move: Let's make this prominent; think about it; talk about it; work at it. If you hear anything or know anything that will contribute to its advancement, come to the meeting of our camp, tell us about it and let us rejoice together over its early completion.

Yours in memory of many dead and a few living.

D. I. HARALSON.

HAVE YOU PLACE FOR A WORTHY STUDENT—BOY OR GIRL?

There are several worthy, aspiring boys and girls in the rural districts of Mills county who are anxious to attend school at Goldthwaite next session, but have not money enough to pay full board and tuition charges. If you are so situated that you can take a boy or a girl and give employment about the place to help pay board, it would be a most commendable assistance for you to do so. An effort on your part to provide such a place would prove a great blessing for some young life that would, in turn, make the world better because you did it. If you can assist in this way, please let us know and we will see what can be done.

Very respectfully,
 S. H. ALLEN.

WHEN YOUR LIVER GOES WRONG

Nearly Everybody Needs a Liver Stimulant at One Time or Another.

Nearly everybody now and then is annoyed with a sluggish, lazy liver or by constipation or by biliousness.

It is for this reason that Dodson's Liver Tone is such a good medicine to keep always in the house.

Either children or grown-ups can take Dodson's Liver Tone without bad after-effects and without restriction of habit or diet. It is a vegetable liquid with a pleasant taste, but a reliever of constipation and liver troubles, and entirely takes the place of calomel.

R. E. Clements guarantees every bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone they sell. It costs 50 cents per bottle and if you are not satisfied that it is worth the money, they will hand your half dollar back with a smile.

Don't be fooled by preparations imitating the claims of Dodson's Liver Tone. Just remember R. E. Clements will give you back your money if Dodson's Liver Tone fails you. That is a guarantee that guarantees. (Ad)

TRANSFER OF SCHOLASTICS.

By act of the last legislature, the scholastic age in Texas was extended from 17 years to 21 years. No provision was made, however, for enrolling those above 17 years of age. This fact has brought numerous inquiries as to the transfer of children between the ages of 17 and 21. The department of education of this state has instructed when any school district has received its apportionment of the state school fund, which apportionment will be determined by the number of children in that district between the ages of 7 and 17 years, then this sum will be pro rated to all the children in the district between the ages of 7 and 21 years. For instance, suppose the census enumerator reports 30 children in his district under 17 years, and that the state apportionment is seven dollars per child. This would give to that district 30 times seven dollars, or two hundred and ten dollars of state school money. Then suppose there are five children in that district over 17 and under 21 years old. That would mean that there are really 35 scholastics in the district, who would share equally the two hundred and ten dollars—each child getting one thirty-fifth of the two hundred and ten dollars, or six dollars. Then should any child under 21 years of age and above seven years be transferred to another district than his own, he would be entitled to have transferred for his benefit six dollars. The transfer of children above the age of 17 years may be made at any time of the year there may appear a need for it. Very respectfully,

S. H. ALLEN.

Ex-Officio, Supt. Mills county.

—If you intend to buy land be sure and demand an abstract of the title, so you may know its condition, as otherwise you may get a bad title.—E. B. ANDERSON, Abstractor.

BUYING OF STRANGERS.

There is a great advantage when you are making any kind of trade, of buying of someone who knows you and whom you know. The high stepping horse purchased of some stranger usually develops fatal tricks. Similarly there is a moral hazard in buying goods at a distant store, where you are not well acquainted with the merchant and his clerks.

When you make a purchase at some distant department store, or when you send away an order to a distant city by mail, the person who handles the purchase is absolutely a stranger. You are simply one item in the day's grist of work to be ground through the machine with hundreds of others. You can't get intelligent, thoughtful attention by such machine-like methods.

In buying near home, on the other hand, you know personally the people with whom you do business, or at least your face becomes familiar enough so that they recognize you as a regular customer. Both clerks and proprietors welcome you to their counters, and feel that you must be pleased at all hazards. Even if they wanted to misrepresent, which is most unusual, they would not dare do so. You are too close to their base of supplies, and you could do too much harm if unsatisfactory goods were worked off.

There must be a personal interest between seller and buyer to make purchases satisfactory. This personal interest can not be built up on the occasional transient buying of distant shopping trips, where salespeople offer the goods and in substance say, "You can take it or leave it."

Where a personal relation grows up between the customer and the near by stores, the salesman becomes more than a mere seller. He conceives that the regular customer must be regarded as a client who must be given good business advice about a purchase. Such help is of incalculable value to the public. You can only get it near home.—Exchange

Remarkable Cure of Dysentery.

"I was attacked with dysentery about July 15, and used the doctor's medicine and other remedies with no relief, only getting worse all the time. I was unable to do anything and my weight dropped from 145 to 125 pounds. I suffered for about two months when I was advised to use Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I used two bottles of it and it gave me permanent relief," writes B. W. Hill, of Snow Hill, N. C. For sale by R. E. Clements. (Advertisement.)

Work of putting the finishings on the interior of the court house is progressing very satisfactorily to the contractor and the officers expect to be given possession of the building about Sept. 1. When completed Mills county's court house will be the finest in this part of the state and the Eagle doubts if it can be duplicated for $100,000.

If you are buying land require the seller to furnish you an abstract of his title, so you may know you are getting a good title. If you contemplate selling your land, have an abstract thereto prepared first, so you will know what kind of title you can make to it, as the purchaser is almost sure to want to know. I have the only complete set of abstracts of the land titles of Mills county and will make your abstracts for a reasonable charge and will help you cure your titles if defective.—E. B. Anderson.

THE IRISH FARMER.

Lake Killarney, Ireland, July 21—The American Commission for the investigation of European Co-operative Agriculture, having completed its extensive tour of Europe, sailed from Queens town, a port near here, three days ago, on its homeward voyage. I have remained for several weeks further investigation. I shall enter no new fields of inquiry, for already we have covered too wide a field for the time allotted. I wish to go back into the territory to go over and check up some of the evidence given us. In Ireland I shall confer with Sir Horace Plunkett, president of the Irish Agricultural Organization Society, and Mr. Thomas P. Gill, of the department of Agriculture. These gentlemen were leading members of an investigating committee similar to the American commission, which a few years ago visited all the countries just visited by the American Commission. That commission had the advantage of being well acquainted with political, industrial and social conditions in Europe and spent much time in investigation.

These two gentlemen are still engaged in the agricultural organization and development of Ireland and have kept close watch upon agricultural progress in all Europe. I shall spend tomorrow and next day with them and expect to get much valuable information by these conferences. I shall then return to London and confer with Mr. Wolf and Mr. Cahill of that city. Mr. Wolf has spent 20 years studying agricultural development in Europe, has written several volumes on various phases of the subject, and is a recognized authority on co-operative agriculture throughout Europe. Mr. Cahill last year completed the most thorough investigation into Germany's agricultural bank and credit system ever made and his report to the English government has just been published.

I shall then return to the continent of Europe and confer with various non-official persons, such as teachers and farmers, and get their version on conditions. I feel that when I have done this I shall be as prepared to make a final report as is possible for me to become, the subjects which, as I understand them, embrace social, educational, industrial and political status of the agricultural people of Europe.

I have no thought of finding conditions different from the evidence given the commission or of being able to gather much additional information. I merely wish to know that I know that whatever report I shall subscribe is correct.

I have spent a week in Ireland and shall spend three days more. Not that Ireland has much to offer in the way of accomplishment, but to me conditions in Ireland are of much value. Her agricultural conditions are, in some respects, more like ours than any country we have visited. Irish people, like Texans, lean upon and look much for politics for remedies. Here landlordism has done its work and demonstrates what the end in Texas, where tenantry is on the increase, may become. Here every effort to organize the farmers terminated into politics and was opposed by middlemen, who took, it is claimed, about one-half of the value of the farmers' products in profits, victimizing both the producer and the consumer. Here Chambers of Commerce were finally won over to the cause of agriculture and gave and are still giving support to organizing agriculture. Here the farmers left the soil and flocked to the cities and public works, and the Irish lands grew up in meadows for the lack of laborers to cultivate them. Not because the fields would not yield, but because the market for farm products offered too small returns for the farmer. This, it is openly asserted, resulted from the unorganized Irish farmers being an easy prey to organized dealers. Here, under such conditions, the small farmer became discouraged, suspicious of his fellow man and almost unorganizable. Here there was poverty, inactivity and drunkenness. The little town of Killarney with 3500 population has 80 saloons, but I am told it is not so bad now as formerly. Indeed temperance societies are being organized everywhere. On a street in Dublin there stands a magnificent monument erected to Father Mathews I asked what this Father had done, and my guide replied that he had been a great temperance leader. In Dublin is located the largest brewery in the world, yet the temperance cause is gaining in that city. On the continent of Europe there are no saloons as we have them in America. Everybody drinks beer and wine, but mostly at meals, and I never saw one single case of drunkenness. The Irish temperament is very much like ours, and the problems of Irish agriculture are much like ours in Texas.

The lands of Ireland are better than the lands in Holland; the climate is better. Indeed, nowhere in Europe have I seen more favorable conditions for agriculture than in Ireland, yet nowhere in Europe is there such poverty, lack of enterprise and degradation of the agricultural classes as here in Ireland.

As I said, lands and climate are better in Ireland than in Holland, yet the Holland farmers are the most wealthy, while the Irish are the poorest in Europe, so far as I have seen. Why? The answer, in part, at least, is because the Holland farmers have owned the lands and are organized, while, until recently, the Irish farmers have been tenants and were unorganized. And again, because the Holland farmers looked to industry for relief, while the Irish have looked to politics.

But Ireland is being redeemed, thanks to the efforts of Sir Horace Plunkett and a score of other far-seeing patriotic Irishmen.

In 1896, through the efforts of Sir Horace, a Commission to study the agricultural methods of the people were sent to Denmark, Germany, Holland, Austria-Hungary, Switzerland, France and several other European nations. This committee did its work and made its report. Out of that report the best organized agricultural department was devised for Ireland. I think, of any country in the world. Sir Horace and Mr. Gill had studied our systems in the states. The Irish system now recognizes agriculture is one thing and merchandising is another.

I must reserve for another paper a detailed discussion of Irish agricultural redemption now in progress. Yet I may mention that the last report of the Irish Agricultural Organization Society shows 413 co-operative creameries, 170 agricultural societies, 19,505 members of agricultural credit societies, 3 co-operative bacon curing societies, poultry keepers and egg societies, flax societies and industrial societies.

An act by which Irish tenants may purchase their lands was enacted a dozen years ago. Under this bill the government purchases the land from the landlord and sells it to the tenant on 60 years time at 2 1/3 per cent interest per annum, and 330,000 Irish tenants have become owners of their homes.

There are winter schools for farmers, farmer boys and schools for training Irish girls in domestic science and household economics in every community in Ireland. There are one to four traveling teachers of agriculture in each county. These teachers correspond in their methods to those of our co-operative farm demonstration agents in Texas. And there are experienced and expert organizers in the field organizing farmers in every line of agriculture.

published in Mills County, to appear at the next regular term of the District Court of Mills County, to be held at the Court House thereof in Goldthwaite, Texas, on the first Monday in October, 1913, the same being the 6th day of October, 1913, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 14th day of April, A. D. 1913, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court No. 1318, wherein J. H. Burnett and O. C.
Weatherly are plaintiffs, and the above named persons and banking corporations, and unknown heirs, legal representatives, devisees and legatees of the above named persons, all deceased, are defendants.

Said petition alleging substantially as follows: That heretofore to wit:
On the 5th day of April, 1913, plaintiffs were and now are lawfully seized and possessed of the hereinafter described tract of land, holding the same in fee simple; that on the day and year last aforesaid, the defendants entered upon the said premises and ejected the plaintiffs therefrom, and unlawfully withhold from them
the possession thereof to their damage in the sum of One Thousand ($1000.00) Dollars; that the premises so entered upon and unlawfully withheld from the plaintiffs by the defendants is described substantially as follows: 26 labors of land lying and being situated in Mills County, and known as the Jesse Walker survey in Mills County, on the east bank of Colorado river, patented to the heirs of Jesse Walker as assignees, on February 4, 1837, and described by metes
and bounds as follows:

Beginning at a stake on the bank of the river the S-W corner of survey No. 60 for the N-W Cor. of this survey, from which a hackberry bears
N 41 E 20 vrs. and a pecan brs. S 69
W 5 vrs.; Thence down the river with its meanders as follows: S 20
E 260 vrs; S 15 E 300 vrs; E 440 vrs;
S 35 W 620 vrs; S 60 E 740 vrs; S
350 vrs; S 38 W 910 vrs. to the N-W Cor. of a 17 1-2 acre tract out of said survey recovered by J.H. Grant; thence E about 2443 vrs. to the N-E
Cor. of one 17 1-3 acre tract 50 vrs.
N of S line of this survey; thence S 50 vrs. to S line of this survey; thence E 8016 vrs. to original S-E
Cor. of this survey from which a
P. O. brs. N 23 1-2 W 30 vrs. a post oak brs. N 26 W 31 vrs. both marked "H"; thence N 2065 vrs. to S corner of a 22 5-6 acre tract conveyed by Geo. L. Porter to Mrs. S.
M. Carothers, August 11, 1904; thence in a northwesterly direction to the W corner of said 22 5-6 acre tract at a point 620 vrs. W of N-E corner of this survey and on N line thereof; thence W 10,836 vrs. to the place of beginning, and containing about 4573 acres of land.

And for further cause of action plaintiffs allege that they and those whose estate they have, claim to have good and perfect title to the above described land and premises now have and have had peaceable the land claimed and open, notorious and adverse possession of the same, using and enjoying the same by actual enclosure for a period of more than ten years after the defendants cause of action accrued and before the commencement of this suit.

Plaintiffs further allege that the exact nature, extent and character of the defendants claim to the above described land and premises is unknown to the plaintiffs.

Plaintiffs pray that the defendants be cited to answer this petition, and that upon trial hereof they have judgment against the defendants and each of them jointly and severally

UNITED STATES' GREAT PANAMA CANAL CELEBRATION WILL BE MARKET PLACE OF WORLD.

Texas Leads Union In Agricultural Production and Can Make Vast Exhibit of Its Wonderful Resources.

IN what measure and to how great an extent is the state of Texas to benefit from the opening of the Panama canal?

Figures and statistics will not suffice to tell at this date, because, apart from the inevitable beneficial results which must accrue to all countries blessed with a coast line bordering one of the extremities of the new waterway, the ultimate good that Texas will reap from the canal will be culled from the action taken by Texas herself.

Upon cotton Texas builds her main hope. She is the greatest producer of that necessity in the world. Her exports are largely to the orient and to the west coast of South America, where are the greatest consumers of cotton cloth. The Panama canal will bring those customers of Texas nearer by several days' time and by leagues of distance, thereby creating a quicker and more expeditious supply to a demand that is continually increasing. The rich corn and the full crops of wheat, the multifarious fruits and the ever widening supply of cattle which Texas is producing year by year—these, in addition to its command of the cotton industry, are commodities for which the Lone Star State will find new markets upon the opening of the Panama canal. The demand will be brought into closer touch with the supply. But how is Texas to secure that demand to herself?

She must find the opportunity that will present her products to the new markets and emphasize them before the old markets.

Such an opportunity will be provided by the Panama-Pacific International Exposition, which will be held at San Francisco in 1915.

This gigantic festival of commerce is by decree of the United States government the official celebration of the completion of the Panama canal. The exposition has a purpose which reaches even higher than a national assertion of a nation's success in establishing a means of revolutionizing the commerce of the world. The purpose of the Exposition is to bring the nations of the world together, that all may see what all have done in their industries and in their commercial enterprises, that one may compare with the other and so determine upon the best sellers and the best buyers.

To put the situation even more prosaically, the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is to be the shop window of the world in 1915. It is to be the general department store, the universal bazaar of a new era. And to that department store or bazaar every buyer and seller in the world will come to look upon the newest product, the most modern means of manufacturing the product into the salable article and to learn the reason why one thing is better than another and why one way is more advantageous to the benefit of the consumer, to the credit of the producer and to the welfare of the community.

Briefly, then, that is the boon that the Panama-Pacific Exposition offers to those who participate. It proposes to establish sounder trade between states, between countries and among the peoples of the world. The Exposition is a peace movement of the most definite compass. Its compass is the binding of nations, because commerce is the surest tie of friendship.

And the one tremendously moving principle of the Exposition is that the participants in this international festival shall reap its benefits practically for the mere asking. The space for exhibits is extensive, but is nevertheless limited. Those who come first are the first served. It is not a question of who pays the biggest price. It depends upon who grasps the opportunity most firmly. The race is to the swift. The battle is to the strong. If Texas runs Texas will win; if Texas strains and strives Texas will be the victor.

It costs nothing to win. There is no charge to the victor. Exhibit space is absolutely free to all exhibitors at the Panama-Pacific International Exposition. All the capital which has been put into the great Exposition and all the millions who will attend are at the disposal of the exhibitor, without any cost whatever to him, except the cost of transportation, installation and maintenance.

There are those who are in the race already—those who have caught the breeze of the opening of the Panama canal and understood the expression of that meaning in the Panama-Pacific International Exposition.

Many of the nations of Europe and China and Japan in the orient already have officially accepted the invitation of the president of the United States to take part in the United States celebration of the nation's grandest achievement. A more complete representation of the Latin-Americans in an Exposition has never before been made. Of the western countries which have realized that they will find markets at the Exposition are Bolivia, Chile, Costa Rica, Ecuador, Guatemala, Mexico, Nicaragua, Panama, Peru and Salvador. All of those countries will be at the Exposition, represented by exhibits of their resources, displayed in a manner that will impress and convince, assuring other countries of the world of their natural and industrial power.

Half the advantage of a good shop window is the manner in which the goods are set out. A well arranged store will always sell more than a store which is a jumble of effects thrown together in unmethodical profusion. America has determined that the universal department store of 1915 shall be the best looking store that has ever been opened to the world.

It is costing $80,000,000 to complete. California, chosen as manager of the store by national approval, has devoted $17,500,000 in hard cash to the equipment of the Exposition, and her total investment, when the appropriations of the counties are considered, will exceed the magnificent sum of $20,000,000. So that the Panama-Pacific International Exposition is not going to be an ordinary exposition. It celebrates an event which is very much above the ordinary. The opening of the canal is an event of supreme significance. The Exposition which celebrates the completion of the canal will be of such an extraordinary kind that it will fittingly express that tremendous significance.

San Francisco is making ready for the reception of the nations of the world which will visit the great bazaar in 1915. She has begun to build. The site of the Exposition at Harbor View, San Francisco, where the waters of the bay of San Francisco narrow down to the channel of the Golden Gate, is now taking shape rapidly. Giant structures of truly massive grandeur are being erected.

In all there are fourteen palaces of exhibits to be erected by the Exposition Company in the middle section of the World's Fair. The other two sections are to be occupied on the west by pavilions of foreign nations, of which twenty-four have accepted the invitation to participate, and on the east by an aggregation of amusement concessions which are to be of the most novel and entertaining kind.

The fourteen main exhibit palaces will house the displays of eleven departments, which have been classified into 136 groups, subdivided into 800 classes. The departments consist of the following: Fine Arts, Education, Social Economy, Liberal Arts, Manufactures and Varied Industries, Machinery, Transportation, Agriculture, Live Stock, Horticulture and Mines and Metallurgy.

Texas will find its particular appeal in the palaces of Manufactures and Varied Industries, Agriculture, Live Stock, Horticulture and Mines. In those palaces will be found the competitors of Texas in the industries there represented. All the great cotton growing states will have their exhibits to show to the world, while the countries which want cotton to manufacture into cloths and textures will visit those displays and choose their markets.

The palaces in which the displays will be arranged are of an unprecedented beauty, set in a picture which no previous Exposition has had for its natural surroundings. California's climate permits of floral extravagance if there ever could be such a joy as a superfluity of charm. The Exposition will be a garden in which the efforts of man will stand among the results of nature's own working.

America is the hostess of the world in 1915, and she wants to see that her own household is properly represented at the international "at home." Not to be fully represented is to offer a slight to the guests who are going to be there in their best clothes.

Texas has much to show. She has much to smile for. She has much to give, but infinitely more to receive. And she receives with no outlay whatever.

Or danger of worse kidney trouble. Mrs. Mary E. Bourland, 1513 First St., Brownwood, Texas, says: "About four years ago while doing my household work, I was suddenly seized with severe pains in my back which laid me up for two days. Two white men were murdered and robbed and their bodies placed upon the railroad track near Paris Thursday night. Negroes are charged with committing the crime.

The breach between Governor Colquitt and the legislature seems to be widening and indications are that very little will be accomplished by the special session.

President Wilson has been notified by the Mexican in charge of the government affairs of Mexico that his personal representative, ex-Governor Lind, will not be welcome in that country unless he comes as a regular accredited ambassador and gives assurance that the United States has formally recognized the Huerta administration.

The "slit skirt" appeared in El Paso this week and created a considerable sensation. The woman wearing the skirt, which was split almost to the waistline, wore flesh colored stockings and the crowd of onlookers created quite a commotion. The police authorities consulted the city attorney and were informed that there was no ordinance against the wearing of slit skirts in El Paso.

Two negroes were hanged in Fort Worth Tuesday for the murder of a white man in that city several months ago. They attempted to rob the man and when he called for help they killed him.
