Sir Garnet Wolsley, with the authority of the Khediye, issued a proclama-tion to the people of Egypt representing the sole object of the British to be to restore the authority of the Khedive. It says all parties who are inhabitants will be kindly treated, mosques will be respected, and all supplies paid for. Gen. Wolsley adds, he will be glad to receive all chiefs who are disposed to assist in suppressing the rebellion. It is stated in Turkish circles that the hesitation to issue a proclamation against Arabi Pasha is owing to the fact that a telegram was received from him expressing his readiness to submit to the authority of the Caliph, but stating that he could not leave his soldiers without a head until the arrival of the Turkish troops in Egypt, when he would instantly hand over his command to the Turkish General.

Two decrees were promulgated at Alexandria the 15th-one authorizing the British Admiral and commander of the force to occupy such points on the Suez isthmus as they consider useful for military operation against the rebels, and inviting the Egyptian authorities to acquaint the inhabitants, particularly the canal employes, with the decree. #### The Pennsylvania Outlook.

In 1857 the people of Pennsylvania elected Willian F. Packer, a Democrat, to the office of Governor. In 1882 a able to discover it, though the search is party which has not had control of the getting warmer than even this crocodil-State Administration since the year first named will probably return to power and elect Robert E. Pattison to the highest executive-office of the Commonwealth. A quarter of a century under Republican rule has effected the result which might have been expected. At the outset it was believed that the Republican party was based upon eternal justice. Its leaders, while not at all su-perior to the Democratic chieftains in ability or honesty, were thought to have more liberal views on current issues; were regarded as fit men to guide a loyal people in a great crisis, and they were accordingly placed at the front. The emergencies of that day are not those of the present. "The glory has departed from Israel," and the once united and everywhere victorious party which, from the Northern standpoint, upheld the dignity of the Republic, is hastening to its

It has now become nothing more than a machine; it has divided into numerous factions, each of which is impelled by base and selfish motives; its campaigns have become, not the assertion of principle, but mere struggles for the spoils of office. Henceforth the people of the Keystone State will have no sympathy with it. Republicanism, as a partisan watchword, is dead in Pennsylvania.

It is a grand vindication of the raison d'etre of the Democratic party, that it has so long maintained its organization and held the masses within its ranks, while unable to reward its adherents with office. The course of a political party, once it is dethroned from power, s generally a downward one. Few men have the courage to yearly stand up that they may be knocked down. Only those who are animated by an overmastering desire for the public good. are capable of sacrificing social standing, personal friendships and business interests.

Contrast the standing of the Demo-cratic party in the North with that of the Republican party in the South. The latter, placed in control by the National Administration, had every imaginable opportunity to propagate its theories and to change former enemies into earnest part sans. Reinforced and supported, as it was, by the men who conrolled the Government it might, by very few concessions and kindnesses, have intrenched itself firmly in the control of the Southern States. But what was its course? Just as in the North, its Administrations were so corrupt, their irregularities so shameless, that all good men took part in the revolt against as have been presented in these three States, with the earnest, enthusiastic work which it is capable of doing, the Democratic party may sweep State after State and early in the future again se-cure control of the National Govern-

Accounting for Robeson.

Certain philosophers have held that the souls of men after leaving their bodies pass into the bodies of animals, and, disclaiming any arbitrary basis for this belief, they support it by the fact that there frequently seems to be a remarkable correspondence of the traits of character in certain men and certain animals. But if their theory is correct, is it not reasonable to suppose that the current of metamorphosis might, under certain conditions, flow toward the man as well as from him, and that he might acquire qualities resembling strongly those which distinguish various genera of animals on a lower plane than that occupied by man? Assuming that this may be so, we are advanced a stage in the problem of accounting for Robeson. His attributes are essentially crocodilean. That he belongs to the reptilian family in politics has long been evident to the most indifferent observer. That he is pachydermatous must also be acknowledged by any one who has made a study of his nature. But he is not allied to the elephant, the rhinoceros or the hippopotamus in this respect. He is far more scaly than any of them. Smite him anywhere upon his moral cuticle, even with the cudgel of most damaging facts, and he will turn with as evil, but unmoved a smile as that which illumines the countenance of a denizen of the Nile when his hide has been tickled with a bullet. Like him, too, he is sly, treacherous and greedy, amphibious in his knavery and equally de citful in his expression of emotion, the emotion of selfishness being the only one he ever experienced. How he ever found lodgment in this country is more than we can tell, and yet he seems to revel in the overflow of the national stream of wealth, or he loves to bask in the coze and slime of the stagnant lagoons that catch such side currents as break banks when the straining volume passes through the regular channel. We might be equally at a loss to account for the ascendence that he has attained in politics and the deference that is paid to a character like his by his party, but we believe the Egyptians used to keep crocodiles in ther temples, where they were fed by the priests and ornamented with gold and precious stones, venerated while living and embalmed and buried with grea ceremony after death. This is the kind of era odille Robeson has striven to be, and he has attained a fair measure be, and he has attained a fair measure of the compact of the rotten bass-wood that you use to make the rotten bass-wood that you use the rotten bass-wood that you use the rotten bass-wood the rotten bass-wood that you use the rotten bass-wood the of success, even to electing his attendant | "purse," lorsage viles The Since Temperance Union tune pince! and yet every offers, cordially invited. A Sufficient Issue. The Democratic party is sometimes described by its enemies as a party in search of an issue. If that description was ever accurate, the enemies of the Democratic party have now rendered it inapplicable. The issue of the next campaign, and of the next, and of the next, has been supplied by the Republican leaders in Congress. Kelley and Kasson and Keiter and Robeson and Reed and Hiscock by mere folly and mere jobbery have done more to show the country that a change in the political control is absolutely necessary than could have been done by the wisdom and the integrity of any equal number of Democratic leaders.

Colonel Conkling put the case in a nut-shell in the interesting interview reported in yesterday's World. He said that nothing was needed to secure the success of the Democratic party except that it should be "Democratic in principles and practice as well as in name." Colonel Conkling, though a Democrat for ten years past, is a representative of a large and increasing number of men who would be very glad to abandon the Republican party if the Democratic party will let them. To the Republicans, being the party in possession, no "issue" is necessary. It is the party that seeks to turn them out which must affirmatively show cause why they should be turned out. The Republicans have the control of the Federal offices, which they are using with an unscrupulousness beyond ail precedent to add to the corruption fund they are otherwise amassing, and they have a complete and efficient organ-ization, besides the "nine points of the law" inherent in possession. It is true they have nothing to say for themselves. Their Congress is openly managed with the purpose of preventing a reduction of taxation by making away with the sur-plus their monstrous taxes have produced. They are spending at the spigot in order that they may not be compelled to save at the bung. So long as they can empty the Treasury as fast as they can fill it, they have no fear that they will be compelled really to abate tax-ation. And if the producers of the country can be bribed with a small share of their own money, in the form of "liberal appropriations," not only will Robeson be rich and Reed be rich and Keifer be rich, but the Republican party will remain in power until people have had a chance to forget how Reed pect is to get more money and keep out the lady who made of jail. This seems to be the programme of founded, it will be seen, upon what we believe to be the erroneous idea that the people of this country will stand anything from the Republican party. They have stood a great deal, and if the Republican leaders would steal in moderation and with some pretense of deference to public decency, the programme might be carried through. But when the country is confronted with a Pension bill of one hundred millions, rushed through under a suspension of the rules, two-thirds of it admittedly to be bestowed upon impostors and claim agents; with a River and Harbor bill, appropriating eighteen millions and a half, two-thirds for jobs; with appropriations for public buildings, mostly needless and all extravagant, footing up ten or fifteen millions more; with Robeson' Naval bill, of which Robeson's advocacy is accepted everywhere as an unmistakable badge of fraud, and with the Northern Pacific job, a clear plunder of the Treasury at the lowest estimate of sixteen millions over and above the whole cost of the road, protected even from discussion by the whitewashing report of Reed and the outrageous ruling of Robeson, the country needs no further evidence that the recognized leaders of the Republican party belong distinctly to the criminal classes. The "issue whether a gang of public plunderers shall be deprived of an opportunity to steal any more public money is one which the public plunderers have themselves presented to the country and to the Democratic party. It is an issue upon which it is an insult to the country to suppose that its decision can be doubtful. The plunderers themselves think, as we have said, that they can bribe the own-the corruptionists in Congress. It is ers not to prosecute with a part of the swag distributed in liberal appropriations. They certainly cannot do this if the Democratic party simply accepts the issue they have raised and puts properly before the country, so that every voter in the land is made aware before the Congressional elections come on what the Republican party has done to entitle itself to the control of Congress for another term. Opposition to public plunder on a scale which makes Tweed's thefts seem mere pilfering is enough of a party platform for such a time as this. And happily the Democratic party need only point to the record of the last House of Representa-tives which it controlled to show that in driving out a House of Representatives which accepts the leadership of audacious, notorious and all but avowed public plunderers the people will be at least sure of not putting a band of brig-ands in control of the Treasury. -N. TATTLER. THOSE RESOLUTIONS. COTTONWOOD FALLS, KAS

August 15, 1882. To the Editor of the Courant:

I feel like noticing the resolutions passed by the Republican party of this county, at their convention held on the 5th instant, and notice some of their consistencies. It is so amusing to read them and compare their resolves with their work, that one must needs laugh when reading them, or shed tears of pity when he thirks of the masses who are gulled by them. I would take up each one seperhas changed its name to the Demo. ately; but as I wish to notice the first resolution at some future time, cially, at the picnic recently held, I only say of it, that in the Chicago public domain ruthlessly torn from ever purchases the basket must given to monopolies; but more anon found within. KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE. The most successful remedy ever discovered, as it is certain in its effects and does not blister. READ PROOF BELOW.

From the Oneota Press, N. Y Onconta, New York Jan. 6, 1861. Eurly last summer Messrs. B J Kendall & Co., of Enosburg Falls, Vt., made a contract with the publishers of the Press for a half column advertisement for one year, setting forth the meits of Kendall's Spavin Cure. At the same time we secured from the firm a quantity of books, entitled Dr Kendall's Freatise on the Horse and his Diseases, which we are giving to advance paying subscriters to the Press. as About the time the advetisement first ap-peared in this paper Mr P G Schermerhorn, who resides near Coller's, had a spavined horse; he read the advertisement and con-cluded to test the efficacy of the remedy. Kendall's Spavin Cure Is sure in its effects, mild in its action as it does not blister, yet it is penetrating and powerful to reach every deep seited pain or remove any bony growth or other en-largements, such as spavins, splints, curbs. calous, sprains, swelling and any lameness for human, fowl and animal flesh, was first prepared and introduced by Dr. Geo. W. Merchant, in Lockport, N. Y., U. S. A., 1838, since which time it has steadily grown in public favor, and is now ack nowledged and admitted by the trade to be the standard iniment of the country. When we make this announcement we do so without fear of contradiction, notwithstanding we are aware there are many who are more or less prejudiced against proprietary remedies especially on account of the many humbugs on the market; however, we are pleased to state that such prejudice does not exist against GAHGLING OLL. exist against GARGLING Oll. We do not claim wonders or miracles for our liniment, but we do claim it is without an equal. It is put up in bottles of three sizes, and all we ask is that you give it a fair trial, remembering that the Oil put up with white wrapper (small) is for human and fowl flesh, and that with yellow wrapper (three sizes) for animal flesh. Try a bottle.

As these cuts indicate, the Oil is used successfully for all diseases of the human, fowl and animal flesh. Shake well before using.

Cannot be Disputed. Cannot be Disputed.

One of the principal reasons of the wonderful success of Merchant's Gargling Oil is that it is manufactured strictly on honor. Its proprietors do not, as is the case with too many, after making for their medicine a name, diminish its curative properties by using inferior compounds, but use the very best goods to be bought in the market, regardless of cost. For half a century Merchant's Gargling Oil has been a synonym for honesty, and will continue to be so long as time endures. For sale by all respectable dealers throughout the United States and other countries.

Our testimonials date from 1833 to the present. Try Merchant's Gargling Oil Liniment for internal and external use, and tell your neighbor what good it has done bottle well corked.

Or CHILLS and FEVER.

The proprietor of this celebrated medicine justly claims for it a superiority over all remedies ever offered to the public for the SAFE, CERTAIN, SPEEDY and PERMANENT cure of Ague and Fever, or Chills and Fever, whether of short or long standing. He refers to the entire Western and Southern country to bear him testimony to the truth of the assertion that in no case whatever will it fail to cure if the directions are strictly followed and carried out. In a great many cases a single dose has been sufficient for a cure, and whole families have been cured by a single bottle, with a perfect restoration of the general health. It is, however, prudent, and in every case more certain to cure, if its use is continued in smaller doses for a week or two after the disease has been checked, more especially in difficult and will not require any aid to keep the bowels in good order. Should the patient, however, require a cathartic medicine, after having taken hree or four doses of the Tonic, a single dose of BULL'S VEGETABLE FAMILY PILLS

DARING ROBBERY.

The First National Bank of Kewanee, Ill. Robbed of $18,000 by Two Men-The Cashler and a Lady Assistant Beaten Insensible and Locked in the Vault.

KEWANEE, Ill., August 14. Two men called at the First National Bank during this afternoon, and asked permission to leave a sachel for a while. About six Miss Palmer were counting up, they knocked at the door, asking to get the sachel. Miss Palmer opened the door, when one of them grabbed her by the neck and choked her almost insensible. The other man rushed by her toward the vault, where Pratt was standing, knocking him insensible with a revolver. after which both employes were forced into the vault and locked up. The robbers then taking about $18,000, one-fourth of it being in gold, decamped. Mr. Pratt, after working ar hour, by the aid of a ten-cent piece he had in his pocket, loosened the screws in the combination, and broke the lock and released himself and Miss Palmer.

of the robbers is described as being about six feet tall, slim, dark complexioned. low, square jaw, and had on a stiff hat and a long linen duster; his appearance was that of a Jew. The other apparently is five feet high, with a red face, blue clothes with brass or The large flouring mill of Bliss & Woods, at pearl buttons, and a slouch hat. He had no beard. He carried a worn leather sachel. Parties are scouring the country in every direction, and great excitement prevails. For coolness, this robbery is unequaled in this section of the country.

[Special to Chicago Tribune.]

KEWANEE, August 15. Year correspondent arrived here, the scene of last night's daring bank robbery, at an early hour this morning, and has, by the con-nected version of all the actors save the two principal ones, gathered the correct details of ciousness any of the works done by the James or Younger brothers, and it would seem as if the veritable spirit of Jesse had materialized and returned. President C. C. Blish, of the Kewanee National Bank, occupied an hour this afternoon in explaining how the work was done. The bank has a capital of $75,000. a surplus of $30,000, and undivided profits of $5,000. The deposits run from $150,000 to $200. 000. Yesterday there was $170,000 in the vaults in gold, silver, greenbacks, bonds, and other collaterals. It has been the custom to do business with farmers after banking hours-four o'clock p. m .- and frequently they would call has a very strong vault of brick, five by nine feet, and seven and one-half feet in height. Within the vault is a common safe in which the more precious packages are kept. The Cashier of the bank, C. S. Wentworth, has been in St. Paul for several days, and in his place were the assistant, a young man named J. J. Pratt, and the book-keeper, Miss Charity Palmer, a young lady sixteen years of age. She has been in the bank three years, and is called an expert senger train had just pulled into the depot book-keeper. The young lady was found at her home at noon, confined to her couch, but she was free to recite her story of the crime as best she could. She was badly bruised, there being two severe scars on her forehead, while her face was scratched and bruised shockingly. Miss Palmer said: "After I opened the door they rushed upon me grabbed my throat with his hand and pulled to $1,699,077.11. me along the floor through to the other room. I thought of shutting the door, and tried to do it, but I could not. He choked me and blinded my eyes, and tried to poke his fist down my throat. I could hear them whisper, but could not tell what they said, and then I don't re-member any more. When I came to I was inside the vault. Then I saw what the situation was. I had my handkerchief in my hand shoved down my throat."

Then the young lady told the Tribune corre freeing themselves, and how they finally got out. It was about six o'clock last evening when the work was done, or rather when it was commenced. The President had gone the Assistant-Cashier-Pratt-and Miss Palmer. re was a ran at the wind money, said to her: "Go to the door and see thing to do, in view of the custom alluded to above, and when it was remembered that during the afternoon two strangers had called and asked permission to leave a sachel, which was readily granted. To reach the front door Miss Palmer opened the door lead-ing into the Directors' room, and also the door out of it into the main room. She left both doors ajar. The very instant she opened the front door she was caught as she relates in her story. Mr. Pratt was in the vault when he first heard the noise, and sprang for the open door to the Directors' room, intending to close it; but, as he was in the act of doing so, a second robber met him with a revolver. He sensible. Then the fiends began pounding their two helpless victims. They had deliberately planned the work in all its details. They had provided themselves with a roll of strong bandages. With these the robbers gagged Mr. Pratt and Miss Palmer, and tied them hand and foot. Mr. Pratt was thrown into one cor-ner of the vault and Miss Palmer upon top of him. It was during this time of non-resistance that the bandits took their booty. They then locked the vault and left, going out of the front door in plain sight of twenty men not five rods away, with their $18,030 in a valise. They walked leisurely out of town. Mr. Pratt finally worked his hands loose and began to release his companion. Both were weak from the loss of blood, and nearly suffocated. this for a screw-driver, turned two screws in the combination-lock from the inside and got out. His recital of the struggle makes it apparent that it was only by accident the two persons got out alive. Mr. Pratt, upon reach-ing the window, gave the alarm, and help was at hand within sixty seconds. Posses were immediately organized numbering 175 men and the country searched all night. Up to four o'clock this evening the robbers were at large, although they had been closely pursued. All the shops, factories and stores have shut down to-day, and the fields for miles around are filled with boys and men, with everything possible and impossible in the shape of fire arms. The utmost excitement prevails, and lynching is as openly talked of as the daring robbery itself.

The perfection of a strengthening medicine consists in its leaving no unpleasant after effects. Whisky, ale, beer and other alcoholic beverages excite the brain and blood-vessels to unnatural activity and while the whirlpool of excitement lasts, all feeling of languor and distress is banished, but when the reaction comes, "the last state of that man is worse than the first." Invalid should trust more comes, "the last state of that man is worse than the first." Invalids should trust more to nature for their recovery and avoid the use of stimulants as altogether injurious. Be partial to a fruit and vegetable diet and choose such medicines as are strengthening to the whole general system. To this end no better remedies can be used than Yellow Dock, Sarsaparilla, Juniper, Iron, Buchu, Celery and Callsaya, each of which have separate and distinct virtue, but when blended in a single compound excel all other remedies in giving health, strength and vigor to every part of the body. Such a compound is Dr. Guysott's Yellow Dock and Sarsaparilla; its harmonious action on the blood, lungs, liver, kidneys and muscular system is astonishing.

THE KANSAS OFTY EXPOSITION.

EMARKABLE ACTIVITY IN FAIR CIRCLES-EX ON THE 30TH OF SEPTEMBER. [From our Special Correspondent.]

KANSAS CITY, Mo., Aug. 17, 1882. DEAR EDITOR: Realizing the interest your readers all seem to manifest in being able to make a good showing to the general public this year of farm products, &c., and knowing full well that the advantages offered by the Kansas City Exposition are far superior to that of any other in the West, I thought that while here I would ascertain how the present Exposition was progressing. The wonderful strides of this city within the past year necessitated the sale of the old fair grounds, and new ones have here selected levated at the strides of this city within the past year necessitated the sale of the old fair grounds, and new ones have been selected, located at the corner of Nineteenth and Main streets, where hundreds of workmen are now engaged in completing the speed ring and erecting the amphitheater and the various buildings demanded by the larger number of exhibitors this year. Besides these I find that many large exhibitors have arranged to erect their own buildings. The admirable location of the grounds and the universal sympathy the citizens all seem to express are favorable indications of a grand success. A new feature (and a good one, I think) is the idea of exhibiting the fine arts and textile fabries in the new Emmons Block, a very large and elegant five-story building, located on the corner of Ninth and Delaware streets, which will be open to the public both day and night. Application for space and entries for the Speed Ring, Live Stock, etc., are taxing the manager's utmost ablity. A great number of special premiums, outside of the regular premium list, are being offered by enterprising citizens, which are intended to make this exposition more novel and amusing than any of its predecesors. The ladies of the West citizens, which are intended to make this exposition more novel and amusing than any of its predeces-ors. The ladies of the West will have a chance to show their ski l in racing, riding and driving; in fact, I believe there will be so many novel features introduced this season that each day will be equally interesting as the "big day" of former years. The people here have all done so well that they feel like "booming," not only this city, but the entire West; and when Kansas City puts her shoulder to the wheel for a "boom's she will accomplish her object if she has to stir up the whole world in the attempt. The business men, the thea ers, the railroads and all classes are preparing extra attractions for this occasion, thus making it just the time for our people to visit Kansas City. So look out for a big sensation between the 25th and 30th of September next.
