THRIFT STAMPS
 The biggest business house in the world is the United States unlimited, and like other business houses, this concern is now announcing a series of special sales days. Every Tuesday is the day fixed in the cities and every Wednesday in rural districts. Unlike ordinary mercantile concerns, however, the United States, unlimited is not selling its wares at reduced prices on these days, but simply making an extra effort to secure sales on the designated dates. One of the articles sold is at the price which never varies—the twenty-five cent Thrift Stamp. The other article, War Savings Stamp is cheaper this month than it will ever be again. No extra selling forces will be employed on these days, which have been designated as "Special W. S. S. Days," but each city mail carrier will be requested to take a liberal supply of War Savings Stamps and Thrift Stamps and to make a special effort to get as many of his patrons as possible to take a certain amount each Tuesday and the rural carriers will be asked to do the same thing each Wednesday. Money cannot be invested in a wiser way than by putting it in War Savings Stamps. It is thus made to work and piles up interest as regular as the first of the month comes. Should the investor need his money he can always get it back, with accrued interest, on ten days' notice to the postmaster. Place a regular order with your mail carrier for a certain amount of War Savings Stamps to be delivered either on Tuesdays or Wednesdays. Mrs. C. H. Evans and children went to San Angelo Tuesday for a visit to her sister, Mrs. R. W. Barr, and family.

H. C. Cobb returned to his home in Mullin Saturday, after spending a few days here at the reunion. Quite a few Mills county people attended the San Saba fair this week and all report it good and well attended. B. H. Lones and little son were here from the bayou country Tuesday and made the Eagle an appreciated visit. F. Leineweber and D. Y. Childers were two of Mullin's leading citizens who looked after business in this city the early part of the week. Mrs. Darby and children returned to their home at Thornedale Thursday, after a visit to her brother, D. L. Lanford, and family in this city. Mrs. Hall and children left for their home in Normangee Monday, after a visit to her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. D. D. Berry, and other relatives. There was an ice famine in this city Saturday and Sunday and as a result the telephone and express companies did a rushing business, besides, a number of citizens made automobile trips to nearby towns for ice. A carload came in Sunday night, however, and the inconvenience was soon forgotten. W. T. Little, manager of the Hamilton house of Little Dry Goods company, with Mrs. Little and their small sons, Charles and Garth, left last Saturday for Goldthwaite where the tiny men remained with relatives while Mr. and Mrs. Little joined buyers from the other houses of the firm for a visit to the large wholesale centers of the country. Mr. Little expected to go to New York City and later to Chicago and St. Louis. Mrs. Little will assist him by making selections of ladies dresses, coats, suits and in buying for the notion department.—Hamilton Record.

BETTER SAVE
 After the Revolution, when questions of national finance were uppermost in the minds of all who desired the prosperity and success of the new government, Benjamin Franklin remarked: "A little increase in industry in every American, male and female, with a little diminution of luxury, would produce a sum far superior to all we can hope to beg or borrow from all our friends in Europe." This observation of Franklin has its application to the building of a home. A little more industry, a little denial of luxuries and one might add, a little foresight will combine to make home ownership a reality. One of the strongest inducements to the habit of saving is having in mind all the time a definite purpose; and of all the definite purposes one might have, none is economically and none more promotive of happiness and security than building a home. Many a family struggles throughout its whole history without discovering that all its troubles are due to the single fact that its members will not so limit their expenditures as to leave a safe margin between income and outgo. While present necessity does not compel them to do so, they lack the foresight to see that future necessity that age and infirmity will bring upon them. The man who today saves for buying a home does so because he can look a little farther into the future than the man who goes on spending all his earnings while living in a rented house and leaves the "future to take care of itself." He lacks the imagination to project himself into the future ten, fifteen or twenty years, to a period of his life when ownership of a home would afford him the peace and comfort that no other possession can give.

A. Nieman was one of the prosperous farmers of Priddy community who had business in the metropolis the first of the week. Mrs. S. F. Eubanks returned to her home in Cleburne the first of the week, after a visit to her sister, Mrs. J. D. McKenzie, east of town. Mrs. G. G. Clements and children returned to their home in Houston Wednesday, after a visit to relatives and friends in Big Valley and this city. Mrs. C. E. Strickland and daughters returned Saturday morning from a visit to relatives in California. Her son Judson remained in the Golden state, where he has employment at a good salary. Roach Fox arrived at home Monday evening from overseas service and was heartily welcomed by his host of friends. He spent several months on the front and tells some very interesting experiences. We are all glad to have him back at home again. Robert McKinley, who for the past several years has had charge of the shoe department in the large department house of McKinley Brothers & Jones in Hamilton, moved the latter part of last week with his family to Goldthwaite where he will hold a responsible position with the same firm. He is a fine salesman and has mastered the business thoroughly and besides this Mr. McKinley is one of the best young men in the world, genial in manner, upright and honorable and progressive. Mrs. McKinley is a highly accomplished, charming young woman and Hamilton people regret to surrender them and their lovely baby girl to Goldthwaite, still since they are gone we all wish for them continued happiness and good fortune.—Hamilton Record.

TRAINING CHILDREN

By Miss Harriet F. Carpenter.
 Woman's power to nurture the good has been a theme for the poets of all times. Dante saw Beatrice but once, yet it was she who sent him on his way singing the greatest song of Christendom —the anthem of redemption from pride and selfishness. Wagner's Brunnehilde suffered her goddess nature to give place to the lowly limitations of human weakness that she might save the heroic Walsungs. Goethe's phrase "the eternally womanly, leading men upward and on" is familiar to all.

Froebel also not only pointed out the spiritual nature of womanhood, but upon it he built his world of hope for the advancement of humanity. In the nurture power of woman he sees the means of solving the moral problems of the race; of strengthening its spiritual life. It is his aim to lift motherhood to its highest plane, to see that chance plays a comparatively small part in the educative processes of humanity—that certainty encompasses the life of the children. He sounds the call to women for a higher unselfishness, courage and insight. Because of their universal love for things weak and helpless, he claims that all women are called into the fostering care of children, whether their own or others.

"I wish I belonged somewhere," pouted the hotel-bred child of wealth and luxury, yearning for a real home and a real mother. To cure his ennui his physical mother sent him to a kindergarten around the corner. "I'd like to stay here," he said to the kindergartner one day at parting, "all the time —eat and sleep—all day and all night—I wish you were my mother!" he finished in a climax of aspiration. He evidently felt the lack of real mothering in his own mother.

No child, however, rich or poor, should be deprived of the spiritual influence of real motherhood, by means of which alone his powers may be developed and without which lives have been often blighted.

What fitter task could Froebel realize for woman than for her to follow the path which she has more or less instinctively chosen throughout the ages? Yet it is with some fear and much instruction that he urges her on her way. Not lightly does he send her forth, but weighted with the greatest burden of responsibility that woman has ever borne. Why not trust her to her work uninstructed, unconscious of the part she is playing? Her sympathy is undoubtedly great and spontaneous. But sympathy is not enough to insure wise discipline of the unruly tendencies of the human child. Misguided, sympathy fosters dependence and encourages weakness and self-indulgence. Untrained, it deals but vaguely with the practical problems of life. Moreover, even in woman sympathy is often undeveloped. "Did your father whip you as I wrote him?" asked a cross-looking teacher of a small cringing Italian in the second year of public school. The same child came under observation in a fourth-year class some time later. He was listening with rapt attention to the immortal story of the "King's Children," told by a normal school practice student. The comment, "How alive Pedro is to the story," brought out the irritable response from the teacher in charge "Oh, yes, he'll listen to stories, because he likes them, but he is a bad boy." Feeling that there must be something worth finding behind a face lit with enthusiasm for a tale so noble, the observer visited the home (so called) of the unfortunate Pedro; a drunken father and mother, a girl of 12 earning the living, the boy hungry for food and comradeship—it was all comprehensible in a moment. Pedro was transferred to an instructor possessing insight and spiritual power.
 Like a dog he followed her everywhere, until she transferred his love into acts of service and he became the most useful member of the class.

Even when the intentions are of the best many are the pitfalls that surround the unenlightened experimentalist. "I have to whip him," a father gravely asserted of his sensitive, highly imaginative boy, "because then he stops doing the things. He does something else, though," he added lamely, feeling, but not understanding, that he was not reaching the cause, but only the particular act. Had the child been less strong and buoyant in temperament he might, no doubt, have crushed him into "submission"; as it was, he only confused him, whereas firm but sympathetic comradeship might have cleared his path and helped him on to the higher manhood of which he was capable.

Representatives of the railroad brotherhoods are not, according to the Washington dispatches, in favor of the plan proposed by Mr. Hines and endorsed by the President for disposing of wage controversies. Although it is not stated to be so, their objection is probably negative rather than affirmative; that is, they are opposed to it because it is based on the assumption of private ownership and operation, whereas the employes favor government ownership and operation. They made known their desire for government ownership and operation very shortly after the government assumed control of the railroads, and the alacrity with which the President and congress have responded to their demands must have only made them more eager to force the country into adopting that policy. That the country would not do it if left unconstrained has been made evident. It would be surprising if the employes did not use the crisis they have brought about to coerce the country into adopting a policy that is repugnant to its desire and judgment. But if this is the purpose of the employes, they will not accomplish it. Those things which have made the government ownership so desirable to them, to most others loom big as a warning against the dangers of that policy.—Dallas News.

PROTECTION OF GRAIN

Several farmers protected themselves against loss to their growing grain by hail with a hail policy and many others wish they had taken the protection offered them, but waited too late.

Corn, cotton, cane, maize, etc., can be protected the same as small grain by a hail policy.

I now offer you protection against fire on your grain while standing in the field uncut, cut, shocked, stacked, sacked or stored in your granary anywhere on your farm, one policy covering in all these conditions.

Also tornado protection after grain is in granary or barn. The rates are very reasonable on this class of insurance.

I am also prepared to take care of your insurance needs in all respects, whether in city or country.

I can get bonds for those who have to give bonds of any kind.

Notary work is also done, and will appreciate your business.

Goldthwaite, Texas.

F. HARRIS DEAD

Mr. F. Harris, who was a citizen of this county for a number of years and served as city marshal of Goldthwaite some years ago died at his home in Carbon, Comanche county, Aug. 3. The following announcement by his wife was received this week. The bereaved ones can be sure of the sympathy of many friends in Mills county.

Carbon, Aug. 11, 1919.

With the permission of the kind editor I will write a few lines to our many friends in Goldthwaite and surrounding country. It is a sad message telling you of the death of Mr.
Harris. He was stricken with pneumonia on the fourth of July and after a hard fought battle with his wonderful strength, passed away the third day of August. In this very greatest hour of grief it is a pleasure to tell you that F. had made peace with the Giver of life and passed quietly into that haven of rest the Lord promised to those who put their trust in Him.

To our many friends and to the editor of this worthy paper I wish you all success.

Very respectfully,
MRS. F. HARRIS.

Frank Taylor, who holds a responsible position with a firm in Brownwood, spent Sunday with relatives and friends in this city.

As the editor has already given a very concise and satisfactory account of this reunion, it will look presumptuous in the writer going into details when he was there only one day. If the first two days were anything like the third it was a success from beginning to end. The speakers were well chosen and their speeches first class in every particular. We doubt if speakers could have been found anywhere who would have given more general satisfaction. We unhesitatingly say, "Those whose places it was to select speakers chose wisely." The great well behaved, sober, intelligent audience needs no further comments in proof of their appreciation of being well entertained when the good people of Goldthwaite are at the head and announce to the public that something worth while may be expected. The music, great dinner, friendly greetings, presence of our old Confederate veterans with many well groomed, fine looking late war boys, the air ships and happy looking women all filled a place in making the occasion enjoyable and long to be remembered. It was our pleasure to make a number of new acquaintances and (to our surprise) from nearly every one of them some complimentary remarks about our random writings to the Eagle. We trust we will be able to hold our equilibrium and not let these kindly sayings increase the knot at the upper end of our neck so as to have to call for something larger than the usual No. 7 1/2 hat to cover same. If you middle-aged or older people see signs of danger please feel free to speak gently to the erring youth that he may not venture too far out into big headism. Any kindly warning will be appreciated and his loss may be your gain.

Now, Bro. Bob, you can see how easy it is to pull off a little puff to bring yourself into notice. Adv. paid, receipt of which is hereby acknowledged. As the preacher says, "Let me get back to my subject." It was very noticeable that when the speakers said anything about the modern fashions of women the old dads would wink, blink, cut their terbac and grin like summer possums. We admit it is getting close to grinning times, but are the old dads the ones to grin? It's like the preacher who takes advantage of the pulpit to air some things and rush out after services, fish for his plug of black mule or his old pipe and sing:

"The dearest idol I have known, Whate'er that idol be,
 Help me to keep it on the throne
 And other idols may go free."

The preacher who smokes or chews is not apt to say anything about the cigarette and its fearful effects on the lives of boys. We seldom hear a user of tobacco complain of the expense, but when children want 1-50th part of the amount to spend for wax, candy or ice cream, the old gentleman raises sand about their extravagance. Men often say, "I am going to turn over a new leaf" and they do, but they turn it in their own favor and the improvement is not very noticeable. Many fathers will never be satisfied or comforted this side of the grave. Let us still love and cherish mother, but let us give dad credit for being at least half human. A good example is the best teacher. Precepts are useless if contradicted by our daily life. What good can you accomplish by saying "amen" when the preacher speaks of the importance of religion in the home and then go home and raise a rough house the rest of the week?

If you fail to properly raise your colts and let them grow up wild, can you hope to make them answer your purposes as well as if you had begun training them when younger? Is the nature of the colt very different from that of your boy or girl? Religion lived in the home will go ten miles over that just lived in the church and when others beside the family are present your groans and ameps in the church will fall like leaden weights on the ears of that wife to whom you said so many mean, cutting things the week before or to those tender bright children that your inconsistency has made mountains of doubts, that doubtless other lives will have to remove, if ever removed.

It is marvelous strange how we can get wrapped up in self and let the enemy make believe that it is the other fellow who needs the straight edge laid along side of his life and the crooked places made straight. Physician, heal thyself, for the very thunderings of the gospel may be saying, "Thou art the man." We don't believe it a very far fetched conclusion that the teacher and the preacher sometimes try to teach and preach what they themselves fail to measure up to. Is not this truth applicable to many of us?
 H. C. COBB.

HARDLY STAND ALONE

Coming From Headache, Backache, and Weakness Relieved by Cardui, This Texas Lady.

Texas - Mrs. Minnie Phillips, writes: "Five years ago I was taken with a pain in my back. I was right under my shoulder blades. I would commence with an ache that would extend up into my left arm and down into my back. The pain would be so bad that I would have to take to bed, usually about three days. This way for three years, I was a mere skeleton and would hardly stand alone. I could not go anywhere and had to have someone to do my work for me. I suffered with a pain in my back and I could not do a thing. I just to do a thing. My life was a misery. My stomach got in an agony, caused from taking medicine. I suffered so much that I just about given up all hope of getting anything to help me.

My Birthday Almanac was in my yard. After reading it I decided to try Cardui. I was so thankful that I did, to improve when on the 15th. I am now a well feeling fine and the cure permanent for it has been. My awful bed health is a praise and rejoicing Cardui today. 5 78

DELIGHTFUL SOCIAL

The beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. D. L. Lanford was the scene of a merry gathering on last Monday evening, the occasion being a reception given the members of the Baptist Ladies Aid society and their husbands by Mrs. Lanford, the retiring president of the society. The guests were ushered into the dining room where delicious punch was served by the guest of honor, Mrs. M. A. Darby, of Thorndale, sister of Mr. Lanford. In the parlor a delightful program was rendered:

Piano duet - Vivian Campbell and Mildred Stephens.

Piano solo - Emily Anderson.

Chorus - "Bringing in the Sheaves." During the singing a harvest scene was drawn by Mrs. M. A. Darby, showing wonderful skill in rapid crayon illustrative work.

Reading - Mrs. J. M. Hicks.

Piano duet - Mesdames D. L. Lanford and Fred Martin.

Some lively contests were entered into during the evening, one of them being an old fashioned spelling match, using words from the Bible. Delicious cream and cake were served. The following guests were present: Mrs. M. A. Darby of Thorndale, Mrs. E. E. Skavlen of San Francisco, Mrs. Chas. Gardner of Killeen, Mrs. J. J. Paxton of South Mansfield, La., Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Atkinson, Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Clements, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Gartman, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Rudd, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Strickland, Mesdames J. M. Campbell, J. M. Hicks, and R. E. Thornell, Theo and Misses Bettie Lee and Fannie Jackson.

The merry making continued till a late hour, when a goodnight scene was drawn in rapid crayon work by Mrs. Darby to the accompaniment of a jolly ragtime melody by Mrs. Fred Martin. The guests departed declaring Mr. and Mrs. Lanford to be most charming entertainers.

A GUEST.

TRAVELING MAN'S EXPERIENCE

You may learn something from the following by W. H. Ireland, a traveling salesman of Louisville, Ky. "In the summer of 1888 I had a severe attack of cholera morbus. I gave the hotel porter fifty cents and told him to buy me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic and Diarrhoea Remedy and to take no substitute. I took a double dose of it according to the directions and went to sleep. At five o'clock the next morning I was called by my order and took a train for my next stopping place, a well man. (ad)

COLLEGE OF INDUSTRIAL ARTS

STATE COLLEGE FOR WOMEN

Denton, Texas

Next Session Opens Tuesday, September 16.

Denton, Texas, August 10.—The College of Industrial Arts at Denton, Texas, is the largest educational institution of first rank in Texas except one, which is co-educational, the largest college for women in the southwest and the third largest college for women in the United States. Its phenomenal growth and remarkable record are due to the fact that its courses of study represent in content and method the very best in the education of the young womanhood of this country. Their mastery of the courses of study gives intellectual discipline, culture and development of character and social and economic efficiency. There is no proper phase of the education of a young woman which is not adequately and generously provided for at the College of Industrial Arts. With a faculty of more than ninety (90) members, with twenty (20) buildings located on a beautiful campus of seventy-five (75) acres and with every modern convenience and comfort this great College is unquestionably better prepared to educate the young women of Texas than any other educational institution of the United States. Why should the young women of Texas attend colleges and universities in the North and the East, when the College of Industrial Arts offers a better and more wholesome environment, a more thorough, comprehensive and adaptable training, larger opportunities for growth and achievement, all for less money, nearer home? Parents, guardians and girls interested in what the College of Industrial Arts offers in the way of education and training to the girls of this country and who desire a catalogue, should write President F. M. Bralley, College of Industrial Arts, Denton, Texas.

Robinson, and the unknown heirs, legal representatives, legatees and devisees of Robinson Bulwer, Arthur J. Robinson and wife, Rebecca A. Robinson, all deceased, by making publication of this citation once in each week for four successive weeks previous to the return day hereof, in some newspaper published in your county, to appear at the next regular term of the district court of Mills county, to be held at the court house thereof, in the town of Goldthwaite, on the 22nd day of September, A. D. 1919, then and there to answer a petition filed in said court on the 12th day of August, A. D. 1919, in a suit numbered on the docket of said court No. 1882, wherein D. Y. Fox is plaintiff and Robinson Bulwer, Arthur J. Robinson and wife, Rebecca A. Robinson, and the unknown heirs, legal representatives, legatees and devisees of Robinson Bulwer, Arthur J. Robinson and wife, Rebecca A. Robinson, all deceased, are defendants, and said petition alleging this suit is brought as well to try title as for damages, and alleges substantially as follows:

Plaintiff alleges that on, to-wit: the 1st day of July, A. D. 1919, he was and now is lawfully seized and possessed of the tract of land herein-after described, holding the same in fee simple, and described as follows: 3 acres of land out of the S. E. one-fourth of sec. No. 20, H. T. & B. Ry. Co. survey in Mills county, Texas, patented to D. C. Ashley as assignee of W. C. Cowart by Pat. No. 207, Vol. 11, dated Nov. 8, 1890, and said 3 acres described as follows: Beginning at the N. E. cor. of a tract of land conveyed by D. C. Ashley to N. J. Campbell at a point 138 yds. N. of the S. E. cor. of the said Cowart survey; thence N. with the E. line of said survey 171 yds. to a st md for N. E. cor. of this tract, the same being at the S. E. cor. of a tract out of said survey owned by Arthur and Earl Parker; thence W. 106 yds. with the S. line of the Parker tract to the right of way of the G. C. & S. F. Ry. Co.; thence in a southerly direction with the E. line of the said N. J. Campbell tract; thence E. 69 yds. to the place of beginning, containing 3 acres of land, more or less, and that on the said date the defendants unlawfully entered upon said premises and ejected plaintiff therefrom to his damage in the sum of $500.00.

Plaintiff further alleges that he and those whose estate he has, claiming to have good and perfect title to the above described tract of land, now has and has had peaceable the land claimed, and open, notorious and adverse possession of the same, cultivating, using and enjoying the same, and by actual enclosure for a period of more than ten years after the defendants cause of action accrued, and before the commencement of this suit, and of this he is ready to verify.

Plaintiff further alleges that the exact nature and extent and character of the defendants claim to the above described tract of land is unknown to him.

Herein fail not, but have you before said court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Witness, Etta Keel, clerk of the district court of Mills county. Given under my hand and the seal of said court at office in Goldthwaite, this 12th day of August, A. D. 1919. (Seal) ETTA KEEL, Clerk, District Court, Mills County, Texas.

AN OLD FAULT FINDER

An irritable and fault finding disposition is often caused by indigestion. A man with good digestion and bowels that acts regularly is usually good natured. When troubled with indigestion or constipation take Chamberlain's Tablets. They strengthen the stomach and enable it to perform its functions naturally. They also cause a gentle movement of the bowels. (adv)

GOING! GOING! GONE.
Little by little that part of duration called time is rapidly moving on toward eternity, and somehow it is unavoidable for man to keep moving in that direction also. While we are told ample provisions have been made for the safety of all men, we are persuaded but few are making efforts to obtain that which secures this safety. Man's natural inclination is toward evil, and the evil forces being in the majority, it seems hard to overcome them and pull him away from their grasp. A little pull at the right time may prove wonderful later on. Why not make the little pull rather than wait for greater opportunity? It's often the start (though it may not offer much encouragement) that reveals to us our real selves and enables us to get broader visions of what is meant by the saying "Be a man; be a woman." Be frank, for frankness is the child of honesty and courage. Say just what you mean to do on every occasion and take it for granted that you mean to do just what is right. If a friend asks you a favor, you should grant it, if it is reasonable; if it is not tell him plainly why you can not. You will wrong him and yourself by equivocation of any kind. Never do wrong to make a friend or keep one; the man who requires such of you is dearly purchased and at a sacrifice. Deal kindly and firmly with all men and you will find it the policy which wears the best. Above all, do not appear to others what you are not.
Sunshine is contagious. Smiles are epidemic. One joyous nature will fill an auditorium with good cheer. Despondency is a poor debaucher. It can bring no argument that sunbeams will not penetrate.
Usually if we postpone a worry for a day or two it will fail to keep its appointment. Memories of what we learn through bitterness and sorrow may not always be held in regret. Some of us as we grow old become so oppressed by the care and sorrows of mature life that we quite forget the days of our youth. The pains and pleasures of childhood seem so trivial that we fail to realize that a child's sorrows are as keen and probably keener than anything we know in adult life. We forget the exquisite joy that a new toy gave us and the palpitating pleasures of a trip to town, the ecstatic delight of a day on a creek or in the woods. And we forget too the depth of anguish that came with each disappointment. On the whole, life to both young and old is made up of perplexities, disappointments, misgivings, doubts, and many other things calculated to make the way look rough and sometimes very dark. If we would magnify our pleasures and happy moments along life's pathway as we do our troubles and afflictions we would hardly know when the troublesome waves hit us.
It is said that the air in Zuzuland is so clear that you can see objects by starlight seven miles away. Would it not be great if that pure air could be breathed and retained, for some of us to go over there and saturate our old bodies with something pure that we could come back home and live a few days without grumbling and fussing? It is taught that the grace of God in the heart will purify the thoughts and cause us to seek for clean ways and paths, but suppose we claim

CALOMEL SALIVATES AND MAKES YOU SICK

Acts like dynamite on a sluggish liver and you lose a day's work.

There's no reason why a person should take sickening, salivating calomel when a few cents buys a large bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone—a perfect substitute for calomel.

It is a pleasant, vegetable liquid which will start your liver just as surely as calomel, but it doesn't make you sick and can not salivate.

Children and grown folks can take Dodson's Liver Tone, because it is perfectly harmless.

Calomel is a dangerous drug. It is mercury and attacks your bones. Take a dose of nasty calomel today and you will feel weak, sick and nauseated tomorrow. Don't lose a day's work. Take a spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone instead and you will wake up feeling great. No more biliousness, constipation, sluggishness, headache, coated tongue or sour stomach. Your druggist says if you don't find Dodson's Liver Tone acts better than horrible calomel your money is waiting for you.

THE COTTON CROP

A communication from Austin says:

It is generally conceded that the 1919 cotton crop will be a short one and possibly shorter than either of the four preceding it. Considering the expense of producing it, the short yield and the conceded large demand for cotton, a much higher price than has been paid during the past two seasons is naturally anticipated. But the South has had experience enough in the past to know it will not do to depend upon what conditions of supply and demand would justify. The past four crops have been very short and the past two have been very expensive to make. The demand has exceeded the production of the four crops and reserves have been used to keep such mills running as were permitted to have cotton until the reserve of spinable cotton is about exhausted. The expense of production, the supply and demand, and the value of cotton as compared to its competitors, silk, wool and flax, have fully justified the highest prices it has sold for. Still, strenuous effort by combinations of manipulators were made to force these crops to sell for 15 cents and but for the strong organizations of the farmers by the departments of agriculture of cotton producing states to name a price and hold for it, it is conceded by cotton experts, spinners and brokers that 15 cents would have been about the price which the two crops would have sold for.

So it will not do for farmers, merchants or banks who depend upon cotton as their money crop to relax their efforts and depend upon favorable supply and demand conditions to maintain profitable prices. We must remember there is at the other end an ever awake enemy to profitable prices and to the producers controlling the price. They are studying every conceivable way to reduce the price and prevent the producers having a voice in it. Controlling spot cotton is the only weapon that will win.

Financing schemes and new cotton associations, world cotton conferences and other movements originated and fostered by spinners and cotton gamblers should not be considered as efforts to aid the producers to maintain profitable prices. If any of these should develop aid to the producers a "monkey wrench" is sure to be thrown in the main driving wheel and its work stopped. Now is the time for friends of cotton to keep wide awake; hold public meetings, discuss conditions and be prepared to handle the crop to the best advantage of all. This should include means of meeting obligations of the farmers without selling enough to over-supply the demands of the spinners, and being prepared to stop selling at once if a slump occurs. Present financing conditions, negotiable warehouse receipts, the Reserve Banks and other available helps make it easily possible to maintain prices without injury to business.
