METHODIST REVIVAL IS NOW IN PROGRESS

The revival meeting being conducted by Rev. E. P. Neal, pastor, at the Methodist Tabernacle in this city, has met with a great show of interest during this week. Beginning yesterday all the business houses of the city are closing from 10 to 11 in the morning for that service. There are services also at the evening hour beginning at 8 o'clock.

Rev. E. P. Neal, pastor of the Methodist church here, is doing the preaching. Rev. Neal, who has, since taking charge of the church here, won a reputation among Goldthwaite people as an able speaker, is exceeding himself and captivating the hearts of his huge audiences by the forcefulness and earnestness of his delivery. Those who have been missing these sermons have missed an exceptionally good treat.

The music has been exceedingly good and the young people's and home work show that the citizens are taking great interest in the revival.

It had not been decided how long the revival will last, announcement of the duration will probably be made the latter part of this week.

DIXIE THEATRE CHANGED HANDS FIRST OF WEEK

The first of this week H. A. Moore sold his lease on the Dixie Theatre to E. B. Buffington of Whipple, Texas. Mr. Buffington took charge immediately.

Mr. Moore took charge of the Dixie Theatre last January First and has been running it almost every night since. He has made a signal success of the business, succeeding in holding his crowds during the time of year that most of the previous owners have fallen down so badly that they were compelled to quit the business. Mr. Moore attributes this liberal patronage to the persistency of his advertising. This item he consistently refused to decrease during the so-called dull season, with the result that for him there was no dull season.

Mr. Buffington, the new owner, is an experience motion picture show operator. For several years he had charge of the R. & R. Circuit show at Ballenger and has managed shows at other places.

He returned Thursday from Dallas, where he had gone to arrange his bookings, the show having been closed during this week on account of the Methodist revival. He, with his wife, will take apartments here for the time being. His show schedule for the week will be found in his advertisement on another page.

CASING IS SET AT THE 1140 FOOT LEVEL NOW

This week the crew have been busy setting casing on the Weston No. 4 well. They finished setting Wednesday and began drilling yesterday morning. One hundred and four feet of sand was found between a thousand and the 1100 foot level, but there was no indication of oil.

According to the logs of the other wells there will be no chance for oil until the well has reached around 1800 feet.

STATE HIGHWAY DEPT.

Mr. R. F. McDermott, Secretary C. of C. Goldthwaite, Texas.

Dear Sir:

Every summer a large number of Texas motorists spend their vacations in their cars, travelling over the State and frequently to other states, and they form a large portion of the heavy traffic so in evidence on our principal highways, especially at night.

We are writing you to request you to call the attention of your local motorists to the necessity of having their headlamps properly adjusted before starting on cross-country trips. Certainly after a long trip they should be inspected and readjusted if necessary.

Such matters need only to be called to the attention of the large majority of motorists, and in this way you can be of service to your local motorists and others in various parts of the State.

Thanking you in advance, I am, Very truly yours,
C. R. Granberry, Engineer,
Automobile Headlight Division.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

Elder C. B. Glasgow of Brownwood will preach at the church of Christ here next Sunday.

Morning at 11 o'clock: "The Church and the Tabernacle."
Afternoon at 3 o'clock: "From Egypt to Canaan."
The public is cordially invited to hear these services.

CEMETERY WORKING

There will be a cemetery working at Mohler graveyard next Tuesday, June 8. Come and bring your dinner and work all day.
Beck and Shaw, Trustees.

PAVING THE WAY

Every public improvement we make in Goldthwaite is another paving block laid in the road leading to increased civic prosperity. Our cartoon shows the taxpayers, who are responsible for these improvements, building the pathway which will let into our city new home-seekers, investors and workers who are now held back by the town's present limitations.

Outsiders are attracted to a community by what it has to offer. In the way of facilities and conveniences at a moderate cost. If we can show them well paved streets and sidewalks, modern schools and other public utilities, they will settle here bringing business and industry with them.

Municipalities sometimes "slow up" on needed improvements to keep down expenses, but often there is a question whether this course saved or lost money for the town. We all favor economy, but Goldthwaite should never confuse it with false economy.

D. Howard Rudd of Ft. Worth spent a part of this week with home folks here.

Misses Leta Simpson and Alta Kemper came home last week from Brownwood where they had been attending school in Howard Payne College the past winter.

Miss Pearl Casbeer of Center City visited Miss Alta Kemper last week.

Mrs. Lula Laceywell and Mrs. Oscar Simpson visited Mrs. Simpson's mother, Mrs. Bob Casbeer last Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Burgess of Brownwood are spending this week with Mrs. Burgess' parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. D. Kemper.

V. E. Gatcher of Winchell visited his sister, Mrs. D. D. Kemper last Wednesday.

LOCAL SHOWERS OVER COUNTY THIS WEEK

This week there have been local showers in different portions of the county, something near 37 one-hundredths of an inch falling at Goldthwaite. Thursday afternoon a big rain and considerable hail was reported near the C— ranch, 10 miles south of Goldthwaite. Local weather forecasters—including J. W. Edwards—predict plenty of rain during the next few days.

NEW INVENTION

An attachment for use on cotton planters to insure uniform depth of planting and proper packing of the soil around the seed has been perfected by the United States Department of Agriculture. Many cottonplanting machines in the San Joaquin Valley, California, were equipped with these attachments during the planting season of 1925, and without a single exception the growers were enthusiastic over the results.

Drawings and specification for the planter attachment are shown in a circular just issued. They are sufficient to enable any blacksmith to properly equip a standard cotton or corn planter with the device. Application has been made for the issuance of a public-service patent covering the attachment, thus making it available to all without payment of royalties necessary with privately owned patents.

The use of this device should aid the cotton growers of the irrigated valleys of the Southwest to overcome some of the difficulty experienced every year in securing satisfactory stands of cotton. Sometimes poor stands are the result of immature seed, adverse or unfavorable seasonal conditions, or, are due to several other unforeseen factors, but too often they are due to unsatisfactory planting machines.

A special planting problem is often encountered on account of the nature of much of the soil, say the investigators. Some soils dry out so quickly that in a day or two of drying weather there may not be sufficient moisture left to germinate seed placed in the upper inch or two of the soil. Also care must be exercised to avoid a crust which forms on many soils as a result of pressure from

SWAT THE FLY

"The fly is a serious health menace to every family that harbors it," stated Dr. H. O. Sappington, state health officer, who urges citizens of the state to use every means possible in exterminating this filthy, disease carrying insect.

"The finding of sanitary science have conclusively proven that the fly is an enemy to mankind. A creature of filth, he crawls from one loathsome object to another, covering his hairy legs with disease germs, which if given an opportunity he transfers to exposed food on table or sideboard, and the baby's face and hands and milk bottle.

Some of the diseases, the germs of which he most commonly spreads, are typhoid fever, dysentery, enteritis, and infantile diarrhea. Being a prolific breeder, one fly can propagate millions of the species during a single season. Start your fly extermination campaign early in order to keep breeding at a minimum.

the planting tool. Practically all commercial planter used in the Southwest are equipped with a type of "runner" shoe which, in opening up the soil, often compacts and glazes the sides of the furrow. Under such conditions the wheel that follows the shoe does not close the furrow properly but leaves a narrow track of pack-furrow, which allows the soil aged earth along the middle of the round the seed to dry out quickly. Even where no groove is apparent on the surface, investigations may show that the pressing of the soil, especially if a little wet, has closed the groove at the surface but has left a channel underneath, so that the seeds do not have sufficient contact with the soil to start germination.

The newly devised equipment over comes these objections. A V-shaped scraper somewhat on the order of a snow plow precedes the planter shoe and levels the soil so that the penetration of the point of the planting machine is at a uniform depth. A small press wheel operates in the furrow just back of the seed spout and passing over the seed immediately after it is dropped presses it firmly into the soil. Two blades follow the press wheel in such a way as to accomplish the covering of the seed and a slight firming of the soil. The planter wheels are set to one side of the seed row to prevent further packing.

A copy of the publication, Department Circular 331-C, may be secured as long as the supply lasts by writing to the United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

EVOLUTION AND INTOLERANCE

A few weeks ago the life of a great man passed out. The whole civilized world was overcast with the shadow of sorrow when word was flashed from Belgium that Cardinal Mercier was no more. Altho a Catholic, I am sure he was loved by the whole Christian world.

Only a few weeks ago I was reading a sketch of his career as a teacher in a Catholic seminary in Belgium.

He introduced an invocation in Catholicism by teaching his pupils that their thoughts on religious matters need not be confined to and entirely prescribed by the teaching of the priest but that they might penetrate even beyond the frontier of the priesthood prescription; in short that the individual had the right to exercise his on mind on spiritual matters and do individual thinking.

His teachings were rejected to the Pope and he was summoned to Rome where he was confronted by his accusers, and it was related that his defense of his position, and teaching before the Pope, was so logical and so convincing that the latter fully agreed with him.

Only last week in our Baptist Convention held in Houston a resolution was adopted calling for commitment of all Baptist institutions, bands and Missionary representatives to the belief that man is the work of God alone, and in no way, by evolution or otherwise came from a lower animal ancestry.

It would seem from the above resolution that from henceforth the belief of a Baptist is not to be the voluntary act of his own mind, as it grasps and construes the account of creation, but it is rather the subject of resolution and even more intolerable than we find Catholicism.

I think it is safe to say, however, that no Baptist will deny that man is the direct creation of God but when we would take to eliminate evolution from the machinery of creation we are asserting a thing as a fact that we can not prove. In fact, the scanty material evidence at hand is all against that part of the resolution.

We should remember that material evidence is the evidence of the Creator and not the evidence of man. Man may be wholly wrong in fixing the age of the material evidence, he may be wholly wrong in the theory of evolution but how are we going to prove it?

I suppose the fundamentalist would prove it by his construction of that portion of Genesis in which we have read that "God created man from the dust of the earth." That fact, however, does not need proof for it is self evident.

The same dust of the earth which God used in creating Adam he used in creating all mankind and when ever that dust fails to be produced by those agencies which God employs for its production the race of nation man, man of flesh and blood will become extinct. That dust is the substance of the earth yielded up through the grasses, grains and fruits of the earth without which God does not produce men now nor do I believe that he ever produced them.

To point out that our Creator employed the childish mud pie idea in producing the first man is only to belittle Him from my view point. I think He had a much better way. The theory of evolution is a much more respectful and reverent hypothesis than the puny mud pie theology.

Let us further inquire into the meaning of this dust of the earth ground and etc.

"And unto Adam he said: Because thou hath hearkened unto the voice of thy wife and hath eaten of the tree of which I commanded the saying, thou shalt not eat of it; cursed is the ground for thy sake; in sorrow shalt thou eat of it all the days of thy life."

Do you suppose Adam ate of the literal ground all the days of his life?

No. Of course not but we understand he ate of the substance of the ground and not of the ground itself.

Was man the only thing formed from the ground, or dust of the earth? No, for we read "And out of the ground the Lord God formed every beast of the field and every fowl of the air."

Who is forming the beasts of the field and the fowls of the air today? God, the same God that formed them in that day and he is forming them in the same way today that he formed them in that day, not from the literal earth but from the substance of the earth.

Now the fundamentalists insist on a literal construction of Genesis. And I can only point out that all evolutionists who accept the fundamentalist construction of Genesis must of necessity be infidels and that seems to be where the conflict arises.

I do not nor can not accept a literal construction of Genesis.

1st, because I do not believe Adam ate of the ground all the days of his life.

2nd, I do not believe God created man out of the literal dust of the earth but I believe he created him from the substance of the earth as I see Him creating him from the substance of the earth today.

I do not believe Adam and Eve died the day they ate of the forbidden tree notwithstanding the fact that God said in the day thou eatest thereof thou shalt surely die.

If I construe this literally, using the ordinary construction for die then I must maintain that Adam and Eve died on that day but I read on further and find they did not die the literal death at all for Genesis relates that they lived a few centuries after that and reared children.

Now I must reach the conclusion that Genesis must have a spiritual construction rather than a literal construction. That the death the Creator spoke of was spiritual and not literal; that the Garden of Eden was a spiritual condition and not a physical reality because no physical evidence of its existence has ever been discovered; that the growth and development of man's body is a spiritual and natural creation and not a mechanical construction such as building him with hands out of the literal dust of the earth as some insist.

This construction, to my mind, harmonizes what I read in Genesis and enables me to believe and I insist that I have a right to a construction that satisfies me of its truth.

Whether the evolution—it is right—I do not at all attempt to say. However, I will say here and now that I believe the Creator that I worship as God is plenty able to have evolved all forms of life from one single life cell if it were by his will to do so, let it be called evolution or what not.

This construction I do not regard as contradicting a single word in Genesis but rather clarifying and making it plain. It also implies an ever present Creator supervising and constructing of the bodies of all mankind for we are told we can not add one cubit to the height of our bodies nor make one hair white or black. They are not objects of our own will or construction but the work of the Creator who is ever on the job of creating. There is not even a remote conflict between Genesis and Modern Science when Genesis is properly construed.—A. J. Harrison.

"Weep no more, My Lady"

Thanks to the Long Distance telephone, parting need not be sad now. In covered wagon day, weeks and months might pass before you heard again from those who had gone; but the telephone has fixed all that.

Now, if friend or relative moves to another town, the long distance phone brings you together again. And the man of the house, away on business, can talk to his family every night. So "weep no more, my lady." Parting has been robbed of its worst sting, and your absent loved ones are only as far away as your telephone.

Stubborn Coughs Quickly Stopped This New Way

It is often surprising how the most persistent, hacking cough that not only robs you of strength and sleep, but often leads to more serious trouble, yields quickly to a simple but wonderfully effective treatment.

This treatment is based on the prescription known as Dr. King's New Discovery for Coughs. You take just one teaspoonful at bed time and hold it in your throat for 15 or 20 seconds before swallowing it. The prescription has a double action. It not only soothes and heals soreness and irritation, but it quickly removes the phlegm and congestion which are the real cause of night coughing. So with the cause removed, coughing stops quickly, your sleep undisturbed, and the entire cough condition soon disappears.

Dr. King's New Discovery is for coughs, chest colds, sore throat, hoarseness, bronchitis, spasmodic croup, etc. Fine for children as well as grown-ups—no harmful drugs. Economical, too, as the dose is only one teaspoonful. At all good druggists. Ask for

LYNCH DAVIDSON OPENS EAST TEXAS CAMPAIGN

Lufkin, June 2. Lynch Davidson, speaking here today, said that two things have brought Texas up for Nation-wide attention recently—good business and bad government. He said that "If Texas wants to speed that great industrial expansion for which we are all hoping, the first thing is to flash the news to the world that good business is going hand in hand with business government."

Davidson said that possibilities of development in East Texas no doubt equal those of the Rio Grande Valley and of the plains country. Having learned through his own experiences the vital needs of capital, he said, he is determined "to give Texas such an administration as will bring us capital in the great amount needed for the expansion we expect." But he said that he did not "deem it necessary" to surrender our national resources entirely to the hands of such a monopoly as the Standard Oil Company. He added that during the 13 years that the Magnolia Petroleum Company was in the hands of a trustee, to prevent violation of the anti-trust laws of the state, "stock held by the trustee increased from 21,000 shares to 1,270,000 shares, by natural growth of the business." Such business expansion should be satisfactory to the most exacting capitalists, said Davidson, and "as long as this sort of expansion continues in Texas, we need not be frightened into repealing our anti-trust laws."

Davidson said that Dan Moody supporters have been so busy explaining Dan's "bet" with the Ferguson that they have had little time to present plans the "young attorney general may have to give Texas a business administration."

While they are explaining, they might explain "why the young attorney general agreed with the Magnolia Petroleum Company to release it from the anti-trust provisions which General Looney fastened upon it in 1913," said Davidson, asserting that "General Looney fined the Standard Oil Company $500,000 and put the Magnolia in trusteeship for violating the anti-trust laws. And there it stayed until last October, when Dan Moody went to Greenville and without a struggle agreed with the Magnolia attorneys that the trusteeship should be dissolved." The reason given, said Davidson, was that the stock placed in the trusteeship had passed from control of the Standard of New Jersey to the Standard of New York. "Perhaps the Moody supporters will explain," said Davidson, "why General Looney could win a $500,000 fine and a trusteeship against the Standard of New Jersey, but Dan Moody couldn't even hold the trusteeship Looney won, against the Standard of New York."

Another "explanation" which Davidson "suggested" might be made by Moody supporters was in regard to Moody's attitude on prohibition and why he was so long in making it known. Davidson said that "the only enlightenment on this matter is Moody's San Antonio speech, in which he referred to 'the tick law and the prohibition law and said he favored the tick law.'"

Davidson said that he is out in the open on all the issues of the race. "I believe Fergusonism is the blackest strain on Texas' population but my anti-Fergusonism is to ride into office with no qualification by my anti-Fergusonism," he said. "If you elect me governor," he said, "I don't expect to be popular. I'm going to run the grafters out of your penitentiary system. I'm going to eliminate the pie counter through a civil service organization. I've never had anything of my own but what I made it run. The state railroad is the only Texas state property that has ever been entrusted to my care and today it is one of the best pieces of property owned by this state, and earns several thousand dollars a month. Before I took it over it was just two streaks of rust and every time the wheels clicked the taxpayers money went off into space."

Davidson said that he had been able to win financial independence under the "beneficial laws of the state of Texas" and that he has made a "solemn pledge" with himself that he would offer his services to the state, to pay the debt of gratitude. There was a time, he said, "when the honor and the name of the office appealed to me, but though it is a great honor, the time when that appealed to me is long since passed. I want to be governor for the power that it gives to put new efficiency into state affairs, and to pay new dividends to the stockholders of this great corporation, in better administration and lower taxes."

Going down the list of affairs which come under the governor's hands, he said that "the eleemosynary institutions are just big hotels, strictly business problems; what the $24,000,000 a year spent on the schools would bring one-third more benefit, in longer terms, if applied under the county unit system, instead of the per capita system."

An auditing system, he said, is imperatively needed to check the $60,000,000 a year spent by this state. "We cannot build $20,000,000 worth of roads a year by oratory, or by voting for one man just to beat another," said Davidson. Ninety-five percent of the governor's work is purely business, and has nothing to do with either legal matters or mudslinging oratory. "The money spent on our roads is as much as the Southern Pacific Railroad spends in this state, and they hire the best brains in the nation to spend it."

Starting at Livingston Tuesday afternoon, Davidson's speaking schedule carried him to Groveton Tuesday night, Lufkin Wednesday morning, Nacogdoches Wednesday afternoon, Garrison Thursday morning, Timpson Thursday afternoon, Carthage Thursday night, Henderson Friday afternoon, Longview Friday night, Marshall Saturday afternoon, Jefferson Saturday night.

The week starting June 6, Davidson will speak at Hillsboro and Waco Tuesday, Marlin and Groesbeck Wednesday, Kosse, Franklin and Hearne Thursday, Bryan and Caldwell Friday, Giddings and Bastrop Saturday.

MOODY GETS OVERFLOW CROWDS IN C.T. CAMPAIGN

Austin, Texas, May 27.—Overflow crowds and rousing receptions given Dan Moody in his first week of campaigning in Central Texas, support the prediction of Moody supporters that the Attorney General will sweep former Ferguson strongholds.

A dozen speeches were made during the week, Moody going out from Austin and returning daily so as to be at his office.

Sections which followed Ferguson into the American party, even, joined into the welcome for Moody.

Saturday night's meeting at San Antonio, when the new municipal auditorium was packed to capacity, proved that Moody will run strong in the cities as well as in the country and smaller places, where most of his campaigning has been done.

Sticking to his text of "Fergusonism," Moody through the week riddled the Ferguson claims of a good term, exposing mercilessly the juggling of figures to make an apparent good showing.

Moody cited the records proving that the prison system which Ferguson about has gone $167,000 deeper in debt under Fergusonism and now owes $1,500,000. He cited the figures showing that the state was $978,000 worse off financially at the end of the year than at the beginning of 1925, Ferguson's first year.

Fergusonism in the Highway Department was also flayed during the week, and Moody's administration pledged to a system of road maintenance by allotment of funds to counties, the counties having the work done or doing it under the supervision of Division Engineers.

Failure of the Fergusons to call a special session of the legislature to maintain the credit of the state by validation of bond issues was scored, and the blame placed upon the fear of Fergusonism to face possible legislative investigation.

We were met at the door by the charming young hostess, who had us to register. We were then ushered into the parlor where we spent several hours in the most delightful games. Then came the most exciting time, we were asked into the dining room where the lights were turned off. Miss Thalia lighted the candles on her lovely cake and V. D. Adams was appointed to blow them out.

We were served with delicious ice cream and cake. By this time the hour was growing late and everyone left, wishing the hostess the very best of wishes and many more happy birthdays.—XXX

S. M. CAROTHERS DEAD

Capt. S. M. Carothers, a veteran of the Civil War and a pioneer citizen of Mills county died at his son's home in San Antonio last Saturday. Death resulted from pneumonia. His remains were laid to rest in the Odd Fellows cemetery here last Monday afternoon. The funeral was conducted by Rev. Littlepage, a Primitive Baptist minister, at the Presbyterian church at 2:30 o'clock. Capt. Carothers was known and liked by every citizen in Mills county. He was an exceptionally good writer and, until his health broke last year, had contributed regularly to the Eagle.

He leaves five sons, Harlan Carothers of Belton, Will Carothers of Lometa, Moore Carothers of San Antonio, Hugh Carothers of Lometa, and Otis Carothers of Goldthwaite. The Eagle joins the many friends of the Carothers families in offering them sympathy in this sad hour.

IN MEMORY OF STELLA WITTY

Stella died at Abilene, Texas, May 9, 1926 of pneumonia. She fell when about two years of age and injured her mind. She lived to be about 40 years of age, and had been a constant care to her parents, but Oh, how faithful parents have been we can never know we can only say, weep no more, dear father and mother, for you know where she is now and some sweet day you can go to her to be with her eternally where there will be no more parting and no more tears shed, what a consolation this should be.

She was laid to rest beneath a mound of beautiful flowers, by the side of her twin sister who died some years ago.

We extend our love and sympathy to her father, mother, brothers and sisters in their loneliness and sorrow. May the dear Lord who sends the hurt, send also the balm to seal their sorrowing hearts.—A Friend.

Methods of Fly Control

"The principal effort to control this dangerous insect must be made at the source of supply—its breeding place. Absolute cleanliness and the removal or destruction of anything in which flies may breed are essential. The favorite breeding place of flies is horse or other animal excreta, but if this is not available, they will lay their eggs on a great variety of decaying vegetables and animal materials. Barnyards, chicken yards, etc., should be cleaned and disinfected often. Garbage and waste that cannot be buried or burned, should be kept in tightly covered garbage cans until removed from premises. Open-back closets are a serious health menace and should be replaced with pit privies.

"Dwelling houses should be screened with 16-mesh wire, and all screens should fit tightly and be kept in a state of good repair. Swat every fly that makes his appearance on the inside of a screened home, and where necessary resort to the use of fly traps and fly paper. Literature on fly extermination will be sent on request to your state board of health, Austin."

A FIRST LADY

Mrs. W. Freeland Kendrick, wife of the Mayor of Philadelphia, who also is president of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition Association, organized to stage a great celebration to commemorate the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Mrs. Kendrick is shown beside the historic Liberty Bell, which she tapped at a recent broadcasting event when the world was told of completion of plans for the big exposition.

FROM PALETTE TO MORTAR BOARD

Young women artists turn from their jars of color and paint brushes to assist plasterers in setting ornaments in place atop huge pylons which adorn the main entrances to the Palace of Agriculture and Food Products, of the vast exhibition buildings which form a part of the great Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition being staged in Philadelphia from June 1 to December 1 to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. Climbing ladders and walking along rickety scaffolds is nothing new to these young ladies, but each time they do it they get a thrill.

A FAIR COLORIST

This young woman ascends a giddy ladder every day to put finishing touches to the "Rainbow City"—the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition, opening in Philadelphia June 1 and continuing until December 1, to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the Declaration of American Independence. She is one of an army of young artists who are making the Sesqui a colorful success.

PRONUNCIATION AID

June Webster, descendant of the famous lexicographer, Noah Webster, presents a copy of her ancestor's work to the Publicity Department of the Sesqui-Centennial International Exposition Association to help them in pronouncing properly the name of the big events which opens June 1 to celebrate the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence. There are many types of pronunciations heard but there is just one proper way Noah says, it is "Ses-Kwuh-ten-ten-nial" with the accent on the first syllable of the "Sesqui" and on the second syllable of the "centennial."
