ROBERTS REPLIES

Mr. Poer still contends that the word democrat, according to the statute, means one who votes the ticket straight, all the way from top to bottom. If that is the case, Mr. Poer is frank enough to admit that he has not always measured up to his standard of what constitutes a Democrat. Mr. Poer admits that he scratched the Democratic nominees for United States Senator and Governor in 1922 and voted for their Republican opponents. One thing I admire about Mr. Poer in his confession is that perjury cannot be classed among his sins. He is mistaken, however when he says I have been following his 1922 example ever since.

I have never voted for a Republican nominee instead of a Democratic nominee. I did not vote in the 1924 general election, but if I had voted that year I certainly would have voted for George C. Butte for Governor, instead of voting to elect a Governor by proxy. I think conditions that resulted from the 1924 Governor's campaign clearly proved the wisdom of the voters who voted for Mr. Butte. I am not censuring Mr. Poer for bolting the Democratic party in 1922 (although I admit I looked rather bad to do so after he had participated in two Democratic primaries in which said Democratic candidates were nominated), but I am merely trying to show him that if his definition of a statutory Democrat is correct, then Mr. Poer weighed himself in the balance and is found wanting.

Since Mr. Poer has admitted that he bolted the Democratic party and voted against some of its nominees in 1922, I will ask him if that was his first time to bolt the Democratic party? I think the record will show that Mr. Poer presided over and participated in the 1920 Democratic primary held at Mount Olive where some 30 or more votes were polled. The record also shows that in the general election held at Mount Olive in November, 1920 that the Democratic presidential electors received four votes, the Republican electors received four votes, the Socialist electors one vote, and the American party electors received twenty-three votes. The Democratic nominee for Governor received three votes and the American party nominee received twenty-eight votes. Now I wonder if Mr. Poer voted the Democratic ticket straight from the top to the bottom in 1920? If Mr. Poer could bolt the Democratic party and scratch its nominees in 1920 or in 1922 with no remorse of conscience, it seems he is not entirely consistent in contending so strong for party loyalty and unity in 1928.

Mr. Poer says he is not supporting Governor Smith because Smith is an Anti. I wonder how long Mr. Poer and a very large majority of Governor Smith's other supporters

Dear Patron—
If you're married—if you're going to be married—if you're in love and the object of your affections is somewhat timid—if you're a bachelor, with the hope of remaining in that blessed single state—regardless of your station in life, don't miss Marion Davies in "The Patsy." The leap year picture, "The Patsy" shows every girl how easy it is to become engaged, how to propose to a man, and what chance a poor man has during 1928 if every girl adopts the same tactics as Marion Davies. It is a romantic comedy drama, with plenty of laughs and sure to please everybody. "The Patsy" is coming for a two day's engagement to the Dixie Theatre, beginning Monday, August 13. The MANGEMENT.

BABY CLINIC AT SAN SABA FAIR

There will be a baby clinic at the San Saba Fair next week for the first three days. Mrs. Mills of the State Department of Health will conduct it. would stay in the Smith ranks if Smith should declare himself in favor of the Eighteenth Amendment and the strict enforcement of the Volstead Act and declare it in a manner that would convince them that Governor Smith was sincere. In such a case I believe Governor Smith's supporters would quit him like rats leaving a sinking ship. It is an evident fact that the wet and dry sides of prohibition are the chief issues in the present Presidential campaign. If the dries will line up in the Hoover ranks like the wets are lined up in the Smith ranks, it will be a very easy matter to elect Mr. Hoover. It cannot be successfully disputed that every vote cast in favor Governor Smith for President will mean a vote in favor of repealing the Eighteenth Amendment and the Volstead Act. If prohibition is not the issue why is every anti boosting for Smith's election?

Mr. Poer says enemies of the Democratic party have always tried to defeat it by sowing discord and dissension in its ranks. Perhaps Mr. Poer has had experience and knows what he is talking about. He speaks of Tammany as being the most loyal and powerful supporter of the Democratic party. I wish Mr. Poer would tell what Democratic nominees Tammany has ever supported for President. As for Napoleon and Caesar, I am not capable of discussing them. Mr. Poer may be right in thinking the Democratic party under Governor Smith's leadership will gain as many followers as it will lose, but if it does I believe it will lose a better class of citizens than it will gain.

It is surprising how many people will sell their votes for whisky, but would not consider selling them for money. —JNO. W. ROBERTS.

A STATEMENT TO THE PUBLIC

The Sheriff and his department are not accepting any of the money donated by the people to a reward fund for the capture of the one charged with the murder of Miss Osborn, and with the consent of the District Attorney and after talking to quite a number of those who donated to this fund, we are using this money to hire a special prosecutor in this case.

We feel that those who donated to this fund are entitled to know these facts. Sincerely,

VERGIE DOUGLAS DIES FROM SNAKE BITE

Last Saturday afternoon between three and four o'clock little Miss Vergie Douglas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Douglas of the North Bennett community, was bitten by a rattlesnake. The little girl had gone to the orchard where she encountered the snake. Her parents had gone to town, consequently, it was quite awhile before medical attention was procured. The snake bit her twice on the right leg and once on the left knee. Antivenin was administered as quickly as she could be brought to town, but she passed away at the Dr. Osterhaut sanitarium at two o'clock Sunday.

The remains were laid to rest in the cemetery at North Bennett Monday. The Eagle offers sympathy to the bereaved ones.

WORMS IN CHICKENS AND TURKEYS

Poultry raisers in Mills County have sustained tremendous losses this year caused directly and indirectly by worms. Worms destroy the vitality and weaken the resistance of the birds until they are attacked by roup and other contagious diseases.

Worms are easily controlled. The treatment is simple, effective, and the cost reasonable. Now is the time to rid fowls of intestinal parasites so young chickens and turkeys can mature for the market and pullets and hens for early laying.

Why not put on a clean-up campaign. Call a meeting of your Community Club and go at this now. The County Agent will gladly assist any group of farmers in their efforts to eradicate this menace to the poultry business.

J. J. COCKRELL RAISES VERY FINE GRAPES ON RIVERSIDE FRUIT FARM

J. J. Cockrell presented the Eagle force with a fine bunch of his choice grapes the early part of the week. Mr. Cockrell developed the fruit and grape industry in this country. It is excellent for making fresh fruit drinks during the winter and is very healthful.

TERRACING SCHOOLS

Since it is impossible for the County Agent to respond to all requests for individual terracing, we are offering our assistance to groups of farmers and communities desiring terracing schools for the training of farmers to do their own work.

The cost of a level is only a small item and one or two visits from the County Agent are all that is necessary for training a team to do efficient work. Now, farmers, the Federal Land Bank has a list of all collateral that needs terracing. If it is not done this institution will want to know why. The County Agent will do all he can to save the soil and conserve the moisture.

Call on me for a school when you secure a level and select leaders. I'm ready to go. —W. P. WEAVER, County Agent.

ROY PIERSON DEAD

Death means little to the three tiny daughters of Roy Pierson, 25, Austin man and acetylene welder of the Lone Star Gas Co., who was killed two miles south of Bartlett in an explosion of a tank of gas Saturday morning. Pierson, son of F. S. Pierson of Florence, died almost instantly when flying fragments of metal severed his jugular vein.

His tiny daughters clung to the skirts of the young mother when the message of the accident was received. They saw her face bleach, her body stagger, and heard a terrified and despairing cry issue from her lips.

Mary Evelyn, 6, understood that her father was killed. Big, loose tears rolled down her face—a face that a few minutes before had been curved in smiles and laughter—as she hugged her mother in a child effort at consolation. Annetta, age 4, caught the word "Dad-die" and repeated it over and over again. Louise, the baby, continued to play.

Their mother knew no more than her husband was killed. She left the children with hurried instructions regarding their care at the home at 519 East 39th Street. The children were taken in charge by a neighbor, who makes vain efforts to answer the myriads of questions which they ask—Austin American.

(Note—Roy Pierson formerly lived at Goldthwaite. He was an employee of the Randolph Lumber Company here for a time.)

The Short Course was long on attendance, having an enrollment of more than 4000. More than 900 boys and 800 girls, representing 100 counties had the advantages which the two weeks instruction afforded.

ASBURY CAVE

The marriage of Frank Cave the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Cave of Goldthwaite, and Miss Thelma Asbuh, was solemnized on Thursday evening at the First Baptist church with Rev. A. C. Huff, pastor, officiating with the ring ceremony before an altar of ferns, garden flowers, baskets of gladioli and candelabra holding tall white tapers.

Prior to the ceremony, Miss Elizabeth McFarling sang "As Dawning" accompanied by Mrs. Ora Lee Anfang at the piano and Mrs. George Beverley on the violin, who also played the bridal chorus from Lohengrin as the processional and Mendelssohn's wedding march as the recessional.

The bride who was given in marriage by her father, wore a gown of white satin trimmed in rosepoint lace and a veil of rosepoint lace and white tulle. She carried a shower bouquet of lilies of the valley and white roses.

Miss Roberta Hutchinson attended the bride as maid of honor. She wore a frock of satin and maline in three shades of peach. Her flowers were marigolds in an arm bouquet. The groom was attended by his brother, Clyde Cave, as best man.

The bridesmaids were Misses Beulah Tucker and Ruby Cave, sister of the groom, and Mesdames Nat Tracy and Clyde Taylor. They wore bouffant frocks in pastel shades of organdy, with uneven hem line. They carried hat of contrasting colors filled with daisies and larkspur.

The ushers were Claude Dyer, Ewell Grigg, Nat Tracy and Clyde Taylor.

The ring was carried by Donald Klous who wore a suit of white satin, and Lula Marjorie Conner, dressed in white crepe de chine, scattered rose petals before the bride. Arline Younger and Dudley Sue Dinwiddle, wearing fluffy dresses of white organdy, carried the bride's veil.

Mr. and Mrs. Cave left the following morning for an automobile trip through New Mexico. After August the first they will be at home at Kerens, Texas. —Tulia Herald.

WHEREVER Summer trails may lead

Swift, eager miles—smooth, soaring mastery of the hills—all the keen satisfaction of driving a car that fairly out-performs all its past records, is yours with the new and better Texaco Gasoline.

For the new and better Texaco is a true product of modern science—a gasoline formulated and produced to meet exact, scientific specifications, and available everywhere.

With the new and better Texaco, the action of the carburetor alone is sufficient to vaporize it completely. At all engine-speeds it forms a dry gas, free of every trace of wetness, a perfectly blended mixture of gasoline vapor and air, it flows freely and swiftly from carburetor to spark. Combustion, whatever the compression, is smoothly progressive and complete.

Wherever you are—wherever you go—this summer you can enjoy the advantage of the new and better Texaco Gasoline. It is sold at all pumps supplying the Texaco Red Star with the Green T.

You buy the LIQUID but you use the VAPOR.

The NEW and BETTER TEXACO GASOLINE

You use the vapor—
but you buy the liquid

When you drive up to a filling station you ask for "gas." And correctly, too. It is the gas—the vapor of the gasoline and not the liquid which gives the power.

The better the gasoline—the better it vaporizes—and the more power it produces.

The new and better Texaco Gasoline vaporizes perfectly. It forms a dry gas. Full power—real "Pep"—mileage.

Try Texaco today. There's a difference.

What has gasoline to do with lubrication?

Everything. The new and better Texaco Gasoline forms a Dry Gas. It burns completely. No "heavy ends" are left in the cylinders to dilute the oil film, break the seal, enter the crankcase and destroy the lubricating value of the oil.

Don't just ask for "Motor Oil"

"Take-a-chance" oil in the engine sends many a good car to the scrap heap before its time has come.

That's why it is so important to use a full-bodied motor oil—a highly refined oil—like TEXACO, the clean, clear, golden motor oil.

CONCERT

Every human being is in possession of a voice, and, given an ear for music and a talent for singing, is justified in cultivating it. Goldthwaite has a large number of music lovers and some very earnest students in voice culture. Two of these, Mrs. S. P. Sullivan and Miss Myrna Miller were presented in recital Tuesday morning, July 3rd, at the Howard Payne Auditorium in Brownwood by their tutor, Cameron Marshall.

Mrs. Sullivan opened the concert with a group of three numbers, the first being "Song of the Robin."—Case, a genuinely beautiful interpretation of the joyousness of an early morning song of the Robin in challenge to his mates. In contrast to this aesthetic emotion was her second choice, "Love's A Merchant."—Carew, a light care-free invitation to all the lovers of the world. As she sang "Come along, come along, youth and maiden," she reflected the spirit of the song in joyous spontaneity. Mrs. Sullivan's true interpretative ability was more apparent in the third of this group, "Enchantment."—Scott, into which she introduced a more serious element carrying the general theme of spring, love, and nature. Through her delicacy of vocal effect; perfect co-ordination of body and mind in poise and breath control; and through the merging of her personality into the persistent rhythm of the song; this singer gained the favor and applause of her listeners most effectively.

Mrs. Sullivan's musical ideas, her sensitiveness to tonal quality and well modulated voice, together with her exceptionally artistic imagination; all went to make very impressive her rendition of the difficult song, "The Spirit Flower."—Campbell-Tipton, the first of her second group. This song as conceived and portrayed by her, was tender and sacred, with an atmosphere that was nebulous, not quite real, but mostly of the spirit memory. A sharp and clever contrast to "The Spirit Flower" was the second of this group, "The Little Damsel."—Novello, a rocking, rollicking, tilting, freelance sort of song in which the singer emphasized the pertness and sauciness of the little "Damsel", also the ponderance and stiff dignity of her suitor, the Lord High Admiral, and the over confidence of the Piper, as against the modest, lovely, self-effacement of her successful suitor, the Page.

"The Samoan Love Song"—Stickles, Mrs. Sullivan's last song was more ambitious, tending toward the dramatic. In this she freely brought out the swift and burning passion the pathos of chords that sob in pain, and the intense throbbing and pulsating of a heart subcharged to overflowing with the ecstasy of love.

There are several channels through which a singer may make his appeal to an audience, and Miss Myrna Miller, though modest and retiring by nature, did not attempt to assert herself by pretentious display, but quietly touched the sense of her hearers through the channel of beautiful tones, well modulated voice, and the velvety smoothness of her legato style. With her first number, "Dawn"—Curran she justly gained the attention and appreciation of her audience. Through the general trend of thought in this was in a more solemn vein, yet the idea throughout was of hope and inspiration, as for instance when the words rang out:

Awake, my soul!
In rainbow tints my soul is bathed—
The glorious light it long hath craved,
Awake, thy dawn is here!"

Beautifully conceived and contrasted with "Dawn" was her next number, "A Brown Bird Singing."—Wood. This song was a real achievement, being doubly interesting and exceptionally artistic in that through the stillness the imagination could clearly distinguish the notes of the brown bird singing in the bush of the darkness and dew. The third number of this group, "April Morn"—Batten, a waltz of swaying rhythm, being free from stiffness and tension, was subtle and effective when colored by Miss Miller's artistic tone painting and greatly augmented and embellished by many brilliant trills and cadenzas.

With her second appearance, Miss Miller introduced the song, "The Wren"—Benedict, this being of a bright, effusive quality from whence its name is taken. In this carol the artist brought a message of cheer, of pleasure, of singing hearts, hearts of happy youth and happy love. So, in her next selection, "Down in the Forest"—Ronald, Miss Miller first quiets her listeners with the still hush of the first lines:

"Down in the forest some-stirred
So faint that I scarcely heard—
It was only the notes of a bird." etc.

Then she swings into full volume, richer quality, and rhythm on and on until she ends with the words, "I am here at your door, oh Love!"

Miss Miller's last appearance was in "The Flower Song"—Faust-Gounod. The manner in which she brings out the dramatic quality in this interesting composition from the opera, "Faust," the poetic beauty and exquisite artistry in her interpretation of it, places Miss Miller without a doubt in the same class as that of the true Prima Donna.

45,000 MAN POWER

"WHAT OF IT? . . . What if the Dunlop team is 45,000 strong? What does that mean to me and my car?"

More VALUE in the tires you buy . . . that's what the immensity of Dunlop means to you.

Dunlop engineers have constantly blazed the trail in tire inventions. They have pioneered in practically every major tire improvement, including the drop-center rim as used on the new Fords. Eighteen world's records confirm Dunlop's engineering skill.

Combine 40 years' experience with 45,000 craftsmen and you have the world's greatest tire knowledge. Combine this knowledge with the finest materials . . . what do you get? Extra VALUE, as evidenced by the fact that 26 million Dunlops are now in use.

Those millions of motorists, and those 45,000 Dunlop workers—they all know from experience that it will pay you to put Dunlops on your car.

"DUNLOP CITY"

HALF-HEARTED Never Felt Well

"I don't see why women will drag around in a half-hearted way, never feeling well, barely able to drag, when Cardui might help put them on their feet, as it did me," says Mrs. Geo. B. Hunter, of Columbus, Ga.

"I suffered with dreadful pains in my stomach. I had to go to bed and stay sometimes two weeks.

"I could not work, and just dragged around the house.

"I got very thin. I went from a hundred and twenty-six pounds down to less than a hundred.

"I sent to the store for Cardui, and before I had taken the first bottle I began to improve. My side hurt less, and I began to mend in health.

"Cardui acted as a fine tonic. I do not feel like the same person. I am well now, and still gaining."

For sale by druggists, everywhere. Give it a trial.

The Verdict Of Numbers

Most people know what they want. They may not get it at first.

Experience is often a bitter teacher.
But in the end they get the best—in tires, as in other things.

Among the baffling claims of rival manufacturers and the alluring inducements of price cutting, special discounts, and "deals," the judgment of numbers stands out undeniable.

It goes straight home:

More people ride on GOOD YEAR
TIRES than on any other kind

Goodyear popularity is securely founded on the belief of millions of motorists that Goodyear makes The World's Greatest Tire.

The great army of motorists have tested Goodyears thoroughly—driving over 75,000,000,000 miles last year.

And Goodyear leads every other tire maker by thousands in volume made annually.

Goodyear used 168,000,000 pounds of rubber last year—Fifty per cent more than any competitor.

Our Goodyear Service is of the same high quality as the tires we sell. We make it our business to see in every way possible that you receive 100 per cent service from your tires.

You'll find that we are an expert, courteous and friendly establishment.

Won't you get acquainted with us and with The World's Greatest Tire — soon?
