Plans Being Perfected For A Big County Fair Here In July

OUTLINE OF FAIR ARRANGEMENTS

The directors of the association have named July 18, 19, 20 as dates for the coming fair. Plans are being worked out for a big time. Those in charge are gratified by the co-operation offered by the citizenship of the entire town and county.

A livestock pavilion will be ready for sheep, goats, Jersey cows and all classes of bulls. Livestock entries will be restricted to Mills County exhibitors. Competition will be open only to registered animals, except a class of grade Jersey cows.

A number of fast horses are in training on the race track and the races this year will excel any of past fairs.

The Ray Gray Shows have been secured for the fair, which assures plenty of clean entertainment.

Our own Goldthwaite band will furnish the music three days and nights.

A complete catalog of premium list will soon be out. Get one.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

One of the prettiest courtesies of the spring season was the shower given to Mrs. Ray Priddy of Priddy (nee Lillian Patterson), a recent bride, by her Sunday School class—the Wesley Workers class of the Methodist church of this city—Mrs. S. P. Sullivan teacher. A goodly number of the members of the class met at the home of the president, Miss Love Gatlin, and five cars were filled with happy well wishers, together with a huge box of gifts, a box of sandwiches and other good refreshments, as this was to be a complete surprise to the bride in her new home.

After a delightful drive of 15 miles the party arrived at the new home and were received very graciously by Mrs. Priddy and welcomed into the pretty bungalow beautifully furnished.

While the bride conducted some of the party thru the house, others were busy bringing in the packages and when she returned to the living room her surprise was great to find the library table banked with packages which she was requested to open. Many beautiful and useful gifts were placed on the dining table, as they were unwrapped and admired by the bride and guests.

CORNER STONE FOUND TO CONTAIN MANY ARTICLES

BOX WAS OPENED THIS WEEK

The corner stone of the old school building, used in recent years as Grammar school building, was removed this week and the tin box in which many articles were stored at the time of the erection of the building, was opened. There is enough history connected with the old building and the contents of the box taken from the corner stone to fill a book. The Eagle appreciates the courtesy of the school board in allowing an inspection of the contents of the box before it was returned to the corner stone in the new building. While it would be impossible for the Eagle to go into an exhaustive report of the contents of the box and history, it will be interesting to many of the old citizens to know some of the details.

To begin with, a great majority of those whose names appear on documents in the box have passed to their rewards. One of the first of the contents inspected by the Eagle editor was a copy of the Mountaineer, one of the first papers published in Goldthwaite. It was owned by W. H. Thompson, Sr., and A. J. Sibley. This paper was in its fifth year at the time of the laying of the corner stone. It contained advertisements of local business men, only a very few of whom are now living, among them being P. H. Clements, Jas. Rahl, J. H. Randolph, J. B. Ferguson and J. H. Allen, saddler. Some of the others may be living, but the editor believes they have all passed on.

The box also contains a copy of the Texas Christian Advocate, in its 36th year. It was published by Shaw & Blalock, with Jas. Campbell editor. The paper was addressed to Mrs. Rebecca Beaty.

Another very interesting paper in the box was the Rancho Racket, published at Williams Ranch. It was dated June 24, 1880, owned by W. S. Marshall and edited by M. C. Smith. It was 3 columns wide by 12 inches deep and had 8 pages, all home print and filled with advertising, local items and communications from Brownwood, Comanche, Hamilton, Lampasas, San Saba, Gatesville and elsewhere. The town of Williams Ranch was in Brown county but is now Mills county.

There is in the box a silver plate 7 inches square bearing the inscription: "Ella Goldthwaite School Building, corner stone laid Aug. 22, 1890, Goldthwaite Lodge No. 330, J. A. White, N. G.; J. A. Vickers, V. G.; W. B. Neel, R. Secretary; W. R. Hester, P. Secretary; Jas. Rahl, Treasurer; Jno. C. Underwood, Grand Sire; Thos. W. Wiley, Grand Master; Benjamin Harrison, President of the U. S.; L. S. Ross, Governor State of Texas."

A county letterhead deposited by W. Livingston gives a roster of the county officers: J. B. Head, judge; J. H. Clements, county clerk; C. Rawls, district clerk; Uvalde Burns, attorney; G. W. Cunningham, sheriff and tax collector; Jas. Ewing, treasurer; W. Livingston, surveyor; J. H. Mohler, assessor; E. S. Kirby, inspector.

A letter from P. H. Clements to the President of the United States written on a letterhead of Clements & Nailor, real estate agents. This was wrapped in tin foil together with a circular description of Mills county and on the reverse carried advertisements of Clements & Nailor, Harris Bros., Tripplett & Lewis, Jno. J. Cox and the Bowden House.

In the box are envelopes and

Small Grain Harvesting Is In Progress

Many Binders Sold In Goldthwaite

The grain crop is being harvested and bids fair to be a bumper. An indication of the size of the crop is shown by the fact that already fifty new reapers have been sold in Goldthwaite and more are being put out each day. The record by harvester machinery companies shows that more binders have been sold by Goldthwaite dealers than by the dealers in any other town on this branch of the Santa Fe. This not only shows that our grain crop is fine and that Mills county farm land is most productive, but it proves that the Mills county farmers are prosperous and are able to purchase and put in operation all the modern farm machinery they need or desire. This is a wonderful country and the best part of it all is that Mills county people are all white folks—inside and out.

FRIENDS INTERESTED

Many Goldthwaite people are interested in the breach of promise suit of Mrs. Katherine Gaddis Fogarty against James J. (Gene) Tunney for half a million dollars, filed in Bridgeport, Conn., this week. Mrs. Fogarty lives in New York, but has frequently visited in Goldthwaite, where she has a great many admiring friends. She is a sister of Mrs. Edward Geeslin and as Miss Katie Gaddis was quite well known and popular. All who know her here hope she gets the full amount of her claim. Tunney and his bride are in Brioni, Italy, on their honeymoon and he claims entire ignorance of the allegations. However, the Star-Telegram in giving a report of the suit and the allegations, says in part: "It was reported here before Tunney's marriage that he and Mrs. Fogarty were engaged. They were said to have been sweethearts for years. Shortly before Tunney's marriage a report was current that he and Mrs. Fogarty had been secretly married in or near Fort Worth, but this was proven false after an investigation."

HEATING CONTRACT LET

The School Board this week contracted with Hill Bros. of Waco for providing both the Grammar and High school buildings with steam heat equipment. This is one of the best deals the Board has yet made, for it not only insures economical heating, but will provide means of keeping the rooms at a uniform temperature, making the pupils and teachers comfortable and preserving their health. The board members are certainly giving a lot of time and attention to school matters and are entitled to the enthusiastic gratitude of the public, especially those who have pupils in school.

FIRST LUNCHEON

The first weekly luncheon of the Goldthwaite Lions club is to be held at the Royal cafe today at 12:30 and will only continue an hour. A full attendance of the membership is desired, as plans for future meetings and Charter night are to be discussed and probably some committees to be appointed. It is expected that a number of committees already appointed will make reports at the luncheon.

BAPTIST REVIVAL

The revival in progress at the Baptist church has continued to attract large congregations at every service during the week and the powerful sermons of Dr. Hudson have been the subject of discussion throughout the town and country. Very few preachers have ever delivered a series of sermons here that have been so universally enjoyed and appreciated. Dr. Hudson is by no means a sensational preacher, neither can he be said to deal in platitudes and generalities. He preaches a strong gospel sermon, ignoring the sinner personally, but warning against sin and urging righteousness. Most people who have heard him pronounce him an ideal sermonizer and all are enthusiastic in praise of his conduct of the meeting.

The song service is also one of the most attractive parts of the service. Mr. and Mrs. Gary are not only good singers and soul-stirring soloists, but they know how to lead the folk in song. He has organized a large junior choir and the children take interest in the singing.

Rev. Ivins, pastor of the church, is leaving nothing undone to make this one of the best meetings ever sponsored by his church or any church in town. He has the united support of his church membership and the hearty good wishes of the people of the town and surrounding country.

It is expected that the meeting will close with the Sunday night service, much to the regret of the Goldthwaite people.

GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

June 3 will be the golden anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. James Rahl of this city. On that date they will have been married fifty years and Judge William Shaw, who officiated at the ceremony, is still alive and makes his home at Georgetown. This week Mr. and Mrs. Rahl received a ten dollar gold piece as their first present in honor of their golden anniversary. They have made their home in Goldthwaite ever since the town was established and have reared a family of honorable and estimable children, all of whom now live elsewhere. No family in all this region stands higher or has more friends than James Rahl and family.

COMMISSIONERS COURT

Commissioners court was in session the first three days of this week as a board of equalization. A large number of renditions were deemed too low and the property owners notified to appear before the court June 4 and show cause why their renditions should not be raised. The court is endeavoring to place the burden of taxation equal on all citizens and the commissioners are using their best judgment in equalizing the values.

AUDITORS AT WORK

Representatives of the Rankin Audit Co. of Houston commenced work yesterday on the county's records and books. This company was recently employed by the commissioners court of audit the books from 1923 to date and it is expected the work will require several weeks for completion.

DISTRICT COURT

There has been very little doing in court so far this week. Two civil cases were set for the early part of the week, but they were compromised and settled out of court, consequently there was nothing on trial the first two days.

The jury commissioners met Monday and discharged their duty, by drawing the jurors to be summoned for the next term of court. The commissioners appointed by Judge Brewster were R. E. Clements, J. Everett Evans, A. B. Bledsoe, F. R. Hines, R. H. Patterson.

The proceedings so far show: First State Bank of Mullin vs. W. A. Short, suit on note; judgment for plaintiff.

E. W. Reeves vs. Atlantic Pipe Line Co., damages; settled by agreement.

W. E. Miller vs. W. E. Hobbs, suit on note; judgment for plaintiff.

W. J. Weatherby et al vs. J. W. Whorton, suit for land title; judgment for plaintiff.

Mrs. Leona Price vs. D. J. Price, divorce granted; case settled by agreement on community property.

Mrs. A. O. Sharp vs. A. O. Sharp, divorce granted.

E. D. Kelley vs. Mrs. Josephine Kelley, divorce granted; a division of community property and custody of child to each six months per year.

The jury in the Dalton case failed to agree and was discharged last Friday at noon. The case goes over to the fall term of court and has been set for trial at that time.

A jury was secured in the Bradley Weathers case Wednesday night and the trial got well under way yesterday. This is a case wherein Weathers is charged with shooting and killing W. H. Hodnett in Goldthwaite a few weeks ago.

AN OLD INDIAN FIGHTER

A visitor who has attracted more than passing notice here this week is Col. Gardner, who carries with him credentials showing him to have been a companion of Wm. Cody and other pioneers who fought back the red men. He travels with three burros, one of which he says has crossed the continent seven times. Col. Gardner has letters from several presidents of the United States, including Roosevelt and Woodrow Wilson. His long hair and whiskers attract attention wherever he goes. He says he is 81 years old, his father is 105 and his mother 102. He takes quite an interest in Boy Scouts, and expects to be with them in their encampment in San Saba county this summer. He will probably leave Goldthwaite today.

STOLEN CAR RECOVERED

The sheriff's department last Saturday recovered an automobile that had been stolen in Brownwood and abandoned on the Lometa road a short distance south of Judge Patterson's residence. The car was the property of a man by the name of Jones and he, accompanied by Deputy Sheriff Norman Jack of Brownwood, came for it Saturday. The car was rather dilapidated and was of not much value. It had been driven to one side of the road and one tire was flat. No trace of the thief was found.

CENTER CITY

Editor Eagle: As we have seen no news from this community for several weeks will send you a few items.

Rev. Quinn of Brownwood filled his regular appointment at the Baptist church Saturday and Sunday. Many of the Center City folk attended the evening services at Goldthwaite with him and enjoyed all the services.

Mrs. Emma Casbeer and Mrs. Viloa Chappell have been on the sick list, but are reported as being improved.

The Center City school closed last week with graduation exercises at the Methodist church Friday night. Rev. Lambert of Goldthwaite delivered a splendid address. Margaret Venable was valedictorian and Lee Hendry was salutatorian. Much credit for the success of the school is due our teachers.

Mr. Winn W. Nichols of Waco was a pleasant visitor with Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Oglesby one day last week.

Miss Ruby Yeager, who stayed with her brother and attended school here, returned to her home at Pecan Wells last week.

The sheep men are busy this week shearing their sheep. Mrs. Artur Walton and her daughter entertained the Sunday school class with a picnic last Wednesday afternoon.

Rev. Smith and family visited in the Pleasant Grove community the first of the week.

Several men from this community attended the sale at Pleasant Grove last Friday and Saturday.

Miss Fannie Luckie returned to her home at Indian Gap, after the close of school here last week. She was elected for another term. XX.

BIG VALLEY

Bro. Forrester filled his regular appointment here Saturday night and Sunday.

The school exercises Monday night were well attended and enjoyed.

Pattie Cockrell, Joy Doak and Zora Lee Moreland were home one day this week, looking after schools.

The sing-song met at the usual hour Sunday. The meeting developed into a consecration service. Bro. Forrester made an appeal for surrendered lives to definite Christian service. Bro. Bedford Renfro gave himself to the ministry. He has been impressed for years that he should. At last he stepped out on the promise given Joshua of old, "Be strong and of good courage, I will not fail nor forsake thee." The confidence he expressed in this being his duty was modest, yet convincing. The hand clasp of Christians present was proof of their blessing and prayers. After the service was dismissed the people seemed loath to leave the church. They lingered in groups and talked until the shadows lengthened.

Melvin Doak made a business visit to San Marcos and Austin Tuesday.

We are very glad to welcome Ben Forehand and family to Big Valley. FARMER.

The school board has elected Miss Vivian Campbell, daughter of Dr. J. M. Campbell, to fill a position in the high school as English teacher, taking the place of Miss Alice Hitchcock, resigned. Miss Vivian has just completed a four years course in the State University and is well qualified for the position.

Judge and Mrs. E. B. Anderson expect to leave on their summer vacation trip Monday, going to Arizona for a visit to Minor Simms and wife and then to the Pacific coast. Mrs. Ed Gilliam, jr., of Brownwood will accompany them to Arizona. They expect to be away several weeks.

TEXAS HEARS CLATTER OF MILK CANS

Texas has discovered the dairy cow—and the dairy cow has discovered Texas! The milk stream has come to irrigate the new agriculture of the Lone Star State. The cheese factory and the milk condenser are taking their places alongside the cotton gin and the oil derrick. The cream separator is getting acquainted with the cotton bag, the grain sack and the peach basket. The record of 1928 was one of remarkable achievement. It is doubtful if twelve months ever saw an equal amount of dairying progress in any other State. In view of the cow-consciousness of rural Texas and of the co-operative spirit of bankers and other men of business, it may safely be said that the time is near when Wisconsin, New York, Iowa, Minnesota and New England will have to look to their laurels.

In error it has been said that dairying in Texas is of revolutionary aspect, as if a typhoon of enthusiasm had swept the State, tossing aside existing modes of agriculture and leaving in its wake the contented Jersey calmly chewing its cud. The truth is that Texas started preparing for dairying on the grand scale way back yonder in the periods of molten rock and inland seas and bubbling islands—ages ago Mother Earth began to concentrate the right soils for lush grass, to establish the even year-round climate, to scrape the streambeds, to shape the topography of what is today a natural cow country. The same conditions that made of Texas the greatest beef cattle country on the face of the Earth are combining, with other and more lately apparent conditions, to create a State that shall rank first in the production of sweet cream butter, condensed milk, dried milk and other creamery products.

This new set of conditions includes the important size of the present population, 5,477,000, with its proportionately important home market for cream, milk, buttermilk, butter, dried milk, condensed milk, ice cream, bakery products, confections, and so on. It includes an agriculture already diversified and eager to welcome the dairy cow as a supplement to cotton and grain and other cash products. It embraces an extensive industrialization with a large laboring class in need of fresh, wholesome calory-packed foods. It takes in the seaports, the railroad mileage which is greater than that of any other State, the highway communication facilities, the high degree of county agent organization, and the value of experimentation, and the value of agricultural experimentation in the State.

The year 1929 opened with a loud clatter of milk cans. Indications point to a bettering of 1928's proud record—and 1928 was full of surprises. Bankers are assisting the movement because they see in it an agricultural stabilizer. Merchants are helping it along because they know it will add buying power to their out-of-town customers. Everyone recognizes dairying's potentialities, and feels that it will help to balance the major sources of Texas income and to insure a solid, permanent prosperity. In Texas dairying is not regarded as a boom, but as a boon. The proposition has quite outgrown the calf stage, and today the dairy cow takes a full, sure stride across the horizon of the Lone Star State—Texas Opportunities.

IF—

How often this little word with big meanings represents the difference between success and failure, between happiness and misery, between independence and dependence!

"If I had known twenty-five years ago what I know today my position financially would be different," says a Grayson county farmer. Practically every other man and woman might make the same observation with equal force. "I have wasted my life," said a seventy-three-year old man when shown that a high school boy was making more with a few hundred hens than the old gentleman had ever made with his farm.

But regrets are useless. "Ifs" salve our self-conceit, but buy no bonds. The big, outstanding fact is that any man, woman, boy or girl can know now, with some effort, more of the essentials of success than their ancestors could ever know. Life is too short to learn these things alone, each for himself. They have been collected, published, and distributed in such a way that they are available to everyone who seeks. A single year's issue of Farm and Ranch would make many ordinary volumes, some of them carrying knowledge which did not exist when the middle-aged farmer was growing up.

With an ambition to succeed and an open mind, even the middle-aged and older men and women may today cast all the "ifs" behind them, as the Grayson county farmer has done, and recast their fortunes and their lives, as he has done. The spirit is what counts. The initiative must be exercised by the one to be benefited. Not all obstacles can be surmounted by the individual, but if he is broad-gauged enough to study his own part he will also be big enough to join his fellows in those things where collective action must supplement individual effort.

A quarter of a century ago there was ample excuse for not knowing. There is no excuse today except indifference or inability to understand, for observation of successful farmers and reliable agricultural information from scores of sources open a road to a better rural life in which there will be no need for "ifs" and regrets.—Farm and Ranch.

LATERAL ROADS NEED ATTENTION

The rural mail carriers of Texas are interested in the improvement of the lateral roads in Texas. In such counties as Dallas, and other counties where large cities are located, lateral roads are good in all weather conditions, but in many other counties of the State hundreds of farm homes are isolated in bad weather. Rural mail routes are established where they can serve the most people, therefore it would be logical to begin lateral road improvements on routes already selected by the Post Office Department for rural service. Thus, in our road building we would be serving the greatest number of people possible.

When one travels through the State and has occasion to leave the pike and finds the road impassable even in dry weather, his sympathies go out to the farmers and their families who are paying taxes for good roads but see very little of them. It is true that primary roads of as nearly permanent construction as possible are essential to the development of the State, but one wonders if it is not about time that the farmers received greater consideration in the expenditure of public funds. Certainly road commissioners and the State Department could at least keep these farmer-used roads in much better condition than they are now in without adding to the tax rate of the State or the county.—Farm and Ranch.

THE TEST OF A MAN

The place to take the true measure of a man is not the forum or the field, not the market place or the amen corner, but at his own fireside. There he lays aside his mask and you may judge whether he is an imp or an angel, king or cur, hero or humbug. I care not what the world says of him; whether it crown him with pay, pelt him with bad eggs; I care never a copper what his reputation or his religion may be; if his babes dread his home coming and his better half has to swallow her heart every time she has to ask him for a five-dollar bill, he's a fraud of the first water, even though he prays night and morn 'til he's black in the face, and howls hallelujah 'til he shakes the eternal hills. But if his children rush to the front gate to greet him, and love's own sunshine illuminates the face of his wife when she hears his footsteps fall, you may take it for granted that he is true gold, for his home's a heaven, and the humbug never gets that near the great white throne of God. I can forgive much in that fellow mortal who would rather make men swear than make women weep; who would rather have the hate of the whole he-world than the contempt of his wife; who would rather call anger to the eyes of a king than fear to the face of a child.—William Cowper Brann.

PAINS
In Side and Back

"I HAD BEEN miserable for a long time. My health was poor, and I suffered a lot from weakness. At times, my strength was so little that I could not stand on my feet. I would have to give up and go to bed. My sides and back hurt dreadfully.

"I grew discouraged, for I could do so little. I worried about myself, and almost gave up hope of ever being strong and well. I could scarcely lift a bucket of water. My household work went undone, for I was not strong enough to do it.

"After I had taken Cardui for a little while, I began to feel better. I grew stronger, soon found that I could do my work with less effort, and the pains in my back and sides left me. I think Cardui is a wonderful medicine. My health has been excellent since then."—Mrs. D. L. Beckner, W. Main St., Salem, Va.

MEXICO AT PEACE

Ex-President Calles has won glory for himself and peace to his Nation by his stern and thorough suppression of the rebellion. The leaders of the movement to overthrow the Government are either dead, in exile or in hiding. The influence of the United States was so definitely in favor of the established government that future rebellions will presumably be few and far between.

President Gil is now addressing himself to domestic reorganization and reform, and has announced his determination to fight against the drink evil by the methods of education and economic betterment. His great ambition is to improve the economic conditions of the poor and raise their standards of living.

By far the most important development in Mexico since the rebellion is the movement of the government to make peace with the Church. President Gil has publicly absolved the church as an institution from the charge of participation in the rebellion, and has hinted that he is preparing to discuss the matter of reconciliation with Archbishop Ruiz, the ranking dignitary of the hierarchy in Mexico. Doubtless in the next few weeks, negotiations will be under way, resulting probably in the resumption of services in the churches, discontinued since the rupture of 1926.

Mexico has had a strenuous career in late years, but apparently the turn in the road has come. Its relations with the United States have become cordial, its finances are in process of reorganization, and if only a generation of peace without revolts, should follow, the constructive policies of Calles and Gil will have opportunity to elevate the mass of population through vocational education, land ownership and a living wage. — Dallas News.

STATE NEWS BRIEFS

A valuable masterpiece, "Mexican Flowers," painted by Ramon Martinez, director of the Mexican School of Arts, has been purchased by President and Mrs. Emilio Portes Gil as a wedding present, it is understood, for Col. Charles A. Lindbergh and Miss Anne Morrow. It took Mr. Martinez 15 years to paint the picture, which represents four women denoting four principal types of Mexican womanhood—Spanish, Indian, Mestiza (or a mixture of Indian and Spanish) and the modern type of Mexican girl. The women appear in a garden resplendent with native flowers. The purchase price was not announced.

Capt. Manuel Escalante, 31, army officer in Peru, was married in San Antonio Sunday afternoon, but he won't know it for sure until he receives a cablegram which his bride, the former Mrs. Laurencia Jackson-Burns Yarbrough, was to send him. The Peruvian flyer and the 30-year-old San Antonio woman were united in San Antonio's first proxy wedding. Mrs. Escalante plans to join her husband in Lima in June or July. She said the proxy wedding was determined because Captain Escalante could not obtain leave to come to the United States at this time. The marriage culminated a romance begun when the Peruvian officer was a student at Kelly Field in San Antonio. He was recalled to Peru several months ago. The unusual ceremony was performed by Justice of the Peace John F. Onion in his office. Fred C. Groos acted as proxy for the bridegroom, answering under power of attorney the questions which would have been put to Capt. Escalante had he been present. Instead of saying "I will," however, Mr. Groos replied "he will."

Adjutant Gen. W. C. Boyd of Tennessee was arrested Friday on a warrant charging "aiding and abetting an attempt to commit murder," sworn out by Evelyn Heaton, a striking textile worker, injured Thursday by an automobile that dashed through a group of picketers who blocked the road. He was released on $1,000 bond.

Either new uses of wheat other than flour or feed must be found or production must be reduced in the United States, W. H. Killingsworth, San Antonio, president of the Texas Grain Dealers' Association, told the organization in its thirty-second annual meeting in Fort Worth last Friday.

Governor Huey P. Long of Louisiana has won his fight with the state legislature, which sought to impeach him. All charges against him were dropped and the senate court of impeachment adjourned sine die. Proceedings of the senate court were deadlocked by the introduction of a statement signed by 15 senators to the effect that they believed the trial unconstitutional and they would vote for acquittal on all charges regardless of what testimony there might be entered. The adjournment ended the impeachment proceedings against the governor which arose in the course of a special session called March 20 for the purpose of levying a license tax on oil refineries.

YOU REAP AS YOU SOW

The editor is acquainted with a man who is utterly devoid of any belief in the future well being of Whitewright. He is not a bad fellow at heart, but he views his surroundings from a jaundiced point of view. He actually pronounces his community squalid, sees little interest in his environment, and regrets constantly that he is not in business elsewhere. He is not what one would call a happy man.

The editor is acquainted with another man who is enthusiastic about his town. He never misses an opportunity to tell strangers all about its good points. He is actively engaged in every enterprise initiated for the purpose of upbuilding the community. He believes in the town and the future of his own business, and he thus approaches all of his work with an enthusiasm that breaks down all obstacles and makes success certain. He is not only desirous of making Whitewright a larger city and more prosperous community, but in making the social life here more attractive. He is without question a happy man.

Does it pay him to be a community booster? If we count the satisfaction and pleasure he gets out of life as well as the financial remuneration he receives from his business activity here, there can only be one answer. It surely does.

In other words you can get no more out of your community than you are willing to put into it.—Whitewright Sun.

SINCLAIR HOLDS HIS JOB

We like to tell ourselves that the moral standards of business are improving. And they are. But something less than universally cherubic innocence prevails even yet. For example, when Harry Sinclair was re-elected the other day as director of the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation, he received more votes than any other man for the board. As an example of business ethical attainment the occurrence is scarcely convincing.

The corporation is the creature of law. The breath of its existence is dependent upon the maintenance of order, obedience to statute and the preservation of authority. An attack on the prestige of government is an attack upon the security of its very life and property. For a corporation to countenance crime is in the nature of suicide folly. And yet the Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation blithely disregards all that.

Technically Mr. Sinclair is not a criminal. At least he is not a felon. But if all corporations were manned by Harry Sinclairs, corporations would lose their right to legal entity as fast as the public could take it away from them. For the corporation justifies itself only as it is a worthy economic servant. The great majority of them are. And because this is so the cry against the soulless corporation has long since ceased to have any force with us. That is because, however, Sinclairs are less common than once they were in big business. For that we can be thankful. —Dallas News.

Mesdames Walter Fairman, C. M. Burch, Mark Fairman and her sister, Mrs. A. S. Templeton of San Antonio, made a visit to Brownwood the first of this week.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Fifty years ago, the radio was undreamed of, but the natural laws on which the operation of radio depends have been in existence since the beginning of the world. The ether waves have always been there, but only in the last few years have men learned how to harness them for his education and entertainment.

The same is true of Chiropractic. The natural forces which Chiropractic puts to work in its health-restoring and health-building program are ageless, and eternal (God gave both to mankind.)

In both cases it remained for trained men of science to take the forces of nature and put them to work for the benefit of all mankind. Our grandfathers would have laughed at the suggestion of such things as radio and Chiropractic, and yet both are firmly established—by virtue of their supreme usefulness—in this modern, wide-awake world. "God's eternal laws will work, believe it or not," and—
"There'll Be No Regrets."

Friends of former Senator Joseph Weldon Bailey have perfected plans to raise $100,000 for the erection of a memorial for him. Present plans call for a life-size bronze statue of the "last democrat" in the rotunda or in the capital grounds at Austin. Judge Rice Maxey of Sherman has been named chairman of the memorial committee.

Robbers secured approximately $30,000 in cash and convertible securities from the Miller County Bank and Trust Co. at Texarkana Wednesday morning. The same old system of forcing the bank officials and customers in the vault was used. The vault was not looted, but the robbers made a clear get-away just the same and nobody knows which way they went.

There seems to be trouble ahead for Land Commissioner Robison, because of his alleged misuse of funds that should have been placed in the state treasury, instead of his private bank account. Impeachment proceedings were said to be in preparation when the special session of the legislature adjourned. The prediction is made that he will resign before the convening of the next special session.

Creager and Hoovercrats in Texas lost a patronage fight this week when R. K. Smith of New Orleans was reappointed to the shipping board by President Hoover and his name sent to the senate. Texans had been supporting William Lea, former mayor of Orange, and during the last few days Senator Sheppard and Connally had been making heroic efforts to get Lea appointed. Lea had the support of Creager and Hoover organizations as well as regular democrats in the senate.

The Old Building There is a great deal of history connected with the old building. At the time of the erection of the first unit of the building the only public school building here was a wooden structure located on the block south of the Eagle office, on the opposite end of the block from that now occupied by the Mills County Cold Storage building. When the stone building was erected the law did not permit independent school districts to bond themselves to build school houses, so a number of citizens signed a note to Major D. H. Trent for the money to build the new house, to provide adequate school facilities for the town.

Two additions were made to the building, the first being a section making and L. Some years later there was a demand for more room and another section was added, making it into the form of an H. Both of the additions were built with money secured by the issuance of bonds.

ENTERTAINMENT

On last Thursday evening from 8 until 11 o'clock, Mr. and Mrs. Eric D. Robertson entertained the pupils of the Big Valley High School with a very enjoyable party. Each of the students invited a guest and those present were: Walton Daniel and Pauline Long; Robert Cook and Helen Thompson; Una V. DuPuy, Thelma Reagan and Vance Cockrell; Woodrow Long and Myrtle Barton; J. C. Long and Sarah Cochran; Noma Lee Webb and Melvin Doak; Gladys Knowles and Howard Ducey; Onaita Knowles and Ellis Smith; Waldine Traylor and Philip Nickols; Clarence Ducey and Leatrice Smith; Rex Bohannon and Loraine Ducey; Mary Johnson and Laman Reagan; Doc Ledbetter and Hazel Reagan.

The seventh grade girls and Oneta Traylor assisted Mr. and Mrs. Robertson with the entertainment.

Punch was served to the guests when they arrived. We were then ushered into the living room to register and each was given five hearts. We were told to collect a heart from every person whom we heard use the words "yes" or "no." At the close of the party the winner of the contest was to be determined by the one having collected the most hearts. This honor was won by Clarence Ducey, who received the register book and a box of Cracker Jack. Helen Thompson was second in the contest.

The "Style Revue" created lots of merriment. After the selection of partners, each boy was given a paper of pins and told to dress his partner in a paper dress. They were then passed in review. A vote was taken to determine the best dressed girl. Pauline Long was decided to be the best dressed, due to the skill of her partner, Rex Bohannon. He received a small celluloid doll as a prize.

Many other contests were enjoyed. We were then served to a delicious luncheon, followed by more punch.

Everyone expressed themselves as having a wonderful evening and bade Mr. and Mrs. Robertson a happy good night. A STUDENT.

A PRECIOUS MOTHER GONE

The many friends of the Forehand family were deeply grieved when they heard of the death of Mrs. H. G. Forehand, which occurred at her home on Tuesday evening, April 23, 1929.

Yes, our friend, Mrs. H. G. Forehand, is gone, but the influence of her sweet Christian character abides with us still and shall ever abide with us. The writer had the pleasure of being closely connected with her, being fortunate enough to have one of her children, Mrs. Scott, for a neighbor. This writer knows no one of whom she can speak more highly. She was a sweet neighbor. It was a pleasure to be associated with such a lovable character.

The beautiful funeral service was conducted by her pastor, Rev. G. C. Ivins.

"A precious mother from them is gone,

A voice they loved is stilled; A chair is vacant in their home. But they weep for you, dear mother.

But only can say, they'll meet you there."

MRS. H. E. MORELAND.

WHICH ARE YOU?

The bones in the body Are two hundred or more; But for sorting our people We need only four.

Wish-bone people: They hope for, they long for, They wish for and sigh; They want things to come, but Aren't willing to try.

Funny-bone people: They laugh, grin and giggle, Smile, twinkle the eye; If work is a joke, sure They'll give it a try.

Jaw-bone people: They scold, jaw and sputter, They froth, rave and cry; They're long on the talk, but They're short on the try.

Back-bone people: They strike from the shoulder, They never say die; They're winners in life, for They know how to try.

MY DEBT TO MY CITY

Giles H. Stelwell, when retiring as president of the chamber of commerce of Syracuse, New York, delivered this significant address:

"The City of Syracuse owes me nothing. If accounts were balanced at this date, I would be the debtor. Haven't I, all these years, lived within the limits of the city and shared all its benefits? Haven't I had the benefit of its schools, churches and hospitals? Haven't I had the benefit of its library, parks and public places? Haven't I had the protection of its fire, police and health departments? Haven't its people, during all this time, been gathering for me, from the four corners of the earth, food for my table, clothing for my body and material for my home? Hasn't the city furnished the patronage by which I have succeeded in my profession (or business)? Has not it furnished the best friends of my life, whose ideals have been my inspiration, whose kind words have been my cheer and whose helpfulness has carried me over my greatest difficulties? What shall I give in return? Not simply taxes, which cover so small a part of what I have received. I want to give more; I want, of my own free will, to give enough so that I can rightfully say, 'This is my city.' So that I can take pride in 'my city'; so that I can take pride in its prosperity, in the honors which come to its citizens, and in all that makes it greater and better. I can do this only by becoming a part of the city—by giving to it generously of myself. In this way only can I, even in a small part, pay the great debt I owe to Syracuse. In the chamber of commerce I have my chance and welcome it."

WHAT NEWSPAPER ADS. DID

It was only a few years ago that the retail stores in towns and the smaller cities did the bulk of the week's business on Saturday. While the other five business days might have paid expenses the merchant depended upon the Saturday sales for the major portion of his week's profit. Needless to say the average merchant would have been exempt from excess profits taxes in those days.

The newspaper is given credit for discovering the possibility of scattering the Saturday peak load over the six business days of the week and it was newspaper advertising which has achieved the present more equitable distribution of the week's business. Saturday is still the merchant's busy day, but now he is only a little less busy on the preceding five days.

This is only one of the many services performed for business by newspaper advertising. It is irrefutable that a great part of the increase in business experienced by the retail stores generally in recent years has been created by newspaper advertising. Newspaper advertising has been the "Aladdin's Lamp" of the retail merchant. There are still isolated towns where one may see for himself what "might have been" the nation over if newspaper advertising had never been.

F. F. Henderson and wife have visited in Temple and elsewhere this week and are now back home.

WORK AND GLORY FOR ALL

Not long ago we heard a man prominent in the Agricultural Extension work say that it would be better if chambers of commerce would interest themselves more in the building up of industry rather than in indulging so much in efforts to do work that the Extension Service was already engaged in. In explanation of this statement he suggested that we needed industry in order that better markets could be developed, and also intimated that frequently chamber of commerce agricultural programs conflicted more or less with the well-thought-out plans of the Extension Service.

Farm and Ranch can appreciate the difficulties of the Extension Service in carrying out a constructive program of agricultural development when so many other agencies have programs which may conflict. Farm and Ranch has often suggested that greater progress would be made if chambers of commerce and other commercial organizations and institutions would assist in the development of the Extension program rather than launch out on programs of their own. Yet, we believe that the Extension work in Texas has been immeasurably benefitted in its work by the business men represented through their chambers of commerce and other institutions in the development of agriculture. A. and M. College is a greater institution than it would have been had the business interests of the State been indifferent to agriculture, and the Extension and Experiment services are more alive and do more effective work because of this interest.

Fortunately the majority of agencies interested in agriculture in Texas are in perfect harmony with the College and the services it represents. Occasionally programs may conflict, but generally we find the differences are adjusted and the work goes on. The question of credit for services rendered may sometimes become an obstacle in the way of progress, but any agency worth while, be it supported by taxpayers, corporations or an organization of business men, should give last consideration, or no consideration at all, to a matter of such minor importance.

If the service rendered is worthy, the man or men responsible for it will be known to those who are benefitted. There is work enough for all, and glory too, in the development of the agricultural resources of the great Southwest.—Farm and Ranch.

FIFTY YEARS AGO

Fifty years ago, the radio was undreamed of, but the natural laws on which the operation of radio depends have been in existence since the beginning of the world. The ether waves have always been there, but only in the last few years have men learned how to harness them for his education and entertainment.

The same is true of Chiropractic. The natural forces which Chiropractic puts to work in its health-restoring and health-building program are ageless and eternal (God gave both to mankind.)

In both cases it remained for trained men of science to take the forces of nature and put them to work for the benefit of all mankind. Our grandfathers would have laughed at the suggestion of such things as radio and Chiropractic, and yet both are firmly established—by virtue of their supreme usefulness—in this modern, wide-awake world. "God's eternal laws will work, believe it or not," and— "There'll Be No Regrets."

These scholarships, as well as the one granted last year to Miss Agnes Kolaja of Needville, who was at that time a University student, were secured through the efforts of Dr. Eduard Mizek, professor of Germanic languages in the University.
