GOLDTHWAITE LIONS HOLD AN ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

Local Work To Be Done

The Goldthwaite Lions and their wives enjoyed a very pleasant meeting and banquet Tuesday evening at the Saylor hotel.

After the dinner had been served an hour or more was spent in speech making and discussing club business and civic interests to be fostered. Everybody seemed enthusiastic over the program outlined and expressed a desire to enter upon the work before them with renewed energy.

The special work outlined as securing playground equipment for the school and a public library for the town, while a committee from the club will be in charge of public buildings and grounds, to see that everything is kept in proper condition and also to look after the sanitary welfare in every case co-operation with the officers and others charged with this work, in order that there may be no friction or "lost motion" by the duties being duplicated.

The president of the Lions club was authorized to appoint committees for every phase of civic work and the members present, as well as the ladies, pledged themselves to the fullest co-operation in carrying the plans outlined to successful culmination. The names of these committees will be published in next week's Eagle.

It was determined to hold two meetings of the club each month in future, both in the evening. One of these meetings will be for the members only and one will be for the members and their wives and guests.

A FATAL ACCIDENT

Mr. L. W. Benson, whose home was in the Live Oak community, on the Goldthwaite-Caradan road, was accidentally killed Wednesday morning at his home about seven miles northwest of this city, by the accidental discharge of his shotgun. He took the gun from the house to kill a hawk and in crossing a barbed wire fence the gun was accidentally discharged, the load striking him in the head and side of the face, causing almost instant death. His wife heard the gun fire and knowing it was not at the location he expected to find the hawk, she went to investigate. She found him entangled in the fence and although he was still breathing, he was unable to speak and died in a few moments.

Mr. Benson was an old settler in this country, having been reared in Coryell county about Evans. For the past several years he has lived in the neighborhood of Goldthwaite. He bore a good reputation and was well liked by those who knew him. He was about 50 years of age and leaves a wife and six children, together with other relatives and many friends.

EXTINGUISHERS CHARGED

OPEN HOUSE BY PARENT-TEACHERS ASSOCIATION

New School Building To Be Dedicated

The Parent-Teachers Association, joined by the Faculty of the Public school, has sent out invitations to the parents and other patrons of the school here to attend a "house warming" in the auditorium of the new Junior High school building tonight (Friday) at 7:30. It is sincerely hoped that there will be a large attendance at this meeting. In fact, all who are not sick or unavoidably called away should attend this meeting and show by their presence and expressions that they appreciate the splendid work the Parent-Teachers are doing. Those who are in no way connected with the school other than as well wishers are giving much time and attention to its interests, while those who have children or relatives in the school give care and labor in the interest and for the benefit of all the children—not their own kin alone—hence, their work is patriotic and praise-worthy.

It must be a very shortsighted and narrow-minded person who considers the work of the teachers from the standpoint of salary alone, and it is hoped there are no such narrow-minded patrons of the school here, but if there should be, they may be sure that men and women with the qualifications and educational attainments required to teach in the Goldthwaite school could make more money in many of the other professions, but these people like thousands of others in their profession, are making the advancement of the young and the elevation of the race a life-work and are entitled to the gratitude and the highest plaudits of those who believe in education and have the interest of the children and young people at heart.

Go to the Junior High School building tonight and see and hear what is being done for the children and the educational interests of the town by the Parent-Teachers organization as well as by the faculty of the school, in every department.

P. T. A.

The Parent-Teachers Association began its year's work by a very enthusiastic meeting in the High school auditorium on Oct. 15. There was good attendance and everyone seemed eager to work to promote the interests of the school. The Glee Club entertained us with several selections and Mrs. J. M. Campbell welcomed the new teachers, after which Mr. D. A. Newton made a very interesting talk on the work of the P. T. A.

Mrs. J. A. Hester presented the lovely picture "The Flag Maker" to the grade which had the greatest number of parents present at this meeting. The picture was won by the fifth grade.

Delicious punch was served those present by Mrs. W. E. Fairman. REPORTER.

Diversification Proves Profitable

A Successful Dairy Farmer

"A Few Cows On The Farm" has come to be a popular text for Dairy Experts, Agriculturists and Economists, but many farmers do not put into practice the theories that look good enough on paper. They want to be shown. They must have facts and figures.

Well here you are: W. L. Daniel, a young farmer living six miles north of Goldthwaite, bought four good Jersey cows last March, borrowing the money from the bank to pay for them. Two of the cows did not produce for two months. Up to October 1st he had received $150 in checks from the local Cheese Factory or $1 a day for the five months. He raised three calves, two of them high grade heifers, and fed whey to seven pigs that now weigh over 100 pounds each. All this from cows on pasture alone, with no feed bill.

Mr. Daniel's milk checks paid for his living. His cotton crop, though short, paid for the cows. Current expenses plus four cows, three calves and 7 pigs make a good showing and the cows are still meeting living expenses.

There you have it. Cows and Cotton, not Cotton only. More farmers milking more good cows will bring more "Farm Relief."

WORK APPRECIATED

The Eagle editor is not alone in appreciating the work of the various community writers, but every reader of the paper appreciates them. A local paper without correspondents is only interesting to a limited circle, while one carrying community letters representing the various sections of the country, is recognized as the highest class. It reaches the people when it represents the people; it represents the people when it represents their communities and their interests. The Eagle has a number of good writers, but wants one in every community if possible and will appreciate letters as often as the correspondent can send them in. The writers are urged to always put their names on their letters, in protection of themselves as well as the paper. These names will not be published, unless the writers desire their names to appear, but where writers are known to their neighbors it would be a risky business for the editor to accept unsigned letters, for some imposter might write under the community heading and make statements that would cause trouble, but requires that the writer's name be known to the editor.

Parent-Teacher Members

The membership Committee has been soliciting members for the Parent-Teachers Association. Over one hundred have paid dues since October 1st. Another list will be published after the meeting in November. We hope to give each patron of the school an opportunity to join the organization.

At an early date the officers will decide just what work we will take up in the school for this year.

NOTICE TO BAND BOYS

Beginning Monday night, I will check each band boy who is absent from band practice. For each time absent he will get six demerits. When he has reached his limit of 48 demerits within a period of four months he will be dismissed from the band and can not be reinstated. A band boy who cuts band rehearsals is not a help or credit to any band, and only holds back the boys who are willing to work, and do their best to make something of their band. Remember the band is yours, it is up to you whether or not your band amounts to anything. It is your duty to yourself and to your band to attend rehearsals regularly. Don't be a slacker. Try to help instead of hinder.

FIRST GOLD SPELL

The cold spell this week was rather severe for the first one of the winter and held on longer than usual. It was the cause of much hurrying to put up stoves and secure winter clothing.

HOUSE BURGLARIZED

Last Sunday afternoon the residence of Monroe Hillard, on the Mullin and Goldthwaite road, about two miles this side of Mullin, was burglarized and a considerable amount of groceries, several dresses and two lady's coats were taken. Mr. Hillard and family had gone for a visit to friends and the burglary was not discovered until late in the afternoon. Sheriff Bledsoe and Deputy E. O. Priddy were called and went to the place and made an investigation, after which they returned to this city, feeling they were on the "hot" trail. Sheriff Bledsoe learned that a man and two women had passed thru town, coming from the west, and had camped near the Cheese factory, in the southern part of town. He immediately went to the camp and found a man and two women comfortably located. He arrested them and upon searching the camp, found all of the articles missed from the Hillard home and they were identified as those belonging to Mr. and Mrs. Hillard.

The man gave the name of J. E. Schmuck and stated one of the women was his wife and the other, Miss Dena Calhoun, his sister-in-law. They claimed to be from Shreveport, La., and had been on a trip to some points in the west and were returning. They were traveling in a Chevrolet roadster and were equipped for camping.

They were placed in jail that night and the next day were granted bail by Justice of the Peace Jas. Rahl, the man in the sum of $750 and the women $500 each. They claimed to be unable to make bond and it is possible they will remain as guests of the county until the next term of district court, which will be held in May.

MERRY WIVES CLUB

Mrs. Kelly Saylor entertained Tuesday with bridge, honoring the Merry Wives Club. A salad course was served to the members and five guests. High honors went to Mrs. Foster Brim, and Mrs. Henry Murphy of San Angelo.

ART AND CIVIC CLUB

Art week was observed by the Art and Civic Club Thursday Oct. 17. Mrs. W. S. Douglas, of San Angelo, sixth district chairman of Texas Artists and Sculptors and Mrs. Edward Geeslin of Brady, the club's first art chairman, were honor guests of an all day meeting. Mrs. Douglas was met at the train by the club president, Mrs. Roy Rowntree.

Mrs. Douglas gave a very interesting lecture to pupils and teachers of the grammar school at 10:30 a. m. As a basis for her lecture she took four well known paintings, namely: "Washington Crossing the Delaware," "Peace and Plenty," "Four Square," and "Frieze of the Prophets," using copies of the originals to illustrate.

At twelve o'clock Mrs. Douglas was accompanied to the Goldthwaite Inn by the president and other club members, where there were joined by Mrs. Geeslin and the entertainment committee for luncheon, which had been beautifully planned.

Soon after lunch Mrs. Douglas lectured to High School students and members of the Parent-Teachers Association.

Later in the afternoon club members and guests met in the home of Mrs. Roy Rowntree where an art program was rendered. After this program, Mrs. Douglas in her pleasing manner gave a brief discussion on Art in the Early Historical High Renaissance, and 19th Century Period. She then discussed several pictures giving their history and bringing out other points of interest. In conclusion a number of local pictures were taken up for criticism. The many favorable expressions she gave concerning these pictures will serve to make each lady appreciate her picture more than she has before.

At a late hour the hostess served tea dainties in two courses to a large number of ladies, many of whom declared this the best club meeting ever attended in Goldthwaite.

American cotton is being bought less and less by Japan and continental Europe. A menace from the East is crowding the United States' hitherto unrivaled position in the world's cotton mart. That menace is the increased cotton cultivation in awakening India, according to Charles B. Nature Thought of Everything
 Nature thought of everything when the human body was made. When the body is about to become ill, nature sends danger signals to warn us. INTERESTING PREDICTION

C. F. R. Smith, agricultural engineer of Iowa State College, makes an interesting prediction. In fifty years from now, he says, the American farmer will sit in an office before an electric switch-board and control automatic plows, cultivators and harvesters which will produce his crops for him without the aid of a single field laborer. "The great revolution in agricultural methods of the last fifty years," says Mr. Smith, "will prove small in comparison with the revolution that will take place in the next fifty years. Automatic farm machinery which runs without constant human supervision will be widely used—the machines will be able to run night and day if necessary—the greatest aid to super-farming in the future, and one whose realization is near at hand, will be a soil-tilling machine, which will move over the field, mixing and pulverizing soil, organic material and plant food in a single operation." The forerunner of these new machines, it may be pointed out to the sceptical, is already in operation and proving successful. It is a manless plow used at Iowa State College, which, after being steered across the field to make the first furrow, guides itself automatically by a guide wheel which follows the last furrow plowed until the field is completed.—Plains Progress.

AUTO FEES

The issuance of motor vehicle and chauffeur licenses for 1930 can not take place until Jan. 1, 1930, and it will be unlawful to operate a car that has not been registered for the new year after midnight of Feb. 1, Assistant Attorney General R. M. Tilley ruled Friday in an opinion to the Highway Commission.

The opinion held that the limits for the counties' portion of the fees should be arrived at after the deduction of the fees for collection, the Legislature having provided that the Tax Collector shall deposit in the county depository of his county, to the credit of the county road and bridge fund, an amount equal to 100 per cent of the net collections made during the preceding week until the amount so deposited for the current year shall have reached a total of $50,000, and collections as used in the statute in the retention of moneys by the counties means net collections.

Because the new law is not effective until Jan. 1, it is ruled that Tax Collectors can not begin registering motor vehicles until that date, as there would be no authority for registering vehicles under a law that would not be in effect. The opinion says the Legislature could meet between Dec. 1 and Jan. 1 and repeal the act.

A further ruling was that there being no provision for any fee to the County Collector when issuing duplicate license receipts, the fund must be remitted to the Highway Department and the only compensation derived by the Tax Collector is ex officio.

GROWING PROBLEM

Automobile accident legislation fails to strike at the root of the problem. Liability insurance, which all should carry, indemnifies but cannot prevent accidents. In most states driving laws are antiquated, inadequate and are laxly enforced. As a result incompetent and careless drivers crowd the public highways, an ever-present menace to the lives of all of us. Licenses to operate a motor car are usually granted without examination, or without inquiry into the fitness of the applicant. Only a few of our states surround the issuance of licenses with any restrictions. The competent and incompetent, the reckless and careful, the law-breaking and the law-abiding, are treated alike. It is no wonder that under such circumstances the accident toll continues to mount. We can never check this devastating record until our laws refuse the use of public highways to drivers who have been proven incompetent or chronically reckless.

Individual Wealth Necessary

"The rich man we shall always have with us, at least as long as we remain civilized," says Hoffman Nickerson in an article in the American Mercury. "There is not now and apparently never was any human society without diversity of income; economic equality is approached only among the lowest savages." Here is the great flaw in the dreams of those Utopians who sigh for a completely socialistic world: where every person shall have as much but no more than the next, and shall have the law on his neighbor once he tries to rise above his fellows. It is a self-evident lesson of history that individual wealth is necessary to progress. It is the rich man, exemplified by our great business, who has created the modern industrial era and raised standards of living and wages to a point never before heard of in the world. The rich man, by creating a demand for capital in industries, makes it possible for every citizen, no matter how lowly, to purchase an interest in a business he patronizes or works for. And it is the rich man who has given the world many of its finest humanitarian and cultural possessions. Under such circumstances it is difficult for the same mind to comprehend the radical doctrine of the disgrace of wealth. Without the rich man the United States would still be in a Dark Age. Every endeavor, in order to benefit humanity, must have a foundation of concentrated capital.

Dairying Leads Industry

When the automobile industry gained the rank of first industry of the United States after being classed as its second for several years, the change suggested comment. But it appears that even the astonishing motor industry has been outstripped, whose $3,000,000,000 worth of products as valued at the farm, is increased to $4,000,000,000 in the increment added by the country's 4,000 creameries, its 5,000 cheese factories, its 300 condensing plants and its many ice cream factories. The $4,000,000,000 annual business of this industry compares with the $3,500,000,000 of the automobile industry.

Dairying contributes more than one-fourth of all the values on the farm. Its 50,000,000,000 gallons of milk is worth more than the cotton, the wheat and the potato crops put together. So rapidly has this industry been growing that predictions have been made of an overproduction more serious than one in the less perishable wheat. Such predictions are not to be ignored, but it may be believed that they take little account of the important modifications recorded and still being recorded in the national diet.—Star Telegram.

GO TO BED

It seems as if the greatest radical experiment ever attempted is determined to revoke all personal liberty and individual rights.

SAVING MADE EASY

(By S. W. Straus)

"I never knew what it meant to save money until I decided that I should like to own a home of my own. Then, in some way, just as soon as I had this definite idea in mind, I found that it was not only not hard to save a regular part of my income but I got a big kick out of it." The writer recently received a letter from which the above is an excerpt and it is here made public in the hope that it will serve as a good suggestion to others. It is an incident of common human experience. No man can read the future and it is not unwise to save money even though we have no definite object in view. Sooner or later the amount of money accumulated in our bank account will serve a useful purpose in our lives. It may help us over a tight place or it may prove to be the foundation of a future fortune. No one should ever be without a certain amount of resources even though the immediate need for them is not apparent. But it is a fact that with some saving is extremely difficult unless there is a definite object in view. It may be to buy a home, embark in business, secure an education, own an automobile, take a trip abroad, or invest in good securities. Or it may be any one of a thousand other worthy objects. The point is that if you are one of those who cannot save without something definite to save for then you should find such a definite objective.

Many really think they can not save. The writer has heard many say, "Money goes thru my hands like water thru a sieve." This is an admission of weakness and the best possible way to overcome it is to establish an objective. Get into the habit of saving. That is the main thing for the longer you save the easier it will become. Save for a definite purpose. Choose some object that you very greatly desire; then save

Australian Bushmen to Hear Strains of "Honey"

LUCILLE BENSTEAD

Native Singer Will Take Back Populaz Tunes

New York City.—When Lucille Benstead, head-line vaudeville artist, returns to her native Australian bush country to introduce modern American melodies into the somber one-tone musical world of that isolated region, she will be remembered as the little girl in pig-tails who won her way to Paris, professional training and fame, by singing for her supper and her railroad fare at mining camps.

Born at Alice Springs, Northern Territory, Southern Australia, Miss Benstead is the daughter of an explorer whose family is the only white one in the bush country for miles around. "Dame Clara Butt toured Australia when I was fifteen years old, and I had the good fortune to secure an audience before her," says Miss Benstead. "She told me that when I was ready to come to Paris, she would give me vocal lessons. I was ready then, except the fare and money to get on while I studied. I earned that the same year by singing at mining camps, often traveling hundreds of miles to reach my rough but appreciative audiences." In Paris, Miss Benstead studied with Dame Butt and Massenet, creating the original role in Massenet's opera "Le Cid." Discovering that the greatest number of people are interested in popular music, this adaptable genius has now turned her talents in this direction and has again succeeded. She will re-visit Australia, taking the life and color of modern American music into the bush country. Says she: "Honey," which is heard as often as 'Ramona' is a popular song that any operatic star would do well to learn. It has the melody and rhythm with which Americans have set the world to dancing and it has technique of a very high quality. Best of all, it bridges the gap between primitive and intellectual music and can be understood by my bushmen as well as by an audience of opera fans."

JUNIOR PARTY

Junior Circle No. 139 met at the home of Mrs. O. E. Greathouse for a Hallow'en party. There was a large crowd of Juniors and visitors and among the latter were several parents. The plan was for each Junior to invite a visitor to the party.

As each arrived they were met at the door by a spook with an icy hand and made to feel that a real "time" was in store for them. There was a big pot of Brunswick stew boiling in the back yard. The beautiful lawn was well lighted with jack-o'-lanterns and Hallow'en decorations were everywhere in evidence. There was a fortune teller present and each had their fortune told, which was interesting and exciting.

All enjoyed games on the lawn, then the refreshments were served and all enjoyed this part of the program and the parents took part in a 42 game.

The party was so interesting that all remained until 11 o'clock. Mrs. Janie B. Garner came over from San Saba to be with the "spooks" and added to the enjoyment of the party. All were sorry when the time of parting came and we hope to meet again soon.

It will sure pay to read the advertisements in the Eagle this week. In fact, it is a mighty good habit to form, that of reading advertisements in this paper.

NEW DENTAL OFFICE

Drs. Baker & Baker of Hamilton this week leased office room over the Trent State Bank and next door to Dr. Brooking and will open a dental office there as soon as the office can be renovated and put in condition. The lease is for three years, which is pretty good proof that they expect to make the arrangement permanent. They will have the office repapered and decorated, the floor refinished, the stairway and the surroundings repaired and improved, giving an appearance that will be beneficial. They will install the latest and most approved dental equipment and furnishings and have everything strictly sanitary and it will be kept that way. Dr. Charles Baker will be in charge of the Goldthwaite office and will give as much time as required to the office here. It is probable he will spend only certain days here at first, until he gets the practice established, but if the business requires all of his time he will spend all of his time here. A further announcement regarding the plans will be made as soon as the necessary changes and improvements can be made in the office and the furnishings installed. Drs. Baker have been located in Hamilton many years and the elder Dr. Baker will remain in that city, but will give his son any assistance necessary in the work at this place.

BUSY BEE.

W. R. Wood of the bayou country was transacting business in the big town Tuesday. He has lived in that section twenty years, and still likes his surroundings and his home country.

MISDIRECTED ENERGY

Americans, as everybody knows, have a great deal of energy. But once in a while a glance at the scrambled, bewildering list of items that make up the news of the day leads one to think that a whole lot of this energy is pretty badly misdirected.

One day's paper brings an assortment of news something like this:

The mayor of Lynn, Mass., with a valiant and virtuous flourish, announces that no more Lynn girls may appear in public without stockings, and orders the Lynn police to arrest any maidens who disregard the fiat.

A Kansas City lady calls her husband "a bum" because he fails to bid in a bridge game. He slaps her in retaliation and she promptly shot him dead.

William B. Shearer, high-powered propagandist, mentions to a senate committee that he is very patriotic and full of wisdom, calls a newspaper correspondent a liar and wants the fact that he can trace his ancestry back to 1660 put into the record.

Texas rangers rule the boom town of Berger after the district attorney is murdered, and it is revealed that Berger has had 24 murders in three years with only one prosecution—a situation that the district attorney was trying to remedy at the time of his death.

Fifty murders are ascribed to a white slave ring uncovered in Boston and the Boston police insist that Eugene O'Neill's "Strange Interlude" shall by no means be allowed to disgrace the stage of any Boston theatre.

Albert B. Fall prepares to go on trial once more in connection with the Elk Hills oil scandal, which took place so long ago that half of his horrified countrymen find themselves unable to remember what it is all about.

The New York mayoralty campaign turns into a public discussion of the murder of one Arnold Rothstein, gambler, who was killed a year ago; and because of the furor the trial of the sole suspect held in the case is ordered held at once.

Those are a group of items taken from one day's grist of news. Viewed separately they are, by turn, matters for indignation, mirth, amazement or grief. Lumped together this way, they somehow bring bewilderment.

Our country, headed somewhere with great speed and activity, seems to produce an unusual amount of queer happenings. Have we a little bit too much energy for our own good? Or do we just need a better balance wheel individually and collectively.—Houston Press.

RELIEF that is REFRESHING. "We have used Theodor's Black-Draught for years in our family. I can highly recommend it for many ailments. We take it for colds and for constipation. I have four children, and I give it to them. When my little girl gets bilious, or complains of headache, I give her a treatment of Black-Draught, and she is all right in a day or two. Sometimes when I have indigestion from improper eating, I have headache. Then I take Black-Draught. I always feel fresh and have more energy after I have taken it."—Mrs. E. Reich, 2215 East First Street, Austin, Texas.

League Benediction.

Field Notes By the Missionary

We have but a few more days to finish the work of this conventional year. I preached at Mullin last Sunday and took a collection for the co-operative program. I feel that they need my service. I am for the denominational program one hundred per cent strong. I stand four-square for every phase of our convention work.

It will be remembered that the Star church has called me for one-fourth of my time. The Board in their last meeting voted to release me for one fourth of my time as Missionary. It seems to me that it ought to be easy to carry on a program of three-fourth's time as Missionary. If our churches will co-operate, I feel that we can do a good work in this country.

Don't forget our workers

PICKING MACHINES

For some months there have been rumors of the invention of a practical cotton picking machine. If workable, such a machine would be of tremendous value to most of the south.

Now comes a definite statement that W. C. Durant, financier and automobile maker, is interested in such a machine and has formed a corporation to manufacture it.

Durant is immensely rich. He has had a long experience in manufacturing. If he intends to produce a cotton picking machine, it is likely the invention has been thoroughly tested out.

The greatest obstacle the cotton grower faces is obtaining seasonal labor for picking. After the crop is gathered there is no work left for the pickers and they drift away.

Always there is trouble in having a supply on hand when they are needed again.

This difficulty is felt in West Texas, where most of the picking is done by Mexicans and in Louisiana, Alabama and Mississippi where the pickers are negroes.

The Durant experiment, if it is an experiment, will be watched with great interest. Many attempts have been made to perfect a cotton picker.

If the Durant plan is successful it would mean an economic gain of tens of millions in Texas alone.—El Paso Herald.

ADOLFO ROSQUELLAS (PANCHO)

Argentinian Will Export the One and Import the Other

New York City—"Don't telegraph, write or send good-will delegations to a country with which you want to establish firmer and more flourishing commercial relations, send a modern American jazz band."

This is the advice Adolfo Rosquellas, musical director of the Embassy Club, gives to the industrial captains of America. "A knowledge of each other's music will bring two countries closer together in good-will and commerce than anything else I know of," says Rosquellas, known as "Pancho" to the exclusive patrons of the Embassy Club.

"Since the radio has taken American music to the Argentine, many wealthy Argentines who once spent their play-time in Paris are coming to New York instead, for, enchanted with your music they want to see your New York," he declares. "Here on pleasure they nevertheless do not fail to look about for a good thing in the way of an investment."

GOLDTHWAITE GIRL IN CLIPPING BUREAU

AUSTIN, Texas, Oct. 20.—In spite of the frivolous nickname of "cut-ups" applied to the young women students of the University of Texas who work in the Students Clipping Bureau, operated as a part of the Office of Publicity, the girls are engaged in a very serious undertaking. They are employed at student rates of 35 cents an hour to read Texas newspapers and clip from them items that are of interest to various subscribers of the Bureau. Approximately fifty individuals, firms, corporations, associations and societies in Texas and in some half dozen other states in the United States subscribe to the clipping service. The salaries of the girls depend on the number of subscribers they are able to secure and to keep.

The present staff now includes Mayme Griffin of Gonzales, Mavourneen Thompson of Austin, Frances Lusk of Austin, Ottilie Immel of Willow City, Minnie Lee Spies of Bonham, Stella Cobb of Goldthwaite, Sue Banks of Austin, Lois Robbins of Cameron, Pauline Bulsterbaum of San Angelo and Anne Elliott of Greenville.

MACE AT BORGER

The selection of Albert Mace to be chief of police of Borger is decidedly creditable to that gentleman, and is appreciated by his friends throughout Texas. In the early days of Mexia oil boom, Mace was selected by Governor Neff as one of four men able to restore law and order in that community. He was at that time a local officer in Lampasas, where he had served as sheriff for several terms. After Mexia was placed in the law and order column, Mace was made chief of police and held the position continuously since that time, until his recent appointment at Borger. He was in no sense looking for a job, for he held the same position in Mexia he now holds in Borger. When he took charge of the office state troops were withdrawn from the town and everything has been moving smoothly. Albert Mace has the unusual distinction of being recognized as one of the most efficient officers in Texas and has twice been called on by the governor of the state to perform a patriotic duty in restoring order in lawless communities. He has been remarkably successful in capturing criminals and fugitives while acting as a peace officer, yet he has never killed a man or seriously wounded one, and has never suffered any personal violence. It is doubtful if there is another record equal to his in Texas. With all of this, he is a most likable and pleasant man.

A Brightening Campaign

Barnes & McCullough have inaugurated another "brightening up" campaign and have arranged for advertising and display of their paints and varnishes, the DuPont line, which is one of the best in America and one that can not be excelled. The Duco paint is good for every purpose. It stands heat and dry weather, as well as cold and wet weather and has rare preservative qualities as well. Not only is this excellent paint for houses and fences, but it is equally as good for automobiles and furniture. Those who know of the worth of Duco paints are enthusiastic about it and are glad to recommend it. If the reader will follow the advertisements of this paint during the Barnes & McCullough campaign they will learn much of interest and value regarding paint, when and how it should be applied, while a call or a postcard will get them color cards and any other information they may want from Barnes & McCullough.

Big Business And Art Unite In Jazz Music

... in the moon-light — with no one — to ...

American Music Resembles Roumanian Folk Songs

New York City.—Modern American music about which there has been such bitter contention, among musical people as to its origin and right to be labeled "art" is really the legitimate folk-lore of our country. It has stood out from the folk-lore of other countries and been made a target for attack simply because American business men have commercialized it, made it "big business."

This is the opinion of Flo Hauser, headline singer of modern music. Miss Hauser when a child, came to this country from Jassy, Roumania, and has grown up with American music. She says that our modern music has the same essential characteristics as the folk music of the Balkan countries. From her parents, both musical, she has inherited her knowledge and love of European folk music. "The only reason jazz is attacked is just that your so very bright business men have recognized the opportunity to commercialize something dear to the hearts of the people—their native music," she explains. "Jazz is lovely and simple. For instance, there is 'Moonlight and The Moonlight,' a perfect example of the simple and really a gem and just the type that is transmitted from generation to generation in Roumania by folk dances and folk songs, though generally unwritten. It has the simplicity which makes it a real success. The musician, always a life, is at any relationship with the business world, continues to raise an enquiring eyebrow at modern music which is a same time 'such good business.'"

ARMY BAND HOLDS MANY RECORDS

The U. S. Army Band, which is coming to Brownwood, Nov. 2, holds many records among organizations of its kind. Not only does it officiate at all Army functions in the Capital, but it frequently plays at state and diplomatic functions at the Capitol and the White House, as well. In its history the U. S. Army Band has broadcast more frequently, farther and to more millions than any other musical military organization. It was the first band to broadcast from the Atlantic to the Pacific, the occasion being the record-breaking 52-station radio hook-up broadcasting ceremonies attending the decoration of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh by President Coolidge, at Washington, D. C.

During the summer months the U. S. Army Band gives open air concerts several times a week in Washington. The East steps of the United States Capitol form the setting for at least one of its concerts each week, while the Sylvan Theatre, formed by a graceful slope downward from the Washington Monument provides another. Thousands of Washingtonians and visitors to the city congregate in these historic spots when the band, in its distinctive "Cadet Grey" uniforms, performs.

Recently, the Army has been permitted to make public tours outside of the Capital, and elaborate preparations are being made at Brownwood for reception of this great organization when it plays there November 2.

GO ALL THE WAY

Many farmers in Hartley county, Texas, last fall, and probably in other sections of the Texas and Oklahoma wheat districts, went to the expense of plowing the lands, buying seed wheat and sowing it, and of course harvesting, only to have the product docked from 3 cents to 20 cents per bushel because of smut. Their attention had been called to the necessity of treating their wheat seed with copper carbonate by circular letters from experiment stations and Extension services, and through such papers as Farm and Ranch. However, it took a penalty at the elevators to convince them that it would have been profitable to have heeded this advice. This seed wheat could have been treated at a cost of about 1-2 cents per pound when purchased co-operatively or in quantity. It cost them twice that much as a minimum and fifteen times as much in many instances not to treat it. Not a bushel of wheat harvested from treated seed was docked for smut during the marketing season.

After one has gone to the expense of plowing for any crop, good seed should be the next consideration, and if the soil is such that it requires commercial fertilizer, it should not be spared even though the acreage be reduced. Then comes good cultivation for row crops. If one is in the business of raising wheat, cotton or other product, it is always profitable to raise as much per acre of high quality product as possible. Why farm at all if an effort is not made to farm right.—Farm and Ranch.

Sunday afternoon Mr. Leverett left to go back to Manard so we suppose that he got the books in good shape before he left.
