COTTON MARKETING SYSTEM DISCUSSED

Farmers And Farm Board Benefits

If you are in doubt as to whether you are working in harmony with the recommendation of the Federal Farm Board, just ask yourself the question: "Am I a member of any local co-operative?" Some farmers look upon the Farm Board as something they will never see or receive benefits from. If you wish to see him face to face and receive the benefits derived therefrom, you can find him in the local co-operative association. The Texas Cotton Association was the first and only co-operative in Texas, which was ready to federate with the Federal Farm Board, when the money was ready to distribute to the members. If there ever was a time when the Co-operative Marketing Association had a real chance to succeed, it is right now. Why is it that so few farmers are members of this organization that has proven its worth to such an extent that the federal government will advance millions of dollars for them to distribute to the farm-members.

You may have once doubted whether the few farsighted and courageous neighbors could succeed single handed without the aid or encouragement of this great government of ours. Now the federal board places their seal of approval on the co-operatives. The last excuse for the farmer to stay out of his co-operative seems to be gone.

To Find the Farm Board, Join the Co-operative Association

This farm board is yours and exists only for your benefit, so take advantage of this and help to develop strong co-operative associations. The first step forward has been taken by your government. Now it's your turn, Mr. Farmer.

Now let us follow the path of two bales of cotton which are sold on the street and delivered to the next buyer. Here is what we find: The local buyer is usually very wise when he grades your cotton, but remember he has to deliver this same cotton to the next fellow, who really knows cotton, so don't blame your local man too much. Here is an example of what happens: He cuts the bale looks at the cotton from several different angles and finally states that "it is about middling"—about one inch staple, gives you 17.65. The farmer goes to the general merchandise store, whom he owes and gets a little raise, comes back and finally gets the first buyer to do him a favor by giving him 17.75 and telling him that the price is 15 points above the market (note that statement later), and the farmer takes it. Later on this same buyer gets another bale from a farmer who does not owe anybody and he is stubborn, so he finally sells his cotton for 17.90. There seems to be nothing wrong with the picture. The buyer's margin that day was 18c or his company would take all the cotton he bought of average grade. He bought about fifty bales that day. On these two bales he made a profit of 50c on one, $1.25 on the other. All fair enough. Now let us see what happens when these two bales of cotton reach the firm who "took up" this day's lot.

MIDWAY

We are glad to see this sunshine, even if it is cold.

Miss Imogene Ledbetter spent the week-end with Miss George Ada Cline.

Miss Mary Harcastle had girl friends over the week-end.

We are sorry to report quite a bit of serious sickness this week.

There has been several cases of flu in our community.

Miss Jimmie Mae Reynolds was unable to attend services here Sunday as she is a member of the Glee Club at Goldthwaite and they sang at the Baptist church there, causing her to return Sunday morning.

The services were not well attended Sunday, as the weather was so bad. Bro. Stripling is coming back the last of this week and preach two sermons, perhaps Friday and Saturday nights. Listen for the announcement and come.

A. J. Cline Jr., has gone to San Angelo to work.

REPORTER.

BAPTIST CHURCH

The young men's class was a hundred per cent last Sunday, every one of them being absent. It certainly is a pleasure for a man's wife to get him up early on Sunday morning, having him to sweep, dust and mop, making everything shine like new money, and then not to have these young gentlemen put in their appearance. Oh, well they will all be present Sunday and will stay for the preaching service.

We have had two Sundays in the new year. The first one found us with over two hundred, but last Sunday we were over one hundred short of our standard. We are not discouraged. The weather was so unfavorable we did well to have more than a hundred. But now listen, folk, if bad colds, and other illness subsides, and the weather is favorable let's put the thing over Sunday in great fashion.

Some people think if you can't stay on the hill all the time in our religious work that something has gone wrong. Listen, you are feeling good today, and tomorrow you are ill. You have money today, tomorrow you have none. What are you going to do? You are going to get well. You are going to make more money. That is the way it goes in the religious world. Up today, down tomorrow. It is not a question of getting down, for we will be at a low ebb at times. The question is, are we going to get up? Certainly we are going to get up and go further up the hill than we have ever been. People in this community will not forget God. They are going to be loyal to His church, and they are going to prove their loyalty by their works. Talking about being discouraged, why Orville Greathouse and Mark Fairman have asked for reserved seats. Orville wants the front seat, while Mark prefers the back seat. Dilly was at church Sunday night, and he says when he starts you can't stop him. We don't want to stop him. He ought to have been coming all the time. That is when he was not provisionally hindered.

Now listen, Mr. Baptist, let's make this the best year in the history of our church. I don't want you to proselite, but I do want you to go after the folk. Let's don't let up. Paul push, and if you can't do that climb on and ride. We want you in our services.

Herman Rudd, one of our own town boys, achieved the honor last month of climbing up to the honor roll in Howard Payne College. Herman, who is working every day to help defray his expenses in school, deserves much credit for his scholastic achievement. Congratulations, boy. We are proud of you. Stay there and work. The reward will come later.

Sorry to note that several of our people are none too well at this time. We are praying for the recovery of all, and just remember when you are out of our services we miss you and pray for you.

G. C. IVINS, Pastor.

METHODIST CHURCH

I trusted that the space occupied by the Methodist Notes would be well taken up and am glad that the absence of my letter was not noticed and being assured that none were the worse off, I am grateful for the good items he gave us and the good full paper was evidence that my last week's letter was not needed. It is unusual to be accorded space so freely and then to fill it so well when it is not used. I thank you Editor Thompson.

The fearfully inclement weather has hindered us no little in our effort to carry on as usual, but we trust we have lost no ground if we come back and make up for all lost time in giving ourselves and energy into the service. The natural thing to do is come right on back into the game as the weather lets up, but let us not forget that those stray dollars, dimes, quarters and nickels will also be needed in the service. I have heard no complaint on shortage of incidentals nor from the other treasury of the church. You are to be commended. It is easy to keep up but hard to regain lost steps and keep up with the procession all at once.

Our remittance to our orphanage this week will make it considerably beyond three hundred dollars. While you are so mindful of these obligations, may I urge that you be mindful in your prayers of this great work which God hath committed to us. May we pray for Divine guidance in all of our plans this year. During this month remember the movement for international peace which is being promoted by the great nations at the conference in London. We should inform ourselves concerning the affairs of the nations as well as of the church. "My people perish for the lack of knowledge," is an old complaint, but one of which we are not all together free today.

It will be well for every member of the church that possibly can to take the course of study in the book "The World Parish." I have not seen the book, but it will have to do with the task to which the church is set, by no means ignoring the task next door to us. Take the course all the way through if possible but should this be impossible sit in on each lesson that is possible for you.

We count on good singing inspirational worship and a good crowd next Sunday at Sunday school and all of the other services. You will find a cordial welcome.

S. D. LAMBERT.

An intensive search was under way Sunday for two suspects in the unsolved "cemetery slaying" of H. B. Alston in Marshall eleven months ago. The suspects were implicated Saturday by a man placed in jail under a peace bond after he was said to have threatened the lives of the other two men. The men were arrested at the time of the original investigation after Alston was found in a cemetery with his head crushed but were released for lack of evidence. The new developments in the case, officers said, were brought about by "warring factions in the underworld of Marshall" revealed thru investigations of the theft of automobile earnings. Both suspects were in Marshall Saturday but fled when the warrants were issued.

FROM MR. COBB

Corpus Christi, Tex. January 11, 1930.

Dear Bro. Bob: I have recently learned you are at the helm in the Eagle office listening to the music of the press, as it dishes out the gathered up news of the week, since the last issue and thought I would let you know when informed of this, I said, "All Hall" and my mind began a rapid going back over the past, picking up, as it were, what seemed like some of the dropped stitches, weaving them together, which spread before my mind's eye many happy pleasant reminiscences of other days which so thrilled me. I said, "To bring this culmination of thoughts to a more satisfactory heading, I will let Bro. Bob know what kind of a spell came over me, which set me to wondering why he or W. C. Dew didn't at some time think of the old scribe and send him at least one complimentary copy, that he might get one more sight of the old Bird."

In the first place, I wish to say that the ten years of absence from old Mills hasn't lessened my appreciation of the many friends I think I made during my few years sojourn among them, and that while the high heaving billows and mountainous waves in some instances fearfully overhead broke, there has never been a time when I couldn't find a large place in memories soil for the many happy days and friendly greetings among my new made friends. While affliction and death have thrown their dark mantles over many homes, leaving empty chairs, broken hearts and making new wounds in the cities of the dead, all of whom I would miss and could honestly sympathize with those thus bereft, I still feel like there are enough left to whom and with whom I can sing "Blest be the tie that binds our hearts in Christian love," reminding them through the oracles of writing, that I don't have to strain my mental powers to find many who are still plodding life's dusty way, "headed for the end of the road from which travelers never return" to whom I can send wishes for a happy, prosperous New Year and in this way shake hands across the many miles between us.

Now its up to you, Bro. Bob, to say whether or no these rambling thoughts shall meet the eyes of your readers. I am not asking for a place on your staff of correspondents, but to ask your indulgence once more in a great while to act as mouthpiece to bear one more message to your readers, as I feel there are still some who will appreciate knowing the state of feeling still existing toward them.

A little over 63 years ago I wrote my first article for publication in the now Lyon County Herald of Eddyville, Ky., and while the paper has changed names and quite a few of those who worked on the paper have crossed the last river and the boy then only 18 years of age is reaching for his 81st birthday, through all these years, without a break he is still correspondent for said paper. I am not telling this in a boastful way, but am wondering if there is another man living who can say as much.

Now, in conclusion, will say I am among a good people, in bad health, and yet loaded with good wishes for all who read, even Bro. French, Daddy Fairman, Aaron Little, etc. etc.

H. C. COBB.

Editor's Note: We are all indeed glad to hear from Mr. Cobb again and hope he will write often to the Eagle, for he is one of the most interesting writers ever listed as a correspondent for the paper. He is held in high esteem by the people of Mills county, among whom he lived several years, and he made for himself a reputation as one who always stands for the right and the best interest of the people. We are glad to know he is pleasantly located and hope to some time in the not far distant future have a visit from him.

FAME OF SARGON NOW SPREADING OVER WORLD

People of This Country Sending Famous Medicine to Relatives and Friends in England, Scotland, France, Ireland, Canal Zone, Norway, Sweden, Cuba and Many Other Distant Lands.

If you had found a medicine that was of such benefit to you that you would go to the trouble of sending to relatives and friends in distant countries, you would have to be convinced in your own mind that it possessed real merit, wouldn't you?

That's just what thousands of people throughout the United States have been doing with Sargon.

From all over America and wherever Sargon has been introduced, thousands of letters have been received from grateful users telling of the gratifying results that have been accomplished by this celebrated medicine.

Thousands Express Gratitude.

On November 27th, a letter dated November 23rd, was received at the Sargon office advising that in one week one drug firm alone had received orders for Sargon to be shipped to Cavite, Philippine Islands; Coca-Solo, Canal Zone; Belbrook, Ireland; and Paris, France.

Only recently a well known resident of Denver, Colorado, who had been restored to health by Sargon, sent a full treatment to London, England, to his sister, who is the wife of an executive of one of the greatest retail drug firms in the British Empire.

During the past month there appeared in the Toronto papers the statement of a well known World War veteran whose health had been greatly impaired while in the service, who stated among other things that he owed his restoration to health to two bottles of Sargon sent him by a friend in Minneapolis.

Letters Received from the Northwest.

From the Northwest, many letters of this kind have been received advising that users of Sargon are sending it to relatives back in their old countries of Norway and Sweden.

Many such letters and endorsements have been received from men of prominence, including former governors, business and professional men, mayors, state and county officials, and even Ministers of the Gospel have deemed it their duty to come forward and tell what Sargon has done for them.

These are only a few of thousands of such cases and not a day nor a week passes that does not bring hundreds of statements from the people concerning the good this medicine is doing, and reciting case after case that would convince the most skeptical.

Sargon's fame is built on actual results—not empty promises, and only those who have put it to the test know its real powers.

Sargon's aim is not mere temporary relief, but new and abundant health. No wonder it is now called the medicine with a million friends.

Sargon may be obtained in Goldthwaite at Clements' Drug and Jewelry Store.

—Auto Registration—Jan. 31— CLEAR CAPITAL

The man who owns and tills his farm, owing nothing except to himself and his family, is just as well off when his land is salable at $10 an acre as when it is salable at $100. The value of a tract of land is just the same as the value of a share of stock — its earning value. It has been estimated that 10,000,000 people in this country and abroad, lost money—some of them all they had—in the stock market slump last fall. Those people were deflated in short order. Likewise, agricultural economists tell us the farmers have been deflated year by year since 1920. It is true in one sense, untrue in another sense. The farmer who has kept his land and refused to go in debt is as well off as ever, if his land has been taken care of. It may not produce as much money in dollars as it did in 1919, but he will not

UNCONSCIOUS ARSONIST

Some millions of Americans are unconscious arsonists.

This is a startling statement and any one of the millions would angrily deny it. Yet it is true. None of them purposely set fires. But all of them, through ignorance or carelessness, unconsciously start fires. The difference between the man who consciously fires a house, and the man who allows wiring to go unattended, throws oil soaked rags in corners or drops his matches and cigarettes wherever he happens to finish them, is one of law and motive, not of effect. We are, with increasing success, fighting the active arsonist, and when he is caught he is imprisoned for long terms. The unconscious arsonist is beyond the law and destroys more lives and property than the deliberate arsonist. Every fire hazard imperils the entire community. A fire starting in a disused garage may destroy a million dollar factory. Are you an unconscious arsonist?

WORLD GROWS BETTER

Crime reports continue. There are murders, thefts, robberies always with us. It takes but a moment to commit a crime.

But there are symbols of better things, too. It takes more than a moment to build a church or a school or a library or some structure dedicated to the uplifting of human beings.

And every little while a new church is dedicated. Or a new library opened. Or a new school begun. And interested in each are hundreds of persons each doing his little bit to make his community a better place in which to live. So long as these sparks for better things crackle in the human breast, just so long is our earth improving. And that despite the more sensational things that distract for the moment.

The Bible, we know, is the world's best seller. There is much more good in the world than there is bad in it. That is the real way of the world, sure, certain, irresistible.— Toledo Blade.

FARM FENCING

fencing on farms is not use but an investment. There are some who will un- derly take issue with this, but on second thought, we believe that most farmers will agree with it. Fences are a necessary part of the equipment of every modern farm. They are a luxury than inflationary easings on an auto. We could get along without them in case of an emergency, but not convenient. Fencing is a necessary part of every successful farm. It cannot keep livestock from straying. The good fencing depends on the thought displayed in its use. It is a fine thing to have the well fenced along the roads and property lines. It makes the most out of the farm should be crossed in such a manner that it can be turned from one use into another to gather that would otherwise be lost. Because of good fencing, the Luling Foundation, steers were turned out in the field after harvest and animals, on no other farm, were so well cared for. It is worth $7 per acre, which has been a total loss in the field being unfenced. Fences on lands who have been rented would profit from their well fenced. Good farms attract good tenants. A good tenant will keep some livestock and provides an opportunity for the landlord to acquire a partner in the farming.

Why Print A Newspaper

The merchant who says that everyone knows his place of business and that he doesn't have to advertise can be found in Hamburg, and in every other community in the country. This merchant also says that customers come to him when in need of goods, so why should he waste his money advertising? An answer to that question has been made by a newspaper whose advertising manager has stumbled into places of business where the owner possessed that frame of mind. This newspaper answered the question, "Why should I advertise?" as follows: "Of course, the newspaper man might say in rebuttal, 'Everyone in this community knows all that happens here, so why print a newspaper?' If the community can get along without a newspaper, it can get along without a number of other things which are of value. The adults are educated and can teach the children, thus doing away with the need of schools. The parents, being religious, can train the younger ones in the creeds, thus doing away with ministers and the church. People can loan their money to one another and thereby eliminate banks. They can swap their old clothes or learn how to make home-spuns, thereby greatly reducing expense and actually putting the clothing merchants out of business. All trade is based upon a desire for goods. Necessity is mostly an augmented desire. Advertising has the function of reminding people of their requirements,

CROUCH SET FREE

The astounding account of the dismissal of the indictments against A. B. Crouch, who was hunted all over the world for thirteen years, on a charge of having perpetrated the most gigantic fraud ever recorded in Temple, appeared in the daily papers Sunday under a Temple date line: "It's summertime in far away Helensville, where Arthur B. Crouch, former Temple grain dealer, will resume his life as a prosperous New Zealand business man in a few weeks, untroubled by the specter of criminal charges in America. The 13-year drama that had for its climax the unmasking of John Grey, self-made success in the Antipodes, and his return as Crouch to Bell County a month ago to answer 13 indictments charging forgery of grain bills of lading and involving an alleged loss of $160,000 has come to an end and the actors have left the boards. Claims of the City National Bank, Crouch's principal nemesis, settled, and the indictments dismissed, Crouch Saturday was far out in the Pacific, steaming for the distant land that he and his family have learned to call home. With him were Mrs. Crouch and his personal attorney, John J. Ter-

Rates American Women For Wasting Her Time

JEANE JOYSON

Singer Declares Pioneers Would Be Ashamed of Descendants

New York City.—American women of today waste more time and dissipate their talents to a greater extent than the women of any other nation. The author of this indictment is Miss Jeane Joyson, popular singer of modern songs. "And I say, 'today' purposely," declares Miss Joyson. "Our pioneer women would blush could they come back and see how the women of our leisure class waste their time. Imagine a pioneer grandmother in a typical comfortable American home, seeing the electrical equipment that makes it possible for a woman to do her house work in a few hours; hearing of our splendid schools which look after our children all day long. I am sure, the first question she would ask would be, 'What do you do with the rest of your time, my daughter?'" and Italian women practice their professions, women whose husbands are merchants are the business partners of these husbands, peasant women work in the fields along with their men folk. "Until American women realize the futility of wasting time, they will never broaden their economic independence, they will never be the charming, interesting companions for their husbands that they might be if they kept their minds and talents active and alert. Opens Vista "The stage is my career, and while it may appear to be full of interesting events, when one sings daily, even the stage becomes commonplace. But my husband is interested in all my small chatter about my work. It opens up a new vista to him and I am just as interested in his business affairs. He advises me what songs to sing and is very sensitive to the reaction of the audience. Generally his favorite song is my hit number. "Honey" is his pick this season and my audience's favorite, too. My husband likes it best of all my repertoire. He loves to sing to me that 'No one else will do, Honey. Every day is sunny, Honey, with you.' In private life, Miss Joyson is Mrs. Joyson and her husband is her business manager.

OUR CANDIDATES

The local campaign opened in earnest this week, if it can be said with truth that there is any earnestness about it, but the fact is there are mighty few candidates announced or in prospect. It is likely and, in fact, almost sure that this campaign will see fewer candidates for county and precinct offices than ever known in the history of the county. However, some of the best men of the county are offering their services for the various offices and the Eagle appreciates their patronage in the way of announcements. Most of them are well known to all the voters, but it is the Eagle's custom to tell something of the qualifications of the various candidates, regardless of how well known they may be or how outstanding their qualifications are for the office.

L. E. PATTERSON

Judge L. E. Patterson again offers his services to the people of Mills county as county judge and ex-officio school superintendent. He is one of the best known men in the county and one of the most popular and efficient officers that ever served the county. It is a well known fact that he is more familiar with the county's business—its resources and its needs than any man in the county and his constant watchfulness and devotion to his official duties has saved the taxpayers thousands of dollars. His interest in the rural schools and his knowledge of every detail of their necessities and their resources should be appreciated by all the people. He is indeed a valuable officer and one on whose advice and information many of his co-workers have learned to depend.

L. B. PORTER

One of the most efficient, courteous and popular officers in the county is L. B. Porter, County Clerk, who this week offers for re-election. Mr. Porter is a native son of Mills county and has spent his life here, the time between attaining his majority and his election to the office of clerk having been spent on the farm or teaching rural schools. He knows every detail of the work in his office and it is a pleasure to have business with him as well as decidedly helpful to have a clerk who renders service so pleasantly and promptly when any citizen has occasion to look at the records or file papers with him. No county in Texas can boast of a better or more competent clerk than has Mills county.

C. D. BLEDSOE

No man has ever made a better record in the office of Sheriff and Tax Collector of Mills county than has Carl Bledsoe. He is vigilant and discharges every duty without fear or favor, while at all times he is courteous and careful to observe every right of those who come within the jurisdiction of his official duties. Evil doers have learned that Mills county is not an attractive place for their performance. He has not made a specialty of any one law or system, but has looked to the enforcement of all laws. The duties of the tax collector's office have received as much attention as those of the sheriff's office and his records in this department are especially creditable to him. No officer in the county has ever had a more enthusiastic support for re-election than has Mr. Bledsoe.

JAMES RAHL

James Rahl offers his name this week as a candidate for re-election to the office of Justice of the Peace of Precinct No. 1. He has established for himself a reputation for always being "on the job" and accessible to all having business in his court. He is careful that every person has equal and exact justice, whether in criminal proceedings or in civil suits, and those who have had business with him are enthusiastic in his support. He does business in a business way, keeps his records correct, knows his duties and performs them well. His wide acquaintance and his long experience in business help to make his qualifications and he is so well known and so popular with all the people that an introduction is unnecessary. He is qualified to fill a much higher office than the one he holds.

JOHN S. CHESSE

The District Clerk's office is one of the most important in the county, for it is in the district court that property rights are tried and the lives and liberties of those charged with violating the law are placed in the balance. It is, therefore, important that all documents and records of the clerk's office be in safe as well as competent hands. John S. Chesser has proved his fidelity to duty and his efficiency in discharging the duties of the District Clerk and is noted for having every paper and document in its proper place and recording accurately every transaction of the court. It is satisfying and a pleasure to know that all of this business is in safe hands and, withal, in the custody of an officer who is always courteous and willing to render every assistance in his power to those who need his help and advice, in keeping with his official duties. He is a long-time citizen of the county and a popular man.

WILLIAM BIDDLE

This county has never had a more faithful officer than Wm. Biddle, commissioner of Precinct No. 2. He devotes his time and energies in the interest of the county and it would be impossible to find one more devoted to duty. Where it is a matter of neglecting his own business or that of the county he always gives the county the benefit and allows his own interests to suffer. His long experience in public work and his intense interest in public affairs makes him an ideal officer for any position and the county is fortunate in having such unselfish and intelligent service. In the business affairs of the county he is a safe custodian and in the road work in his precinct he has made a splendid record and one that is beneficial to all the people, as well as his precinct.

ERNEST TYSON

Mr. Ernest A. Tyson announces this week as a candidate for re-election to a second term as tax assessor of this county. He points with pride to his official records, which will compare favorably with those of any assessor in Texas and he has been careful during his term of office to give the best service of which he was capable. His office is always open for the tax payers to get service and when it is impossible for him to be there in person he has a well qualified deputy to look after the business and give the people assistance and information in their tax matters. His experience in the office has added to his qualifications as a judge of property values and his duties have carried him to every part of the county and made him familiar with lands and other property. He is a native of Mills county and a most pleasant gentleman.

L. B. BURNHAM

The announcement of L. B. Burnham appears in this issue as a candidate for re-election to the office of Commissioner for Precinct No. 1. Mr. Burnham is recognized as one of the most conscientious as well as one of the most efficient members of the Commissioners Court. He is a careful business man and his experience in the commissioner's office has been of benefit to him and his constituency because of the knowledge he has gained in the business of the county, in taxable values and in road work. His road building experience enables him to select the proper tools and workmen, to direct the building and upkeep of the roads to the advantage of the work and the taxpayers. He is popular with the people and prides himself in giving the best services of which he is capable.

LUTHER H. SOULES

Luther Soules offers this week as a candidate for the office of Tax Assessor and in his candidacy he has the support of many loyal friends. He is a farmer and stockman and his long experience in that line of work makes him a good judge of property values, especially as to lands and stock. He was reared in the Star community and belongs to one of the best families in the county, pioneers and enterprising people. He has lived a short distance north of Goldthwaite for a number of years and has made for himself a reputation as a high class and valuable citizen and his qualifications for the position he seeks were recognized by many of his friends who solicited his candidacy. If the people elect him tax assessor they can be sure they will have one who will give them the best service possible and devote his energies in their interest.

W. F. SIMS PASSED AWAY

Information was received here Tuesday of the death of Mr. W. F. Sims at his home in Sweetwater early that day. He had been in failing health a long time and for several weeks had been confined to his bed. He was a former citizen of Goldthwaite and had a great many friends here and throughout the county, who sincerely sympathize with his bereaved wife and son and other relatives. He had been in the railroad service for many years and moved from this place to Sweetwater ten or twelve years ago. He was a good man and had the respect and confidence of all who knew him. He was a brother of Joe Sims of this city.

Dr. Baker, the Dentist, will be in his Goldthwaite office every Wednesday and Saturday, rain or shine, hot or cold.

Sheriff Bledsoe and R. V. Littlepage were called to Abilene the first of the week as witnesses in district court. They have returned and report Leslie Odon, Jack Oliver and Berry Brown each given a two years sentence in the penitentiary in the court there, on charges of automobile theft. These men also have charges against them in this county.

Deputy Sheriff Waco was here Monday as transfer agent penitentiary. He came from San S. Schmueck from this prisoner from San S. pen, Schmueck was charged with burglary at a special district court a few days ago. You should see samples of spring suits is showing.

W. D. Marshall brought in the pleasing information that Mrs. Marshall was getting along as nicely as could be expected and hoped to soon be fully recovered from the result of her fall on the ice at their ranch home Christmas, when she slipped on the ice and broke one of her lower limbs. She has not suffered a great deal and has been able to get up on crutches for several days.

Nine-Tenths Preventable. Nine-tenths of all the diseases of the American people can be traced directly to constipation, doctors say. Constipation throws into the system poisons which taint and weaken every organ of the body and make them easy victims for any germs which attack them. Prevent constipation and you will avoid nine-tenths of all diseases, with their consequent pain and financial losses. Herbin's, the good old vegetable cathartic, will prevent constipation in a natural, easy and pleasant way. Get a bottle today from...

SCHOOL PUSH

I suppose the public schools of our county, as a rule, are going along usually well and, too, considering that weather interruptions have been some more than usual.

Connecting public education with expenses, the question is often asked "are we getting our money's worth?" Certainly we are and more, for the expansion of intellect and growing a stronger civilization are not to be measured by dollars. The better question is, "can we increase efficiency in any way without an increase of expenses?" That's the question of large interest to most of us. That's the question which occasionally stalks the gentlemen in our legislative halls. More often they can't do the thing and pass on by increasing expenses.

There is more leakage or waste in the free text-book system than many people have imagined. Really I have never been in sympathy with the plan. Superintendent Marrs contends that the free text book expenses are too small per capita to be considered. Certainly there needs to be and must be a uniform series of school books, but for the pupil to own his or her school books is better for the pupils. Literary questions naturally arise in any family during vacations which need to be settled at the time. If such questions should not arise it is evident that the family is not concerned in education.

Again, county school Boards seem to have about filled their function, especially in counties well populated. There was a time of reforming and consolidating when such boards earned their salt at least, but I am trying to say that we would make advancement if text book and county Board moneys were turned into the school term. SAM SAY.

Auto Registration—Jan. 31—TABULATING CRIME

The International Association of Police Chiefs has begun the first systematic attempt at tabulation of crime ever made in this country. An effort is to be made to interest all states in collecting crime statistics in rural communities. Monthly reports are to be prepared by the police departments of all cities in order to make readily available authoritative information on crime throughout the nation. These are to be supplemented by annual reports dealing with different phases of the crime problem. The value of this program is inestimable. The police departments is society's first defense against the criminal and its efficient functioning is the nation's surest safeguard. The police have been hampered in past years because of the dearth of authoritative crime statistics and reports. The actual causes of crime have remained undetermined. It may be observed that of all great nations we have given our police the least chance to succeed in their fight against crime. There is nothing in the United States to compare with Scotland Yard or the Paris Surete, with their amazing facilities for the collection of information and their use of the most advanced methods. Now that our own police are making an intensive effort to better their own work great results may be expected. It is the certainty of detection and punishment that suppresses crime and well informed police departments are worth more than volumes of restrictive laws which infringe on the rights of the law-abiding citizens, to the actual advantage of the criminal who obeys no laws.

CHURCH OF CHRIST

New Year Resolutions.

The above subject was the one used by your humble servant at the 11 o'clock hour on the morning of the first and second Sundays in this year. For the benefit of those who could not be at church the first and second Lord's days of the new year, I beg the privilege to give a brief synopsis of the sermon.

The first thought suggested was: It is doubtful if we can make improvement in any respect without resolutions. There is but little hopes for any individual or for any congregation who do not desire to improve over past records. The following resolutions were mentioned and it was emphasized that each individual member would be greatly improved and strengthened spiritually if he or she would make these resolutions and faithfully carry them out this year.

1st. Resolve to always be punctual at each service of the church. Punctuality is one of the greatest evidences of spiritual life. There is no better way to kill the interest in a service than to get into the habit of beginning late. The interest in the service can be increased by beginning on time. Our conduct in other matters prove we can be on time if we really desire to.

2nd. Resolve not to miss one single hour of worship. Not to miss one service throughout the year if it could possibly be avoided. Our fidelity in this respect is the loudest, most impressive and most influential preaching we can do. The eyes of the world are upon each church member, and the world is influenced by the way we live rather than by the way we preach.

3rd. Resolve to promptly meet all our obligations to the church in a financial way during the year. It is dangerous to grow careless in this respect. The Jews became careless in their financial obligations under Judaism and God through Malachi accused them of robbing him, Mat. 3: 7-10.

4th. Resolve to imitate Jesus just as nearly as possible. We are commanded to "Ever look to Jesus, as the author and finisher of our faith." Jesus has shown us how to live by actually living; how to meet temptation by meeting temptation; how to be patient by actually being patient; how to suffer by suffering. Jesus is our example.

5th. Resolve to do all the good we can and no harm at all while we tabernacle here below. Acts 10: 38; Gal. 6: 10; Matt. 25: 31-46. These scriptures were used to impress the importance of this resolution.

6th. Resolve to abstain from all evil. Paul even makes it stronger than this. 1 Thes. 5: 22. Abstain from all appearance of evil. We cannot afford to decide that we can come in contact with sin, tamper with sin, or play with sin without a spiritual detriment. We can just as soberly play with a rattlesnake as we can with sin. Sin is the only thing that can keep us out of Heaven or down our souls in Hell.

7th. Resolve to always exert an influence for good. It is impossible to be too careful of our influence. The apostle Paul has emphasized the importance of a good influence by denying himself of privileges that belonged to him in order to exert a good influence.

8th. Resolve to always look on the bright side of life. The religion of Jesus is intended to fill our lives, our souls with joy and happiness. Joy and happiness that is unspokeable. Acts 8: 38-39 reveals the fact that a man continued his long journey to his home rejoicing by receiving the gospel. Acts, 16: 34, gives the account of a man being brought from a state of the greatest mental agony into a state of joy by having heard and having obeyed the gospel. Paul said, Phil. 4: 4, rejoice in the Lord always, and again I say rejoice. A part of the fruit of the Spirit is "Love, joy, peace." Gal. 5: 22. It is a fact our troubles are mostly imaginary. We are guilty of creating, and building up trouble in order to worry, fret and burn up life's forces fuming and fretting over...

Accidents of Mental Origin

Ninety per cent of accidents are of mental origin, according to Dr. Harold S. Hulbert of the Department of Mental and Nervous Diseases, University of Illinois. In an address before the National Safety Council, Dr. Hulbert explained that these accidents are the result not of insanity or mental incompetence, but of thoughtlessness or carelessness. This authority says that a person who is comfortable in mind and body, adjusted to his working and domestic life, and is not ill, perplexed, discontented or fatigued stands but a small chance of becoming the causative factor in an accident. On the other hand, anger, fatigue, surprise and other such factors are the causes of many accidents, says Dr. Hulbert. We cannot, of course, cure such emotional disturbances as anger and surprise, nor can we offset fatigue, but the public should understand these causes of accidents and guard against them. A worker who grows tired should become more careful because of it. An automobile driver who is suffering from some slight illness should watch his driving more carefully than when he is in good health. Once we manage to exert some control over the "mental hazard," our accident record will begin to decrease.

ly happen. It reminds us of the lady in East Texas who was worrying, weeping and crying over the bare possibility that when her little girl of 4 years grew into womanhood, she would marry and move to West Texas and get sick and she could not go to see her. We are all guilty, more or less, of worrying over imaginary troubles. Worry is killing more people today than the dread disease "smallpox." Let us smile and the world will smile with us, but if we frown we should frown alone.

9th. Resolve to study God's word more. The following scripture will impress the importance of a knowledge of divine truth. 1 Tim. 4: 3; 2 Tim. 2: 15; 2 Pet. 3: 18; 2 Pet. 1: 2-4; Acts 2: 42. The New Testament has 260 chapters. By reading 5 chapters each week, we can read it through in one year. The Old Testament has 929 chapters. By reading 17-12 chapters per week, we can read it through in one year. How many of us will read the Bible through in 1930?

We had four fine services last Lord's day, all were well attended in spite of the unpleasant weather. More than 40 young people were present at the hour of the young people's class. We are more than proud of our young people. We are delighted with their work. Be sure to be with us next Sunday. Bible study begins at 11 a. m. Preaching begins at 11 a. m. Communion at 11:40 a. m. Young people's class at 6 p. m. Preaching at the regular evening hour. Your servant, E. S. FITZGERALD.

A NEW AGE OF LUBRICATION BEGINS THIS NEW MOTOR OIL CHARACTER. "Penetrative Lubricity". CONOCO Alone Has this New Character. Since the discovery of the wheel, lubrication has been a necessity and a problem. The first rube barrows which pre-historic men built, needed lubrication, and one of the brighter tribesmen began rubbing the axles of his primitive cart with raw animal meat. With Watt's invention of the steam engine in 1763, metal-on-metal friction resulted. Then it was that animal and vegetable oil lubricants became definitely unsatisfactory. Their tendency to leave corrosive deposits ruled them out. Mineral Oils Are Discovered. After the drilling of the first oil well in 1859, mineral oils became commercially successful. Because petroleum was plentiful and was freed from gumming and corroding tendencies, it rapidly supplanted animal and vegetable oils. But since 1901 there have been practically no changes of fundamental importance in refining motor oils. Now since 1901, think of the changes that have been made in motors! Probably the make of car you drive today was not even manufactured in 1901. Certainly it needs for oils are far more exacting! The Development of Germ Process. Foreseeing that ordinary mineral oils would eventually fail to meet the increasing strains put upon them, Wells and Southcombe, the scientists began a study of the problem occupied 16 years. The result of this was the isolation of the Germ Essence, a purity that provides increased "lubricity" introduced into mineral oils. These were patented and Continental acquired exclusively for North America. This germ brings you the first and only "lubricated" better oil of the century! Germ Process and Penetrative Lubricity. The Germ Process adds one starting characteristic to CONOCO Germ-Processed Oils. It enables them to penetrate "faces". This means that an enduring actually penetrates all working parts under all conditions. In starting when any failure of the film is fatal to life, remember this—the permanent film precludes any possibility of rust. The germ-essence naturally adds "lubricity" and we call that lubricity, Penetrative Lubricity as the outstanding characteristic of this new oil. When will you begin using Germ-Processed Motor Oil?

RELIEF that is REFRESHING. "We have used Theodor's Black-Draught for years in our family. I can highly recommend it for many ailments. We take it for colds and for constipation. I have four children, and I give it to them. When my little girl gets bilious, or complains of headache, I give her a treatment of Black-Draught, and she is all right in a day or two. "Sometimes when I have indigestion from improper eating, I have headache. Then I take Black-Draught. I always feel fresh and have more energy after I have taken it." Mrs. E. Reich, 2215 East First Street, Austin, Texas. THEODORE'S Black-Draught. CONSTITUTION, INDIGESTION, BILIOUSNESS. WOMEN who need a tonic should take CARDUI. In use over 50 years.

THE FOUR AGES OF LUBRICATION. 2 Years B. C. to 1763. Animal Fats for Wood-on-Wood Friction. 1763 to 1859. Vegetable Oils and Animal Fats for Metal-on-Metal Friction. 1859 to 1918. Petroleum discovered and used—not as "oil" but does not corrode. 1918 to 1930. GERM-PROCESSED OILS. The first fundamental better oil of the Century! * Means—Slipperiness, smoothness, freedom from friction; also the property that does not corrode, as the lubricity of oil, coupled with the unique ability to penetrate metal.

GAS FOR SAN SABA

Representatives of the Consumers Natural Gas Company met with the City Council last week and submitted a formal franchise ordinance. This was gone over carefully and discussed and in the main features agreed upon. There are a few minor details which it is believed can be ironed out. The gas company proposes to tap the Coleman-Brady gas line at or near Lohn and serve Rochelle, Richland Springs, San Saba and Goldthwaite and possibly Lometa and Lampasas. If the franchise is granted the work of making a survey of the town and getting consumers on the dotted line will start immediately and the line is to be completed into town by the first of June.—San Saba News. —POLL TAX—JAN. 31— Terraced 600,000 Acres

MERLE JOHNSTON

Musician Gathers Music From All Over World

New York City.—The only complete collection of saxophone music in the world is owned by Merle Johnston, internationally famous saxophone player. While traveling abroad, the merest hint or rumour of an original or unknown manuscript on saxophone music will send Johnston hurrying off to out-of-the-way hamlets, keep him for days pouring over the musical records of continental libraries and universities and send him down by streets of Belgian and German cities to leaf over tattered music for sale in dingy little music shops.

This busy modern musician who is now playing an average of seventy-seven hours a week over the radio to an audience of twenty-five million people, has found time to make not only a hobby but a fetish of his library. Johnston's library, which will undoubtedly be appreciated by musical historians and students for centuries to come, contains manuscripts that date back to the earliest compositions of Adolphe Sax, the Belgian who discovered the saxophone in 1840.

Invented Sax Adolphe Sax, while trying to produce a clarinet that would overblow the octave like the flute and oboe, gave the musical world the saxophone. The new instrument became popular immediately, and soon superseded the bassoon in many military bands. It was used in an orchestra for the first time in Paris in 1844. "A Bungalow, A Radio And You," a foxtrot song I play to millions over the air daily," explains Mr. Johnston, "is a number that may be called a real contribution to saxophone music. It has the musical nuances which have made the saxophone the world's most popular instrument. "It is pieces of this type which have made the saxophone and dance music synonymous."

SPELLS OF BACKACHE

"I HAVE used Cardui at intervals for sixteen years, when I suffered from weakness, and it always helped me," says Mrs. J. W. Jirrigal, R. F. D. 2, Troy, Ala. "Mostly I was afflicted with bad spells of backache. At times I felt as if my back would break. I would drag one foot after the other, in a helpless sort of a way, and once I got down in bed. My husband urged me to take Cardui, and I soon found what a fine medicine it really was. "When my second child was little, I was in very bad health. I did not pick up as I should have. I was weak and sickly. I do not believe that I would have come through, but for Cardui."

Before these highest quality cords which are twisted for greatest strength and elasticity are built into tires, they are Gum-Dipped for greatest endurance and mileage.
