Paris Boy Scouts ended an appropriate seven-day observance of scout week by having charge of the municipal government of Paris for a day and the organization was honored by Paris citizens with a number of gifts made to perpetuate scout activities. A cash endowment fund, which is expected to reach $5,000 during 1930, was started.

A trunk belonging to a jewelry salesman and containing diamonds said to be worth $150,000, was stolen from an alley behind one of Oklahoma City's leading hotels shortly before noon Friday. Taken from a railroad station to the hotel on a baggage truck, the trunk was left in the alley for a few minutes. Shortly afterward it was reported missing.

Work is to begin shortly upon a Mexican national highway which will connect Matamoros, across the Rio Grande, with Mazatlan on the Mexican Pacific Coast, it reported. The road would pass through Monterrey, Saltillo, Torreon and Durango. Although the Mexican Government now has under construction several highways connecting Texas border points with the interior of that country, this will be the first thoroughfare that will lead to the West Coast.

Three hundred and twenty-two Texas Gold Star mothers and widows have been listed by the War Department as eligible to make the visit to European cemeteries at the expense of the Federal Government. Seventy-nine indicated a desire to go this year and forty-nine that they would go before 1933. Texas mothers and widows to the number of 161 have told the War Department that they did not care to make the trip. No decision has been received from thirty-five.

Governor Dan Moody has set aside the week of March 30 to April 6 as "Milk for Health Week." State-wide recognition of this event as a period devoted to the health qualities of milk and when the general question of child health would be discussed, was asked by the Governor, following a general meeting Saturday, called by Dr. J. C. Anderson, State Health Officer. One hundred representatives of child welfare and other associations attended.

The section of the act of the Fortieth Legislature which attempted to authorize County School Boards to incorporate the territory of a common school district or one or more common school districts formerly constituting an independent school district into an independent school district on petition signed by a majority of the legally qualified, taxpaying voters of such school districts by order entered on the minutes of the county School Boards, was held unconstitutional by the Supreme Court when it adopted an opinion of the Commission of Appeals affirming the Court of Civil Appeals in the case of Pyote Independent School District.

EAT THE SURPLUS

There are 30,000,000 pounds of surplus butter in the country. It looks like a lot of butter, and if it were all stacked up in one pile it would cover a considerable area. Yet, it would not be much of a job to get rid of all of it, as has been figured out by some one interested in statistics. It is said if every person in the country would eat one extra pat of butter per day such as is served in restaurants, it would take just twelve days to consume the surplus and bring the market back to normal.

There are many thousands of people who eat their share of butter every day and are in better health because of it. At the same time we have other thousands who consume no butter at all, but who buy substitutes instead. What the dairy interests should do is to make an effort to educate non-butter eaters away from substitutes. It is often said that if every person in the world had all the cotton cloth they actually needed to protect themselves, we would not be producing half enough to go around. The same may be said about butter. If every person consumed all the butter and other dairy products good health demands, we would be fifty years from surplus production. There is a lot of room in this country for an expansion of the dairy industry, but we must first conduct a little educational work among potential consumers.—Farm and Ranch.

APPEARANCES COUNT

There is an old saying that "clothes make the man." Whether we realize it or not, we are judged by the appearance we make. It is only natural to associate success with the man who looks the part. The difference in cost between the well groomed man and the one with a poor appearance is usually small. It is only a matter of care. A few cents for laundry, pressing, a shave and a shine represents well invested capital, and frequently pay big dividends in the form of inspiring confidence in one's self.

As it is with men, so it is with farms. Appearances count for much more than is generally thought. A farm with broken down fences, sagging gates, weather-stained houses, dilapidated barns, pastures overgrown with bushes or weeds, proclaim that the owner thereof is a failure.

Again as with men, just a little work and time will be all that is needed to make such a home far more pleasing in appearance. There may be some cost to get the needed materials for repairs, but it is so small compared to the good it will do that it is negligible. During the winter months there is not much field work to be done. It is the logical time to do the things which will add so much to the appearance of the farm home. A well kept farm begets confidence in the owner, and confidence begets success.—Farm and Ranch.

Says Sargon Brought Back His Health

JOHN C. SPENCER

"For the past year I have been in wretched health. Three bottles of Sargon put me in wonderful condition. My appetite is splendid now and my digestion is sound. I have gained ten pounds and my strength has returned in proportion."

"I wouldn't be without Sargon if it cost twenty-five dollars a bottle."—John C. Spencer, 498 Sixty-third St., West Allis, Milwaukee, Wis.

Sargon's record of marvelous achievement is an open book to all, and only those who have used this famous treatment know its real powers.

Sargon may be bought in Goldthwaite at Clements' Drug & Jewelry Store.

FARM ROADS

A practical method of "farm relief" is for every state to adopt a program of building farm-to-market roads as rapidly as their budgets will allow. In the past the city dweller has received most of the advantages accruing from the building of highways. The farmer, though one of our foremost taxpayers and producers, has not been given his share of improved roads. Social and commercial contact with the outside world, through the medium of lowcost, hard surfaced highways, makes for more progressive and prosperous agriculture. So long as millions of American farmers are kept from their markets during the winter months, by unimproved roads, there will be a serious farm problem. It is the duty of every state to give agricultural districts roads which are practical for travel all the year round.

BE PATIENT

Learn to be patient. When you have to wait, be philosophical and calm. Do not fret and fume and worry. Bear in mind that if you are impatient in waiting you will become impatient in other ways also. Any task that you may undertake you will drop, because you lack the patience to stick to it long enough to attain success.

Cultivate patience. Do not follow the advice for a week or month and then drop it, and chase another correction for your over-worker nerves. It may take months before your nerves begin to show signs of becoming calmer and stronger, but positive results will surely follow.—The Koch Messenger.

MOST COSTLY LOSS

It is startling to read the "Lost and Found" columns in a big city paper and see the rewards offered for lost articles. Dogs, papers, jewels, furs, pocketbooks, umbrellas, everything that human being can possibly mislay, forget or lose, are listed here with a reward offered when returned.

There is one article frequently lost, for which no reward is offered, and this is in spite of the fact that it is one of the costliest of all losses. It would surprise us if, in the "Lost and Found" column, we should one day run across an item like this: "Lost, a temper, thereby in a few minutes wrecking a friendship it had taken years to build up. Large reward offered for its return." We shall never see such an advertisement, for such a loss is irreplaceable. One may lose his temper and in another five minutes have done harm he can never undo. There are young men and young women who have everything on their side except that they have an undisciplined temper, and that weakness is often more than a match for all their advantages.

THINK

Chiropractic finds and locates the cause of disease, without asking a question and no school of healing, other than Chiropractic, teaches such scientific art. If you wish to know what is wrong, come and see. There'll be no regrets.

If you have to lose something throw your watch into the street, put your money into a pocket with a hole in it and leave your umbrella in some corner where you are sure to walk off and forget it. Be on your guard against the most costly of all losses, losing your temper.—The Motor.

Music and Moon Magic Make Shipboard Romance

Captain HENRI BOISSON

Oh, I've packed up all my troubles, I'm all through blowing bubbles, like a bird that's on the wing, flying on high.

Captain of France Tells How Voyages End In Lovers' Pightings

New York City.—The romance of the moon and music have done more to lure people on ships and back again year after year, than all the steamship advertising ever printed.

Smart and enterprising ocean lines are now putting as much thought into the dance music they furnish their passengers, as they do into the hiring of the chef or the decorating of the salon.

This is the contention of Captain Henri Boisson, of the S. S. "France", of the Compagnie Generale Transatlantique, who have done much to make the sea romantic.

"People going abroad who once laded up with mal-de-mer remedies now give their attention to adequate supply of dancing pippers and evening dresses," he asserts.

"Modern dance music on shipboard aided and abetted by the moon has won a psychological victory for health. Romance and nausea cannot travel together. Ninety-five per cent. of the old-fashioned cases of seasickness developed because the victims expected it. Today romance plays too great a part in the ship's program for anybody to waste time thinking of seasickness.

Many Engagements
"Thousands of sea romances bud into engagements and marriages, but most of the engagements occur returning. Going over, the lure of the new seldom develops more than a flirtation, but returning home courtships often end in matrimony.

"There's a number which I notice the ship's orchestra plays as we near New York, 'I'm Wing-in' Home.' I'll wager that more engagements have been settled to the strains of this song than to any other music. It sort of marks the high water mark in the ship's romances, bringing them to an end, one way or the other."

TEMPERANCE EDUCATION

Every sincere believer in temperance, whether or not convinced of the wisdom of all existing dry legislation, will welcome the growing emphasis on education as a means of advancing the dry movement.

Discussing the culpability of the buyer of liquor as well as the seller, one dry leader said: "In principle I believe that is soundly true, but I have some doubts that the way to get at it is by legal action. The better way is through public opinion."

The same forces in our national life that recognize the evils of the liquor traffic now. Social workers, doctors, nurses, policemen, employers, many parents, have seen for themselves the tragic consequences of unrestricted use of intoxicants. They have seen homes and lives wrecked, bodies and minds crippled, crimes committed, accidents caused by alcoholic intemperance. In recent years, however, there has been more talk of duty to the Constitution and law enforcement by any means, and less talk of the physical and mental ills that follow in the train of the Demon Rum.

Education in the advantages of a steady hand, a clear mind, a sound body, a savings account, healthy, happy children, safe streets, and so on, is greatly needed in meeting the prohibition situation. It is strange that so many people who have such ideals close at heart should have neglected this matter of education. It is well that they are turning to it now.—Brownwood Record.

A SQUARE DEAL

The Eagle appreciates to the limit the patronage of the good people who subscribe for the paper and it is the desire of the management to hold every name on the list. However, we know that some have lost interest in the affairs in this county and others do not feel inclined to continue to subscribe for the paper. All of these are within their rights and there is no complaint and no room for criticism. It is the desire of the Eagle to serve its patrons as they want to be served and for that reason the papers are marked with an X when the time of subscription has expired, in order that all may know the status of their subscription accounts. Some have been continued past the time for which subscription is paid because the management feels they want the paper and have overlooked the matter and this is to request all those whose papers are marked with the X to notify this office or the postmaster or carrier if they do not wish the paper continued to their address. If we do not receive such notice we will suppose the party addressed desires the paper continued and will settle as quickly as convenient. Let the Eagle know about it.

Thin, Pale, Weak

"I HAD been through a bad spell of sickness which left me very weak," says Mrs. Virginia Spruce, of Stapleton, Va. "I was pale and felt lifeless, and my strength did not return. I spent most of my time on the bed. I was very nervous, and the least thing upset me. I did not have strength enough to lift a broom. At times I would have had headaches, which would hurt me until I could hardly see. Someone asked me why I did not try Cardui. I had read of it, so I thought I would see what it would do for me. It was really remarkable how I came out. My strength returned, and my health was better than it had been in years. I gained in weight about ten pounds. My color was good, and I ceased to suffer from headaches. I have told my friends about Cardui because I was benefited after taking it."

Jazz Takes Rank With Folk Music of Europe

HENRIETTA KAMERN

Henrietta Kamern, Organist, Thinks Our Music Patrician

New York City.—Modern American music is not a changeling, an ugly duckling left on the doorstep of the twentieth century. The new rhythm is of patrician pedigree, tracing its origin back to the very sources of the earliest music.

This is the opinion of Miss Henrietta Kamern, whose interpretation of jazz on the organ, has won her such recognition in musical circles that she has been engaged by a large theatrical syndicate to direct a new school of organ rhythm.

Coming from a family of Russian musicians with musical ancestors on both maternal and paternal sides as far back as the family history has been traced—and that is over one thousand years—Miss Kamern speaks with authority.

"The modern rhythm is a legitimate evolution of the music of the ages," she declares. "Its new aspect lies in the fact that it is not written down—that it requires a further step in musical imagination to play it."

Miss Kamern's mother was the first woman in America to direct a jazz orchestra, and has been leading this orchestra in a New York theatre for eleven years.

Andrew, in this city Saturday afternoon at 3:30 p. m., the remains having arrived here Saturday morning on the early train. Mr. Proctor, who was nearing 76th birthday, lived a number of years in Lampasas, being employed by a lumber company here, but for the past twenty years, up till a year ago, when he resigned on account of ill health, he was manager of the W. F. & J. F. Barnes Lumber Co. at Lometa. Following his resignation, he went to Dallas to live with his son, Cecil.

On Sunday night at 11:15 o'clock Lampasas lost one of San Saba and Miss Blake McLeod of Field Creek. The couple motored to Mason Sunday morning and were happily married in that city. From there they went on to San Antonio and South Texas for the honeymoon.—News.

FAVORS BAD ROADS

State Press lists himself as a bad roads advocate. This country will never get firmly on its feet again until the roads become impassable. Easy travel has taken the men, women and children away from home, reduced the farm tonnage and increased the store bills. Good roads have made most of us imagine regular work is drudgery, therefore something to be avoided. The theory which has underlain all the propaganda for paved roads is that man was made to travel. It is a destructive fallacy. Man was not made to travel. He was made to stay at home and earn a living. His wife also. Too much of the wilderness was destroyed that towns might be built on the ground where the trees stood. Too many good roads have made too many poor towns, and too many poor towns have spoiled millions of acres of good forest. Instead of opening new roads, let's block up a lot of those we already have. Any main-traveled thoroughfare that develops an impassable bog hole serves the country. Any stream that washes a much-used bridge away has performed an excellent work for prosperity. The only way known to man whereby he can make a living and keep out of debt is by staying at home and raising pigs, potatoes, peanuts and poultry. Also calves and milk and butter and greens.—State Press in Dallas News.

her most useful, as well as one of her best, citizens, when death claimed J. H. H. Berry. The end came peacefully and without suffering, a result of a heart attack those around him not even being aware that anything out of the ordinary was wrong till he was practically gone. For the past several years Mr. Berry had suffered with heart trouble, and for the past several months his condition had grown worse; at the same time he had been going right on with his office work most of the time.

Thursday morning the news came to Lampasas that S. A. Baxter had shot himself about 8:30 o'clock. Judge T. Tom Higgins, accompanied by Sheriff W. M. Faubion, went directly to the home and an inquest was made, the Judge pronouncing death due to accidental discharge of a 30-30 Winchester by Mr. Baxter himself. In explaining the situation, it was said that the gun was under a bed in the room and another bed was near this one, and it looked like Mr. Baxter had sat down on one bed to reach for the gun, and as he pulled it from under the bed the hammer had struck the railing, discharging the gun. The bullet entered under the chin.—Record.

79, ILL FIVE YEARS KONJOLA SCORES

Rheumatism And Stomach Trouble Quickly Respond To Action Of New Medicine

MR. JAMES F. SIMPSON

"Although seventy-nine years of age I found quick relief in Konjola," said Mr. James F. Simpson, 1800 North Sixth St. Ft. Smith, Ark. "For five years I suffered with rheumatism of the worst sort. The pains settled in my back, at times driving me nearly mad. Three years ago my stomach began troubling me and I grew steadily weaker from this ailment. Intense distress followed the simplest meals and food never tempted me.

"In desperation I turned to Konjola, for I knew many whom it had helped. Almost from the beginning of the treatment with this medicine, my health improved. The ills of rheumatism grew less and finally all pains from this ailment had ceased. My stomach yielded no less promptly and I soon began eating hearty meals without distress of any sort. My appetite improved and my general health is better than it has been in years."

Konjola is sold in Goldthwaite at Hudson Bros. drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this section.

Fighting Automobile Accidents

It has become increasingly apparent during recent years that the automobile accident problem will not be solved by such legislation boomerangs as compulsory insurance, but by certain punishment of persons flagrantly guilty of causing accidents. So long as "cure" is subjugated to "indemnity" the accident record will continue to increase. During 1929, financial responsibility laws were passed in some form in California, Iowa, New Jersey, New York, Wisconsin and North Dakota. None of these force unconditional compulsory insurance on the public. The careful, competent driver is not affected by them. They act solely in the case of the careless and reckless. A large percentage of our accidents can be attributed to outmoded, inadequate or unenforced traffic and highway driving ordinances. In many states licenses to operate a car are given to any who ask for them, irrespective of their ability, experience, or responsibility. It is no wonder that this condition results in the death of 21,000 persons each year. Get after the reckless driver and leave the careful one alone. When every community does that, we will be successful in the war against automobile accidents.

Constipation Troubles

"I HAVE used Black-Draught as a family medicine for a good many years," says Mrs. Sallie Laughrun, of Hunt Dale, N. C. "I have found it an excellent remedy for constipation and the troubles that follow it. I have suffered frequently from gas pains, and when I am bothered that way I begin at once to take Black-Draught. Relief follows quickly."

"I give Black-Draught to the children when they are constipated, and it is not long until they are running around again."

Thousands of others have reported good results from the use of this purely vegetable medicine. Insist on the genuine Theford's

What's a stack of hotcakes got to do with a GARDEN?

HOTCAKES just off the griddle are at their tenderest. Then's the time to eat them—when they're hot. And vegetables just from a garden are at their tenderest. Then is the time to eat them, too—when the radishes are solid, crisp. When the tomatoes sparkle as you peel them, and you can slice them smooth and thin.

Have a kitchen garden and enjoy all your vegetables at their climax-time, when they are most tender and sweet. Plant Ferry's purebred Seeds. These have abundant life inside. They are what their name says—purebred. Generations of the seeds that finally became these seeds produced vegetables and flowers approaching perfection.

Ferry's Seeds are at the "store around the corner." A few packets will show what your own yard can grow—but you will want more than a few packets when you look over Ferry's Seed Annual. With this, your garden can produce from early-radiish time till frost, when crisp, white celery can last clear on till spring again! For the Annual, write to D. M. Ferry & Co., Detroit, Michigan.

P. S.—THE GARDENER HAS NO SECOND CHANCE. PLANT THE BEST.

SOIL CONSERVATION

Within the last few days terracing schools have been held with W. L. Eddy, Goldthwaite; L. F. Arnold, Moline; Jo Curtis Jr., Ridge; Tom House, Center City and Emil Schumann, Priddy.
At Moline a number of interested farmers and school boys led by Prof. Culp, the teacher, attended and were instructed in the use of the level. At Center City Prof. Neighbors of Center City and Prof. Oneal of Live Oak brought their boys and took part in the work. Moline, Center City and Live Oak are to be commended for having teachers who cooperate with their people in activities pertaining to community progress. Such teachers are well worthy of their hire.
All available barnyard manure should be hauled out at once and spread on the fields. The only way to solve the cotton problem is to grow more and better cotton on fewer acres.

County Agent.

A BIG JOB

The Federal Farm Board is a harried and worried organization. The members collectively are charged with the responsibility of repairing the impaired prosperity of the farmers. But since the board began working at that hereulean undertaking, grain and wool and cotton have been going down, down and down, and down some more. The stabilization which was hoped for has missed the stable, the whole horse lot, in fact. But no great reform was ever accomplished in a day or a year. Rome was centuries in building, and Athens began decaying as soon as completed. The fact about American cotton and wheat and wool is that they are not in such demand throughout the world as they once were. Substitution is eating the vitals out of them. It would seem that there could be no substitution for grain, but there is. The world, in warm spots, is now growing vegetables all the year 'round. These vegetables do interfere with bread consumption. And ice cream interferes with pasty consumption, just as rayon takes some of the market away from wool and cotton. There are changing fashions in food as well as in clothing. The Farm Board has a huge task. It must stabilize the dependable money crops for American farmers, or fail of its mission. The farmers themselves, to be sure, must help. They can best help by not glutting the market with wheat or cotton, and by supporting themselves with more for their tables and less for their pockets. Many Texas farmers are losing the lands they owned in excess of their homesteads. This ought to help them, as heretofore their excess holdings have kept them poor.—State Press in Dallas News.

Walter Weatherby has returned from Dallas, where he attended an interesting and beneficial meeting of Ford dealers.
