

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, MAY 23, 1930.

NUMBER TWENTY EIGHT

COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES WILL START NEXT SUNDAY

Special District Court Ordered For August

NUMBERS ARE NOT ALL

As census figures are announced all over the country the denizens of towns and cities begin again to overemphasize mere size. The argument is, apparently, that a city of 25,000 is bound to be better than one of 24,000 and the additional 1,000 population is offered, under the doctrine of majority rule, as the proof.

Personally, it has always seemed to us that the quality of the people in Goldthwaite has been a bigger civic asset than the number. We would prefer to see 100 cultured, respectable, hard-working men and women move into our community than 1,000 people of doubtful purpose, morals and intentions.

Naturally, the population determines, in a marked degree, the business of the town, but very often the back-country that trades within a city or town is as important in the commercial life as are those who live within the municipal limits. The character of these citizens is an important factor in the desirability of the place.

Goldthwaite and Mills county have been blessed, we should say, with people of fine characteristics. These traits should be appreciated and our young people should emulate them. They should not be led astray by the typically American insistence upon size.

BIG VALLEY

Lorain Dewey has gone to San Marcos for the summer school term.

Miss Ruth Featherston entertained the Big Valley school and their friends at her home north of Goldthwaite Saturday night.

A number of visitors attended singing here Sunday. After the singing hour Mrs. Ivins presented the work of the W. M. U. to the women of the church.

Mrs. Reed of Lower Valley assisted the Misses Morgan over the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Ben Forehand attended church here Sunday. Mrs. Noah Gilentine and children visited at Mr. Morgan's home Sunday.

Ruth Featherston and Euna V. Brim visited the Cockrells Sunday.

We had good services Sunday. Big Valley folks who don't attend preaching services miss a lot. At the Sunday school hour a collection was taken for Mexican Missions in San Angelo.

The river is rising and is about to get over my corn field. Hope it leaves a nice big fish when the water recedes. FARMER

APPEAL WITHDRAWN

The appeal of Clyde McNeil from the forty year sentence for the robbery of the First National bank of Brownwood some months ago, has been withdrawn from the court of appeals. He also has a twenty-five year sentence for the robbery of the Richland Springs bank. McNeil was a business man of Brownwood, who had high standing and was a commander in the army during the World War and afterwards was head of the Legion in Brownwood. When he was first charged with the robberies his friends thought it an outrage and many of the best citizens of the country hurried to his support.

A SUCCESSFUL SCHOOL

The closing exercises of Big Valley school took place last night and were attended by a large audience of patrons and well wishers. The past term has been very successful and the trustees have elected the same teachers for another term.

BLANTON ELECTED TO UNEXPIRED TERM

District Court Busy Several Trials

Court has been in session this week and several cases have been given attention. The first case called Monday morning was that of State vs. W. B. and Bailey Fowler, charged with killing Dr. J. C. Barrett in Big Valley some weeks ago. On account of the absence of witnesses the case was passed until Thursday. It was again called Thursday morning and continued to August 7.

The case of State vs. M. B. Reed, charged with operating a still, was tried Tuesday and a verdict of guilty rendered, with punishment assessed at two years in the penitentiary.

Roxie Savelly vs. Foster Savelly, divorce granted and custody of child awarded plaintiff.

John Straley, who was convicted on a liquor charge last week, gave notice of appeal and was admitted to bond to await action by the court of criminal appeals.

Cockrum and Tyson vs. Santa Fe and T. & N. O. Railroads, damages on shipment of sheep and goats; verdict for defendants.

Several cases were continued because of absence of witnesses and for other causes.

The court appointed a jury commission composed of the following citizens, who met Monday and performed their duties: W. G. Miller, W. P. Woody, D. A. Hamilton, Joe Langford, W. M. Dennard.

After continuing the Fowler case yesterday the court took recess until this morning, when other cases on the docket will be called. The Fowler case was continued to the special term of District Court to be convened here August 4 and the case was sent for August 7. At this special term of court it is hoped to clear the docket of cases now pending.

SENIOR LEAGUE

ENTERTAINED WITH PARTY

By the absence of the League Reporter, mention of a "42" party was not printed in last week's issue of this paper, which was given by Mrs. Sam Sullivan at her home on Fisher street.

After the evening was spent in playing "42", a beautiful ice course was served to about 50 young people.

Light Vote Recorded Returns Incomplete

In the special election held in this congressional district Tuesday, to select a successor to Congressman R. Q. Lee, to fill his unexpired term, Tom Blanton of Abilene was elected over Mrs. Lee, widow of the congressman, by a majority of approximately 2000 votes. The probabilities are that Mrs. Lee carried Mills county by a small majority, although her lead in this county may be effaced when all returns are in. In fifteen out of twenty boxes she has a lead of 13 and her supporters are hopeful that she will maintain the lead.

Blanton will have to make a campaign to succeed himself when a nomination for the place is to be made in the July primary, as this election only gives him the office until the November election. Several men have been suggested for the place, but it is not known at this time how many candidates there will be for the place.

The results from the Mills county boxes, as far as reported are here given:

Voting Box	Lee	Blanton

SMALL GRAIN GOOD

The small grain has improved greatly the past few weeks and Mills county will make a pretty good crop, if present indications prove correct.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Rev. Charlie Jackson filled the pulpit at both hours last Sunday. Two splendid congregations heard him. He delivered two good sermons. And if this preacher is any judge, the sermon Sunday night was one of the best that has ever been delivered in any pulpit. Brother Jackson was reared in this town, his father and mother living here at this time. He numbers his friends by his acquaintances and it was a genuine pleasure to have him preach for us, and his messages helped all.

The Methodists contributed much to our services worshiping with us at both hours. When Methodists and Baptists get their forces together they move things along. Both choirs were well represented and needless to say that some good music was rendered.

Let our folk remember that the superintendent asks that we have 255 next Sunday at Sunday school. We are going to have that many if every one will urge someone to be present. Let's get in and stay in until we realize the goal. Everyone be on time so we can get out at 10:30 and get to the school auditorium for the commencement sermon.

WESLEY WORKERS ENTERTAINED

Mrs. S. P. Sullivan's class in the Methodist Sunday school, known as the Wesley Workers, were entertained, together with some of their friends, in the park at M. H. Fletcher's residence, 4 miles east of this city Tuesday evening. The guests were notified to be there by 8 o'clock, but many of them could not wait that long and by 7:30 they commenced to arrive and it is doubtful if any were as late as the appointed hour.

Upon arrival, some of the young folks engaged in baseball, football and other games, while many of the older members and guests busied themselves about preparing the tables and when all was in readiness the barbecued goats were brought forth from the pit and pansful of barbecue were placed about the tables, where bread, pickles, onions and other accessories had already been arranged. Large gasoline lamps and a number of lanterns were placed in position to give light and the company was invited to the feast and a second invitation was not necessary. Aside from the edibles, coffee, iced tea, lemonade and ice water had been provided and everything seemed to be exactly to the liking of all present, which was amply illustrated by the condition of the table after the feast.

Mr. and Mrs. Fletcher gave especial attention to providing for the comfort and pleasure of everybody and assisted Mrs. Sullivan and the members of the class in serving and in seeing to it that all enjoyed the occasion.

Several hours were enjoyed by those so fortunate as to be there and when the time for departure came, the universal expression was that this had been one of the most enjoyable entertainments provided by Mrs. Sullivan and her class.

METHODIST CHURCH

Those who were not at our General Conference and kept posted with the newspaper reports would hardly believe the devotional spirit and loving consideration for each other that prevailed there. During the entire week there but once was an unbrotherly spirit manifested and then it was not persisted in. I think that with all the measures that were presented and the diversity of opinions in regard to them and each, of course seeing the importance of his own viewpoint the dominance of the spirit of love would have hardly been possible without the presence of the spirit of God. I would that all of our members could have beheld the operations of that great body. From any stand-point it looked ungrasonable to me to go—the recent hospital bills and the inclement health of my family and so forth, but I felt that I needed all the inspiration possible and all the light that I could get in view of changes in the administrations in the local church and so with the courtesy of my long suffering creditors and at the insistence of my heroic companion I went. I am sure my going was a blessing to my own heart and I trust I may be better able to carry on the work committed to me when changes take effect. I trust it was not selfish of me to go. I thank the few who expressed their appreciation of me going and the many who made no complaint of the same.

We will have no morning sermon at the Methodist church but will go to the school auditorium to hear the baccalaureate sermon by Brother Council of Belton. I am expecting a high day Sunday. Our night service will begin at eight o'clock. The message will be on the subject of the "Field of the Sluggard."

Our services will be attractive and inspirational by the singing of many of our great songs. You are welcome at our services. S. D. LAMBERT

CONTEMPT BY LYING

A municipal judge in Cleveland has adopted an innovation and apparently set a legal precedent by sentencing two witnesses to jail for contempt of court because he was convinced that they were lying. He further announced that he intended to take similar action against all witnesses in his court whose testimony he found to be false or who refused to answer legitimate questions. There has been much perjury in that city and in a great many other American cities in recent years. The evil grows worse. It is said that in some communities the judges and the honest lawyers are rendered almost helpless by this situation. Justice is killed by lies. The right of a judge to punish for contempt is often subject to criticism. It is a dangerous power in unwise or arrogant hands. Few citizens will want to see much extension of it. Yet something must be done when lying witnesses are making monkeys of the courts. Possibly this is as good a way as any to throw the fear of God into their hearts. If such application of contempt proceedings is abused, it can be limited.—Brownwood Record.

MIDWAY

The school program was enjoyed by a large crowd Friday night. The school children were not very glad for school to be out. They have all had to go to work this week. Some are plowing, some hoeing, some canning and some doing other things.

Sunday school was not very well attended Sunday on account of the heavy rain Saturday night, but there was a good crowd at B. Y. P. U. and they listened to a good program. Most of the people went on to Bethel to singing.

We are getting up a play entitled "Nora, Wake Up," which will be presented in the near future. At this entertainment we are going to sell ice cream to get money to buy church song books. The play will be free for everybody, but we would be glad you would bring a nickel for an ice cream cone. If we make more than enough to buy the books, the rest will go for the up-keep of the lights for the community. Watch for the announcement of when the play will be and come.

Automobiles seized by the Government for the unlawful transportation of liquor must be confiscated under the prohibition law. The Supreme Court made this ruling Monday in a unanimous decision rendered by Justice Stone. Under it, lien holders and owners will be able to recover their automobiles when so seized if they satisfy the courts that the unlawful use of the automobile had not been authorized.

It is common misconception that the Declaration of Independence declares happiness to one of the inalienable rights of human kind. The right which economists so boldly claimed as the right to pursue happiness. And the man or woman who discovers early in life that the nearest to happiness is through a constant endeavor to do the job in hand as well as the done comes nearer to success, not only in his or her immediate occupation, but in the broader sense of living a successful life.

George B. Terrell, Commissioner of Agriculture, must go before the Federal Court at San Antonio, May 31, to answer why he should not be punished for contempt. Judge Robert T. Mass meetings were held in the Valley last week and it was at one or more of these that Mr. Terrell is charged with having violated restraining orders prohibiting him from interfering with the sale and shipment of citrus fruit from Florida into Texas.

Mob violence was denounced and municipal ownership of public utilities favored in resolutions adopted at the closing session Friday of the eighteenth annual convention of the League of Texas Municipalities at Austin Friday. A resolution unanimously adopted declared that "the people of Texas and particularly the smaller towns and rural communities, are being charged excessive rates for service by the public utilities of the state." The resolution favored state regulation by legislation. The League advocated the establishment of a fact-finding body with the power to obtain all information necessary to determine proper rates to be charged. My kidneys were out of order making night risings necessary and causing me to lose restful sleep. My eyesight seemed to be failing on account of these conditions."

"Much to my surprise, I began to get immediate results after taking this medicine. The swelling left my ankles and limbs and I became stronger. I can now go about my work without stopping to rest. I have been relieved of constipation and my eyesight has improved since taking this medicine. I have and will continue to recommend Konjola to all who suffer from such ailments as I had. EXHAUSTING OIL RESOURCES

The supremacy of the United States in oil production may be laid to four causes:

First is the magnitude of our petroleum resources. Second, petroleum in this country is generally readily accessible and may be quickly and easily transported. Third, American ingenuity and enterprise have discovered the oil, built great pipe line systems and refineries and created a tremendous demand. Fourth, American oil production has been relatively free bureaucratic governmental interference.

During 1929, we produced 65 per cent of the world's supply of petroleum. Russia, the second largest producer, was responsible for but 13 per cent. As the Federal Oil Conservation Board has said, "This country is depleting its supply several times faster than the rest of the world."

Opinions differ as to just how long our oil resources may be expected to last. But it is generally agreed that petroleum waste, due to over-production, constitutes an economic crime. For many years the demand has been appreciably below supply. Irresponsible producers, whose aim is to produce as much oil as possible irrespective of market conditions, have made the efforts of the major operators to effect intelligent conservation futile.

Even if our oil reserves were inexhaustible, waste of a product which is absolutely necessary to modern civilization would be inexcusable.

WE MUST FACE FACTS

For many years the rest of the world has been working to secure relief from an American cotton monopoly. During this time we have talked ourselves into a feeling of security. Some have gone to the extreme in denouncing those who bravely called attention to the progress being made in cotton production elsewhere. The fact that nearly one-half of the world's cotton is now being produced outside of this country, and that the amount is increasing every year, should convince us that all the smart people do not live in the United States. Foreign grown cotton is being improved from year to year. American cotton has been allowed to decline in staple length, strength of fiber and in other ways until it has lost its standing in the markets of the world.

To a large extent this has been brought about by the most vicious marketing system ever devised to rob producers of the profits of their labor and investment, and by our utter disregard of the principles of good farming. The decline in the quality and yield of our cotton is due to the use of "any old seed" and the one-crop system.

Farming without livestock, and the production of feed-stuffs for that stock, has failed in every section of the world where it has been tried. We, in the South, could not be convinced by the experience of others. We are having to take a big dose of the medicine ourselves.—Farm and Ranch.

Rythmic Slang Is New Broadway Wrinkle

"If I Didn't Know Your Husband" Latest Example of Fad

New York City.—Rhythmical slang is the newest wrinkle on Broadway. Or rather, slang has always been rhythmical but slang experts have only just discovered this invariable quality. This is the contention of Maureen Englin, singer from Rockford, Illinois, who has been responsible for popularizing much of the present-day slang. Her theory is that nearly all the latest slang originates in the popular songs of the country. She has a whole repertoire of slang songs, the most successful of which is the latest one of all, "If I Didn't Know Your Husband and You Didn't Know My Wife."

"Everybody is asking everybody else, 'Where Were You All My Life?' whether that is what they mean or not, Miss Englin declares. Like every other fad, it seems at first not to have a great deal of sense to it. It is just a catch line from the song, but when you come to look it over, you find that it has considerable meaning and real rhythm. "The rhythm, of course, is what keeps it in the public mind. Everybody is haunted by certain names that seem to make music when you say them over. That is why some names are easy to remember and others hard. It is too bad that mothers, naming new babies, shouldn't bear this fact in mind more often. "It might actually mean that their children would succeed better later in life. There isn't a doubt in my mind that rhythm makes everything easier and the United States is becoming the most rhythmical of all nations."

"I had a severe case of indigestion," says Mrs. Bell Buckheister, 7 River St., Piedmont, S. C. "So many things that I ate hurt me, I almost quit eating. I would burn in my chest. I had severe headache, and such a tight, smothering feeling. I would be obliged to eat a little, then it would hurt me. A friend said to me: 'Why don't you take Black-Draught?' I was just too weak then to do my work. I began taking small doses after meals, and in just a few weeks I could eat anything I wanted to, then take my small dose of Black-Draught and feel fine. REALTY WANTED

Surely in a nation of 120,000,000 people the ground on which their homes are built, the fields and pastures from which their sustenance comes, has an intrinsic value not equalled by other values. Yet it is obvious to all on-lookers that real estate—happily called so—has declined in desirability within a decade. The greater the population, the scarcer the land, in proportion to public needs. This must mean, when the tax is deducted and the trest allowed, that sometime ground will become precious to its owner. It has long been so in Europe, where large populations have leaned on the land for support. Always on that continent the landed class were the most envied class. They were accounted secure, because backed by the nation's primary wealth. Land has been so plentiful in America that less store was set by it. That condition is changing. It has to change, because no more land is being made and the people are increasing. The main cause of real estate depression is taxation. The yield has been disproportionate to the exaction of the taxes. This holds good for farm lands nearly everywhere, but not so good for choice city property, perhaps. Our statesmen have churned their brains industriously to devise ways and means for assisting agriculture. They need not have gone as far in theory as some of them have. If they would only contrive to relieve the farmer of an appreciable portion of his tax burden they will have given him the aid and encouragement he has dimly sought. — State Press in Dallas News.

A BILLION AND A HALF FOR ROADS

During 1930, the states and their counties will spend over $1,601,000,000 for highway improvements, $250,000,000 more than in 1929.

According to the Department of Agriculture, $663,667,000 of this will be spent on local roads and bridges and the balance on State highways. Officials of 45 states estimate the total length of roads to receive attention as 32,532 miles.

At present our greatest need is the construction of feeder or farm-to-market highways. The American Farm Bureau Federation has been a leader in an aggressive campaign to obtain for the farmer the year-round, hardsurfaced roads that, as one of our foremost producers and taxpayers, he deserves. So long as a great majority of farmers are cut off from their markets during many months of the year because of impassable roads, agricultural progress must be retarded.

If our vast road building appropriations are fairly and efficiently used, with the aim of obtaining the best possible results, adequate feeder roads can be built without burdening the taxpayer. Every state should adopt a program for constructing five, ten or fifteen miles of farm-to-market road for every mile of main highway.

The United States has four times the number of automobiles of all the rest of the world combined, and less than half of the world's road mileage. Our good roads movement is just getting well started.

Famous Film Launches New Idea in Music

GRETA GARBO

Walter Donaldson Introduces American Theme as Music for "Love"

New York City.—There's been a big battle on Broadway between the contenders for American music and those for foreign classics. And the Americans have won with colors flying.

It all started because most motion pictures have been used with excerpts from classics and the public wants American jazz. Now, the far sighted producer is themeing his picture in American rhythm.

Walter Donaldson, songsmith de luxe, who has made more money from song writing than any other person, now or ever before, was asked to write the first motion picture song. He did with "That Melody Of Love," for "Love" featuring John Gilbert and Greta Garbo.

all the world wants, yet we in America have been tossing it aside for foreign classics. And we do this just because certain compositions are called "classic." In a hundred years from now many of the popular songs of 1928 will be in that category," Donaldson explains.

"Every country on the face of the earth runs our motion pictures and plays our music, yet we have hesitated to combine these two outstanding arts. It makes no difference what the story of the picture or how foreign its flavor, all of these qualities can be preserved and the music still truly American—if done in our inimitable rhythm.

"Our popular songs are our folk songs," he further explains, "and if musical productions have been supplanted by 'movies' in many towns, these motion pictures certainly should 'carry on' and bring the expected songs to the small communities."

THOUGHTS BY WAYS

Public Utilities regulations is one of the big problems in the present gubernatorial race. It is generally conceded that public service corporations should be regulated, but differences of opinion arise as to manner of regulation. One school of thought favors the creation of a new commission, while others believe that the Railroad Commission is capable of handling the job.

What difference can it make which method is followed so long as there is state control and supervision?

Electrical and Gas distributing corporations are becoming the most powerful organizations in the state. The larger cities have been fairly successful in trading with the utilities, but the small towns and communities are suffering from exorbitant rates.

Thomas B. Love will get his name on the primary ballot, the Supreme Court having so ordered. It is admitted that he will poll a large vote, and there is plenty of room for thinking that his candidacy will decrease Moody's possibilities should the governor finally enter the gubernatorial free-for-all.

Texas is a big state. To make a visit to every county seat of the state in the two months before July 26 is an almost insuperable task. Nevertheless, this is the job that Walter C. Clark has set for himself. He will begin his tour next week, and will be accompanied by his son who is assisting in promoting his candidacy.

The automobile has made a decrease in the distance between voters and candidates and ought to result in the election of better officials.

Persons holding office and seeking re-election have much the advantage over the ones who are wanting to get in. Attorney General R. L. Bobbit is one of the most popular commencement day speakers in the state. Scarcely a week passes in which he does not make two or three addresses to graduating classes. He gets a chance to appear before the voters without having to make a campaign speech.

The State Comptroller's work is closely allied with that of county tax assessors and collectors. The present incumbent, George H. Sheppard of Sweetwater, has served as Tax Assessor of Nolan county and president of the State Tax Assessor's Association. He should be qualified for the job and there are plenty of voters in the state who will vouch that he can handle the job.

Just a few more day and the state campaign will begin in earnest. On June 2 applications for place on the state ballot will be closed. Then and not before will it be known how many candidates are in the governor's race. Present tabulations show about seventeen possibilities.

THE TEXAS LYNCHING

The recent racial outburst in Texas is to be regretted, of course, but denunciation of mob fury does not end the incident. The authorities in the state seem to have used reasonable precaution, and the only matter of debate is whether the troops should have opened general fire upon those in the streets, or retired to the jail as they did.

Racial antipathy bursts the bounds of restraint in various sections of the world. The other day in South Africa, there was a race riot. Not many months ago, in California, the whites and Filipinos had trouble. There have been other disreputable performances in American states, mostly in the South, but yet, occasionally, in Illinois, Missouri and elsewhere.

It is rather foolish to give vent to rabid utterances about what ought to be done, especially when the talker is hundreds of miles away.

NOTES AND COMMENTS

Some curiously affected individuals express their regard and affection by criticising and scolding. Strange as you may think it is, it's true.

Admiral Byrd will soon land in New York, and the public will have another opportunity to show what it thinks of this great explorer.

The Eagle sells its advertising space. It cannot afford to give it away. Those who wish free advertising might as well pass on.

Goldthwaite will be beautiful when its citizens accept the responsibility of making it beautiful. You can do your part by attending to your own yards.

Correct this sentence: Goldthwaite has the best sunshine and the finest average climate of any American city, and no other town claims as much."

After observations for many years we have come to the conclusion that in fighting, there is nothing to compare with a real family row, unless it is a church wrangle.

During nine months, federal taxes on tobacco amounted to more than $333,071,486. So it seems that some of the money that "goes up in smoke" finds a resting place in Washington.

Many a newspaper editor, throwing a few thousand verbal stones at Texas on account of the recent riotous doings at Sherman, will overlook the rottenness in his own front yard.

As an editor, speaking frankly, we don't care two hoots whether you agree with what we write or not, but, if we are wrong, don't wait for somebody to tell you. Think it out yourself.

If all the candidates for Congress this fall were lined up and allowed to speak on what will rescue the farmer from depression, and all the farmers lined up and compelled to listen the problem would be no nearer solution than ever.

The Methodist General Conference at Dallas this week elected three additional bishops, all of whom are either Texans or former Texans. Dr. Paul Kearns of Travis Park church in San Antonio and Dr. Frank Smith of First Church Houston. Dr. Arthur J. Moore is not now in Texas, but much of his ministerial life has been spent in this state and he served as pastor of Travis Park church in San Antonio for a long time. The conference certainly highly honored Texas.

The jury in the John Brady murder trial, which case was transferred to Dallas from Austin, gave the aged lawyer three years in the penitentiary on a charge of murdering a young lady in Austin by stabbing her to the heart. In the trial at Austin early in this year the jury stood nine for the electric chair, two for a life term in the penitentiary and one for acquittal. The Dallas jury was far more lenient. It is now freely predicted that he will never be tried again. He will be admitted bond in Dallas and later the prediction says the case will be dismissed.

THE WATERMELON EXPOSED

One hardly knows whether to applaud or deprecate the department of agriculture's blithe announcement that watermelons have been found to contain vitamins. The news is so surprising that it leaves one for the moment dazed and incapable of any sharply defined emotion.

Vitamins in watermelons! The idea seems incongruous, almost grotesque. You think of watermelons as belonging to a realm of cool cellars, dusty fairgrounds and friends, the shady side of a farmhouse on a lazy Sunday afternoon, a green canopy of trees and the song of the katydid at twilight. You remember perhaps a black night, the bark of a dog, a breathless sprint and adolescent pantaloons torn on a barbed wire fence. You recall the singsong chant of a peddler, melons on a bed of straw and the things a quarter used to buy. Why, the watermelon is a symbol, almost, of the sweet, drowsy depths of summer!

Yet the fact must be faced. The watermelon, which for generations has been regarded only as a form of entertainment, now quite unexpectedly takes its place as a public utility, along with such things as household electricity, spinach, gasoline and long-legged cotton underwear. It is rather like discovering that some delightful worthless old Falstaff of your acquaintance has for years been supporting an orphanage for Eskimos. You admire him for his secret virtue, yet somehow or other feel less comfortable in his presence.

The watermelon growers, of course, will reap a considerable benefit from the newly discovered dietary quality of their product. Within the past few years the gospel of vitamins has spread across the land like a prairie fire fanned by a Texas norther. An appalling number of people who heretofore ate watermelons occasionally for their juicy sweetness will now eat them regularly as a matter of conscience.—Country Gentleman

PUBLIC WEAHER

The Eagle this week is authorized to announce the candidacy of Jake Kirby for Public Weigher at Goldthwaite, which represents Precincts No. 1, 2 and 4. Jake was reared here and everybody knows and likes him. They all know that he is qualified for this position and will give the people good service. He belongs to one of the best families in the county and his friends and the friends of his relatives will be glad to see him get the office. He is a hard working and conscientious man and those who vote for him can be sure they are casting their ballots for a man who is worthy of their confidence and votes.

REV. WEEMS DEAD

The sad and shocking announcement came by wire Wednesday morning that Rev. J. T. Weems had died the previous night, about 10 o'clock, the immediate cause being a hemorrhage from the lungs, altho he had been in bad health for several years. His death was entirely unexpected and the announcement was received with universal sorrow and regret.

Mr. Weems was reared here and was for a god many years engaged in the mercantile business in this city, altho he was an ordained preacher in the Methodist church and was pastor of some of the smaller churches in this section at that time. Later he engaged in the ministry exclusively and was pastor at Mullin at one time and also served other churches in this district. Several years ago he transferred to the Northwest Texas Conference and served churches at Seminole, Lella Lake, Crosby and other charges in that conference, but finally retired and located at Lubbock, where he owned a home.

He is survived by his wife, one son and daughter, both married, and a number of relatives, some of whom live in this county.

Mr. Weems was a remarkable man in many respects and was indeed in truth a self-made man, and it can truly be said he made the most of every opportunity and gave to the world the best service of which he was capable. He was a likeable man and enjoyed the friendship of a large circle of acquaintances, extending to many parts of this and other states.

The remains reached Goldthwaite on the 9:50 train Wednesday night and were carried to the home of Mrs. Weems on Fisher street, where they remained until yesterday afternoon, when they were conveyed to the Methodist church, where services were held, after which burial was made in the cemetery at this place, with the Masonic fraternity in charge of the rites.

COURT COSTS AND MOBS

A part of the cost of our antiquated system of justice is the blood lust of groups of men who, for the moment, forget their manhood, their citizenship, their civilization and whatever else they may have to distinguish them from beasts—a lust that provokes outrages such as have brought shame to North Texas of late. This is the point made by a reader in the letter column of The News.

He proposes trained juries to co-operate with trained Judges. It would be sufficient to have trained Judges and intelligent juries. "Trained" juries would sound too much like professional juries. He would have trained county defenders. Sentiment for that is growing, although it would never come to the point where defendants would be forced to be satisfied with the efforts of these functionaries in their behalf.

Other features, such as forcing trial within five days in every case, though it is not stated what event is taken from which to count the five days, and such as allowing as excuses from jury duty only those which would apply in the case of a man seeking to avoid military duty, are recommended by this correspondent. These are hardly practical. But in arguing that the Judge ought to select the jury, the suggestion comes nearer the point.—Dallas news.

If a five dollar bill got into the church collection you would have to call the doctors to treat astonished observers. If anybody in Goldthwaite knows a better place in which to live the only question that arises is why not move.

PREVENTION IMPORTANT

"To prevent crime is a far wiser thing than merely to punish it," says Governor Roosevelt of New York. Probably everyone will agree with this. The disagreement comes in discussing the means of prevention. Many American authorities believe that our zeal for passing laws stands as a barrier to crime. Every law makes new criminals. The result is judicial chaos and an increase in the red tape surrounding our legal system. At present, a strong effort is being made to pass a Federal anti-revolver law on the supposition that if criminals were disarmed crimes of violence would decrease. This is true. The fallacy lies in the fact that no law in the world can prevent the underworld from obtaining arms. All such a law would do would be to prevent good citizens from owning guns for protection or sport. Prevent crime by weeding out obsolete laws, divorcing judicial administration from politics, improving our police system and making punishment sure.

SHULER RELEASED

What are you waiting for, what are you waiting for, Ma - ry! What are you thinking about,

Orchestra Leader Finds Boys From Sticks Up On Everything

New York City.—The "hayseed" is obsolete. Dashing Johnny Johnson, orchestra director of the Pennsylvania Hotel, says so, and Johnny who plays on any given day to an audience made up of the folks from Hicksville, the boys from Broadway and silk lappelled gentlemen from at least ten different European capitals, should know. "There is a reason—and radio is it," he declared. "Before radio spread over the land, it took six months for a song popular in New York to reach the wheat fields. Today, the lad out in Prairieville is whistling 'What Are You Waiting For, Mary?', the latest hit, less than a week after Broadway has gone mad over it. "What does this mean? It means that the country chap can pull off his overalls, and when he comes to the Big Town he knows what it's all about. He can dance as well as his city brother, and not only that, but radio programs of all kinds have told him what to wear, what shows are good, and who won the last big fight. "Radio has done as much or more for the ladies. It's next to impossible to tell whether a girl comes from a small town or from Park Avenue these days. The New York girls may wear their skirts a little shorter—but not much. "It is said that twenty-five hundred people pass through the Pennsylvania daily. During one week forty states of the Union were represented, and ten different countries. Johnson is kept busy between dance numbers shaking hands with radio fans who have heard him in their homes from Maine to California.

BUILD AGAINST FIRE

One per cent of the total number of fires causes over 60 per cent of the total loss, according to The National Board of Fire Underwriters. In 1928, approximately 500,000 fires were reported, resulting in a loss of about $4,64,500,000. And $278,764,000 of this was caused by but 5000 conflagrations. These conditions are not peculiar to the United States. The loss record for the United Kingdom and Ireland for November, 1929, showed that small fires were responsible for but 40 per cent of the total, in spite of their great number. When modern, improved fire protection devices, extinguishing equipment and better building construction are employed, a great majority of even the most serious fires can be controlled with a minimum loss. It is mis- the erection of buildings without providing essential protection against fire in both material and equipment. Such common hazards as open stairways and elevator shafts, frail wooden partitions and like forms of obsolete construction are directly responsible for a large part of our enormous fire waste. The best possible fire-resistant construction is real economy. Until America appreciates this, the annual waste in lives and property will remain beyond our control.

FARM ROAD MOVEMENT

The State of California has embarked on a secondary road construction campaign involving $70,000,000, according to B. B. Meek, Director of Public Works. News dispatches from New York say there is a movement in that state to raise a large bond issue for a similar purpose. Farm relief is in a large degree dependent on rural road construction. Stabilizing farm production can be of little permanent value if the farmer is cut off from his markets by impassable roads. And the social and economic main highways with rural areas, are all but incalculable. The states cannot and should not float bond issues or embark on a 70 million dollar building program. But it is said on good authority that if present funds were divided equitably and economically no material increase in taxes would be necessary to provide rural America with practical low cost, all-year-round, water proof surfaced roads. Such roads have been made possible by the scientific use of asphaltic products. For the majority of state and county roads a two-lane surface, 20 feet wide, is believed adequate for ten to fifteen years but 100-foot rights-of-way should be secured. Direct taxes now paid by farmers total over $900,000,000 a year. It should be the business of all states to see that farm roads are built as fast as is economically possible.

RELIEF FROM CURSE OF CONSTIPATION

A Battle Creek physician says, "Constipation is responsible for more misery than any other cause."

But immediate relief has been found. A tablet called Rexall Orderlies has been discovered. This tablet attracts water from the system into the lazy, dry, evacuating bowel called the colon. The water loosens the dry food waste and causes a gentle, thorough, natural movement without forming a habit or ever increasing the dose.

Mrs. C. G. Workman and family of this city, were sorrowfully shocked last Tuesday afternoon when she received a message that her step-father, W. H. Winters, of Jal, New Mexico, had met death in an automobile accident in Abilene, Texas. The message came from Mrs. Winters at the family home in Jal, and the particulars of the tragic accident have not been learned by relatives and friends in this section up to date. W. H. (Uncle Henry) Winters was seventy-four years of age. He lived for many years in the Evant country and reared his family there. He was married a second time two years ago to Mrs. Delia Stephens, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Gholson, of Evant, and went to live at Jal, New Mexico.—Record.

SHOOTING AT RANGER

People of Goldthwaite who know the Privett family were interested Saturday in the following special in the Star-Telegram from Ranger. The father of the Privett boy is employed in the city sanitary department, in charge of the city wagon. There is quite a large family of them. The wounded boy died Saturday. The special said:

"A quarrel that began when one youth was accused of kissing the sister-in-law of another ended Thursday morning in a shooting that may cost the life of Melvin Dunson, 17, of Ranger. He is in a critical condition in a hospital here.

Oscar Privett, who told officers he "thinks he is 16," was arrested several hours later near his sister's home and confessed to firing the shots.

The shooting took place about 10:30 o'clock under a Texas and Pacific railroad bridge, near here. Privett said he came from Goldthwaite last Saturday and that he and Dunson, whom he had known for some time, had been "fussing" for several days prior to the quarrel Thursday.

Privett said he went to Dunson's home Thursday morning and asked the latter to help him find a certain house. After they started, he said, he told his companion, "We're going to settle this."

When the two boys reached the bridge, he declared, they quarreled and Dunson struck at Privett with his fist, but missed.

"I dodged back, drew my gun and shot," confessed the youth.

SOUND ECONOMIES

Putting her finger on the very germ of the economic safety of the family, a Texas lady denounced credit buying for consumption purposes, and urged that credit be used only for investment. A whole book on economics could no more clearly set forth the fundamentals of household independence.

The speaker was Mrs. R. F. Lindsey, State President of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, and the occasion was a Federation district convention. If the Federation can carry this principle into the homes of Texas, there may be temporarily a little less buying, but it will result in greater buying capacity and better business in the long run.

Food and clothing, which perish with the using, bring no interest returns. When purchased on credit, they carry the extra weight of the merchant's added expense of bookkeeping, collecting, interest charges, and a margin for losses through non-payment by a certain percentage of his customers. Those who do pay must foot the bills for all.

Investment credit — those things that bring direct returns in material values or in human values by increasing efficiency—is as sharply differentiated from consumption credit as night is from day. Intelligently used, the latter leads to economic independence without which there can be little permanent satisfaction, while credit buying of consumption goods is the rock on which many a family has wrecked its financial and spiritual career.—Farm and Ranch.

DRIVER'S LICENSE LAWS LOWER ACCIDENTS

The Chief Motor Vehicle Inspector of Pennsylvania recently said that the most successful deterrent we have against automobile recklessness is the driver's license law.

In Pennsylvania when a driver's license is revoked he may appeal. Last year, driving privileges were withdrawn from 869 persons. Yet, so overwhelming was the evidence against them, that there was not a single appeal. Forbidding these reckless, incompetent or otherwise dangerous drivers the use of the public highways undoubtedly saved a great waste in lives and property in Pennsylvania.

An automobile is a potentially deadly vehicle. To allow it to be operated by a person who has not proven his ability and competence is inexcusable. And the trend in motor laws at present, in all states, is toward severe examination of persons applying for licenses.

So far, 17 states have passed such laws. Appreciable success has resulted in every instance. Examination of drivers and revocation of licenses for cause, will not entirely do away with reckless and incompetent driving, but it should materially lower our gigantic annual toll of death and injuries.

ALL BUNK

Every now and again somebody, with a view to getting in the limelight and being discussed, suggests that Texas be divided into two or five states. While it is not likely the division will ever be made, the plan furnishes material for discussion and calculations. The latest suggestion has come from Hon. John N. Garner, Democratic leader in the lower house of congress. A discussion of the matter by a Washington correspondent of some of the daily papers says in part:

Representative Garner's statement reviving talk of dividing Texas into five states has attracted a limited amount of attention in the east. A number of former Texans residing in this section of the country have written to the Democratic leader, applauding the proposal and agreeing that is what should be done. Mr. Garner is convinced as ever that there should be a balance of power as between sections of the country, particularly since the Senate voted Monday by an eyelash majority paving the way to kill both the debenture and the revised flexible provisions of the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill.

According to Ruth Finney, a writer for the Scripps-Howard newspaper alliance, any effort to divide Texas for the purpose of obtaining eight additional Democratic United States Senators would be followed by steps in the north to offset the gain. This writer points out that Texas would have the edge on other states since the latter would have to come to Congress for the authority Texas already has.

COTTON MARKET

There is an unlimited market for cheap cotton goods in the Orient. Japanese are keen buyers of raw materials. They will buy cotton wherever they get the most for their money. If the cotton of India suits their needs and can be had at a price equivalent to that of America, they will give India the preference because they sell more cotton goods in that quarter than in this. Our hope of retaining the Japanese as well as other foreign markets for our raw cotton lies in our ability to buy from foreigners as well as sell to them. Our tariff makers insist upon putting walls around our ports with wide doors for our ships to go out, but narrow openings for foreign ships to come in. They proceed on the theory that we can always be sellers, but only occasional buyers. The future will reveal, is already revealing, the fallacy of that supposition. Europe and Asia and South America are more and more disposed to ignore our raw materials. This is because we ignore their finished products. This condition results in a downright and iniquitous disparagement of our agricultural producers, who must sell raw materials for nothing. We are giving all the advantage to the manufacturers and little or none to farm crops. It is a policy that weighs more and more heavily upon the agricultural group. Their market is fore-shortened and their appeals are in vain.—State Press in Dallas News.
