Mullin School Has Encouraging Beginning

Interesting Program Monday Night

The Mullin school opened Monday morning with appropriate ceremonies and a full faculty. Superintendent John M. Scott is at the head of the school for the sixth year and the splendid record made by the school and the faculty is a source of pride, not only to the patrons of the school and the people of Mullin, but to all friends of education. One very pleasing policy of the school board is to continue members of the faculty wherever available and for the term opening Monday only one change was made and that was in the case of Miss Annie Laurie Petsick, who went to Baylor College at Belton and her place was filled by Miss Shaw, recently of Cameron. She comes highly recommended as a teacher of ability as well as a most desirable citizen. The other members of the faculty have served the school faithfully in former sessions and are entitled to a part of the credit for the fine record made by the school.

Monday night the Parent-Teachers association, under the leadership of its president, Mrs. W. C. Preston, arranged a most delightful reception for the faculty. Many of the patrons and pupils, as well as a number of citizens attended the reception and some of them took part in the program, which was delightfully rendered.

Supt. Scott assisted Mrs. W. C. Preston as master of ceremonies and made several important announcements, as well as outlining the policies of the school, relating some of its history and asking for the co-operation of the patrons, pupils and general public.

The program was opened with a delightful rendition by the High school orchestra, under the leadership of Mr. W. R. Elliott, who has been in charge of the school orchestra for several years. One of the most interesting features of this portion of the entertainment was a number of small girls playing the violin. This was followed by the audience singing "America."

Rev. T. M. Mitchell pronounced an invocation. After this Miss Marie Rice delighted the audience with a piano solo.

A medley was sung by Mrs. L. L. Wilson and Mrs. W. S. Kemp, which was dedicated to members of the faculty, some of the classes and various other persons identified with the school work. This was not only most beautifully rendered, but was catchy and amusing as well.

A most delightful reading by Miss Carrie Kirkpatrick told of a lover's devotion and a rivals jealousy. Four young ladies, Misses Reba Tillman, Ina Hays, Clemmie and Hazel Hancock, dressed in costume, sang beautifully a song, as they portrayed the rhythm in step and motion. Judge L. E. Patterson was then formally introduced and delivered one of his most interesting and helpful addresses, impressing upon his hearers the overshadowing responsibility of parents, faculty and pupils in making a school fulfill all of its functions that would be beneficial to the pupils and creditable to the faculty and the community. He took occasion to highly commend the members of the school board for their faithfulness and unselfish labors in the interest of the school. The Eagle editor was given an opportunity to express his good wishes for the school and his admiration for the splendid faculty and the continued advancement of the school.

The large audience proved by the close attention to every number of the program that the school has the hearty co-operation of the people of the community, which gives the fullest assurance that continued advancement will be made and that the citizenship is in full sympathy with its every interest.

BAPTIST CHURCH

Several of the boys and girls of our town and county have recently gone away to enter some institution of learning, to better prepare themselves for the duties of tomorrow. We are for these young people. We believe in them and no doubt but what all will make good. Doubtless most of them will read these lines and while you read, just remember, while you are working to master your subjects that you have back at home those who are working just as hard and many of them are depriving themselves of many luxuries, as well as the necessities of life, in order to make it possible for you to have this school advantage. Let every one do his or her best not only to do honor for themselves, but to those who are making it possible for you to have this opportunity.

Earl Summy and wife are domiciled in the home of Luther Rudd on Fisher street. The young people were very kind to Mr. and Mrs. Summy, giving them a shower of pints, quarts and gallons. The pastor and his wife have had an invitation to visit this young couple and help eat jelly and drink grape juice. Some one informed Earl that if his wife loved him she would make the fires, cook breakfast and then arouse him from his slumber to enjoy the glow and warmth of the fire; as well as "hot cakes" dipped in maple molasses. Well, it won't take him long to find out that she doesn't love him.

We have all heard the expression: "The lid will be taken off." Well that very thing is going to happen, if some of these Baptist brethren who have been absent from Sunday school and church for the last few Sundays don't put in their appearance about next Sunday. We asked a man the other day why he did not attend church. "Ask my wife." Now that was practically the same answer that Adam gave the Lord when the Lord asked him why he had eaten of the forbidden fruit. A lady asked me if her husband was at church on a certain Sunday. Well I just didn't say. It is best for a man not to tell every thing he knows.

Now folk, when we consider that we have 168 hours in one week, it looks reasonable that we ought to be willing to give at least two hours and twenty minutes to Bible study and worship. If you attend every service on Sunday at our church that is the approximate time you will be in services. It does seem if people are not providentially hindered they could afford to spend that much time at the house of God. Suppose that we all do our best to attend church at every service. Begin next Sunday. Put some thing into our services. It is not the question whether you like the message the preacher brings. A service anywhere without the help of the people will certainly be a failure. So come on whether you are a member or whether you belong to any church, your presence adds to our worship. And we are happy to greet you at every service at the Baptist church. Don't forget the time, 10 a. m. Sunday school; 10:45 preaching and 7:30 p. m. preaching. Our motto "Be on time and get out on time." G. C. IVINS, Pastor

METHODIST CHURCH

Let us not be unmindful of our individual contribution of our personality to the services each Sunday at church. Your church needs you. It is greatly impoverished when it lacks any individual that should give of himself in the worship of God. One other fact is that you need the church and stand in need of the means of grace which the church alone can supply. Imagine a body going without food. The soul oft times goes hungering and its dire need unheeded. Somewhere I saw a dialog, where the body says to the soul: "I must work on Sunday in order to eat. And the soul said in reply: "If for your sake I fast six days, cannot you fast one day for my sake?" For the sake of the good you can do to others and for the sake of your soul be at church and Sunday school next Sunday.

October the fifth will be rally day and we are looking for every body at Sunday school, but you need not wait so long. Come on now.

On Sunday, the 28th, which is the fourth Sunday, Brother Rader will be with us for the fourth quarterly conference. We are looking for all Methodists to do their whole duty. Your church is aware of the hard times that have struck us and expects no unreasonable thing of you. Neither does your church desire to be a party to encourage slackers and measly stinginess of those who would rob God in this time when we have men and women in fields far away that depend upon our contributions for their very life. You have your home, brother, and most of you have something to do that will help you to get food. Your hard times are likely God's merciful dealing with you to save you from hell. Will you draw near unto him with your heart and do right or will you harden the heart against Him? Remember brother, the church will be the first agency upon whom you would call for help. Have you a right to do so?

A full house is expected to hear the message Sunday morning on the subject of "The Model Church Service." A cordial welcome awaits you. Sunday night the subject will probably be "I Know."

If I can be of help to you command me! Yours in His service S. D. LAMBERT.

OWN A GUSHER

Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Berry of this city had the pleasure of seeing a gusher come in on their property at Hobbs, N. M., last Friday and the prospects are for several more in the same territory. They own a considerable acreage at that place and had already sold some of the royalty and their friends are delighted to know that the prospects are bright for a great deal more income from the property. Mr. and Mrs. Berry were reared here and have many friends who join in the delight over this good fortune coming to them.

SUNDAY NIGHT SERVICES

Rev. Lawrence Hays will occupy the pulpit in the Baptist church Sunday evening at 7:30 and a cordial invitation is extended to the general public to hear him.

ELBERT DODSON KILLED

Elbert Dodson of Weatherford, a former citizen of this place and a member of the Baptist church in this city, was killed in an accident at West one day last week. He was an employe of the Texas Power & Light Co. in the construction department and was engaged in handling one of the wires when it came in contact with a high powered line and he and two other workmen were killed. His remains were carried to Brownwood, where his funeral was held Saturday afternoon, Rev. W. R. Hornberg, pastor of the Coggin Avenue Baptist church of Brownwood, officiated in the service. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. F. Dodson, formerly of this place and now living at San Benito, asked that Rev. G. C. Ivins of this city conduct the funeral, which was originally announced for Friday afternoon and Brother Ivins went to Brownwood to comply with their request, but owing to the failure of some relatives to arrive the funeral was delayed and he was not expected to make a second trip.

The Dodson family lived on H. G. Bodkin's farm, a few miles east of this city, several years ago and the entire family held membership in the Baptist church here, but the parents withdrew their membership when they moved away. The young man was married to Miss Jewel May Fisher some months ago and the young couple had set last Sunday as a time for visiting her parents in that city. He would have been 26 years old last Friday.

His own life insurance policy and that carried by the T. P. & L. Co., for him aggregated $10,000 and the company also bore the expense of the funeral, which was elaborate in detail.

FORMER CITIZEN DEAD

Mrs. Ohner Cochran died at her home in Pauls Valley, Okla., last Friday and her remains interred in the cemetery at that place. Mrs. H. S. Casey of Brownwood and Mrs. Callie Collins of Cross Plains and Horace Chesser of Hobbs, N. M., attended the funeral. Mrs. Cochran was reared in this county and as Miss Maudie Baker of Trigger Mountain community, was popular with a large circle of friends. She was a sister of Mrs. John S. Chesser of this city and has other relatives in this county. Her father, Mr. Zada Baker, was an early day settler in this county and is kindly remembered by many friends. Mrs. Cochran leaves a husband and several children, her oldest daughter being superintendent of the sanitarium in Oklahoma City. The bereaved family has the sympathy of many Mills county friends.

REDUCED RAILROAD RATES

Reduced railroad rates extended to drouth stricken areas are now available to Mills county farmers and stockmen on shipments of feed to farmer-consumers and livestock shipments to areas of better ranges.

When satisfied that the shipment is eligible under the drouth relief conditions, the county agent will issue a certificate authorizing a reduction of 1/3 rate.

We have the necessary blanks and will prepare certificates on short notice. W. P. WEAVER, County Agent.

SMALL BURGLARIES

Several small burglaries have occurred in Goldthwaite recently and it is hoped the prowlers will soon be captured and punished.

Saturday night some one or more persons made entrance to Gartman's music store thru the rear window and stole several dollars that had been left for change in the house. It is not thought anything else was taken from the store.

Sunday night Dow Hudson had occasion to enter the drug store of Hudson Bros. and when he turned on the lights he heard some one run up the stairway in the rear window in the upper story. An investigation showed that entrance had been made by breaking the glass out of the upper part of the window, the lower part of which was protected by slats. A large number of burned matches were found on the floor, showing that the intruder was operating by the light of matches, disregarding the danger from fire, which might have resulted. Nothing was missed from the store and it is pretty sure that Mr. Hudson's arrival at the store at the opportune time prevented depredation and serious damage.

When the Mills County C. I. Storage office was opened Monday morning it was discovered that the cash register had been robbed of perhaps $10, entrance having been made by breaking one of the windows. Nothing besides the register was disturbed, as far as the investigation revealed, and there is no clew to the identity of the burglar.

WEST TEXAS EXPOSITION

The West Texas Exposition at San Angelo next week will be one of the greatest displays of products and advantages of west Texas ever attempted. The exposition will continue from Monday morning until Saturday night and every moment of the time will be filled with interesting events, and displays in every department. If you want to see the agricultural, horticultural and other exhibits of husbandry, you will have an ample opportunity. If it is horse racing and other features of sport and recreation, the program is full of it. A great number of the best running and harness horses of this and surrounding states will be there and the purses will stimulate interest.

The social side of life has not been neglected in the plans for entertaining the visitors, but the social functions will be given full swing, climaxed with the crowning of the queen of west Texas in a grand display Saturday night. Many of the best towns in west Texas will be represented in the functions preparatory to the grand finale. Governor Sterling's daughter will be a duchess representing Houston and other ladies of prominence will be present and participate in the events.

The fact is, the San Angelo fair will be a most interesting place to visit next week and much valuable information can be gathered there by those interested in any line of industry, business or development. The gates open Monday morning and will remain open until midnight Saturday.

OPENING DELAYED

On another page appears the announcement that the Big Valley school will open next Monday, but since that notice was sent in and printed the trustees have decided to delay the opening one week, because of some improvements on the building being incomplete. The date for the opening has been changed to Sept. 29.

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

The city of Atlanta, Ga., and others have asked the District of Columbia Supreme Court to compel the census director to publish Atlanta's population this year as 390,692, instead of 270,367.

The death of Will C. Hogg of Houston occurred in a hospital in Baden Baden, Germany, last Friday. He had gone to the hospital to undergo an operation for gallstones. He was the oldest son of the lamented Governor Jas. S. Hogg and was one of the wealthiest men in Texas.

The Ohio State Republican platform placed before the party's convention for adoption at Columbus, carried no mention of prohibition, though calling for enforcement of all laws. Efforts of prohibition opponents to obtain from the resolutions committee a pronouncement for repeal or a referendum on prohibition met with disastrous failure.

A condition of general unemployment in Texas during August is reported in a review for that month announced by the United States Department of Labor. Highway construction and municipal improvement increased in many sections of the state, giving employment to quite a number of unskilled workers. There was a plentiful supply of farm labor in the state, says the review, but should be absorbed during September by the demand for cotton pickers.

The statistical division of the United States agricultural department says the cattle in most parts of Texas held up well during the dry summer months. It says there were areas in the state that had an abundance of feed and ranges were reported fairly good in these sections. Most of the central portion of the state, the western edge of the Panhandle, the coastal belt and all the southern portion have produced sufficient feed to meet all local demands and a few of these favored localities have produced a surplus.

In a statement given to the press, George B. Terrell, commissioner of agriculture, characterized federal drouth relief plans as a myth and claimed it was government aid by "word of mouth." Terrell said there has been enough "printer's ink and newspaper space wasted" on the discussion of state and federal aid for drouth sufferers to provide a fund sufficient to relieve all distress and added "but no meat or bread to feed the destitute has been offered by the federal or state governments and no funds have been advanced by either government to aid the situation."

Without favorable fall weather, hopes for a top crop in Texas are slim, despite the fair rains in the the South Plains, the Red lands and Central areas, the Dallas News said in its weekly cotton report. "Leaf worms and bollworms are taking the new fruit in East Texas and other sections where rains have favored their spread," the survey read. Picking is well under way in the upper half of the state, while the cotton harvest in the south, east and central portions is nearing an end. High temperatures have continued to stunt plants, except in the deep and best soils. With lint at the lowest price in years, it is doubtful if farmers in drouth stricken areas will pick from their poorly fruited stalks.

MR. COBB'S LETTER

Looking out across the bay to the rising of a new sun, or at least to the beginning of a new day, and at the quiet waveless waters of the briny deep, as they seem to be waiting and listening for a breeze coming from, they know not where, nor whither going, but with a breath to fan away the heat, which seems to have captured the cooling breeze, calmed the white capped waves and saying to all nature, "Be quiet while I make the sweltering people know I am here." All of which reminds us that there are powers, and powers that be, that can hold Big Man at bay and causing him to wonder why he could not have been entrusted (in part) with the management of the heat and cold, Mr. Wind and Waves as well as the storms that mount on chariots of such swiftness as to almost lift the hills from their foundations, sweep away man's work in brick, stone and mortar as to mercy for the cries of the old, the strong and the helpless as straws before the wind, with innocent ones, who are so unfortunate as to come in contact with his destructiv outspread wings of irresistible madness and fury, peopling the graves with multiplied thousands of people, whose time was so limited they had no time to think of an all powerful God, the only source for help from this fearful thing we call "a storm." The poet has told us:

To let the high heaving billows and mountainous wave
Fearfully overhead break
(Assuring us) There is one by our side who can comfort and save
There's one who will never forsake.

My! My! I have about exhausted my vocabulary of heat and storms menace to man's well being, and it's getting hotter as Old Sol reaches up for a position directly over us, while the clock is striking twelve, with the perspiration demanding fans or sweat rags, neither of which I seem to have at my command, so I will retreat and let Brother Bob and the readers of the Eagle guess what I have been driving at. If you fail to decipher a satisfactory diagnosis of these wandering thoughts, just pull yourself together and say; Oh, he just means it is hot."

Our Nueces county has gone beyond expectation of bales of cotton already ginned and more to follow. This with our early crop of vegetables has been first class, as compared with many other localities, from where we have heard more discouraging reports. Many of our farmers have already turned under stubble and cotton stalks preparatory to an early fall crop of some kind or another spring planting of feed stuff and cotton in 1931.

Since my last communication one old cousin on my mother's side passed away at the age of 88 and another past 92, also the first man I got acquainted with in Corpus, just six months younger than myself, quit the walks of men and has gone on to his eternal reward. The death of my 92 year old cousin leaves me within nine days of being the oldest one living on my mother's side and was already the oldest on my father's side. In the eleven years I have been in Corpus, it is surprising how many about my age and older have said good bye to time. Out of nearly twelve hundred members in the First Methodist church, Corpus, only one person is older than myself. Let me urge on all young people to make the best use of their time, while young. The years slip by so fast you will soon be on the tottery side of life and many will be the regrets that will come to you, if unimproved lost time. You may not live to old age, hence the necessity of improving the time. Daniel Webster was a man of deep religious feeling, who was as familiar with his Bible as with the constitution of the U. S. and he said, "God's best gift to man is not things, but opportunities."

WHO IS BLAMELESS

A mistaken idea, which some persons hold, is that the rural districts are to blame for the relatively small vote which is usually cast in Texas. Quite the opposite is the truth. The big city counties are the chief sinners in this matter of failing to vote. In every one of the big-city counties in the recent run-off the percentage of the population voting was smaller than the percentage for the state as a whole. Considering what happens in counties of like size in other sections of the country in every election, it really is amazing that Harris county should poll only 40,529 votes in an election in which one of its leading citizens was a candidate for governor. And it is quite as amazing that Dallas county should poll less than 40,000 votes in the same election. There are literally dozens of counties of like population in other sections of the country which regularly poll more than twice as many votes. And there are dozens of rural counties in Texas in which a larger percentage of the population votes regularly. It is not the rural counties, therefore, that are chiefly to blame. To be sure, they do not poll near the vote they ought to poll, considering the percentage of the population, polled in other sections of the country. But most of them do better than the cities. Jim Ferguson's assumption that a larger percentage of the people pay poll taxes and vote in the cities is not in accordance with the facts, and if the poll tax law has anything to do with the size of the vote, its repeal would have quite the opposite effect from that which he expects. We do not think the poll tax is the whole explanation, or even the chief explanation. And we do not think that repeal of the poll tax law would increase the vote very materially. Whatever the cause, it is deeper than that. But we do think that an unhealthy condition exists when only 12 or 13 per cent of the city population votes in a hotly contested election. We don't know what can be done about it, but it ought to help a little to call attention to it in this manner and get people to thinking about it. — Texas Weekly.

Felt Bad After Eating

"Before I started taking Black-Draught, three years ago, my health was very bad," writes Mrs. C. C. Carson, 945 Concord St., Beaumont, Texas. "I suffered constantly from constipation. I had headache when I got up in the morning, and I felt dull and sluggish. I hardly ate a meal that my food agreed with me. Frequently I would have gas on my stomach, and felt awful."

"I read about Black-Draught, and I thought it might help me. After I had taken it a little while, I felt much better. It relieves constipation. I keep it on hand so when I need a laxative I will have it. In the three years I have been taking it, I have never found anything as good for constipation."

GOOD NEWS

The Federal Government estimates that $1,750,000,000 will be spent on the nation's roads this year—$250,000,000 more than in 1929.

This is good news. As the San Francisco Chronicle remarks, road building is one field in which production can not run ahead of consumption. Every year witnesses increased motorization of all industrial and social activities. Multitudes of new cars come onto the highways, resulting in a congestion that can be relieved only by building more roads.

It is to be hoped that a large part of the $1,750,000,000 will be spent on the construction of secondary, or farm-to-market roads. During recent years splendid highways have been built between the cities of the United States. But rural districts, for the most part, must still depend on the type of road that was in existence back in the horse-and-wagon age. There are 6,250,000 American farmers and a well known agricultural authority estimates that 5,000,000 of them are cut off from their markets and from their contacts with the outside world during a part of each year by muddy, impassable and unimproved roads. Such a condition must be remedied if agriculture is to keep up with the march of progress.

There is still another important side to the question of road building—it is one of the best and least expensive ways we have of relieving unemployment. Highway construction is of direct benefit to everyone.

Famous Tenor Has Never Taken a Singing Lesson

Harold Murray Does Not Believe in Vocal Training

New York City.—J. Harold Murray, who plays the prince in the musical hit of Broadway, "Castles in the Air," and about whose singing voice columns of laudatory notices have been written, never had a singing lesson in his life. "I don't believe in them," he insists. "The whole effort of a singer must be to feel what he sings. If you do that, you are sure to interpret the role properly. You don't have to have lessons to learn to talk, do you?" "Singing, in the normal man or woman, should be as natural as talking. Of course, some people have better singing voices than others, but after all, some people have better speaking voices than others."

"It is true that some roles are written for 'made' voices. These parts are often beautiful but always artificial. I like the songs that come out as naturally as bird music. 'Lantern of Love' in 'Castles in the Air' is an example of a beautiful natural song."

Mr. Murray was chosen over hundreds of contestants for the role of the prince. He did not tell the producers until later that he had never had a singing lesson. He was afraid it would horrify them. Later, they admitted it probably would have, but by the time they learned the startling fact, they were so pleased with his work they would never have let him go.

"I honestly believe," adds Mr. Murray, "that thousands of good voices have been ruined by over-training. Some voices are so good that nothing can hurt them. They are the ones that survive severe courses of instruction."

HAMILTON

J. B. Huckabee lost his garage and barn by fire at Shive last Monday morning at about one o'clock. The fire is thought to have originated in the car shed, caused by a short in the car. Mr. Huckabee's loss is considerable as he carried no insurance on any of the property.

Supt. L. N. Miller, of the Evant public schools, makes the announcement that the schools will open in that city on Sept. 29, according to the decision of the school board at a recent meeting of that body.

Warning was issued this week against the dangers of an inspected and ungraded milk, by J. C. Anderson, state health officer at Austin, in reporting that agents of the Health Department had traced 75 cases of intestinal disturbance to the lack of sanitation at one dairy.

G. P. Awalt, who owns a small orchard of fine trees adjoining his residence on South Rice avenue, has a peach tree which, for two consecutive summers has borne two crops of peaches, the one maturing early in the spring season, and the other ripening by the first days of September.

A beautiful act of friendship and fellowship was that of the neighbors and friends at Star of Mrs. Miles and A. J. Tipp, when they banded themselves into a company of workers and gathered the cotton crops of the unfortunate woman and man. Mrs. Miles has been critically ill for several weeks and is still a patient in the Hamilton sanitarium. She is recovering, but slowly. Mr. Tipp has had a cancer on his hand and though up and about he was a great sufferer and could not work. — Record.

LOMETA

Earl Tate has recently returned from an extensive trip over central and west Texas.

Mr. and Mrs. B. S. Tate of Snyder were in Lometa the first of the week on a visit with their son Earl.

Mrs. Jack Hufstutler died Tuesday morning at seven o'clock in a Temple hospital, after an illness of only a few days.

Miss Mattie Kirby, who had been holding the position of Assistant Cashier of the First National Bank of Lometa, left Monday for Goldthwaite, where she has a position with the Trent State Bank. Miss Mattie will be greatly missed by all her friends here, but she is to be congratulated upon her new position.

Mrs. Clayton Hendley and Mrs. Fred Martin entertained the "Bridge Gang" last Friday night at the Hendley home with a bridge party, naming Miss Mattie Kirby as the honor guest, as she was departing from our little city for Goldthwaite, where she has accepted a position with the Trent State bank.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Ivey, while out bird hunting Thursday afternoon, south of Lometa, came upon a big rattlesnake in the road. Mrs. Ivey ran the car over the reptile and Mr. Ivey shot it to make sure that there would be one less of his kind in the country. The snake measured over five feet and had ten rattles. — Reporter.

THE HUMAN TOUCH

The human element has become of real importance in farming. By that we mean that the problems of producing and marketing have multiplied to such an extent that no man can expect to make a living on the farm, much less a profit above food and clothing, who doesn't take his job seriously and give it constant study. The man and the woman are the important factors in the making of a success on the farm. The manufacturer has to cut out waste. He studies his market. He knows what the other fellow is doing and shapes his own course in such a manner as to avoid difficulties and conflict. If he did not, he would be in the hands of the sheriff in six months.

Our most successful farmers are men who take time to study, read and think. They use their heads for something besides a place on which to hang a hat. They have a farm plan and a cropping system flexible enough to suit varying conditions, but always arranged for the purpose of improving the

CARE PREVENTS ACCIDENTS

Intensive campaigns are now being conducted throughout the nation to make the public highways safe for careful, competent and responsible motorists, and to banish the danger presented to life and property by the reckless.

It is to be hoped that the campaigns will be successful. But in the meantime the careful motorists can themselves do much to lower the accident toll by expecting the other driver to do something dangerous.

In the words of Charles F. Kettering, vice-president, General Motors Research Corporation, "It has been my experience in a great many years of driving that if you will consider the other fellow is likely to do something which he may not do, it is a great safety factor. I believe that we should always be upon the lookout and expect that somebody will come out of every blind alley and make the wrong turn, because if we are assuming that, we are always on the alert and know just exactly how to stop and when to stop."

This is sage advice. When assuming all other drivers are capable, the most competent and careful driver is often powerless to avert an accident. And, when lives and property are destroyed the blame is of only secondary importance.

Every state should do its best to formulate modern, enforceable and adequate traffic laws that will protect the careful and punish and eliminate the reckless. But until Utopian highway conditions arrive, we should all be pessimistic of the other fellow's ability at the wheel.

soil conditions. Waste of time and waste of products are cut to the minimum. The farm is a means to an end. The man is the big factor in success, not the soil itself. — Farm and Ranch.

THE MIDDLE GROUND

The man who has known Jeppriation and obscurity, thwarted ambition and bitter struggle, may take a reverse of fortune, after he has achieved the station of millionaire, harder than one who inherited ease and sufficiency. One who has known only plenty undervalues it, or at least thinks little of it. He imagines it is permanent, therefore, when some unforeseen contingency puts the skids under him he doesn't realize the difference for quite awhile. It is all new and rather wonderful to him, whereas, the man who came up out of difficulty, and in later years is plunged back into it, knows immediately that something serious has happened. Yet, in general, the man who has had to scuffle through hardships and uncertainties can endure a new impoverishment with more fortitude than does the softly reared one. Probably those who are neither very poor nor very rich have the best situation. They are in position to look both ways. Their elevation is not high enough to make them dizzy, nor does a forced descent completely dissolve their resilience. Consider State Press. If his wages were to dry up at the source, a possibility which haunts him like a meat-fed dream, he would go around in a daze for a week or two. But the fact that his wage was never floriferous would soon occur to him, and the fact that he once picked ninety-seven pounds of cotton in one day would hearten him. Having once earned nearly 60 cents in a cotton field, he could do it again. In other words, his economic status is such that he could pick cotton or produce literature with the same facility, and remain optimistic the while. After all, it is optimism, not capitalism, that makes us happy. — State Press in Dallas News.

FINANCIAL RESPONSIBLE LAWS

Thirteen states, according to the Baltimore Sun, have enacted legislation designed to protect the public from financially irresponsible drivers, and similar laws are being proposed in other states.

It is interesting to note that but a single state—Massachusetts—has unconditional compulsory automobile liability insurance. In that state the law has not decreased accidents and has led to chaotic legal conditions, the withdrawal of insurance companies and general dissatisfaction on the part of the public. The Massachusetts law has apparently acted as a warning to other commonwealths.

The most popular law is that which forces a driver to provide proof of financial responsibility, in the form of cash, bond or insurance policy, after he has had an accident involving damages over a stated amount. His license to drive is suspended until he does this and satisfies any judgment against him.

Such a law has the good points of compulsory insurance without the defects. It places the financial burden where it belongs—on those who cause accidents. It amounts to offering a premium for carelessness and competence. During the next few years it will undoubtedly be adopted by many more states.

UNWARRANTED VANDALISM

A lot of deprecation has been done about the Fair grounds and buildings and there is trouble ahead for somebody. Fences have been damaged, windows broken and walls injured, electric globes broken or carried away and a general state of vandalism about the place is noted by the officers and directors of the Fair association. It has been determined to make an investigation and keep a close watch hereafter and those responsible for this damage will be called on to pay for it. If the damage is done by minors their parents will be expected to pay the Fair association the loss. Parents who have boys likely to be mixed up in this vandalism would do well to keep a look out, in order to prevent further misdeeds and save the cost of much damage.

SCHOOL'S VALUE TO THE BOY

The National Boy Scouts organization sponsors the "back to school" movement for boys. The September number of "Boys' Life," the magazine published by the scouts, emphasizes the appeal to boys to return to school at the beginning of the Fall term with an argument showing that a day in school in the teens is worth $25 in earnings later in life. It makes an interesting and significant comparison of the wages of a group of men who left school at 14 with the ages of a group who remained in school until they were 18. The tables show that at 25 the first group had attained an average annual income of $668, whereas the second group, starting in active life four years later, had an average income at 25 of $1,550.

This is the dollars and cents argument which should apply with greatest force in most of the instances where a young boy himself makes the decision to quit school or keep on at his studies. Many youngsters encounter early in their high school days the urge to get out and start earning. In not a few cases, where parents are in such circumstances that the burden of supporting a boy in high school is heavy, the decision rests entirely with the boy. If he wants to go on to school, the parents usually will be able to make the sacrifice; if he wants to quit, or is apathetic about it, they do not insist on his continuance.

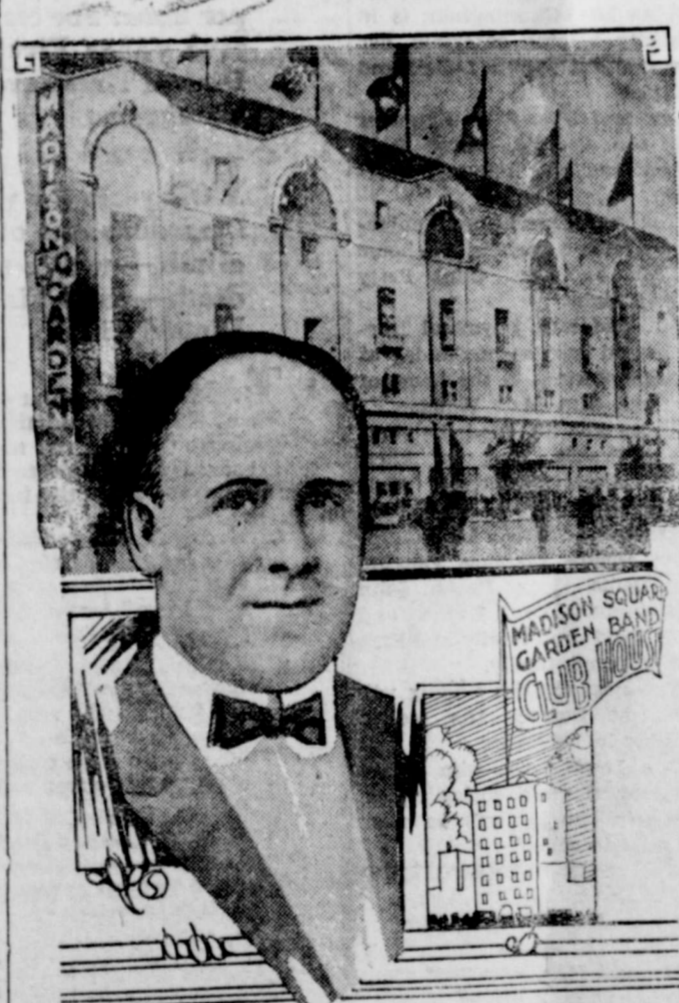

It is in such cases that the appeal of the Boy Scouts organization should have great weight. Here is an organization which every boy recognizes as friendly to his interests. It speaks the language of youth, and understands the problems of youth. Its campaign should meet with satisfying success. —Star-Telegram.

Painful Condition. "When I was just a girl at home," writes Mrs. B. F. Riggan, of Baird, Texas, "I took Cardui for cramping and pains in my side and back, and it helped me at that time. After I was married, I found myself in a weak, run-down condition. I suffered a great deal with my back, which was so weak it hurt me to get up or when I would stand on my feet. I fell off in weight. A friend of mine, seeing how bad I felt, advised me to take Cardui, which I did. By the time I had taken two bottles, I felt stronger and better than I had in a long time." Brass Band Still Musical Favorite

JOE BASILE. "I'm blue every Monday, thinking over Sunday, that one day when I'm with you."

Country Prefers Its 'Sunday' Played Old Way, Says Leader

New York City.—They may talk all they like about jazz sweeping the country, Joe Basile doesn't deny that it has. What he does insist is that there are plenty of old-fashioned folks left in the world who still prefer the brass band. "The brass band has kept pace with the jazz band," declares Mr. Basile, who is a famous brass band leader. "It is perfectly true that a brass band would never do for a night club but there is nothing that can take the brass band's place in the great wide open spaces and in big auditoriums. I think it was Paul Whiteman who said that no institution had ever won so real a place in the hearts of American people as Sousa and his band. I am sure that is true. The brass band still means the romance of the big top, of childhood, and the great day that the circus comes to town.

WEDDING SHOWER

On last Friday evening at 3 o'clock, Mrs. Louis Perkins was showered at the home of Mrs. Flat Hollis. The house was decorated in pink and white, and tables arranged for various games, including cards and 42 and other guessing games.

A little wagon decorated in pink and white crepe paper and filled with presents was pulled in by two little girls dressed in white and carrying a banner worded, "A load of good luck," and left in front of Mrs. Perkins, who was purposely detained by a friend until everything had been arranged for a surprise shower.

Delicious pink and white ice cream and cake was served to the following: Mesdames Forehand, W. A. Hollis, L. C. Atkinson, D. B. Lindsey, Robert Lee, W. J. Kelson, C. L. Kight, Jess Massey, Otto Singleton, Archie Ketchum, G. W. Stanley, Louis Perkins and Misses Flowers Lindsey, Willie Boyd, Mary Etta and Dorothy Lee Atkinson, Zella and Luola Kelsoe, Faye, Floy and Freda Massey, and the hostess, Mrs. Flat Hollis. A GUEST.

The table was lovely with a white birthday cake and eleven pink candles. The young people's Sunday school class of the Methodist church decided that as it was customary for people to change their names and live a different life, they would re-name their class and live a different class; so they adopted the name Los Angios, which means "The friends." Each is going to try to live up to their name and extend a welcome to anyone who will come and be friends with them.

The recent showers and cooler weather have been a boon to this section of the state. Sufficient moisture has been received to help the fall gardens. The farmers are breaking their land and weeds and grass are growing and will be very beneficial for the fall fattening of the many sheep, goats and cattle that this county is stocked with, quite heavily. All the county agents over the state are urging an increased acreage in small grain for fall and winter pasturage.

Miss Holly Guthrie left Tuesday for Austin. She will attend the university this winter. It will be remembered that she was valedictorian of the Senior class and won a scholarship and that will be of assistance to her now in the university.

Miss Thelma Casey, county demonstration agent at Lockhart, Texas, spent the week end with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Casey, and accompanied her brother, Glenn Casey, to Bryan, where he enters A. & M. college the first of the week.

PRAIRIE SCHOOL OPENING

The public school in the Prairie community opened Monday morning with a complete faculty and a large number of pupils. The session was opened by Supt. Jas. M. Logan with a short talk outlining the plans for the coming term. He then introduced Judge L. E. Patterson, who delivered a most encouraging address to the trustees, faculty and pupils regarding the object of public education and the importance of improving the opportunities. He commended the trustees, faculty and patrons on their united efforts in the past and gave a short history of the establishment of the school at that place.

Mr. W. C. Johnson, president of the school board, was called on for a speech and he gave words of encouragement to all interested in the school and assured them of the hearty co-operation of the school board and told of the efforts that were being put forth in the interest of education in his community.

The Eagle editor was also given an opportunity to express good wishes for the school and its interests.

A domestic science department has been added to the school and Mrs. Carlisle, a graduate of John Tarleton college, has been employed to have charge of the instruction and demonstration. An annex has been built to the well appointed school building and the equipment has been put in position for that important feature of the school work. Prairie is one of the most progressive school districts in the county and every effort is being put forth for development and advancement.

GOLDTHWAITE BOY MAKES GOOD

Dear Editor:

Keeping Mr. Chas. Hicks informed with home news was your task last winter. He is now transferred in his work to Cameron and has accepted a position as teacher in Science with the high school of that city. He was very anxious to read the Goldthwaite Eagle.

Mr. Hicks came of Texas Wesleyan College and your readers will be glad to hear of his success. He was our Science teacher last year. The work was so well done that the State Board gave us credit for the work in Chemistry. The laboratory had about two hundred dollars equipment and improvements made under Mr. Hicks' direction.

The faculty shall miss him, as he has now secured his degree at the University of Texas and leaves Austin, where he has won many new friends. We shall be delighted to have another Goldthwaite teacher take Mr. Hicks' place, if you have more of that class.

With sincere good wishes, OSCAR E. LINDSTRUM.

LOOK OUT FOR THE TAX COLLECTOR

In 1913 the aggregate cost of government—Federal, State and local—was $135 per family. In 1929 it was $460.

One out of each eleven families in the United States now draws its support from the government. According to a search light survey, the waste of local units of government alone totals more than half a billion dollars a year, or ten per cent of their expenditures.

If you hold back your payment on Archer, he will hold back his Groceries on you.

MURRAY TO ENID

Dr. and Mrs. Carl Murray left last Monday morning for Enid, where they will make their home in the future. The Doctor will specialize in his profession in dentistry, he having taken a special course in a dental college a few years ago.

Poteau has lost two of its most popular people in this couple moving away. The Doctor stands high in his profession all over the state and is one of the most genial gentlemen in eastern Oklahoma.

Mrs. Murray, through her charitable work in the church, has endeared herself to every one in Poteau. She is an accomplished lady and will be sadly missed by her friends.

The News joins their host of friends here in wishing them happiness and prosperity in their future home. — Poteau, Okla., News.

Mrs. Murray, nee Vashti Poyer, was reared in Goldthwaite and has a great many friends here who remember her kindly and are glad to know of the prosperity of she and her husband, and to have the information that she is appreciated as highly by her Oklahoma friends as by her friends in this city.

LOWER COST

The cost of living is now 6 per cent lower than for the corresponding period of 1929 and is at the lowest point since 1918, the 17th annual national business conferences was told.

"This is a very important fact, which has been more or less overlooked in the wave of pessimism and depression, which has filled everybody's thoughts during the past year," declared Creighton J. Hill, labor expert of the Babson statistical organization.

With unemployment increasing, the payrolls becoming thinner, the average person has failed to realize that a dollar bill spent at the corner grocer's goes further this year than it did a year ago. In other words, the drop in living costs means that general wages could have stood a slash of at least 5 per cent without affecting the purchasing power of the worker's dollar. The result has been that the purchasing power is actually as high today as it was a year ago. What has happened, of course, is that unemployment, rather than wage reduction, has resulted in thinner pay envelopes and this has restricted purchasing power.

Hill said one important favorable factor in the outlook for business during the remainder of the year was that employment trends, which have been steadily downward since last September, have now turned upward once more.

MORE FOR YOUR MONEY

The dollar which the American citizen earned in 1926, if he still has it, will purchase 15 cents more goods now than then, and it will purchase 14 cents more than the dollar earned a year ago, according to the Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Country Finds Inspiration For All Activity In Jazz

SAM LANIN

It made you happy when you made me cry — It made you happy when we said "good-bye"

So Says Famous Leader To Whom Radio Fans Confide Tastes

New York City.—They may pan jazz as much as they like, but according to Sam Lanin, famous orchestra leader, they will never be able to legislate it out of the hearts of its countrymen—Americans all.

Lanin and his orchestra have broadcasted for a year and a half and in that time, the leader has received and answered more than a hundred thousand letters. Some of his listeners keep up a steady correspondence with him and these are likely to confide all sorts of secrets, beliefs and opinions. One of the most frequent expressions that has come in concerns music—not Mr. Lanin's alone, but all popular music.

"Americans love the type of popular music which their native composers have worked out for them," he declares. "They find in it inspiration for every activity that they undertake. That is why they work better, digest their dinners better and talk better to a musical accompaniment."

"I have compared the responses any orchestra playing the popular type of music gets compared to those which come to the high-brow organization. The score stands about three to one in favor of the popular type music."

"One hundred men and women wrote in to me not long ago about a single song in our night's performance, 'It Made You Happy When You Made Me Cry.' The rhythm, the bit or something struck a responsive chord and they all just had to tell me about it. We Americans have no reason to apologize to other countries for our musical efforts. We are doing a characteristic style of music and doing it well."

Lanin is one of seven brothers, all of whom are musicians and interested especially in the development of American music.

I DON'T BELIEVE IN IT IT IS BECAUSE THE THING IS BEYOND YOUR POWER TO COMPREHEND YOU DON'T UNDERSTAND

Now faith, says Paul, is the substance of things hoped for, the evidence of things not seen. For by it the elders obtained a good report. Hebrews, 11:1-2.

Therefore, if it is the substance, think of what the word substance means. To use the prefix sub in any manner it denotes UNDER as in Sub-way, meaning an under-way. And every child knows that.

So then what does the word stance reveal and from whence does it come. It comes from the original word meaning stand. So then a stance is the understanding of a given subject of Science, we must have first the evidence or report. If the evidence in the report is good and is clear, we understand it. Then we believe. So belief is the product of Faith or understanding. Think it over.

Then when you are not feeling just right, all out of harmony with your physical being and most of the loved ones around you, and you are suffering physical ailments after trying this and that to get you physical body and spirit to work in harmony, and all has failed DON'T GIVE UP. Take courage, fight a good fight, by investigating exact science. GET THE EVIDENCE THROUGH THE REPORT, even through your friends that have done such, and not that only, but call the Chiropractor for an appointment. Get an analysis of your physical condition through his report and evidence that he can produce without asking a string of questions about your sickness.

KONJOLA VERY MEDICINE THIS LADY REQUIRED

She Rejoices Over Wonder Relief From Indigestion—Happy To Endorse New Medicine

MRS. ALMA WEBSTER

"I had stomach trouble for a year and a half," said Mrs. Alma Webster, 5017 Avenue R, Galveston. "Each meal brought pain, for my food was not properly digested. Gas formed after every meal, at times making me very ill. There were many things I did not dare eat, because of the condition of my stomach."

"I kept reading in the papers about Konjola and what it was doing for so many people that I began the treatment. Konjola has so improved my condition that I have not had a sick nor dizzy spell since I began taking the medicine. I can eat anything I wish without fear of subsequent misery. I have improved in general health and am happy to endorse this medicine because of what it has done for me."

"I need not have long to wait after taking Konjola before relief comes. However, a six to eight bottle treatment is suggested for the average case."

Konjola is sold in Goldthwaite, Texas, at Hudson Bros. Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

IT'S PASTURE DRILLING TIME IN TEXAS

Planting small grains for pasture now means dairy dollars this winter, and this isn't a matter of opinion, but the experience of scores of Texas dairy herd demonstrators, who have learned that barley, oats, rye or wheat sowed in September means rich grazing and cheap milk by late October or November, moisture permitting. Good pasturage cut the cost of producing butterfat from 29 cents per pound to less than 20 cents per pound in 62 demonstrations with 401 cows last spring, and much the same results have been obtained in the winter months in herds where one acre per cow of good small grain pasture was provided.

With reports from Texas county agents indicating that the acreage seeded to small grains for pasture purposes this fall will break all state records, Extension Service specialists suggest that farmers sow these crops by the 15th to 20th of September, and that the seeding be thick. Whether wheat, rye, oats or barley is used, it pays to sow about 90 pounds of seed per acre. The earliness of planting is very important, they say, because a September sowed pasture will normally furnish one-fourth more and longer grazing than one sowed a month later. Frequently it is found that the advantage of an early seeded pasture is much greater than this, and will likely be true this fall when feed for work stock, cows, hogs and chickens is short in many places.

Drilling small grains into cotton fields after the cotton is out, with no other preparation than to plow out the cotton stalks shallow as a means of destroying boll weevil food, has been found very successful in much of the state. Where the crop is not out of the fields until late the pasture crop may be drilled down the middles. The big idea to keep in mind is to sow thick and early.

HELPING OTHERS

Sometimes you wonder if what you do for suffering humanity is worth the effort it costs you.

You have had experiences in which you felt that you were victimized by those whom you tried to assist.

You blame them for trying to get more and more out of you.

Apparently there is not the slightest degree of gratitude.

There are many among those who seek aid who are wily, sharp individuals who do not need the help they seek.

There are others who are really worthy of help.

That such people may spend the money you give them foolishly or take very little care of the articles you present them is not surprising.

They may not have brains to enable them to have a proper conception of values.

If they had, the chances are they would not need your help.

If you have people of this sort on your list you should try to meet their necessities by buying those things which they need.

Don't get sour on all charity because you have had discouraging experiences. — Houston Chronicle.

CROP PRICES TO RISE

The smallest general crops in the United States in twenty years, due to a severe summer drouth, should result in substantial price rise which eventually will prove of immense benefit to American agriculture. The population of this country has increased steadily in the last ten years. Crop short ages of many major commodities will remove the troublesome export surpluses. When corn is 700,000,000 bushels under production of a year ago it means that surplus wheat will have to be fed to live stock in increasing amount and thus aid a depressed commodity.

Texas crops on the whole are more nearly average than those in many of the Middle Western states. A survey made by the Federal government indicates that Texas will have 8,000,000 bushels of surplus corn to sell. Other Texas surpluses are 6,600,000 bushels of oats, grain sorghums 1,300,000 bushels, and rice showing a surplus above last year of around 1,000,000 bushels. The only major Texas farm crop which is selling far below cost of production is cotton. It shows little or no sign of improving prices, due to a complex world situation, slackened demand for raw cotton and general business depression. But even cotton prices should improve sooner or later.

There are indications that the live stock industry will show marked improvement within the next six months. The culling of dairy and beef cattle owing to short pastures and scant feed will benefit these industries ultimately. As prices decline in cattle prices always result in tightening up of cattle credit, which leaves the production of these animals in the hands of those best qualified to carry on. In much the same way, severe cotton price depression is always followed by heavy acreage curtailment which in turn enables growers to obtain a higher price for a shorter crop.—Dallas News.

TOMMY CHRISTIAN

Tommy Christian Says His State Has Reputation On Broadway

New York City.—Tommy Christian had come to New York to capitalize the advertising which his native state, Alabama, has received as a jazz center. Christian is an orchestra leader and all-around musician.

"I thought it was time somebody made some money out of our reputation," he declared in his Southern drawl. "You know we are supposed to have originated jazz down in my section."

"All the books they write about jazz and even in Europe, they credit, or maybe you call it discredit, of starting the whole jazz rumpus. Yet the funny thing is, so far as I have been able to find out, there isn't a single orchestra leader except me on Broadway who has come on from Alabama to cash in."

"Some demon statistician has estimated that there have been in the last five years at least a hundred thousand Alabama mammy songs. Of course, a lot of them never got published, but enough of them did so that nobody could be in any doubt about where you go when you're homesick, blue or broke. You go back to your dear old mammy in Ala-ham-bemmy."

"I don't know that there are any statistics to show the Alabama sings these songs. Maybe that's what's wrong. Perhaps that's why we don't turn out orchestra leaders. Anyway, I'm the pioneer of the new school. I have found that Broadway likes its music straight from headquarters—likes soft tender, Southern music like 'The Crown So Low' and 'Thinking of You,' sung with a real Southern accent. I have already written the folks back here that the pickin's are good. The thing you know, there'll be many of us as there are mammy songs."

MAKES BOND IN LOMETA BANK FORGERY CHARGE

Special to daily papers.

Lampasas, Texas, Sept. 17.—W. W. Tippen, former president of the First National Bank of Lometa in this county, surrendered to members of the sheriff's department here late Tuesday, following his indictment for forgery. The indictment was returned by the present grand jury several days ago. Immediately following his surrender, Tippen made bond of $1,500 and was released.

The indictment grew out of the closing of the Lometa Bank several weeks ago, after a run had been made. The forgery charge was based on the evidence of a note for $3,000 drawn against the Henry Stallings Co., of Lometa, it is stated by county officers.

The First National Bank of Lometa was closed by order of its directors on Saturday, August 10. Mr. Tippen had been absent from Lometa a week before the closing of the bank and his whereabouts was not known until his surrender.

John A. Best of the Federal banking department, took charge of the bank on August 21, and has been in charge since that time. A complete check of the funds of the bank is being made at present by employees and Mr. Best. In a telephone conversation Tuesday afternoon he stated that he had no statement to make concerning the bank's condition.

According to J. C. Abney, county attorney of this county, trial for Tippen cannot be held until the April term of district court here, as the fall term has already been completed.

Mr. Tippen spent most of his early life in this county and has held a number of responsible positions, among them being deputy sheriff and tax collector and cashier of the First State Bank of Mullin. His friends here are glad to know that when this charge was made against him, referred to above, sixteen substantial citizens of Lometa and customers of the bank, voluntarily signed the bond.
