Pecan Tree Yields Large Yield

A pecan tree that has yielded as high as 1,053 pounds of nuts this year, has given 5,000 pounds of buds for the improvement of other trees and that California alone 100,000 this year is described by H. Mayes in his syndicated article. It is known as the Jumbo tree and is located in San Antonio county, whose citizens wish for the truth of the story related.

SHOT ENDS LIFE AT WINCHELL

An hour after she heard a shot at about 11:00 o'clock this morning Mrs. Tom Lancaster, owner of the Lancaster store at Winchell, went to her home, two or three hundred yards from the store, and found her grandson, Perry Lancaster, 18, lying in the bedroom with a 45 caliber pistol bullet through his heart. Although he left no note nor gave any intimation beforehand that he intended to take his own life, it is thought the shot was self-inflicted, according to Mrs. Lancaster and other members of the family.

Perry Lancaster was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lancaster of Hondo, Medina county, and had been visiting his grandmother at Winchell for the last week. He had been in school until a month ago. His father is the son of the late Tom Lancaster, pioneer of Brown county and owner of a store at Winchell for years. Mrs. Tom Lancaster has been in charge of the store since her husband's death. — Brownwood Bulletin.

The dead man's grandparents lived at Antelope Gap some years ago, having moved there from Zephyr. The family is known to many in this county.

WILD TALK IS HARMFUL

There is a danger that the true facts of the "bus problem" will become obscured by exaggerated statements and prejudiced charges. Both the critics and supporters of the bus have been guilty of absurdities that tend to confuse the public mind. This can do no one good, least of all the traveling public whose interest is the principal factor in the equation. In conjunction with other forms of transportation, the bus is supplying a service that is of value to millions of Americans seeking fast, economical and safe transportation. The main problem is how to adjust bus service to railroad service so that both industries may prosper and serve the public without waste and unnecessary duplication of facilities. And it is noteworthy that the more progressive bus and rail executives are now working to this end. Each has its advantages for certain classes of traffic and should have a common objective—to co-operate in serving the public as best it can. Unnecessary and restrictive bus regulation, like unnecessary and restrictive railroad regulation, is a menace to progress. Co-operation and unprejudiced investigation—not wild, and unsubstantiated statements—can solve the problem to the benefit of buses, rails and the public.

BRIDGE PARTY PLEASANT AFFAIR

Mrs. L. E. Miller charmingly entertained with four tables of bridge on last Friday afternoon, at her home on Fisher street.

Spring flowers were tastefully used in the decorative scheme with the blue bonnets predominating.

An ice course was served, with sweet peas for plate favors.

Mrs. G. H. Frizzell won high score and Mrs. C. A. Eacott received the consolation prize.

GUEST.

CLUB LUNCHEON LAST SATURDAY

The home of Mrs. John Berry, Jr., was opened to the members of the Self Culture Club and a few guests for a beautifully appointed luncheon last Saturday at one o'clock.

On entering the reception suite the eye was greeted by a riot of color from the pot plants that were everywhere in evidence, while on tables and mantle were bowls of blue bonnets and red roses topped by miniature Texas flags. On the book-cases stood larger Texas flags with the flag of the United States completing the picture.

Places at the luncheon tables were marked by hand-painted place cards carrying out the blue bonnet motif. The four course luncheon was served by three charming daughters of club members: Misses Mary Ellen Trent, Daphne Evans and Geraldine Hester.

After the luncheon Mrs. F. N. Irwin ably led a program on American poetry, after which Mrs. J. H. Randolph in her charming manner led a program on Texas. Each number on both programs was instructive, as well as entertaining. During the program Mrs. S. P. Sullivan sang "Oh Promise Me" by DeKoven, Misses Myrna Miller and Ruby Lee Dickerson sang "The Rosary" by Nevin and the club sang the Texas state song, "Texas, Our Texas," and "The Eyes of Texas Are Upon You."

One of the guests for the afternoon was Mrs. J. S. Bowles, who was a charter member of the Self Culture Club, when it was organized about twenty-five years ago. In her ever pleasing manner, she told of the early days of the club and paid tribute to it and to women's clubs in general. She offered some valuable suggestions for future work in the club.

For the efficient and untiring work as president of the club for the past year and as a token of their love and friendship for her, the club presented to Mrs. John Berry a book of poems, "Old Friends Are Best." In a few well chosen words, which voiced the sentiments of everyone present, Mrs. J. A. Hester made the presentation.

At the close of the program the club went into a business session, this being the closing meeting of the year. The officers for next year had charge of this meeting. They were elected in March and are as follows:

President, Mrs. Marvin Rudd; vice-president, Mrs. R. E. Clements; secretary, Mrs. J. C. Evans; corresponding secretary, Mrs. L. E. Walters; treasurer, Mrs. Eli Fairman; reporter, Mrs. Claude Saylor; parliamentarian, Mrs. John Berry.

Under the guidance of this group of officers the club expects to have a very pleasant and profitable club year. REPORTER

Decoration Day Will Be Observed

The Cemetery association is having the Cemetery cleaned and is planning for Decoration Day on Mothers' Day, May 10. Those who have friends or loved one buried there should co-operate with these ladies in having all graves and lots cleared and prepared for decoration ceremonies.

PRAYER MEETING THIS AFTERNOON

The Union prayer meeting will be held at 3 o'clock this (Friday) afternoon with Mrs. J. H. Mullis as hostess, at the residence of Mrs. G. C. Gray.

County History In the Making

It has been suggested to the Eagle that a good plan for the preservation of Mills county history is to publish biographical sketches of citizens eighty years of age and over. This will be of interest to most of the readers of the paper and will preserve the history of the lives and doings of many of the pioneers of the county—makers of Mills county history. With this idea in view, the Eagle will be glad to publish the salient points in the life history of those citizens, who are eighty years of age or over, where they have been identified with the county for a period of twenty years or more. Such persons or members of their families are invited to send in an outline of their lives and histories. Tell when and where born, where they located in Mills county, some of their experiences in the early days and other matters deemed of interest to them, their posterity and the public generally. By this means it may be possible, at a later date, to compile a history of Mills county for preservation in book form, but this will be determined by the number and character of biographies or autobiographies received.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS MONDAY

The Woman's Missionary Society will hold a monthly business meeting Monday afternoon, May 4, with Mrs. R. H. Mayfield, at the residence of Mrs. W. B. Jackson at 2:30 o'clock.

LOCAL ITEMS ARE RECORDED

Miss Eloise Cabler of Zephyr is a guest of Miss Marzelle Boland in this city.

Mrs. Hugh Moreland has been at the bedside of Mrs. Gid Watson this week.

Terry Harrell of Corpus Christi is visiting his grandmother, Mrs. Williams, and other relatives in this city.

A. G. Vick, Dr. Pittman, Judge and Mrs. Carpenter from Belton visited Mr. and Mrs. Randolph Sunday.

Mr. Dally, who lived in this county in the early days, but has been in the Big Spring country several years, is visiting relatives in the Center Point community.

Dr. R. A. Swanger and daughter, Miss Tessie, left yesterday for San Antonio, where he will attend the National Chiropractic convention. They will return home Sunday.

Hon. Homer C. DeWolfe was here last week end, visiting his family and looking after business matters. He seemed well pleased with the progress of the legislature.

L. J. Gartman, who underwent an operation for appendicitis, at the hospital in Temple last week, is reported to be doing well and it is believed he will be able to come home in the very near future.

Among those called here on account of the illness of Mrs. Gid Watson are Pomp Watson, Eldorado; Ross Watson, Oklahoma; Mrs. Dave Berry, Lohn; Will Watson, Sweetwater; Rev. and Mrs. Jasper Chambers, Lam pasas.

Loy Long and Virgil Loudemay have the championship for successful fishing so far this season. Wednesday night they caught a catfish weighing 36½ pounds and had it on display at their store yesterday. The catch was made in the Colorado river near the mouth of Blowout creek.

It must indeed be discouraging to those who left this county, while they were in prosperous condition, to come back and find everybody doing fairly well and some really prospering, while the country to which they migrated is "blowed up." Moral: Better stay in good old Mills county while you have a location and can stay.

Miss Greta Little, who is a student in the State University at Austin, has been elected to a position in Brady schools, which are under the superintendency of Prof. D. A. Newton, formerly superintendent here. The Brady school board made a wise selection when they secured Mr. Newton and another wise choice has been made in the selection of Miss Little, who is one of Goldthwaite's most popular and talented young ladies.

Annual Music Week Will Begin Sunday

From the earliest days of civilization man has set aside certain times for special celebration. Because of its general and strong appeal, and the broad extent of the need of music, May 4-10, 1924, was selected for the first national observance of music week; but not until New York City held a music week, Feb. 1-7, 1928, did the idea begin to gain national impetus.

Calvin Coolidge, then president of the United States acted as honorary chairman of the first national music week.

Music is the art of expressing that higher and better life, which can not be expressed in words. Music is the voice of the soul. If the best music is brought to the people there is no fear of their ability to appreciate it. Walt Whitman has said, "I see America go singing to her destiny."

There will be community singing at the Methodist church in Goldthwaite Sunday, May 3, at 3 p. m. The public is cordially invited, especially those who will take part in the singing. Mr. Chester Frazier, who is president of the Mills County Singing convention will be in charge of the program. The purpose of this gathering is to promote the cause of music. XX

Program For Music Week

Plans for the annual celebration of National Music Week, May 3 to 10, inclusive, are well under way, according to chairmen of Music Week committees of Schubert, Tuesday Study Club and Art and Civic club, who are sponsoring the following program:

Sunday afternoon at Methodist church, county-wide sing song. Everyone has a special invitation to come and join in.

Wednesday morning program at school chapel.

Seated tea at school auditorium Wednesday afternoon at 4 o'clock.

Thursday, New Moon, a musical comedy sponsored by Schubert club.

Friday night at grammar school auditorium Mrs. Fred Martin will present her class in piano recital.

Sunday, May 10, nationally known as Mothers' Day, a program will be given at the Baptist church at 3 p. m.

We extend to you a cordial invitation to come and enjoy the programs. REPORTER.

WONDERFUL RAINS FALL IN COUNTY

Rain commenced to fall here Tuesday evening and continued with light sprinkles during the night, but on Wednesday morning about 7 o'clock the down-pour commenced in earnest and one of the best rains of the year fell. The manner in which the rain fell and the amount of it benefitted all growing crops and other vegetation and almost made certain a good small grain crop. The farm lands were put in good condition for plowing and cultivation and the pastures were made better. Truly, everything is lovely in Mills county.

MUSICAL CONTEST WITH PREMIUMS

Mrs. Fannie Belle Weatherly Taylor of Eastland is the piano instructor of Jeane Johnston of Eastland, who won second place in the State Federation of Music clubs held at Temple April 25. Jeane is the 10-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Johnston of Eastland and competed against 15-year-old girls in the contest. First place was awarded a fifteen-year-old girl of Dallas, who received $7.50 in gold. Jeane received $5 in gold. Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Johnston and Jeane, Miss Maybelle Taylor, Mrs. A. F. Taylor and Bessie Jane Taylor were the guests of Mrs. A. C. Weatherly Saturday night.

Mrs. Taylor, nee Fannie Bell Weatherly, was reared here and received a good part of her musical education at this place. Her friends in Goldthwaite are pleased that this honor has come to her through the success of her pupil.

ROGER BABSON AN OPTIMIST

The ordinary business man who had the temerity to predict that there would be a shortage of labor in this country before Christmas would be termed either a fool or just plain crazy.

But Roger Babson, the well-known financial writer, stated a few days ago, that very condition would come about in the next few months. Business "has turned the corner," Mr. Babson says. Commodity prices, however, may not be expected to improve for some time yet, Mr. Babson said, though he expressed the belief that prices of rubber, wheat and lead had reached a rock bottom.

Mr. Babson pointed to the fact that railway freight loadings have shown an upward turn. They are always a very good index to business.

The prediction of Mr. Babson is not to be scoffed at, regardless of its apparent extravagance. Mr. Babson did say, months before the stock market crash, that there was no occasion for the optimism that had brought the high speculative values in the securities. He was six months ahead then. Perhaps he is six months ahead again.

If so, there is another part of his statement to the public that deserves attention. It is that the "Next era of speculation will be in commodities, not in stocks." That ought to be good news to the producer, who saw stock prices attain record levels, while the prices of commodities he produced did not in the least reflect about in the Wall Street securities marts. — Greenville Herald.

Mrs. C. M. Burch returned home Sunday from Temple, where she spent several days in the hospital, suffering with an infection in her hand, caused by a scratch of a rusty nail.

The Eagle appreciates local items and communications on local matters or topics of public interest. Be sure to let the editor know who does the writing, otherwise it can not be printed.

Don't put your winter clothing away dirty. Have Burch fix them right.

Mrs. S. P. Sullivan was called to Brownwood Monday on account of the serious illness of her sister, Mrs. W. H. Thompson, who recently underwent operation in a sanitarium at Temple.

Mr. and Mrs. T. F. Elliott of Ballom were appreciated callers at the Eagle office Tuesday. They are considering moving from their farm to this city and if they come a hearty welcome awaits them.

Supt. R. J. Gerald of the Star school was a pleasant caller at the Eagle office Saturday, accompanied by his two sons. His school will continue thru this month and the session has been very successful and satisfactory.

Dr. W. W. Fowler and his son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lorain I. Gram, drove over from Dallas Sunday morning, ate lunch with Mr. and Mrs. John W. Roberts at Rock Springs and returned to Dallas that afternoon.

Mrs. W. D. Leverett and baby have been here from Sugarland visiting relatives and she called at the Eagle office Tuesday to renew her subscription. They are well pleased with the Sugarland location and the climate agrees with them. Mrs. Leverett will be remembered as Miss Suenoro Queen.

BAPTIST CHURCH

The editor of this paper with his helpers are to be commended for the style that it made its appearance with last week. Many words of commendation were spoken to the writer of these notes about the change of dress. Mr. Thompson is to be congratulated for the efforts put forth in giving to the citizens of this county, and other counties, one of the best county papers to be found anywhere. Every citizen of this county and all former citizens ought by all means to read the Eagle. If they will they certainly can keep up with the happenings of this county. And that is largely what a county paper is for. So read the Eagle for Mills county news.

A gentleman said to his pastor the other day, "Well, I am getting old, my life has been spent and I can be of no service any longer." This is a mistake that so many people make. When life's evening sun begins to go down many think that their usefulness has been impaired and that no one cares for them any longer. To those who think that, if you will come to the Baptist church next Sunday and notice those whose heads are frosty with many a winter night you will change your mind. Those who have been at the helm these many years and have guided the old Ship of Zion safe thus far are still helping. They not only lend every atom of their influence and give their money, but they are a source of inspiration and joy to this preacher at every service. We know that some have a horror of getting old, but that makes no difference, we are traveling toward the setting of the sun. To my mind, old age is the period of triumphant beauty. It is the beauty of strength, of achievements and triumph. It is like a tree that is laden with the lucious fruit of a well-spent spring and summer. My own mother who has passed her allotted time on this earth is more beautiful and more useful to me today than ever before. It is true that her form and beauty that man calls beauty is not what it was yesterday, but when we look upon that silvery crown that she wears about her head, and read the lines on her face, which is an index to her soul, and hold those worn out hands, we see nothing but beauty and usefulness and we wonder what we would do without the living influence of a mother.

We had a splendid congregation Sunday morning, and considering the unfavorable conditions of weather we had a splendid congregation Sunday night. We want to congratulate Miss Vaughn and her class. They were in the balcony Sunday, and it looked like they were a hundred per cent. Let me insist that all the teachers insist that their class stay for preaching service. All of our teachers seem to be interested along that line and that is one reason for our splendid crowds. The Sunday school that has a tendency to lead away from church attendance has no place in any church. We would not dare make such a statement if our Sunday school fees were not backing the pastor in church attendance and yet the statement is true. Many preachers are preaching to empty pews because they have a Sunday school force that have no regard for preaching service. The preachers are largely responsible for such conditions. We have organized the Sunday school away from the church. The Sunday school is the teaching agency of the church and belongs to the church, and will ultimately fail if not sponsored by the church. The sooner some churches learn that the better conditions will be as to church attendance.

Those of you who have been absent for the last few Sundays, be sure and put in your appearance Sunday. Let's start the month of May off right by going to church and Sunday school. G. C. IVINS, Pastor

CALL BURCH When you want a suit, dress or single garment cleaned or pressed, call Burch and he will clean you.

ROCK SPRINGS

Sunday was another cold day. We didn't have a very large crowd at Sunday school Sunday morning. We elected W. A. Cooke for superintendent, J. M. Traylor, assistant superintendent. Our B.Y.P.U. turned out to be a real good singing, as those on the program were absent. There were seven on the program and two of them present. Our new president laid out. One group captain absent, but we can excuse Mr. Chadwick, for his boy has the mumps. Now pep yourself up to be present, if you are on the program or if you are not. Let's not be slackers. Don't forget the contest.

Dr. W. W. Fowler and Mr. and Mrs. Loraine Gram from Dallas dined in the Roberts home Sunday.

Mr. Editor, your paper was fine last week. My letter seems shorter than common, but I've told all I know to be true.

As I close we have some indications of rain. We people have everything ready for a soaking. BUSY BEE.

NOTICE On account of being called to court, Dr. Jones the Eye man, can not be in Goldthwaite until Saturday, May 9.

DOWN ON THE FARM By O.G.H.

Joe Langford, Center City, has kept books on his pecan grove on Bennett Creek for 12 years and the figures he has compiled are interesting and merit careful study. The native grove has never been top worked nor has it been cleared of trees and underbrush. Further, two total crop failures are noted, yet income for the twelve years totals $3,440. The nuts have been gathered on the shares most of the time and this total represents net profit. Mr. Langford is now cleaning up this grove and having some top working done.

The Heart of Texas Jersey Show at Dublin, May 13, 14, 15, is one of the largest breed shows in Texas and Mills county will be represented by a large delegation of women, men, girls and boys interested in good Jersey cows. Judging by D. T. Simonds, Fort Worth, will be done the 14th. The 4-H club boys judging contest will be staged the 14th. The district embraces 35 counties. Go along with us to this show.

Andrew Anderson, Caradan, has hauled 88 loads of barnyard manure to his fields and spread it with a clever, labor-saving contrivance that you should see. So far Andrew stands head. Please advise us when you haul your 89th load.

CIGARETTE TAX ATTACKED

Pharmacists of the state have passed resolutions to the effect that the cigarette tax, which will become effective in a little less than ninety days will hurt their business. Their conclusions are based upon the assumption that Texas people will order their smokes, via parcel post, from dealers in states where no such tax is imposed.

It is to be hoped that the druggists are unduly alarmed. Probably, indeed, they are.

When the new tax becomes effective, cigarettes sold in Texas will bear a tax total of nine cents the pack. Of this amount, the federal government gets six cents, the state of Texas three.

Regardless of where you buy your cigarettes, the federal tax of six cents has to be paid. Three cents the pack or thirty cents the carton, can be saved by writing an order (estimated cost two cents) and attaching a money-order (at additional cost) and sending it to the dealer in another state, where no state tax is imposed. Of course, you'll have to include in your remittance enough postage to have the carton delivered to you.

Probably the net savings affected might average one and one-half cents the package. There is a wider spread than that, now, in the retail price of cigarettes in Texas. Yet the dealer who sells them at fifteen cents straight continues to push them over the counter in unaffected volume.

Texas people are not going to all the trouble and delay incident to ordering their cigarettes from out-of-state. They may grumble a bit, they may threaten, they may fuss; but they won't act. It just isn't human nature.

Let's don't cry until we're burned.—Editorial Digest.

LAWS AND CRIME

Governor Roosevelt of New York—who, according to the New York Times, "may go down in history as the prison reform governor"—has suggested an investigation into the probation system for prisoners. This follows his work in reorganizing the parole system, and in making the punishment fit the criminal as well as the crime.

Our crime reformers would do well to emulate the example of Governor Roosevelt and turn their attention to improving the existing legal and criminal system. Crime and punishment have been given little scientific study, and there has

THE SAFETY IDEA

"The law has contributed to a certain extent to make industry safe," said Alfred E. Smith recently, "but all regulatory statutes have a line where they stop. It is at this point that human and personal endeavor must take up the undertaking."

"Human and personal endeavor" has made remarkable progress in advancing safety, particularly in large industries such as the railroad and the electric, but it still has a long way to go. In small manufacturing businesses in many lines accident rates are far beyond what the "normal" should be. Industrial accidents constitute a gigantic "waste" item in our business records.

This is not altogether the fault of the businesses themselves. Great steps have been taken in guarding machinery and in making plants more safe mechanically. But the maximum safety results from the absorption of the "accident prevention idea" by the individual worker. He must develop an innate consciousness, that finally becomes part of his instinct, as to what is safe and what is not.

The best illustration of this is found in the splendid work done in lowering the record of accidents to school children, at a time when hazards of all kinds—and accidents to adults—have been steadily increasing. The lessons taught vividly in the classroom make an indelible impression on the child's mind, and the safe thing to do becomes the natural thing to do.

never been any endeavor, on a national scale, to adjust parole and probation to modern conditions. Our laws have become steadily more technical and personally restrictive with amazing increase in organized criminality as the result. We seem to have lost sight of the fact that it should be the purpose of law to protect the rights and liberties of law-abiding citizens, not to abrogate or cancel them on the dubious theory that by giving the criminal or the honest citizen more laws to break, lawlessness will be lessened.

OF THE FRAGRAPPERS

The more intelligent a man is the less likely he will be to make positive statements of the knowledge he possesses.

He realizes the many ramifications and angles that have a bearing on results and is careful about expressing a positive opinion.

He may state facts with reservations. He is guarded, however, and would like you to make your own deductions.

Are you the sort that considers his own conceptions as indisputable facts? Such an individual is often an excessive talker and becomes loud and heated in his declarations.

He belittles those who oppose him. If you are not such a person you may have met the kind.

In nearly every place of employment there are men whose education and knowledge are limited, but who try to force their ideas upon others.

If they are not heads of departments, delegated to direct others, they take it out in an undercurrent of what they would do in the superintendent's job.

The deficiencies of such men are so apparent that it is not worthwhile to argue with them, to ignore them is a wiser policy.—Houston Chronicle.

EXCESSIVE TALKERS

Man is of few days and full of trouble. He laboreth all the days of his youth to pay for a gasoline chariot, and when at last the task is finished Lo!

The thing is junk and he needeth another. He planteth cotton in the earth and tilleth it intelligently, he and his servants and his asses, and when the harvest is gathered into the barns, he oweth the landlord $8.40 more than the crop is worth.

He borroweth money of the lenders to buy pork and molasses and gasoline, and the interest eateth up all that he hath. He begets sons and daughters and educateth them to smoke cigarettes and wear a white collar, and Lo! they have soft hands and neither labor in the fields nor anywhere else under the sun.

The children of his loins are ornery and one of them becometh a lawyer and another sticketh up a filling station and maketh whoopee with the substance thereof. The wife of his bosom neeketh with a stranger and when he rebukes her, lo, she shooteth him in the finale. He goeth forth in the morning on the road that leadeth to the city and a jitney smiteth him so that his ribs project through his epidermis.

He drinketh of a drink of whoopee juice to forget his sorrows and it banneth out the lining from his liver. All the days of his life he findeth no parking place, and is tormented by traffic cops from his going forth until his coming back. An enemy stealh his car; physicians remove his inner parts and his teeth and his bank roll; his daughters showeth their legs to strangers; his arteries hardeneth in the evening of his life, and when he is gathered to his father's, the neighbors sayeth:

"How much did he leave?" Lo! He hath left it all. And his widow rejoiceith in a new coupe and maketh eyes at a young shiek that slicketh his hair and playeth a nifty game of poker. Woe stealh his car; physicians remove his inner parts and his teeth and his bank roll; his daughters showeth their legs to strangers; his arteries hardeneth in the evening of his life, and when he is gathered to his father's, the neighbors sayeth:

THE LONG, LONG TRAIL

In three more months it will be possible for a turn of a valve in the Amarillo, Texas, gas field, to govern the blue flames beneath frying pans in Chicago.

By July 1, the last link in the pipe line will be completed, nearly 1,000 miles of welded conduit feeding natural gas from the hills of the Southwest to the metropolis of the Great Lakes region. Contracts signed only last week assure it.

This will be the fast gas pipe line with such a range. But others are even now being laid from the Louisiana fields northward through the Middle West, from the Kansas fields eastward; plans are being formulated for lines from Northern Pennsylvania to New York, Pittsburgh, Boston.

It is but a short time since the vision of underground conduits threading mountains and valleys for hundreds and thousands of miles was regarded as just another pipe dream. Now that pipe dream is coming true and great industries are watching with shrewd eyes. After gas and oil, then what? Milk, small size coal? Fruit juice? Even mail and express in long-range pneumatic tubes?—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

A PIPE DREAM COME TRUE

Over the hill trailed a man behind a mule drawing a plow, says an exchange. The clodhopper was "broadcasting."

"Bill, you are a mule, the son of a jackass, and I am a man maybe in the image of God. Yet we work hitched together year in and year out. I often wonder if you work for me or I work for you. Sometimes I think this is a partnership between a mule and a fool. For surely I work harder than you do. Plowing here we cover the same distance, but you do it on four legs and I do it on two. So mathematically speaking, I do twice as much per leg as you do.

"Soon we'll be preparing for a corn crop. When the crop is harvested I give one-third to the landlord for being kind enough to let me use this corner of God's universe. The other goes to you, and what is left is my share. But while you consume all of you third, with the exception of a few cobs, I divide mine among seven children, six hens, two ducks and a banker. Bill you are getting the best of me; it ain't fair for a mule, the son of a jackass, to rob a man, the lord of creation, of his substance. And come to think of it, you only help to cultivate the ground. After that I cut, shock and husk it, while you look over the fence and 'he haw' at me.

"All fall and part of the winter the whole family, from Granny down to the baby, pick cotton to help raise money to buy you a new set of harness, and pay interest on the mortgage on you, and by the way, what do you care about the mortgage? It doesn't worry you any. Not a darn bit. You leave that to me, you ungrateful cuss.

"About the only time when I'm better is on election day, for I can vote and you cannot. But if I ever get more out of politics than you do, I don't see where it is.

(It is claimed that the above is taken from a talk Mr. R. A. Stevens of Bethel made to his mule, as overheard by Will Hill.)

THE MAJESTY OF THE LAW

Those who have been shocked by the revelations in the recent New York vice investigations, culminating in murder, would do well to turn their attention to a fictionalized history of a magistrate's court in that city, called "The Vice Squad," by Joseph van Raalte, the Vanguard Press, publishers.

Mr. van Raalte describes the magistrate in his book as a "sensual, greedy, bulbous-eyed, pot bellied old politician—civic weed, bereft of flower." He shows how women and girls of the underworld, whose trade depends upon men, are framed, arrested and grafted upon with the aid of shyster lawyers and crooked judges, all of them taking the lion's share of the girls' "earnings." He shows how influence and money can make the majesty of the law turn somersaults in the Women's Court.

New York is starting to clean house, but has an Aegean stables job on its hands. Conditions described by Mr. van Raalte may be found in other cities. It is terrifying to realize that the dispensing of "justice" can be made one of the best of "rackets."

Graft, viciousness, framing, corruption, perjury, dishonesty—these qualities and others, play a large part in modern criminal procedure. And they will continue to do so until fundamental changes are made in the administration of justice and the people demand more character and less politics in public office.

"I say that men are easier to handle than women because it really seems to me that they are simpler, less given to jealousy and more equable in temperament. At the same time, I do not try to 'handle' them in the usual sense. I find that the fewer requests I make, the better everything goes."

Miss Richardson's orchestra has often had the experience of "making" a popular song. One of these, "My Love for You," is a great favorite of the leader, herself, because, she says, of its grace and rhythm.

Miss Richardson, whose work as a conductor has been highly praised by men orchestra leaders, uses a baton presented to her by Paul Whiteman, who also bestowed upon her the title of Queen of Jazz.

New York City.—Men are easier to handle than women, but only if they don't suspect they are being handled. This is the conviction of Florence Richardson, only woman leader of a nationally-famous jazz orchestra now playing at the Paramount Hotel. Her group is composed of men, all college graduates, who have been together for four years. "It takes more than good musicians to make an orchestra," says Miss Richardson. "Musicianship is important, of course, but if the men are to play as one man, they must have been together for some time and there must have grown up among them

Felt Bad After Eating

"BEFORE I started taking Black-Draught, three years ago, my health was very bad," writes Mrs. C. C. Carson, 945 Concord St., Beaumont, Texas. "I suffered constantly from constipation. I had headache when I got up in the morning, and I felt dull and sluggish. I hardly ate a meal that my food agreed with me. Frequently I would have gas on my stomach, and felt awful. I read about Black-Draught, and I thought it might help me. After I had taken it a little while, I felt much better. It relieves constipation. I keep it on hand so when I need a laxative I will have it. In the three years I have been taking it, I have never found anything as good for constipation."

Medical authority says that who tries to cover up skin eruptions and pimples with toilet powders is just as foolish as an ostrich that buries its head in the sand to avoid danger. Skin eruptions are nature's warning that germs are throwing poisons into your system and weakening your whole system. Remove the poisons and you will strengthen your system against disease and clear up your skin. The best way to do this is with a course of Herbol, the medicine that acts so quickly and easily, which you can get at SON BROS. DRUGGISTS.

Rain fell so heavy about Fairfield, Freestone county, Saturday night that farmers say their cotton will have to be planted over.

Five persons were killed in Commerce Sunday morning when a fast train on the Cotton Belt railroad struck the bridge in which they were riding.

The present system of gathering criminal statistics—needed in the building of new anti-crime machinery—was considered Sunday by the Wickham commission as inadequate, often nonexistent and sometimes "seriously abused."

A blanket indictment charging six former officials at Hillsboro county with alleged unlawful delivery of a warrant to an Edinburg bank was returned by the grand jury in that county Saturday, following an extended investigation into the financial affairs of the county.

A campaign to raise $50,000 to meet current obligations has been started among 2,000 ex-students and friends and patrons of Southwestern University at Georgetown, according to announcement made by President King Vivian and H. S. Farrer of Austin, president of the Ex-Students Association of Southwestern University. Leaders in the campaign agreed that it is unwise at the present time to undertake a large financial campaign, and an analysis of the situation shows $50,000 will be imperatively needed between now and June 1, Tarver stated.

Shou 2,000 years ago a Chinese emperor in the Han dynasty ordered the construction of a canal in what is now faraway Shensi Province, in China's great northwest. Today an American engineer for the International Famine Relief Commission, is completing a job which is a $1,000,000 project. When the Han emperor tackled the work about 2,000 years ago, he had thousands of bare-backed coolies hauled from dawn to dusk to carry away a small amount of earth by hand. Their method was limited in canal reconstruction programs at the same rate later.

In an interview in San Antonio Saturday, Congressman Moran of the Texas-kanan district was quoted as saying he proposed to introduce a resolution in the next session of congress calling for the impeachment of Secretary Mellon. Mr. Moran will base his resolution, he said, on the law that prohibits from holding the post any person interested in trade or commerce or the ownership of any vessels. The Congressman cited Mr. Mellon's purported interest in several large corporations. Mr. Mellon, he added, is more to blame than any other person for present depression, with currency devalued until there is in circulation only $36 per capita as against $53 ten years ago.

Said note bore 5 per cent interest and was payable in 71 installments semi-annually, payments being $30.25 each, with final payment of $78.96, said deed of trust recorded in Vol. 8, pages 135-138, deed of trust records of Mills county, Texas, and conveying the following described lot, tract or parcel of land, to-wit:

A part of Block No. 3 of the subdivision of the East 1500 acres of land out of the Adam Cloud survey in Mills County, Texas; Beginning at the original sw corner of said block No. 3; thence e 247 vrs to se corner of said Block No. 3 and sw corner of Block No. 4; thence n 1,000 vrs to stone mound in east line of Block No. 3; thence w 847 vrs to west line of said Block No. 3; thence s 1,000 vrs to the place of beginning, containing 150 acres of land, and being same land conveyed by G. B. Baskin and wife to W. H. Baskin by deed shown of record in Volume 9, page 326, Deed Records, Mills county, Texas, to which reference is made for more particular description.

That, thereafter, to-wit: On or about the 14th day of March, 1923, the land above described was sold and conveyed to W. D. Halle, the latter assuming the payment of said note for $1,675 and being personally liable for the amount and punctual payment, thereof.

In compliance with the Federal Farm Loan Act the makers of said note, and deed of trust, and those who assumed its payment, became the owners of 17 shares of Capital Stock of this plaintiff of par value of $5.00 each; and that plaintiff was required to, did subscribe and pay for an equal number of shares of stock in the Federal Land Bank of Houston of the par value of $5.00 each; and which is held as collateral security by said bank on account of the endorsement of said note and loan by plaintiff; and plaintiff holds the stock of the makers of said note and mortgage as collateral security to it by the reason of said endorsement. That the payment of interest herein alleged, represents only a small part of the loan made herein, and that the stock owned by the makers of said note is pledged for collateral security for the whole of said loan and cannot be used or applied in discharge of any single installment on said note, and plaintiff holds said stock as collateral security for the payment of the whole indebtedness. And the plaintiff, by reason of the provisions of the Federal Farm Loan Act is entitled to have said stock sold with the land and not separately, subject to the unpaid balance of the defendants note to said bank and the obligation of said plaintiff as herein set forth, and now sues for such relief, as well as other relief sued for herein, and as to said stock for only such equity and ownership as defendants have or appear to own. That defendants above named, failed to pay the semi-annual installments on said note, due on May 1, 1930, November 1, 1930 and May 1, 1931, amounting to $150.75. That complying with the provisions of law, the said loan first above referred to was made thru

CAPITAL AT WORK

The social value of capital is palpable whenever a matter of economic progress is up. People living in an isolated region without transportation facilities do not need to be told that the investment of capital in the building of a railroad in that region would bring to them greatly benefits than it would bring to the mere owners of that capital. The people of a town seeking to have a factory established within its borders know full well that it would bring greater benefits to the community than to the owners of the capital invested in it. But what many do not recognize is that this is true of all productive capital. Its social benefits, if it is invested in a successful enterprise, are always greater than the benefits it brings to its owners. And if the work of progress in Texas is to be carried forward in an orderly manner there must be a widespread recognition of this. In any event, the opposite view, the view which sees only the interests of the owners of the capital as involved, and its general prevalence would stop progress in Texas altogether.—Texas Weekly.

GOOD JURORS

The congratulations of the community should go to the 12,000 representative citizens whose names have gone into the jury wheel and who some time this year will be called upon to fulfill a fundamental duty of citizenship. These men and women also deserve the public thanks. They have recognized their responsibility.

A list of qualified taxpayers that includes scores of leading professional and business men, as well as able representatives of the ministry and of education, should be as much of a boon to the courts as it is a credit to the community.

Whether the administration of the law is to profit from this superior raw material for juries will depend in large measure upon the members of the bar. Lawyers' organizations have joined with other civic groups in demanding better juries. Lawyers as individuals have too often yielded to the idea that the less a tradesman knows and the less intelligence he appears to possess the better juror he will be.—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

plaintiff as a National Farm Loan Association serving the Federal Land Bank of Houston, and payment thereof guaranteed by plaintiff. That upon the failure of defendants to pay the semi-annual installments of said note, when due, plaintiff was required to pay the same, and has paid same because of its liability therefor. That after such payment by plaintiff, the Federal Land Bank of Houston assigned to plaintiff its lien on said land to the extent of said payments made and by virtue of said deed of trust and the Federal Farm Loan Act, authorized and empowered plaintiff to sue for foreclosure of said lien, and to obtain judgment and sell said land for payment of said indebtedness, subject to the balance of said lien, still held as superior lien by said bank.

Plaintiff alleges that defendants herein named are asserting some claim to said land and premises, the exact nature of which it is unable to determine, but which claims, if any, are inferior to that of plaintiff, and constitute a cloud on plaintiff's title to said land.

Wherefore, plaintiff prays that defendants be cited to answer this petition, and that on a final hearing hereon, plaintiff have judgment for said sum of $150.75, and all interest thereon at 8 per cent since the date of payment, 10 per cent thereof, as attorney's fees, all costs of suit, and that plaintiff's lien as it existed at the execution of said deed of trust, and now exists, be foreclosed, and the said land seized and sold as under execution. Plaintiff further prays for a foreclosure of its lien on said stock held as security for said loan as plaintiff's rights and defendant's equity may appear.

And for all other relief, general and special, both in law and in equity, as it may appear to the court, it is entitled.

Herein fail not, but have before said Court, at its aforesaid next regular term, this writ with your return thereon, showing how you have executed the same.

Given under my hand and the seal of said court, at office in Goldthwaite, Texas, this the 23rd day of April, A. D. 1931.

(Seal) JOHN S. CHESSER, Clerk, District Court, Mills, Co.

FIGHTING MOSQUITOES

Any town can eradicate its mosquitoes if it really tries. The process is simple, but it costs some money and some work—head work and hand work. The first and practical only thing to do to abolish mosquitoes is to subject them to the warden's view of birth control. When a town appoints a mosquito warden, on a salary without commission, and backs him up with an ordinance giving him authority to inspect all premises in the town's jurisdiction, with orders to destroy the skeeter's breeding places, the thing is half done. Prevention of a mosquito's birth is better than lawing him after he is born. There is one little city in Texas, 3,000 population, where children six years old have never seen a mosquito. Formerly that town was a mosquito haven. The plagued things used to come there in the mood that Indians went to their tribal hunting grounds—for sport and meat. They liked the town because it seemed so hospitable to them, offering fair maidens, plump matrons, tender infants, not to mention sinewy men, and making no effort to combat the predatory visitants. Finally the city fathers got tired of feeding the skeeters with dainty meat, and hired an industrious gentleman to find all the places where the skeeters came from and pull down their playhouses. Every spring he starts out and inspects every likely place where mosquitoes might raise a family. He annihilates their domiciles, and, instead of multiplying and replenishing the earth, the parent al skeeters perish under the warden's ministrations. The thing is done systematically and thoroughly every spring and summer, and the object is accomplished entirely.—State Press in Dallas News.

The fire insurance industry, through the National Board of Fire Underwriters, performs a public service of tremendous value by inspecting fire stations, apparatus, personnel, water systems and pressure and buildings.

Each year many communities come under the notice of experts. Particular attention is paid to mercantile sections, where there is congestion of high commercial values, and where fire would result in the greatest damage to both life and property. Following the inspections a report is made to the authorities pointing out weaknesses in the community's fire defense, and offering definite suggestions for improvement. When the improvements are carried out—as probably happens in a majority of instances—the maximum degree of protection against fire is reached. When the suggestions are overlooked, the records show that disastrous fires often follow.

That this inspection service has been responsible for saving thousands of lives and millions of dollars worth of property goes without saying. Even so, it is impossible to make an appreciable dent in the fire record without public support. So long as the citizen, as an individual, permits hazards in his home, garage and place of business to go uncorrected, every city faces a potential fire that may delay progress for years to come.

Perhaps the greatest step forward in fire prevention would be for every property owner to emulate, as best he can, the example of the insurance industry's experts, and conduct a private inspection campaign with the object of correcting or reducing the hazards that exist in almost every building.

NEVER AGAIN

While returning from Marshall, Mo., to her home in St. Louis, Mrs. Paul Brown permitted an "aged and feeble man" to be taken into her car by her chauffeur at a stop near Columbia, Mo., his request being to ride into St. Louis. The day after her arrival home she received a note from her aged passenger. In it he warned her to never pick up a stranger and stated he was a young man disguised as a feeble person and had intended to rob her, but because of her kindness of heart and the treatment she and her chauffeur had accorded him, he refrained from his plans.—Exchange.

Doctors Diagnose

When children are irritable, weevish, grind their teeth, have itching eyes, lack of appetite, they are suffering from pinworms. Many mothers, too, will find that their carefully brooded children can have worms. It remains that these symptoms yield, in a great majority of cases, to a few doses of White's Pinworm Mixture, the sure expeller of pin worms. If you have any of these symptoms, try less, old-fashioned medicine, you can get at 35c per bottle.

New King of Romance Appears On the Air

Lew Conrad Becomes Overnight Radio Romeo

New York City.—Lew Conrad, handsome young tenor, is scheduled, if volume of telegrams, letters and telephone calls is any indication, to become the new King of Romance on the air.

Conrad began his broadcasts at the hardest time of the day—in the morning, when romance is a most difficult commodity to sell. But when this singer wove his lyric spell by way of the Campbell Soup hour, the broadcasting studio started to get letters by the score, all addressed to the singer and pouring out everything from undying passion to maternal love.

Conrad's singing has the qualities of the crooner, the mellowed tone of the trained artist and the masculine virility which crowding

IT PAYS TO SMILE

Did you ever stop to consider that—
The waiter who made a mistake in your order probably will lose his job if you complain to the manager.
The traffic cop whom you inwardly or outwardly curse, depending upon your degree of boldness, is only protecting your life and those of others when he hands you a ticket for speeding.
The squealing baby next door does not really dislike you, but probably is taking the only available means of getting relief from the tummy ache.
And his mother wants to stop the howling just as much as you do.
The telephone girl who gives you a wrong number and who barely escaped denunciation because you are too angry to talk, is a member of that vast army of unsung heroines who will risk their lives to save yours in time of disaster.
The too plump lady or man who takes 99.44 per cent of the trolley car seat can't help it and would gladly do most any thing from standing on the heads to jumping off the Empire State building to chase away that excess avoirdupois.
The street car motorman, who closed the door and started away just as you reached the car stop has a schedule he must keep and he probably did not see you in the first place.
The messenger boy, who arrived ten minutes later than he should have, couldn't help it because traffic jammed.
If you haven't thought about these things, do it now and remember that a smile takes far less energy than a frown, and likewise, gets you far more service. —San Angelo Standard-Times.

FIGHTING GAS TAX

Crude oil may yet become the common motor fuel. The Diesel engine has not reached the ultimate of its availability. The automobile as we know it was made possible by gasoline, and just as oil was developed into an explosive fuel, so the newer engineering may develop a machine to burn less expensive fuel yet perform all the functions now assigned to machines motivated by explosive propulsion. Always science is working to build up new things, even at the expense of old ones.
There are two ends to every proposition, and while one science is working at one end, another science is working at the other. For another example, we have it on authority of the Hon. Wright Patman that the bureau of Standards at Washington, has devised a cheap and practical method of refining cotton seed oil into cooking oil.
The crude from the cottonseed oil mill may be bought at 50c a gallon and rendered, in the manner of lard, into a shortening as good as the highly processed brands now on the market, according to Mr. Patman.
The difference in price is said to be flattering to the housewife who may undertake the rendering. If she hasn't a big pot in the backyard, like at hog killing time, she can use a dinner pot on the kitchen range.
However, a sudden change from commercial to domestic cooking oil is not expected. Little as you may believe it, the modern housewife isn't strong for adding to her responsibilities. —

Crinoline Days Return
In All Artistic Fields

MAUD HART LOVELACE

Music, Dancing, Writing,
All Have Felt
the Change
New York City. — Crinoline days are here again—not only in frocks, but in music, dancing and books, says Maud Hart Lovelace, whose newest novel, "Petticoat Court," deals with the old-time crinoline days of the Second Empire in France.
"The real reason America is able to go back without any great effort to musical crinoline days," says Mrs. Lovelace, "is that in spite of the fact that she has sometimes roamed far afield musically, she has periodically come back to the cradle of American music. That cradle is New Orleans, with all its Negro, French and Spanish influence. And today, the lazy influence of those southern and Latin cadences is openly influencing our music as it has always done underneath."
"The tradition of the levee Negro and his songs is one that we should take great pride in, and its admixture with the French has made it grayer, given it charm and lustre. The loveliest of the new songs, for instance, 'I'm Happy When You're Happy,' is full of the French theme and what I call the crinoline influence."
Mrs. Lovelace believes that the return to crinolines is in part a revolt of women against harshness and lack of beauty and grace.
She thinks that the revolt may go even deeper—may become in time an actual uprising against the ultra-modern theory that a woman's place is everywhere but in the home. The next few years, Mrs. Lovelace believes, will see a genuine back-to-the-home movement on the part of certain "homesick" members of her sex.
Mrs. Lovelace was born in Mankato, Minnesota. "Petticoat Court" is her third novel. "Early Candlelight" and "The Black Angels" were her others.

MRS. WILSFORD DEAD

Mrs. J. J. Wilsford died at the home of her son, J. C. Wilsford, in Snyder Wednesday and her remains were carried to Lometa for burial yesterday afternoon, the funeral party passing thru Goldthwaite yesterday forenoon. The Wilsford family lived in Goldthwaite a good many years ago and are kindly remembered by all of the old timers. Mr. Wilsford was engaged in the mercantile business here and later served several terms as county treasurer, afterwards engaging in ranching in the neighborhood of Antelope Gap. They moved west a good many years ago and since Mr. Wilsford's death Mrs. Wilsford has made her home with her son, Clyde, and family at Snyder. The Mills county friends of the family sincerely sympathize with them in their bereavement.

MRS. WATSON DEAD

Mrs. Gid Watson, aged about 63, died at her home, a short distance east of this city, Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock, after a long illness. It was known to the family for several days that her recovery was impossible and they were not surprised when the end came.

Mrs. Watson, nee Matilda Davis, was born in Georgia and moved with her family to Texas 40 years ago, locating first in Johnson county and after a few years residence in that county came to Mills county, locating in the Payne Gap community, where they continued to live until a few years ago, when they moved to their new location east of this city. Her death occurred on the 65th anniversary of her marriage and her husband preceded her in death by three years.

She was the mother of fourteen children, eight of who survive her and were at her bedside when the end came. She had a wide circle of acquaintances and many friends in this county and elsewhere.

Funeral services were held for Mrs. Watson yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock, burial being made in the Payne Gap cemetery, the sad service being attended by many from various parts of the county.

CO-OPERATION

After all, the desire for happiness in this world is the primary object in the life of the average man. To attain this condition of happiness man makes the world a better place to live in or to obtain his happiness in, and unless humanity as a whole works together in improving the world the individual members of society fail to find happiness in life. The community is the world in miniature; so, like the world, it depends upon the co-operation of all its citizens to make it a better and happier residence for the individual. — Corsicana Sun

CITY SANITATION

The city council has plans in formulation for better sanitation in the city, one feature of which is a uniform system of construction and it can be built of lumber, sheet iron, cement or any other material the householder may desire. The individual can build it for himself without cost or can employ some one to build it and in this way the cost can be regulated. This is a system suggested by the state department of health, a representative of the department having been here this week on a tour of inspection and advised some changes in the system now employed in the city. The council will adopt an ordinance requiring the construction and maintenance of these toilets in place of the over-ground, unsanitary system now in use.

They all came back Sunday night. Morgan, Myron and Joe all went back early Monday morning, where they all have a job.

Some of the men have been working on Watson Wright's windmill and well, but so far have not got it fixed. Mr. Bleeker has his well drill there now.

MULE SENSE

A court in Alabama has been called upon to decide if a mule kick is an accident.

A citizen who carried an accident policy with an insurance company was kicked by a mule and died of his injuries. His beneficiaries attempted to collect the amount named in the policy, but the insurance company refused payment on the grounds that a mule-kick was not an accident.

As a Muleshoe editor who is supposed to be familiar with mules, their dispositions, habits and erratic activities, we are inclined at first to blush to believe that the insurance company is correct. Clearly the court is going to have to consider both sides of the case, the kicker and the kicked; did the mule kick accidentally, and did the man get kicked accidentally.

From the standpoint of the mule, we are quite positive he did not kick accidentally; it was intentional. No mule ever delivers an accidental kick, they are all pre-meditated and carefully aimed.

If the man accidentally stumbled against the kicking end of the mule, while it was in action, it was an accidental blow he received, but if he deliberately placed himself within receiving range of the hybrid's heels, it would appear to be a clear case of suicide. — Muleshoe Journal.
