

LOYALTY

Once we visited a small town last summer. We had not been in town ten minutes before one of its citizens began to brag to us about the town's baseball team. He gave us the history of the season's games, and we noted most of them resulted in victories for the home team.

The next day a man with whom we got acquainted, spoke in words of highest praise of the town's school system, and believe it or not, he not only had a good word to say for the superintendent and teachers, but the board as well.

We visited in the town a few days and without exception the people we talked to had something good to say about some feature or institution of the town.

The town gave evidence of the loyalty too. It looked like a good town, but we felt it with a good conviction that it was a good town in which to live. Any town with its community pride developed to such a degree is going to be a good town. In the natural course of events it just can't help it.

Our guess is that when a project is started there that everyone gets behind it and stays back of it until it goes over. What a fine spirit. There is scarcely a town that couldn't have much more than it does if everyone in it would rally loyally behind every project and work on it until it was put over, and then turn to the next plan and put it over.

This is the thing that makes good towns. It is the germ that once it infects a community, gives it the reputation of being a live town.

TEXAS INDUSTRY NEEDS

So long as Texas' products consisted of raw materials and semi-finished manufactures the task of merchandising was not so important. Products of that kind move to market through well established channels and are classified and sold at the going price in the market at the time. We have always exported our cotton and imported dry goods and other finished cotton products. Even the small amount of cotton textiles manufactured in the state is made into grey goods which must be shipped East to be bleached and dyed before the products can be said to be finished. Our wool is also shipped East, without even so much as removing the dirt and grease from it; there it is made into blankets and finished woolen products. Our cattle move to the corn belt area to be finished, and provide the farmers in that area a market for their feeds.

Turning to our extractive industries we find that the bulk of the petroleum produced in the state is refined in the state, this the happy exception to our accustomed practice. However, we fell our forest and after running the logs through the sawmill we ship the lumber to Michigan, North Carolina and to other states to make into furniture. As stated above, it does not require much merchandising ability on our part to turn our raw materials and semi-finished manufactures into cash. It is the selling of finished goods in the competitive markets that requires real merchandising ability. That is the problem that is now facing manufacturers located in Texas, and it will continue to be their problem so long as they are in business. Moreover, the growth of manufacturing in Texas will be, to a large extent, determined by the success with which they are able to sell their goods in competition with goods from all parts of the world.

Within the past few years there has been a marked change in the attitude of people throughout Texas with respect to the desirability of our developing local manufactures. People that heretofore have been extremely indifferent if not openly opposed to the location of industrial plants in their communities have been waked up to the seriousness of their situation by the unprofitableness of cotton production and the resulting drop in volume of trade with farmers. They now wish to broaden the source of the income of their locality. Too, the problem of unemployment has brought to the attention of towns and cities alike the fact that the present tasks affording employment are in many cases over-manned and unless new ways are created for employing a part of their people their town or city is destined to lose population, with the resulting decline in property values and rental income.—Texas Weekly.

Tonight it enters a humble home, strikes the roses from a woman's cheeks and tomorrow it challenges the republic in the halls of congress. Today it strikes the crust from the lips of a starving child, and tomorrow levies tribute from the government itself. There is no cottage in this city humble enough to shut it out. It defies the law when it cannot coerce suffrage. It is flexible to cajole but merciless in its victory. It is the moral enemy of peace and order, the cloud that shadows the face of childhood, the demon that has dug more graves and sent more souls unprepared to judgment than all the pestilence that blasted lives since God sent the plague to Egypt and all wars since Joshua stood before Jericho. It comes to ruin, and yet it shall profit mainly by the ruin of your sons and mine. It comes to mislead human souls and crush human hearts under its rumbling wheels. THE STATE OF TEXAS, County of Mills: Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain Order of Sale issued out of the Honorable District Court of Lampasas County, on the 8th day of September, 1931, by S. R. Word, Clerk of said Court, for the sum of fourteen hundred and twelve dollars and fifty cents, and costs of suit, under a judgment in favor of Mrs. Kate M. Word, in a certain cause in said Court, No. 4212 and styled Mrs. Kate M. Word vs. L. W. Hill et al, having been placed in my hands for service, I, C. D. Bledsoe, as Sheriff of Mills County, Texas, did, on the 7th day of October, 1931, levy on certain Real Estate, situated in Mills County, Texas, described as follows, to-wit: Deed of Trust Lien.

The S. E. 1/4 of section No. 32, Certificate 21-359, block No. 2, E. T. Ry. Co. Survey and the S. E. 1/4 and East 1/2 of S. W. 1/4 of section No. 2, Certificate 1507, T. C. Ry. Co. Survey, containing 400 acres of land and being the same land conveyed to him by E. A. Hill and wife Feb. 10, 1915, and levied upon as the property of L. W. Hill et al, and that on the first Tuesday in November, 1931, the same being the 3rd day of said month, at the Court House door, of Mills County, in the town of Goldthwaite, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., by virtue of said levy and said Order of Sale, I will sell above described Real Estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said L. W. Hill et al.

FIRE LOSS

There are fewer timber houses in Europe, and less fire insurance. Having a stone or a brick house makes for safety against accidental fire, and having no insurance makes for less carelessness with kerosene. Selling out to the insurance company is generally regarded as a crime, and men have been imprisoned for making such deals. Yet the practice has not been eradicated. It never will be eradicated as long as over-insurance is permitted, not to say encouraged. Every fire loss is lost not by the insurance company, but by those who insure with the company. The company has to collect a margin of premium over average loss, or go out of business. This unavoidable fact, coupled with mice which gnaw matches, costs insurers heavily. Over-insurance even is costly to the payers of life insurance premiums. Many a man, realizing his overinsurance, grows careless with lethal weapons and inhumane automobiles. It is unprofitable to the majority for the minority to collect either fire insurance or life insurance by extra-legal methods. In truth the majority always pay for the indiscretions or the malefactions of the minority in all their ramifications.—State Press in Dallas News.

TWELVE STATES VS. UNITED STATES

Twelve different states have risen up to challenge a power the United States claims for itself. Not since the Chicago waterway diversion case has there been any such imposing array of state attorneys general lined up in unison as appears in this litigation.

The case is that of G. Ridgeley Sappington of Maryland state university against the Internal Revenue Commissioner, and relates to the assumed right to levy a federal income tax on teachers in state universities. A brief filed in behalf of Illinois university recites that such teachers are as much employees of the state and hence exempt, as political appointees; that the institutions are agencies of the state, operated in whole or part by the proceeds of taxation, and that their property is the property of the state. That the collection of tuition fees or service charges does not divest them of their character as state agencies, is asserted, nor does the fact that, for the more convenient exercise of their sovereignty, the states delegate their administration to trustees. It is pleaded that federalism, if it can thus tax them, might also assume the right to require on its own conditions, a license of every teacher in every state. Should the improbability of the government ever taking such action be argued it is declared that the states prefer to rest their case on the constitution, as their right, rather than on an act of grace or the generosity or forbearance of Congress.

The state universities of the country justifiably have no confidence in the generosity of a national government confronted by a deficit of approximately $1,000,000,000, is the parting shot in the brief.

What else than a lack of revenue can explain the attempt at this late day to make such incomes taxable incomes? If the professors' incomes can be taxed, might not the legislative appropriations and other incomes of the universities themselves be also taxed?—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

Rescuing Bread Pudding

Now often you have heard the peevish words: "Oh, I hate that old bread pudding!" Here are two ways to rescue bread puddings from such condemnation and make it not a posity but a delight: Hawaiian Bread Pudding: Scald two cups milk, add one-half cup sugar, two tablespoons butter, one-half teaspoon salt and one-fourth teaspoon nutmeg, and pour over two cups stale bread (pieces not crumbs), letting it stand until soft and milk taken up by the bread. Add two beaten eggs, and pour into a large shallow baking dish. Lay the drained slices from a No. 2 1/2 can of Hawaiian pineapple over the top, and bake in a slow oven, 350°, for from forty-five minutes to an hour. This serves eight very liberally. Serve with the following Sauce: Smooth together one-half tablespoon cornstarch, one-third cup sugar and one-fourth cup cold water. Heat the syrup from the pineapple, add, and cook until creamy, stirring constantly. Add two tablespoons lemon juice and a few grains of nutmeg. Try Whole Wheat Pineapple Pudding: Toast four slices of whole wheat bread, butter and cut into small squares. Place in bottom of a baking dish and pour over the drained fruit from half of a No. 2 can of crushed Hawaiian pineapple. Beat one egg, add four tablespoons sugar, one cup milk and a few grains of nutmeg, and pour over. Bake in a slow oven, 350°, for about forty minutes. Serve warm with sauce made by stirring together the pineapple syrup and some heavy cream. This serves six.

SANTA FE ITEMS

The Santa Fe fireman, who is always hunting trouble in a good natured way, found it last week between here and Goldthwaite. The dispatcher's phone was dead. There was a ground somewhere. We sincerely hope the hunter who in a playful frame of mind shot the glass knobs and wire in two with birdshot will practice on tomatoes in the future.

Bruno, a big black St. Bernard dog, came in by express a day or so ago. The dog has registered papers telling all about his ancestors and why. And, oh yes, he belongs to Jno. M. Scott.

SOMETHING HE DID NOT KNOW

They sat side by side under a vine-clad archway. Her head was upon his shoulder. The cool, scented night was heavy with honeysuckle and fireflies danced to the song of the cricket's chirp. Stars like tiny lanterns hung from heaven's arch.

Suddenly the girl lifted her head from his shoulder and announced: "I can't marry you."

It was so unexpected that it stunned him for a moment. Then struggling for words, he managed to speak: "But you love me?"

"Yes," said the girl, "I do love you, but it is only fair that you know more about me. I have something to tell you."

He had known her since childhood. Her life to him had been an open volume. He remained silent, waiting for her to speak.

"It is something you do not know and you have never suspected." There was an unmistakable sadness in her voice.

To hide his nervousness he lit a cigarette with a gesture men assume when it means nothing. "I suppose you walk in your sleep," he said. It was a struggle to remain calm.

"It is worse than that," she said tremulously.

"Perhaps you are a kleptomaniac," he said after some thought. His cigarette glowed in the dark.

"You are not serious," declared the girl. A shade of suffering overlaid her words.

He waited for her to continue, but she remained silent. Then he sensed that his utter disregard for her seriousness had turned the girl in the other direction. She would never tell him what it was. That would not do, and gathering her in his arms he began reassuring her that nothing in the wide world could ever come between them.

"Are you certain?" she questioned.

"Positively," he answered. Then her pent up feelings burst like a dam. "It's nice," she breathed. "I'm scared to death of them."

THE GREATEST INVENTOR OF THE WORLD DEAD

Thomas Alva Edison, 84, died at his home in West Orange, N. J., before the dawn Sunday, following several weeks of illness.

He was a most famous inventor and he climbed the rugged path of fame from poverty in boyhood to the brilliant success that was his in later years. He is said to have broken most of the success rules and was fired in Memphis, Tenn., by a jealous employer and then went to New York and began his successful career.

Mrs. H. S. Casey, Robert and Mary Sue Casey of Brownwood spent the week end here with Mr. and Mrs. M. E. Casey and in Goldthwaite with her father, J. S. Chesser, and family.

Mrs. C. R. Wilson has had another severe attack of illness since she went to San Saba last week with Mrs. Joekel, who came over to see her sister, Mrs. Wilson, and found her quite ill.

Mrs. Annie M. Wright and daughter, Miss Jen Wright, of Blanket Springs visited in the home of R. H. Patterson Monday.

Mrs. Wm. M. Andress of Bellville made a business visit here the past week end and purchased a new Chevrolet coach, while here. She and her nephew, Lee Masters, drove to her home in Bellville Saturday and Lee Masters returned home Sunday.

Tip Carlisle of Pompey was one among the crowd in town Saturday, looking after business.

Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Tillman have received the pleasing news from their daughter, Miss Reba that she is well pleased at Temple, where she is taking training for nurse. Miss Reba is a fine young lady and will no doubt make good in her chosen profession.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Rice spent Thursday afternoon in Goldthwaite.

Mr. and Mrs. S. J. Casey and children and Mrs. L. J. Vann spent the first of the week in Dallas visiting Mrs. Vann's brother, whom she had not seen in twenty-five years, and while there they attend the Fair and on Sunday attended Rev. Geo. W. Truett's church and Rev. Frank Norris' church in Fort Worth.

INCENDIENCE BURNED

Light at about midnight at the home of T. J. Clendennen was burned with the loss of household furniture and clothing.

The fire was caused by a gas stove, but it is not known whether the roof was falling in. Clendennen was not injured. He and the four children were there and they were with their lives.

FIRST STATE BANK CLOSED FOR LIQUIDATION

The bank here was closed Thursday for liquidation, following a steady withdrawal of funds for several days.

The president and directors of the bank immediately wired the state banking department at Austin and Mr. Barton and Mr. Davis, examiners, were sent here to re-adjust the bank and make examination.

The depositors have been, generally speaking, very considerate, loyal and reasonable and they are asked by the officials of the bank to turn a deaf ear to all the erroneous reports that are whispered in their ears.

The examiners will give you authentic, unbiased information as soon as they complete the tedious work of checking the business.

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

Calendar for October 1931, showing days of the week and dates from 1 to 31.

OPPORTUNITY KNOCKS

If the individual and the family can forget the "easy-money" period which now seems to be behind us...

There has been no period in our day or within our recollection when land could be bought so cheap and at prices which make for a good start in farming...

Thousands of families now in the ranks of the unemployed in large industrial centers, people who sprung from the soil and rushed off to the cities believing that work was plentiful...

Garrett Garrett, in an article published in a recent issue of the Saturday Evening Post said: "Why do people till the soil?"

Evidence that Cuba's sponge industry is one business which has failed to feel any serious effect from the current world depression...

Nearly 40,000 more Mexicans left the United States during the first six months of 1931 than were admitted...

Bladder Weakness Kills Energy. If you feel old and run-down from getting up nights, backache, leg pains, stiffness, nervousness, circles under eyes, headaches, burning and bladder weakness...

THE SOUTH CAN HOLD ITS OWN

No matter what legislative restrictions on cotton acreage may be imposed, the South need not fear the loss of its prestige in cotton production...

The southern states, and particularly Texas and Oklahoma, can produce a cotton desirable staple length, strength and spinning qualities...

In the opinion of Farm and Ranch, Southern farmers are pretty well fed-up on the short staple idea and will go back to better cotton as rapidly as they can procure the seed...

Relative to cost of production, Farm and Ranch believes that with improvement of soil and the use of machinery Southern farmers can and will produce in competition with the cheap labor of the old world...

Fishermen have long known when fish bite best. Now the periods when mosquitoes bite best, or worst, have been revealed by entomologists of the United States department of agriculture...

There are mosquitoes that bite only at night, others that bite only during the day, some that bite best at sunrise and some best at sundown...

The yellow-fever mosquito usually bites close to the ground or attacks from behind, and often crawls under clothing to bite. It bites only in the daytime and is busiest early in the morning and late in the afternoon...

Farmers were urged to hold 1931 cotton for higher prices in a statement issued by J. E. McDonald, commissioner of Agriculture, Banks of Texas, perhaps aided by the Federal Reserve Bank...

The modern woman's hat, with all of its historical significance, after all has become the victim of a historical slip, thinks David Russell of the Southern Methodist University public speaking faculty...

PAINS QUIT COMING

"When I was a girl, I suffered periodically with terrible pains in my back and sides. Often I would bend almost double with the intense pain. This would last for hours and I could get no relief. I tried almost everything that was recommended to me, but found nothing that would help until I began taking Cardui. My mother thought it would be good for me, so she got a bottle of Cardui and started me taking it. I soon improved. The bad spells quit coming. I was soon in normal health."

HAMILTON

County Superintendent O. R. Williams was the recipient of a check for $1,212 as the final payment of state funds for the county schools of Hamilton this week.

After several days of vague and temporizing cloudiness a good rain fell Sunday night and Monday morning, though the fall was below what was considered a "gully washer."

Mrs. Robert Mueller, of near Hurst Springs, last Saturday morning was gored in the abdomen by a vicious cow, that inflicted a severe wound. Altho the wound was several inches long, it was not of sufficient depth to reach any vital parts. While Wm. R. Wallace was tending to his flock of sheep Monday of this week, the herd leader slipped upon him, butted him over and fractured three of his ribs, and gave him several severe bruises.

As a result of a collision with a mad ram last week, Mrs. Porter Clark of near Fairy, sustained a bruise on her hand, which later set up an infection. She is taking treatment from a local physician and she reports that the infection has apparently been checked, and it is hoped that she is on the road to a speedy recovery.—News.

BROWNWOOD

J. Oscar Swindle, former superintendent of schools for Brown county, now of Fort Worth, was a visitor in the city Friday.

Work toward the re-organization of the closed Citizens National bank is progressing nicely, it is seen in a statement made Saturday by Ernest Lamb bank examiner.

Joe Elgar Wright is here from Abilene, recovering from a pistol wound accidentally inflicted. Wright has been here since Thursday. He said Saturday that he received the wound at the Abilene air terminal, where he is employed as assistant manager. The manager of the terminal was indulging in some pistol practice and while holding the gun downward it accidentally discharged.

You may not know it, but you are at least $200 in debt. Every Brown county citizen, man, woman and child, would have to pay that much into city and county treasuries in order to erase the debts of those governments. So, it amounts to about the same thing. The county and city owe $5,285,196.18, or a per capita of about $200, according to County Auditor R. C. Gotcher.

Brownwood's three gins have turned out 88 bales of cotton during the past week. The marked decrease was because of the heavy rains during the first part of the week and again Thursday night when light showers fell throughout this section. The total ginnings for the present show to be 1,653, as compared to 1,565 for the same time last week. Last week the three gins turned out 260 bales.—Record.

Nature Thought of Everything

Nature thought of everything when the human body was made. When the body is about to become ill, nature planned danger signals to warn us. Thus, if our children grip their teeth when they sleep, or lack appetite, or suffer from abdominal pains, or itch about the nose and fingers, we should know that they may have contracted worms. Then, if we are wise, we buy a bottle of White's Cream Vermifuge and safely and surely expel the worms. Thus we avoid the danger of very serious trouble. White's Cream Vermifuge costs only 25c a bottle, express in largest from Hudson Bros. Druggists

MORE DOLLARS PER CAPITA

When it comes to things produced from the soil, Texas, and particularly West Texas, outranks all other states. We lead in oil, in cotton, in wool, in mohair, in cattle, in sulphur and in most of the commercial crops. In fact, the cash value of Texas' crop is 1-8 of the value of the crops in the entire United States.

When it comes to wealth, however, Texas takes a back seat among the other states. We rank thirty-ninth in per capita wealth. Although having one-eighth of the production, we have only one-thirty-ninth of the wealth of the United States.

If wealth comes from the soil as declared by Adam Smith, in his "Wealth of Nations," why is it then that Texas ranks so low in wealth among the other states? The reason is, we do not keep the wealth we create. We ship it to others and give to them the wealth that flows from the manufacturing and distribution of the things we produce.

Instead of shipping to other states more than one million head of cattle each year for fattening and butchering, let's fatten and butcher them in Texas. Instead of letting New England thrive on our wool, mohair and cotton, let's have the manufacturing and distribution done in Texas. Instead of shipping out our feed and grains to other states, let's feed our own livestock with our own feed. Let's turn more of our own grains into finished goods. Instead of railroads building into West Texas to carry our raw materials into other states, let them build into West Texas in order to carry our finished goods, made from our own raw materials into other states.

When Texas does this, we shall keep for ourselves 100 per cent of the wealth we create, instead of keeping for ourselves only 1-3 of it and giving to the other fellow the remaining two thirds. We shall create more and better jobs for the people of our state. We shall give to our small agricultural towns a hope for the future, which they do not now have when depending solely upon an agricultural background. Let's make a triple profit in our own business, the profit from production, the profit from manufacturing and the profit from distribution—West Texas Today.

IMMIGRATION

The department of state reports that the administration policy of keeping out aliens, who may be unable to find work and thus become public charges had brought the exclusion of 146,000 persons in the fiscal year ending July 1. As this policy was not made fully operative until a good part of the year had passed, its results are not adequately shown even in that large number, which represents 68 per cent of the total that, under normal conditions, would have been permitted to enter. The showing for recent months is much more marked. In that period the number of alien arrivals actually has been exceeded by departures. It may be expected, therefore, that with a continuance of the policy throughout the current fiscal year the outcome will be a net loss in immigration for the country, reversing a condition that has practically from the beginning of the nation. The tradition of America as an asylum for the oppressed of all lands finally gave way to restriction, then to rigid exclusion, which may or may not be a permanent policy. But for the time it serves the vital purpose of protecting the American workers from competition and the whole country from a task of relief that might be exceedingly burdensome.—Kansas City Star.

TEN COMMANDMENTS FOR HUSBANDS

1. Remember that thy wife is thy partner, not thy property.
2. Do not expect thy wife to be wife and wage earner at the same time.
3. Think not that thy business is none of thy wife's business.
4. Thou shalt hold thy wife's love by the same means that thou won it.
5. Thou shalt co-operate with thy wife in establishing family discipline.
6. Thou shalt make the building of thy home thy first business.
7. Thou shalt enter into thy home with cheerfulness.
8. Thou shalt not let anyone criticize thy wife to thy face and get away with it, neither thy father, nor thy mother, nor thy brethren, nor thy sisters, nor any of thy relatives.
9. Thou shalt not take thy wife for granted.
10. Remember thy home and keep it holy.—Roy L. Smith, D. D. in Baptist Observer.

THE "HIDDEN QUART"

That Stays up in the Motor and Never Drains Away

OTHER OILS DRAIN AWAY FROM MOTOR PARTS BACK INTO THE CRANKCASE

GERM PROCESSED OIL NEVER DRAINS AWAY FROM VITAL WORKING PARTS

PROVES ANY OIL WOULD BE BETTER OIL IF GERM PROCESSED

Other good oils lubricate working parts after the motor starts and oil is pumped from the crankcase through the motor, which takes several minutes. But Germ Processed Oil stays up in your motor at all times and lubricates working parts safely during the starting period... when almost half of all motor wear takes place! A "hidden quart" stays up in your motor and never drains away. Only Germ Processed Oil can give you this sure protection at all times, because only Germ Processed Oil can penetrate and combine with metal surfaces... an exclusive characteristic called "penetrative lubricity." So you can see... any oil would be better oil if Germ Processed!

But only Conoco makes Germ Processed Oil... for Conoco owns exclusive patent rights for North America. Don't be contented with oil that lacks the germ process. Stop at any station displaying the Conoco Red Triangle and fill with Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil. Save your motor from wear... keep it young and powerful!

Have You Something To Swap?

Is there anything you would like to have but don't feel like buying right now? Then, why don't you offer to exchange something for it? Very likely some of the very things you have about the place but do not need now would come in mighty handy for somebody else.

A LITTLE AD WILL PUT YOU IN TOUCH

People all over the country are swapping things nowadays. Here's a baby bed that Junior's outgrown that is being exchanged for preserves. Someone else is trading an extra set of harness for an auto tire. One man is exchanging feed for pigs, and a woman is offering a phonograph for a washing machine.

SEE WHAT YOU HAVE TO OFFER

Decide what you would like to have in exchange. Then run a little want-ad in the Eagle and practically every family in Mills County will see it.

THIS IS THE WAY TO SAVE MONEY

Turn your surplus into something you need, and you'll have your cash to spend for something else.

CHARLES DORWIN TULLOS

The funeral of Charles Dorwin Tullos was held at the home of his Grandfather Tullos near Goldthwaite in the afternoon of October 16, 1931. C. T. Aley, pastor of Belle Plaine Avenue Baptist church, assisted Revs. Ivins and Renfro, conducted the funeral services. The body was interred in the Goldthwaite cemetery. The following boys, all members of the Belle Plaine Ave. Baptist church, acted as pall bearers: Winfield Smith, Marvin Rogers, Paul Smith, James Hill, Edgar Earl Pate and C. L. Scott. The large audience and the beautiful floral offerings attested the high and tender regard in which the deceased was held. The funeral sermon was appropriate and helpful.

The deceased was born December 16, 1915, and lacked only two months of being sixteen years of age, and was unusually large for his age. He had made his home in Brownwood with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McGarrity since he was four years of age. He was also the adopted son of Mr. and Mrs. McGarrity. He received his schooling in the public schools of Brownwood. He was also a member of the Belle Plaine Ave. Baptist church and was popular and well-liked by the younger people of that community. At the time of his death he was on a visit with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Tullos, near Goldthwaite. He had gone with two other boys in the community of the Tullos home on a large truck to Brownwood for a load of feedstuff, and on the return, a few miles this side of Mullin, he accidentally fell from the moving truck, which ran over him and instantly killed him. Thus suddenly and unexpectedly a young vigorous life was snuffed out and the soul ushered into eternity. The tragic ending of this young life is indeed sad, and yet if we will only permit, God can and will make it an inestimable benediction to us all. Then, may everyone affected by this sad event so relate himself to God as that His will may be wrought out in the character and life of each one of us.

BEAUTY in the HOME

Putting Color Into the Bathroom

WHEN the first of the modern bathrooms began to make their appearance, all white and glistening and spotless they, somehow, impressed everyone with the idea that nothing but white is clean. And then for years there came along the endless vista of white bathrooms, white towels, white bath curtains, white towels, and white toilet seats. If it went into the bathroom it must be white. We have learned somewhat better meantime and the modern bathroom, in a home where taste and discretion are used in decoration, is now quite different. It is a place of colors now, though, because of the materials, it is just as easy to keep clean. Delightful wall paper is to be had with a water resistant finish in many soft tones, just the proper contrast or the proper match for the rest of the color towels are not necessary any more, either. The in sets with pretty colorative motifs on the bath face cloth, and bath in design. The toilet seat is in texture colored various standard white, but roughly waterproof often furnishing the note of the room. The easily cleaned and the pearl effect in color lightful. Window curtains, the latter in water proof of gray coloring, give finish to the modern which no longer make tub seem like a sacred but helps to start tub cheery and artistic
