VOLUME THIRTY-SEVEN.

GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JANUARY 22, 1932.

NUMBER FORTY-FOUR

LIONS MEET

The Goldthwaite Lion's club held their monthly meeting and luncheon at the Goldthwaite Inn on Monday evening at 7:30. The following members and their wives were present: Mr. and Mrs. Roy Rowntree, O. H. Yarborough, Sam Sullivan, Tom Toland, E. D. Stringer, Frank Taylor, Foster Brim, Kelly Saylor, Homer C. DeWolfe and Mr. John Skipper, manager of the Southwest States Telephone Co., local exchange, who the club welcomes as a new member.

The cash prize offered by the club for the best decorated yard or porch Christmas tree was awarded to Mrs. L. E. Miller. Honorable mention for the two next best trees goes to Mrs. W. E. Miller and Mrs. Frank Taylor.

The club gave a vote of thanks to the ladies who helped sack the 500 packages of fruit and candies that were distributed by Santa Claus from the Lion Club tree on the court house lawn.

At the next meeting of the club, the student who makes the highest grades in the eighth, ninth, tenth and eleventh grades, for the six weeks period just finished will be the guest of the club at their luncheon. One student will be selected from each of these grades. This meeting will take place Feb. 15.

The club thanked Mayor Bodkin for the $5 premium money he returned to the treasury. The money was used to buy candy and fruit for the Christmas tree. T. F. Toland, O. H. Yarborough and Homer C. DeWolfe attended the district convention of Lions clubs at San Saba Wednesday.

EXAMINATION FOR

POSTMASTER

The U. S. Civil Service Commission issued an order on Jan. 16, calling for a civil service examination to establish an eligible list from which to select a postmaster for this office. The necessary application blanks can be procured from this office. Apply at postoffice for papers and information relative to this examination. All application blanks must be filed with the civil service commission, Washington, D. C., before the close of business on Feb. 12, 1932.

Very Respectfully,
A. J. HARRISON,
Postmaster.

The above notice does not mean that a new postmaster is necessarily to be appointed and the friends of Postmaster Harrison believe it is a mere matter of form, as the order calling for the examination says in part:

"It is expected that appointments will be made as a result of this examination, unless it is found in the interest of the service to fill any vacancy by transfer or promotion. This is not an examination under the Civil Service Act and Rules, but is held under an Executive order of May 10, 1921, revised May 1, 1929, providing for such procedure."

Mr. Harrison has filled the position of postmaster acceptably to the patrons of the office for a good many years and the patrons of the office will gladly subscribe to a petition to retain him in the office.

ARRESTS TO START FEB. 2, FOR USE OLD AUTO PLATES

After February 1 all persons operating automobiles with 1931 license plates will be subject to arrest, Fred Cullum, Chief Deputy Tax Collector, in charge of the highway department, warned Friday. In addition, all licenses paid after that time will bear a 20 per cent penalty. Cullum pointed out.—Dallas News.

MUCH RAIN

A number of light rains have fallen over the greater part of the county in the last few months, but yet there is not a real season in the ground and but little stock water has been put out. A downpour lasting several days is really needed.

RESIDENCE BURNED

The residence in the southern portion of this city and the household effects of Vernon Tyson were totally destroyed by fire Monday afternoon shortly after one o'clock. The origin of the fire is unknown, but is supposed to have started from an oil stove in the house. The family had eaten their noon lunch at home, after which Mr. Tyson came to the business part of town, the children returned to school and Mrs. Tyson went for a visit to her daughter, Mrs. Nickols. They had not been away from the home long when the alarm of fire was sounded and people hurried to the scene, but the fire had made such progress it could not be checked and it was also impossible to enter the house to save the furniture. Some of the early arrivals entered the rear portion of the building and saved a small amount of meat and possibly a meagre amount of other provisions, but the salvage was very limited.

The building was owned jointly by Mr. Tyson and Joe A. Palmer and there was insurance on the building and a small amount on the furniture, but the loss falls heavily on the Tyson family, as none of their clothing or other belongings were saved.

INVALID BURNED TO DEATH

W. A. Eppes received a message Monday night at 8 o'clock informing him of the death of his mother at Lovington, N. M., and he and his family left immediately in their car for Lovington and are expected home today. Following account of the accident is taken from the daily papers:

Lovington, N. M., Jan. 19.—Mrs. C. L. Eppes, about 70, was burned to death Monday night, when her home was burned about 20 miles northeast of here in the Midway community. She had been an invalid for several years and was living with a sister and brother. About 4:30 o'clock, while the brother and sister were absent, the house caught fire and burned before Mrs. Eppes could be rescued.

Mrs. Eppes was the mother of two girls and two boys, Mrs. Leman Glascock and Mrs. Claude Cox, Lovington; Gorton and Alvin Eppes, Lubbock, Texas. The remains were taken to Plains, Texas, for burial beside her husband.

HIGH SCHOOL ATHLETICS

Due to the depression and unforeseen circumstances, "A Howling Success" has been postponed indefinitely.

The basketball team goes to Brownwood today to take part in the tournament staged by Daniel Baker college.

Interest seems a little low in basketball, but arguments still rage around football.

It has been said that we debate with our minds and argue with our mouths. Debating is recognized as a wonderful training, as it involves much study regarding the topic to be discussed. Argumentation is recognized as the overflow of single opinions minus study.

The County Meet is coming and preparations are being made for entries from our school in all events. Interest is the keynote of success. Nothing can be successful without interest on the part of both the participant and the spectator. DIRECTOR.

A half gallon was drawn and he was greatly relieved. It is believed now he will recover soon.

BUSINESS CHANGE
J. A. Hester has sold his variety store to S. P. Gilbert, late of Ranger, who has already taken charge of the business, altho he is not here in person, but is represented by his wife. He was called back to Ranger on business, but is expected here in the next few days to make this his permanent home. Mr. and Mrs. Gilbert are experienced in that line of business and expect to make large additions to the stock, probably including some other lines. Mr. Hester will be with them temporarily, but has not announced his business plans for the future. However, his friends sincerely hope he and his good family will continue to make Goldthwaite their home.

BAPTIST CHURCH

We had the pleasure of taking dinner in the J. W. Evans home last Sunday. We were well fed, well treated and had a delightful time.

Emily June Evans told her Sunday school teacher that the reason her mother did not come to church, she had to stay at home and cook two chickens, that the preacher was going home with them for dinner.

Dorothy Nell Rudd spoke up and said, "Yes, we are going to have him go home with us as soon as our chickens get big enough." Marvin Rudd thinks his chickens have got to be old enough to vote before they are large enough to go on the table. There is no law against preachers eating ham and eggs.

From all appearances the Variety Store is going to change hands. We regret very much to see Mr. Hester go into other fields of endeavor. He has been one of our foremost business men, always responding to every worthy call to help humanity, in any way possible. We are anxious that he may be able to become engaged in some line of business that will keep him and his family in our midst. We can not afford to lose good citizens. On the other hand, we have plenty of room for good citizens from any other town, and we welcome those that are coming to take charge of the Variety Store, and assure them that they are moving into one of the best towns, and among as good people as any community affords. We say again, welcome to our midst.

We buried one of our oldest citizens last Sunday, as a result of being knocked down by a car driven by unknown party or parties. This ought to be a warning to all of us. We ought to be more careful about fast driving in city limits. Had these parties been driving at a normal rate of speed Mr. Butler would be living, his family not bereaved and the conscience of the one that was driving the car, doubtless would be at ease. Sometimes accidents are unavoidable, but at no time does a man have to drive on, leaving his victim in a ditch.

We believe that the city ordinance against fast driving ought to be rigidly enforced, without fear or favor. Men need not argue that it can't be done. It can be done and will be done if the citizenship will back up the officers. Do not blame the officers when we violate the law ourselves and then raise "sand" if the officers try to enforce it. People, why not respect the law and preserve life?

Suspect we have said too much about law enforcement and had better say something about the Baptist church. Seems that we are moving along nicely. Splendid crowds at every service last Sunday. Let us continue. Dr. Hardy, president of Baylor college at Belton, will speak Jan. 31, at the 11 o'clock hour. Any girl interested in attending college is invited to hear Dr. Hardy, and will be given an opportunity to have a personal interview with him.

Come on, let's have 300 next Sunday. Just have to increase our attendance 46 over last Sunday.

STAR SCHOOL NEWS

Best School In Five Years!

According to statements made by our superintendent, Mr. Gerald, Star is witnessing the most progressive and successful school term in five years. This success, believes this writer, may be accredited to the congenial faculty, the co-operation of the school board and patrons and a strong determination on the part of the student body to take advantage of this opportunity to enhance their foundation for citizenship. Too, special factors are adding their bit to help enrich this year's success, such as the Girls Glee club and public speaking club, sponsored by Miss Coston, the Parent-Teachers association, the primary rhythm band, sponsored by Miss Walton and Mrs. Gerald and a Spanish club.

Highlights Around the High School
The boys' basket ball squad, though young, is making a fairly good record. Out of seven and one-half games, the Tigers have won five and one-half and have lost two. The girls basket ball squad has played three games and has come out victorious in all three. Both squads are young and can not be depended upon for consistent playing, but we are hoping to make a reasonable showing in the county conference games.

Mr. Gerald has selected the senior play "Lovely Mary" and has assigned the parts. This is an annual affair and creates much enthusiasm in the entire school body. We are looking forward with great expectation to this occasion.

The Spanish classes are preparing a Spanish program to be presented during Spanish week, which comes in April. This will be the first all-Spanish program given by the foreign language department.

The first month of school, Miss Lois Coston organized a Glee club, which consisted of sixteen high school girls. The Glee club has been planning entertainments, but very few have been carried out, on account of the disagreeable weather. The Glee club has made an excellent effort so far in accomplishing the aims as laid down by the director.

Happenings in the Intermediate and Primary Grades
Miss Coston's room is doing many things of interest. One project, which this writer thinks needs praise, is a miniature school paper, published by the sixth and seventh grade pupils. Who knows, but what this publication will start a school periodical? Someone has said "From little acorns great oaks grow."

Mrs. Gerald's pupils are doing some excellent work, both in programs and room work. Those making the honor roll this month are Myron Lucas, Lola Verne Waddill, Lula Mae Neighbors, Herman Collier, Ben Dale Cox, Theron Horton and Walden Hurst.

The primary room entertained last Friday morning at chapel. Miss Walton is doing some excellent instruction in the primary room. It is here that the molding of characters receives its first impulse. The writer realizes the task of our primary teacher and wishes to commend her for the remarkable work exhibited.

ART AND CIVIC CLUB

The Art and Civic club met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. L. R. Conro. Mrs. Marvin Hodges was leader and the subject for discussion was "Home."

Mrs. Roy Rowntree gave a very interesting talk on "The Reorganization of the Household and the Home." "The Book House" was discussed by Mrs. J. H. Saylor. Mrs. W. P. McCullough read a very beautiful poem "Home Says" (Dernier).

"The Heavenly Home" sung by Mrs. Sam Sullivan and "I Love a Little Cottage" by Mmes. Bowman, Martin and Clements were much enjoyed by all.

The round table discussion "How I managed my most dreaded household task," was freely discussed by all.

Refreshments were served to the club members and guests. Mrs. Cook, sister of Mr. Claude Eacott, was an out-of-town guest.

LISTEN, FOLKS

We are constantly hearing the cry—No Work! There is lots of work to do. Not more than ever before, but more than has been done before. One is the work of the upbuilding of the Lord's Kingdom here on earth. Once we can get that done, then it will be no trouble to drive out the money changers, as the Lord did. When He drove them out of the temple He told them they had made His Father's house a den of thieves.

We are just wondering, were the taxes as high then as now. We believe in a reasonable tax to defray the cost of our government and we know there is a way to cut down the cost of our present way of running our government. Do away with these Elect men who are qualified to fill the offices. Elect just enough to do the office work and those who will stay there and do the work that we elect them to do, and we can cut out all or the most of this great, big traveling expense, which costs us more than their salaries. When we look at the large appropriations that are made for traveling expenses we wonder if that is why we have no better law enforcement than we have. One would think, by looking at that great traveling expense account and the way our laws are enforced, that we have elected a traveling men's association instead of law enforcement officers.

I write this with no ill will toward anyone, but the time has come when we must talk plain. So let's do it, but we must do it in an agreeable way.

Watch and Pray.

THE EAGLE'S FOE

Airplanes versus eagles might be the title for a new kind of drama about to be enacted in West Texas, where the Fort Stockton Pioneer has this to say:

The eagles of the Trans-Pecos country of Texas no longer will dive into flocks of helpless lambs if an airplane war planned by two Fort Stockton men is successful.

The eagles in this part of the Trans-Pecos fly in groups of four or five and nest in the cliffs. Attempts to kill them have been unsuccessful and airplanes will be tried next spring when the lambs are arriving. It is then that the eaglets appear and the old birds drop down on the lambs, pick them up and take them to their young. The two airmen recently tried their plane at hunting coyotes, and killed a notorious old range pest on the Pryor and Wilson ranch near Tunis Springs.

It was a hunt with dash. The two birdmen took to the chase after a group of ten men traveling in cars 600 feet apart had failed to locate the coyote, a sheep killer.

Then came the plane, which sighted the coyote. Several times the trail was lost when the animal took refuge under mesquite brush. Finally, however, he took to the open hills and was shot from the plane.

SAVES GRANDFATHER

And while a four-year-old girl at San Benito was sleeping beside the road another little girl 11 years of age was saving her grandfather's life by beating off a bull with a club.

The incident took place at Grape Creek near San Angelo. The heroine was Daphna Wagner. Her grandfather, W. H. Brown, was being gored by a bull on the Wagner farm, where he was visiting when the girl seized a club and attacked the creature. The aged man's left hip was gored, his right hip dislocated and one rib broken.

The Eagle can offer inducements in clubbing rates for the next few weeks. The Eagle and Star-Telegram, daily and Sunday, until December 31, $5.50; without Sunday $4.75. This is a short time offer.

Traylor and James Nickols went horse back riding. Until bedtime with W. A. Cooke, and Herbert Saturday night. Claud Smith and wife sat

CHEAP ROADS THAT WEAR

There is naturally a certain amount of question as to the durability of the inexpensive roads, of asphaltic type, which have come into favor in many states.

Here is a case where practice speaks better than theory. Geo. Clow, engineer of Gratiot county, Mich., in commenting on road mix construction, said, "If sufficient motor vehicle traffic is had immediately after construction to give early compaction, it will stand any kind of traffic that complies with the laws of the state of Michigan." In a recent article, A. H. Hankler, state superintendent of maintenance, Indiana, said: "This type of surface fills a missing link in many road programs and it has come to stay. It can be financed in places where a more expensive pavement could not be built. The bituminous retreat pavement type is dustless, will carry an unlimited amount of light, high speed traffic, and even much heavy traffic when built on a good base."

The most remarkable fact about these new surfaces is that they cost four or five thousand dollars a mile to build, where the highest type surfaces cost up to $40,000 a mile. Their maintenance cost is likewise, as a rule, appreciably below that of the latter. It is not an exaggeration to say that these new developments in road building have proven a boon to states, which badly need good roads, particularly in farming districts that were in despair as to how to build them without swelling the tax load to the bursting point.

ACCIDENT PREVENTION

At the end of 1931 we look backward on an automobile accident record of 35,000 fatalities and resolve to do better in 1932.

No problem is more within the control of the individual than that of traffic fatalities and injuries. It is within the power of each of us to become a competent, responsible and careful driver. Nine out of ten drivers merit that classification now. It is the one out of ten who causes the accidents—and he is the one who refuses to heed accident prevention messages.

It is a tragic thing that carelessly driven automobiles can cause more deaths than a great war. Tremendous advances have been made in automobile construction, from the standpoint of speed, of power and of mechanical safety. But advances in the standard of driving have lagged behind. We have built better cars—but we have not developed better drivers to operate them.

Highway safety is made up of many little factors—none of which cost anything. If we resolve to abide by the laws, to lose a minute rather than gain one at the risk of our lives and others', to remember the unwritten rules of courtesy and carefulness, there will not be 35,000 automobile deaths annually—and perhaps there will not be even 3500. Such progress may be too much to hope for in a single year—but every operator of an automobile should remember that it is possible and act accordingly.

RUSSIA TO PLANT 8,000,000 MORE ACRES

Russia plans to sow 348,000,000 acres to crops for harvest next fall—8,000,000 more than last year.

This was reported by the agriculture department. It also said the 1931 wheat crop of Russia, the world's largest producer, "may now definitely be considered a poor one."

The 1932 plan for the spring sown area calls for 252,000,000 acres compared with 241,000,000 last spring. The largest increase in this area, however, will be in industrial crops, such as cotton and flax, with the spring wheat acreage remaining practically the same. Spring wheat is the most important.

"A further significant factor in the situation," the department's Berlin observer reported, "is the announcement of the Soviet authorities that they intend to concentrate on quality rather than quantity."

LIGHT BULB GLOWS FOR HOURS WITHOUT ELECTRIC CURRENT

Light bulbs that glow continuously for six months without electric current to light the filaments may be used for illumination in the future. This prediction was made recently by Prof. Charles T. Knipp, before the American Physical society, after he had outlined his experiments with a bulb filled with nitrogen gas. Afterglow from this lamp has given light for as long as three hours after it had been charged with an electrical flash for one-tenth of a second. Brilliance of the nitrogen lamps was found to increase rather than decrease, over a certain period of time. The flow was described as bright enough to permit reading by its illumination, and yellow in color.

EXACT HEIGHT ABOVE GROUND SHOWN BY ALTIMETER

Actual height above the ground over which the plane is passing, instead of the distance above sea level, is shown by a new height gauge completed by a Vienna inventor. Pilots flying at night and through fogs have complained about the previous type of instrument, which gave no warning when obstructions such as mountains were in the offing. The instrument operates on the principle that the farther away a body is from the earth the lighter it becomes, says Popular Mechanics. The differences are so slight, of course, that amplification is necessary, and this is accomplished mechanically. In tests, the new altimeter detected even the differences between forest and clearing.

C "I've been CHASING YOU 12 miles...."

to tell You You've Lost Your Oil"

Two cars raced along the highway east of Abilene, Texas. The second driver finally overtook the leader and signaled to stop.

"I've been chasing you twelve miles to tell you you've lost your oil," he called to J. W. Bell. Mr. Bell found that a rock in the road had knocked a hole in the crankcase, allowing the Conoco Germ Processed Oil to drain out.

But examination of the motor showed no damage done. The "Hidden Quart" had protected the motor!

Only Conoco Germ Processed Oil offers the extra protection of the "Hidden Quart" that stays up in your motor and never drains away. Only Germ Processed Oil actually penetrates and combines with metal surfaces. You need that extra protection during the starting period, when almost half your motor wear occurs. Oils not Germ Processed drain away, leaving parts unprotected. Germ Processed Oil stays on the job to cut down starting wear, giving your motor longer life, with fewer repair bills. It is the safest, surest lubrication you can buy.

Change to Germ Processed Oil now at the sign of the Conoco Red Triangle.

CONOCO GERM PROCESSED MOTOR OIL
THE HIDDEN QUART . . . THAT NEVER DRAINS AWAY

We neither encourage "dry crankcase" experiments nor guarantee success under all conditions. But unsolicited letters from motorists, now in our files, tell of this and hundreds of other runs with empty crankcases but without damage.

A MOST ACCOMMODATING BEAN

Occidentals who have never poured soy sauce on chop suey or ehov mein or concerned themselves with leguminous forage crops are quite likely to be unacquainted with the soy bean. Far Eastern diet is supposed to be commonly rice and fish, as Down East one is supposed to be fundamentally beans and cod, or our Down South diet hog and hominy. Subtract hominy from hog in the South, or beans from cod in Maine and Massachusetts, however, and you will do less violence to plain fare in those regions than by eliminating soy bean products from the Far Eastern daily ration of rich and poor. A list of foodstuffs derived from this extraordinary legume would fill half a newspaper column. Suffice it to say that it makes a good soup, breakfast food, fresh and condensed milk, cheese, crackers, macaroni, bread, cake, muffins, and biscuit, coffee substitute, infant food and diabetic flour, salad oil, butter and lard substitute and candy. And that is not the half of it, for industrially oils of the humble soy bean enter into the manufacture of glycerin, explosives, printing inks, paint, varnish, soap, celluloid, rubber substitutes and lubricating oils.

Honorably mentioned in the Pen T'seo Chin, the first Chinese record that describes the plants of that country, written in 2838 B. C., the soy bean has helped to fill empty stomachs in the Far East all these many years. We are glad to echo the honorable mention given it 4,769 years ago as a Far Eastern topic that may be discussed without heat. Do we dare to add with all the good will in the world that it is one of the principal sources of wealth in Manchuria (5,351,140 tons produced there in 1930), and that the increase in production in recent years is undoubtedly a result of Sino-Japanese mutual need and co-operation there?—New York Herald Tribune.

PARTNERSHIP

Married life is a partnership—partner comes first.

With this in mind there should be mutual understanding definite principles decided upon before marriage.

Man should be the head of the household to keep his self-respect.

Woman should be the queen of the home to preserve its ideals.

Each with the interests of the others first in mind, it is easier to come to a perfect unity of purpose and its fulfillment.

Children sanctify the home and keep the atmosphere sweeter, make sacrifice easier and hearts younger.

Children mean a threefold interest in home, church and civic life.

Home life is more perfectly balanced when full responsibility is recognized from the start.

Young persons before they marry should have set aside enough to pay for more than the bare necessities.

Through insurance or some other method of saving, young couples should provide against the time when there is likely to be unusual demands upon the family purse.

Such periods should not have the extra worry which comes with the realization of having bills that cannot be met when due.—Houston Chronicle.

THE ONE WHO WINS ALL THE MARBLES MUST DIVIDE AGAIN OR QUIT PLAYING

H. G. Wells attributes much of the world's present woe to the fact that newly-invented machines are doing the work of men.

That is superficially true, but it doesn't get at the root of the matter.

The building of machines to replace men was not the work of a day. The world didn't go to bed without knowledge of machinery and awake next morning to find millions of workmen disposed of their jobs.

Machinery has transformed the world, but the transformation came slowly. Each new machine in turn drove thousands of jobless men into the streets and thus for a time seemed a curse to labor; but increased production meant increased wealth and greater demand, so that in the end there were ten new jobs for every old one lost.

Electric lights and automobiles deprived many men of their jobs, but they developed new demands that gave employment to millions.

Labor-saving machines are a blessing, not an evil. They add to the world's wealth and thus make life easier and more abundant for all.

The fault is not in the machines, but in the way man has used them or permitted them to be used.

Machines make it easier for a few men to get great wealth. If a machine does the work of a thousand men, the owner of the machine has the income of a thousand men. And the thousand men whose work is done by the machine have no income at all.

That is the problem of the machine age—the problem that must be solved if this civilization is to survive.

Prosperity depends on consumption, for without it there will be no production. Men and machine can find work to do only so long as their product is consumed.

There is now no overproduction, but only underconsumption. The owner of the machine though he has the income of a thousand men, can not consume as much as a thousand.

Demand must equal supply. That is, men must consume as much as machines can produce. And the man who can't consume in proportion to his income destroys the balance of the whole economic machine.

If one man has the income of a thousand, and buys supplies for only one, he not only makes the thousand unable to consume anything, but in so doing, halts production of everything the thousand might consume.

Capital suffers as well as labor, for it can make no profit if it isn't producing, and machines will ruin all alike unless a way is found to distribute wealth so that each man's buying power will match his ability to consume.—Robert Quillen in the Dallas News.

WEATHER WISDOM

Sunset Colors—A gray, low-lying sunset, or one where the sky is green or yellowish-green, indicates rain. A red sunrise, with clouds lowering later in the morning, also indicates rain.

Halo (Sun Dogs)—By halo we mean the large circles frequently seen around the sun or moon. A halo occurring after fine weather indicates a storm.

Corona—By this term we mean the small colored circles frequently seen around the sun or moon. A corona growing smaller indicates rain; growing larger, fair weather.

Rainbows—A morning rainbow is regarded as a sign of rain; an evening rainbow, of fair weather.

Sky Color—A deep blue color of the sky, even when seen through clouds, indicates fair weather; a growing whiteness, an approaching storm.

Fogs—Fogs indicate settled weather. A morning fog usually breaks away before noon.

Visibility—Unusual clearness of the atmosphere, unusual brightness or twinkling of the stars, indicates rain.

Frost—The first frost and last frost are usually preceded by a temperature very much above the mean.—Exchange.

BEAUTY in the HOME

It is a principle in good decoration that one motif shall not checkmate another in point of emphasis. Therefore, in spite of the trend toward applied design in boudoir accessories, it is well to first consider the relation of the set to the setting.

Where the dressing table is as definite in design as the one illustrated, plain accessories are better.

Here the lustrous pattern, with its rounded lines and pearly, pale green surface is far more effective against the patterned china flounce of the table than more highly decorated pieces would be. This set, which vaguely suggests pond lily petals on a ruffled lake, comes in three other shades, pastel rose, maize and ivory.

LATE NEWS FLASHES

Charles G. Dawes, former ambassador to England, has been appointed president of the huge two billion dollar reconstruction finance corporation as soon as the bill providing for it becomes a law. Dawes is already forming his organization, and it is believed that it will be able to begin business by Saturday. Fifty millions is provided for loans to distressed farmers and two hundred millions for depositors in closed banks.

500 LEPERS RIOT IN JAPAN, BATTLING POLICE TWO HOURS

Five hundred lepers marched into the city of Kumamoto, Japan, last week protesting against conditions in a sanitarium near there, and threw the city into a panic.

The lepers, blowing bugles and shouting at the top of their voices, reproached the government, charging their sanitarium was unsatisfactory.

Firemen and police repulsed the rioters after a two-hour fight.

CAMPAIGN CONTINUES

There have been a few surprises developed in the county campaign so far and others may come, from time to time. A little more interest is being evinced in the races and as the campaign progresses more interest will be manifested.

Arthur Meyer

The friends of Arthur Meyer have been discussing for some time his qualifications and availability as a candidate for county clerk and this week he makes his announcement for the position. He is a native of Mills county and probably knows more people than most men of his age. He was reared in the Mullin community and spent most of his early life there, coming to Goldthwaite as a young man, when he entered High School. For a good many years he has been employed in Joe A. Palmer's grocery store, where his close attention to business and his courtesy to the public have drawn to him many friends and made many warm supporters for him in this campaign. His business experience well fits him for the position he seeks and he is sure to have the careful consideration of all of the voters.

Jas. Rahl

One of the most popular and best qualified men submitting his name to the voters is James Rahl, who asks to be re-nominated for Justice of the Peace at Goldthwaite, which position he fills with credit to himself and satisfaction to all who have business with him. He has established and maintained a reputation for careful handling of all business in his department, looking into every detail of matters coming under his jurisdiction and administering justice without fear or favoritism. He is so well acquainted with the duties of his office and with the people of this section he has no trouble in dealing out justice and in fulfilling every requirement made upon him. The fine record he has made in this office proves him qualified to fill a higher place whenever he desires to claim it.

Thomas Smith

W. T. (Thomas) Smith is asking the voters to nominate him for the office of County Clerk and in his ambition he has the support of many friends. He is a deserving young man and well qualified to discharge the duties of the office. He is a native of Mills county, having been reared in the Prairie community. All of his early life he worked on the farm and after graduating from college he engaged in school teaching for a time, then returned to college to complete his education. While he is a stranger to many of the voters, he expects to meet them all, or as many as possibly before the day of the primary. He is highly recommended by those who know him and his supporters are enthusiastic in his interest. He is making the race strictly on his own merits and his qualifications for the office.

MELLON ACCUSED

Congressman Wright Patman of Texas in his efforts to impeach Andrew Mellon, secretary of the treasury, charged that Mellon had influenced the state department to recommend a loan to Colombia, after that country had granted an oil concession to one of Mellon's companies. He also accused him of promoting the use of aluminum on government buildings, because he practically controlled the aluminum industry of America. The investigating committee has postponed further consideration of the charges until they have been printed.

SOLDIERS' BONUS BILL IS INTRODUCED AGAIN

Representative Wright Patman of the Texarkana district has reintroduced his bill for payment of the remaining half of the soldier bonus amounting to about $2,000,000,000 and stipulated that the money is to be obtained through the issuance of treasury notes. These notes would be full legal tender, non-interest bearing and non-taxable.

In explanation, Mr. Patman said the proposal would occasion no increase in taxes, but would constitute the kind of inflation the country needs. He said financing through the proposed reconstruction finance corporation will absorb the security market under present conditions and that the veterans do not want to interfere with the economic restoration of the country.

M.Y.P.D.

The Young Peoples Division of the Methodist church has been organized and is at work full force.

A business meeting was held Jan. 14, at the home of Miss Rosa Meek Fletcher. At this meeting the following policies were selected for the Epworth League:

2. To organize the Fellow Workers' Covenant to do personal and group evangelistic work.
3. To conduct a literary-social every month and to encourage wholesome games and amusements.
4. To conduct at least one class during the year in each of the courses of study of the Epworth League.

Each member pledged to keep this policy, and with this aim to work toward it is certain that each will be inspired with a deep confidence in God.

Other phases of the League work were discussed, then a delightful social hour was enjoyed.

The motto of this organization is "All For Christ", and it is the chief purpose of each meeting to strengthen spiritually each one present.

The League meets at 6:30 p. m. each Sunday evening and extends a cordial invitation to all the young people of the community. REPORTER.

The main grounds will now be in a square, and a rectangular tract cut off by the driveway on the north will be used as a ball court.

The residence on the grounds purchased by the board will be sold.

The board was able to make purchase of this property through assistance from the state and should be complimented on this very necessary addition to the campus.

VISIT TO A GOOD SCHOOL

The editor had an occasion to visit L. P. Burkett, superintendent of the Locker school in San Saba county, a short time ago on two occasions, and each time was received by him and his hospitable wife in most gracious manner.

On the first visit he visited in the school and met with his faculty and feasted at the noon hour in the dining room of the domestic science department under the care of Miss Myers. One of the pupils acted the part of the hostess in a most charming manner. Oh boy! How those girls do know how to cook. If you don't believe me just ask the young man that was with me on this occasion.

The school is a six room frame building with a kitchen and dining room for domestic science, a shop for manual training, also a nice four room teacherage, drinking fountain and full playground equipment.

On my second visit I was accompanied by Mrs. J. L. Burkett and John Burkett and all feasted in the home of Supt. Burkett, under the skillful management of Mrs. Burkett.

This is Mr. Burkett's second year in this school and after talking with his school board we feel certain that it will not be his last, if he will stay. He has been teaching for many years and is considered one of the best rural teachers in San Saba county.

G. A. Buchanan and Lehman Knowles looked after business in Goldthwaite Monday.

M. E. Casey and E. L. Burkett have returned home from a business trip to Sudan and Lubbock. At Sudan they saw Henry Fisher, a former Mills county farmer, who this year, with his son's assistance, raised over one hundred bales of cotton and an unusually large feed crop.

Mrs. N. P. Wilson is reported to be quite ill again.

Ben and B. F. Chesser were Goldthwaite visitors Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Hart moved to a farm near Blanket Monday.

L. L. Wilson this week sold his Chevrolet agency to Wayne Reynolds.

Milton Carlisle visited in the Abilene section the latter part of the past week.

Martin Smith and son, W. T. Smith, of Prairie were looking after business here Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Pickens of Prairie visited in the home of Mrs. Mary Campbell and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Barker the first of the week.

Daniel Baker college has extended an invitation to Mullin High school to attend their basketball tournament the 22nd and 23rd of January.

Joe Hefner has been sick for the past week and Woody Carlisle has been looking after Mr. Hefner's filling station during the illness of Mr. Hefner.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Edmondson announce the arrival of a daughter on Jan. 17. The little lady will always keep the same birthday as Benjamin Franklin.

Rev. Bradley Allison preached Sunday and Sunday night at the Baptist church. The fine rain and bad roads kept many from attending services Sunday.

Foreman Wadsworth of Zephyr has just returned from Waco the second time, after giving another blood transfusion to his sister, who has pneumonia.

Mrs. J. L. Farmer is convalescing from a recent illness of a few days duration, her granddaughter, Miss Irma Farmer, is staying with her and nursing her back to health.

Many of the daily papers are suggesting the thrift idea of transplanting shrubs and planting rose cuttings. So much water in the soil now, it's an ideal time to put out the rose cuttings and shrubs, during thrift week.

J. P. Lockridge, a genial ranchman of this section, was in town Monday, looking after business. Mr. Lockridge is now ready for the sunshine to visit this county. The rains were fine, but the grain needs the sunshine.

M. E. Casey and E. L. Burkett have been to the Plains country this week on business. They were accompanied as far as Runnels county by J. A. Fletcher, who will make a visit with his two daughters and son, while there.

Floods in Mississippi, spring in New York and snow in the Rockies might have the regular weatherman stumped, but not so with Rev. J. W. Ramsey. He knew it was going to rain hard, as it did on the 16th, because he had washed his car the day before, the highway had been scraped and he had shined his shoes.

The first quarterly conference of this charge will be held next Sunday afternoon at three o'clock. All officials are expected to be present and any others who may care to attend this session are invited to be present. You are urged to be present, for this is where the business of the charge is transacted. Why not come and learn first hand what the church is at tempting to do.

Jerry Davis and family of Lake Mevritt visited his father, S. H. Davis, Sunday.

Mrs. R. V. Leverett came in on Sunday night's Santa Fe for a visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Spinks.

G. W. Chancellor has accepted a position with Radford Grocery Co. in Brownwood. Mr. Chancellor is a capable, energetic young business man and will make good with this firm.

Miss Verna Lee Barker is making an extended visit with her aunt, Mrs. Horton, in San Saba county.

J. F. Clark and family have moved to Ricker, where he is now employed as section foreman on the Santa Fe.

Mrs. L. J. Smith is convalescing from an attack of influenza. Her mother, Mrs. W. H. Nanny, of Rio Vista, is visiting in their home at present.

W. L. Barker looked after business in Austin the first of the week.

Mrs. J. L. Scott and sons have moved into the S. H. Davis house in Mullin.

C. C. Hancock and W. C. Hancock made a business trip to Gatesville Monday.

M. J. Sanders was able to come to Mullin Monday to receive treatment from his physician.

STRONG DESIRES

William James, the philosopher, wrote: "In almost any subject your passion for the subject will save you. If you only care enough for the result, you will almost certainly attain it. If you wish to be rich, you will be rich; if you wish to be good, you will be good. Only you must then really wish those things, and wish with exclusiveness and not wish at the same time a hundred other incompatible things just as strongly."

That is a fair and honest statement of what can be accomplished if the desire is strong and directly focused on one subject.

Most of us have many mild desires, but no strong desires.

We wish to be rich, but we also wish to live like rich men, while we are in the process of accumulating our wealth. Consequently one desire is neutralized by the other. We find ourselves barely able to live within our income, large though it may be.

Others wish to become leaders in their industry or profession, but they also like to take life easily. If business interferes with golf, they pass up the business. Thus they lead a happy life, without much distinction. They get what they really want, which is freedom from too much trouble and restriction.

Almost every man gets what he wants. He is often dissatisfied, but that's human nature.—Exchange.

NEWS OF THE WEEK

A political association in Dallas has filed a petition of 8,000 names for the recall of the present city government there. The petition is in a bound, locked book, and two guards have been assigned by the petitioners to watch over it day and night until it has been checked by the city secretary. The association claims the city government of Dallas is being controlled by Wall Street financiers.

Representative McFadden, Pennsylvania Republican, who was bitterly assailed last month for his attack on President Hoover in congress, is talking out of turn again. He claims that the two billion dollar credit corporation recommended by Hoover is a "scheme for helping gang of financial looters to cover their tracks."

Former queen Sophie of Greece died in Germany Wednesday. She was a sister of the ex-Kaiser of Germany, who is sick at his home in Holland. He was refused permission to go to her bedside recently.

Japanese rioters in the Chinese city of Tsingtao, where Japanese warships are anchored in the harbor, took offense at an article in a Chinese paper there, which said that the recent attempt on the life of the Japanese Emperor showed Koreans wanted their independence. They wrecked and burned the newspaper plant and set fire to the offices of the Chinese nationalist party. Then Japanese marines from the warships landed and peace was restored.

JAPAN IS KEPT BUSY

Secretary of State Stimson has given to Japan his dictum respecting the Nine-Power Treaty and presumably that country was properly intimidated by the official words of the secretary. But unfortunately there are so many "bandits" in Southern Manchuria that Japan is compelled, presumably against its will, to send additional troops to Manchuria. Also in Northern Manchuria "White Russians" are making so much trouble that, out of pure kindly feeling toward the "Red Russians," Japan is moving troops northward to help Russia to maintain order. Still worse, some Japanese raised a riot in Tsingtao, so that Japanese war vessels felt compelled to land marines at that port so as to save the Chinese from being massacred in their own city by the rioting Japanese. The marines have returned to their ships, but these remain in the harbor.

Tsingtao is the great port on the south of Shantung, possession of which was held by the Japanese for over six years during and after the World War. Pressure was brought to bear on Japan to evacuate Shantung by the Washington conference and it did so, very unwillingly. Now it is again interested in Tsingtao and may have to stay there permanently so as to protect the Chinese along with Japanese life and property. Presumably Tientsin and Foochow will have riots soon that will compel the presence of Japanese troops. Poor Japan! It is kept busy trying to keep the peace in China and has a lifetime job before it.

By all means let us reduce our navy to a minimum. We do not need it any more.—Dallas News.

ROBERT E. LEE

Tuesday of this week marked the one hundred and twenty-fourth anniversary of the birth of Robert E. Lee. It has been over sixty years since his death, at the age of 63, ended his earthly career. In that period of time reputations of other men have been made and lost. The greater the man, in most cases, the greater the zeal with which his detractors have sought to besmire his name and belittle his deeds. But the name and record of Robert E. Lee shines forth unclouded by evil fact or fancy. Says an impartial biographer: "Friends and foes alike acknowledged the purity of his motives, the virtues of his private life, his earnest Christianity and the unswerving loyalty with which he accepted the ruin of his party."

One incident of his career indicates well his unimpeachable integrity. Shortly after the close of the war, when he had retired to the comparative obscurity of the presidency of Washington (later Washington and Lee) University at Lexington, Va., a great New York life insurance company offered to make him the president of that company at a salary fabulous in amount for those days. Many men would have eagerly accepted the offer, if not for the money, at least for the opportunity which the money would afford. But Lee realized that it was his name the company wanted to exploit, and he replied that his name was not for sale at any price.

Half a century later the same company offered a vice-presidency to a retiring president of the United States, and he accepted the offer, apparently without any hesitation.

The life of Lee reads like a tale of chivalry. Born in a renowned Virginia family—his father was the famous "Light Horse Harry" Lee of Revolutionary fame—he married Mary Custis, the daughter of George Washington's adopted son and the grandson of Mrs. Washington. An honor student at West Point, he returned to serve with distinction as its superintendent for three years. In the Mexican War he distinguished himself repeatedly for his bravery and ability and came out a colonel. With Albert Sidney Johnston he fought the Indians here in Texas with marked success.

Then, when his beloved state of Virginia, though he disapproved the step, seceded from the Union, and though he was offered the supreme command of the federal army, he resigned his commission and offered his sword to his native state.

The story of the Civil War is intertwined with that of Lee. How he led his devoted soldier boys to battle, poorly equipped and outnumbered two and three to one, and yet won battle after battle, campaign after campaign, ranks his generalship as unequalled in the annals of American history. Lee's campaigns in Virginia have been studied and admired in every military college in the world.

Finally with his troops bleeding white, their serried ranks unable to close again, his beloved Southland smoking from the angry flames ignited by Sherman's bestial troops, its plantations and homes ravaged by the camp followers of the army in blue, the great Southern Commander was forced to give way at last, and at Appomattox he surrendered to Grant.

Then, as never before, the divine quality of his character manifested itself. Without vantage towards his conquerors, unspoiled by the admiration approaching reverence of his veterans and unstintedly assisting his people to adjust their lives to changed conditions, General Lee spent the remaining years of his life quietly on the campus of the university which now honors his name and protects his ashes.

What an inspiration his life holds for posterity! How happy the lot of any man who thru all his days—whether made bright by earthly honors or clouded by the shadows of adversity—can follow as his exemplar that matchless southern gentleman—General Robert E. Lee.

FRIENDLY FIRES START UNFRIENDLY FIRES

America has encountered its usual seasonal problem this year—that of keeping warm without burning up.

Fires started by faulty heating systems spread rapidly and are extremely hazardous to property. The number of such fires increases with the coming of cold weather, according to the National Board of Fire Underwriters, which also reports that fires from all causes take an annual toll of 10,000 lives and almost a half billion dollars in property in America. In the average dwelling the soot which is permitted to accumulate in the chimney and heating plant not only impairs their efficiency, but is an actual fire hazard. Chimneys may develop cracks, furnaces and stoves may need parts replaced, pipes may rust out and develop holes, which would permit sparks to escape. These or similar problems are also found in other buildings, but on a larger scale. Other factors which would make for safety are placing ashes in metal containers instead of wood boxes or cartons, and keeping paper and rubbish away from stoves or furnaces.

Sometimes when houses are built, pipes are placed too close to burnable materials or the heating system is improperly installed. Specifications for correct installation of these plants and the building of chimneys may be obtained from local inspection bureaus or insurance agents. When the heating element is electricity, oil or gas, an entirely new series of problems is developed, and unless the appliances comply with the standard specifications of Underwriters' Laboratories and are maintained correctly, destructive fires may result.

If every property owner would become his own fire inspector, the fire loss could be permanently reduced overnight.

THRIFT POPULAR AGAIN

For nearly a generation the idea of spending less than you earn has been disparaged. There are fathers and mothers of families whose memory does not go back to the days when thrift was regarded as a virtue. The protagonists of business at any cost pooch-pooched the policy of constructive economy for one of allegedly constructive spending. They harped on Henry Ford's unfortunately unqualified statement that a man should not save before he is forty. They developed a philosophy of "dynamic spending." Their slogan was "Spend for prosperity." Their argument was that workers could not receive high pay unless buyers spent freely.

This argument is so subtle that only persons capable of understanding economic processes can see the fallacy. The fallacy is that money saved, and not hoarded, is returned to circulation via savings, with the effect of lowering money rates, thereby facilitating lower prices and thereby widening the circle of buyers. But the final answer is that national wealth is the result of saving, not spending. Its total can be no greater than the sum of individual saving.—Alexander Hamilton Institute.

FAKE RADIO DETECTOR ON TRUCK SENDS FANS HURRYING FOR PERMITS

In England, where the owners of radio sets are required to pay for licenses to receive broadcasts, so many attempts were made to evade this regulation that the British authorities recently launched a campaign against unlicensed listeners. A truck fitted with a formidable array of instruments and a shiny swivel aerial on the roof, was hauled through the streets, making frequent stops, while a crew of men twirled the dials and twisted the aerial. Frightened by the activities of these radio sleuths 80,000 persons who had been using receivers without licenses hurried to obtain them. At the close of the campaign, the London Express told that the truck was a fake and could detect nothing. The hoax was intended only to scare set owners to buy their licenses.

TAXATION

Every man in this county believes in an equal distribution of tax levies and we all owe it to our government to pay our just proportion of the taxes for the many benefits that we receive from our government, but I see in the press, where some of the counties of this state are reducing the rendition, some as much as 29 million dollars, and it behooves us to get our rendition reduced, for if we do not we will pay an unjust share of the cost of our state government. Now I contend that when the rents will not pay taxes and a reasonable amount of interest on the investment that the rendition is too high. We know that it takes a certain amount to run our county and state. I think that we ought to lower our rendition, even if we have to raise our county rate. I do know in the past two years that the rent on my mother's place has not paid the taxes and I claim that it is rendered too high. We have a tax commission trying to find out what's wrong, but thus far does not know what it is all about. Our national, state and county governments are clamoring for more taxes and frankly state do not know where it's coming from. I do know that the farmers have done all they can. Think about this tax problem.

10,000 FAMILIES IN CITIES IN OKLAHOMA GO BACK TO FARMS

A "back to the farm" movement, which began in 1930, has resulted in the exodus of 10,000 families from Oklahoma cities, county farm agents and farm loan companies estimate. So great has been the exodus agents said, that few desirable farms now are available in the state.

The movement county agents said, is directly traceable to unemployed in the cities. Many families with their incomes suddenly cut off, moved to the farm for a livelihood.

WHITE ELEPHANTS

In every household there are numerous articles that have outlived their usefulness, but are still too good to throw away. Virtual White Elephants. WHY NOT SELL THEM FOR CASH? BEAUTY in the HOME

In decoration, as in dress, it is the little things that count, and the most sophisticated of the lesser furnishings now used are notably refined and simple in color and design, like the accessories of a French woman's toilette. The little group of accessories shown in the photograph, which is friendly to the powder, with its twin lamps of ivory, is in the Adam pattern, blue on pearly tan. Two other combinations, for rooms where color schemes are different, are rose or Nile green on tan.

BIRTHPLACE OF ICEBERGS

Beset by terrific gales, threading a precarious passage between scores of floating ice mountains and groping her way through dense fogs, the 125 foot coast-guard patrol boat, General Green, last summer made her way into Baffin Bay, to the very birthplace of the icebergs.

It is with the hope of bettering the splendid service of the iceberg patrol that the birthplace of the bergs has been invaded. Eventually it is hoped there will be sufficient data to enable prediction well in advance of the number of bergs to be expected, the places where they will invade the steamer lanes and the course they will take. To arrive at this end the iceberg experts are going right back to the source of the ice mountains to learn what conditions foster a great "calving" of bergs by glaciers and what conditions determine the route taken by them in their long journey south, where they become a menace to shipping.

The world holds few more awe-inspiring spectacles than the movement of icebergs out of Jacobshavn fjord, into Disko bay, on the west coast of Greenland. Jacobshavn glacier is the world's greatest mother of icebergs, the experts claim. On the average, it calves more than 1,350 bergs each year. The Jacobshavn fjord is a giant trough in the solid rock, four miles wide and running back fifteen miles inland, between high precipitous walls, to the front of the glacier. When the investigators ran the prow of their little craft into the mouth of the fjord, they were met by an impassable wall of bergs.

The hunters made their way afoot to the top of the rocky bank. As far as eye could see in the fjord, icebergs were packed tightly, row on row, a breathtaking aggregation of white pinnacles and domes. They estimated that the great rock-walled trough held between 4,000 and 6,000 icebergs.

The movement of the bergs is not a steady march. Most of the year, they lie there, packing tighter and tighter. About once a month they move.

At first the onward surge is barely perceptible, but the pace increases minute by minute, until the bergs are careening along at five to eight miles an hour.

When they will start and what starts them are as yet unfathomed mysteries. The experts are inclined to believe that an accumulation of water, caused by the melting of the surface of the glacier, gathers in sufficient weight to sweep the bergs forward.

This is one of the problems that the coast guardsmen wish to solve. If they can ascertain the conditions that cause the discharge of bergs into Disko bay, it will be an important point in predicting the number that will reach the steamer lanes at any particular time.

GERMANY PRECIPITATES THE CRISIS

Germany's flat announcement that she can not continue to pay reparations brings to a head the biggest post-war problem in the world.

Three important questions are immediately raised: What will France do about it? What will Great Britain do about it? And what will these and other European nations do about their debts to the United States.

As to Germany's situation, even the layman residing half way around the world from Berlin has no difficulty in understanding it. The records show quite clearly that for every one dollar in reparations paid out since the war by Germany she has borrow $1.60. Now that loans from foreigners have come to a complete halt, there can be no possibility of her continuing payments as heretofore, if at all.

The theory behind past arrangements—if a logical theory existed—was that foreign loans could be so used as to increase industrial efficiency and productivity in Germany that the German people would thereby be enabled to pay off the huge debts loaded on them. The plan worked partially. German industry was rehabilitated until Germany had the best machine in the world, operated by a low-paid but highly intelligent and efficient man power. As German products came more and more on the market, however, tariff walls went up everywhere to keep them out of the various countries. Each nation saw the need of protecting its own industries and workers against this flood of German goods. So the very purpose of financing Germany was defeated by the nations which had helped in the financing.

Today more than one-fourth of all Germany's workers are idle. Thus is the German denied the opportunity to work, although his recent conquerors are demanding the production of vast quantities of goods for the payment of war-imposed debts.

What then will France and Britain do? Either can invade Germany with armed forces, occupy territory, impose its will in a thousand ways. But what will it get them? If they receive payment for the actual costs of the occupation they will be lucky.

Soon, in any case, will come the test of the oft stated intention of France and most of the other European nations to stop paying on their debts to the United States. The Young plan was drawn with that idea specifically in mind. The German reparations are divided into two parts, "conditional" and "unconditional" with the sums classified as "conditional" exactly equaling the sums due the United States.

But now comes Germany averring that not only can she not make the "unconditional" payments, but that she can't make any payments at all. Possibly she will be led to modify that view somewhat, but there can be no doubt that the payment of the "conditional" reparations is at an end for many years to come, if not forever.

So the time has come when a new deal must be had all around. The framing of it may be a very painful affair, but it will at least give the world a new start, and presumably a sane one.

With that, a new structure of prosperity and of peace can eventually be raised.—Huntsville Chronicle.

MAN REPORTED DEAD TESTIFIES IN VOTE HEARING

At Birmingham, Ala., a 'dead man' came back Tuesday to testify for Senator John H. Bankhead, whose election in 1930 is contested by his predecessor, J. Thomas Heflin.

A Heflin witness testified at hearings conducted by a commissioner for the senate elections sub-committee last week that the name of Jno. W. Moore appeared on an absentee ballot in the election, although he had been dead some time.

Mr. Moore came forth in the flesh at the opening of Bankhead's rebuttal testimony Tuesday morning and proclaimed he is "very much alive."

ANOTHER YEAR OF LIVE AT HOME

The production of food for the family and feed for the farm animals, which was so successfully practiced throughout the Southwest in 1931 will probably be continued this year. It is an economic measure that contributes both to the health and the pocketbook. Those farm families, who conserved food in cans and jars last year, will continue in the same work in 1932. Their example will be followed by thousands of others, and the records made in 1931 will be broken with the addition of millions of cans in the pantries of Southwestern farmers.

The work of the home demonstration division of the Extension Service in the matter of making the farm self-sustaining insofar as food for the family is concerned, is outstanding. It should continue to receive encouragement, for there is yet need for educational programs and demonstrations. The time will come, we hope, when canning, preserving and the curing of meats will become of general practice on all farms in the Southwest. That time has not yet arrived. There yet remain thousands of farm families, who are ready to welcome the home agent and who will listen willingly to her instructions. It is the plan of the Extension Service to reach 85 per cent of the farm homes this year.

The canning of food products on the farm is primarily for the purpose of providing a varied, balanced menu for the farmer and his family. Three appetizing meals a day is not without its influence in making a good farmer better and a poor farmer, good. The money saved by the production and conserving of food for home use is often equal to the amount received from the cotton crop. Thus the work becomes of economic value by contributing to the farm income.—Farm and Ranch.

ROAD WORK NEVER DONE

Road construction and road work are never done.

We have built thousands of miles of fine highways. But the inexorable march of progress makes more and still more roads necessary. The increased mechanization of agriculture has made it vital that the millions of farmers now living on unimproved roads be given means for fast, efficient and economical transport.

It might be said that a road dollar has never been entirely wasted. There have been "political" roads and there has been uselessly expensive construction in areas where there was no need for it. These things must be discouraged. But every time we build a road we are adding another stone to the structure of our civilization. We are making possible a higher economic and social development for our people. Modern engineering practice and materials have made it possible to build weatherproof, surfaced, secondary roads for a fraction of the cost of hightype main highways. Their construction is the solution to a pressing problem.

MR. BUTLER DEAD

Mr. Thos. W. Butler, aged 74, died in the hospital in Brownwood last Saturday afternoon and his remains were brought here and interred in the cemetery at this place Sunday afternoon, a large number of sorrowing friends and neighbors attending the sad service.

Mr. Butler was fatally injured by a hit-and-run automobile driver near his home, in the northern suburbs of this city, on the Priddy highway Jan. 6. He was hurried to the hospital with the hope that his suffering might be relieved and his life saved. It was found his leg was broken and he was otherwise injured to such an extent that his recovery was impossible.

Mr. Butler was a long time resident of this city and prior to moving to town he owned a farm a few miles south of the city on the San Saba road. He was a native of Hays county and leaves two sisters, one brother and possibly other relatives in that county. He was universally liked and was a good man.

He is survived by his wife and one son, Frank, besides other relatives and all who know of their bereavement deeply sympathize with them in their sorrow.

TEST FOR PLATINUM OR GOLD TO BE MADE

A test to determine whether or not gold and platinum exist in quantities sufficient to justify mining is being drilled on the H. B. Wallace place in Coke county about one and one-half miles south of Robert Lee, the county seat.

These minerals appeared in samples for a test drilled earlier in the same vicinity and led to the leasing of land from Wallace, J. S. Craddock, F. M. Andrews, and Dr. F. K. Turner, the latter of San Angelo. Rice Lynn and J. C. Lynn are interested in the exploration, a San Angelo report states.

$115,000 MORTGAGE ON FAMOUS HOME OF LEE FAMILY IS PAID

At Richmond, Va., the $115,000 mortgage on Stratford, ancestral home of the famous Lee family of Virginia, has been paid off through a loan from an unnamed interested person.

The loan was made to the Robert E. Lee Memorial Foundation, without interest or time limit, for the specific purpose of liquidating the mortgage.

The United Daughters of the Confederacy have pledged $50,000, leaving a balance of $65,000 to be raised by the various states under the Robert E. Lee Memorial Foundation.

It was three years ago that the purchase of Stratford was made—the total price for the old mansion being fixed at $240,000. The deed conveying the property to the foundation was signed on July 19, 1929, in the room in which Richard Henry Lee and

S. S. Tanner, examiner for the Farm Loan Board, was here this week looking after his official duties. He was accompanied by his wife.

Mrs. F. C. Smith has been visiting the Hereford family in Bulls Springs community this week.

Hud. Hamilton entered upon his duties this week as night watchman in this city, taking the position made vacant by the resignation of Pete Burks.

Robert E. Lee were born. The estate contains 1100 acres and fronts on the Potomac river for about two miles. It is about 90 miles below Mount Vernon.

Stratford Hall is the only home in America in which two signers of the Declaration of Independence were born.

They were Francis Lightfoot Lee and Richard Henry Lee.

BEAUTY in the HOME

Crisp Curtains for the Sleeping Room

HOME furnishings with a distinct period feeling, bugbears to the housewife, who never is quite sure whether they "go" well with the rest of a room, are not so embarrassing as one might think, as is delightfully illustrated in this sleeping room which combines the French Provencal and early American spirit.

The permandy curtains, a most important adjunct to any room, furnish the note to which the remainder of the apartment is tuned. They are ecru marquisette in a bel-marque finish which is a chemical treatment of the yarn that gives it the necessary crispness and permanency. Colonial brocade and a touch of color from the Kentucky mountains all go to help. Mixing one's periods doesn't matter, on the contrary, sometimes it helps out the light cream color of the Provencal wall paper which has a small pattern of blue and orange dots. No drapes are used but such a window might well have overdrapes as well.

The furniture is of French design in maple and the lamp-wick bedspread is covered with a Kentucky coverlet. Braided Colonial rug, pewter and an old-fashioned clock add to the quaint charm of the place.

So, here is a room furnished very simply but with a beauty all its own, a personality, in fact, which naive furniture from the south of France, American contemporary, Colonial brocade and a touch of color from the Kentucky mountains all go to help. Mixing one's periods doesn't matter, on the contrary, sometimes it helps
