BAPTIST CHURCH

When you read these lines our meeting will be practically over, and many who are reading them and live in town have not yet attended a single service. Let me appeal to you to attend everyone of the rest. You will be greatly benefited. Remember no morning service Saturday, but the regular night service.

Next Friday, August 19, the Mills county Baptist Association convenes at Rock Springs at 10 a. m. Let every church be represented and be on time. The first thing that will be done is the reading of the letters, and then entering into a permanent organization. For the last two years we have finished in one day, but it is likely we will have a night session and maybe Saturday. Let everyone make arrangements to stay for a night session and then come back Saturday if necessary. We will have a number of good speakers and everyone will be given an opportunity to speak.

G. C. IVINS, Moderator.

Teacher's Institute Sept. 1-2

New Members Are Named for County School Board.

At the August meeting of the Mills County School Board, September 1 and 2 were set as the dates for the Mills County Teachers Institute. The institute will be held in Goldthwaite and an interesting program is being prepared.

The County Board named B. F. Egger to represent Hanna Valley, W. H. Freeman to represent Ridge, and J. T. Robertson for Rock Springs.

The county's per capita school allowance was increased from 25c to 40c, the increase coming from interest received on the permanent school fund of the county. As the state per capita payment for the next school year has been set at $16, and the deduction for administration is 15c, the net amount the schools will receive is $16.25 per capita. Approximately $10,000 state aid will also be paid to 18 of the schools in this county.

High School Tuition Is Paid By State

County Judge Roy Simpson has announced that the school fund has received a voucher from the state for $1035, which represents 60% of the $1725 sought for county high school tuition. All of the applications from high schools in Mills county were approved, but the funds appropriated by the legislature were insufficient to pay more than 60% of the applications filed.

High schools to which the money will be paid are: Goldthwaite $692, Mullin $153, Center City $63, Star $11, Pompey $39 and Indian Gap, Hamilton county, $77.

Supporters of Governor Sterling in his race for a second term have formed a live organization in Mills county to co-operate with the district headquarters at Brownwood.

Precinct chairmen who have already agreed to serve include G. W. Jackson and Mrs. E. B. Anderson, Goldthwaite, precinct 19; J. F. Robertson and Mrs. Eula Nickols, Rock Springs. Each voting precinct will be represented and rallies and speeches will be held in every section of the county within the next two weeks. Sterling supporters are requested by the chairman to get in touch with the committee so as to assist in the organization of their precincts.

Mrs. Ross Sterling and Hon. Sam McCorkle, Mexia district attorney, will address Mills county voters in Goldthwaite at 3 p. m. Saturday, August 20, in behalf of Governor Sterling's candidacy, district headquarters have advised the Sterling leaders here.

News in Brief

Events of the Week In the U. S. and Abroad.

Many Dallas women who have received flour from the Red Cross do not know how to bake bread. A free school has been started by the Red Cross to teach them.

First cotton bales are reported this week from Dallas, Sulphur Springs, Honey Grove, Bonham, Waco and Beaumont. Cotton has been marketed in the Rio Grande valley of Texas for more than a month.

A slight attack of food poisoning sent Governor Sterling to bed at the mansion in Austin Wednesday. Speaking dates were canceled for the remainder of the week. The governor has been averaging ten speeches a day lately.

Two outstanding political events took place yesterday. Gov. Roosevelt of New York listened to Mayor Walker of New York defend himself of charges of graft. President Hoover in Washington delivered his acceptance speech and outlined his position on prohibition.

Mrs. Hattie Caraway, only woman senator at Washington seems sure of a six year lease on the job thanks to Senator Huey Long, self-styled Kingfish of Louisiana, who stumped Arkansas for her. She received nearly as many votes as all six of her male opponents.

Sherwood Anderson, famous American novelist, and two other well known writers dropped in at the White House Wednesday to tell President Hoover he had been too rough on the Bonus Marchers. But the president was so busy seeing Boy Scouts and school children he couldn't meet the writers. Meanwhile the baby whose parents claim was gassed

Rising Markets Increase Values In Mills County

Cotton, Grain, Hogs and Cattle All Worth More Than a Few Weeks Ago.

At least a half million dollars have been added to the value of Mills county cotton and grain by the steady rise in the prices of these commodities within the past several weeks. It is estimated by W. C. Dew, president of the Trent State Bank. While there is practically no cotton of last year's crop left on hand in the county, the new crop will begin to reach the market by the end of this month, and if present prices hold, this crop will bring at least $100,000 more than at the low prices registered last month, Mr. Dew says.

Cattle and hogs have also shown marked advances, and while the top prices for cattle are offered for feeder stock, prices of all grades have been benefited.

Prices of stocks on the New York exchange have made sensational advances. Although these prices have no direct bearing on Texas business, they are important as showing the general opinion that the turn has come in business conditions, and the outlook is now hopeful for steady improvement.

BIG WELCOME FOR BABE

Babe Didrikson, famous girl athlete from Dallas, who has won 92 gold medals and a flock of world's records including two firsts in the Olympic Games at Los Angeles was given a Lindbergh welcome, when she arrived in Dallas yesterday. And the poor girl who could run rings around most men in an athletic event was too embarrassed to talk. Yes or no was as much as she could muster at one time.

Commissioners Court Holds Budget Hearing

Assessed Valuations Shrink Twenty Per Cent Estimated Expenditures Slashed

WILDCATS AND RATTLESNAKES

How many wild cats and rattlesnakes will be killed in Mills county next year? You may think that a foolish question, but it is just one of a great many serious questions the county judge and commissioners court have had to answer before they could complete the county budget now required by law.

Mills county pays a bounty of $2 for wild cats and 10c for rattlesnakes, and believe it or not, it took $250 last year to pay for them. The court has budgeted the same amount for next year. So if you don't think that is enough, speak up quick. But be sure to tell the court where to get the extra money if you want more.

New Ballots Are Printed

The official ballot for Mills county in the second primary to be held Saturday, August 27, has been announced by the county executive committee. The ballots have been printed and a supply delivered to County Clerk Lewis B. Porter for the use of absentee voters.

The only county officers to be voted on are commissioners for precincts 2 and 3.

Mills county taxpayers were invited to a cutting party last Monday, but for some reason nobody came. The occasion was the annual public hearing on the county budget held by the commissioners court at its regular August session. With the county income drastically reduced, the court had to slash deep into its expected expenditures so as to avoid going into the red.

Assessed valuations in Mills county this year are nearly a million dollars less than in 1931, to be exact they are only $4,515,000, as compared with $5,355,000—or about one dollar out of every five less this year. As the court does not plan to increase the 60c tax rate, this means an estimated revenue of $5000 less.

This year 71% of the taxes have been collected. If there are more delinquents next year, there will be still less cash to spend. Besides this, the court is looking for a decided decrease in automobile registrations and a corresponding reduction in the funds available for road work in each precinct.

To meet the situation the commissioners court has already cut county salaries $1350, and appropriations for every department have been pruned sharply. The public hearing required by law was for the purpose of allowing every taxpayer an opportunity to see where the tax money was to be spent and give him an opportunity to object or make suggestions. Since the public did not take advantage of this opportunity, it is apparent that it is willing for the commissioners to work out the problem the best it can.

One bright spot in the budget is the fact that Mills county has only $25,000 in bonds outstanding, and consequently no heavy interest and sinking fund payments to meet. In many other counties all of the available cash is required for the bonds and no money is left for the operation of the county.

The budget is now on file with the county clerk and is open for inspection by any taxpayer. Another copy must be sworn to and filed with the state comptroller in Austin.

BACK IN 1873—

In 1873 a year of real depression a leading dry goods store in Philadelphia published the following:

"People often wonder how it is that we do so much business when other houses are dull. There is nothing strange about it.

1. We advertise what we have for sale.
2. We have for sale what we advertise.
3. The people come and see that it is so.
4. The people buy our clothing because they are pleased with the guarantee we make.
5. The people are satisfied that they get full value for the money they leave with us and they come again and send their friends."

That was nearly 60 years ago and the man who said it was John Wanamaker. He is dead now, but the Wanamaker stores in New York and Philadelphia are still doing business and still advertising what they have for sale.

LAMPASAS MAN BUYS MOST MOHAIR

The state's mohair clip is about gone, if, in fact, all of it has not been moved. Tom Richey of Lampasas, buyer for A. W. Hilliard and Son of Boston, acquired this year 5,500,000 pounds, perhaps the largest quantity taken by any single firm, outside of the co-operative, since there have been goats in the southwest. Studley and Emery got the Mertzon clip and that of the Junction Cattle Loan Co., on consignment. The Oriental Textile Mills of Houston got about 150,000 pounds from several buyers, Ryder and Brown are reported to have taken the 250,000 pounds of Frank Montague of Bandera. Mr. Montague got the clips at Comfort and a few other points. The clip totaled about 6,750,000 pounds this spring. Some warehouses are urging customers not to shear their goats this fall while in the Uvalde country the sentiment is to shear. In the meantime a good many goats are being

TEXAS LEGISLATURE TO MEET NEXT MONTH

A special session of the legislature to meet Monday, Sept. 19, for the sole purpose of relieving the taxpayers of the road bond debt burden appeared a certainty as the result of an authorized statement from Gov. Ross S. Sterling made public at Austin Tuesday at the executive offices. The governor's statement said the session is certain and that it would be convened immediately after the Lubbock state convention starting on Tuesday, Sept. 13. Since it is not the custom to convene sessions in midweek the inference is that it will be called for the following Monday, hence the suggested date of Sept. 19.

According to his statement the governor believes the legislature can finish its single objective in "less than a week." That would be remarkable for a Texas legislature, which is known to invariably prolong its sessions.

At this special session of the legislature, the senate will have the duty to confirm Governor Sterling's appointees named since the close of the last legislative session.

These appointees will accordingly be passed upon by the senate as it is now constituted, not by the senate that will serve after January.

Should the senate refuse to confirm, the number of appointments to be made by Mr. Miriam A. Ferguson, if she defeats Sterling, would be increased.

Appointees of Governor Sterling waiting confirmation by the senate include: John Wallace of Teague, member of the state board of control, who was named to succeed Roy Tennant. Tennant had been appointed on the board of Mr. Ferguson during her former term.

Raymond Mauk, member of the state board of insurance commissioners.

Charles N. Shaver, state superintendent of schools.

Ernest O. Thompson, state railroad commissioner.

Thompson is in a run-off for the elective term as railroad commissioner with former state treasurer, W. Gregory Hatcher. Shaver apparently was defeated for the Democratic nomination for the state school superintendency.

SAM COCHRAN AT 77 PASSES TEXAS BAR EXAMINATION

Sam P. Cochran of Dallas, nearing his 77th birthday and known all over the state of Texas as a leader in fraternal, educational and insurance matters, went to Austin a few weeks ago and took the bar examination in a class numbering over 200.

Having passed the examination, Mr. Cochran appeared before a special assembling of the supreme court recently, where the chief justice, in the presence of his two associates and three members of the commission of appeals, administered to him the oath of the Texas bar association.

At the conclusion of the ceremony Chief Justice Cureton said: "It is a very great pleasure to this court, Mr. Cochran, to assemble for this occasion. We think what you have done, both on this occasion as well as through your life, should be an example to the youth of this state for many years to come."

"In your later years you came here as an ordinary student and passed these examinations. I hardly know of another of its like in history. The only man in history of whom I am reminded at this time is Cato, that great Roman senator who, after he was 80 years old, took up the study of Greek."

moved by trucks from the Rock Springs country to the area below San Antonio. There they are sold to Mexicans, the seller heading the goats on the right, of-way of the railroads or else where in town until they make a sale. A large number of goats have been disposed of in this manner.—Sam Ashland in San Angelo Standard-Times.

Reduced 30 Lbs. Never Felt Better

Safe Way to Lose Fat

Take the case of Miss Madeline Crowley, for instance, who lives in Little Rock, Ark. Just read her letter:

"I have used Kruschen Salts for one year—when I started I weighed 140 pounds—now I weigh 110 pounds and never felt better in my life."

That's the big reason a host of men and women take Kruschen to lose weight—as the fat goes you gain in health—skin clears—eyes grow bright—activity replaces indolence.

Take one-half teaspoonful of Kruschen in a glass of hot water every morning before breakfast—cut down on fatty meats, potatoes and sweets—a jar of Kruschen that costs but a trifle lasts 4 weeks—get it at any drugstore in the world—but for your health's sake demand and get Kruschen Salts.

TEXAS RELICS IN MUSEUM

The responsibility of caring for the relics of Texas history rests with the University of Texas Library, the state library, the Daughters of the Republic of Texas Museum in Austin, the Alamo and Witte Museum in San Antonio. Those in the San Antonio museum include legal documents and relics of every period of Texas history, and among the most important are those relics of Texas as an independent nation. The most important articles in this group have been assembled to give a graphic picture of the story of the short-lived but great nation.

One of the very valuable articles in the collection is a tattered yellow copy of the Telegraph and Texas Register, a newspaper which survived longer than many others of that period. This copy carries a date line "San Felipe de Austin, Saturday, March 12, 1836." It published the important news that the Declaration of Independence had been adopted ten days previously. This was the only newspaper published in Texas at that time and it carried the names of the signers of the declaration.

In the Houston collection are two portraits of Gen. Sam Houston made from life, one an oil painting, the other a photograph. Both are contained in the museum case as are several pieces of silver presented Gen. Houston by citizens of New Orleans when, after the battle of San Jacinto, he went to that city for medical treatment of wounds suffered in the battle. A silver coffee pot is part of a silver service made for Mrs. Houston from silver dollars paid Gen. Houston as a pension for his services in the U. S. army during the war with the Creek Indians.—Santa Anna News.

Houston Chronicle subscribers whose subscriptions have expired or will soon expire can get a mighty low rate on renewal at the Eagle office.

A TRIAL will prove to you what more than a million housewives already know—that Faultless Starch is the perfect starch.

UTILIZING UNEMPLOYMENT

Gov. Roosevelt's proposal that 1,000,000 men be put to work on reforestation may be unworkable, but the principle is sound. If this country has got to support and care for large numbers of men, either temporarily or permanently, it ought as far as possible to give them an opportunity to earn their keep at useful work. The charity aspect ought to be eliminated as far as possible. There is an immense amount of work to be done in this country outside of regular business or public service channels. Public and private forests everywhere need cleaning up in the interests of forest fire prevention. There is scarcely a county in the country that does not need some work on its public roads of a manual nature; so also with parks, recreation grounds, stream channels, drainage ditches, fences and railroad right of way. In times past it has even been proposed that work armies be regularly maintained solely for the purpose of giving all young men a turn at useful manual labor.

Could not a large part of the $300,000,000 the federal government is going to lend states for unemployment relief be applied in this way? Idleness is not the least of the evils of unemployment. Millions of good men are losing their morale. Regular useful work in the open air would help them to retain their moral and physical health. While they work would be useful the fact that it is not the sort of work that is commercially productive or absolutely necessary would not interfere with existing business or employment. The country would reap social benefits for which it would be paying and the men so assisted would be benefitted beyond the mere provision of shelter and subsistence.—Magazine of Wall Street

CONGRATULATIONS FROM COLORADO

The Denver Post is the leading newspaper of that great plateau region which includes half a dozen states. The 342,000 subscribers of this daily, published in the high hills of the Rockies, are "sold" on Texas, mainly because Fred G. Bonfills, publisher of the Post, is a frequent and welcome visitor in the Lone Star State and always ready to give Texans valuable publicity.

A late edition of the Bonfills publication carried a rotogravure section devoted entirely to scenes in Texas. There were splendid pictures of Texas oil wells, of Texas pine forests, of Texas cattle, of the great citrus orchards of the Rio Grande valley, the waving wheat fields of the Panhandle, the skyscrapers of a dozen cities, including Houston. And the "Texas section" of the Post bore the following appropriate dedication:

"This rotogravure section of the Post is dedicated to the great state of Texas, first in size and fifth in population in the United States. Texas is one of Colorado's best friends and patrons. Over two-fifths of the tourists that visit Colorado and the Rocky Mountain regions in the summer are from Texas. Texas and Colorado are natural friends and affinities, and this rotogravure section is issued in appreciation and good will.—Houston Chronicle.

THE COMMERCIAL USE OF TEXAS HIGHWAYS IS A PRIVILEGE, NOT A RIGHT

● The highways of Texas are the property of its citizens. They constitute a system of nearly 200,000 miles of road of which 20,000 miles are designated as State highways and the remainder are county roads. All types of road are represented in this system, less than 5% have so-called "permanent" surface.

The total cost of these highways is unknown but it amounts to many hundred million dollars. From 1917 to 1930, inclusive, counties and road districts of the State issued $243,592,834 in bonds for the construction and improvement of roads and bridges. In the two-year period ending August 31, 1930, the State Highway Commission expended $89,032,825, of which $22,488,426 was for maintenance of the State highways.

In view of these tremendous costs the preservation of our highways from rapid wear and destruction is a matter of very vital interest to their owners, viz., the public. It is especially important that they be made to outlast the life of the bonds, which run from 20 to 30 years.

The use of the public highways for commercial purposes is not a right but a privilege which may be withheld or granted subject to such restrictions, regulations and charges as the Legislature may see fit to impose. Such regulations are intended to promote safety, preserve the highways and safeguard the interests of the public.

Texas Railroads, which pay the entire cost of construction and maintenance of their own roadbeds and, in addition, make substantial contributions to the cost of Texas highways, are thoroughly regulated with respect to their services, rates, methods and practices. There is no good reason why commercial users of the highways, built and maintained at the expense of the public, should not likewise be regulated to such extent as the public interest requires and pay such charges as will represent proper compensation for the privileges granted them.

● The statutes governing highway transportation as enacted by the Forty-second Legislature represent the wishes of the citizens of this State and express their desire to give equal rights to all and special privileges to none. These statutes should be given a fair trial and their value ascertained. Unless this is done, a chaotic condition in transportation as a whole will surely ensue.

R. F. McDERMOTT NOW POST MASTER

R. F. McDermott was checked in as Post Master at Goldthwaite at 6 p. m. Saturday evening by the retiring postmaster, A. J. Harrison. President Hoover had made the appointment several weeks ago, and Mr. McDermott's commission was received Saturday. Although he was in charge Sunday, the patrons of the office generally were not aware of the change until Monday morning. His assistants in the office are Coley O. Sevier and Alvin Hunt.

Mail from the train which arrives in Goldthwaite from Temple and the east at 7:22 p. m. is now being put up the same evening. Mr. McDermott says. This service is not required by the post office department, but is optional with the postmaster. Making the change, Mr. McDermott says, is in keeping with his plans to render the best and most efficient service possible. He invites patrons of the office to make suggestions for any improvement in service they may have in mind.

Mr. Harrison in his two terms as post master has served this section for many years. He had reached the age limit, which made him ineligible for reappointment. His friends will miss him from the office he has filled so long.

MOVIE WIND MAKER PROTECTS FORESTS BY PUTTING OUT FIRE

Blowing out a brush fire as easily as a person might snuff out a match, a powerful wind machine, developed for a Hollywood motion picture studio, has been used successfully in combating forest fires by the Los Angeles county forestry department.

Tests proved that the machine is capable of putting out any small blaze quickly, best results being obtained when dirt and sand were shoveled into the stream of air from the propeller, thus smothering the flames. The wind machine may be particularly valuable where no water is available,

THE 20TH AMENDMENT

When you speak of amending the constitution, this summer and fall, most of your hearers will take it for granted that you are talking about the prohibition law. But it is worth remembering that another amendment to the constitution is now pending, and it is an amendment that deserves to pass in jig time.

This is the 20th amendment—the "lame duck" amendment, as it is called—which would set forward the inauguration of a newly elected president to the first week in January and abolish those congressional sessions in which politicians who have already been rejected at the polls meet to make laws for the nation.

Already more than half a dozen states have ratified this amendment and the rest should do so before another year is passed. Legislators must be reminded that the amendment is badly needed, even though public attention may be focused on more spectacular issues. — San Angelo Times.

and, if mounted on a tractor, could be taken into heavily overgrown territory. It is also proposed to direct the blast of air through a funnel-like nozzle and, with the compressed air, blow out by the roots, brush and dry grass to cut fire breaks.

J. M. SKAGGS IMPROVING

Late news from Washington, D. C., from Mrs. J. C. Skaggs. Mr. Skaggs is still very weak, but is planning to return to his home here about September 1. —Wintex Enterprise.

A FAMOUS OPERATION

Forty years ago a candidate for the presidency of the United States was suffering from cancer of the mouth. But the fact was known only to himself and his physicians, and he was elected. The story of this remarkable case is recalled by the recent death of Dr. W. W. Keen, who assisted in performing a secret operation on the distinguished patient.

Shortly after entering upon his second term as president in 1893, and during the panic of that year, Grover Cleveland's condition became such as to necessitate surgical aid. Fearing public knowledge that he was afflicted with cancer would further depress the economic situation, Cleveland arranged to have an operation performed secretly.

This was done on the yacht Oneida, owned by Commodore E. C. Benedict, while cruising in the waters of Long Island sound. A part of the president's left jaw bone and a portion of his palate were cut away as the yacht slowly steamed along. In five days he was able to walk ashore from what was supposed to be merely a recreation cruise. What had really happened was never publicly known until Dr. Keen related the story in 1917.

President Cleveland served out his term, as everyone knows and lived until 1908, some 15 years after the operation had been performed. A vulcanized movable jaw bone had aided him in keeping his secret. — Kerrville Mountain Sun.

THROUGH GERMAN EYES

Viecki Baum is a German novelist, whose sensational success as a writer brought her to fame and fortune in this country. In view of the dire straits to which most Americans believe this country has been brought by the depression, it is refreshing to note her comparisons of American and German life in the July Good Housekeeping.

Commenting on the American standard of life, she writes: "I've watched the little shop-girls here leaving their places of business to go out for a good time. Everyone of them has her pretty little evening dress. Not one need feel the slightest embarrassment at being invited to a dinner party. We are far from such a state of affairs in Germany. Last winter even the fashionable lady didn't go out in evening clothes. And as for our little working girls, they have never known the meaning of such luxuries. When things go well, they have in their closets a silk affair, reaching halfway down the leg, which must serve for all occasions."

As for our male dress: "I know that today many thousands of people in America are tramping about looking for jobs—without lunches and with raveled sleeve-edges. But they keep the edges hidden. They look neat. That's the difference. In Europe the men wear their new suits on Sundays, and when the edges fray, then the suit is taken into everyday use and worn for five years thereafter. It is taken completely for granted that employees should run about in threadbare suits."

The author answers American tourists' comment about German clotheslines being full almost every day of the week, by declaring that most German families have only two shirts, two bed sheets and two tablecloths.

She speaks of the prettiness and cheapness of American things, and of being "entranced" by a drug store lunch counter. She reasons that American homes show so much good taste because "it is difficult to buy ugly things," here. She goes on:

"So it is that what first leaps to the eye in this country is the pleasantness of daily existence. People look better, dress better, eat more sensibly; they do, to be sure, live in streets which are sometimes hideous, but in rooms which are furnished with judgment and practical skill. A bathroom, a sewing machine, an ice box—these are things of which millions of families in Germany dream, without the possibility of ever attaining them. There is no end to the dragging of coal, to the washing of dishes, to the lugging of market baskets. The telephone is a luxury. Many, many things are luxuries which here—at any rate for the city dweller—are taken for granted."

However she does not find Americans as happy as Europeans. She believes that the things which make for happiness are more difficult to find here, though admitting that America is more fun-loving and pleasure-seeking.

EMPLOYMENT IN TEXAS HOLDS ITS OWN IN JULY

Employment in Texas held its own during July, if improvement may be judged in terms of declines no larger than should be expected at this time of the year, according to a report from the bureau of business research of the University of Texas.

As compared with the number of workers on payrolls a year ago, the number on July 15 was 17.3 per cent lower; but the total for July compared more favorably with the number for the corresponding month a year ago than in any other case since February.

An impressive gain was made in the number of workers at sawmills. Cotton oil mills made a sharp seasonal increase in employment. El Paso, Galveston, Houston and Wichita Falls had, more workers on payrolls on July 15 than on the same date a month earlier.

Only three industries employed more men than on July 15 a year ago—automobile and body works, cotton oil mills and cotton textile mills, and Galveston was the only one of the ten cities listed to make a gain.

NOT AN "EASY" TAX

A Kansas newspaper, which is an enthusiastic supporter of a state general sales tax, refers to the gasoline tax as demonstrating that a sales tax is easy to pay. "All legislators voting for the gasoline sales tax did so with fear and trembling," says the Kansas paper, the Coffeyville Journal, "but to their agreeable surprise and the surprise of the people generally, the gasoline sales tax did not prove either burdensome or unpopular."

The gasoline sales tax is a heavy tax. Some states have been so pleased with it, as the Journal says, that they have piled it on until the purchaser of a gallon of gasoline which may run his car 10 miles or 20, pays actually 8 or 9 cents tax. In Texas the tax has been increased until now, with the final federal tax of 1 cent pyramided on it, it amounts to 5 cents. If a gallon of gasoline runs the average car 15 miles and the average driver travels 500 miles a month, which is probably a low estimate, the gasoline tax in Texas costs him $1.67 a month, or at the rate of $20 a year. If such a tax should be levied on, say, 20 commodities, which are in constant use, the cost to the average family would be serious. The gasoline tax appears tolerable because it is unique; it is the only tax of its kind.

Nobody probably would suggest a rate of general sales tax as high as the gasoline tax, which, in Texas, is more than 25 per cent of the retail price and nearly 100 per cent of the refinery price of gasoline. On one of the major costs of living. The average family spends the other hand, gasoline is not a great deal more for food than for gasoline, and much more for clothing. Since the gas tax is in a class by itself, legislatures do not apply the strict principles to it that are required in most taxes. For example, the gas tax is the same precisely on cheap gasoline as on gasoline of the highest price. This violates a fundamental principle of fair taxation.

Recently an automobile industry organization issued a public statement that the taxation of automobiles, principally the gasoline tax, has become a serious handicap to that industry. While the automobile industry is naturally interested in reducing the cost of operation of automobiles to the lowest level, thereby stimulating use and sales of automobiles, the statement suggests that, after all, the gasoline tax is not so easy to pay as is often claimed.

The one defense of its increasing exactions is that it does build roads. But the more or less prevalent notion that it is not a burden or is easy to pay is now bringing forward proposals that revenue from the gasoline tax be distributed among localities to ease the property taxes. When that gets started the merit of the gasoline tax will disappear, and the motorist unable to an adequate return for his tax money in the form of constantly increasing road improvement for his comfort and convenience, will not pay so easily or so without protest. The gasoline tax meets a definite need in building roads; if it did not meet that need it would be onerous, and would be resisted by those who have to pay it. — Fort Worth Star-Telegram.

FORTITUDE AND PATIENCE

In an article on the severity and extent of the depression in this country, the Manchester, England, Guardian says: "Under all these trials the American people have behaved with admirable fortitude and patience."

That is a fine testimonial to the temper of our people. They have, perhaps better than any other people in the world borne inescapable burdens without losing either faith or courage. They have realized that drastic thoughtless action is not necessary—that, in the normal course of events, our problems will be solved. They have put shoulders to the wheel and have bent every resource to meeting the exigencies of depression.

A people who can do as our people have done in a time of unprecedented stress, need have no fear for the nation's future.

Sidewalk Built

The school sidewalk has been built from the high school building around to the grammar school building, and a curb built at the edge of the walk already there.

Drive by the two buildings and see the walk, and if it is satisfactory and you feel like it should be finished, see Prof. Stringer and tell him so, and hand him some cash with which to buy cement.

The walk has cost very little cash, considering the amount of material put into it.

A good friend gave sand and we got a low price on gravel and both were hauled free by those owning trucks, so that it only cost $2 to the sidewalk fund to get the sand and gravel on the ground.

Quite a few men and boys donated labor on the job, and our labor bill was less than $70.

We were given a close price on cement, so that the total cost of 220 yards of walk, 3 1/2 feet wide and 15 yards 3 feet wide has cost between $170 and $175, including the 40 yards of curb.

It has been estimated that if we had paid for all labor at even the present low prices it would have cost at least $300 to have built what has been finished.

Thanks of the school community are due the last two graduating classes for starting a sidewalk fund and to Prof. Stringer for his untiring work in getting the plans carried out this far, and for the days of hard labor he has put into the job, all without pay.

Prof. Stringer, the school board and those who were instrumental or interested in getting a walk built, take this means of thanking all who contributed in any way to the work that has been done.

We have a few yards of gravel and sand left, and can get enough to finish the walk at very little expense, and there are several who have offered to donate work so that if enough money should appear to buy cement and lumber for the forms, the work might be finished before school starts.

If interested, see Prof. Stringer. Thanks,
W. A. BAYLEY.

THOROUGH PREPARATION KEY TO SUCCESS IN FALL GARDENING

Pointing out that fall gardens should furnish fresh vegetables from the middle of September to Christmas anywhere in Texas, J. F. Roseborough, horticulturist in the Extension Service at Texas A. & M. College emphasizes the importance of thorough preparation as the biggest single factor in success.

"Most fall gardens that fall do so because they were plowed and disced only once, leaving big clods," he says. "The ground should be plowed shallow, disced several times, and allowed to settle. Weeds should not be plowed under, but cut and raked away. Fertilization is more important in fall gardening than in the main spring garden. Better than well-rotted manure at this time is a mixture of 50 pounds of nitrate of soda and 100 pounds high grade acid phosphate to one-tenth acre, or a 6-8-4 fertilizer at the same rate. This holds for all parts of Texas except the blacklands and the heavy soils of West Texas. Poorer in the fall, one-fourth Since germination of seed is more seed should be planted than in the spring.

"Slower maturing vegetables suitable for planting from August 10 to Sept. 1, are cucumbers, cream peas, pinto beans, Irish potatoes and winter squash. If not planted during that period these vegetables should not be planted at all. For September plantings are suggested cabbage, radish, cauliflower, beans, carrots, onion sets, beets and Swiss Chard."

The Patient Looks Better

After a serious accident or a long illness, a blood transfusion is often required to save the patient's life.

For a long time mental science was used freely. Practitioner Hoover time and again reported that there was really nothing wrong except in the patient's mind.

Next Mr. Hoover decided to relieve the patient's mind of worry about the debts due him from abroad.

Then the theory was advanced that the patient had high blood pressure and needed to be bled like a horse with the leeches.

Wright Patman next offered the idea that Uncle Sam really needed more blood, instead of less, but that currency instead of gold would help the most.

Patman wanted to put it in Uncle Sam's arms and legs—in the form of bonus payments to veterans of the World War—but the old-fashioned doctors sneered at the idea.

But here is the remarkable thing. The transfusion is doing good. The money is trickling down—pretty slow to be sure, and his feet are still cold and probably will be for a long time yet—but it has reached the stockmarket, and stocks are acting up.

How long the stimulation will last is the big question. President Hoover thinks the patient will feel good until after November, anyway, and he has put an automobile man in his cabinet as Secretary of Commerce to help find the automobiles for every garage that he promised the voters four years ago.

The Voters Wake Up

From Texas, from Kansas, from Missouri, from all over the nation, in fact, comes the news that voters are marching to the polls in greater numbers than usual.

As long as business is good, prices satisfactory, and jobs easy to secure, Mr. Average Voter is inclined to let the professional politicians run the government as they see fit.

In Texas the high voting mark of 539,778 in 1896 was not reached again until 1918, when Jas. E. Ferguson unsuccessfully contested W. P. Hobby for the gubernatorial nomination.

When we realize that in 1930 the census showed 2,430,000 white persons of voting age in Texas, it is clear that the record breaking vote of 931,000 in the recent July primary accounted for little more than one-third of the voters.

Getting closer home, we find that in Mills county in 1930, there were 4422 men and women over 21, but only 1968 paid poll taxes this year.

If the one-half to two-thirds of the voters of Texas who do not ordinarily take the trouble to vote, should find themselves suddenly deprived of the ballot, they would start a revolution.

It is not unreasonable to believe that, if every voter in the state would exercise his right to vote and would inform himself even slightly about the issues to be settled at the polls, there would be a marked improvement in governmental affairs.

For that reason if the whole citizenship can be aroused to the importance and necessity of participating in elections, then the hard times that gave them the impetus to act may result in a benefit after all.

Our Country Correspondents

The Eagle is proud of its list of country correspondents whose letters you will find in every issue of the paper.

Names make news. In one issue of the Eagle recently there were by actual count 684 names of people mentioned in 20 news-letters sent in by our correspondents—an average of 34 to each letter.

It is this personal detail that makes a good weekly paper indispensable to a live community.

It is an advantage that many editors of large city dailies have wished they could obtain. All of us are interested in what goes on next door. We may not know or care what happened to the president of France.

More than 20 correspondents are collecting and writing up these items of news for this paper from as many Mills county communities. If your community is not included, we are looking for a volunteer to represent the Eagle there.

SEEKING FOR MYSELF

One of the biggest improvements made in Goldthwaite recently is the new cement sidewalk from the high school building to the northwest corner of the school grounds.

A lot is being said nowadays about the wild and wayward younger generation, and, as is usually the case when a lot is said about anything, much of it isn't so.

While vesting from skating, the youngsters have been entertained with cowboy ballads by an inmate of the jailhouse hard by. Wonder how he feels when he sees the boys leave to go swimming.

Time passes pretty rapidly when you view it in retrospect. The World War, undoubtedly the most important historical event of the twentieth century so far, is merely an incident in history to the boys and girls in school today.

But while time never repeats itself, a lot of things seem to happen over again. We read the other day an eloquent des-

THE REALM OF SCIENCE

The lightning bug's secret of producing cold light has not yet been discovered, but a French scientist claims to have produced a light that is nearer daylight than any other known, is relatively heatless, and requires less electricity.

Kissing is more sanitary than hand shaking, says the great French Academy of Medicine. But they mean the French custom of men greeting each other with a kiss on the cheek.

Take a note on your calendar now to have your smoked glasses ready at 2:30 p. m., Wednesday, August 31, when an eclipse of the sun will take place.

As if the long depression was not enough, we have to be pestered with the most prolific bug year in a decade. According to A. J. Swatt, federal agricultural statistician, 1932 has proved to be the bugs' boom year.

Experiments which prove, he believes, that something closely akin to memory exists in all living cells, even in the cells of the lowliest microbes, were summarized recently before the Academy of Sciences in Paris by the distinguished French biologist, Dr. Charles Richet.

Repealing prohibition would permit the government to levy an internal revenue tax on liquor amounting to $2,000,000 a year.

Highest liquor tax ever received was $483,000,000, which included a special war tax in 1919. Average year's liquor tax was less than 10 per cent of what wets promise.

Prohibition has lost billions of dollars in taxes to the government.

In the first decade of prohibition, although cost of government increased as the country increased, the government paid off billions of indebtedness and reduced income taxes.

Texas in 1932 produced 55,687,000 pounds of wool, with an average of 7.9 pounds per clip, compared with 53,560,000 pounds in 1931 and an average clip of 7.8 pounds, says the United States department of agriculture.

The United States as a whole produced 342,386,000 pounds of wool this year, an average clip of 7.6 pounds compared with 369,477,000 pounds last year and a clip of eight pounds.

Western wool this year totaled 186,700,000 pounds, compared with 213,976,000 last year. This year western fleeces averaged 7.9 pounds in weight and last year 8.4.

What Other Editors Have to Say

DRY FACTS REFUTE WET CLAIMS

Against each of the major claims of the wets, answering data and arguments have been prepared and made public by the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.

Prohibition enforcement costs the country billions of dollars. Total cost of enforcement, 1920 to 1931, $284,156,524; collections from fines and penalties and revenues from taxes on unlawful and distilled and fermented liquors $548,588,884.

Prohibition has caused an enormous economic loss. Total national wealth in 1914 was $192,000,000,000; in 1931 it was $329,700,000,000.

Repealing prohibition would put 1,000,000,000 men at work. Department of Commerce reported to the senate Jan. 11, 1932, in 1914, only 86,000 men employed in the manufacture of liquor.

Beer will bring prosperity. "To encourage the return of the saloon or even let up our efforts to control the drink trade will injure every legitimate industry in two ways: The average worker will have to spend fewer dollars to spend for the products of industry; second, the liquor trade will get more of these dollars which ought to go for useful industries."

Repealing prohibition would permit the government to levy an internal revenue tax on liquor amounting to $2,000,000 a year.

Highest liquor tax ever received was $483,000,000, which included a special war tax in 1919.

Prohibition has lost billions of dollars in taxes to the government.

In the first decade of prohibition, although cost of government increased as the country increased, the government paid off billions of indebtedness and reduced income taxes.

The government measured the amount of hops, corn, sugar, rye, barley, etc., raised and imported, subtracted amounts used in known legal enterprises and reported the amount of raw material left would make less than a third of the former liquor consumption.

WHY TAXES ARE HIGH

Ever hear of the cornborer? There was a terrific hullabaloo about him a few years ago. Corn crop was going to be ruined unless he was exterminated.

So congress forked over $18,750,000 for the extermination. Results to date: Employment of 1700 men at $4.56 a day to search automobiles for corn, and then search the corn borers. Number of borers found in more than 16,000,000 cars: 730. Cost of each borer to taxpayers: $25.685.

Testimony of every scientist who has investigated the borer: It has done no commercial damage of any importance in the United States. It cannot be stopped by stopping cars, because the parent fly merely flies with her eggs right over the heads of the patrols.

This year—despite these facts—congress threw away $734,000 more on the useless campaign against a bug that is not commercially dangerous. Grand total: $19,484,300, and every cent wasted.—Dallas Dispatch.

17 TEXAS COUNTIES PAY NO STATE TAX

According to the board of control, there are 17 Texas counties, which pay no ad valorem or property tax to the state. The estimate of the board is that the state's general revenue fund loses, by this exemption, the sum of about $800,600 annually.

The estimate was made by the board when it prepared its annual budget. Inhabitants of the 17 counties pay the property tax all right, but the county government retains it, being so privileged under special acts of the legislature.

The list of exempted counties include Galveston county, San Patricio, Aransas, Calhoun, Nueces, Jim Wells, Jim Hogg, Kleburg, Brooks, Willacy, Duval, Cameron, Brazoria, Jefferson, Wharton, Matagorda, Hidalgo and Orange.

Under the statutes remission will expire in 1938, at the earliest, and in 1952 at the latest. Galveston county coming under the first heading, Cameron will end in 1952, others in 1940, 1946, 1958 and 1959.

THE LURE OF SPEED

Speed, while one of the blessings of modern life, is also one of its greatest curses. Applied to industry, transportation and commerce, it has advanced civilization to a point where life, while infinitely more complex, seems easier to live.

Yet the benefits of speed have been attended by serious disadvantages, especially as applied to the modern automobile. Statistics of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters show that 15 per cent of all automobile accident fatalities are caused by excessive speed.

What, then, is a reasonable and fair speed? The answer is subject to change even as conditions are. James A. Beha, general manager of the National Bureau of Casualty and Surety Underwriters, says: "Police enforcement authorities should consider all speeds over 45 miles an hour on public highways as approaching the danger point."

It is pleasing to note that automobile manufacturers and makers of automobile equipment and accessories are joining forces with safety organizations to stress "safety" rather than speed as the goal to be obtained. Modern conditions have changed the attitudes of these manufacturers and for the lure of speed they are now substituting the concrete value of safety, in their advertising.—Exchange.

WAR IS LIKE THAT

The drums are beating again in the capital of Paraguay as that small but proud nation prepares to defend its claim to a substantial portion of the Gran Chaco.

It seems that the wooded and grassy area which is the Gran Chaco belongs either to Bolivia or Pataguay in whole or in part. All attempts to settle what is merely a boundary dispute have failed, and so the president of Paraguay asks for ratification of a decree of mobilization which will adequately safeguard the republic.

The women are doing their bit for their heroes, organizing auxiliary units and offering their services to the Red Cross. Enlistments are up and the general public opinion of the nation holds that a resort to war is the only alternative left them.

The people of Paraguay, unfortunately, have short memories. In 1870, Carlos Antonio Lopez was president and dictator of their nation, and Carlos Antonio Lopez acquired the weird idea of whipping Argentina, Brazil and Uruguay at one and the same time.

Under the statutes remission will expire in 1938, at the earliest, and in 1952 at the latest. Galveston county coming under the first heading, Cameron will end in 1952, others in 1940, 1946, 1958 and 1959.

Speed, while one of the blessings of modern life, is also one of its greatest curses. Applied to industry, transportation and commerce, it has advanced civilization to a point where life, while infinitely more complex, seems easier to live.

June B. ## Lampasas

Judge J. Tom Higgins spoke in Lometa Friday afternoon on the highway proposition for Lampasas county. The judge explained to the people there just what the cost of the right of way will be and the amount of money the state will spend. He also explained the cost to the county and how it is proposed to raise the money. While Lometa is not directly on highway No. 66, she is on No. 74 and has and will receive the benefits from the road. The right of way for it, both toward Brownwood and toward San Saba was purchased by the county just as No. 66 will have to be purchased.

According to reports coming to this office, considerable damage is being done cotton in this section by the flea. This insect, it is said, destroys the form just as it starts, even before the square is well formed. By doing that to a great extent, all the moisture can be used in making stalk, and to the outsider the cotton looks fine, when in reality it has very little on it.

MANY PLANTS

Crude or raw rubber was obtained from different types of rubber-yielding plants growing in various parts of the world for a study of the electrical properties of rubber at the bureau of standards. Penang rubber produced by a species of fig tree was secured from the Malay peninsula; guboon ball rubber from vines or creepers on the west coast of Africa; guayule rubber from a plantation in California; hevea rubber from the upper Amazon region of South America and from plantations in the East Indies. These various kinds of raw rubber which differ in appearance, consistency, color, odor and other properties were subjected to a purification process, which removed proteins, resins, sugars and other plant products. The rubber left was a relatively pure hydrocarbon. Next the electrical properties were measured and found to be uniform and consistent and independent of the type of crude rubber from which the purified rubber had been made, that is, the rubber from the various plants appeared to be similar if not identical in basic composition. From California comes the announcement of producing rubber from the milkweed, a relative of the Madagascar rubber vine. This is one of the many plants with which the late Thomas A. Edison experimented.

MILWAUKEE BREWERS HOPE TO RE-OPEN

The current agitation for beer and light wines has sent a thrill of enthusiasm coursing through the big American brewing industry, says the United Press.

Although the drys insist that the wets are looking through rose colored glasses, those who stand to profit by the repeal of prohibition are either already engaged in renovating their plants, or have paper plans ready for an immediate switch in event of the necessary legislation.

Milwaukee breweries have been ready for the return of beer for months. Brewers there estimate that $10,000,000 would be spent in the first year of legalization, with jobs for 4,500 in the city. Beer can be made "at a moment's notice" with present equipment, since most breweries make real beer first and then de-alcoholize it. The Pabst brewers alone say they would spend $5,000,000 of which $750,000 would be for labor. The Blatz and Schlitz brewing companies have smaller but equally enthusiastic estimates.

All Milwaukee breweries now claim to have orders on file awaiting legalization.

Got Over Weak, Painful Condition By Taking Cardui

"I was weak and run-down and suffered quite a bit with pains in my side," writes Mrs. Nick Baranco, of Beaumont, Texas. "I was nervous. I did not rest well at night, and my appetite was poor. For over 50 years, Cardui has been helping women just as this Texas lady describes above. Cardui is sold at all drug stores.

SCHEDIR'S LIGHT FOR WM. PENN

In October, Philadelphia will celebrate the 250th anniversary of William Penn's landing on American shores. In doing so the Quaker City will steal a march on the Chicago world's fair of 1933 by having the light from a distant star illuminate portraits of various Quaker colonists. The star selected for the job is Schedir, because the light used will be what left that heavenly body at the time Penn embarked for America. In other words, it takes the light from far distant Schedir 250 years to reach the earth. The Franklin Institute has charge of the arrangements for picking up the star light and turning it into energy, which will release the electric current to light up the pictures.

HAPPY HOME HINTS

Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, in a recent issue of Pictorial Review, offered these 10 rules for a successful marriage:

1. Have a definite life pattern.
2. Keep a household budget.
3. Let both husband and wife share in homemaking duties.
4. Let neither husband nor wife strive to be the dominating person.
5. Expect to disagree.
6. Be honest.
7. Be loyal, keep your differences to yourself.
8. Talk things over; when hurt do not keep it to yourself brooding over it.
9. Avoid trivial criticisms, grumbling and complaints.
10. Keep alive the spirit of courtship, that thoughtfulness that existed before marriage.

ALIENS SEND MILLIONS HOME

Is this why money is so scarce these days? Foreigners and foreign-born Americans still send millions and millions of good American dollars back to their native lands each year. The commerce department reveals that last year they sent back a grand total of $173,000,000. Sons of Mussolini's domain sent more dollars home than the sons of any other country—$26,500,000 in all. Next in order came the Greeks with $25,000,000, Russians, $15,000,000, and Japanese, $12,500,000. But hard times show up even in this flow of Uncle Sam's dollars to foreign shores. The total of $173,000,000 for 1931 was 13 per cent less than in 1930 and some 30 per cent less than in 1929.—Exchange.

White Highjackers Hold Up Negroes On Fast Freight

Loungers around the courthouse square craned their necks yesterday morning at the unusual sight of three negro men hot-footing it for the sheriff's office in the court house. The negroes, about 20 years of age, had a sad story to tell.

"We was going to Brownwood in a box car," said one of them, "and was riding with two white men all peaceful like when all of a sudden one of them pulls out a big pistol and says, 'Fork over that money, Black Boy!' and I gives him two dollars, all I had. Then he gets two dollars off of Slim, but Buster ain't got no money, so he don't lose nothing."

"That was just about a mile south of Goldthwaite and as soon as the train slowed up here we jumped off to tell the law. When we got off the two white men jumped off on the other side and ran up the mountain."

The highjacker with the gun was described as about 26 fairly heavy set, and with a heavy growth of beard. The other was a boy about seventeen.

The negroes did not care to remain in a negroless town to see if the men were caught, but claimed urgent business in Brownwood. Logan Pitts obligingly took them aboard his sewing machine special as tire changers, and they were quickly out of sight.

Mrs. Florence Conner, Lillie and Vera, Mrs. M. T. Harmon,

Red Cross Methods Of Life Saving To Be Shown Here

Johnnie Burns, accredited Red Cross life saving examiner from Fort Worth, will give a free exhibition of life saving methods at Lake Merritt Monday evening at 6:30 p. m. to which the public is invited.

Mr. Burns will show how to break away from a drowning person, how to carry one, and how to apply artificial respiration. He will also demonstrate the use of a life saver's diving helmet belonging to Capt. Healey of the Fort Worth Life Saving Corps. With this helmet it is possible to search the bottom of a pool or stream 30 or forty feet deep.

Many lives are being saved every year by the methods which Mr. Burns will show Monday.

Max Harrison is nursing a sore knee in a plaster cast as a result of a peculiar accident Friday. While carrying a bucket of cement, he stepped on a barrel hoop and dislocated his knee. He was brought to town for treatment. Although extremely painful, the injury is not considered serious.

cure J. D. Vaughan's Complete Rudiments of Music and a copy of Tuteful Praise. If unable to get the rudiments book, secure some old rudiments book as the rudiments will be the same. Everybody is cordially invited to attend and help us in learning to sing.

Several of our young bachelor friends were quite surprised last week. Miss Alta Kirby was married to Mr. Loudamy of Goldthwaite last Sunday. Miss Kirby has a host of friends within our community and no one wishes her a happy marriage more sincerely than her home community.

There will be singing at Mount Olive schoolhouse Sunday afternoon, beginning at 3 p. m.

Bill Long has rented the Bush farm for the following year, and is breaking stubble this week. We all like Mr. Long and are extremely glad to have him for our new neighbor.

Several of the mountain folk are attending the Baptist revival at Caradan, conducted by Rev. Hays of Big Valley.

The east side of the mountain received a good rain last week, while the west end only had a sprinkle.

L. B. Porter visited relatives here Sunday.

A. B. Hodge is still on the sick list. Male nurses are required at night to assist, the community is reminded.

George Palmer has been ill with acute appendicitis this last week, but is regaining his former health.

With this hot weather, everybody should pay more attention to their diet than formerly. I had rather be like Mark Twain: Set rules for people to live by, heedless of the rules myself.

Harry Couch worked for Geo. Palmer last week.
