WHEAT ACREAGE REDUCTION

The county agent has all the information concerning the wheat acreage reduction and blanks for making application for contracts. Growers are invited to call for any information desired.

The county allotment committee will pass on all applications for contracts and fix a budget for expenses of the campaign. This committee consists of J. A. Holland, president; A. A. Moore, vice president; R. C. Duren, secretary, and W. C. Dew, treasurer. Applications should be made at the county agent's office at once.

The following ruling should interest contract signers: "The contracted acreage of 1934 and of 1935 shall not be used to feed or to produce feed for dairy cattle, beef cattle, hogs, sheep or poultry kept for sale or kept for the sale of their products."

SUNRISE CEREMONY

In a sunrise service to be read today at the Abilene Heavenly Rest Episcopal church Miss Mary Evelyn Marrs, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Marrs of Marble Falls, is to become the bride of Newton S. Walton, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Walton, of this city. The rector, the Rev. Willis P. Gerhart, is to officiate with the ring ceremony.

Immediate family members and close friends will attend the ceremony.

The couple is to be at home at 1915 Twenty-Third street after a brief wedding trip.

The bride has been conducting violin classes in Abilene this summer and is former music director in the Lampasas public schools. She attended the University of Colorado and Baylor college at Belton.

Mr. Walton is a graduate of the school of business administration at the University of Texas, Austin. He is associated with Walton's man's shop—Lubbock Avalanche, Sunday, Sept. 17.

The groom is a son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Walton and has a lot of friends here, where he spent a part of his early childhood and has frequently visited since that time. He is a grandson of Mrs. L. H. Little and has a number of other relatives here. Raymond Little and Misses Adaline and Greta Little attended the wedding in Abilene Sunday.

Methodist Notes

The people called Methodists are conscious that the time is short, and that if we are to finish the work of the year in a creditable way we must be busy. With this end in view the stewards held a profitable and business-like session Monday evening, in which they review the year's work. They found the financial affairs in fairly good shape. With just a little effort, and the aid of all interested in the church and the mighty things for which it stands, everything will be ready for the inspection of the annual conference which convenes in San Antonio, October 26.

Let us all learn, if we do not already know it, that the church is not kept in the community as a mere ornament, but rather as one of the most vital institutions. There is not a man among us, no matter how indifferent he may be to the claims of the church, who would be willing to live here if the churches were junked. As an evidence of this fact we have before us a concrete example in a Missouri town. The town named Liberal was built upon a body of land owned by a man who thought the church to be a mere parasite. As a consequence, in every deed was written the stipulation that no church should be built upon the property. Some years passed, and the town started under these circumstances, began to show signs of retrogression. Business failed, people ceased to patronize the town in any way, and the people began to ask the reason for all this. Finally they thought that perhaps the failure to have churches—to give God his proper place among them—might have something to do with it. As a consequence the citizens began to build on the opposite side of the railroad. There they built churches. With the new plan a new era came among the people. The new town of Liberal went forward to prosperity. Some people do not know it but if we are to prosper as a town, as a country, we are to give God first place in our plans.

In our meeting Monday evening the official board decided not to have the all-day meeting of which we spoke last week. Personally, this scribe was in favor of such a meeting, but after a full discussion of the matter he fully agreed that the board was right after all. At this time of the year, when everybody has a full day's work, especially on Saturday, it would seem not the right thing to have a meeting that would bring such hard work upon our women who are always ready to do their part, and even more than their part. Besides this, there are other splendid reasons for not having it, so the board thought, and so will all others think, when we view it aright. Our board is usually right.

I think, however, that ere long we shall feel disposed to have a get together meeting some night out at the Wesley Workers park, where we can have one of those delightful social and play hours in mid week; where everybody can relax and have a good time. This will come later on, I am sure.

Constantly, we are being reminded of the uncertainty of life. Mr. Finis Lindsey, whose wife was a daughter of the late Maj. D. H. Trent, was the victim of an automobile accident in San Antonio and was buried from that city Sunday. Some of our citizens went there to the funeral. The children of the deceased were members of our Sunday school when I was pastor here more than a quarter of a century ago. So the sad death of Mr. Lindsey comes as a personal bereavement. We mourn with them and other relatives.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Circle No. 1 will meet with Mrs. Harry Allen and Circle No. 2 will meet with Mrs. Tom Collier on Monday, September 24.

Highway Work Will Start Soon

The highway department this week awarded the contract to a Strawn, Texas, firm for grading and draining nine and one-half miles of highway No. 7, from Mullin to the Brown county line. The contract price was approximately $71,000 and it is supposed the work will begin right away, although no definite information on this point has been given out.

The county has all of the right-of-way on this road through the county, from the top of the mountain east of town to the Brown county line. The fences have been set back and all is in readiness for contracting the remainder of the road, but it is not known when the contract will be made for the additional mileage.

Mills county has also purchased the right-of-way on No. 81 from Goldthwaite to the river, the fences have been set back and everything made ready for the highway department to take over the work.

The county now has thirty miles of right-of-way and fence on designated highways in the county and the court will procure other right-of-way as needed, but wants some work done before any more money is paid out for right-of-way.

MOUNT OLIVE EX-STUDENTS ORGANIZE

As a result of a meeting of Mount Olive ex-students Sunday, September 17, an organization was formed, which, it is hoped, will last through many years to come. It is the Mount Olive Ex-Students and Ex-Teachers association. The group was called together in the afternoon by Tolbert Patterson, who acted as chairman. Miss Minnie Cody was elected president and Mrs. Leola Wood secretary. An executive committee composed of the president and secretary and Mr. Tully Lee will have charge of the business of the organization.

The following ex-students were present: Minnie Cody, Jessie Neal, Clara Bell and Lowell Burkes, Tully, Paul, Arabella, Marcus and Malcolm Lee, Clarence Koen, Elton and Cecil Huckabee, Doris, Travis, Vada Lee and Muriel McCarty, Mrs. Leola Wood, Mrs. Mary Bell Poer, Orville Harris, and Raymond Wilcox. Only three ex-teachers were there, namely, Louis Porter, Frank Poer and Mr. Poer are also ex-students of Mount Olive.

One motive of the organization is to bring together in a meeting next year as many persons as possible who have attended Mount Olive school, either teachers or students. The date of this meeting will be set later. All members present this time are looking forward to a better meeting next year.

Court Approves New Tax Rolls

The commissioners court was in session the first of the week inspecting the 1933 tax rolls and after finding them correct, accepted them and placed them in the hands of the tax collector. The rolls will be open and ready for the taxpayers to make settlement on and after October 1.

The valuations are not as high this year as last, due in the main to the reduction in the valuation of live stock and the rendition of personal property. However, there is ample assessment to take care of the county's budget, if the delinquencies are not too heavy.

This county, like most others, carries a very heavy delinquent roll and this fact forces a higher rate than otherwise would be necessary.

A FAMILY REUNION

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Simpson entertained a number of Mrs. Simpson's relatives last week end, at their beautiful country home in the Live Oak community. A number of the guests arrived Saturday afternoon and night. Some of the young people attended church services at Live Oak Saturday night, while the others had a jolly gay time chatting at home.

At an early hour Sunday morning the men were busy barbecuing meat for the sumptuous feast, which was to follow, while the women were busy in the kitchen.

Guests continued to arrive all through the morning. When the noon hour came, all gathered around the long table, located in the spacious Spanish oak grove just north of the house, where a bountiful feast consisting of barbecue, salads, pickles, buns, tea and other accessories as well as pies, cake and ice cream was spread. The crowd enjoyed over an hour of pleasant fellowship and congenial association around the table.

After the table was cleared, Rev. B. S. Tumlinson conducted a very helpful service in the grove. After this the people retired to the house, where they spent their time in animated conversation, singing songs and listening to music.

Those enjoying the reunion were Rev. and Mrs. B. S. Tumlinson of San Marcos, Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Tumlinson and six children and Miss Wilma Jennings of Mathis, Mr. and Mrs. L. M. Tumlinson and three children of Lometa, B. E. Tumlinson, Mrs. John Casselberry and Mrs. E. A. Cameron of San Angelo, Mr. and Mrs. John Duncan and two children of Moline, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Allen and two children, Mr. and Mrs. Abbie Tumlinson and three children, J. H. Brown, Dick Parker, Clifford Rose and Miss Beryl Fulton, all of Goldthwaite, and the host and hostess, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Simpson and five children.

Mr. C. G. Featherston and the girls came for awhile in the afternoon.

It has been a number of years since the Tumlinsons have been together. The guests departed with grateful hearts to Mr. and Mrs. Simpson for making it possible for them to enjoy such a pleasant week end. A GUEST

HAVE A CARE

Almost every fall season solicitors work out the country for every imaginable publication, from story papers to dailies. Most of them are honest and honorable, but occasionally one is found who is dishonest. It is best to be safe and know they have authority to make collections before payment is made to them. Last year some one or more collected subscriptions for the Eagle which were not reported and this warning is issued that all may protect themselves from any who may be imposters. If any person has authority to solicit or collect for the Eagle they will have written authority and those who pay to solicitors without this identification do so at their own risk.

Cotton Checks Have Arrived

Yesterday morning County Agent W. P. Weaver received a part of the checks due farmers for plowing up cotton and hopes to get the remainder in a few days. The total amount due farmers in this county is $93,000 and approximately $20,000 of that amount was received yesterday. The checks in the batch received were for farmers of Trigger Mountain, Center City, Ebony, Center Point, Payne and Goldthwaite.

There were 141 checks in the batch received and they were being delivered yesterday by Mr. Weaver. It is possible others will come in today and, no doubt, all will be received in the next few days.

R. L. Cockrum received the first two checks passed out by Mr. Weaver.

COTTON MOVING

A considerable amount of cotton has been brought to this market the past week and up to the time the Eagle was put to press 1050 bales had been received at the public yard for the season. The price has run as high as 10.40 during the week, but was down several points yesterday. Nevertheless, the price is good and a large amount of money has already been put into circulation from the crop. The total crop of this county will not be large this year, yet it will bring more money than a much larger crop would have brought, had it not been for the plow-up campaign.

The plan for reducing acreage devoted to cotton next year has not been made public, but it is understood the tenant farmer will be given especial consideration in that campaign.

A SANITARY INSPECTION

A sanitary engineer, representing the state health department, spent one day here this week inspecting the sanitary conditions, which he found to be excellent, but he made recommendations as to the use of crude oil or kerosene to destroy the breeding places of mosquitoes.

The engineer reported that the pit toilets, installed under direction of his department a year ago, were sanitary and not responsible for the existence of mosquitoes, but the principal place of hatching for the insects was a dipping vat in the suburbs and this was oiled.

The engineer was well pleased with the conditions he found here and stated that the use of oil in damp places was all that would be necessary to destroy the mosquitoes.

W. M. S. MEETING

The Womans Missionary Society was entertained in the hospitable home of Mrs. H. B. Johnson on Tuesday afternoon from 2:30 until 4:30 with a very interesting program from our World Outlook, led by Mrs. Wallace Stroud.

After the program Mrs. Dan Yates told of our trip to the zone meeting at Lampasas in glowing terms and how important and helpful these get together meetings are.

Mrs. Johnson, assisted by Mrs. Westerman served a delicious and most refreshing salad course. XX

HEALTH NURSE COMING

The county health board has arranged for a health nurse to visit the county this fall, after the opening of the schools, for the purpose of giving attention to all children in the schools, looking to immunizing them from contagious diseases, also to giving them inspection as to their needs for glasses, dental work and other helps to keep them well. The coming of the nurse will be announced by the committee in due time. This is a service the health committee has secured for the county for the past several years.

Baptist Reminder

We are on our way back from Kentucky. I will give a brief account of the meeting Sunday morning at the regular preaching hour. I will also preach Sunday night. Sincerely,

FRANKLIN E. SWANNER.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

Monday, September 18, the W. M. S. of the First Baptist church met for its annual social in the lovely home of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Anderson on South Hutchins street, Circle No. 1 sponsoring the program.

An interesting and instructive devotional was read by Mrs. Chas. Rudd, she reading a chapter in the book of Job.

Each one enjoyed very much the speech of our incoming president, Mrs. McCullough, and each one pledged her hearty support in working out and making this one of the very best years our society has ever known. Co-operation on the part of everyone will be the need for success. A single stick may readily be the need for success. A single stick may readily be broken, but taken in a bunch it resists your strongest effort. Just so does it require the effort of all our women.

Much merriment prevailed as the various games and contests were entered into, proving we still have talent along this line. On opening the envelopes, which held our money in the "Talent" game, we played, it was found that some had increased their penny a hundred fold.

Out-of-town guests were Mrs. Dr. Taylor, Sam Saba, and Mrs. Neal of Arkansas.

Delicious refreshments were served to a concourse of ladies. Each one expressing their appreciation of Mrs. Anderson and Circle No. 1 as hostesses.

TUESDAY STUDY CLUB

The first meeting of the Tuesday Study club was held Sept. 19, at the home of Mrs. Foster Brim, with Miss Ellen Archer as hostess.

The subject for study was "The technique and purpose of the novel."

Miss Vivian Campbell, as leader, gave an interesting history of the development of the novel in the United States as reflected through the country's most brilliant novelists.

Miss Myrna Miller gave the purpose and ideals of fiction. The so-called elements of narration—plot, characters and setting. Their relative importance was explained by Mrs. Sparks Bigham.

Mrs. Joe Palmer compared real people with novel types and very ably showed that there is, contrary to the old platitude, a novel in every person's life.

KENTUCKIANS TO MEET

Hello, stranger. What's your name? Where are you from? Where are you going?

We are looking for Kentuckians. If you were born there or ever lived there you can qualify as a Kentuckian. We are planning a get together of Kentuckians and their families at Goldthwaite Saturday, September 30. It is to be a basket picnic.

Enrollment will be at 10 o'clock—dinner noon—program 1:30.

All Kentuckians are urged to send their names to W. P. Weaver, who will give them full particulars concerning the meet.

"And here's to Old Kentucky, the place where I was born. Where the corn is full of kernels and colonels full of corn."

SINGING AT STAR

The Eagle is authorized by Wm. B. Huggins to announce an all day singing at Star Sunday, with a basket dinner. All who attend are invited to bring baskets of lunch and join in making the day pleasant for everybody. Mr. Huggins is especially desirous to have all singers attend and take part in the meeting.

Eagles Prepare For First Game

The Goldthwaite Eagles are now getting in shape for their first tilt of the season. They will play Lometa here next Friday afternoon.

The boys are working hard putting their plays into perfection. Goldthwaite hopes to have a line that can stop anything, and have great prospects for this.

Smythe, a 180-pound letterman of last year, will be ineligible for service this year, but the Eagles have acquired a new player that will tip the scales at 180 to replace him.

Lometa is coming over here to try to win a victory and it's up to you to back your team and see that Lometa don't win. The football boys will appreciate every bit of backing you give them. With your support and the support of those pep squad girls and boys we should hang up a line of victories.

Make it a special point to try to give those football boys a little encouragement. Several business men are now becoming interested in our team, and are doing every thing they can to help it along.

Try to help spread a little school spirit among the people of Goldthwaite. Help the boys beat Lometa. REPORTER.

TOLBERT PATTERSON SURPRISED BY MOUNT OLIVE EX-STUDENTS

Tolbert Patterson was honor guest of a meeting at Mount Olive school house Sunday, Sept. 17, the occasion being a complete surprise to him.

Miss Minnie Cody, a former student of his, had invited him to take dinner with her and her father that day. Upon reaching her home he was immediately conducted back to the school house, where he was greeted by perhaps a hundred ex-students and friends, others coming in later in the day.

After a period of handshaking, Mr. Patterson was asked to address those present. Though overcome for a few minutes by a deep sense of gratitude for the kind things being done in remembrance of him, he gave an inspiring talk, closing with a prayer thanking God for the blessings of this life. Everyone greatly enjoyed his remarks, especially his former students who were present, who after ten years, still appreciate hearing him talk.

Following this, various ex-students and friends made short talks, each relating some incident in which Mr. Patterson has helped him be a better boy or girl, man or woman, and expressing his pleasure at having him present that day.

Later dinner was served from a table well filled with good things to eat. The afternoon was spent in conversation and singing.

Though still a young man, Mr. Patterson, now superintendent of Mullin schools, began his teacher career at Mount Olive ten years ago. He is always glad to meet any of his friends there. He often expressed his deep appreciation Sunday for the pleasant surprise his ex-students gave him, stating that he felt sure the motive for such had been sponsored by unselfish love for our fellowman. A PLAN FOR APPROVAL

The legislature has entered upon the duty of investigating the expenditure of the relief funds in Texas and ascertaining the measure of expense in the administration of them.

A TWO-HANDED GAME

The home dealer in every line of business should have the patronage of his fellow-citizens, and it is to the interest of business men especially to give their patronage to other dealers.

WARNINGS ARE USELESS

For years warnings to reckless automobile operators have been issued by newspapers, public speakers, insurance companies and others dealing with the subject of safety on the highways.

A TAX-FREE DELUSION

Many people believe they have no interest in the tax rate or the increase in government cost, simply because they make no rendition to the tax assessor, but they pay taxes just the same.

A LAW WITH TEETH

The present session of the legislature should enact a law making kidnaping a capital offense in Texas. The subject would have to be submitted to the law-makers by the governor, but that matter could be easily handled.

CHANGED CONDITIONS

It will possibly require some time for everybody to become accustomed to the changed conditions in this country, but it will be necessary to get used to them, for it is not likely the country will ever return to the old standards and customs.

GOVERNMENT COTTON PROGRAM

All the world appears to be interested in the United States' plan for reducing the 1934 cotton crop. The plow-up campaign has succeeded in a measure but will not likely be repeated next year.

"Farm and political leaders of the eastern section of the American cotton belt are proposing drastic means of raising prices. They wish to cut next year's production to 8,000,000 bales, and to institute government fixing of cotton prices at once at a minimum of 15 cents a pound.

"Such proposals would have been ignored as absurd a year ago, not to mention previous years, but they are not so absurd now. It is hardly reasonable to suppose that either plan will be adopted in its entirety, but there can be small doubt that a drastic acreage reduction program will be undertaken, while attempts at price fixing are not beyond the possibilities.

"What the results of such price fixing might be we must leave to the imagination. Possibly there would be a great rush from cotton goods to wool, silks and rayons. Possibly there would be simply a marked decline in the consumption of cotton fabrics.

"As to the acreage reduction proposal it has its difficulties and dangers, but they are not nearly as great as some critics indicate. There would be a problem of unemployment of hundreds of thousands of tenants without cotton to produce, it is difficult to see how they would find subsistence. Apparently a great system of public relief would have to be instituted.

"On the other hand, there would be little if any danger of America losing her foreign market. The foreign buyer is not interested in how much cotton American farmers are producing. They are concerned only about how much baled cotton American exporters have for sale. And that quantity would still be far above normal if next years crop were cut to 8,000,000 bales.

"Also it may be remarked in passing, that most of the propaganda about other nations being ready to step in to supply any cotton shortage created by this country deserves to rank with the best in mythology. That foreign production has some part in the equation is beyond question, but that part is very little understood in this country.

DO YOU KNOW

In 1929 there were 25,700 retail stores in the United States operated by negro proprietors. There are about 50 murders committed in the United States to each one in England.

There are more mental patients in the hospitals of the country than all other kinds combined. Before prohibition Americans consumed between 140,000,000 and 150,000,000 gallons of whisky annually.

Since the Boy Scouts were started 23 years ago more than 5,000,000 boys and men have been enrolled as members.

American boys grow faster than those in any other country in the world, says Dr. Robert B. Bean of the University of Virginia. Up until he is seven years old his growth is much greater than the German boy or the boy of eastern Europe.

KEEPING UP WITH TEXAS

Federal Relief Administrator Hopkins has announced a plan to relieve more than 24,000 families who were victims of hurricanes in Texas and Florida.

One big lump of salt containing 20,000,000 tons underlies the Grand Saline section of Texas, reports of geologists say. The salt forms what is believed to be the largest salt dome existent.

One thousand pounds of wool has been gathered by the San Angelo A. and M. Mothers' club to assist the student loan fund of the college. The wool will be made into blankets and auctioned.

A safe, thought to be one stolen from a grocery in Lincoln, Texas, several years ago, was discovered by boys in swimming in Little River near Cameron. The 300-pound safe was discovered in the bed of the river under a bridge.

The house of representatives will get along with less help this session than it had at their regular session of the legislature, a report from Austin says. The staff of clerical workers and pages has been sliced by some 80 employes, Louise Snow Phinney, clerk of the house, said.

The Texas highway department is planning to straighten the crookedest road in Texas. This road, a part of highway 29, lies in Travis and Caldwell counties. Both counties have been asked to furnish rights-of-way for a new highway 29 to replace the zigzag highway that now is in use.

The recent hurricane damage to the orange and grapefruit crops in the lower Rio Grande valley was about 88 per cent, the fruit and truck crop estimator for the Texas bureau of the United States department of agriculture reports. Oranges suffered somewhat less severely than did grapefruit. Hurricane damage in Florida caused an estimated loss of 25 per cent to the grapefruit crop of that state. Florida orange crops suffered a 10 per cent loss, he thought.

The house of representatives has adopted a resolution amending its rules to bar from the floor heads of state departments. Representative Alexander of Childress, one of the proponents, said he understood the question of restoring to their former level the salaries of state employes, cut from 25 to 30 per cent at the regular session, might be brought up and that departmental heads had been urging such action.

With the assertion that the citizenship of Texas must awaken to its responsibilities for Rio Grande valley hurricane sufferers, if success of the relief operation is to be assured, the director of Red Cross activities in the affected area, announced an additional appropriation of $25,000. This brings the total contribution of the agency to $50,000 since one-half the amount was allotted at the beginning of the program. In a statewide fund appeal by the Red Cross, Texans have been asked to subscribe $100,000 to the cause. All the funds are to be expended in the affected communities, the director pointed out.

The huge pageant which will be staged in the stadium at the State Fair of Texas, Wednesday, October 11, in which more than 50 Texas towns will participate will be free to the public, according to the president of the exposition. More than 500 people will appear in the cast of the pageant, which will follow the Parade of Nations, one of the features of Dallas Day. The pageant will mark the crowning of Queen Cerellia, the Second, and princesses and duchesses from all parts of the state will help in the coronation exercises. A huge stage to hold 500 people will be erected in the south end of the stadium. The Parade of Nations will be held on the cycle speedway in the stadium which will be used during the fair for motorcycle races.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VIEWS OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

THE COTTON PROGRAM

If the federal cotton plan for the next year goes through, the south will be faced with a great social problem. If cotton acreage is cut to 25,000,000 from the maximum of 48,000,000 we might as well understand that tenant farmers—estimated by the Texas Weekly at 200,000—will be out of employment in the south. Also a much larger number will have what amounts to part time employment.

If the cotton plan is adopted—and possibly it should be—congress this winter must assume the duty of saying what shall be done for these hundreds of thousands of tenants left without occupation. And congressional efforts must, of course, be supplemented by state and local efforts.

The Chronicle has long advocated cotton acreage reduction, through finding more profitable things for southern farmers to do. Acreage reduction regardless of the future occupation of farmers may be demanded by the present emergency. Apparently it is. But most assuredly it must not come without some consideration of the needs of the ones to be displaced.

Nor must we accept the policy of cotton production limited to the home market. Not only would that leave a permanent unemployment problem in the south, but it would mean the abandonment of an industry in which we possess a marked and ineradicable advantage over other countries. We can produce better cotton at a lower price than any other country in the world. Possibly no other nation has such an advantage in the production of any staple article.

Surely we should not abandon it. In fact it is hard to see how the world would get along without American cotton. The idea that other countries could quickly fill the vacuum is a myth. In order to rid the world markets of their present huge surpluses a cut in production is eminently desirable, but it must be accompanied by a care for the propertyless families who live solely by raising cotton, and it must not be taken as a start on a home market only policy.—Houston Chronicle.

STATE PARKS SYSTEM

The suggestion that all relief work in this state, now being devoted to improvement of local parks, be co-ordinated with a view to establishing a unified state system of parks may be difficult of attainment, but it is worth the attempt. If Texas has been a laggard in the development of any field of resources, it has been in this matter.

Other than a few excellent municipal parks, the state is practically without a parks system, yet Texas has far greater natural park resources than the average state.

The time has come in the civic, political and industrial development of Texas when the matter of developing a system of great public parks is a pressing one. Texas will always have hundreds of thousands of tourists "thrust upon it" annually, because it has within its bounds 800 miles of the great southern and all-year thoroughfare between the eastern states and the Pacific coast. The opening of the great Mexican highway system in the near future will increase this trans-state tourist movement. If we wished to keep tourists out of Texas we might neglect our parks on the theory that if we did not care for parks ourselves it was the business of no one else. But we can't keep tourists out and they are going to say something either good or bad about us when they get back home.

The most pressing immediate need, however, arises from our imminent centennial celebration now only two years away. We ought at least to make the most of our places of natural beauty in entertaining our guests on this occasion. Every opportunity, including the present program of relief work, should be seized to develop our parks before 1936.—Houston Chronicle.

WHEN SCIENCE IS NOT A SCIENCE

Blame for the present troubles of the world frequently is laid on science, but we wonder whether this may not be true in a way by quite different from that imagined by those who urge return to spinning wheels and simplicity. The science of mathematics, for example, is some 3000 years old. Mechanics is scarcely younger. Chemistry, although a mere infant in comparison of age, has become almost as exact. All such sciences have been reduced to definite well understood rules, easily learned by those of sufficient intelligence and industry, and not especially difficult to apply. Guesswork of any kind not only is unnecessary, but is positively forbidden. To persons of orderly mind this seems so delectable a state that it should be applied immediately to everything. "Scientific" has become a label of correctness among millions who forget that it took thousands of years to get mathematics to this point and hundreds to build a scientific chemistry. No doubt each well defined science that exists aids and quickens the definition of others, but it is still a fact that many subjects are not scientific and may mislead grossly if we treat them as though they were.

An insistent example nowadays is economics. There is no doubt that economics ought to be a science. There should be sets of rules to predict just what will happen in such and such a business contingency, as there are in mathematics or mechanics. Possibly in 3000 years or so there may be. Just now the would-be economists seem to suffer not so much from bad use of their rules as from trying to do the impossible—from forgetting that economics still is an art and not a science, to be mastered not from rules or textbooks, but from experience and perhaps from inspiration.

Sciences are grand things—when you have them. When you only think you have them they are not so good.—New York Herald Tribune.

LATIN AMERICAS WILL AID IN CUBAN PROBLEM

It is revealed in recent dispatches from Washington that the crisis in Cuban affairs was not unexpected; that Roosevelt had the problem under study before he was inaugurated, and that it is his fixed intention to call the South American countries into conference and lay before them the reasons for any steps that may be taken to insure the establishment of order and sound government in the disturbed island.

By pursuing this course, our relations with the Latin Americas should be strengthened rather than injured. There should be approval, and not protest, of any action, and the way to agreement on trade treaties should be freed of one obstruction that would prevent agreement.

The new policy differs from that which has been followed by Roosevelt's predecessors in numerous instances. And it is a vastly better policy. Adherence to it will contribute greatly to elimination of old prejudice and distrust and should mark progress toward the good will era in the relations of the Americas that has been envisioned.—Dallas Journal.

TAXES OR ECONOMY?

State and city alike, are hard driven by unbalanced budgets and the difficulties of borrowing money. Sales taxes by cities piled upon sales taxes by states have been proposed.

Income taxes have been added to income taxes. Automobiles and gasoline have been squeezed until the automobile owner rebels. New York City proposed to add to the tax on resident automobiles and then offset that by a toll on automobiles coming into the city.

The same community looked greedily upon dancing masters, beauty parlors and a half dozen like subjects of taxation, but hesitatingly decided that the revenue wouldn't justify the collection. Paris and other cities once levied an octroi on goods coming in at their gates. New York might try it if constitutions of the city state would permit. Salt and window taxes were common, but the trouble there is that politicians are ways hopeful of taxing the many for the benefit of the few, though it's the many who ways pay.—Nations Business

DRIVE CAUTIOUSLY DURING SCHOOL

We are again at the beginning of the school term, and children will run greater hazards from auto accidents during the next few months because they will be on the streets in greater numbers in these months. The law provides penalties for those who speed cars within school zone but caution should be extended to all of the streets and roads over which children may travel going and coming to and from school. Parents and teachers should systematically train their children to be cautious and to help prevent accidents, but a teacher they are only children, thoughtless and full of life, may do the unexpected thing any time. So the car driver must exercise unusual caution the number of these accidents are kept at a minimum.

The whole community would be shocked and grieved if a child was seriously injured or killed while on the streets, and every one should be on the alert to prevent such a tragedy. Many accidents of this kind are due to speeding motorists or otherwise breaking the law, cutting corners, etc. Such offenses should be punished. A large percent of them, however, are due to carelessness and inattention of adult drivers who are the guilty of criminal negligence.

Some accidents are unavoidable, but if we would all observe the rules of the road at times, children would be safe on the streets and roads.

Statistics show that auto accidents to children increase at the beginning of school, and are calling attention to the matter now with the hope that all may be reminded of the necessity to drive cautiously, especially during school months to prevent, if possible, serious accidents to the children of our community.—Kerrville Times.

The government, as represented by its agents in import ports, seems disposed to wash things up in banking circles. Doubt some bankers wish this would get hot enough to melt their frozen loans. All of us, including the bankers, are myfled as to just what Washington wants the banks to do.

One hand, it is requiring them get in shape to qualify for deposit insurance Jan. 1. Superposed upon these apparent crossed purposes is a proposition from the RFC to buy preferred stock in the banks which is a proposal to put the government into the banking business ahead of the regular stockholders. The big trouble with the fortunate banks was poor collections. And when all the banks closed in March a lot of them couldn't open again. Nature closed the ones aren't making any loans now. They made many previously. This tendency throw all the burden of lending upon the going banks and they have become panicky about security. The government doesn't want them to make loans, of course. But who in day and time can qualify as an inerrant expert on what is good one or a bad one? All sound banks are lending. I have to, if they make any profit. But they are asking such a price collateral that borrowing is foreshortened. When stock change loans in 1929 reached $7,000,000,000 we had a vast inflation. It was a credit infla. And it was the big wedge helped to split the country open.—State Press in Dallas News.

San Saba

Mrs. L. A. Skaggs of Brady was a guest of friends in San Saba a couple of days last week.

Saturday Arch Woods had the busiest day for many moons, in at least one department of his office. It was a good day for marriage licenses. Four were issued.

Prof. R. H. Mayfield returned last week from a trip to Corpus Christi and south Texas. He was in Corpus Christi during the period of the recent disastrous storm.

The office of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation for San Saba county has been established in the law office of J. K. Rector, attorney for the corporation and W. A. Smith as appraiser.

L. P. Powell, who owns considerable ranch property in San Saba county, last week closed a deal, according to reports, by which he bought the Bevans ranch properties in Menard and Schleicher counties. This ranch comprises some 20,000 acres and the deal involved a quarter million dollars.

The San Saba Baptist association met with the Locker church last week. It was one of the old fashioned type. A large crowd attended. Only two of the churches in the county were not represented. Evangelism, fellowship and business was combined. Three united with the church. One reconsecrated his life in service, one was baptized. Bro. A. J. Lindsey was ordained to the full work of the ministry.

Orders have been received by Postmaster F. B. Hall announcing that J. A. Quinn, who has had 30 years service as rural mail carrier, will be retired on October 1. At the same time rural routes Nos. 1 and 2 out of San Saba will be consolidated and hereafter be Route 1. Route 3 will remain as at present, but will be known as Route 2. Route 1, which is now old routes 1 and 2, will be served by A. D. Wallace, carrier, and Route 2, formerly Routes 3 and 4, will be served by S. E. Harber, carrier.—News.

Brownwood

The Heart of Texas Press Association has cancelled its semi-annual meeting scheduled for Saturday in Comanche, and will meet at a later date in Brownwood instead. The Heart of Texas meeting probably will be held in Brownwood Sept. 30, although definite date will be announced.

The government's wheat acreage reduction program, launched this week in Brown county by the new county agent, C. W. Lehmburg, is not meeting the enthusiastic response from Brown county farmers that was accorded the cotton plow-up program, according to opinions expressed by farmers this week.

The prospect that Brownwood may not get a C. C. C. camp at Lake Brownwood grew this week as it became known locally that California is making a strong bid to have the camps moved from the east for the winter transferred to the west coast instead of Texas and Florida. According to word received locally, pressure is being brought to bear upon those in charge of the camps to secure their removal to California in large numbers.

The machinery for putting into effect in Brown county the government's wheat allotment program is being perfected under the direction of County Agent Lehmburg. Preliminary committees have been appointed in each community to get the wheat growers out to the meetings. The work of these committees will have been completed as soon as the growers in each community sign up. Then a new organization will be perfected.

H. Dillon, resident engineer in charge of work on the Goldthwaite-Lometa highway, with headquarters in Lometa, was in Brownwood the first of the week to confer with Leo Ehlinger, district engineer, regarding plans and specifications for the new work. This is highway 74-A and connects highway 7 from Brownwood with highway 74 into Lampasas and on to Austin. About 40 miles of this highway will be improved during the next two years. Work is to start on the road within the next few days, Mr. Dillon stated.—Brownwood Bulletin.

Comanche

Calling attention to the high fire insurance rate being paid in Comanche, Mayor M. Coleman issues a statement urging the citizens of Comanche to co-operate in a program of fire prevention.

Enrollment in the Comanche city schools showed an increase of 28 on the opening day, Thursday of last week, as compared to the first day of last session. The enrollment was 538 as compared to 510 a year ago. The heaviest increase was at the high school, where 183 enrolled as compared to 138 last year.

Mrs. Monte Sims Tipton, charged as an accomplice in the Pink Milton murder here January 20 this year, was brought to the county jail here from Sonora Saturday afternoon by Deputy Sheriff John Reese. A special guard has been placed at the jail since two recent attempts at breaks were made. Tipton will remain in jail at San Angelo until he is tried at Eldorado and then will be brought to Comanche to stand trial for the murder of Milton.

A midnight fire Thursday destroyed a four room cottage in southwest Comanche belonging to Jack Morgan, while the family was visiting in Brownwood. The house was a complete loss and the only household goods saved was a small amount of bedding, which neighbors carried into the yard when they were awakened by Roy Raines, who turned in the fire alarm. Five hundred dollars insurance was carried on the building, but none on the furniture. The fire was beyond control when the alarm was turned in and the fire department had to connect hose more than five blocks away to reach the fire.—Chief.

According to the Italian press cigarettes were invented by accident just 100 years back, when at the siege of Acre in Palestine an Egyptian soldier who had lost his pipe replaced it by wrapping his tobacco in a bit of paper. An officer saw him and copied him till the entire Egyptian army did likewise.

Members of the Texas house of representatives turned to investigation of themselves Monday. By vote of 110 to 15 they authorized a committee of five to draft a questionnaire which all members are required to answer under oath. In it they must give their trade, occupation or profession and report from whom they have received any salary or retainer since they became members of the legislature.

The United States public health service at Washington announced Saturday three unidentified scientists had submitted to bites from mosquitoes, which previously had bitten "sleeping sickness" or encephalitis victims. Experts have given prominence to a theory that the disease is transmitted by insects. From 10 to 14 days will be necessary to determine whether the new experiments are successful. Similar experiments solved the yellow fever problem.

Norman H. Davis, American delegate to the world disarmament conference, has delivered a message to Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald from President Roosevelt, promising full and practical collaboration on disarmament. The message assured the British premier of the president's unflinching interest in disarmament. It expressed the conviction that an armaments accord was of vital importance to economic recovery. The opinion was expressed that agreement would reduce political tension and increase international confidence.

WEDDED BLISS

In a few years, perhaps 1950, when Frankie and Johnny step up to the license bureau for a marriage license, they may fill out a questionnaire if they wish and turn it over to the matrimonial counsellor, who will render his opinion as to how long they will be able to live together in wedded bliss. Then it is up to them.

This is the newest step in social science. Study has been conducted along these lines for the past two years and already several factors contributing to marital happiness have been discovered. It has been found that a wife without a mother-in-law will be happier; that they will be happier if the husband's parents were happily married; if they agree on important questions; if they have been religiously educated. A courtship of from three to five years before marriage favors happier marriages.—Pathfinder.

First All-Copper Home In America Now Being Constructed

New Metal Covered Home, Fire-proof and Rust-proof As Well

WHEN the frame residence of Dr. and Mrs. George C. Reid, overlooking Lake Delta, near Rome, N. Y., was destroyed by fire some two years ago, they decided to build on the same site a modern metal covered house that would not only be fire-proof but at the same time rust-proof and, therefore, require a minimum amount of up-keep expense. They consulted Pierre Blouke, well known Chicago architect, and the materials decided upon were steel for the frame work, copper for exterior walls and ceilings and brass for exterior railings. Mr. Blouke, who drew the plans for the original home, also drew the plans for the new residence which is now under construction. It will be the first copper house ever built in this country.

The steel framework has been finished and the sheathing of copper is now being constructed. It will be completed and ready for occupancy this fall. The house will have two floors and a basement. The design is modern with a flat roof. Columns of steel carry the load. At each floor level, built-up steel sections are riveted to the columns and project as cantilevers, developed by Harry L. Dovel, structural engineer, which then carry steel decking. This will be covered on top with a type of copper casing, which also acts as insulation, to be finally covered with floor carpeting. All doors and trim will be of hollow metal.

The Texas rehabilitation and relief commission has been authorized by the United States department of labor to resume recruiting for the civilian conservation corps. The present enlistment period expires October 1. Men now in the corps will be permitted to re-enlist. Texas' quota for the corps was 11,750, but 2070 of the number registered have been dropped for various reasons, there being 9680 Texans now in 73 camps in Texas, Arizona, Colorado and Wyoming. The difference between those re-enlisting and the state quota will be filled through the county boards of welfare and employment.

covered with copper of which about 75 per cent will be lead coated; the remainder, being plain, will naturally assume a patina green as it weathers.

Elevations in the architectural perspective above show how the wall areas and parts are varied between lead-coated copper and plain copper, and also how various standard styles of seams are worked in bands and strips to relieve the monotony. Standing seam construction has been used horizontally to convey long individual lines, contrasting with flat seam areas above and below. Battens seam construction, with prominent ribs running up and down, is used to achieve vertical lines.

The house, as the floor plan shows, has a garage attached and also a sun-porch and other open porch areas. The garage doors will be covered with copper to harmonize with the design.

Because it cannot rust, copper will be used for both hot and cold water plumbing lines. Concentric radiators will also be of copper. Exposed balcony and porch railings will be of rust-proof brass.

Mr. McCasland of Center Point bought apples from the Robertson orchard this week.

Every day we see loads of cotton being taken to the gin.

Lovina Lawson was numbered with the sick, the first of the week. FARMER.

CENTER CITY

These warm, dry days are fine for opening the cotton. Most of it has been gathered and all are glad.

It has been announced that our school will begin next Monday. Our same teachers will be with us this year, yet we expect some changes will be made in the grades. It is hoped all the pupils will be ready and will strive to make this our best year of school.

Prof. Kerby of Lometa came the first of the week to look after school matters. He expects to come back next Friday and be ready to begin his work Monday or rather Saturday, as they expect to meet in the afternoon and issue books, so all will be ready for work Monday.

Wedding bells rang in our community Sunday afternoon. DeAlbert Carter and Miss Mabel Collier were united in marriage at the home of Bro. C. M. Head. Only a few knew of this event, as it was a complete surprise to many. DeAlbert is the youngest son of Bro. and Mrs. Allan Carter, while the young lady is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Hardy Collier. Both are well known in this community and are outstanding Christian characters, which is the best we can say of anyone. Their many friends wish for this young couple a long and happy life, and may they continue to live in our midst.

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Venable and little daughters visited his mother Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom House and Mrs. Ira Aldrede were visitors to Goldthwaite Tuesday.

Mr. Coffman's brother and family from California are here for a visit.

Mrs. Winnie Price and children are visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Allan Carter, and family.

Talmage and Wilson Head are in Brownwood attending Daniel Baker.

A number of visitors attended singing Sunday afternoon. We are always glad to have these visitors and especially those who help in the singing.

Bro. Brown preached at his regular hours Sunday. We missed Sister Brown. She is a student in Howard Payne at Brownwood.

Misses Ruth and Ila Fay Featherston of Bethel and Mr. and Mrs. Will Taylor of Live Oak attended singing Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Atchison and little son, T. J. Harrison, Misses Clea Geeslin, Rena V. Chappell and Gilma Myrl Wright visited in the Oglesby home Sunday.

A number from here visited Mr. Huggins' singing class at Star and reported a large class and good singing.

Miss Margaret Venable visited her sister, Mrs. Horace Reeves, last week end.

Mrs. Howell and little daughter visited Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Hill Sunday.

P. A. Burks and family attended singing Sunday.

The two daughters of Mr. and Mrs. Webb Hill visited here Sunday and attended singing.

Ernest Langford and family of Indian Gap visited in the Walker and Yeager homes Sunday.

Retired Ranchman Killed by Auto

F. H. LINDSEY,

fatally injured when struck by car.

Injuries sustained when he was struck down by an automobile, after alighting from a bus at Broadway and Elizabeth road, caused the death Thursday night of F. H. Lindsey, 70, retired rancher.

The victim died at the county hospital a few hours after he was taken there. Internal injuries were believed to have caused his death.

According to City Marshal Paul G. Villaret of Alamo Heights, Lindsey was struck by a car a moment after he had alighted from a San Antonio Public Service company bus.

The driver of the car gave his name as R. L. Malone, 724 Sherman street.

The victim lived at 118 Mary D street, in Alamo Heights. He was a native of Mississippi, but had lived in San Antonio several years. He had been a ranchman until 10 years ago, when he retired, and has been living with a daughter, Mrs. J. W. Lockett. He was a member of the Methodist church and the Old Trail Drivers association.

Mr. Lindsey is survived by his widow, Mrs. Emma Trent Lindsey of El Paso, three daughters, Mrs. Lockett, Mrs. Dan Williams of Las Cruces, N. M., Mrs. L. E. J. Browne of Ancon, Canal Zone, three sons, F. H., Jr., James Lindsey and Trent Lindsey of El Paso; a brother, James H. Lindsey of San Saba county, and six grandchildren. — San Antonio Evening News.

Mr. Lindsey was well known in Mills county and had many friends hereabouts. In the long ago he was engaged in the mercantile business at Williams Ranch, then moved to West Texas, where he lived a number of years. Later he bought a ranch in the bayou country and later still he owned a place north of town, on the Mullin highway, but moved to San Antonio a good many years ago.

He was a liberal hearted, likeable man and made friends readily. The announcement of his death was received with sincere regret by all the people here who knew him.

He was a brother of J. H. Lindsey, whose ranch is across the river from Regency.

MANY ENTER FAIR BABY DOLL PARADE

Many entries in the Baby Doll Parade, which will be held as one of the features of the 1933 State Fair of Texas have already been received, according to Otto Herold, president of the exposition. The Baby Doll Parade will be held in front of the auditorium at noon on Saturday, October 21, at which time more than 100 babies with their baby dolls and baby buggies are expected to parade before the judges for the prize money offered the three selected as the best. Prizes will be paid in gold.

The contest is open to any girl owning a doll and doll buggy in the state of Texas and the only requirement is that she is under the age of ten years. One entrant and one adult accompanist will be admitted to the fair.

PASSING OF MRS. MURPHY

Mrs. Will Murphy of Adamsville died in a Temple hospital Sunday, where she had gone for an operation for appendicitis, but was found to be in a weak condition for the operation. The funeral was held Monday at Pleasant Grove.

On the way to the hospital the car in which she was being carried was run into by a car occupied by two men. Both cars were totally wrecked but no one injured.

Mrs. Murphy was a sister of Mrs. Chester Frazier of this county and all of Mrs. Frazier's friends sympathize with her in this bereavement.

free for the contest immediately preceding the parade. Entries can be mailed to the secretary.

KIDNAPING TRIAL IN PROGRESS IN OKLAHOMA

The trial of twelve persons, charged with kidnaping Chas. Urschel in Oklahoma City and holding him in Wise county, Texas, until $200,000 ransom was paid to their representative in Kansas City, is in progress in federal court in Oklahoma City. The case went to trial Monday morning. An armored car was used to carry R. G. (Boss) Shannon, his wife and their son, Armon, 21, from jail to the skyscraper court building, where sixteen officers armed with machine guns kept a steady vigil. The terrorizing messages by which the kidnapers of Urschel forced payment of the biggest ransom in American history were read to a federal court jury at the opening of the trial of twelve alleged conspirators.

The isolated, heavily guarded court room itself was in terror because of two new sensational gangland threats and defiance, hurled at three defendants, the millionaire oil man, Urschel, and government attorneys.

The threats came from either Harvey Bailey, notorious desperado accused as plotter of the crime, or his cell mate, Albert Bates and from George (Machine Gun) Kelly, one of the alleged abductors, who is a fugitive.

Authorities are tentative about contents of the notes, which were two in number.

Little Herbert Hyde, jr., son of the chief prosecutor, is in a secret hiding place under guard of federal agents, because of a threat to kidnap him "to cool his father off."

Eight officers, armed with machine guns, escorted the armored steel car inside, which the Shannons will hereafter be taken to and from court for fear Kelly, their son-in-law, will suddenly appear and try to get vengeance on them for "talking."

Government witnesses established that Mrs. Katherine Kelly, fugitive with Kelly, bought the machine gun used when Urschel was taken from his palatial mansion the night of July 22 by two men identified as Kelly and Albert Bates, Denver defendant.

The gun in evidence was taken from a cot beside Harvey Bailey when he was captured in a raid on the Shannon farm near Paradise, Texas, in early August. It has been established that Urschel was held at the Shannon place while ransom demands were made and met.

Gangland, in two sensational moves openly defied the government prosecuting the accused kidnapers. The entire Urschel family was marked for death in a letter received from George (Machine Gun) Kelly just before the wealthy oil man testified in federal court. The letter was reported also to have promised death for Joseph B. Keenan, assistant attorney general from Washington in charge of the campaign against racketeers.

A menacing kidnap threat from the cell of Harvey J. Bailey and Albert Bates, chief targets of the government's prosecution, caused the 4-year-old son of United States District Attorney Herbert K. Hyde to be whisked out of the city to a secret hiding place.

The daring message, said to have been written with a fluid which became invisible when it dried, was reported to have been brought to light with chemicals. It could not immediately be learned for whom the "invisible" ink note was intended or the method used in attempting to smuggle it out.

Because the message was reported not to have specified which of the United States prosecutors was to suffer the kidnaping blow, the four children of Keenan in Washington, D. C., were said to have been placed under heavy guard.

Neither Hyde nor Keenan would discuss the plot to kidnap a child, but extraordinary precautions reported taken would be in line with placing bodyguards over Hyde, Keenan and United States Judge Edgar S. Vaught. Contents of the letter said to have been received by Urschel could not be learned. The missive, said to be marked with the full hand print of Kelly, desperate fugitive in the Urschel case, is reported to be in the hands of federal authorities.

CONSERVATION WORK

Hq. Texas District, C. C. C., Fort Sam Houston, Texas, Capt. M. Y. Stokes, Jr., MI-Res., Public Relations Officer.

Port Sam Houston, Texas, Sept. 21.—By enlisting in the regular army, Civilian Conservation Corps enrollees who are qualified may not only secure permanent jobs for themselves, but will make their places in the C. C. C. open for other men to fill. This fact is pointed out by General C. R. Howland, the commander of the Second Division at Fort Sam Houston and commander of the Texas District, C. C. C. "It is a patriotic duty incumbent on all of us to attempt to find a permanent job for a man now on the C. C. C. rolls in order that some other unemployed man may now enroll." General Howland has stated in an official memorandum to the commanding officers of the 24 C. C. C. camps in the Texas District. There are now vacancies for enlisted men in the command at Fort Sam Houston as well as at other army posts.

Not all of the enrollees who will complete their present enrollment in the C. C. C. this month are eligible for enlistment in the regular army. The physical examination is more rigid for the army than for the C. C. C., which merely requires that the applicant be physically qualified for manual labor and free from active disease. No man who has a permanent dependent can enlist in the army. Men under 21 must have their parents' or legal guardians' unconditional consent. Furthermore, a man in the C. C. C. must have his company commander's recommendation as to his suitability for regular army service in order to have his application considered.

No enrollees who have the promise of a position in civil life are to be encouraged to enlist in the army, unless the securing of such position will displace a man now holding it. "With so many unemployed men in the country who are well qualified to fill any vacancies that appear, it is believed that the vacancies in the regular army offer a bright hope for the future to C. C. C. enrollees who can qualify for enlistment." General Howland's statement continues. By securing permanent positions in the army for deserving men in their companies, company commanders in the C. C. C. may thereby help industry and the unemployment situation in accordance with the desires of the president of the United States.

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

E. B. Gilliam returned the first of the week from a business visit to Fort Worth and Dallas.

Miss Elvera Cobb left Saturday for Belton to enter Baylor college.

The gins are running on full time and the cotton is being brought to this market rapidly. Let me show your watch a good time—F. D. Reynolds.

Geo. Fletcher was here from Mullin the early part of the week looking after business matters.

W. J. Weatherby went to Dallas Saturday to accompany Mrs. Weatherby home from a visit to relatives in that city.

The Eagle appreciates your order for job printing.

Mrs. L. R. Conroy went to Fort Worth Saturday for a visit to relatives and expected to spend a week or more in that city.

King Childress and wife made a week end visit to friends in Hamilton, Stephenville and other places.

J. Milton Puckett of Sonora, who owns a large sheep ranch in Sutton county, visited in the home of his sister, Mrs. Lewis Hudson, this week.

A number of the school in the county have opened for the fall term and practically all of them will be opened by the first Monday in October.

The Mills County Cold Storage Co. has had some improvements made in the poultry department, preparatory to handling the turkey crop.

Miss Tessie Swanger left Sunday for Abilene to enter a business college. Her father, Dr. R. A. Swanger, accompanied her and returned home the early part of the week.

Harry Allen has received a report from the health department on the Goldthwaite city water and it is pronounced pure. There was no thought the water was impure, but it is well to keep a check-up on it and know rather than hope it is pure.

M. Y. Stokes, Jr., and his wife and sons arrived from Fort Sam Houston, San Antonio, last Saturday morning and remained at home until Sunday, when they returned to the Alamo City via Lampasas, where they stopped for a visit with relatives.

Burch is prepared to clean and press garments for any member of the family and takes orders for made-to-measure garments. See his samples for spring clothing.

The Eagle appreciates the work of its correspondents and is pleased that a very few letters now reach this office that are not signed by the writers. Few county papers can boast of as fine a list of writers as those contributing to the Eagle's columns.

Friends here of J. R. Clark, former banker, druggist and postmaster at Mullin, who is now engaged in the drug business at Abilene, have learned with interest that he is an applicant for appointment as postmaster of the last named city and we are all hoping he secures the appointment.

Joe Roberts, who was assistant to the management of the Rural Telephone Co. at this place, prior to the merging of that property with the Southwestern States Co. here, has been made manager of the telephone exchange at Rome, Wise county, and "trouble shooter" for the exchange at Decatur. He and his family will make their home at Rome and left Sunday for that place.

All watch work guaranteed to give service—F. D. Reynolds.

Master George Wayne Featherston spent Saturday night with his Grandma Stacy.

We were glad to have Mr. and Mrs. George Bohannon attend singing here Sunday afternoon and are hoping they will come back again.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Stacy's new house is certainly beginning to look nice.

Mrs. M. L. Casbeer and children visited Mrs. Walter Summy a few minutes Saturday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Featherston and George Wayne visited in the Stacy home while Saturday morning.

John Hill dined with Mrs. Anna Jones and children Sunday. Phil Morris visited Edgar Simpson Sunday afternoon.

Charline Warren, Evelyn Covington, Amos Herrington and family and Ben Casbeer helped Clyde Featherston pick cotton last week. Clyde took two bales of cotton to town last week.

There were several from this community who entered school at Goldthwaite last week.

Mrs. Parker from Lometa visited her daughter, Mrs. Ab Hill and family last week and helped attend to the baby who has been so sick. We are sorry the baby has not been getting along any better than it has.

The Starnes boys have been picking cotton for Willis Hill.

Berlin Whitt sheared goats for Dixie Webb Monday.

Mrs. M. L. Casbeer and children spent Tuesday in the B. R. Casbeer home while M. L. was picking his cotton on that place. Will Horton helped him pick.

Let's all try to be at Sunday school Sunday at 10:30 and increase our number. ROSEBUD

ROCK SPRINGS

There was a very small number at Sunday school Sunday morning. I failed to get the exact number.

There was a larger crowd at B.Y.P.U., but just three present who were on the program.

I believe all the sick ones are all feeling better this week.

Philip and James Nickols' birthday party Saturday night was a real good party. They appreciated the gifts they received.

J. F. Davis and wife from Brown county and C. O. Stark and family from Center Point were visitors in this community.

Joe Palmer from town moved here last Sunday. Mr. Roberts now has charge of a telephone exchange. We wish them the best of luck. James Nickols accompanied Mr. Palmer in this move. We feel sure he saw sights while in Fort Worth.

Since Joe Roberts left his father's farm, it keeps Mr. Roberts busy looking after his stock on both places.

Landy Ellis and Richard Sowers sure have hauled the cotton to town this week.

James and Shirley Nickols sheared some goats for W. A. Daniel Saturday morning.

Miss Bernice Traylor has a room at Marshall Miller's in town. She will do light house-keeping and go to school.

Abbie Hunt from town and Miss Nellie D. Cooke sat until bedtime one night last week in the Nickols home.

Those who enjoyed cream in the Nickols home Tuesday night were August Kauhs, Fred and

STARTS STORMY

The Texas legislature's special session on its opening day gave promise of being one of the most troublesome in legislative history of the Lone Star state. Within three hours after the session convened Thursday the house became embroiled in a heated discussion of anti-trust legislation, the controversy centering around the committee to which bills liberalizing the laws against trusts and monopolies should be entrusted. Representative Weaver Moore of Houston opened the house argument with a motion that bills dealing with anti-trust legislation be sent to the judiciary committee. The house voted 33 to 41 to send the bills to the judiciary committee, which near the close of the last regular session, refused to take any action on suspension or modification of the laws. Moore said he was opposed to repealing the anti-trust laws and said he believed the judiciary committee could work out a bill that would allow industry to participate to the fullest in the national program without vitiating the anti-trust laws. Moore said he feared the state affairs committee would favor repeal of the anti-trust statutes.

Medallions Feature of New Boudoir Sets

This lovely bedroom corner with its charming dresser has several points of interest for the woman who likes to have her boudoir up to date. The ruffled window drape, the quaint simplicity of the wall covering, the design of the dresser, a rich dark note against the lighter wall, are all delightful. The toilet accessories shown on the dresser top, after the latest mode, are also of interest and new this year. Pyralis, the material of the set, now provides something entirely novel. The romantic design carried out in the pieces is that of a Spanish strolling minstrel with his guitar. This is the medallion motif on the mirror back. It appears on a surface of jet enhanced with gold on a background of maize transparent with a wide border of maize and a fine white band. Other sets have jet and gold motifs on an ivory-like surface. Each article of this "Strolling Minstrel" set has a different but harmonizing design. This is the first time that such medallion work has been possible and both colors and design add to the distinction of the room.

News of the Week

They're holding revivals now in Hell creek bottoms, Miss. The creek was named by Union soldiers during the way between the states, when their artillery was mired in the mud after a heavy rain.

An English sparrow, whose nest caught fire, succeeded in bringing out the Aurora, Mo., fire department. The nest, atop a store building burst into flames and the fire engine went to the rescue. Firemen believed the bird had carried a lighted cigarette stub to its nest.

Mrs. G. W. Gartman arrived in the city last week end from Ventura, Cal., where she spent some time in the home of her daughter, Mrs. E. F. Keese, and family. She will continue to reside in Dallas for some time, although she likes California very much.

There is a telephone for every six and one-third persons in the United States, according to figures compiled by the American Telephone and Telegraph company. There are about 35,000,000 telephones in the world of which 56.17 per cent, or 19,390,187 are in the United States.

The largest army hospital in the United States, is located a few miles east of Denver in Adams county. Army department officials in Washington ruled that Adams county was right in taxing hospital residents, as the land on which the institution is located had never been deeded to the government.

Nobody wanted a block of imitation marble at any price when it came up for sale recently at the auction of unclaimed articles by the customs service at Brooklyn army base. But there will be brisk bidding if ever another one is put up for sale, because 24 bottles of fine brandy were found concealed in the block. Supposed to be valuables, the block was smashed with a sledge, revealing three shattered bottles and 21 full ones.

A dozen sets of false teeth and a bridge was the loot a window smasher, took from a display case in front of the office of a dentist in Flint, Mich.

For the person who feels that the dentist doesn't know he is hurting, a Texas dentist has devised a signal. When the patient gets in the chair he takes hold of the device and if the drilling by the dentist becomes so painful that the patient wants him to stop, the patient pushes a button and a light flashes.

A report from Washington says that despite all of the hullabaloo made by the national recovery administration, agricultural adjustment administration and other projects of the "New Deal", the record shows the Roosevelt administration has spent less money since its advent than did the Hoover administration during the comparable period of last year.

Shall the ladies be afraid of dropping and breaking their evening frock? An all-glass gown has been made and worn in London. It was shown in one of the smarter shops and worn by Gloria, the mannequin. It looked from a short distance, as if it were made of silver and diamonds, but close up the tiny hair-like threads of glass could be seen. The threads are closely pressed together in the three-criss-cross layers, not woven. If the dress were less frothy, it would be transparent.

A Saskatchewan lawyer says he has come across an old law which should serve as a warning to modern women in applying her makeup as a snare for the male. The law, which Dr. Honsberger says was passed by the British Parliament in 1670 and never repealed, reads: "All women of whatever age, rank, profession or degree, whether virgins, maids or widows, that shall from the passing of this act impose upon and betray into matrimony any of his majesty's male subjects by scents, paints, cosmetics, high-heeled shoes or bolstered hips, shall incur the penalty of the law now in force against witchcraft."

STYLES IN NEW YORK

Charming Cut Is Found In Children's Clothes for Fall

There are two schools of thought on children's clothes. Some parents and their offspring go in for form, rather than for fashion, and prefer to buy, year in and out, classic types. They believe that the decorative touches on little girls' clothes should be fine piping, narrow silk braid, and accurate tucks. And that sturdy blue serge, wool, linen and bright tweeds are correct materials. They go in for sweaters and pleated skirts, for sailor suits and smocks.

Some very young ladies (8 to 14) have, however, rather definite ideas of their own about their wardrobes. They are fond of smocking to define their as yet non-existent waists. And they adore the puffed sleeves that have been so fashionable with their older sisters.

Winter and summer, cotton is a great favorite because of its adaptability to easy laundering. This season there is great variety of styling and color among the cottons.

Most of these little frocks are of unshrinkable cotton or flannel. There is a group in striped seersucker, in pastel shades. Most of them have a little round or square white collar, edged with narrow ric-rac braid. Many cottons in color have small white polka dots, which seem to be a favored design of the younger generation.

New Ways With New Buttons

Buttons and clips add the high style touch to many a new fall frock. And, for the most part, it is the big button that counts. Besides the big, round metal and composition types, there are new novelty buttons in tube and torpedo shapes and a whole new range of mirror buttons—originated in the house of Worth—and featured in New York shops. These mirror buttons, which gleam and twinkle on velvets, satins and woolen frocks, on suede and antelope handbags and on new hats, belts and what not, are noted in a variety of shapes—round, rectangular and square. They are sometimes outlined with metal, wood or composition. A Victorian type of button noted in the mode is of fine fillgree nickel. It is seen on some of the dressy crepe and satin blouses, often in bronze or gun-metal tones.

New Colors for Kitchens

Kitchens are no longer just repositories for cookstove and cooking utensils. They have taken their place along with other room interiors in distinctive decoration. In a group of newly designed kitchens on display at a recent "preview" in a smart New York furnishing house, new and effective color combinations along with new gadgets and various labor-saving devices, were featured. A very charming kitchen done in French Provincial featured gleaming copper pots and pans hanging in interesting groupings on deep beige walls, with darker color accents furnished through curtains, chair pad covers and china trims in dark rich brown. These same rich tones were carried out in the dishes on a corner breakfast table with a peasant linen tablecloth. Notes of bright red and green were introduced through odd dishes and through such picturesque items as a string of large pods of Mexican red and green peppers, which hung from the walls. An ultra modern apartment in chenille featured a breakfast bar and an original John Held, jr. floor—the color scheme of the room being carried out in blues—the light blue of the walls accented by a darker blue in the lacquered curtains and the blue trim of painted chairs and table. The chromium metal sink added just the correct tone to these blues. A big and comfortable suburban kitchen for six was done in light green with curtains and chair pads in a shiny yellow chintz, with all-over small floral pattern. Then there was an attractive penthouse kitchen with dainty overlooking the New York skyline—the interior particularly interesting in its demonstration of what can be done in small space through disappearing wall devices. The ivory walls accented by dark beige were further enlivened by touches of red and black, through dishes and odd pieces in the kitchen proper, and also in the little corner dinette.

Gloves Feature Variety of Fabrics

Gloves are decidedly important in the fall mode, with a whole array of new materials used in their making—velvets and satins in dull and lustrous silk and rayon versions, also suedes and novelty fabrics of all kinds. Many of the smart models feature flare cuffs—these often in contrasting color.

Style Flashes

There are several types of nightgowns in the stores. There are the conventional lace-trimmed models in crepe, satin and in knitted silk or rayon and silk. These have Alecon lace set in around the neck and at the bottom, and possible medallions. Then, there are simple crepe models in pastel shades, with separate lace boleros that may be slipped on or off. The newest nightgowns are of satin, and conform to the evening gown mode. They have draped collars which wind around in sashes, often are cut entirely on the bias, and sometimes combine several pastel tints in one gown.

Tailored Handbags

Smart tailored handbags are often made of suede, in black or brown, and have rather large frames and clasps of simulated tortoise shell. Other suede bags are decorated with inserts of pleated kid, giving them a dress maker quality. Little pouches of satin or of rayon velvet with delicately wrought frames of gold or silver and beads are shown for evening. Often a metal thread is woven into the fabric.

Capes and Wraps

Entirely new in evening capes is the wrap of uncurled ostrich feathers, usually shown in all black or all white. Some net capes have several rows of feathers around the bottom of the cape. There are tiny handbags also adorned with feathers to match.

Furs

Fur is used almost like fabric on winter coats and suits. Some times a tweed suit will have entire sleeves of beaver or caracul. Often yokes of fur are set in coats. While there are many conventional collars of fox or other long haired furs, there is a whole school of coats of dress maker inspiration, with the fur trimming set in, or draped on them, in original, interesting ways.

James Marberry made a visit to Austin this week, to visit relatives and look in on the opening exercises of the University.

NEWS FLASHES

Methods by which 9,000,000 bales of cotton might be taken off the domestic market are being discussed in Washington with the agricultural adjustment administration by representatives from nine cotton states.

Three Bryan girls resorted to court action this week in a determined effort to become Texas Aggies, a privilege heretofore reserved for men, except in a few rare instances. The girls filed a petition for a writ of mandamus forcing officials of Texas A. & M. College to permit them to enroll as co-eds.

President Roosevelt intends to go ahead without restriction on the $238,000,000 program to build the navy up to treaty limits. Reports have been current from abroad that suggestions had been made to Norman H. Davis, America's roving ambassador, that there be some abandonment or curtailment of the building program.

Can the pending suits against the oil companies instituted by Attorney General Allred, charging violation of the anti-trust laws, be prosecuted if the state's laws are so changed that the offense or violations they were charged with is no longer an offense. This highly interesting question came up Tuesday afternoon in the two hour joint hearing of the senate, sitting as a committee of the whole, and the house judiciary committee on anti-trust bills.

Lawrence Westbrook, director of the Texas rehabilitation and relief commission, announced that 2700 more men would be enlisted for work in forest camps, the latest quota to be filled by October 2. The enlistment will be effected through the United States army, he said. Texas now has 9860 men in the various forest camps. The state's quota was 11,750. Designations for enlistment will be handled through the county boards of welfare and employment.

Mrs. H. B. Bradley was an appreciated caller at the Eagle office yesterday afternoon and told us that Mr. Bradley had been in Brownwood several days at the bedside of his father, Mr. A. H. Bradley of Seallorn, who is in the hospital seriously ill, with but slight hope for his recovery. The old gentleman has a great many friends here who are grieved to know of his condition and sincerely hope he may recover. Use Eagle Want-Ads for best results.

Princess at Fair

Princess Aki, sensational Chinese dancer, is occupying Sally Rand's spotlight in the Cafe de la Paix at A Century of Progress—the Chicago World's Fair. The storms of applause accorded the Princess by the nightly thousands seem to indicate that the Fair's alleged naughty spot has made another "find". She is shown in a Hawaiian costume used in one of her dances.

BUY NOW AND SAVE

it's fine to make money, but just as important to save money already made. In that way we can buy many other things we would like to have.

We believe there has never been a time in merchandising, when the thrifty buyer had such a golden opportunity to save.

There have been times when higher prices stole upon us unawares and kept getting higher, thus robbing us of the chance to save on lower prices.

But To-Day It's Different

We are forewarned and know that prices are going higher—are generally, already up.

This store, as a merchandising institution built thru many years on the good will and liberal patronage of our numerous customers, is aware of our obligations to them and expects to hold them, as in the past, by looking out for their interests.

Foreseeing the upward trend of prices we early began covering our known wants and are able to make prices in most cases with no advance—in others at negligible advances. We absorbed the Processing Taxes on goods already in stock, which means quite a saving to our customers.

Buy now before our present stock is exhausted, at practically old low prices!

We Are Doing Our Part

In the great N. R. A. Movement instituted by our President to put more people to work and give them more buying power—EVERY EMPLOYEE IN THIS STORE IS CO-OPERATING 100 PER CENT TO HELP MORE UNEMPLOYED TO FIND JOBS.
