KENTUCKIANS GATHER FOR PLEASANT PICNIC

A large number of the former Kentuckians, who are residents of Mills county, gathered at the grounds in Goldthwaite last Friday for a picnic and reunion. Quite a few of their friends joined with them and several hours were spent most pleasantly. Mr. P. Weaver, county agent, presided as master of ceremonies, and several of the native Kentuckians who are now Mills county citizens, assisted in making the time pleasant for everybody. An ample supply of barbecue had been provided and most those attending the picnic carried baskets filled with good things and the long table was rationally loaded. A liberal supply of coffee, tea and ice water afforded all the drinks the assembly could desire. Everybody seemed to consider themselves on the committee to see that everybody else was given attention provided with plenty of dinner and had a good time.

After all had eaten heartily the impromptu program of speaking entertained the assembly for an hour or more and the evening was most pleasantly spent. The guests of the occasion were led to the conclusion that it was indeed a great pleasure and they were made to wonder why those good people were holding this reunion. It left the state at all, for they felt sure no other state than their own could have attracted them from a commonwealth that was so nearly a paradise as they represented it.

KIDNAPERS CONVICTED

Even of those on trial in Oklahoma City, charged with the kidnaping of Chas. Urschel in that city and holding him prisoner until a ransom of $200,000 was paid, were convicted and a judge announced he would know the penalty assessment next Saturday. Bailey, Bates and the Shannon family were included in the list of those found guilty. Machine Gun Kelly and his wife have not yet been tried in the kidnaping case, but will have to face a jury federal court as soon as the prosecution can get the case argued for trial.

It is claimed that an attorney from Oklahoma was the master mind in the kidnaping plot.

Methodist Notes

The pleasant weather is bringing more people to church services and has greatly increased Sunday school attendance. With all this, however, there are scores of others who are not in attendance who should be among us in some of the churches. It would be a great blessing to these absent ones if they would get into some of the congregations of the town and help to make our town one hundred per cent in these agencies for good citizenship.

At the morning hour last Sunday, under the leadership of W. C. Dew, the Methodist congregation got a long way toward a full report in the financial need for the conference year. Just a little help now from those who were not there and have not yet contributed their part, and our congregation will, as usual, make a hundred per cent financial report at the coming session of the conference. Give us your aid now.

Rev. J. E. Lovett, presiding elder of the Llano district, preached a very helpful sermon Sunday evening. The audience was large and appreciative. Bro. Lovett is popular with our people.

The quarterly conference held at the close of the Sunday evening service elected the officers who are to serve the church for the next conference year. These were the same who have served the church the past year, except that Prof. A. H. Smith was made assistant Sunday school superintendent and a member of the board of stewards.

This scribe had the great pleasure of attending two very agreeable functions the past week. One was a picnic party given by Prof. Smith and wife, and others, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Skaggs of Winters. This was held last Friday evening at Lake Merritt. The other was a picnic given Friday, a reunion of the Kentuckians who live in this section. Possibly this latter should not be spoken of as a reunion of Kentuckians; former Kentuckians would possibly be better, because we are now full fledged Texans. This was a great occasion, well attended and greatly enjoyed by all; the place of meeting was at the fair grounds. A committee was appointed to make the organization permanent and I am sure it will now become a permanent organization.

The Woman's Missionary Society is soon to announce an entertainment. "The Minister's Tea." It has been my prerogative to attend this same entertainment at sundry times and places in the past. As a matter of fact, I have attended it in several places in an entirely practical way—the real thing—I mean. If there is any entertainment that you can get more laughs out of for the small price, it is. So get ready, sew the buttons on your clothes so that there may be no occasion for an

WHEAT CROP ALLOTMENT

The committee to make allotments for planting wheat in the county, was in session in the county agent's office yesterday and were making the allotments to farmers and outlining the government plan to them. A large number of farmers were here and the indications are the plan will meet with hearty endorsement. The committee is composed of J. A. Holland, president; A. A. Moore, vice president; R. C. Duren, secretary; W. C. Dew, treasurer; E. A. Duren and C. R. Ashton, County Agent W. P. Weaver is the general supervisor in the county.

The government plan is to reduce the acreage devoted to wheat by 15 per cent, paying the farmer rent for the land and allowing him to plant it to food crops.

This plan is in line with that outlined for the cotton and all wheat farmers have been advised of its provisions, which appear to be extremely liberal.

Trades Day For Goldthwaite

Some of our neighboring towns have monthly trades days that seem to attract much trade and create interest among the people. A trades day conducted on the line of benefit to everybody provides an opportunity for exchange of property of more or less value, as well as getting people to come to town to buy. One person has some animal or other property to exchange. A trade can meet someone else in town on trades day who has some other property to exchange, a trade is made that benefits all concerned. Such an occasion also provides an opportunity for people of various communities to get together in a social way, thereby fostering good fellowship and mutual interest throughout the county.

The Eagle hopes to see a monthly or semi-monthly trades day inaugurated for Goldthwaite.

FIRE PREVENTION AND CLEAN-UP WEEK

By the authority vested in me as mayor of the city of Goldthwaite, I hereby proclaim and designate the week from October 8 to October 14 Fire Prevention and Clean-up Week in Goldthwaite, Texas.

Fire prevention is something that every loyal citizen of our town should be interested in. For every fire in our city, the property owners who pay insurance, eventually pay. Some people think it is the insurance company that pays out the money, but eventually it is the insured who pay.

Property lost through fire is a total loss, regardless of insurance; it can never be put back into existence again. It is like a life lost through fire, it cannot be re-created. Let us all, therefore, use every effort to prevent any and all destructive fires in Goldthwaite. Carelessness causes most fires. Let's keep our premises clean, do away with inflammable material, examine our electric connections, protect ourselves and our neighbors.

I call on the schools to observe fire prevention week with appropriate exercises, programs and posters, and training in fire drill. I ask the pastors of the churches to call to the attention of their congregations the sin of willful waste through fire. I recommend that all civic organizations consider how they can prevent fires in Goldthwaite.

On the last three days of said week, the city will haul off trash, if same is placed in convenient places. If you desire this done leave your name with the city secretary and designate in writing where the trash is located.

H. G. BODKIN,
Mayor of Goldthwaite.

FORMER CITIZENS ARE APPRECIATED

Supt. John M. Scott, formerly of Mullin and now of Buffalo, is highly appreciated by the Buffalo people, as is also Mrs. Scott, both of whom are taking leading parts in civic as well as educational matters in that section. There was a celebration at Buffalo last week over the completion of a paved highway and Mrs. Scott was assigned the task of giving a complete account of the celebration in the Buffalo Press. She was given the entire front page for her story and she filled it well. Mr. Scott was also a member of the citizens' committee preparing for and managing the celebration and the press said: "The committee did their work well, however, special mention should be made of the reception committee of John M. Scott, H. H. Lyon, D. H. Merrill, and R. E. Burroughs. They were on the job and served to the utmost of their ability. Mrs. John M. Scott, publicity committee also deserves special mention. Without the publicity, the celebration would not have gone over as successful as it did. Much credit is due Mrs. Scott, and the Press wants to thank her heartily for the assistance rendered."

ORPHANS' HOME GIFT

The Goldthwaite and Mullin ladies sent a shipment of canned goods and syrup to the Reynolds Presbyterian Orphans' Home in Dallas this week by Fairman truck line.

Cotton Checks Still Coming

County Agent W. P. Weaver has received another installment of 81 checks, aggregating $7,506, which makes a grand total of approximately one-half of the amount to be paid the farmers of this county in the plow up campaign. The total amount was $93,000 and the three installments of checks has taken up about half and the balance will be received in the near future.

This money has been very helpful to the farmers receiving it and the plan has undoubtedly helped the price of cotton materially.

RECEPTION FOR FRIENDS

Mr. and Mrs. A. H. Smith arranged a reception and picnic supper last Friday night at the country club, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Skaggs of Winters, who are former citizens of this place and friends of the Smith family. A number of the Goldthwaite friends of Mr. and Mrs. Skaggs were invited to participate in the gathering and all assembled on the club grounds at 7 o'clock. Soon the host and hostess, together with some of their friends, were busy in preparing the tables and when all were bidden to assemble at the table a most sumptuous spread greeted their eyes and encouraged their appetites. After supper some time was spent in conversation and in recalling many pleasant events that transpired during the time Mr. and Mrs. Skaggs were residents of Goldthwaite.

Those so fortunate as to participate in the delightful event expressed to Mr. and Mrs. Smith their appreciation of their courtesy and to Mr. and Mrs. Skaggs their pleasure in meeting with them again and renewing old friendships.

Mr. and Mrs. Skaggs left Saturday for their home in Winters, where they have made their home since leaving Goldthwaite and where they have large property interests.

New Plan For Cotton

The government's plan for control of the cotton crop for the next two years has been promulgated, the details of which are outlined in a letter sent out to county agents by the agricultural department. W. P. Weaver received the letter this week and its main points are outlined:

New Cotton Plan

Details of the new 1934-35 cotton plan to be offered southern cotton growers by the agricultural adjustment administration were received in a telegram to O. B. Martin, director of the extension service, from C. A. Cobb, chief of the cotton section. The plan contemplates a 25 million acre crop next year, cash rentals for the land left unplanted with cotton, county production control associations of farmers, no plow-up campaigns, and parity prices for at least a part of next year's crop.

Secretary Wallace also offers to cotton farmers loans of 10 cents per pound on their present crop to enable them to hold their cotton until prices are nearer a fair exchange value.

The new program will allocate the acreage by states among cotton farmers and restrict total plantings to approximately 25 million acres next year. This is expected to be about 60 per cent of the five year average for 1928 to 1932 inclusive and this will be the basis on which allotments are made to states, counties and individuals. The grower will be compensated in part by cash rentals for the land left out of production on a sliding scale based on the productivity of the land. The big feature of the new plan, according to Mr. Cobb, is the domestic allotment clause which provides that a producer shall receive approximately parity prices for that part of next year's crop consumed in the United States. Payments are to be based on the proportion of the 5 year average production which is domestically consumed.

The new program will operate through county cotton production control associations through which growers will enter into contracts for two years with the secretary of agriculture. The acreage to be planted in 1934 is to be determined on or before January 1 next. Compensation for 1935 reductions is to be on the same basis as for next year. Reductions for 1934 in acreage will not be more than 25 per cent of the five year average acreage. Mr. Cobb said.

SELF CULTURE CLUB

The first regular meeting of the Self Culture Club for the year 1933-34 was held in the home of our new president, Mrs. R. E. Clements, on Thursday, September 28. A splendid attendance was in evidence and all listened enthusiastically to the plans for the coming year, which Mrs. Clements outlined in such an interesting manner that each was inspired to do her best.

Mrs. R. M. Thompson, program chairman, made a splendid talk on the new study course, "Literary Regions of the British Isles," in which she explained the best way to present our work for this year.

The study for the day was citizenship with Mrs. Clements as leader. The roll call, "Patriotic Quotations," was good. The paper "American Ideals" read by Mrs. Thompson was inspiring. Miss Constance Trent favored us with two beautiful numbers on the xylophone, accompanied by Mrs. John G. Berry at the piano. Mrs. E. B. Anderson, in her own inimitable way read two lovely poems by Grace Noll Crowell.

We were happy to have with us two associate members, Mesdames O. H. Yarborough and S. P. Sullivan.

Delicious punch and nut wafers were served during the afternoon.

Club adjourned to meet again on October 12 at the home of Mrs. John G. Berry.

Baptist Reminder

Our training school has indeed been a success. We have enrolled 102 in all the classes. This is one of the best training schools I have ever worked in. I feel that our church will be greatly blessed. We will have our training service each Sunday evening at 6:30, one hour preceding our preaching service. Our organization is complete and we are expecting 100 to start on Sunday night.

I will preach Sunday morning on "Three Great Things," and Sunday night I will discuss this question: "Can the Ethiopian Change His Skin or the Leopard His Spots?"

I am sure that it will be of interest to our Baptist people of the county to know that Mr. T. C. Gardner of Dallas will be in our association on Oct. 12. He will be speaking in the interest of our denomination. I have arranged with the different pastors and churches for him to speak at the following places: 9:30 a. m., Mullin; 11:00 a. m., Center City; 2:30 p. m., Scallorn; 4 p. m., Big Valley. He will also speak here at Goldthwaite at 8 o'clock the same night. I urge every Baptist in the county to hear him at one of these meetings. In my judgment he is one of the greatest speakers among Southern Baptists. He will also be accompanied by other speakers from Brownwood and Coleman. FRANKLIN E. SWANNER

BAPTIST CIRCLE NO. TWO

Our Bible study met for the first time Monday afternoon in the home of Mrs. J. W. Evans after the summer vacation.

Mrs. Armstrong led a very interesting discussion on the book of Isaiah.

We are very proud of our circle and feel like, with the officers in charge, we will accomplish much toward the ongoing of the Master's kingdom.

Ten answered roll call. We were glad to have as our guest Mrs. McCullough and as our leader for the coming year. We want her to feel welcome to visit our circle as often as she can.

Mrs. Evans served a lovely plate consisting of sandwiches, cake and hot tea and wafers.

We will meet with Mrs. Armstrong next Monday afternoon.

Eagles Play Indians Today

The Comanche Indians will arrive in our city today to have a try at a victory over the Eagles. The Comanche team is in good condition, and also have a good coach. This will be one of the hardest games of the season for the Eagles and it will be worth what you have to pay to see it.

The home team is also in the best of condition. They have annexed several new players this week, and some of them are going to make the veteran players hustle to keep their positions on the team.

There was a large crowd out to the game last Friday and it looks as if our town is getting a little football spirit at last, but we want to see a larger crowd here this Friday. Some of the people doubted the ability of their home team. In their opinion Lometa already had them beat, but this was not the way it ended. You backed your team last Friday and they won for you. Will you back your team every game? The Lometa team brought a good many rooters with them and we want you to go with us and root for us, when we play away from home.

The pep squad girls and boys gave the Goldthwaite and Lometa football squads a picnic Friday night. It was a great success, and it showed that the girls appreciated what the football boys did Friday evening. Thanks to the pep squad!

Saturday night Dr. Swanger gave a dinner for the football boys. This is the first feed that has been given the boys and they certainly appreciated it. Mr. Swanger has been a backer of the football squad for several years and helps them in every way possible. REPORTER

LOMETA-GOLDTHWAITE FOOTBALL GAME

Many of you saw the fast ball game with Lometa last Friday. Those who are responsible for promoting and sponsoring these games appreciate your presence very much. Also just here permit us to say a word about sportsmanship. So far as we were able to observe, the sportsmanship, both on the field and on the side line was excellent. Words are inadequate to express our appreciation for this. The co-operation of the side lines in keeping back of the fences help the game a whole lot.

By the way, we consider there are two good reasons for maintaining football in school: First, boys and girls are entitled to some pleasure and relaxation. Football provides both. Then there are some good lessons to learn from the game, such as fair play, perseverance, co-operation with your fellowman, and quick thinking and action in case of an emergency.

Strict eligibility rules are laid down and will be adhered to in every detail. These rules simply mean that a boy must be doing fair school work before he is permitted to play. Any week that any boy, even though he is the best player on the team, falls below the standard he will be left out of the game.

We were about to forget to say the score was 6-0 in favor of Goldthwaite.

This week ends the first month of your school. We trust it has been satisfactory to you. Your faculty is striving to give you a good school. We need your help. Yours truly,
A. H. SMITH

J. J. Cockrell this week shipped some of his fine yellow apples to the Dallas fair for exhibition and we are confidently expecting first premium on them. Two years ago Mr. Cockrell was awarded first prize on his display of apples and last year he sent a number for exhibition, but they failed to reach their destination. CONVENTION IMPORTANT

It is very necessary for fire fighting apparatus to be available, especially in communities where buildings are in close proximity, where there is danger of fires reaching from one building to another and ultimately causing much greater loss than would have resulted from the destruction of the property where the fire originated, but it is better still to prevent the fire in the first place. It is for this cause that fire prevention week was inaugurated. If the people are taught the danger of fire and also the means by which fires are started, a great amount of waste can be saved, for it is well known that carelessness is responsible for a vast majority of fires, even though some of them are blamed on accidents, for the accidents would have been prevented by due care having been exercised. It is with a hope of inducing caution that "Fire Prevention" week has been designated and is observed throughout the country. The statistics on fires, many of which were preventable, make a remarkable showing. One authority on the loss to the country by fires says:

"For the first eight months of 1933 the National Board of Fire Underwriters estimates the national fire loss at $224,904,141, as compared with $310,078,321 for same period in 1932.

"With such a wonderful start on reduction of fire losses for the year, Fire Prevention Week, which occurs from October 8 to 14, should give added impetus to the fire prevention movement and encourage the making of a record year for low fire losses.

"Fire causes the loss of thousands of lives annually. Men lose jobs and wages, and government collects no taxes on burned buildings. It is estimated that 43 per cent of business houses which burn annually, do not resume operations.

"Insurance costs are based on fire losses—whether your own property burns or not, you pay insurance because it is part of the cost of operation in all business.

"Let every man and woman be their own fire inspector—look at the heating plant, clean up the basement, take trash out of the attic, dispose of oil or paint covered rags, keep hot ashes out of combustible containers, fix wiring connections and check a hundred things they can do to prevent fire. Be careful of matches and smoking.

"Farmers should be doubly concerned about fire and use every preventative measure possible, because they have little protection once a fire is started.

"Fire Prevention Week draws attention to the importance of fire prevention and activities against the fire hazard should continue throughout the year. Fire destroys life, property, progress and prosperity."

AN AGE OLD QUESTION

Since the beginning of time the question as to whether or not crime pays has been outstanding. While it has never yet been answered in the affirmative, many individuals have indicated by their actions that they believed it would pay in their individual cases and, possibly, it has seemed to them to pay for a season, but does it? The history of the outstanding criminals of other days and the experience of most of those of this day and time undoubtedly proves that it is better to go straight. The desperado, the embezzler or the kidnaper, train robber or safe-blower or the petty thief have only a temporary advantage to gain. The fear of being overtaken and punished certainly takes from them any satisfaction in the possession of ill-gotten gain, the carrying thru of any unlawful plot or the seeming reward of any crime they have committed. Many of them have confessed a belief that it is better to live an upright and honorable life than to take chances with the law and public opinion, even though they could escape the prescribed penalty of such violations of law and right. Moralizing, however, has never reached the minds and consciences of all those on mischief bent and never will, yet the truth must certainly stand out before the minds of all sensible people, as they watch the conduct of criminals of all classes, that really and truly "honesty is the best policy" in the long run.

SAVING AT A LOSS

Many of those who hold office in Texas do not appear to realize their obligation to the newspapers of the state and certainly numbers of them do not evidence any particular interest in said newspapers until they need a service. To be sure, a newspaper is a quasi public institution, but in reality the business office must depend upon independent patronage rather than tax money to meet expenses. Many of the aforementioned politicians never think of spending a dime with the newspapers and some do not even give them the patronage that is generally recognized as their dues—a political announcement. This newspaper has long maintained a policy of remaining neutral on the ambitions of those holding district or less important offices who have not contributed to the paper's support by so much as an announcement fee while campaigning for office in a district of which Mills county is a part. Newspapers are always looked to for every character of party service in political campaigns and the candidates who secure the offices and draw the salaries should at least contribute the amount of an announcement fee to support the party newspapers and when they "save" that amount in their district campaigns this newspaper "saves" its space when they desire to go up higher in an official way.

PATERNALISM IN GOVERNMENT

There is no reason for minimizing the great good that has been done by the RFC and other governmental agencies in helping the people and preventing suffering. Everybody should appreciate the efforts that have been put forth to provide employment and enable those dependent upon their labor for sustenance. Yet, we can not overlook the fact that a spirit of dependence upon the government has been fostered that will not be overcome in a generation. Not alone is this spirit extant among the recipients of the benefits of the various appropriations, but the administrators of these funds, in many cases, have become imbued with the idea that the people must be cared for and their business and industries taken under a protectorate and given government control. The country needed the help that has been given and more help will be needed until the country fully recovers from the effects of the depression, but the individuality of the citizens must be respected and fostered, else a spirit of paternalism will be so deeply imbedded that it will be hard to eradicate.

CONDITIONS IN TEXAS

The Santa Fe railway bulletin for October, says as to Texas: Practically all Texas cotton farmers are participating in the government's cotton acreage reduction program. The estimated yield for this year is 3,815,000 bales, compared with 4,500,000 bales last year. Insect damage due to excess moisture has been heavy in some localities with new bolls being pictured so soon as they appear, while in sections where growth has been rank the bolls are rotting on the stalks. Generally, however, conditions are favorable. Picking and ginning are going ahead rapidly with total ginning considerably in excess of usual seasonal figures. Markets are considered good and practically the entire crop is being sold as soon as ginned. In the western area increased production per acre will offset the government's plan for decrease.

Late feed crops are in fairly good condition, but many areas will not make sufficient feed for winter use. Small grain for winter grazing is going along rapidly. Rice harvesting continues at a rapid rate with the quality of the crop high. The late crop will show better than usual unit production, although yield for the state will be 15 per cent short of that obtained last year.

Sweet potato production will show a slight unit decrease compared with last season. Quality also has not been up to standard, and practically the entire crop is being held by growers because of unsatisfactory markets.

The pecan crop in central west Texas is in excellent condition and movement will be heavy in the next thirty days.

Turkey production for the holiday markets will show 25 per cent decrease as compared with last year's movement. The birds are plentiful, but unfavorable range conditions during the summer has retarded growth.

Wheat planting in the northwestern areas is well along, but retarded in a few localities on account of dry soil. Fields have begun to green up. The acreage will be close to that of last year.

Ranges are in fair condition but would be greatly aided in many localities by additional rains. Cattle are in fairly good condition, and fall movement has started. With scarcity of feed it is expected there will be heavy movement of grass fed cattle to slaughter. Sheep and goats are in good condition.

STATE FAIR READ TO OPEN SATURDAY

Dallas, Texas, Oct. 5. — With the greatest agriculture, livestock and poultry shows on record entered and now being arranged, with more than 250 major manufacturing plants of the state with their exhibits in place, and with one of the best amusement programs in history of the organization all set, the 47th annual State Fair of Texas will open its gates on next Saturday, October 7, 1933.

Officers, directors, superintendents and others connected with the state exposition have gone many steps forward this year to give to Texas and the southwest its grandest fair, Otto Herold, who is serving his second year as president, said here Monday.

The theme of the agriculture, livestock and poultry shows will be "Replacement programs," and will be carried throughout—suggested programs for replacement of cotton acres for the 1934 farmer. The agriculture department will show progress of diversification during the past 14 years with comparative exhibits; the livestock department will emphasize "utility livestock" and the poultry department will paint a picture of more food for the home by raising chickens.

The amusement program will be headed by the three elaborate musical productions in the auditorium—"Bitter Sweet," October 7 to 12; "Nina Rosa," October 13 to 17, and "Florodora," October 18, to 22.

The Texas Manufacturers show is expected to be a revelation to the world, as it will show Texas factories and manufacturing practically every kind of product necessary to the comfort and advancement of mankind in this state. This is expected to be the largest "made in Texas" exhibit ever held in this state.

Two Southwestern Championship sport contests will be held at the State Fair of Texas—the cowboy championship to be held in the livestock arena, Oct. 7 to

PREVENTING DISEASE

Austin, Texas, October 5. — The value of disease prevention or public health work has been clearly demonstrated in the storm stricken area of the Rio Grande valley, where state, county and city health officers have pooled their abilities and resources to the end that there has not been any outbreak of communicable diseases following that disaster. Private interests have also assisted by supplying materials that could not be purchased by the officials on account of a lack of available funds.

There was great danger immediately following the storm that typhoid fever might become epidemic due to contamination of water supplies. Chlorine, in the proper amounts, was put in these supplies and an extensive campaign of immunization against typhoid fever was started, which up to this time has reached over 80,000 persons. The proper disposal of sewage was another problem that had to be attended to immediately.

Much of the land was covered with water and this created a wonderful chance for the multiplication of mosquitoes and the attendant danger of malaria. These places were drained where possible, and if impossible, they were oiled. The mosquito eradication work being done in the valley is one of the largest ever attempted in the United States.

Exactly how much sickness and suffering has been prevented cannot be accurately estimated, but, from past experiences, it is safe to say that the actual saving in money is many times more than the amount which has been spent for prevention.

TALKING ABOUT TEXAS

Beautification of his adopted state, Gutzon Borglum, noted sculptor, has outlined a program to line all Texas highways with trees. Many localities have adopted his plan.

October 14, ranchers in the Texas highlands will sell at auction at Maria, 1000 steer calves, 500 heifer calves and 500 steer yearlings, sorted for uniformity and quality. The cattle will be sold by the pound.

There are 285 sawmills in Texas, which in 1932 produced a total of 750,000,000 board feet of lumber, most of which was southern pine.

Eighty per cent of American carbon black comes from Texas gas fields. Helium gas is a product of carbon black. It is used in dirigible airships. There are now twenty-one carbon black plants in the Texas Panhandle.

Texas on July 1, had an estimated population of 6,023,000, as announced by the bureau of census. This is an increase of 198,235 more than the official census taken April 1, 1930, when the total population was established at 5,824,715.

A pecan crop of between 25 and 35 million pounds is foreseen by Andrew Winkler, president of the Texas Pecan Growers' association. Mr. Winkler was elected to the position at the annual state convention held recently in Corsicana. Movement of such a crop would require between 500 and 600 freight cars of 50,000 pound capacity. Last year the Texas yield was 32,000,000.—The Earth.

POLITICAL PARTIES IN DEBT

These seem to be difficult times, financially, for major political parties as well as for laborers, farmers, little business men, big business men and big and little corporations. Reports recently filed with the clerk of the house of representatives, which is required by law, by the Democratic and Republican National Committees show that both these parties are still deep in debt (and may soon be asking for a moratorium or a party refinancing public works loan). According to these reports the Democratic party still has bills outstanding which total more than $524,290. The Republicans owe considerably less—$186,464—but that is quite a sum for the outs to raise, when the ins are having a tough time trying to raise $500,000.—Pathfinder

DELINQUENT TAXES

Faced with the possibility of a 34 per cent—increase in the city tax rate—Brady citizens have at last become aroused to the danger, not to say the rank injustice, of negligence in the matter of tax collections. To place a one-third heavier load on those who do endeavor to pay their taxes, because a part of the citizenship fail or refuse to do their part, is not only the rankest sort of an injustice—but it risks the danger of a complete breakdown of the city's financial structure.

Already leading citizens are saying that they will refuse further to pay taxes unless and until the city takes determined steps to collect such taxes as are already long past due. Such a stand, while radical in the extreme and dangerous to the city's welfare, nevertheless is, in a measure, justified by the rank inequalities of our present, or rather past, methods of municipal financing.

The proposed increase in city tax rate is threatened by reason of necessity of balancing the city budget. But it does look like it is getting the cart before the horse, when the effort to balance the budget strikes at the taxpayer instead of the tax-dodger. Be it said that 90 per cent or better of the taxpayers discharge their duties of citizenship at no small sacrifice to themselves and their families.

"More than one has borrowed money from the banks at 10 per cent to pay his taxes, rather than permit the same to go delinquent. Not a one but what could use his tax money to good advantage in paying other debts, for pleasure or in making profitable investment. So, it goes without saying, that the tax burden must be equally distributed. From time immemorial people have "groaned" beneath the burden of taxes. What they should do is grow—and, if necessary, bite—the willful tax dodgers. That would be far more effective.—Brady Standard.

RAPID RAILWAY TRANSPORTATION

A 50 per cent increase in speed of railway train movement has made possible a permanent reduction of 337,000 in the number of cars in service. This was the statement made by M. J. Gormley, president of the American Railway association, in a St. Louis address a few days ago.

But how many more cars will be permanently removed from service in spite of business gains, if trains cross the continent in 50 hours? Henry F. Pringle in the Cosmopolitan predicts it will take only that number of hours for "tomorrow's train" to travel from New York to Los Angeles. Moreover, for an excursion from coast to coast the fare will be only $30 or $35. For the railways "can carry a passenger for about 1c a mile under capacity traffic."

He has in mind the two trains planned for the Burlington and the Union Pacific, either of which, we are told, can easily average 85 miles an hour or reach a top speed of 110 miles an hour. The railroads are far from extinct, he asserts. Indeed: "A new day dawns. It comes from the elimination of excess weight. The two trains, one of aluminum and the other of stainless steel, will be beautiful as they flash past the countryside. The railroads are profiting from the data and knowledge accumulated by the aircraft industry. Aviation engineers, not old-line railroad men, have designed the new trains which will soon speed across the continent."

Undoubtedly the speed of train movement which has been increased 50 per cent in the space of a few years, can be increased further. Without doubt also that is the way for the railroads to compete with greater success with the air lines. However, it is not simply a matter of building lighter and faster trains. Before this new day described by Mr. Pringle arrives many grade crossings will have to be eliminated, tracks will have to be improved, and other things will have to be done. For with high-speed, either on the rails or on the highways, there are greater risks.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS

Probably Senator Schall of Minnesota is unnecessarily pessimistic when he says that the beginning of next year will end the freedom of the press in the United States and inaugurate a program of government censorship, which will mean the "destruction of all newspapers that attempt to criticize the gods controlling our national political administration." These are times of change and upheaval, but it is unbelievable that the American public will tolerate the muzzling of free discussion of its affairs.

But Dean Carl W. Ackerman of the Columbia University school of journalism recognizes a real danger in the use which may be made of new ways and means for arousing public opinion and emotion. The voice of radio and the visual arguments of the motion picture screen, he says, can be easily brought under governmental control.

Freedom of the press includes not only the newspapers' rights to print the news and discuss it, but also the public's right to reflect upon what is printed. The printed word permits a kind of consideration which can not be given to the unanswerable voice of the motion picture screen. The appeal of these is emotional rather than reasonable, and is so regarded by those who make most effective use of them. Dean Ackerman goes so far as to say that Gen. Johnson has used them already to "sway the masses by fear," as they have certainly served to arouse an emotional enthusiasm for the NRA and all its works.

It may be added that the newspapers offer the only remaining form of free public discussion. Any American can write to his newspaper and speak his mind in print. These rights and privileges may not be so seriously threatened as Senator Schall believes. But the best defense for them is the general recognition and reaffirmation of their importance. Not even in a time of national emergency can they be safely sacrificed to expediency or subordinated to political authority.—Philadelphia Public Ledger.

SUBTLETY IN RACKETEERING

The recent address of Attorney General Cummings on gangsterism should receive wide consideration from the public. That there is a problem of racketeering in the cities of the country, a very serious problem, is beyond question, but it has been so romanticized in the magazines of the country that the average citizen has small understanding of the realities involved.

The usual fictional account pictures some bloody marauder and official terrorist keeping local officials under thumb while he plunders the community and does away with his opponents without fear of the law.

As a matter of fact the real racketeering is so much more subtle that there is little grounds for comparison. As General Cummings states, much if not most illegal tribute on business and industry is exacted by so-called benevolent and protective groups which are able to mislead many people as to their actual nature. Often they have real protective features about them; sometimes they have social service departments. Their tyrannies over business are hard to prove, and their real nature hard to demonstrate either to officials or to the public.

We may be sure that this is the major type of racketeering with which we will have to deal. The crude criminal, the politician who deals in direct bribes and in unqualified pollution of the judiciary system are bound to go. But the subtle grafter and racketeer will be hard to reach.—Houston Chronicle.

REGISTRATION FOR BI

The old saying that not certain but death and tax corroborated by what now seems to be the relationship Texas to the federal registration area. When the News published encomiums to the as obstetricians the other of census was prepared to dorse the praise. Texas has admitted to the registrar for death statistics. It has as yet been admitted for records, though in progress is a test to show whether the state is entitled to include the latter.

It seems a little odd that far as Uncle Sam is concerned one can statistically die in Texas, but not be born. There is even some advantage in being born dead, because there is little luckless life of so moment can be duly claimed whereas if the Texas infant exists at Washington at all.

Physicians perhaps are concerned with the ending of the dawn of life. For a doctor must at times deal with death and not all concern themselves, except in the general education of a few days, with maternity. Death, too, has a more relationship to the books authorities than has birth. It is something that must be plained professionally. Get Your Man's Now Help Your Man In Great Northwest

By DOC SCHNURMACHER CALGARY Alberta. That well known slogan "Get your man!" so often attributed to the Canadian frontiers in the past, is far more apt to be "Help your man" these days, for the percentage of professional bad men in the Northwest, due to the unceasing activities of the forces of law and order, has diminished almost to the vanishing point.

Well policed as the Dominion is today, perilous north of the vast American frontier still exist now ever, but they are largely due to civilization itself. Recent insurance statistics in this connection, reveal that many of the mishaps, fire and limb that now take place are due to farm machinery, automobiles and to accidental shootings during the hunting season.

In the great open spaces where few doctors are to be found the policemen of the wide flank Dominion are as familiar with the use of modern first aid equipment as they are in the use of the six-shooter or the rifle.

Through the prompt employment of first aid they yearly save the lives of quite a few sportsmen who are mistaken for moose or bears by other hunters as well as many motorists who either do not apply their brakes quickly enough or misjudge the sharpness of a curve. In the thinly populated sectors of the Dominion where professional men must cover great distances and surmount many obstacles to render aid, most modern first aid products are as red cross cotton and gauze, so and Drybak adhesive plasters, and band aid speed bandages, take on an added importance and are frequently used.

The auto roared away as the trio clutching the mail sacks jumped in.

Lawrence Westbrook, director of the Texas rehabilitation and relief commission, has announced that 45 civilian conservation corps camps, employing 9,000 young Texans, will be in operation in Texas for the next six months. Five new forestry camps and four soil erosion camps have been approved for Texas, Westbrook said. The approvals bring the total number of forestry camps to 17 and soil erosion camps to 11. Westbrook said the balance of the 45 camps will consist of park camps that will be finally approved as soon as the legislature makes provision for maintenance of the parks.

The fragrance of a bouquet of tuberoses brought back the past to a young woman, 27, amnesia victim, in Oklahoma City, as she lay in her hospital bed, unidentified for a week. She sniffed the perfume from the bouquet beside another patient and memories came crowding back. Two weeks ago she recalled, she had been caring for an elderly Spartanburg, S. C., woman. The woman died, and at her funeral tube roses were banked about the casket. The fragrance of the flowers, she said, was the one thing she could not forget. Unusual Table Design in Modern Spirit

ABOVE is shown one of the newest contemporary designs for the table, possessing more than usual grace and a deft touch of luxury as well. The materials are both of the oldest and the newest, the former used with a new spirit and the latter developed in an unusual way. The hammered service plate is of aluminum, its double square ornament being a most suave touch to the design. The candelabrum, partly shown at the top of the picture, is chromium, as is the cigarette holder beneath. Silver knife, fork and spoon are of Swedish design and, together with the plate, sit upon a place mat of unusual material. Cellophane, in black is here woven with heavy white rayon threads, resulting in a lustrous material which gives a perfect background for the service that rests upon it. Goblets of smoky crystal complete the unusual and very charming color scheme, furnishing one more note in a grouping of new uses for old and new materials.

FAMILY POISONED

Last Saturday afternoon Mr. J. L. Pettit and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Bert Lockett were all taken violently ill and a physician was summoned, after several hours they were relieved. The trouble is said to have been caused by an acid poisoning produced by eating canned corn. The family had eaten corn the day before, when Clyde Cooksey had been made to feel the effects, but not so violent a degree but enough for him not to try it for a second meal.

We are happy to report all are now better though somewhat weakened by their experience, but all well on the way to recovery.

MEETING IN PROGRESS

A meeting at the Methodist church has been in progress since Friday night. Rev. E. P. Swindall of Blanket has been doing the preaching, assisted by Rev. Leon D. Brown.

Each service has been well attended and some splendid sermons are being delivered by Rev. Swindall. Everyone is given a hearty welcome to come and take a part in each service.

Clendennen of this city and is a very ambitious and deserving young lady, with a wide circle of friends here. She has recently completed her training as a nurse at Stamford and is also endowed with the talent of homemaking and will preside with wisdom over the pretty new bungalow that is in readiness.

The progressive young groom is a business man of ability and energy and holds a lucrative position as manager of the city waterworks of Stamford.

The young couple left immediately after the ceremony for a tour of the west.

FORMER MULLIN CITIZEN DIES AT SAN ANGELO

He united with the Baptist church in his youth. He is survived by his wife, two daughters, one brother, W. L. Barker, of this city and four sisters. Interment was in San Angelo, Wednesday, September 27.

ROCK SPRINGS

It was raining at Sunday school time Sunday morning and I do not know whether there was any Sunday school or not.

There was B. Y. P. U. Sunday night and a nice sized crowd was present. Officers were elected, but I didn't find out who was elected.

It made us all sad Saturday morning when the news came from San Saba that Mrs. Landy Ellis' cousin, Doak Johnston, had passed away. We extend our sympathy to the bereaved.

E. G. Kingsbury, who wrote Hogology in last week's paper, was well worth reading. I have heard of Hog Heaven all my life and I never hear of any other animal heaven, such as for dogs, and they always have a name and some name them very fancy names. Hogs are more useful on a place than some other thing which have a name. If times don't change some of us won't be able to have any hog meat this winter, and I can't see that the next winter will be much better for me. We hope to hear more from this writer.

MOVING TO MILLS

W. R. Lambert, after over 28 years of continuous business in Brownwood, is retiring from business here and will engage in ranching in Mills county.

Mr. Lambert, who closed out his grocery business here some months ago, has traded his cafe and hotel to C. C. Isbell recently of Goldthwaite. He has disposed of the cafe and hotel equipment but still retains ownership of the building in which they are located at 102 West Broadway.

In this deal Mr. Lambert becomes owner of a 960 acre ranch twelve miles southeast of Goldthwaite. He will move to the ranch at once, he states, and will engage in raising cattle, sheep and goats. Mr. Isbell has lived on this ranch since last January, purchasing the property and moving there from Dallas at that time.

Mr. Isbell took charge of the cafe and hotel today. He has moved his family to Brownwood and they are occupying rooms at the hotel.—Brownwood Bulletin.

SCRAMBLED PUSH

In many places dairymen have the same depressed market that the cotton farmer had a short time ago, hence a certain journal advises plowing under a large number of milk cows. If they do, I suggest they plow under hide and all, lest we have an over production of leather.

Several leading nations have gradually, and more or less quietly, gone under dictatorship, which supposedly is better than nothing.

Hitlerism has of late deprived some citizens in Germany of important points concerning religious liberty. Sacredness of both of the marriage vow and Sabbath day are being seriously marred. These two institutions were divinely given and are intended to carry sufficient moral force to make civilization safe. Divorce courts and Sabbath breakers are carrying our nation rapidly downward, but moral blindness is too great to expect a reform.

In the Lake community on Sunday one can tell when the hunting season is open without looking on the calendar. Be it understood that the community is helpless in seeking to preserve Sunday morals.

"What are you doing now, man? I am packing up to leave this town. I've stayed here a little too long, already. The children are making me much trouble. I came in late last night and the oldest girl was out. Her mother supposed she had stepped over to her uncle's, which she often does. I went over there and behold, she had gone with a lot of roughs somewhere to a party. Our 15-year-old boy is too grown to be managed. No, you are not talking to me."

"Well, friend, you'll find the same good and bad influences in the next town." So runs part of a late conversation. It's the same old story over of coming to grief in allowing the children to tinker with devilish things and devilish people. "I came in late last night" often expresses failure to accept required responsibility, and indifference to a serious obligation. I imagine he was out seeking help to repeal the eighteenth amendment. TREE ARMY RUSH

Glass doors were broken in Houston Monday when about 500 unemployed youths, seeking to enlist in the second "tree army", congregated outside the enlistment office, overflowing into the street. The rush took the social service division of the relief organization by surprise and was the result of news dispatches from Washington, printed in the Sunday papers. These dispatches were to the effect that enlistment of the second tree army would begin Monday throughout the country.

Got Over Weak, Painful Condition By Taking Cardui

"I was weak and run-down and suffered quite a bit with pains in my side," writes Mrs. Nick Barranco, of Beaumont, Texas. "I was nervous. I did not rest well at night, and my appetite was poor. My mother had used Cardui with beneficial result, so I decided to take it. I surely am glad I did, for it stopped the pain in my side and built up my general health. I took seven bottles in all." NOTHING ROMANTIC ABOUT A RAT

Joseph B. Keenan, assistant United States district attorney, directing the prosecution of the men charged with the Urschel kidnaping, is getting them told. There is nothing romantic about these desperadoes who are being classed as dramatic public enemies, as super criminals. They are rats, says Mr. Keenan, as he boldly announces that threats or other attempts to intimidate the prosecution will be met only by intensified prosecution. — Houston Chronicle.

STYLES IN NEW YORK

American Clothes for American Women

Modern American clothes designed for American women displayed in the recent showing in New York, emphasized through extreme simplicity and very clever line and cut the slim pencil-like silhouette. Featured in the collection was an ensemble called "first night"—carried out in a rich deep blue of crystalline velvet. It consisted of an evening gown and a three-quarter length straight, slim coat. The gown cut on long, slim, snaky lines achieved skirt fullness through low placed cartridge pleating on either side. Black coat feathers—in soft bouquet shoulder arrangement—were extremely effective on this deep rich shade of blue.

Another striking formal evening gown of this collection was fashioned of black rayon velvet with a very high front, the back décolletage being formed by two wide bands of the velvet. It was shown with a matching sleeve cape-like three-quarter length wrap and gloves.

Black, the prevailing color, was featured in daytime frocks as well as for evening. In the former it was often set off with a touch of color introduced in most models through composition buckles and clips—these usually in vivid reds or greens and some times combined with a touch of metal. Rich rust shades, wine, deep blackberry, deep new shades of blue and bronzene tones combined with cocoa brown were other colors featured in this smart collection. Most frocks were displayed with black or brown accessories.

American Designed Clothes Are Favored

That the trend is more and more for American designed clothes is strongly revealed in practically all of the current showings in New York shops. This is due to the ability of our American designers in the field of fashion. At a recent showing of a Fifth Avenue shop, which carries more imports than any other shop in New York, it was announced that more than sixty per cent of the fall collection was designed by home talent, and brilliant enough it was to vie with French couturiers.

Rich fabrics were spotlighted in this collection — including many of the new velvets — silk and rayon versions in plain and ribbed — weaves which at the hands of such designers as Bernard, Newman, Mary Gleason and Leslie Morris were fashioned — with a decided clinginess — not draped — achieving admirably the youthful, long, slim silhouette.

American Designers Feature American Fabrics

American fabrics including new rayon velvets, satins, failles and bengalines were featured in a recent showing of another Fifth Avenue shop.

In sports clothes, the armor influence was apparent, this group including a zinnia colored four-piece suit with a copy brown skirt and long coat, worn over a chamois colored a tawny orange suede jacket blouse—a decidedly smart ensemble.

American Leadership Seen In New Handbag Designs

Leadership in design, smartness and color is a distinguished factor in the handbags being presented by American designers for the fall. Paris importations—at least, the importations shown along Fifth Avenue—can not compare with them. There is a smartness about the American handbag, just as there is about the American made shoe, which gives a finishing touch to a costume that does not seem to be equalled abroad. Rich textures in synthetic fabrics, smooth pliable lacquered fabrics and brilliantly-colored plastics are the materials favored on Fifth Avenue.

Genuine pin seal, alligator and lizard calf, suede, velvet and satin—with ornaments of enamel, composition, marcasite, mirrors and metal are all important handbag news. Black and brown are favored colors for daytime in flat envelope styles. Shirred pouch models are smart for evening. Very charming for afternoon is the suede envelope with corrugated composition trims—often a large round or square buckle. There's a new version of the tailored envelope bag designed with two slide fastener pockets for papers and private things and an attached purse to keep coins handy. These are carried out in black and brown suede and with your own initials if you wish. There are also fine calf skin bags, satin smooth or interestingly grained in strictly tailored styles for the fall tweeds. Fabrikoid in both grain and smooth versions is noted in some of the new daytime bags—smart in their new tailored shapes and usually with metal or composition trims.

Style Flashes

The new Patou glove—a short kid glove that slips through and buttons on to a gauntlet top—is setting the pace for smart glove fashions in New York just now. The gauntlet may be of suede, velvet, or any smart fabric. In fact, a pair of gloves may have several pairs of gauntlets. It's very easy to make your own gauntlets to match some other accessory—and button them on. The Patou gauntlet gloves feature both composition and metal buttons.

The ecclesiastical trend is apparent in some of the smartest evening wraps in New York shops. It is seen in the loose, straight coats of velvet with wide long sleeves that hang much like a choir boy's surplice. Some of the longer coat models feature cowl-draped collars reminiscent of ancient monks robes. The Chinese influence is also noted in evening coats of the mandarin type.

Among the little things that are big in fashion this season are accessories—with collars standing right up among them. New and youthful are the rayon satin and bengaline sailor collars with mirror buttons and tied in the back. There are satin fagotted collars and satin bow collars that snuggle close up under the chin.

Twig—a new grey brown color that can be worn with black or brown, or with blue, red or green is being featured in some of the new fall shoes with scuffless heel.

Crepe de chine, dull rayon crepes, Peau d'Ange jersey and shiny rayon satin are all noted in new fall lingerie. White is favored. Alecon lace trims some of the dressier models, but slim, close fitting tailored types are much in favor.

Burch is prepared to clean and dress garments for any member of the family and takes orders for made-to-measure garments see his samples for spring clothing.

RALLS COUPLE HAVE 5 GIRLS AND 10 BOYS, ALL AT REUNION

For those who think the day of large families passed out with the ox cart, the 15 sons and daughters of Rev. and Mrs. J. G. Walker of Ralls are living examples of the fact it is not true. Five girls and ten boys—all of them living and in good health—that is the record of the Walkers.

So many years separated the eldest from the youngest that the first born had gone away from home to make their own way before the younger members of the family were born. That explains why a recent reunion of the family at the Walker home in Ralls was such an unusual affair for them.

It was the first time all of them had been together at one time. At that reunion the 10 sons organized a baseball team and accepted the challenge of the Ralls independent team. The Walkers won 11 to 7. Although their paths have led into widely diversified fields, their interests have been about the same. All of the boys like athletics and most of them have been members of high school and other teams.

Elbert (Flash) Walker, one of the younger sons, is a star all-around athlete at Texas Christian University. He is reserve quarterback on the present football team.

The father is a retired Methodist minister and now is operating a cream station at Ralls. Rev. Melvin A. Walker, pastor of the Methodist church at Joshua, is the only son, who followed in the father's professional footsteps.

Two of the sons are farmers, one a traveling salesman for a wholesale grocery firm, one a teacher and another a tailor. All the daughters, except the youngest, are married.

The parents came to Texas from Alabama in 1906. They had a sizable family then—to be statistical, nine children. Six more, a girl and five boys, were born in Texas.

The Walkers have been married 46 years. The eldest child is 44, the youngest 17. They settled near Temple in 1906, living there until 1916. Then an active minister, Rev. Mr. Walker served congregations at Blum, Mullin, Menard and on the Lampasas circuit. They moved to Ralls six years ago. —Star-Telegram.

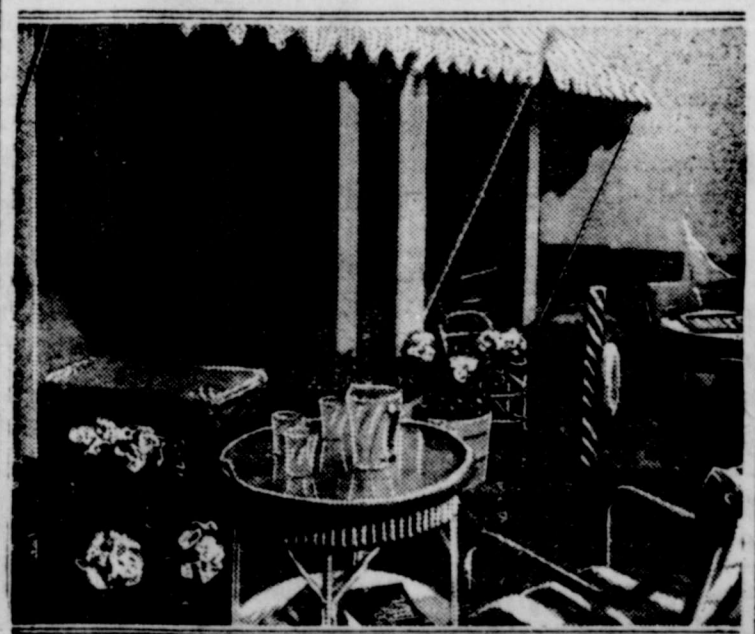

Rev. Walker was Methodist pastor at Mullin some years ago and he and his family are kindly remembered by many friends in this county.

BEAUTY in the HOME

Modern Home Decoration
Cabanas Colorful With Lacquered Fabrics

MANY smart things are being accomplished by artists and craftsmen in the creation of new metal furniture, sometimes of chromium and often in iron, and built for usefulness and special rooms for which this type of furniture is suited. Cabanas, or cabins, have long been a feature of Florida and California beach life and appeared in many other Eastern resorts last summer. The nature of these beach lounging rooms lends itself to the use of tubular furniture which is hardy, comfortable and unobscured in lacquered fabric which is impervious to water or dampness and which can be cleaned with a cloth if it becomes soiled. The picture above shows a typical cabana with its tubular furniture, its awnings and its general air of cool comfort. Mountain, lake and sea resorts are likely to have more and more of these agreeable and brightly colored shelters this and coming seasons.

If so, he will have but two more Sundays here instead of three, as formerly announced. Let the entire church and its friends be with us for the rest of the time. REV. J. W. COWAN DIES SUDDENLY
 Fort Worth, Texas, Oct. 2—The Rev. J. W. Cowan, 70, superannuated Methodist minister, who in a conversation with a neighbor a few days ago predicted "I will be taken suddenly," collapsed Sunday afternoon while walking near his home here and was dead when an ambulance arrived with him at a hospital. Death was attributed to a heart attack.
 In his clothing was a letter addressed to a former occupant of his house. Police, believing the addressee was the dead man, went to his house and questioned Mrs. Cowan before she learned of her husband's death. Later, J. A. Eddins, a neighbor, was told the description of the man and he took Mrs. Cowan to the mortuary, where identification was made.
 Born in Rome, Ga., the Rev. Cowan came to Texas twenty-seven years ago. His first pastorate was at Cuero, where he remained two years. At Lampasas he was pastor two years and presiding elder four. Other charges he held were at Miles, Midland, Brady, Grand Prairie, Gorman, De Leon, Italy, Frost, and McGregor. He came here three years ago from McGregor, and was in a Temple hospital for a time. He was superannuated after giving up the McGregor charge.
 Beside his wife he is survived by a son, John Cowan, Mineola, and two daughters, Mrs. J. B. Slaughter, Post, and Mrs. L. A. Evans, Birmingham, Ala.
 News of the death of Rev. Cowan was received with sorrow here, where he had a great many friends, having served the Methodist church here as presiding elder four years and preached here often.

Buffalo School OPENS FOR TERM
 The Buffalo school opened on Monday morning, September 18, with a larger enrollment than in many years and with definite interest being shown on the school year would be with the systematic schedule routine in operation.
 Buffalo is fortunate in securing such a man as the new superintendent John M. Scott, promises to be. Mr. Scott comes to Buffalo highly recommended by the patrons and school boards of his former schools as a capable school administrator and financier. The history of his work shows that he has a peculiar capacity for building schools, and his record indicates that in several Texas towns he has classified and accredited high schools and left them to the community as a monument to himself and the school patrons.
 Mr. Scott is a man of long and successful experience, having taught nineteen years in Texas high schools. He has the rare distinction of never having been a substitute teacher but always the administrator of the school in which he taught. His experience has been wide; he has served in various parts of Texas with long tenure in each school, and is thoroughly conversant with the school affairs and school needs in the state. Beside being a successful administrator, Mr. Scott specializes in teaching mathematics and science. — Buffalo Press.
