NUMBER THIRTEEN

Highway Work In Prospect

The citizens' committee, composed of Messrs. W. C. Dew, H. G. McKin, L. E. Miller, Judge L. E. Peterson and Commissioner L. Burnham went before the highway commission at Austin today, in the interest of highway work in this county. The committee called the attention of the commission to the fact that the county now had forty miles of approved highway ready for grading and paving. Besides having 400 registered as wanting work on the roads. The commission was very favorable to the county's demands and while other things may be required, it is not likely the commission demand that this be provided before work is started on the highways already provided. The commission was especially desirous that right of way be secured from the Cedar Knob crossing to Goldthwaite, in order that the grade crossings on the road may be eliminated. A file of the proposed route will be furnished the committee in a few days. Appropriations for lateral road work will be made on a per capita basis for the county and it is hoped enough will be secured to improve the roads west of the county and in some other parts of the county. The committee members were pleased with the attitude of the commission and have strong hopes of some very beneficial results.

CHILD FATALLY BURNED

The 3-year-old daughter of Mr. Mrs. J. R. Mitchell was fatally burned at the family home on Big Valley Tuesday afternoon, death occurring Wednesday morning at an early hour. The manner in which the accident occurred is not known. Mrs. Mitchell was doing the daily washing in the yard and the child was in the house, where there was a fire in the heater. The mother heard the little one scream and running into the house found her enveloped in flames. It is supposed her clothing caught from coming in too close to the stove. A physician was summoned and tried to the home, and every effort was done to relieve her suffering, but the child's condition was so severe that life was given up. The body was carried to the funeral home of the undertaker. A number of other friends accompanied the funeral.

WEDDING MARRIAGE

Mr. and Miss Ethel were married last afternoon in the home of M. D. Long at Center City. The groom is a son of W. E. and the bride is a daughter of A. E. Burks. Both were reared in Mills county and have lived in the Priddy community for some time and will continue to make their home in that community. They have many friends who extend their wishes. A number of their relatives accompanied them to the home of the officiating minister and witnessed the ceremony.

THANKSGIVING WILL BE OBSERVED

The Eagle force will observe Thanksgiving next Thursday, in conformity with other business institutions of the town. Advertisers and writers are requested to get their copy in by Friday, but possibly it will reach the readers on the morning until Saturday morning.

Methodist Notes

Sunday school and both preaching services were well attended last Sunday. There is one thing that is painfully apparent in all our services: The absence of the people who have always been the cornerstone of the church in the years of the past. Some, we are sorry to say, are among those who have grown old with the passing years. These we miss as we do many others. What an inspiration these may be to all of us if they would put forth the effort necessary to attend. The simple fact that they are with us would add a spiritual force that would be of untold value. We need you and you need the spiritual help that comes from singing the good old songs and hearing the preaching of the word of God. This defect might be greatly overcome if some of our more fortunate people would take some united action to see that these old and infirm ones had a way to come to church. This could be done with but little trouble.

The stewards meeting Tuesday night, the first for the conference year, was one of the most helpful that this body has held since the writer has been attending these meetings. Everything was done in a spirit most becoming such a meeting and was entirely free from all dissensions. All enter upon the year's work with a degree of co-operation that means well for the future of the church.

The people of the town of all denominations and of no denomination greatly sympathize with our Baptist friends in the damage done to the parsonage by fire this week. The house was greatly damaged but can be repaired without tearing much of it down. Bro. and Sister Swanner were the greatest sufferers as the furniture, which was a total loss, was their private property, and was not insured. Let all our people remember them in this hour when they need sympathy in that concrete way.

The Methodist Missionary Society was well represented at the zone meeting at Lometa last week. They reported it one of the very best meetings they had held. This is saying much as they have always had good meetings. Without the women's organizations in the Methodist church, it is difficult to determine what would be the final outcome of church work. What is said here about the women's work of the Methodist church would doubtless apply to all churches.

While it is true that our laymen are, in many instances, and for the most part, faithful to the institutions of the church, yet it remains true that the women are a force that fill a place that the men can not successfully occupy. All honor to our women.

A concrete example of what I have said about the women above is to be found in the work that has been done in our Red Cross enrollment. One of the women's clubs, as you well know, has had charge of this work. It is succeeding well, as all expected it would when it was committed to such faithful and competent hands. We hope to give a full report of this fine work next week. In the meantime let all enroll.

I have often wondered why some people, especially some pastors of our churches, so often found it necessary to say hard things about our women's clubs. Possibly the poor fellows were short on other information and long on misinformation about the good women and what they are seeking to do in the clubs. My observation has always been that women who are most active in the club work were the ones upon whom you could always depend in the church work. We depend upon the women for help in every way. Why not encourage them in every work in which they undertake?

The pastor and wife and several official members attended the district stewards meeting in Llano Wednesday.

Ginners Report For Season

The Mills county ginners reported to the census department that this season's cotton ginned in this county up to Nov. 1, totaled 6229 bales, as compared to 4931 up to the same date last year.

There will not likely be much more ginning in the county from this year's crop, although there are a few remnants in the hands of farmers. Most of the gins have closed for the season and this is possibly the last report that will be made, although no official announcement to that effect has been given out.

CLUB PREMIUM AWARDED

The Goldthwaite Art and Civic club was awarded a beautiful painting last week, in the state meeting of the Federation of Women's clubs of Texas, for having done the most in raising the standard of beauty in their community. The club was represented in the Austin meeting by Mrs. Roy Rowntree, Marvin Hodges and J. H. Saylor and they brought the painting home with them.

A complete report was made by the club on the year's work, which included the preparation of a year book, having presented a program on American pottery. The club also made a display of local art, sixth district art and Texas art, and presented a speaker here on the development of art in Texas. The club also sponsored a Texas Centennial poster painting contest that secured special mention in the state meeting and each of its members made a contribution to the Penny Art Fund of the federation. One of its members maintains a membership in Texas Fine Arts association and four of its members attended the Century of Progress exposition in Chicago the past summer.

Several of the district officers and delegates to the state meeting passed through Goldthwaite Friday afternoon, en route to their homes in Eastland, San Angelo and elsewhere and were entertained by Mrs. Rowntree with a 6 o'clock dinner, in her home.

Center City Circuit News

Greetings to Our Friends and Church Members at Bethel, Center City, Pleasant Grove, and Star.

We are glad to be back with you for another year and are now located in the parsonage at Center City. A letter or card will reach us addressed to Goldthwaite, Texas, Route 3.

After the month of November our preaching appointments will be as follows: Star the first Sunday, Bethel the morning of the second Sunday at 11 a. m. Pleasant Grove the third Sunday, Center City the fourth Sunday and the night of the second Sunday.

We will preach at Pleasant Grove at both the morning and evening hours next Sunday, November 26. There will be no Saturday night services. Will meet with the official board.

LEON DOUGLAS BROWN, Pastor.

LOST BOOKS

There are only two books now out of the Library, sponsored by the Art and Civic club. They are "How They Carried the Mail," by Walker and "American History" by Turner.

Please leave at the Texas-Louisiana Power Co. office.

Turkeys Shipped

Approximately 6000 turkeys were shipped from Goldthwaite for the Thanksgiving market in the larger cities. The total number would have far exceeded six thousand had the birds been in good marketable condition, but the quality was poor, owing to the dry weather in the summer and the lack of grain and feed on the range. Many of them were light and most of them were small. The Thanksgiving market closed Saturday and the next market will open Dec. 4, for Christmas buying. There are still many turkeys in this trade territory and the Goldthwaite buyers have unusually good connections with the larger cities and cold storage plants, hence will be able to pay a top price. In fact, few towns were able to meet Goldthwaite's price on the Thanksgiving market and none of them surpassed the quotations made by the dealers of Goldthwaite.

The birds are placed on cold storage here and shipped direct to the cities and big buyers, thereby eliminating much of the middle man handling. Most of those owning turkeys now have them on feed and it is thought the quality will be greatly improved for the Christmas market.

T. E. L. CLASS MEETING

The T. E. L. class of the Baptist church met with Mrs. W. B. Jackson Tuesday afternoon at 2:30. After a very interesting program the class went into election of officers. The following officers were elected: Mrs. W. E. Miller, president; Mrs. W. B. Jackson, first vice president; Mrs. Chas. Rudd, second vice president; Mrs. J. D. Priddy, third vice president; Mrs. L. B. Ashley, teacher; Mrs. E. B. Anderson, assistant teacher; Mrs. J. M. Campbell, recording secretary; Mrs. A. C. Langlitz, treasurer.

After the business meeting Mrs. Jackson served delicious chocolate and cake. It was a very enjoyable occasion and Mrs. Jackson made us feel very welcome.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Woman's Missionary Society met with Mrs. R. M. Thompson Monday afternoon and two splendid programs were presented. The Mission book, "Christianity and Industry in America," was led by Mrs. Kate Marghail, and the World Outlook lesson was led by Mrs. Wallace Stroud.

A short business session was had and it was decided to take subscriptions to Holland's Magazine and the ladies solicit the help of all those who intend to renew their subscriptions as well as those who will start as new ones, and will surely appreciate any subscription given to them. There are also three quilts to be quilted, one to be sent to the orphans home. REPORTER

GOOD WRITERS

The Eagle is proud of its excellent list of correspondents. No other county paper can boast of a larger, more intelligent or more loyal corps of interesting community writers. The readers are always anxious to see the letters and the editor appreciates them sincerely. It is indeed a pleasure to be associated with them.

Trades Day Is Proposed

Plans are being formulated for a monthly trades day in Goldthwaite and it is likely announcement of the date and other details will be made in the next few days. A trades day event is beneficial to all the people in the trade territory. While it provides for the sale of merchandise in the town, that is not the sole purpose, if it is, in reality, one of the foremost purposes. It provides an opportunity for the people throughout the country to meet and exchange property that is not useful to them for something that is needed. This includes every description of live stock, farm tools, vehicles, household goods and what have you. The plan is in operation in a great many towns—some in this immediate section—and seems to work fine. The Eagle hopes the business men and others interested in the welfare of all the people will give assistance in providing for a trades day in Goldthwaite.

A GOOD GAME

Goldthwaite football team has made a fine record this season and the town is proud of the good work and the sportsmanship displayed by the players, management and backers. The last game of the season to be played on the home grounds will take place this afternoon, when the Llano team comes over to give the home team a try. The Llano team is reputed to be a strong one and the Goldthwaite boys will have all they can do to handle them, but their backers say they will do it or make a strong effort in that direction. The Goldthwaite people are behind the team in full force and they have a pep squad that will force them to do their best. It will be a game well worth seeing this afternoon.

DRIVE IS SUCCEEDING

The Red Cross drive in this city is succeeding elegantly. Almost every individual in the town has been visited by the ladies of the Self Culture club in their effort to enroll members and most of those solicited have responded gladly. The fact that half of the membership fee is retained for use in this immediate section has a stimulating effect and a number of organizations have taken membership, aside from that taken by their individual members. Rev. J. S. Bowles, the county chairman, has rendered the ladies of the club great assistance in their work and has been able to give out much helpful and encouraging information.

LEG CRUSHED IN GRINDER

Mrs. Walter Reynolds suffered a serious injury Monday afternoon, while working about a feed grinder, at the family home in Caradan community. In some way her leg was caught in the grinder and was so badly crushed that amputation was necessary. She was rushed to a hospital in Brownwood immediately after the accident and the operation was performed as soon as possible. She is still in the hospital and is reported to be resting as well as could be hoped.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

Mrs. Hugh Moreland gave a birthday dinner in honor of her son, Jesse, and Misses Azilee Berry, Geraldine Burnett and Mabel Johnson, and they had for their guest, Francis Lienneweber of Mullin, and Miss Adeline Dennis. All seemed to enjoy the dinner very much.

CLASS MEETING

The Philathea class of the Methodist church will hold their monthly meeting with Mrs. R. M. Thompson Monday night.

Baptist Reminder

We certainly want to thank the fire boys for the fine work they did during our fire. When I say fire boys, I mean all those that helped to put out the fire. The people of Goldthwaite express a very fine spirit in times of need. We certainly thank you. Sunday school Sunday morning 10 o'clock; preaching, 11 o'clock; B. T. S., evening, 7:15; preaching, Sunday evening, 7:15.

BIBLE STUDY

Circle No. 2 met with Mrs. Allen in our Bible study last Monday afternoon. Eight answered roll call. We were glad to have with us, our chairman, Mrs. R. L. Armstrong, after an absence of two weeks.

Mrs. R. E. Clements led our Bible lesson, which was very interesting, on the book of Daniel.

Mrs. Anderson has been our teacher until it was decided that each one have the responsibility. Our circle made a very nice gift to the Buckners' Orphan home.

Mrs. Allen served a lovely plate consisting of sandwiches, cake and punch.

We were glad to have Mrs. Featherston with us.

On Monday, November 13, we met in the home of Mrs. Lewis Hudson.

It was indeed a pleasure to meet in these lovely Christian homes, as their wonderful hospitality and love for the advancement of our Savior's kingdom, made us feel welcome, and glad we were there.

Mrs. Hudson, assisted by her daughter, Mrs. Schooler, served delicious sandwiches and hot punch.

We will meet with Mrs. Armstrong next Monday with Mrs. Hudson as leader.

FIRE IN PARSONAGE

A fire in the Baptist parsonage Monday afternoon did a great deal of damage to the building and caused a heavy loss of furniture, as well as destroying much of the clothing of Rev. and Mrs. Swanner. The fire originated in the bath room, where an oil stove had been lighted to heat bath water and warm the room. After the fire got under way the oil stove exploded, which increased the flame. The fire company made a quick run and by heroic work prevented the entire building from burning and, incidentally, saved the church building. Had the parsonage burned it would have been almost impossible to save the church building, because of its proximity.

The church carried insurance on the parsonage and furniture, but Rev. Swanner carried no insurance on his part of the furniture and the clothing and other belongings of himself and wife.

CEMETERY WORK

The members of the Cemetery association sincerely thanks those who were instrumental in obtaining the money from RFC funds to have the Goldthwaite cemetery thoroughly cleaned off and put in such good condition that very little work along thru the winter months by lot owners will keep our cemetery in fine condition for almost a year.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Woman's Missionary Society will meet with Mrs. Highsmith at the parsonage Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock, for the study of the last chapter of "Christianity and Industry in America."

All the members are requested to bring their quilt fans and needles and thimbles to finish the quilt squares Monday afternoon.

Street Work Being Done

A considerable amount of street work has been done the past week by RFC labor and some of this work was badly needed. A large number of men have been on the work on a schedule of short work-day hours. However, the work on this basis was suspended yesterday until a new plan is outlined and approved by the relief committee at Austin. This will not likely end the work, but will hold it up a few days. The federal government has made a large appropriation to provide work for the unemployed and the voters of this state also authorized the issuance of twenty million dollars in state bonds to provide funds for the same purpose and all of these funds will be available in the next few months. Especial effort is to be made to provide employment during the winter months.

CENTER CITY SCHOOL NEWS

We have finished the second month's examinations and the teachers are well pleased with most of the grades. Mr. Neighbors reports that the geometry papers were the best he had ever graded.

The Girls' Glee Club is working on several new songs, among them are the "Sleepy Town Express," "Cabin in the Pines," and "Louisiana Lullaby." The girls have formerly been practicing only thirty minutes each Monday and Wednesday at noon. They were not putting in enough time, so they added thirty minutes after school. They are working on their Glee Club dresses and expect to have them completed by the next program.

The P. T. A. met last Friday night. They presented a one-act play and several other numbers, which were enjoyed by all present. The orchestra furnished the music. The patrons and teachers discussed plans to raise money to buy the girls a basket ball. Several suggestions were made and they finally decided for the P. T. A. to piece a quilt and sell chances for it. A committee composed of Mrs. Ercher McCasland, Mrs. Aldridge and Mrs. McCasland was appointed to select a design for the quilt. The P. T. A. intends to make this quilt one which anyone would be proud to own. The P. T. A. was kind enough to advance the money so the girls could get their ball and practice for a match game in the near future.

The characters are working on their parts in the contest play and intend to put it on at the next P. T. A. meeting, which will be one month from last Friday.

The health nurse is giving the month of December to the Mills county schools. She will be at Center City some time the first of the month, the exact date will be published soon. We want our school to be the one which has one or both parents of every child in school, present the day she comes. Every child is going to be given a physical examination, but the nurse will take more interest in your child if you are present and show that you are interested yourself. This examination costs you nothing. Let us take advantage of this rare opportunity by cooperating with the nurse and driving disease and physical defects out of our county.

We had Sunday school at the regular hour Sunday morning with a good attendance.

Bro. Homer Starnes preached for us Sunday at eleven and at eight Sunday night. He brought us two good sermons. He and his family dined with Mmes. Templeton and Sullivan. In the afternoon they called in the Roberts home.

The B. Y. P. U. program was interesting Sunday night. Those on the program were present and had their parts up well.

Last Thursday myself and Miss Nellie D. Cooke enjoyed one of the Ratler quiltings at Mrs. Ashley Weathers' just across the bayou, and I was asked to tell the story of the day. Well, they began to gather about 9 o'clock. Then the work and talking began. No one knew who was talking to who. Seems like Mrs. Cornelius had more trouble getting herself fixed where she would be comfortable for the day's work. She called Mrs. Lindsey in to assist her and it seemed Mrs. Lindsey knew less than Mrs. Cornelius, so they had to call Miss Flowers Lindsey in. Now, if it wasn't for up-to-date young girls how would the older ones ever look like anybody. Then Mrs. Crawford got angry—she didn't say so—but I feel sure she did. Her car sulked on her and her husband was in Goldthwaite, so there she was just crazy to begin her work on the quilt. She finally spoke the right word and away it started. Those ladies have an awful good time and do lots of work. Their dinner was delicious. Every community could have just such good times. Those present were Mmes. Cornelius, Lindsey, Chaney, Bell, Crawford, Anderson, Chadwick, Slack, Ethridge, Brooks, Nickols, Dufey, Renfro, Wallace, Taz Renfro, Misses Cooke, Crawford, Anderson, Lindsey and Woods. We hope to be invited again before they quit quilting. It might be a good thing for Mrs. Weathers to quilt again because her husband really had to work. He wasn't allowed in the house only to eat dinner.

The W. M. U. meets in Mrs. J. R. Davis' home Monday. She is the leader. The book of Ruth is the lesson. Miss Johnnie Belle Circle is to tell the story. Would it not be nice if we could have a large crowd at this meeting.

Mrs. John Roberts, our president of the W.M.U., is getting the chickens for Buckners' Orphans' Home ready. All who can bring their's either Saturday or Sunday night to church. Let's not fail, because this church has been sending chickens for a long time. Bring on your chickens.

A crowd of young folk met at Mrs. Nickols Monday night to plan on getting up a play.

Mmes. Nickols, Stark and Daniel and Miss Oleta attended the shower Monday afternoon in the Hale home in Big Valley. The shower was for Connie Knowles and wife. They received many nice things and the refreshments were nice.

J. R. Davis and Ira Dewbre seem to feel that the depression is almost over as their wheat sure looks good since the last rain.

Miss Oleta Daniel spent Monday night with Mrs. Nickols.

Hardy McClary from Rabbit Ridge and Philip Nickols called on Mr. and Mrs. Walton Daniel Sunday night.

Ben Davis and wife and two sons from Rabbit Ridge and Mr. Orr and family from Brownwood visited in J. R. Davis' home Sunday.

Felton Dewbre and family from Brown county visited his parents Saturday and Sunday.

John Edlin and wife from Center Point attended church Sunday and dined in John Roberts home.

Johnnie Belle Circle spent the week end across the bayou in the Chadwick home.

B. F. Renfro from Ratler had business with M. R. Circle Friday afternoon.

Cone Sullivan from Brownwood visited his mother Saturday night. He is still liking his school work.

Mrs. Lillie Moore and daughter and Sherrill Roberson from Brownwood visited in E. D. Roberson's home Saturday.

J. C. Stark and wife and son celebrated Sunday by visiting their daughter, Mrs. Joe Davis and family.

Ashley Weathers and Raymond Williams from across the bayou enjoyed a 42 game in the Cooke home Thursday night. Mr.

Chapel exercises were held Monday morning and Friday morning. Friday morning some songs were sung for the benefit of the basketball teams, both the boys and girls, who went to Prairie that afternoon.

This week has been an important one. The campus was cleaned and the road was changed, making it straight from the highway to the school building. This work of making the road was donated by the county road improvers under Mr. McCurry, the commissioner. Also they levelled the terraces and made several ditches where necessary, around the campus.

Weathers had to have the radio stopped before he could play 42. I suppose he was nervous.

Orby Woody and wife and Mrs. Lula Gatlin and Miss Love from town spent Sunday afternoon with Oscar Gatlin on the farm.

Haskell Gatlin, Howard T. Davis and Hardy McClary visited the Nickols boys Sunday.

Lois and Eula Belle Dewbre visited Oleta Daniel Sunday. In the afternoon Mrs. Daniel visited Bro. Davis and wife and the girls visited in the Cooke home.

Hugh Nelson from town, Marvin Spinks from Rabbit Ridge, joined Wick Webb and Glenn Nickols Sunday morning in a hunting trip. If they happen to another catch like they did, then we may have to order some flowers. They caught and killed a large wild cat.

Ben Davis from Rabbit Ridge was in this community Monday morning.

Miss Bernice Traylor, who goes to school at town, has a roommate, Miss Geneva Sparkman, from Center Point.

Marvin Spinks and wife from Rabbit Ridge visited in the Cook home Sunday afternoon. They also attended church Sunday night. After church they sat in the Nickols home awhile.

Walton Daniel and wife had company Sunday. Her parents and grandparents and other relatives.

J. T. Robertson and wife, Woody Traylor and family and Mrs. Harvey Dunkle visited Douglas Robertson and family at Lake Merritt Sunday afternoon.

W. A. Daniel hauled feed from Gatesville this week for Joe Davis and W. A. Cooke.

J. T. Stark visited in the Webb home Sunday night.

Nellie D. Cooke and Raymond Williams made a pop call in the Dewbre home Friday night.

Landy Ellis and wife dined with their children, Mr. and Mrs. Sowers, Sunday.

The young folk and older ones had a good time at J. C. Stark's Saturday night at the party. 42 was played by some and others enjoyed the radio.

E. D. Roberson hauled out feed Monday from town.

Collier Ballard and the Roberts girls from across the river visited in the Ballard and Ellis homes Sunday.

Landy Ellis and wife took Vernon Johnson and family back to their home in San Saba county, after a month's stay in this home.

Everybody is ready for another cold spell, so they can butcher hogs.

and brought their dolls and other toys. After enjoying games, victrola music and other amusements, sandwiches, cookies and punch were served to the pupils and visitors, who were Billy Shipp, George Albert Schumann, Clyde Kunkel, LaVerne Jeske, Norman Wagner, Emily and Vera Schumann, of Eden and Mmes. Reinert, Wagner, Henry Druockhammer, J. S. Deckard, Joel T. Grimland, Emmett F. Cunningham and Albert Schumann.

Some time in the near future a day will be set for work on the campus. The women of the P. T. A. will furnish dinner for those present.

The P. T. A. will hold its monthly meeting again on Friday evening, November 24. All of those who wish to become members of this organization are asked to bring a fat hen for their membership fee.

Sport News

Friday afternoon the basketball teams, boys and girls, went to Prairie for a match game. The Priddy girls defeated the Prairie girls by a score of 19 to 8, and the Priddy boys were defeated by the Prairie boys.

Saturday, Nov. 25, the same teams of Priddy will go to Pottsville for some games.

RULES FOR WRITING

Some publications have special rules governing the writing of communications, but all agree on some of the fundamental rules: A writer should always sign an article submitted and then, if the publication of the name is desired, it should be so stated, otherwise it will likely be omitted. Do not use personalities. It is a poor way to settle a private grudge to "write somebody up." It is also a mighty good plan to avoid publishing jokes, unless the parties involved are knowing to it and are willing that the publication be made. If the article is regarding some local event it should be sent in for the current issue of the publication. Reports of long-past events are not interesting to anybody. Write on one side of the paper only, as writing on the reverse side is likely to be overlooked by the printer, unless it is plainly marked on the first sheet. Above all be sure to SIGN your name. Do not sign the name of some other person, for that is forgery.

STYLES IN NEW YORK

National Hairdressers' Show Stresses Ornaments in Coiffure Mode

The importance of ornamentation in the coiffure mode was emphasized at the American Beauty and Styles exposition held recently in New York. Clips, combs, bandeaux and tiaras in a variety of new designs were all highlighted by this official hairdressers group, and had their part in the coiffure style pageant—a big daily feature of the show—in which, during the time of the exhibit, more than 500 distinctively-coiffured models displayed interpretations of America's leading hair stylists.

The higher-on-the-head arrangement, with soft little waves, curls, ringlets and variations through bangs, back and side swirls, made a perfect background for the ornaments, which were featured for both day and evening wear. Those for day wear were more restrained in design—often just a plain bandeau or clip at the temples to hold the waves or curls close to the head. For the evening coiffures, however, there was greater use of ornaments and, in keeping with the mode of elegance in apparel, many regal-looking jeweled tiaras were noted.

Outstanding among the coiffures displayed was "Miss America—1934" which consisted of a variation of soft curls high on the head at the back, a straight-across neckline and a sleek back from the forehead top. This coiffure was accented by a rhinestone-studded tiara.

Other original and distinctive coiffures featured bangs with smart forehead spacings, a new back swirl starting high on the left side of the head, and an upward movement accentuated by a soft close-fitting hair arrangement. A smart curl bob displayed temple clips for holding the curls in place. Another outstanding arrangement was the "League of Nations" coiffure, which was decorated with tiny flags of various nations.

Trend Toward Greater Femininity

According to the educational director of the American Beauty and Styles Exposition, and internationally known authority on beauty culture—the trend is decidedly toward the more feminine in coiffure and make-up. In hair arrangement, hard lines are giving way to softer, more graceful and more individual effects, with discreetly chosen ornaments often contributing a smart feminine touch. As to make-up, she says, the American woman is rapidly learning that it achieves its best results when correctly selected and applied to accentuate a natural healthy feminine appearance. The trend generally in rouge and lipstick colors is for clear red shades without orange tints, and for powders with rich oil base to give the skin a velvety look, thus increasing eye luster.

Rich Colorful Fabrics Featured At Beauty Show

Velvets, crepes and satins in a variety of weaves and colors were highlights among gown fabrics of the smartly-coiffured models at the beauty show. Among velvets, transparent versions were favored in black, white, brown, blackberry, wine and red. Particularly smart was a white crystalline velvet evening gown fashioned on long slim lines, with long sleeves, high ront and low-decolletage outlined by bands of ermine. Equally stunning was a dinner gown of black kaskadee velvet, topped off with a gold cloth blouse with high neck and sleeves, and worn with a dinner hat of stiff net, through which a pearl-studded bandeau peeped. Rayon crepes and satins in new deep crinkles and ribs were noted. An evening gown of Schiaparelli's white treebark was effectively worn with a vivid red transparent velvet sash, with ends falling to the hem of the gown. There was a glamorous gray-haired model in a black transparent velvet cape worn over a shimmering white satin gown, which was accented by ropes of pearls.

Costume Jewelry Highlighted At Beauty Show.

Hair ornaments we have already mentioned as featured at the beauty show. But they were by no means all in the field of costume jewelry, which is so important in smart fashions this season. One noted it in various new designs and materials displayed by models at the show. Velvets have brought about a big revival in pearls, and these were displayed by the models in revues in smart new interpretations including wide flaring cuff like bracelets made of rows of pearls strung on fine wire—these sometimes worn with matching collar. There were chic designs in long pendant earrings with matching hair clips. Sports and street ensembles featured various materials in costume jewelry—charming new treatments in bracelets in white, black and vivid colors, as well as silver, gold and chromium and carved wood—and all these in interesting combinations—as, for example, a bulky composition band bracelet in white with inlays of gold metal. There were stunning bracelets and matching brooches showing Burmese, East Indian, Egyptian and Aztec influence.

Hats at Beauty Show Stress Off-Face Styles

Reminiscent of grandmothers' poke bonnet, but in decidedly modern treatment, was an ultrachic hat in black velvet included among the models displayed at the beauty show. From this same dictator of smart millinery fashions, who is sponsoring off-the-face styles in distinctive new versions, was a back and side tilted turban made of interestingly folded bands of black and white deep-crinkled crepe. There was also a very distinctive little round knitted woolen face-revealing hat worn by a model with a youthful, sleek back from the forehead coiffure and a tiny black felt, exquisitely soft and silky, with just a hint of the poke bonnet movement in design.

Monograms Continue Important In Mode

Monograms and initials were in evidence at the beauty show in all sorts of new arrangements. New practical and personalized are the little metal coin containers—with initials in metal or composition—which were in display. You snap these little coin compacts on the outside of your handbag and your change is right at hand.

New Color Combinations Displayed at Beauty Show

Such new color combinations as rust brown with crimson, deep bottle green with warm henna, ice blue with sapphire and pale pink with fuchsia were featured in costumes displayed by Chas. beauty show. These colors and Le Maire in a style revue at the others, including black, brownish grey and deep red, were carried out in costumes with long slim lines and in fabrics with an interesting newness including a rich new Peaud'Ange lace, shimmering satins and new transparent velvets in tiny checks and stripes, as well as plain. One noted that the clothes or the evening mode stressed these fabrics—so rich and interesting in texture and color and so clever in line and cut that they did not depend upon furs.

Smart New Eyewear Displayed At Beauty Show

Eyeglasses in new streamline styling and new colors have taken on a real style importance. In a smart display at the beauty show there were new shell frame models not only in the more familiar soft amber and crystal shades, but in pastel tones—youthful and flattering. So, today, if you wish, you may choose your eyewear to match your costume.

Style Flashes

Cire-Q-Vel, a new crinkled velvet of Acele, is noted in some of the smartest new evening gowns. It is very stunning in a pale pistache green.

There is a trend toward braid designs and applique effects in the mode. It is noted not only in costumes, but in shoes, bags and hats.

The long-sleeved evening gown—distinctive in the mode—is seen not only in the velvets, but in the new peau d'ange laces, rayon crepe satins and lames.

There's nothing new about veiveteen neckwear, which has been definitely in the mode all season, but there is something very fresh and new about the little veiveteen capelets with high petaled collars now featured in New York shops. They are seen in such glamorous shades of red brown and green.

Blunt Noses Make Best Streamlines

(Above) New Curtiss all-metal monoplane designed for Army Air Corps. Note the speed ring or shield around the short, blunt nose which cuts down the "air-drag."

(Above) Model of auto for 1934 showing aero-dynamic streamlining, with short nose and complete weight redistribution. Passengers sit between wheels, not over them.

(Above) The Navy, too is going in for streamlines and blunt noses in the V-type Submarines, incorporating sensational new engineering advances.

(Right) Of all fast moving objects streamlined by Nature with the blunt nosed rain-drop design, one of the swiftest is the terrible shark, which is credited with speeds of around 100 miles an hour.

For centuries people have naturally thought that sharp-nosed objects would cleave the air and water with less resistance than blunt-nosed ones. This seemed so reasonable that until recent years no one even bothered to experiment to ascertain scientifically if the idea were true.

To the amazement of the first experimenters, it was discovered that

How Cardui Helps Women

"Mal-nutrition" means that your body is not getting enough to keep it up, so that what it has to do is not done well. You may not be eating enough to keep up the work of the body, or there may be something wrong that keeps you from getting full value from the food you eat.

Because of mal-nutrition, some women have aches and pains every month. Such pains should not be neglected.

Take Cardui to give you a better appetite, to give you more strength from the food you eat—to build up and increase your feeling of well-being. Aches and pains go away as you build up with the help of Cardui.

HERE AND THERE

The Supreme Court of the United States has refused to pass on the question of the right of states to bar from educational institutions students who refuse to take military training because of moral convictions.

The Reconstruction Finance Corporation has made available $71,000,000 to date to bank depositors under its new plan to release $1,000,000,000 through a re-appraisal and new loans on frozen bank resources.

Preparations are being made for the construction of the McDonald Observatory, co-operatively managed by the Universities of Texas and Chicago, in the mountains near Fort Davis. Officials and engineers of the company which will construct the observatory are making their final plans. The structures will be built around two massive piers requiring about 450 tons of concrete and 10 tons of reinforcing steel. The observing floor upon which the telescope will stand will be three stories high. The observatory, the bequest of the late W. J. McDonald of Paris, Texas, will be the second largest in the world, exceeded only by the Mount Wilson telescope in California.

Mr. and Mrs. Furman Crawford visited her sister, Mrs. Lloyd Cathey, at San Saba during the week end.

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Smith visited relatives at Brownwood Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Kirby visited Mrs. Orville Harris Saturday. Mrs. Harris was busy, so on leaving her to finish what she was doing she said: "Make yourself at home." Mrs. Kirby answered: "I'll not do it, if I did I would sweep the floor."

Mr. and Mrs. Garner Carr, Mr. and Mrs. Boulder of Lubbock and Miss Florine Koen of San Angelo are visiting Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Koen for a few days.

Several of our members attended church, singing and B. Y. P. U. at Carndan Sunday.

Grammar School Honor Roll

Fourth grade: Arnold Scott, Sixth grade: Lorine Hodges and Myri McCarty.

Columbus Reed made 74 one day last week in spelling. He is real proud of this grade and says he will try to make another passing grade soon.

One of the fifth grade girls described the heart thus: The heart is as big as your double fist. It is cut up in pieces and all tangled up, but not like your hair.

Almost everyone thinks and hopes that Billy Hightower will make a pitcher for the Mount Olive junior indoor baseball team.

We don't see how Evelyn makes such good grades and gets into as much mischief as she does.

Myri McCarty was asked to write an essay on Lincoln for her English class. She wrote: Abraham Lincoln was born on a bright summer day on the 12th of February, 1809, in a log cabin that he helped his father build.

High School

We have started into school this week with the intention of studying hard and making better grades on our examinations next week, than we did the first month.

The pupils of this school are going to put on a program Friday night, November 24, 1933. There will be a short play, entitled "Squaring with the Boss." We invite all of you to come and be with us.

Primary News

The primary grades are running a race to see who keeps the cleanest house. The grade that wins gets a big sack of candy to eat at the end of the month. The second grade is leading so far.

In the health race, which consists of having clean hands and finger nails, clean neck and ears, teeth brushed and hair combed each day and taking a bath of ten or more times a week, Billy Wilcox, Euna V. Harris, Matilda Abbott and Ruby Lee Guess are leading.

Third grade pupils who have the most marks for not missing any words in reading are: Angus Howington, Matilda Abbott, Almeta Koen, Ruby Lee Guess.

In the second grade reading Bertha Barrington and Euna V. Harris have the most beads for not missing any words in reading.

Bertha Barrington has most headmarks in the second grade spelling with Euna V. Harris following her.

The first grade pupils believe they know as many words in reading and can make as good

RATLER

Due to an error on the reporter's part, the news was discarded last week from Ratler. I hope it won't happen again.

We are having some real warm weather, which I am afraid, is bad on the hogs that have been killed this fall.

Bro. Jim Hays preached for us Saturday night and Sunday. Had good crowds at all three services.

Mrs. Hays came with Bro. Hays and attended the preaching services Saturday night. We are always glad to have Mrs. Hays with us to help out with the singing.

The Quilting club met at Mrs. Ashley Weathers last Thursday. There was a large crowd of ladies present. Mrs. Eula Nickols from Rock Springs and Miss Nellie Cooke also from Rock Springs, and Meses. Lindsey, Cornelius, Miss Flowers Lindsey from Ridge and a number of our own community ladies. Everyone enjoyed the day with a fine dinner, which consisted of fried chicken, dressing, salads, hog backbone, turnip greens, English peas, relishes of different kinds, cake, pie, pudding, beef roast, and oh, my, I don't know what else. Mrs. Weathers had a friendship quilt and each one quilted their name on a block that they had pieced for her. When completed it looked very pretty.

Mr. and Mrs. Houston Curtis from Ridge visited O. P. Curtis and family Sunday.

Mrs. Clarence Langford and Tas Renfro visited their mother, Mrs. M. A. Casbeer, at Center City last Sunday evening.

Miss Ellen Woods and Odorine Renfro had dinner with Ellis Wallace and family Sunday.

Mrs. Howard Ducey went home Friday evening after spending the week in Ratler visiting relatives and friends.

Ben Spradling and family visited relatives in Neal Sunday.

Ellis Wallace and Howard Ducey went to Big Valley Monday on business.

Miss Arlie Curtis spent the week end with her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Curtis, of Goldthwaite.

The teacher, Clarence Ducey, got to town Friday evening in time to see the football game between Goldthwaite and San Saba.

Frank Wallace visited his son, Ellis, and family last week. His son, Sam, and son-in-law, Floyd Sloan, were with him. They live at San Saba.

Winters last week. They returned home Saturday.

Mrs. Ray Hammond and children spent the past week with her mother, Mrs. Kate Shelton.

Misses Ola Belle and Leta Mae Williams and Flora Belle Quirl and Oscar Chesser called on Mr. and Mrs. Lois Williams awhile Friday night.

Mount Olive school girls came over and played the school girls here a game of basket ball. Our girls did well, regardless of the fact that this was their first match game. Mount Olive was victorious. After the girls' game our outside boys gave Mount Olive outside boys a real sample of what basket ball playing is like.

Center Point boys came out winners. Both teams were good sports and showed good sportsmanship.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey French and Wyno Lee visited in the L.W. French home Sunday.

A DAY OF THANKSGIVING

Next Thursday will be our national day of Thanksgiving and should be observed by everybody as a time for returning thanks to the Allwise Giver of all good for the many blessings we enjoy. Everybody has cause for thankfulness and it is right and proper that such blessings as we are permitted to enjoy should be recounted and recognized. If we count our blessings and name them one by one it will doubtless surprise us to realize how much we have for which to be thankful. Possibly we have not been able to accumulate as much of this world's goods as we would have liked, but most of us are in fairly good condition in so far as a living is concerned and we are surrounded by friends and many advantages that we should appreciate. The first consideration is that we are allowed to worship God according to the dictates of our own conscience, without a code by which we must worship or a limitation being placed on our devotions. We are also allowed an ample amount of air and sunshine, neither of which is taxed, nor must we make a report on the amount we use of either and no dictator has prescribed the amount we must use. Many other blessings surround us and most of the hardships brought upon us are the results of our own acts. Certainly the Deity has contributed His part toward our comfort and happiness and we should return thanks to Him for the blessings we are still permitted to appropriate to our own needs and desires.

SURPRISING STATISTICS

An insurance company has compiled statistics on the fatalities to pedestrians on the highways and city streets, and it is surprising to know that the fatalities among pedestrians last year reached a total of 13,506. Yet the blame can not all be attributed to the automobile drivers, for in fact a considerable amount of it belongs to them. One needs but to look out upon any street or highway anywhere to see the cause for this immense loss of life and limb and the wonder is that the list does not mount much higher, when one sees just what takes place. It is, in reality, to the credit of the automobile drivers that there are not tragedies of this character every day throughout the country. Many pedestrians are blameless, but there are those who believe they are entirely within their rights when they deliberately walk in the path of the traffic and force, or expect to force, all users of the streets and highways to stop for their deliberate and casual passage or go around them and give them full right-of-way. Darkness adds greatly to pedestrian hazards, especially along highways where cars are moving at high speeds, when it is often impossible to see persons dressed in dark clothing until it is too late to stop or avoid them. The influence of the seasons is likewise important—in the first and last quarters of the year the rate of pedestrian deaths is 25 per cent greater than in the second and third quarters. Safe walking is something the country needs to learn.

A SAFETY CAMPAIGN

The police authorities of Houston have inaugurated a campaign that will be imitated by officers and the general citizenship of the state and nation. That is to educate the public, especially parents, regarding the danger of placing fire arms or air rifles in the hands of children for Christmas presents. Every Yuletide there is sadness in some of the homes because of the discharge of these Santa Claus or Christmas present firearms by children. When these misfortunes or tragedies occur it is far more the fault of the person giving the child the gun than it is the child who uses it, accidentally or otherwise. The Houston police have begun a very wise campaign. If the donors of these dangerous weapons to children, who have neither the experience or discretion to use them, could realize that they may be providing a means to bedevil the entire life of the child who may maim or even kill some playmate without the slightest intention of doing so.

A BAN ON HAZING

President Pat M. Neff of Baylor University, Waco, has the approval of the board of trustees of that institution of learning and a host of other people throughout the state and nation, in his move to prevent hazing among the student body. The idea attempted to be established that it is a manly act for a gang of students to overpower a newcomer—a boy who is away from home for the first time, perhaps—and deal him severe and outrageous punishment simply because he is defenseless, is all wrong. It is exactly the same principle that actuates the white-robed mob to deal creek bottom justice (?) to some rival or enemy whom they would not dare attack in the open and singlehanded. Mr. Neff's action in dealing with this practice, that is opposed by a great majority of the patrons of the institutions of higher education, will go far toward sustaining the high character of Baylor.

DEPRESSION DISPELLED

There is no surer sign of improvement in financial and business conditions of the country than the automobile industry. While it is true that many people buy automobiles when they can ill afford the investment, yet in a great majority of cases the purchase of a new automobile reflects the independence, if not the prosperity, of the purchaser. When the sales of automobiles, therefore, are on the increase, the probabilities are that the country as a whole is recovering from the effects of the depression. The University of Texas bureau of business research has made a report of an investigation along this line and finds that, in seventeen of the most populous counties in Texas, the increase in the purchase of new automobiles during the past October was 156 per cent above the purchases in 1932.

THE RED SEALS

At about this time of each year the little red seals—Christmas Seals—are placed on sale to provide funds to continue the campaign against tuberculosis in this state. This year thirty-seven million seals will be placed on sale and doubtless will be purchased promptly and gladly by those who want to have a part in the fight against the great white plague. The seals will be on sale at convenient places and doubtless county and community agencies will be established throughout the country, in order that all may have an opportunity to assist, to some extent, in the worthy cause.

Health Hint

TRANSMITTING DISEASE

Austin, Texas, Nov. 25.—The primary reason for the institution of Thanksgiving Day was health. We know Governor Bradford called together the people, those few of them who were left after that terrible first year of death and disease, to give thanks to God for all His mercies.

We have come a long way since that time in the matter of health but not one seldom thinks of Thanksgiving in connection with the health that we enjoy. Most persons have been so accustomed to having those advantages that they are scarcely given a thought until sickness makes it appearance.

The state department of health, city and county health organizations have labored for years to secure the measure of health protection that the public now enjoys. They give thanks for the methods that have helped in the saving of thousands of lives each year and look forward to the years to come for greater service.

Since the first Thanksgiving, the mode of transmission of many diseases has been discovered and in many instances the prevention has become common knowledge. Yellow fever, plague, and cholera have practically ceased to exist. Smallpox, diphtheria, and typhoid fever can be eliminated as a cause of death if a person would have themselves and children immunized. Malaria and many other diseases can be controlled if the public would demand that this protection be a part of the every day activities of the government and practice what is known in regard to prevention.

During the past fifty years the expectation of life has increased about 15 years. This means that a baby born now can be expected to live fifteen years longer than if he had been born fifty years ago. We have much more to be thankful for now than our Pilgrim forefathers, so let each in his Thanksgiving, pledge to assist in furthering the work being done to improve conditions throughout Texas.

TRIBUTE TO THE BOSS

During these changing days labor is going on the forty-hour week and men by the hundreds of thousands are going to have more leisure than they ever had before, it is well, perhaps, to give thought for a moment to the one who isn't to be quite so happy. We mean the boss.

He's the man that the national recovery administration refers to as an executive who is exempt from the code provisions for the simple reason that he is going to work harder and longer and carry greater burdens than before. He is the guy who must think up ways and means of changing his business methods to meet code conditions and still, if possible, keep out of the red. He's the fellow who has to dig up the newer wage scale cash, so that the pay envelope will still be available on Saturday night. He's the man who must answer "I will," to the president, and, in order to get that precious eagle emblem, think and work and worry as never before.

In some future day when we all hope, historians will look back upon the summer of 1933 and record it as the period of a new emancipation of the American people; when they will tell the story of a nation united to destroy that old' debbil Depression, when they will write of a leadership that was courageous and confident and determined, at that future day we hope the Prescotts and Gibbonses of the era will find time for at least a paragraph about the usually unsung, unhonored and unwept hero of it all—the Boss. Just in case those future historians neglect their duty, we hasten to seize the opportunity here and now to cast a few bouquets and laurel wreaths at the fellow who is too busy to know or care about praise, who is only hoping he can scheme a way to make ends meet, while he devotes forty and twice forty hours a week to the process.—Chronicle, Toledo, Ia.

Americans residing in the U. S. use about 910,000,000 matches every day.

THE REALM OF SCIENCE

FIND ANCIENT CATS

Skeletons of two ancient cats were discovered by Smithsonian museum paleontologists in southern Idaho that were believed to have lived in that section just before the coming of the great ice sheet. The skeletal material represents two distinct lines of the cat family. One line, represented by the great sabor toothed cats and their near relatives, were probably the most efficient killers the world has ever known. It is believed by some that this same efficiency hastened their extinction by killing off their own meat supply.

The other find resembles the true cat family of the present day, including everything from the puma down to the house cat. It may not have been the direct ancestor of the present family, the scientists say, but it certainly was a close relative. It was one of the most widely distributed of the New World mammals, ranging over both North and South America.—Pathologist.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

The Texas Outlook, state teachers magazine, is authority for this best "Believe It or Not" of the season: A farmer hung his vest on a fence in his back yard. A small calf chewed up a pocket in the garment in which was a gold watch. Seven years later the animal, a staid old milk cow, was butchered for a beef and the time piece was found in such a position between the lungs of the cow that the respiration kept the stem-winder wound up, and the watch had lost only four minutes in seven years.—Scurry County Times.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VIEWS OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

SPENDING IS SAVING NOW

True economy is that which obtains the largest possible return for a dollar at a time when it will bring the most.

We have had a number of years of extreme depression. Prices have dropped to unimaginable low levels. Buying power has been close to non-existent. There was money in the country—but persons who had surpluses were afraid to spend. They went without needed articles in order to keep their savings intact. They permitted property to fall into costly disrepair.

If they pursue that timid policy any longer, they are going to be literally out of luck. That hoarded money is going down in value now. The worth of the dollar depends entirely on what it will buy. Six months from now it will buy much less than it will buy today. In other words, if you keep money in a non-productive state at present it amounts to throwing a certain percentage of it away.

You can get maximum value from your money only by putting it to use. There was never a better time to install a new heating plant, to repair or replace a roof, to build, to paint or to do a thousand similar things. Every dollar so spent will appreciate in value—what it buys will in a very short time, have a market value much in excess of what you paid.

Think it over! True saving now is through wise spending.—The Manufacturer.

CREDIT VS. CASH

Credit is fine in an emergency, but credit is like eating tomorrow's dinner today. This country went wild on credit when the wild days were here. The stock brokers of New York owed the banks $8,000,000,000 in 1929. Every dollar of that indebtedness represented inflation. It was credit inflation, and every dollar paid in the liquidation of that debt represented deflation. The brokers did not get the money from the banks in cash. Neither did they pay cash to those who sold or get cash from those who bought. They gave and took the checks on banks, and those checks were inflationary currency. When the brokers' credits were combined with the farmers', merchants', and public credits the total sum was almost too prodigious for calculation. Taking those credits out of circulation, where they had circulated in the form of bank checks, tore the fabric of the nation's garment from neckband to hem. The individual who uses his credit for indulgence in extravagance comes to grief, but a sound credit based upon self-liquidating business, production and distribution, is a valuable adjunct to monetary circulation. It stimulates buying and selling and raises living standards. If all transactions depended on cash, and cash depended on silver and gold, the dollar's value would be abnormally high.—State Press in Dallas News.

MR. NEFF IS PRESIDENT

When Pat Neff was made president of Baylor University the understanding was that he would be president from basement to belfry. Governor Neff understood it that way. His board of trustees understood it that way. The people of Texas hadn't a doubt about it.

Accordingly, there is no surprise that the governor is going after hazing with an earnestness calculated to spread consternation among hazers. The other day he gave the trustees the chance to discharge him if they didn't like the way he was doing it. The trustees stuck with him.

Hazing is not always the most heinous crime in the calendar of misdeeds. But it is a form of gang action that doesn't contribute much to the development of fair play or to the growth of citizenship. Part of the value of college training is that lads have the chance to make contact with discipline and law. Baylor provides both.—Dallas Journal.

HOME MORTGAGE LOANS

The summary by the Washington Bureau of the News of the completed loans of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation reveals a locally existing apprehension that Texas is not getting its share of the cash adjustments under the act. But there is small solace for the harried home owner in the fact now frankly admitted by the corporation, that the cash supply appropriated by congress is inadequate.

Two hundred millions dollars was set up to supply cash needs where mortgage owners refuse to exchange their liens under the terms of the $2,000,000,000 home loan bonds. But the amounts awarded and applications approved or pending for this character of relief already far exceed the available amount. Population basis aside, the average available for each state barely exceeds $4,160,000. On average liens of $3000, relief can be offered to but few more than the 1300 owners of distressed property in Texas whose creditors refuse to accept the mortgage.

The two difficulties that the News foresaw in regard to home loan administration remain, apparently insuperable. The first is that where the security for the lien is adequate, many mortgage lenders are covetous enough to prefer foreclosing on the property so that, unless the debt can be settled in cash, it can not be settled at all. The other is that the home loan bonds require the lien holder to take an actual loss either in principal or interest and he can not be censured for objecting to that procedure. In final analysis the only easy settlement occurs where loans, because of depreciated value, exceed the worth of the property and the lien holder is glad to make the exchange in order to rescue his cash investment on the best terms possible.

The administration undertook the home loan enterprise with the best of intentions but apparently it underestimated the amount distress property.—Dallas News.

SPEED AND JUSTICE

In his charge to the grand jury at Brady a few days ago Judge Miller referred, in no uncertain terms, to the delays and technicalities in the trial of criminal cases and the difficulty in securing convictions and administering punishment to those guilty of crime. He said in part: "The energy and dispatch with which the federal government handled the Urschel kidnaping case was very gratifying and encouraging. If technicalities would permit the state courts to handle things energetically and determinedly like that, when a man is tried and convicted to get him away in thirty days, crime conditions would be different. In cases of unquestionable guilt a man should be tried and convicted and in prison in thirty days instead of three years. Our system of courts and laws are a mere joke and jest with the criminal. They know that a soft hearted and sympathetic jury will give them a suspended sentence, and if they have the price or the influence even if convicted they will get a pardon or parole before they get down to the penitentiary, and they do not fear the state laws nor respect the state courts."

MAXIM FAILS

H. L. Mencken, in a farewell editorial in the American Mercury says he quit because he was unable to write anything because of the "extreme and unexpected activity of the Roosevelt administration." Several months ago he wrote an editorial on the immutability of the law of supply and demand and he claims before the magazine got off the press the law had been repealed. Then he says he wrote a piece based on the ancient maxim that what goes up must come down. Something happened to that theory, too.—Temple News.

Secretary Wallace has a view of the day when every acre of farm land in America will be under complete bureaucratic control. There is to be a resettlement of the agricultural population of the Nation, accompanied by abandonment of marginal lands. When the federal government spend $10,000,000 or $1,000,000 on a new irrigation project, it will compel retirement from cultivation of other less productive lands, in order to restore the balance of national production. There is to be a cation of acreage, crop by crop in other words, there is to be complete socialization of farming industries under bureaucratic dictatorship.

Wallace's ideas, as revealed his address at Chicago before the association of Land Grant colleges, shows that he leans far to the left than has been indicated by his previous address. It shows also that he is in agreement with the administration's belief that control of individual farms is not practical. Obviously, Secretary Wallace joined the ranks of those who look primarily to internal control of an isolated America as solution of the Nation's problem of what to do with the plus production of wealth and its overabundance of natural resources. Of course, if we assume that the road up the nomic blind alley that he is the only road available, his plan is just about as good as can be devised. But the solution of the problems of only this nation, but of the world, lies in leading countries out of their blind alleys of tense nationalism and isolation. This solution eventually will be reached. It is unfortunate a leader with as good record Secretary Wallace should be tampering with exped that will prove harmful in the long run.—Dallas News.

LEARNING FROM ANIMALS

Man may be the ruler of earth, but there are a lot of things we don't know yet about the other inhabitants that share this sphere with us, and are constantly surprising us by taking charge of things that we think are ours.

For instance, we read in paper the other day that rats have again become a plague in Australia. Years ago some British settlers imported a few bits, which multiplied so that they became a serious menace to crops, and the Australian government had to pay a bounty to get rid of them. Enough of them remained to start it all over again.

Even more surprising is a story that comes from New England of a great misadventure of a squirrel. The squirrel, while on the ground, was eating a nut. He was standing on a branch of a tree, and he was looking down at the ground. He saw a man, and he was afraid. He ran up the tree, and he hid in a hole. The man saw the squirrel, and he was angry. He shot at the squirrel, and he missed. The squirrel was safe.

This episode is similar to story of the lemmings, the little furred animals of way, who every few years cross the country in droves millions, until they reach sea coast. There they do not plunge into the sea, but down, seeking nobody know what ancient refuge, long submerged to which some instinct drives them in time.

We hear of beavers coming back to Massachusetts, vanishing for a time, and of deer becoming thick in the green stuff of the woods; of police dogs shaking the shackles of civilization, running wild in packs like wolf ancestors, terrorizing country sides. We are always interested in the mysterious of animals, as is most every one. But we never cease to wonder at their tenacity of life and power of survival when a thing seems set against them. Lamb County Leader.

San Saba

E. A. Murray of Dallas arrived Tuesday night to join some old San Saba pals for the annual hunt in the hills.

A pall of sorrow settled like a thick black cloud over San Saba last Saturday afternoon about 6:30 o'clock. Sweet little John Ed, the bright eyed, open faced baby boy of Mr. and Mrs. Dee House, in some way, fell in front of a slow moving car, and had his life crushed out. The frightful accident happened while the town was yet full of people.

G. A. Buchanan, formerly of Mullin, has bought the W. P. Ormond & Co., stock of dry goods in San Saba. Mr. Buchanan has been in business there and is adding that stock to his San Saba purchase. The family has moved to San Saba and are domiciled in one of the Sam Taylor bungalows. The two daughters, Misses Esther and Odessa, will be with their father in the store.

Two hunters in this section drifted into hard luck avenue last week. George R. Milner of McLennan county had shot too many doves, when he shouldn't have shot any at all, as the season is closed. Everett Flemming knew the dove season was out, but forgot the quail season is closed until December 1. Both unfortunates paid a measly $63 fine each like good sports and also furnished a warning to others to observe the game laws. It is never bad sportsmanship to observe the laws of the land. — News.

Nineteen prisoners, the largest number in recent years, were in the Comanche jail Thursday. Several have already been given prison terms and have accepted their sentences and are awaiting to be transferred to Huntsville.

R. H. Havens, Hasse postmaster, was arrested by Sheriff Dwight Brightman Saturday, on embezzlement charges. The arrest was made in response to a telegram from federal authorities at Fort Worth.

The farm residence on the H. B. Painter farm, near Comyn, was destroyed by fire Saturday, November 4, about 7 p. m. Part of the household goods were saved. The fire originated from a defective flue, it is believed.

Three special venires have been called to report to the district court here Monday, November 20, for service in connection with the trials scheduled to begin in the murder charges against R. C. Tipton and A. M. (Ab) White and a charge as an accomplice to the murder of Pink Miller here on January 20, last.

The cases against W. D. Carroll, charged with election fraud by miscalling ballots, were dismissed on motion of the district attorney in district court records revealed Monday. The dismissal of charges were on grounds of an opinion from the court of criminal appeals, which held that the ballots were illegally opened and evidence incompetent. The ballot boxes were opened by the county democratic committee for a recount.—Chief.

Brownwood

A movement was on foot in town county this week to secure an immediate loan of 15c per pound on 1933 turkeys. The market opened at around 10 to 11 cents, but by the middle of this week had been battered down to about 8c.

Twenty-one more cotton bales for Brown county farmers were received by County Agent C. W. Lehmburg. The checks represented $3,215 of government money to go to those farmers who plowed up their 1933 cotton.

As a part of the big push to put every unemployed man in Texas to work, nearly 400 men went to work Thursday morning in Brown county. The majority of these were at work on county lateral highways, with a smaller crew at work cleaning up Brownwood streets and alleys.—Banner

Hamilton

Aubrey Hudson of Goldthwaite was in Hamilton Tuesday, transacting business and visiting his uncle, N. W. Hudson.

The little city of Pottsville is just now in the limelight as the center of Hamilton county oil activity. A test well was spudded in near that place last Monday afternoon, and judging from the abundant evidence throughout that section of this territory a rich field of oil will be discovered when the drill has struck down through the earth to the pool of "flowing gold."

At about 3:30 o'clock Wednesday morning the Lemmons service station, a large rock building on the northeast corner of the square, was discovered to be a seething caldron of flames on the interior. The fire siren refused to send out its unusual chilling shrilling alarm, and only the sonorous sounds of the old time fire bell were available to call the volunteer fire company out of warm beds to fight the menacing flames. After the fire was out, investigations resulted in the discovery that the fire had started in the ceiling just back of the business office of the station and garage, and originated from defective wiring. The ceiling was badly scorched and the metal roof damaged beyond repair. The total loss in damages to the building is estimated to be around $800 to $1000.

Returning from Gatesville late Friday afternoon Jack Moore lost control of his car when the machine struck a slick place in the road following rain, skidded and turned over in the ditch at the side of the road. In the car with Mr. Moore were his wife and Frank Harris, Jr., George Linton and James Rea, the two latter being members of the high school football team, playing Gatesville high school in the afternoon. The machine was not so badly damaged, but that Mr. Moore drove on into Hamilton. The entire party was considerably shaken up and suffered from nerve shock. Mr. and Mrs. Moore were bruised about their bodies; Frank Harris, Jr., had a fairly good sized "puk knot" on the side of his head and the football boys sustained injured ears, those members of their bodies having been cut and bruised as if they had engaged in a prize fight.—Record-Herald

Coated Screen Wire Newest Adjunct To Winter Gardening

NEARLY everybody loves flowers and there is an increasing tendency on the part of householders to have some small plant house near the dwelling where flowers can be raised during the winter months. Some of these are merely cold frames for winter gardening. They enable one to grow plants of unusual interest and beauty which would otherwise be almost out of the question. Poppy anemones are one of these, so also is the mariposa tulip and giant double buttercups.

The illustrations here show a little plant house designed by Davis and Wilson, architects. The walls and roof in this were covered with celloglass, a coated screen wire which gave a considerable gain in economy and simplicity of construction. In addition its fine silvery color offered a lovely background. It is also much less fragile than glass, and roof construction with it is simplicity itself. It has only to be tacked on.

If the householder's tastes are still more simple, and he wants a plain cold frame, he can get the same results with this coated screen wire. In addition this allows the ultra-violet rays of the sun to filter through, thus adding health, beauty and strength to the flowers.

MRS. JOHN SCOTT DEAD

A belated report of the death of Mrs. John Scott in Fort Worth on November 16, reached the friends of the family here a few days ago and called forth many expressions of sorrow. Mrs. Scott and family lived in Goldthwaite a good many years ago and had many friends here. Mr. Scott was manager of the Weakley & Watson hardware business here and Mrs. Scott was quite a talented musician. The account of her death in a Fort Worth paper said: "Mrs. John Scott, 65, resident of Fort Worth for the last four years, died at her home, 1121 East Belknap street, at 1:19 a. m. Thursday. She is survived by two sons, John Scott of Dallas and William Scott of Big Sandy and a sister, Mrs. William Tidball of Fort Worth."

U. S. Map Shows Freezing Weather Overdue

FIRST freezing weather is now overdue in a majority of states, and motorists who have neglected to prepare for it should act at once, the American Automobile Association gives warning in an announcement to car owners. The official statement is based upon U. S. Weather Bureau reports which show that only three states of the Union are safe from severe drops in temperatures within the next ten days. Immediate preparation will insure insurance against heavy repair bills, and the annoyance and delay that come with frozen motors, water pumps and dead batteries, which sometimes destroy the mechanical efficiency of the car," the statement says. "Use of anti-freeze preparation is, of course, the basis of protecting the car, but it should not be put into the radiator until the automobile has been made ready for changed driving conditions. "Early steps to prepare the car for winter will, in addition to providing protection against frozen motors, be in keeping with the spirit of the 'buy now' movement. Approximately $30,000,000 would be immediately turned loose into channels of trade if the owners of around 15,000,000 automobiles in the areas of freezing weather spent a minimum of two dollars each in preparing their cars to withstand wintry blasts. "The A.A.A. advises that the car's cooling system be cleaned and all connections tightened. Then the car should be protected by a filling of standard anti-freeze solution, not of the 'bell-alloy' type.

TEXAS DIDN'T GAIN

Arlington Downs brought into the coffer of the State of Texas $22,327, which price the Lone Star demanded as rakeoff in order to permit open gambling.

It is estimated that the meet took from a quarter to a half million dollars out of the state. As concerns Austin, of course, that is remote. Closer to state fiscal affairs, however, is the fact that losses by property owning gamblers will probably result in delinquency on the tax rolls far exceeding the $22,327 paid by the track. Texas didn't win much at Arlington Downs. —Dallas Journal.

SHERIFF'S SALE

The State of Texas, County of Mills:

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain Order of Sale issued out of the Honorable 96th Judicial District Court of Tarrant County, on the 9th day of November, 1933, by W. E. Alexander, Clerk of said 96th Judicial District, for the sum of Four Thousand, Nine Hundred and Twenty-One ($4,921.88) 88-100 Dollars. Plus $12.75, of which amount $4,474.44 bears 8% and $447.44 bears 6% interest per annum, and costs of suit, under a Foreclosure, in favor of W. M. McDonald in a certain cause in said Court, No. 3750-A and styled W. M. McDonald vs. Homer Ratliff, placed in my hands for service, I, C. D. Bledsoe, as Sheriff of Mills County, Texas, did, on the 13th day of November, 1933, levy on certain Real Estate, situated in Mills County, Texas, described as follows, to-wit: First tract: Being 320 acres out of the Michael Short Survey No. 52, Abstract No. 582, Certificate No. 447, located in the northwest part of Mills county, about 25 miles northwest of Goldthwaite, and known as the Homer Ratliff place and levied upon as the property of Homer Ratliff and that on the first Tuesday in December, 1933, the same being the fifth day of said month, at the Court House door, of Mills County, in the town of Goldthwaite, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., by virtue of said levy and said Order of Sale I will sell said above described Real Estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said Homer Ratliff. And in compliance with law I give this notice by publication in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Goldthwaite Eagle, a newspaper published in Mills County, Texas. Witness my hand, this 13th day of November, 1933. C. D. BLEDSOE, Sheriff, Mills County, Texas.

A DAY OF THANKSGIVING

Next Thursday will be our national day of Thanksgiving and should be observed by everybody as a time for returning thanks to the Allwise Giver of all good for the many blessings we enjoy. Everybody has cause for thankfulness and it is right and proper that such blessings as we are permitted to enjoy should be recounted and recognized. If we count our blessings and name them one by one it will doubtless surprise us to realize how much we have for which to be thankful. Possibly we have not been able to accumulate as much of this world's goods as we would have liked, but most of us are in fairly good condition in so far as a living is concerned and we are surrounded by friends and many advantages that we should appreciate. The first consideration is that we are allowed to worship God according to the dictates of our own conscience, without a code by which we must worship or a limitation being placed on our devotions. We are also allowed an ample amount of air and sunshine, neither of which is taxed, nor must we make a report on the amount we use of either and no dictator has prescribed the amount we must use. Many other blessings surround us and most of the hardships brought upon us are the results of our own acts. Certainly the Deity has contributed His part toward our comfort and happiness and we should return thanks to Him for the blessings we are still permitted to appropriate to our own needs and desires.

SURPRISING STATISTICS

An insurance company has compiled statistics on the fatalities to pedestrians, on the highways and city streets, and it is surprising to know that the fatalities among pedestrians last year reached a total of 13,500. Yet the blame can not all be attributed to the automobile drivers. In fact any considerable amount of it belongs to them. One needs but to look out upon any street or highway anywhere to see the cause for this immense loss of life and limb and the wonder is that the list does not mount much higher, when one sees just what takes place. It is, in reality, to the credit of the automobile drivers that there are not tragedies of this character every day throughout the country. Many pedestrians are blameless, but there are those who believe they are entirely within their rights when they deliberately walk in the path of the traffic and force, or expect to force, all users of the streets and highways to stop for their deliberate and casual passage or go around them and give them full right-of-way. Darkness adds greatly to pedestrian hazards, especially along highways where cars are moving at high speeds, when it is often impossible to see persons dressed in dark clothing until it is too late to stop or avoid them. The influence of the seasons is likewise important—in the first and last quarters of the year the rate of pedestrian deaths is 25 per cent greater than in the second and third quarters. Safe walking is something the country needs to learn.

A SAFETY CAMPAIGN

The police authorities of Houston have inaugurated a campaign that well might be imitated by officers and the general citizenship of the state and nation. That is to educate the public, especially parents, regarding the danger of placing fire arms or air rifles in the hands of children for Christmas presents. Every Yuletide there is sadness in some of the homes because of the discharge of these Santa Claus or Christmas present firearms by children. When these misfortunes or tragedies occur it is far more the fault of the person giving the child the gun than it is the child who uses it, accidentally or otherwise. The Houston police have begun a very wise campaign. If the donors of these dangerous weapons to children, who have neither the experience or discretion to use them, could realize that they may be providing a means to becloud the entire life of the child who may maim or even kill some playmate without the slightest intention of doing so.

A BAN ON HAZING

President Pat M. Neff of Baylor University, Waco, has the approval of the board of trustees of that institution of learning and a host of other people throughout the state and nation, in his move to prevent hazing among the student body. The idea attempted to be established that it is a manly act for a gang of students to overpower a newcomer—a boy who is away from home for the first time, perhaps—and deal him severe and outrageous punishment simply because he is defenseless, is all wrong. It is exactly the same principle that actuates the white-robed mob to deal creek bottom justice (?) to some rival or enemy whom they would not dare attack in the open and singlehanded. Mr. Neff's action in dealing with this practice, that is opposed by a great majority of the patrons of the institutions of higher education, will go far toward sustaining the high character of Baylor.

DEPRESSION DISPELLED

There is no surer sign of improvement in financial and business conditions of the country than the automobile industry. While it is true that many people buy automobiles when they can ill afford the investment, yet in a great majority of cases the purchase of a new automobile reflects the independence, if not the prosperity, of the purchaser. When the sales of automobiles, therefore, are on the increase, the probabilities are that the country as a whole is recovering from the effects of the depression. The University of Texas bureau of business research has made a report of an investigation along this line and finds that, in seventeen of the most populous counties in Texas, the increase in the purchase of new automobiles during the past October was 156 per cent above the purchases in 1932.

THE RED SEALS

At about this time of each year the little red seals—Christmas Seals—are placed on sale to provide funds to continue the campaign against tuberculosis in this state. This year thirty-seven million seals will be placed on sale and doubtless will be purchased promptly and gladly by those who want to have a part in the fight against the great white plague. The seals will be on sale at convenient places and doubtless county and community agencies will be established throughout the country, in order that all may have an opportunity to assist, to some extent, in the worthy cause.

Health Hint

TRANSMITTING DISEASE

Austin, Texas, Nov. 25.—The primary reason for the institution of Thanksgiving Day was health. We know Governor Bradford called together the people, those few of them who were left after that terrible first year of death and disease, to give thanks to God for all His mercies.

We have come a long way since that time in the matter of health but not one seldom thinks of Thanksgiving in connection with the health that we enjoy. Most persons have been so accustomed to having those advantages that they are scarcely given a thought until sickness makes it appearance.

The state department of health, city and county health organizations have labored for years to secure the measure of health protection that the public now enjoys. They give thanks for the methods that have helped in the saving of thousands of lives each year and look forward to the years to come for greater service.

Since the first Thanksgiving, the mode of transmission of many diseases has been discovered and in many instances the prevention has become common knowledge. Yellow fever, plague, and cholera have practically ceased to exist. Smallpox, diphtheria, and typhoid fever can be eliminated as a cause of death if a person would have themselves and children immunized. Malaria and many other diseases can be controlled if the public would demand that this protection be a part of the every day activities of the government and practice what is known in regard to prevention.

During the past fifty years the expectation of life has increased about 15 years. This means that a baby born now can be expected to live fifteen years longer than if he had been born fifty years ago. We have much more to be thankful for now than our Pilgrim forefathers, so let each in his Thanksgiving, pledge to assist in furthering the work being done to improve conditions throughout Texas.

TRIBUTE TO THE BOSS

During these changing days labor is going on the forty-hour week and men by the hundreds of thousands are going to have more leisure than they ever had before, it is well, perhaps, to give thought for a moment to the one who isn't to be quite so happy. We mean the boss.

He's the man that the national recovery administration refers to as an executive who is exempt from the code provisions for the simple reason that he is going to work harder and longer and carry greater burdens than before. He is the guy who must think up ways and means of changing his business methods to meet code conditions and still, if possible, keep out of the red. He's the fellow who has to dig up the newer wage scale cash, so that the pay envelope will still be available on Saturday night. He's the man who must answer "I will," to the president, and, in order to get that precious eagle emblem, think and work and worry as never before.

In some future day when we all hope, historians will look back upon the summer of 1933 and record it as the period of a new emancipation of the American people; when they will tell the story of a nation united to destroy that old debbil Depression. When they will write of a leadership that was courageous and confident and determined, at that future day we hope the Prescotts and Gibbonses of the era will find time for at least a paragraph about the usually unsung, unhonored and unwept hero of it all—the Boss. Just in case those future historians neglect their duty, we hasten to seize the opportunity here and now to cast a few bouquets and laurel wreaths at the fellow who is too busy to know or care about praise, who is only hoping he can scheme a way to make ends meet, while he devotes forty and twice forty hours a week to the process.—Chronicle, Toledo, Ia.

THE REALM OF SCIENCE

FIND ANCIENT CATS

Skeletons of two ancient cats were discovered by Smithsonian museum paleontologists in southern Idaho that were believed to have lived in that section just before the coming of the great ice sheet. The skeletal material represents two distinct lines of the cat family. One line, represented by the great sabor toothed cats and their near relatives, were probably the most efficient killers the world has ever known. It is believed by some that this same efficiency hastened their extinction by killing off their own meat supply.

The other find resembles the true cat family of the present day, including everything from the puma down to the house cat. It may not have been the direct ancestor of the present family, the scientists say, but it certainly was a close relative. It was one of the most widely distributed of the New World mammals, ranging over both North and South America.—Pathologist.

BELIEVE IT OR NOT

The Texas Outlook, state teachers magazine, is authority for this best "Believe It or Not" of the season: A farmer hung his vest on a fence in his back yard. A small calf chewed up a pocket in the garment in which was a gold watch. Seven years later the animal, a staid old milk cow, was butchered for a beef and the time piece was found in such a position between the lungs of the cow that the respiration kept the stem-winder wound up, and the watch had lost only four minutes in seven years.—Security County Times.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VIEW OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

SPENDING IS SAVING NOW

True economy is that which obtains the largest possible return for a dollar at a time when it will bring the most.

We have had a number of years of extreme depression. Prices have dropped to unimaginable low levels. Buying power has been close to non-existent. There was money in the country—but persons who had surpluses were afraid to spend. They went without needed articles in order to keep their savings intact. They permitted property to fall into costly disrepair.

If they pursue that timid policy any longer, they are going to be literally out of luck. That hoarded money is going down in value now. The worth of the dollar depends entirely on what it will buy. Six months from now it will buy much less than it will buy today. In other words, if you keep money in a non-productive state at present it amounts to throwing a certain percentage of it away.

You can get maximum value from your money only by putting it to use. There was never a better time to install a new heating plant, to repair or replace a roof, to build, to paint or to do a thousand similar things. Every dollar so spent will appreciate in value—what it buys will in a very short time, have a market value much in excess of what you paid.

Think it over! True saving now is through wise spending.—The Manufacturer.

CREDIT VS. CASH

Credit is fine in an emergency, but credit is like eating tomorrow's dinner today. This country went wild on credit when the wild days were here. The stock brokers of New York owed the banks $8,000,000,000 in 1929. Every dollar of that indebtedness represented inflation. It was credit inflation, and every dollar paid in the liquidation of that debt represented deflation. The brokers did not get the money from the banks in cash. Neither did they pay cash to those who sold or get cash from those who bought. They gave and took the checks on banks, and those checks were inflationary currency. When the brokers' credits were combined with the farmers', merchants', and public credits the total sum was almost too prodigious for calculation. Taking those credits out of circulation, where they had circulated in the form of bank checks, tore the fabric of the nation's garment from neckband to hem. The individual who uses his credit for indulgence in extravagance comes to grief, but a sound credit based upon self-liquidating business, production and distribution, is a valuable adjunct to monetary circulation. It stimulates buying and selling and raises living standards. If all transactions depended on cash, and cash depended on silver and gold, the dollar's value would be abnormally high.—State Press in Dallas News.

MR. NEFF IS PRESIDENT

When Pat Neff was made president of Baylor University the understanding was that he would be president from basement to belfry. Governor Neff understood it that way. His board of trustees understood it that way. The people of Texas hadn't a doubt about it.

Accordingly, there is no surprise that the governor is going after hazing with an earnestness calculated to spread consternation among hazers. The other day he gave the trustees the chance to discharge him if they didn't like the way he was doing it. The trustees stuck with him.

Hazing is not always the most heinous crime in the calendar of misdeeds. But it is a form of gang action that doesn't contribute much to the development of fair play or to the growth of citizenship. Part of the value of college training is that lads have there the chance to make contact with discipline and law. Baylor provides both.—Dallas Journal.

HOME MORTGAGE LOANS

The summary by the Washington Bureau of the News of the completed loans of the Home Owners' Loan Corporation reveals a locally existing apprehension that Texas is not getting its share of the cash adjustments under the act. But there is small solace for the harried home owner in the fact now frankly admitted by the corporation, that the cash supply appropriated by congress is inadequate.

Two hundred millions dollars was set up to supply cash needs where mortgage owners refuse to exchange their liens under the terms of the $2,000,000,000 home loan bonds. But the amounts awarded and applications approved or pending for this character of relief already far exceed the available amount. Population basis aside, the average available for each state barely exceeds $4,160,000. On average liens of $3000, relief can be offered to but few more than the 1300 owners of distressed property in Texas whose creditors refuse to accept the mortgage.

The two difficulties that the News foresaw in regard to home loan administration remain, apparently insuperable. The first is that where the security for the lien is adequate, many mortgage lenders are covetous enough to prefer foreclosing on the property so that, unless the debt can be settled in cash, it can not be settled at all. The other is that the home loan bonds require the lien holder to take an actual loss either in principal or interest and he can not be censured for objecting to that procedure. In final analysis the only easy settlement occurs where loans, because of depreciated value, exceed the worth of the property and the lien holder is glad to make the exchange in order to rescue his cash investment on the best terms possible.

The administration undertook the home loan enterprise with the best of intentions but apparently it underestimated the amount distress property.—Dallas News.

SPEED AND JUSTICE

In his charge to the grand jury at Brady a few days ago Judge Miller referred, in no uncertain terms, to the delays and technicalities in the trial of criminal cases and the difficulty in securing convictions and administering punishment to those guilty of crime. He said in part: "The energy and dispatch with which the federal government handled the Urschel kidnapping case was very gratifying and encouraging. If technicalities would permit the state courts to handle things energetically and determinedly like that, when a man is tried and convicted to get him away in thirty days, crime conditions would be different. In cases of unquestionable guilt a man should be tried and convicted and in prison in thirty days instead of three years. Our system of courts and laws are a mere joke and jest with the criminal. They know that a soft hearted and sympathetic jury will give them a suspended sentence, and if they have the price or the influence even if convicted they will get a pardon or parole before they get down to the penitentiary, and they do not fear the state laws nor respect the state courts."

MAXIM FAILS

H. L. Mencken, in a farewell editorial in the American Mercury says he quit because he was unable to write anything because of the "extreme and unexpected activity of the Roosevelt administration." Several months ago he wrote an editorial on the immutability of the law of supply and demand and he claims before the magazine got off the press the law had been repealed. Then he says he wrote a piece based on the ancient maxim that what goes up must come down. Something happened to that theory, too.—Temple News.

Secretary Wallace has a vision of the day when every acre of farm land in America will be under complete bureaucratic control. There is to be a resettlement of the agricultural population of the nation, accompanied by abandonment of marginal lands. When the federal government spend $10,000,000 or $1,000,000 on a new irrigation project, it will compel retirement from cultivation of other less productive lands, in order to restore the balance of national production. There is to be a cation of acreage, crop by crop in other words, there is to be complete socialization of farming industries under bureaucratic dictatorship.

Wallace's ideas, as revealed his address at Chicago before the association of Land Grant colleges, shows that he leans farther to the left than has been indicated by his previous address. It shows also that he is in agreement with the administration's belief that control of individual farms is not practical. Obviously, Secretary Wallace joined the ranks of those who look primarily to internal control of an isolated America as solution of the Nation's problem of what to do with the surplus production of wealth and its overabundance of natural resources. Of course, if we assume that the road up the nomic blind alley that he is the only road available, his plan is just about as good as can be devised. But the solution of the problems of only this nation, but of the world, lies in leading countries out of their blind alleys of tense nationalism and isolation. This solution eventually will be reached. It is unfortunate a leader with as good record as Secretary Wallace should be tampering with expedients that will prove harmful in long run.—Dallas News.

LEARNING FROM ANIMALS

Man may be the ruler of earth, but there are a lot of things we don't know yet about the other inhabitants that share this sphere with us, and are constantly surprising us by taking charge of things themselves.

For instance, we read in paper the other day that rats have again become a plague in Australia. Years ago some fish settlers imported a few bits, which multiplied so that they became a serious menace to crops, and the Australian government had to pay a bounty to get rid of them. In enough of them remained start it all over again.

Even more surprising is a story that comes from New England of a great misadventure out of Coy's the adjoining state. The land in Massachusetts and of them, move in straight lines, neither mountains nor water divert them. Fifty drowned seals were found in one place, Connecticut river boatmen port hundreds climbing on the water onto the boats. Algaunt and half starved. The swer seems to be the fallu some relied-on food supply, peling the squirrels to seek feeding grounds.

This episode is similar to the story of the lemmings, the ones little furred animals of way, who every few years march across the country in droves, millions, until they reach sea coast. There they do not plunge into the sea, but down, seeking nobody know what ancient refuge, long submerged to which some instinct drives them in the want.

We hear of beavers coming back to Massachusetts, vanishing for a year or two of deer becoming thick, fearless that the green stuff was when dens; of police dogs shaking the shackles of civilization, running wild in packs like wolf ancestors, terrorizing country sides. We are always interested in the mysterious of animals, as is most every. But we never cease to wonder at their tenacity of life and power of survival when everything seems set against them. Lamb County Leader.

ITEMS FROM LOCAL PAPERS OF TOWNS MENTIONED

San Saba

E. A. Muray of Dallas arrived Tuesday night to join some old San Saba pals for the annual hunt in the hills.

A pall of sorrow settled like a thick black cloud over San Saba last Saturday afternoon about 6:30 o'clock. Sweet little John Ed, the bright eyed, open faced baby boy of Mr. and Mrs. Dee House, in some way, fell in front of a slow moving car, and had his life crushed out. The frightful accident happened while the town was yet full of people.

G. A. Buchanan, formerly of Mullin, has bought the W. P. Ormond & Co., stock of dry goods in San Saba. Mr. Buchanan has been in business there and is adding that stock to his San Saba purchase. The family has moved to San Saba and are domiciled in one of the Sam Taylor bungalows. The two daughters, Misses Esther and Odessa, will be with their father in the store.

Two hunters in this section drifted into hard luck avenue last week. George R. Milner of McLennan county had shot too many doves, when he shouldn't have shot any at all, as the season is closed. Everett Flemming knew the dove season was out, but forgot the quail season is closed until December 1. Both unfortunately paid a measly $63 fine each like good sports and also furnished a warning to others to observe the game laws. It is never bad sportsmanship to observe the laws of the land. — News.

Comanche

Nineteen prisoners, the largest number in recent years, were in the Comanche jail Thursday. Several have already been given prison terms and have accepted their sentences and are awaiting to be transferred to Huntsville.

R. H. Havens, Hasse postmaster, was arrested by Sheriff Dwight Brightman Saturday, on embezzlement charges. The arrest was made in response to a telegram from federal authorities at Fort Worth.

The farm residence on the H. B. Painter farm, near Comyn, was destroyed by fire Saturday, November 4, about 7 p. m. Part of the household goods were saved. The fire originated from a defective flue, it is believed.

Three special venires have been called to report to the district court here Monday, November 20, for service in connection with the trials scheduled to begin in the murder charges against R. C. Tipton and A. M. (Ab) White and a charge as an accomplice to the murder of Pink Miller here on Jan. 30, last. Tipton and White were accomplice case.

The cases against W. D. Carroll, charged with election fraud by miscalling ballots, were dismissed on motion of the district attorney in district court records revealed Monday. The dismissal of charges were on grounds of an opinion from the court of criminal appeals, which held that the ballots were illegally opened and evidence incompetent. The ballot boxes were opened by the county democratic committee for a recount.—Chief.

Brownwood

A movement was on foot in Brownwood this week to secure an immediate loan of 15c per pound on 1933 turkeys. The market opened at around 10 to 11 cents, but by the middle of this week had been battered down to about 8c.

Twenty-one more cotton for Brown county farmers were received by County C. W. Lehmburg. The checks represented $3,215 of government money to go to those farmers who plowed up their 1933 cotton.

As a part of the big push to put every unemployed man in Texas to work, nearly 400 men went to work Thursday morning in Brown county. The majority of these were at work on county lateral highways, with a smaller crew at work cleaning up Brownwood streets and alleys.—Banner

Hamilton

Aubrey Hudson of Goldthwaite was in Hamilton Tuesday, transacting business and visiting his uncle, N. W. Hudson.

The little city of Pottsville is just now in the limelight as the center of Hamilton county oil activity. A test well was spudded in near that place last Monday afternoon, and judging from the abundant evidence throughout that section of this territory a rich field of oil will be discovered when the drill has struck down through the earth to the pool of "flowing gold."

At about 3:30 o'clock Wednesday morning the Lemmons service station, a large rock building on the northeast corner of the square, was discovered to be a seething caldron of flames on the interior. The fire siren refused to send out its unusual chilling shrilling alarm, and only the sonorous sounds of the old time fire bell were available to call the volunteer fire company out of warm beds to fight the menacing flames. After the fire was out, investigations resulted in the discovery that the fire had started in the ceiling just back of the business office of the station and garage, and originated from defective wiring. The ceiling was badly scorched and the metal roof damaged beyond repair. The total loss in damages to the building is estimated to be around $800 to $1000.

Returning from Gatesville late Friday afternoon Jack Moore lost control of his car when the machine struck a slick place in the road following rain, skidded and turned over in the ditch at the side of the road. In the car with Mr. Moore were his wife and Frank Harris, Jr., George Linton and James Rea, the two latter being members of the high school football team, playing Gatesville high school in the afternoon. The machine was not so badly damaged, but that Mr. Moore drove on into Hamilton. The entire party was considerably shaken up and suffered from nerve shock. Mr. and Mrs. Moore were bruised about their bodies; Frank Harris, Jr., had a fairly good sized "pink knot" on the side of his head and the football boys sustained injured ears, those members of their bodies having been cut and bruised as if they had engaged in a prize fight.—Record-Herald

NEARLY everybody loves flowers and there is an increasing tendency on the part of householders to have some small plant house near the dwelling where flowers can be raised during the winter months. Some of these are merely cold frames for winter gardening. They enable one to grow plants of unusual interest and beauty which would otherwise be almost out of the question. Poppy anemones are one of these, so also is the mariposa tulip and giant double buttercups.

The illustrations here show a little plant house designed by Davis and Wilson, architects. The walls and roof in this were covered with celoglass, a coated screen wire which gave a considerable gain in economy and simplicity of construction. In addition its fine silvery color offered a lovely background. It is also much less fragile than glass, and roof construction with it is simplicity itself. It has only to be tacked on.

Most for your MONEY in a good laxative

Theodore's BLACK-DRAUGHT has been highly regarded for a long, long time, but it is better appreciated now than ever before. People are buying everything more carefully today. They count every penny of the cost. In buying Black-Draught, they get the most for their money, in a good, effective, easy-to-take laxative, made of approved medicinal plants, dependable for the relief of ordinary constipation troubles.

25 or more doses of Theodore's Black-Draught in a 25-cent package. For Children, get pleasant-tasting EYRUP of Theodore's Black-Draught.

News of the Goldthwaite Eagle eleven give the Richland Springs team a real wallop on the Goldthwaite field last Friday afternoon.

Misses Inez Long, Pauline Forehand and Loduska Laceywell of Goldthwaite spent Saturday night visiting in Lometa. While here they attended the picture show and reported a most enjoyable evening.—Reporter.

MRS. JOHN SCOTT DEAD

A belated report of the death of Mrs. John Scott in Fort Worth on November 16, reached the friends of the family here a few days ago and called forth many expressions of sorrow. Mrs. Scott and family lived in Goldthwaite a good many years ago and had many friends here. Mr. Scott was manager of the Weakley & Watson hardware business here and Mrs. Scott was quite a talented musician. The account of her death in a Fort Worth paper said: "Mrs. John Scott, 65, resident of Fort Worth for the last four years, died at her home 1121 East Belknap street, at 1:10 a. m. Thursday. She is survived by two sons, John Scott of Dallas and William Scott of Big Sandy and a sister, Mrs. William Tidball of Fort Worth."

TEXAS DIDN'T GAIN

Arlington Downs brought into the coffers of the State of Texas $22,327, which price the Lone Star demanded as rakeoff in order to permit open gambling.

It is estimated that the meet took from a quarter to a half million dollars out of the state. As concerns Austin, of course, that is remote. Closer to state fiscal affairs, however, is the fact that losses by property owning gamblers will probably result in delinquency on the tax rolls far exceeding the $22,327 paid by the track. Texas didn't win much at Arlington Downs.—Dallas Journal.

SHERIFF'S SALE

The State of Texas, County of Mills:

Notice is hereby given that by virtue of a certain Order of Sale issued out of the Honorable 96th Judicial District Court of Tarrant County, on the 9th day of November, 1933, by W. E. Alexander, Clerk of said 96th Judicial District, for the sum of Four Thousand, Nine Hundred and Twenty-One ($4,921.88) 88-100 Dollars, Plus $12.75, of which amount $4,474.44 bears 8% and $447.44 bears 6% interest per annum, and costs of suit, under a Foreclosure, in favor of W. M. McDonald in a certain cause in said Court, No. 3750-A and styled W. M. McDonald vs. Homer Ratliff, placed in my hands for service, I, C. D. Bledsoe, as Sheriff of Mills County, Texas, did, on the 13th day of November, 1933, levy on certain Real Estate, situated in Mills County, Texas, described as follows: to-wit: First tract: Being 320 acres out of the Michael Short Survey No. 92, Abstract No. 582, Certificate No. 447, located in the northwest part of Mills county, about 25 miles northwest of Goldthwaite, and known as the Homer Ratliff place and levied upon as the property of Homer Ratliff and that on the first Tuesday in December, 1933, the same being the fifth day of said month, at the Court House door, of Mills County, in the town of Goldthwaite, Texas, between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4 p. m., by virtue of said levy and said Order of Sale I will sell said above described Real Estate at public vendue, for cash, to the highest bidder, as the property of said Homer Ratliff.

And in compliance with law I give this notice by publication in the English language, once a week for three consecutive weeks immediately preceding said day of sale, in the Goldthwaite Eagle, a newspaper published in Mills County, Texas.

Witness my hand, this 13th day of November, 1933.

U. S. Map Shows Freezing Weather Overdue

FIRST freezing weather is now overdue in a majority of states, and motorists who have neglected to prepare for it should act at once, the American Automobile Association gives warning in an announcement to car owners. The official statement is based upon U. S. Weather Bureau reports which show that only three states of the Union are safe from severe drops in temperatures within the next ten days. "Immediate preparation will mean insurance against heavy repairs, and the annoyance and delay that come with frozen motors, water pumps and dead batteries, which sometime destroy the mechanical efficiency of the car," the statement says. "Use of anti-freeze preparation is, of course, the basis of protecting the car, but it should not be put into the radiator until the automobile has been made ready for changed driving conditions. "Early steps to prepare the car for winter will, in addition to providing protection against frozen motors, be in keeping with the spirit of the 'buy now' movement. Approximately $30,000,000 would be immediately turned loose into channels of trade if the owners of around 15,000,000 automobiles in the areas of freezing weather spent a minimum of two dollars each in preparing their cars to withstand wintry blasts. The A.A.A. advises that the car's cooling system be cleaned and all connections tightened. Then the car should be protected by a filling of standard anti-freeze solution, not of the "hot-water" type.

CENTER CITY

We are enjoying these fine days. Yet, no one would object to a good rain. A light shower fell Sunday evening.

We are glad to report the boys who were in the wreck Sunday before last are all improving fast. Glenn Johnson and Medford Langford were at Center City the first of the week. Hollis Blackwell brought his brother, Howard, from the hospital Saturday afternoon. He is still unable to talk, but we all think he is doing fine, considering his injuries.

Martin McCasland and family accompanied Mrs. Venable to Bell county, where they enjoyed a visit with Mrs. Venable's mother and other relatives.

Mrs. Blackwell spent last week in Brownwood with her son, Howard.

The ladies met with Mrs. Harve Morris last Wednesday and enjoyed a day talking, feasting and quilting. They met this week with Mrs. Joe Langford.

The play last Friday night was enjoyed by an attentive audience. Mmes. Ellis Head, Harry Welch and Joe Evans were named for a committee to arrange a program for the parents. The teachers and pupils will furnish the program next meeting, which will be four weeks from last Friday.

All who are interested in the cemetery here are requested to come prepared to work Thanksgiving day. Bring lunch and spend the day.

Alvin Oglesby and family of Big Valley spent Sunday with his brother, Mohler, and family.

We enjoyed the letter from Mr. Hendry of Oregon. He moved from this place and we certainly miss him and his good family. Bro. Brown moved the first of last week. He now occupies the parsonage.

C. A. Head deserves much credit for his untiring interest in the work on the parsonage. The building has been covered and some new ceiling added. The fire place lined with brick and walls papered. Many others helped, who deserve mention. There is still lots of work to be done and Mr. Head appreciates all the help he can get.

Rev. Tom Mitchell and wife send announcement of the arrival of a little son in their home Sunday before last. We take this method of extending congratulations and good wishes to all the family.

Mrs. Hubert Geeslin and little daughter, Ada Margaret, visited Mrs. Kress who was ill Tuesday.

The health nurse will be here the first week in December. We wish to make our school 100 percent by having one or both parents of each child present. Her work is free and if your child has any defect she may be able to help you correct it.

Bro. Brown preached for us Sunday. In the afternoon we enjoyed another good singing.

Mr. Neighbor's mother was a visitor in his home last week and attended the play Friday night.

Mr. Richardson of Indian Gap was here with his orchestra Friday night and furnished the music for the play.

Boyd Yeager and family visited his parents at Pecan Wells last week end.

RABBIT RIDGE

Breaking land and sowing the grain is keeping the men of this community pretty busy.

Ben Davis and family spent Sunday afternoon with his parents and Mrs. Nickols.

Mrs. A. F. McGowan called on Mrs. Will Guynes one afternoon this week. We are glad to report Mrs. Guynes a little improved.

Mr. and Mrs. Abijah Stark spent Monday afternoon in the Dewbre home at Rock Springs.

Mr. and Mrs. Connie Knowles were in our community Monday morning looking for a place. We hope they can get one. We would be glad to have them in our community.

H. B. Bradley returned from a deer hunt Sunday afternoon, but I didn't learn whether he killed a deer or not.

Last Thursday Mrs. Jesse Lowe was called to the bedside of her aunt, Mrs. J. N. Coffey, at Zephyr. The sad news reached us Friday afternoon of her death. We wish to express our sympathy to the relatives in the loss of their dear mother and grandmother.

Rabbit Ridge was well represented at the singing at Mrs. Nickols' Friday night, and also the party at J. C. Stark's Saturday night.

Marvin Spinks and family spent Sunday afternoon in the Cooke home at Rock Springs.

If you want to know how to climb a tree just ask Hugh Nelson. He is in good practice now.

I want to say I am enjoying the Ratler letters. I like to hear from there, because Ratler was my childhood home. Tattler, keep your letters coming. They are fine.

Those from here who sat until bed time with Mrs. Nickols and boys Monday night were M. I. Spinks and wife, Haskell Gattlin, J. A. Stark and Joe Davis.

Some from town have been playing tennis at Frank McDermott's.

We are wishing for a cold norther, so we can kill hogs. Some have been canning beef, but that doesn't take the place of pork.

LEG CRUSHED IN GRAIN MILL

Mrs. W. W. Reynolds, 40 or 50 years of age, Caradan, Mills county, is reported resting as well as could be expected in Central Texas hospital today following amputation of her left leg yesterday. The limb, which was crushed in a grain mill late Monday afternoon, was amputated directly below the knee.

The accident happened while Mrs. Reynolds was standing at the horse-powered mill, where grain was being ground. When she slipped and fell her foot and leg going into the hopper of the mill. The horse had to be unhitched and the mill run backwards so that she could be extricated. She lost a great deal of blood while this was being done and while she was being brought to Brownwood.

Loss of the blood weakened her but she has been conscious all along and reports today showed her condition is very serious, but that unless complications set up she will recover.—Brownwood Bulletin.
