NUMBER TWENTY-SEVEN

County Quota Is Again Cut

Instructions were received this week by Mr. Gilliam, county administrator of CWA work, to reduce the number of men employed. This reduction amounted to 29 names being dropped and is in line with the policy of the administration to make weekly reductions of the quota until it is entirely eliminated by May 1, or possibly sooner.

A large supply of salt pork was received by the committee this week, for direct relief, and the meat is being distributed to those who need it.

It is hoped that spring work will develop as the CWA quota is reduced and there will be no serious need result because of unemployment.

CLUB LADIES TO SANTA ANNA

As guests of the club women of Santa Anna recently, Mrs. Roy Rowntree, first vice president of the sixth district; Mrs. Marvin Hodges, Mrs. Jacob Saylor, Mrs. Harry Allen and Mrs. L. J. Gartman from the Art and Civic club in Goldthwaite, had the opportunity of meeting the members of the Self Culture Club. This is a pioneer club.

Mrs. Hardy Blue led the program and introduced Mrs. Rowntree, who introduced the other out of town guests.

Mrs. Tom Hays, president of the Self Culture Club, gave a very intelligent and beautiful review of the play "In Green Pastures."

Mrs. Barnes, who is widely known as a poet of merit, read two of her poems.

Mrs. Rowntree, as guest speaker, spoke on the "Benefits of Federation." Her talk was an inspiration.

Mrs. Petty, chairman of parks and preservation of historical spots, delighted the club with a few well chosen words.

The high school glee club sang two numbers.

The club met in the home of Mrs. Edwards. After the program a social hour was enjoyed.

MERRY WIVES

The warm cozy living room of the Walter Fairman home on Tuesday afternoon was quite a contrast to freezing weather outside. Here it was that the Merry Wives club members and a few other friends gathered for a very pleasant afternoon of bridge, with Mrs. Fairman as their charming hostess.

High score went to Mrs. Frank Taylor for guest and Mrs. Robert Steen, Jr., for club member. Those lucky in high cuts were Mrs. W. C. Dew, Mrs. Roy Rowntree and Mrs. Foster Brim. Attractive novelties were awarded as high score and cut prizes.

Other guests who enjoyed this occasion were Mrs. A. H. Smith, Mrs. L. E. Miller, Mrs. T. F. Toland, Mrs. Kelly Saylor, Mrs. Earl Summy and Mrs. Marvin Hodges.

In refreshment a delicious salad course was served. XX

ATTEND BEDSIDE OF MOTHER

Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Casbeer were called to Goldthwaite last week on account of the serious illness of Mr. Casbeer's mother, Mrs. B. R. Casbeer. Mr. Casbeer returned home, after remaining at his mother's bedside until physicians had pronounced her condition improving, but Mrs. Casbeer stayed with her several days longer. Mrs. Casbeer also visited in the home of her mother, Mrs. Dave Morris, while she was in Goldthwaite.—Stephenville Empire-Tribune.

MISSIONARY SOCIETY

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Methodist church will meet in regular business meeting Monday afternoon at 2:30 o'clock.

Place of meeting will be announced at church Sunday.

Methodist Notes

Sunday we had another fine day. The congregations were as good as we have had lately. The evening audience was not as large as it should have been, owing to the cold weather. The Sunday school was well attended.

The Methodist church at this time, throughout the country, is engaged in a special evangelistic campaign. The preachers are placing emphasis upon evangelism, both at home and abroad. It is the fear, well justified by the facts, so I think, that these great interests have been pushed aside for the past few years while material interests have been given right of way. Furthermore, it is thought that the interests of the local or home church has been pressed to the neglect of world-wide evangelization.

No one doubts for a moment that the home field should be cared for. The powerhouse must be kept in condition if the most effective results are to be obtained, but at the same time, if the machinery of the powerhouse is to be maintained purely for its own glory, wherein is the use of its maintenance? The chief work of the church lies in the great commission, "Go ye into the whole world." With this end in view, the church has its existence. If it fails in this, its chief purpose, it will soon cease to exist, as does anything else that fails to measure up to the standard of usefulness for which it is created.

There are those, however, who insist that the work abroad should cease until the work at home is accomplished. Those who so reason lose sight of the fact that this was not the practice of the fathers, nor is it in harmony with the great commission, which came from our Lord. We were to begin at Jerusalem, but this does not imply that we were to remain there until all the residents of Jerusalem were brought under the power of the church. True it is, that Jerusalem must have its chance, but given her chance and that chance despised the church is then to go to the outer circles of humanity.

The fathers even did not stop to ask if their ministries would be welcomed in other lands. As a matter of fact, they well knew that the regions beyond did not want the gospel. As evidence of this fact we read almost with a smile of the enthusiasm of St. Paul, as he insists upon obeying the Macedonian call: "Come over and help us." He went with great enthusiasm and the first result of his work was to be cast into jail and a sound whipping administered to him. This does not in any sense imply that he should not have gone to Europe, or that he misunderstood his call. As a matter of fact, it was a confirmation of the authenticity of the call in that the people were very much in need of the

CLUB THANKS

The Art and Civic club wishes to thank every one who helped to make the recent art exhibit a success. The people of Goldthwaite are always willing to lend their aid to a worthy cause, and the club hated to ask for a freewill offering, but when I tell you that the freight, insurance and other expenses on the exhibit amounted to $15, you can realize that we really appreciated the $7.05 that was donated to help pay these expenses. GARDEN CLUB

Plans are going forward for the Garden club and about thirty ladies have enlisted so far, with the prospects of many more. All are very enthusiastic over the launching of a much needed work in the town of Goldthwaite. All interested are urged to attend the next meeting, which will be held with Mrs. J. G. Berry this (Friday) afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. REPORTER

Teachers Attend District Meet

Several of the Goldthwaite and Mullin public school teachers and a number of the teachers of the other public schools in the county are expected to attend the Mid-Texas Educational association in Coleman today and tomorrow. A number of leading educators are to be there, including State Superintendent Woods, and a very interesting program has been arranged. Two sessions of the convention has been outlined for today and another session is to be held tomorrow. The association embraces nineteen west Texas counties, which are Brown, Coke, Coleman, Comanche, Concho, Crockett, Erath, Hamilton, Lampasas, McCulloch, Mason, Menard, Mills, Nolan, Runnels, San Saba, Sterling, Sutton and Tom Green.

LEGISLATURE ADJOURNS

Governor Ferguson's special session of the legislature, called by her to enact unemployment relief legislation, was in adjournment Wednesday morning at 2 o'clock.

Bills to issue additional state bonds for relief of destitution and to declare a moratorium against forced sales of real estate were sent to the governor. Both bills were passed with a majority sufficient to make them effective on signature of the governor.

For a time it appeared the legislature would be forced to adjourn with its job only half done, due to failure of the senate to approve the moratorium bill by enough votes to make it operative immediately.

The original vote on final passage was 15 to 11, but the action was reconsidered and it was passed, 22 to 6, one vote in excess of the margin necessary to make it effective without delay. The bond bill would authorize issuance of $5,000,000 in new bonds and reissuance of $2,750,000 in bonds remaining from an issue authorized last fall and on which no bids have been received.

The legislature raised the interest rate on the bonds from 4 per cent to 4 1-2 per cent in the hope of increasing their marketability. A provision in the law passed last fall authorizing the original issue which prohibited investment of funds of state institutions in the securities was eliminated.

HEART OF TEXAS YOUNG PEOPLE'S UNION

San Saba Methodist church, March 4, 1934. Program by young people at 2 p. m. Subject: Winning others for Christ. Song.

Prayer: Member from Richland Springs. Scripture: Margie Featherstone, Goldthwaite.

Talk, Winning young people for Christ: Mack Murry Richie, Lampasas. Poem, "Meditation": Chappel. Talk, Keeping young people for Christ: Marie Wallace, Lometa. Special music: Goldthwaite. Talk, E. Stanley Jones, a great living evangelist—San Saba. Song. Benediction.

DIPHTHERIA CAN BE PREVENTED

There is a method for preventing diphtheria which is harmless and of proven worth. It consists of one injection of toxoid. This injection will produce a lasting protection against diphtheria. From 85 to 95 per cent of children treated will be protected in 2 to 6 months. Every child from 6 months to 12 years of age needs this protection against diphtheria. You are not compelled to do this, but common sense demands it. GERTRUDE KAUBS, County Health Nurse

Singing At Star

The Eagle has been requested to announce that the Mills county singing convention will convene in Star Sunday for an all-day service. It is expected that some fine leaders and good classes will be there and there will be dinner on the grounds, we are informed. Those who attend should take their contributions to the public dinner and be prepared to entertain those who do not have an opportunity to provide for themselves.

It is expected the convention will open Saturday evening and continue through Sunday.

GOLDTHWAITE IN BASEBALL LEAGUE

Goldthwaite base ball fans are assured a better grade of baseball this summer, by the action of the town gaining a membership in the Hill Country League. At a meeting of league officials last Monday night it was voted to include Goldthwaite in the League, along with Llano, Menard, Brady, Richland Springs, Mason, Pontitock and San Saba, making an eight club league, compared to six in other years. Those making the trip to the meeting and representing Goldthwaite at the League meeting were Dumble Hamilton, Hurley Wilcox, Lamar McLean and Elmo Littlepage. Each club in the League is allowed two directors. These directors to attend all League meetings and have a vote in all matters that concern the League as a whole and other arbitrary matters.

The Hill Country League has been operating for the last three years, with a few changes in membership. Each club will play 22 games—11 away from home and 11 at home.

The official season starts April 1 with Goldthwaite playing at Richland Springs. Each club is supposed to hand into the president of their club a roster of 15 men by that time. This club roster can include only two out of the county men, but every player in the county is eligible until they make up the official roster. Every ball player in the county who is at all interested either as a player or as a spectator is urged to attend a meeting Monday night at 7:30 p. m. at Fairman Co. store. Matters of importance in regards to the approaching season will be discussed and a plan of action mapped out.

Practice sessions are to be started as soon as possible and everyone who can play at all, stands a chance for the team.

Attend the meeting Monday night. REPORTER

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER

On Thursday afternoon, February 22, at the home of Mrs. Myrtle Forehand, Miss Pauline Forehand gave a miscellaneous shower in honor of Mrs. A. B. Carothers, the former Miss Loduska Lacey.

She was presented with many pretty and useful gifts at that time.

When the guests were assembled 42 was the attraction. After several games were enjoyed, refreshments were served to the following: Mmes. Jim Cockrum, O. E. Greathouse, R. L. Armstrong, Allen Ross, Carl Bledsoe, Dennis Tate, Lacy Thompson, J. D. Urquhart, Brooking, Dee Hartman, Ben Long, Jim Hays, Loy Long, W. B. Summy, Sherwood Ford, Oran Lacey, Otis Carothers, Homer Doggett, Will Pence, Lula Lacey, Jim Rudd, John Jackson, Hubert Ervin, Otto Simpson and Myrtle Forehand; Misses Geneva Greathouse, Zula Ervin, Mae Dell Crawford, Geneva Baxter, Grace Denson, the honoree and the hostess. ACCIDENT AT LLANO

Leonard Nobles, 27, was fatally injured in an accident late Tuesday at the farm home of his father, H. M. Nobles, of Llano county. He was working a wood saw, when the flywheel came off, striking him on the head. He died about 15 minutes later.

County Agent Makes Report

HOG-CORN AND COTTON PROGRAM

The hog-corn committee has turned in more than 100 contracts. Part of the committee will work in the commissioners court room until the sign up is finished. A few more school house meetings will be held for the convenience of local producers.

The sign up will soon be closed. Producers desiring to enter a contract should secure evidence of sales and bring before the committee immediately. Do not delay.

The cotton sign up continues with 545 contracts signed with a total rental of 8328 acres. Only 110 acres short of Mills county's quota. Producers may sign contracts until the tabulation is finished by the clerks in the county agent's office.

SEED AND FEED LOAN

Application blanks for crop loans have not been received by the county agent. Farmers desiring to make application will be notified when blanks come. We are informed that the application will differ very little from the last year's form.

The crop loan office reports that 99 per cent of Mills county 1933 loans were paid promptly. It is not yet too late to make this record 100 per cent. The president has announced that he will not approve crop loans after this year. So farmers better raise sufficient feed for their needs.

WHEAT PROGRAM REOPENED

The wheat sign up has been re-opened. Farmers entitled to benefits for reducing production should call on the county agent or local committeemen at once. Producers signing now will receive practically the same benefits as those who signed last fall.

WINTER WEATHER

The first snow of the winter fell in many North Texas towns and cities Tuesday night, but with few exceptions, it melted as it struck the ground. In temperatures close to the freezing point three inches of snow fell at Paris and low hanging clouds and temperatures in the thirties were taken as an indication of another fall. Bonham also reported a three-inch fall and Clarksville had one inch. Tyler, Sherman, Dallas and Fort Worth also were visited by a storm of large wet flakes during the night. Sleet at Waco turned to rain and then to snow. Brief flurries fell at other scattered points. Intermittent snow, the first of the winter, fell during the night at Longview and turned to sleet for an hour.

CENTENNIAL CELEBRATION

The legislature Tuesday finally passed a bill providing for a Texas centennial celebration in 1936.

The bill named a commission of 22 men and 11 women to administer it and to provide the details of the celebration it appropriates $100,000 for costs of arranging the centennial.

The main celebration, the bill provides, shall go to the city giving the commission the highest financial inducement for it, but auxiliary celebrations will be held in San Antonio, Houston, Huntsville, Goliad and other historic places in Texas.

Each senator and representative is given authority to appoint two from each county in his district to an advisory board. Members of the house estimated this board could run as high as 1200 persons.

An executive committee of the main commission composed of 15 members is provided.

PRAYER WEEK

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Baptist church will observe the first week of March as week of prayer for Home Missions. Circle number three will have charge of the missionary program on Monday afternoon.

Bro. Swanner and the Rev. Smart, Mullin pastor, will have charge of the program Tuesday afternoon. We are inviting the women of each church in the county to attend this meeting. We call it a "get-together" missionary meeting.

Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. Ashley, Educational Chairman, will put on an educational program. We invite anyone who would feel interested to attend these programs.

LACEWELL-CAROTHERS

The marriage of Miss Loduska Lacewell, daughter of Mrs. Lula Lacewell, to A. B. Carothers, son of Mr. and Mrs. Will Carothers, took place Thursday evening, February 22 at the home of Rev. Franklin E. Swanner.

The couple were accompanied by Mrs. Lula Lacewell, Mrs. Oran Lacewell and Kenneth Horne of Lometa.

The bride attended high school here and is one of the town's most popular young ladies. The groom is one of Lometa's fine young men, having lived there most all his life. The couple are to make their home in Lometa. A FRIEND

PROMINENT MEN VISIT GOLDTHWAITE

Judge C. L. South of Coleman, candidate for congress in this, the new 21st district, was meeting his friends and making new ones in this city Wednesday. He was en route home from a visit to Hamilton and made the Eagle an appreciated call.

Representative Penrose Metcalfe of San Angelo and Representative Jones from Winters passed through the city Wednesday afternoon en route to their homes, after attending the called session of the Texas legislature, which came to a close Tuesday night. Mr. Metcalfe is considering being a candidate for state senator for this district.

This bids fair to be a pretty lively campaign year, as far as state and district candidates are concerned, and Mills county will likely have an opportunity to entertain a good many candidates.

GAS AND SEWAGE

A representative of Moore & Sons, holders of the gas and sewage franchises for this city, was here the early part of the week and expected to have engineers make surveys in the city, in the near future. The citizens are enthusiastic on the two propositions and the city council is giving the franchise holders ample co-operation.

Fine Rains Very Helpful

Great benefit will result from the fine rains of the past few days and everybody now looks to the future with hope and confidence. There was no serious need for rain, yet the ground was not soaked far enough down to be considered a good winter season and the rains this week have certainly supplied every need in that particular, as well as putting out plenty of stock water.

The continued cold, while not severe enough to injure livestock, other than a few early lambs, has kept the fruit buds back and every day the cold continues carries the season further toward safety to a fruit crop, which is no inconsiderable matter in this county. True, there is danger of frost until well up in April, hence another month must pass before the fruit crop can be considered safe. Yet the ground will have to warm up considerably before the sap will rise and the buds appear.

CHESSER VALLEY SCHOOL

On the evening of Feb. 22, we enjoyed another community pie feast and social. We were entertained by the following program: Carry On—Dale Young. Down In Texas—Woody Harper. When I'm Gone—J. T. Soules. When I'm a Man—Joe David Giles.

Elmer Brown—Joyce Young. Three song selections. Dale and Joyce Young and John McGee. Husbands Is Husbands—Mrs. J. D. Giles.

A talk, "How real characters can be built in a rural school of our time."—W. E. Harper.

There appears before me a beautiful mental picture of our valley and what a great inspiring thought it should give each of us to know we live here and can enjoy the contributions that nature gives us in this rich valley.

The fragrant air of spring, the song bird, the lowing of the white face cattle, the hound when he is on the trail of a wild cat or a fox. These are some of the realities that foster happiness and a contented mind. We love our community and believe with our host of visitors, who were with us Thursday evening, that we have some co-lovers.

Our boys bought the pies, not one was left. The cake, which was coveted by the two leading citizens of the community, Bert Chesser and Dan Weston; (jealous of each other, not for good looks, but for the cake, was given Mr. Chesser.

Our feast was spread, and each person was invited to eat pie as he wished. Mrs. Bert Chesser, in her charming manner, cut the cake and passed to each individual.

We thank Elmer Young for auctioning our pies in such a persevering manner.

The CWA has finished our sanitary toilets and hope to get other improvements in the near future.

Our school is progressing nicely. There will be two more months of this term.

Those visiting were as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Platt Hollis and son of Ridge, Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Chesser and son of Mullin, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Cobb of Mullin, Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Young of Brownwood, W. E. Harper, Woody Harper, J. T. Soules, Fred Soules of Goldthwaite and John McGee of Brownwood.

GUESTS AT SANTA ANNA

Mrs. L. J. Gartman, Mrs. Marvin Hodges, Mrs. Roy Rowntree, Mrs. Jacob Saylor and Mrs. Harry Allen, visited in the home of Mrs. Hardy Blue in Santa Anna Friday, February 23. Mrs. Blue is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Allen of this city and spent a part of her life here. After a lovely twelve o'clock dinner, the hosts and guests enjoyed a social hour. A GUEST

ROCK SPRINGS

There were five at Sunday school. Two teachers and three pupils. They recited their lesson, and of course, they had a good lesson.

There were ten at B. Y. P. U. Sunday night. They didn't have the program. There were three present who were on the program. The program was made for the next lesson.

There were nine at singing Sunday afternoon, so there was not any singing. Now it would take an adding machine for me to give the total number who went to the services. I guess it was the weather, because there isn't anyone sick in this community.

Did you hear the birds singing Sunday morning about 8 o'clock? They felt like, as it was so warm, that it would soon be spring. It wasn't long until the norther arrived and the birds hushed their singing.

March 16 is the day set to work the Rock Springs cemetery. Those who come to work bring tools, there will be plenty of work for everybody.

Surely we will have fruit this year after this cold spell, for there was lots of ice. We all enjoyed the icewater.

J. T. Stark and his mother visited Ray Davis and family at Center Point one night last week.

Walton Daniel seemed gloomy the last of the week, as his wife hadn't come home. She was visiting in Ranger. We hope she is back by now.

Friday night Louie Ponder, Marion Robertson and wife, J. T. Stark and James Nickols enjoyed another game of 42 in the Webb home.

Mrs. Eula Nickols visited in J. R. Davis' home Friday afternoon.

Miss Nellie Dee Cooke spent Friday night and Saturday with Mrs. August Kahns in the city.

Miss Bernice Traylor spent the week end at home as usual.

Mrs. Eula Nickols spent the day Tuesday with Mrs. Jake Buch in R. E. Clements' home.

Adrian Long from Big Valley had business with James Nickols Sunday.

John Roberts made the school teacher and children proud when he fixed the school house door this week, so it would shut and stay shut.

Sunday was a blustery day, but Mrs. Nickols thought it was worse for her than anyone else, as Joe Almos and Clark Davis and Haskell Gatlin spent the day with James. They did everything except turn the house over and if it hadn't been well built it would have been too bad. Howard T. Davis ate dinner with James too, but he left soon after and visited Roth Miller Robertson.

Fred McClary left Sunday morning for Fort Worth, where he has work. Philip Nickols went with Fred. He will visit his sister, Mrs. Joe Roberts, and family at Rhome.

J. D. Dewbre and wife and daughters spent Friday in Brown county visiting their son and his family.

Mrs. Eula Nickols visited Mrs. W. A. Daniel Thursday afternoon.

BIGGEST PETITION IN HISTORY

An exchange, in putting out propaganda, tells of a monster petition. It says:

"The morning of Wednesday, January 24, 1934, there was placed in the hands of congress a petition bearing 2,416,141 signatures. Before being tightly wrapped for transmission to Washington the sheets of signatures (25 signatures to the sheet) comprised a stack of 50 feet high. To transmit this petition to Washington required 35 closely packed cartons, each measuring on the inside approximately 15x12x12 inches. The shipment weighed 1247 pounds.

A careful search of records of public libraries reveals that the foregoing petition was the biggest in history. The largest previous petition seems to have been one presented in 1910 by the National Woman Suffrage Association. This petition numbered about half a million.

"The petition above mentioned was a protest against censoring the radio."

The plan to add millions of dollars to the New York city treasury yearly by means of a legalized lottery is reported to have gained the approval of the mayor of that city.

There will be no more Kentucky Colonels or honorary military or naval officers of any kind, if a bill introduced in the House Saturday by Representative Cannon (Dem.), Wisconsin, becomes a law. Cannon told newspaper men he was aiming at titles conferred upon motion picture stars and other celebrities who have not earned them by service in either the army or navy.

A man who entered a plea of guilty in federal court at Fort Worth to a charge of using the mails to defraud, said to the presiding judge: "I want to make it clear to the court's mind why I am pleading guilty to these charges." said the 36-year-old defendant. "I am guilty of the offenses. But also I am suffering from an advanced case of pulmonary tuberculosis, and a government institution is the only place available for me for treatment. I hope to build myself up physically there. Maybe that will change my mental attitude."

HUBERT CLARK MILLER

Hubert Clark Miller, 3 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Miller of Goldthwaite, died from an attack of diphtheria Friday night at 7 o'clock in a local hospital. INCOME TAX REPORTS

Income tax reports must be filed with the collector of internal revenue in the judicial district in which the party lives on or before March 15. Mills county is in the Dallas district, hence reports must be made to the collector at Dallas.

Several points have been covered by blanket information sent out:

Who must make reports? Single persons who had net income of $1000 or more or gross income of $5000 or more; and married couples who had net income of $2500 or more or gross income of $5000 or more must file returns.

What is the amount of the tax? Four per cent normal tax on the first $4000 in excess of the personal exemption and credits. Eight per cent normal tax on the balance of net income. Sur-tax on net income in excess of $6000.

Don't prepare your return without studying the instructions on the form.

Don't procrastinate. Early assembling of data permits a careful consideration of all tax problems.

Don't destroy the memoranda from which your return was prepared.

Don't omit explanation when such information is essential to an intelligent audit. Attach memoranda to your return.

Ask your banker or postmaster for such information or instructions as you need.

In addition to the personal exemptions of $1000 for single persons and $2500 for married persons living together and heads of families, a taxpayer is entitled to a credit of $400 for each dependent, defined as a person under 18 years of age or incapable of self-support because mentally or physically defective, including persons in ill health and the aged.

In order to be entitled to the $400 credit, the taxpayer must furnish the dependent his or her chief support.

Neither relationship nor residence is a factor in the allowance of the $400 credit for a dependent. The taxpayer and the dependent may be residents of different cities. A single person, who supports in his home a mother is entitled not only to the $400 credit for a dependent but also to the personal exemption of $2500 as the head of a family.

Deductions may be made for losses from fire, storm, shipwreck, theft or burglary. Other deductions allowed include those for bad debts, taxes on real estate and personal property paid during 1933, and amounts paid as interest on indebtedness. The depreciation of business property, business traveling expenses and certain losses on stock transactions also may be subtracted from the gross income.

Easy Pleasant Way To Lose Fat

Leading druggists America over sell Kruschen Salts — you can always get it.

SHAME ON US

Texas produces one-third of the American cotton crop, but accounts for less than one-thirtieth of the cotton textile production.

Texas produces one-fifth of the American wool crop, and four fifths of the mohair crop and ships all of it out of the state to be woven into cloth.

Texas annually purchases the output of 17,500 workers in furniture factories, of which number only 2300 are Texans. Texas has a wide variety of fine hardwoods, largely unused because the furniture factories are located elsewhere.

Texas is the first state in the nation in production of hides, but has no sizable tanneries, and only one shoe factory.

Texas ranks fourth among the states in the production of fruits, but thirty-fifth in commercial canning.

Texas produces one-tenth, by value, of all agricultural products of the nation, but outside of oil she produces less than one-seventieth of the industrial products.

A change in the situation is worth the deepest thought of our business and industrial leaders, and the highest determination of our elected officials, from governor to county commissioner.—Houston Chronicle.

STYLES IN NEW YORK

Originality Stressed In Fashion Originators' Guild Showing

Originality interpreted thru simple lines, cleverly combined colors and interesting fabrics marked the showing of formal evening gowns presented recently by the Fashion Originators' Guild of America on the Furness Line "Queen of Bermuda," as a benefit forerunner of the six thousand birthday parties given throughout the United States for the president, and with his mother — Mrs. James Roosevelt—as guest of honor. The showing, including not only the Georgia peach satin gown designed for the president's wife for the White House party, but some forty other gowns selected by prominent women of New York and elsewhere for the occasions, featured satins, net, crepes, lace, a few prints and linen. The tri-color scheme — red, white and blue—was carried out in several distinctive models through belt, sash or flowers—the latter often of crushed taffeta or velvet and outlining décolletage, throat or waistline. The windswept look, which was noted in most gowns, was achieved principally through short trains or by the movement of flounces and ruffles. Deep fringe was noted on some skirts and in cape-like effects over the shoulders. Almost every dress had its jacket, caplet or scarf—for the most part, made of velvet. Net and lace models were strikingly smart, one lovely navy blue net over an amber satin, giving the rich variegated effect of shifting lights. Prints included a mousseline de soie with a large floral pattern in red, white and blue colorings. This same color scheme was carried out also in a chic organza model, polka dotted with large navy blue dots and accented by red crushed taffeta flowers at the waist. There was a white horsehair net with décolletage outlined with red, white and blue flowers.

Bathing Suits In New York and Bermuda Style Shows

Bathing suits worn by the "six most beautiful models in America" — a special feature of the fashion parade presented on the ship Queen of Bermuda, by the Fashion Originators' Guild—were displayed by these same models this week in a double fashion show given at the Bermudiana and the Princess Hotels in Bermuda. These practical high style suits in a variety of fabrics, including jerseys, satins, knits and novelty weaves, for the most part, feature the "formal" back, the majority accomplishing the trick through the slender halter neck. Two suits of this type in the collection are carried out in black and burgundy cleverly combined. There's a very flattering model in black satin trimmed with ivory, and another in a jersey-like texture with adjustable criss-cross back and belt treatment. Still another in a fancy weave is designed with the criss-cross back of contrasting braid. There's a lovely flattering model in a shiny new rib called Sunsheen. All the suits are worn with clogs—cork-soled with knitted tops.

Interchangeable Costumes Important In the Mode

The art in the achievement of several dresses in one is being cleverly demonstrated at the moment in New York's smartest shops. And this applies to dress for evening as well as for day. In fact, they are showing how to make a daytime dress out of an evening costume and vice versa. The new mossy rayon crepes and satins lend themselves well to the interchangeable theme, the trick often turning through a matching little jacket worn for day and removed for dinner or evening occasions. Silk and rayon satin blouses are contributing their style share to this practical theme in dress. One Fifth Avenue shop is featuring crinkled satin evening blouses in white and pastel shades, which may easily convert a daytime crepe jacket suit into a dressy evening costume.

This interchangeable note is featured in some of the smartest beach wear now on display. Practical and smart is a new sports outfit of Nubspun, carried out in a buttoned down the front skirt and three-quarter length coat in white, worn over a beach suit featuring vivid Mexican color—the latter smart for the beach and, with the skirt and coat with lining in matching Mexican color, equally smart for sports or country wear.

Structural Use of Color Marks New Interior Displays

The use of color structurally, the way an architect uses wood and brick is a direct, fresh, American modern note that characterizes important showings of room interiors now on display in New York. In one such display designed by Eleanor Le Maire, and known as the House of Planes, a series of rooms, including a living room, game room, two bedrooms, a powder room, closet and youth's room, this direct modern method, which might well be termed a new streamline styling in interiors, transforms little box-like rooms into really spacious effects through the clever use of color—combining, when necessary, many colors in a single room. For example, in the living room of this display, maroon, grey, white, citron yellow and turquoise are combined in a way not only to create the feeling of space, but there is unusual beauty and interest. The game room, jolly and colorful—with a built-in aquarium, game table and an interesting Swedish divan — features white walls with stripes of coral and a black and grey linoleum. The grey and coral note is carried out also in the chair upholstery, which consists of grey cotton serge accented by coral, which covers the chair backs.

Throughout the room series, wall surfaces are broken by color—sometimes to really block out a wall and sometimes to spotlight a group of furniture. There are such dramatic touches as three white walls and one in turquoise—all in one room, or plain paper on three walls of a room and a printed design on the fourth wall. Yellow to achieve a warm glow is used on most of the ceilings, and for the same reason copper is featured as frames in much of the furniture. Glass and metal are used extensively throughout the display, the living room featuring a green glass brick fire place, while glass columns of indirect light form the walls.

Windows of dark rooms are designed with slanting panes of opaque white glass, which makes a soft pleasing effect with the light sifting through.

This same structural treatment through use of color marks the Kuhne Galleries in New York, designed by James Kuhne, and now on display. Located in an old brownstone house of fancy fireplace, pilaster, cornice and what-not, without making a single structural change besides installing indirect lighting fixtures, and replacing the marble mantels, the place, through color, has been made delightfully modern. In this interior, the chimney is painted white, the recesses on either side a brilliant blue green and the adjoining wall a pearl grey with a decidedly pleasing result.

STEER CONTRACTING

Active contracting of steer calves for delivery in the spring for both local and northern accounts, is under way in west Texas now at prices of 4 1-2 to 5 cents a pound, but commission dealers report that ranchmen are not eager to sell at these prices. Several hundred head of cattle have been contracted in recent days as orders flow into the country. Most ranchmen believe that the time has come for depressed cow business and that better prices are ahead for them. There are more cattle buyers in the country now than at any time in recent years.

HUGE TEETH FOUND

Two huge teeth, belonging to some prehistoric animal, were unearthed in Llano county recently when a spring was being cleaned. They were found about 10 feet deep in formation of mud, sand and boulders and were in excellent preservation. Further excavation work will be done in an effort to find other evidences of prehistoric life. One of the teeth is more than 8 inches long and weighs about four pounds. The top measures four inches across. This exhibit will be sent to the museum in Austin for further study.

RAILROAD ADVERTISING

An interesting experiment has been conducted by the Missouri, Kansas and Texas Railroad during the past year, and according to President M. H. Cahill, it has been a very successful one. During the past year the "Katy" spent thousands of dollars for newspaper advertising, using the press in territories served by the road, and Mr. Cahill's annual report to the directors declares that this campaign was largely responsible for the road's good financial showing at the end of last year. While revenues of all railroads declined sharply, the Katy was able to maintain its gross revenue at almost the 1932 figure, and will be able to handle its annual obligations without borrowing money from the government or other sources.

The advertising campaign of the Katy railroad, presented in full page advertisements, called attention to the long period of public service given by the road, its maintenance of improved facilities during the depression period, its influence in the development of the territories it served and its excellence as a transportation medium. Mr. Cahill's idea is that selling railroad service involves the same problems as selling any commodity, and the experiment he conducted last year seems to have justified that thought.

There was a time when the railroads were without competitors in the transportation field, but that is not so today. They are paralleled by competitors wherever they go, and while their appeals for legislative protection against unfair competition merit the thoughtful consideration of the people, the fact remains that their survival will depend largely upon their own efforts to sell their services under competitive conditions. The right kind of railroad advertising, the Katy's experiment has proved, is just as effective as the right kind of merchandise advertising.—Brownwood Bulletin.

TO CURB FEE-GRABBING

A bill to prevent "harassing" of motorists by fee-grabbing constables in counties with a population of more than 225,000 was passed by the Texas house of representatives. The bill would prohibit prosecution on misdemeanor charges in justice courts except in the precinct where the offense allegedly was committed. It was sponsored by

GAME REFUGE REPORT

The report of the president's committee on wild life conservation has the merit of going to the heart of the subject and bringing in a program which will meet the purpose without involving too great expense. Briefly, the committee suggests acquisition by the United States of 17,000,000 acres of submarginal land at a maximum cost of $50,000,000 and centralization of the game refuge work in the hands of a federal wild life director.

Twenty-five million dollars have already been appropriated for submarginal land retirement. The suggested maximum program would require an equal amount from the public works or civil works authorities. Mindful of possible charges of extravagance, the committee includes a minimum plan involving $24,000,000, or less than the present appropriation, and a partial plan costing $36,000,000.

Two useful purposes are served by the outlined conservation. Withdrawal of submarginal lands from crop use is already recognized as important and best achieved by dedication to other purposes. At the same time there is a real need of restoring wild life population, sadly depleted by food and sports demands. It may be needed as a food resource in the future and its reconstruction should be begun now. There can be no quarrel with the soundness of recommending central federal direction under which one policy can be adopted and adhered to.

The need of haste in initiating the project is accentuated by the committee. It would secure at once 4,000,000 acres for migratory waterfowl and shore bird breeding, because their spring movement northward will be shortly under way. Indeed, unless congress acts swiftly, it will be too late to start this phase of the work this year.

The game refuge plan will supply some permanent employment. Experience has shown that the conserved areas must be protected against the conscienceless hunter and game seller who will continue to exercise poacher's rights as old as game laws.—Dallas News.

Representative Pat Dwyer of San Antonio, who asserted it has become the practice around San Antonio for constables to arrest motorists for violations of traffic laws and require them to go to nearby towns for trials.

FOR A GOOD HUSBAND

Somebody has said that a woman gets a husband the same way she gets a fur coat — by starting out after it. For the girls who are husband hunting, here are 10 rules on the qualifications of a good husband, given by a well known Washington minister on that "important" subject:

A man should have the proper regard for the sacredness and dignity of the position of husband.

He should have character. It is what a man is in the dark. The husband should understand little attentions. Don't stop with the candy and flowers after the wedding is over. Don't fail to see and appreciate the little things that the wife is doing. Also tell her from time to time how sweet and pretty she is. Even if you have to stretch it a bit at times.

The husband should be a man not a manikin. Be careful about a man whom other men do not respect.

The prospective husband should be a man of clean blood. Beware of the double standards in morals.

Does he have brains or is he a blockhead? Can he think and decide for himself?

Is he from a good family? Blood is not everything, but blood will tell.

Does he have ambition? Is he afraid of work?

Is he a Christian—even if not a member of a church?—Pathfinder.

HERE AND THERE

President Roosevelt has signed the $40,000,000 crop reduction loan bill with the declaration that it should be the last of this kind.

Seven persons were killed Sunday afternoon by a tornado that tore into a rural section about ten miles from Meridian, Miss.

The governor of the farm credit administration has announced a new policy of allowing federal land banks to make loans on ranch lands which do not support livestock throughout the year, but are considered good security. In appraising the ranch lands in the future, he said, valuations will be based primarily on earning power. On lands owned by applicants for loans this will be determined by the carrying capacity of the land, considering water supply and availability of winter feed.

Flashlight His Night Guide In the Jungles of Honduras

THREE arrows and a flashlight—and in two minutes Capt. R. Stuart Murray is at work in his "office" in the wilds of Honduras. His swivel chair is a typewriter cover, his roltop desk is a suitcase, and the illumination is by flashlight batteries.

This five-cell, giant flashlight serves not only as an indoor gloom dispeller for Capt. Murray during his explorations for the National Museum of Honduras. It works as a street lighting system when he travels the Honduran jungles and rivers at night. River navigation, however, requires two flashlights to be safe.

Night trips are perilous, Capt. Murray explains, because the rivers usually are burdened with tree trunks, brush, and debris of all sorts, carried at high speed in the powerful currents. A native look-out, armed with the big light whose beam has a half-mile radius, stands in the bow of a fifty-five foot mahogany dugout. With his flashlight he picks a course through the floating debris, signaling with his red hand to the steersman in the stern. The latter has his own "light boy" whose job is to sit with a flashlight focused on the lookout so that the steering signals can be seen.

Almost any indoor or outdoor job can be done by flashlight, Capt. Murray contends. In camp, he not only writes with the aid of a three or five-cell light, but he cooks, shaves, dresses, looks for snakes in the roof, and does a score of such odd chores. Yet, a flashlight is only as good as its batteries, he has found, especially where one's very life hangs upon a light's dependability. So it has come to be a proverb among explorers, he says, that only the best is worth while. This is especially so in far-off places where one can't buy a battery. "Just around the corner"

REPORTER

NEWS BRIEFS

Two Houston cotton concerns, Tuesday confirmed a report from Washington that Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace had purchased a total of 32,350 bales of spot cotton from them. The cotton was purchased to meet the government's cotton producers pool, it was said.

A $1,000,000 expenditure for publicity in less than five years by the New York Stock Exchange, including the distribution of a book on short selling to members of congress was disclosed Friday by senate investigators as they neared the end of their long study of the ways of Wall Street.

The public works program in Texas will be the most far-reaching aid the government has given the state with the indirect benefits multiplying several times the tangible projects, the deputy PWA administrator announced Tuesday. He said the program will be fully launched within six months.

Contending that the administration's present plan of farm relief is proving inadequate, Governor Olson of Minnesota says the governors of 15 farm states at their session in Des Moines, Iowa, will demand federal legislation fixing farm prices and proposing a plan of compulsory crop reduction. The governors will convene March 10 to 12.

A policy of offering rewards by the state for the capture of notorious criminals was endorsed by the Texas senate Monday. A house resolution adopted by the senate called on citizens to aid in the apprehension of criminals. Rewards of $1000 each for the capture of Clyde Barrow and Raymond Hamilton, southwest desperadoes, was approved by both houses.

The federal grand jury at Houston Tuesday indicted State Senator Gus Russek and two others on charges of conspiracy to violate the national banking laws. Senator Russek is chairman of the senate banking committee. The indictment, which contains 11 counts, charges misapplication of approximately $61,000 from the First National Bank of Schulenburg.

STAR

We are very sorry to say that the people of Star are not enjoying the cold weather so very much. It is entirely too cold to be very comfortable, except in a tight room with a warm fire. We are hoping it will be somewhat warmer in a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Howard Petrey gave the young people a very interesting party last Friday night. There was a large crowd present and quite a few from Center City were there. Everyone seemed to have a jolly time.

Center City came over last Friday night and brought their declaimers. There was a house full to hear the practice work.

The Mills county singing convention will be held here Sunday, March 4, with dinner on the grounds.

The Star declaimers are going to try out Friday night to see who goes to the county meet.

We are sorry to say that our beloved primary teacher, Miss Walton, is ill, and has not been able to fill her position in the school room this week, but we are hoping she will be back with us in a few days.

News came that Elbert Wright, who is working in the tree army, in San Antonio, has been dangerously ill, but later news is that he is some better. He is being cared for in the hospital at Fort Sam Houston.

Grandpa and Grandma Garrett are still on the sick list.

Grades

The pupils of Mrs. Gerald's room, who are leading in their reading are Martina Stevens and Sherlie Lucas. Other grades will be announced next week, as the monthly grades are not completed.

High School

The high school pupils are enjoying life much better since they have got Chaucer off of their hands. They had a contest in their English class Tuesday, each one trying to beat the other one recite Chaucer's Prologue.

The tenth grade is improving in Spanish — believe it or not.

The senior class is still working on their play. We are hoping we shall be able to present it some time soon.

Things For Trade

Billy Joe William's curls. Charlie Sheldon's telephone. Margaret House's red tam. Opal Gordon's smile. Olla Webb's blue hat. John Hill's diamond ring. Mack Webb's ignorance. Rexline Clifton's position at Center City.

Mina D. Gent's freckles. Lottie Hurst's complexion. Boykin's English literature books.

We can't imagine why, but John Hill, Charlie Sheldon, Mack Webb and Gordon Cook seem to be about three-thirds crazy about playing tennis.

They play during freezing weather.

And believe it or not—James Witty is a preacher.

The coach still goes to Brownwood.

The play "Cranberry Corners" which was taken to Pottsville, was a success. So also were the numbers rendered by the Glee club. This play is scheduled for a staging at Cranfills Gap, Mar. 2.

The senior spelling tryout was held Monday. Two of the girls tied for one place and another girl has a sure place for entrance into the county meet. The other two had their tryout today.

Those working on arithmetic for the county meet are Adolph Lippe, Nelma Grelle and Charles Partin. Those working on junior spelling are Bertha Lubke, Arnold Schumann and Erwin Gromatzky.

The Lily Glee Club is practicing for the county meet and held its weekly meeting Tuesday.

A new schedule was made for the high school in order to obtain more time to devote to track events.

The volley ball and baseball teams are also working for the meet.

Grammar School Reports

There are two sub-junior spellers who are working out for the county meet. The fifth grade is working on picture memory and declamation.

The third grade is working on story telling.

Mistaken!

"Mr. Tiemann," began the timid looking young man, "Er-ah that is, can-er-I-will you—"

"Why, yes, Mr. Hein, you may have her," smiled Sally's father. The young man gasped. "What is that? Have whom?" he asked.

"My daughter, of course," replied Mr. Tiemann. "That's what you mean. You want to marry her, don't you?"

"Why, no," said the young man. "I just wanted to know if you could lend me $5."

"Certainly not!" said Mr. Tiemann, sharply. "Why, I hardly know you."

A 23-year-old man of Harlingen was wounded probably fatally Monday, when he tried to show a girl friend "how he would commit suicide." He placed what he believed to be an unloaded 38-caliber pistol to his temple and pulled the trigger.

Modern Finish For Bedroom Ensemble

HERE is a charming bedroom suite which introduces a new idea in modern furnishings. It has a new type finish which makes available any number of color schemes. Ivory and red trim have been combined here. Simfast, the special finish used for this set, has a particularly soft luster and is practically crack, peel and chip proof which is something much to be desired in painted surfaces.

The delightful simplicity of this set together with the use made of the newest upholstery and finishes would lend charm to any sleeping room.

Primary Department

There is very little news from the primary department this week. We are having very good attendance, in comparison with so much sickness and colds.

The second grade lost four pupils last week, one moving to Mullin and three to Lampasas.

The teachers of both high school and grammar school departments are expecting to go to Coleman Friday and Saturday, if the weather permits, to be present at the meeting of the Mid-Texas Teachers' association.

Friday, March 2, has been declared a holiday by the school board. The pupils greatly appreciate it.

Capella Club

The girls glee club, under the direction of Mrs. S. P. Sullivan, has been working hard the last few weeks, preparing for the Belton trip. At an early meeting the club voted on a name. The motion was made and carried that we call ourselves the Capella Club, and so the Capella club intends to carry off honors for Goldthwaite high in the music meet at Belton. The contest songs are "The Hunting Song," and the "Hills of Home."

Only eighteen girls are allowed to sing in the contest. There are twenty-two girls in the club and four must be eliminated. Mrs. Sullivan has asked an excellent judge to eliminate those whose voices do not blend as well as others. In this way there will be no partiality and the very best will be the ones to sing.

Mrs. Sullivan does not want any of the girls to have to stay at home, so she has arranged so that all can go.

There is much enthusiasm, not only over the trip, but all are working so that the Capella club can win.

The Senior Project

The senior project is an undertaking by the senior class to seat at least part of the grammar school auditorium with opera seats. This is a rather large step to take, but the seniors feel confident that they can put at least forty seats there. Several plans have already been made for making money to go on this project. Everyone knows that the present seats in the auditorium are very uncomfortable, and we sincerely hope that the people of this town will be interested enough to help in this project. Every town, especially as large as this one, needs at least one place that can be used for public gatherings. We introduced the project to our parents a week ago last Tuesday night and they were very enthusiastic over the idea. Those members of the P. T. A. with whom we have talked, also seem to be interested and we hope to enlist others in our battle. Therefore, we ask the co-operation of every person in this town to help to put over this project that is so badly needed.

Junior Class

The officers of the junior class met Thursday, February 22, at the home of Mr. Cloninger, and discussed various plans for the annual junior-senior entertainment. It was decided that money was necessary for the rendering of an entertainment; therefore, a decision was made that the juniors' sponsor a chapel program Thursday, March 1, at the junior high auditorium, and charge an admission of five cents per person.

In spite of the cold weather the high school boys have been working out every day for the county meet, which will be held in Goldthwaite March 16 and 17.

The captain has not been elected, but there are about fifteen boys out for the team, who are eligible for the position. From these prospects Goldthwaite high school will have a track team, which will be hard to beat in the county meet.

Since the basketball team was beaten in the last tournament the track team is determined to get revenge in the coming meet.

We have at last got started on our one act play. Several of the actors have been out of school on account of illness and that has impeded our progress.

We are to contest against Mullin, Star and Center City. The title of our play is "Elmer." The cast is composed of Shults Faulkner, Earl Harvey, Lawrence Bledsoe, Harold Yarborough, Daphane Evans, Elizabeth Fisher, Thelma Jernigan, Deacre Shaw, Mary Louise Fairman.

We have been invited to Center Point as soon as we are prepared to perform.

Latin Contest Essay

The following is an essay written by Florine Woody and judged second best in the second-year Latin class. The first prize essay, written by Sarah Fairman on "Gaul and Its People," has been sent into the hands of the Latin tournament to be judged among the best essays of the state.

Roman Courage and Valor

The Roman Empire with its splendor, power and glory was created simply by Roman courage and Roman valor. Even today it is recognized as one of the most glorious empires ever built. A certain quality, called valor caused the Roman to rise from a bare, meagre, narrow life on the Palatine Hill to a great complex cosmopolitan nation that became the ruler of nearly all of Europe for two hundred years or more.

One must fully see the courage and valor the Romans put forth to build a great nation. They had to train, strain and work to be what they were. Their soldiers were trained so that even the lowest of them were trained to stand torture without a murmur. These people had strength of character, perseverance and many other great qualities that made the Roman soldiers one of the most gallant soldiers that ever fought for any country.

But let us turn to history for further attention of the Roman's courage. Who was the first country that invaded the Balkans and went over into Asia, where the treacherous Turks lived, and who would have fought with them at this time? The Romans dared and the Romans did! Does this not prove they had courage? Who tamed the wild barbaric tribes that invaded Europe in the fifteenth century? The Romans displayed their courage, and they defeated them.

The Roman had valor; he was kind to his wife and neighbors, fair to his children and believed in gods. What other nation at this time had succeeded in creating a democratic government? Then, think of the famous soldiers, orators, statesmen and philosophers that Rome gave to the world. Roman art and literature expressed courage and valor. Their literature dealt with subjects pertaining to heroic deeds displaying courage and valor; the masterpieces of old Roman art deals with the same. Her statesmen talked about courage and valor. Her philosophers wrote about it, her soldiers fought with it and her children were taught it.

There are the great heroes of Rome, who will always be studied in our histories: Julius Caesar, Augustus Octavian and others who are the very essence of courage and valor. Caesar does not stand first in the history of his country, because of his good looks, his ability to speak, his religious work, but because of military genius, which was due to his perseverance, his courage and his valor. It was his courage and valor that made him the idol of the people of Rome.

After hundreds of years, the present day college professors

AGAIN THE BONUS

The soldiers' bonus has a way of reappearing in an election year. It was in 1933 that congress adopted the adjusted compensation bill which President Harding vetoed. In 1924 Mr. Coolidge disapproved a similar measure, but that time the two thirds vote required in order to override a presidential veto was obtained and the measure was enacted. In 1926 the law was liberalized at certain points. It was further liberalized in 1928 and 1930. In 1932 the house of representatives approved the Patman bill providing for immediate redemption at face value of the certificates issued under the act of 1924. Now comes a new effort to adopt a measure similar to that which the house approved two years ago, but which the senate then defeated. The necessary number of signatures to a petition having been obtained, the house will vote March 12 on the question of discharging the Ways and Means Committee from further consideration of this measure.

The act of 1924 granted to each ex-soldier compensation based on the length of his service in the army or the navy. The amount due him on this basis was then increased by 25 per cent because of deferred payment, and further increased by interest at 4 per cent compounded annually over a period of 20 years. The sum so computed is shown on the face of each certificate. But it does not represent the amount due at the end of 20 years—that is, in 1944. To insist on immediate payment of a 20-year endowment policy years before it matures.

President Roosevelt has authorized the speaker of the house to state that he continues to be opposed to the pending measure and can not approve it. He could not do other, and deserves support. The obligation is not due. It would be paid in full money. The effort to cater to a supposed "veterans' vote is obvious and unblushing. Fortunately, the bill could not be passed over the president's veto. That would be forthcoming, Mr. Roosevelt assures the country advance.—New York Times.

admire and give the Romans two of the best attributes that could be given to human beings—that of courage and valor. It is not only for the study of the Latin language that we study the old Romans, but also for the great lessons in courage and valor that we learn from studying their literature.

Rome, one of the most outstanding cities during the medieval ages, was first built of courage. There is an old story of how the twins, Romulus and Remus, by names, grew up in the forest. Later one of the twins, Romulus, killed his brother, Remus. Romulus, after killing his brother, gathered outlaws and men of courage around him and began the founding of Rome. Later, the Romans and the Sabines, unified and began the building of a great nation. It took boldness, courage and fierceness to begin building a nation against others' wishes, especially in that age. The Roman Empire, built with courage and valor, was, when the ancient history and nations ended and the modern nations begun.

SENIOR CLASS IS HONORED WITH PARTY

Mmes. W. C. and C. C. Hancock honored the senior class of Mullin high school with a clever party in the home of Mrs. W. C. Hancock Friday evening, February 23. Decorations and games carried out the George Washington motif, the home also being decorated with flowers and pot plants.

The hours flew swiftly by as the guests enthusiastically played progressive hearts, bridge and other games. Much merriment was derived from the introduction of the guests to George and Martha Washington.

A refreshment plate consisting of chicken salad sandwiches, olives, potato chips and pickles, hot chocolate and mints were served to the guests. The plate favors were miniature silk flags mounted on brass flagpoles.

Those who were present at this entertainment are as follows: Wayne Henry, Grace Perkins, Joe Francis Ivy, Iva Lee Daniel, Marvin Hamilton, Aline Ince, Glyn Edmondson, Mary Hancock, Doris Patterson, Ozelia Ince, Wilson Mills, Ida Mae Roberts, Maxwell Kirkpatrick, Leta Mae Williams, Seth Farmer, Tootsie Hancock, Joe Hugh Fletcher, Orell Clendennen, Alva Masters, Wyno Rose Tillman, M. E. Williams, Katie Jule Crockett, Misses Sybil Guthrie, Carrie Kirkpatrick, Clemmie Mae and Era Hancock and the hostesses, Mrs. W. C. and Mrs. C. C. Hancock.

COYOTE TRAPPED

The big bad wolf that has been causing so much trouble among the flocks of sheep for the past two weeks was successfully trapped Tuesday night by Jess Jones, Mr. Jones appeared on the Wigley lease Tuesday with several traps and proceeded to locate the run of the coyote. Placing several traps around a strawstack he assured Mr. Wigley he would have his game by morning. Mr. Wigley went to the traps soon Wednesday morning and found one trap gone and in about 100 yards distant, located Mr. Coyote and trap. He then shot the coyote and brought him to town, awaiting the arrival of Mr. Jones, who then carried him to Goldthwaite so as to collect the bounty offered by the county and the Mills County Wolf club.

JOINT BIRTHDAY CELEBRATION

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Young were host and hostess to a group of relatives and friends on Feb. 28 celebrating the birthdays of Mrs. D. A. Hamilton and Mr. R. H. Young.

The personnel of the occasion were Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Hamilton, Chas. Hodges and family, Mrs. Kennan Henry and baby, Ham Gardner, Miss Annie Gardner, Mrs. J. L. Farmer and Miss Emma Harvey.

NELL GUTHRIE HONOR STUDENT

Miss Nell Guthrie of Mullin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Guthrie, who is going to school in Brownwood and attending Daniel Baker college, is listed as one of the honor students making an "A" on all fall semester subjects. Miss Guthrie is one among ten other honor students making this high grade.

Miss Guthrie is an outstanding student of Daniel Baker college, and was recently elected secretary-treasurer of the freshman class.

PARTY FOR YOUNGER SET

Mrs. Willard Mosier was hostess to a large group of the younger set Saturday night at her home on Sherman street. The young people as usual had a most pleasant social and enjoyed the various games of interest to the happy boys and girls.

It is always a pleasure to be guests of Mr. and Mrs. Mosier and their son, Norma Lee, and this party was another gala occasion for the fortunate guests.

DAVIS—LONERKUH

Friends of Bryan Davis have received announcements of his marriage to Miss Selma Lonerkuhn of Houston on February 14. Mr. Davis is the son of Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Davis of Pompey and his friends wish him happiness. The happy couple will make their home in Houston, where he is now employed.

CARRYING AIR MAIL

Some of the critics of President Roosevelt and his administration are making much ado about the accidents that have befallen the operators of the mail carrying air planes and are decrying the President's act in cancelling the air mail contracts and requiring that the duty be performed by the government aviation service.

It is possible, however, that some who look with distrust on the acts of the administration have seized upon the record of accidents in the air mail operations as a basis for voicing their mistrust, without considering all the premises.

As to provocation calling forth the cancellation of the contracts with aviation companies there seems to be very little room for argument or criticism. Had such revelations been made in private business affairs as were made by the senate investigations there would have been more drastic measures adopted by private corporations or individuals.

LEGISLATING PROSPERITY

There is no denying the fact that the government aid supplied the country the past year has prevented much want and suffering, but whether or not the government requirements concerning employment, hours of work and wages will be as successful and satisfactory to the promoters of the plan is still a question.

A SERIOUS PROBLEM

Orders have gone out to reduce the CWA list and those in authority are endeavoring to comply with the requirement. In fact, a compliance is absolutely necessary, since the funds are not available to meet the pay roll, but the how of it all is puzzling to the administrators of the plan.

THE REALM OF SCIENCE

A PLANT ANIMAL

The Smithsonian Institution has brought out a new model of ocean life a 'plant animal' that eats meat after paralyzing it with poison.

The meat eating plant animals are actually highly developed animals which have no relation to plants but have taken on their outward appearance, explains Austin H. Clark, Smithsonian biologist.

Death lurks in the blossoms for any small sea creature swimming too close. The 'plant animals' eject poison which paralyzes their prey and then the victims are gathered in with tentacles that line the grooves in the arms of the 'plant,' through which food is carried to the mouth.

The new plant-animals belong to the crinoid family of sea lilies which was so numerous 150,000,000 years ago that there were vast 'man eating forests' of them in the shallow oceans of that time.

MAN GOES WITHOUT SLEEP 8 YEARS; Baffles Science

Doctors are puzzled by the remarkable case of a Huddersfield, England, man, who has not slept for eight years. The man is William Blackburn, of Manchester road. Eight years ago he underwent a serious operation and he has not slept for an hour since.

EUROPE FACES CRISIS

The off-heard lament of the American cotton farmer—what price cotton?—a lament that a now benevolently regulatory government is strenuously attempting, and apparently with success, to change overnight into a paean of thanksgiving by price stimulation through reduced yield, has its counterpart nowadays.

The situation is particularly acute in the European industry. This was made quite plain on a recent tour of buying and spinning centers in England, Germany, France, Switzerland and elsewhere.

Lack of friends and funds has caused a curious condition in the El Paso jail which harbors, every week, scores of federal prisoners who are charged with violating the immigration laws.

WAR TALK

It seems that war is imminent in Europe. Any student of history could have foretold that when the Treaty of Versailles was written. It was a war breeder. This fact was foretold in the editorial columns of the Banner at the time that document was being presented.

Health Hint

SPRING CLEANING

Austin, Texas, March, 1.—The warm days of spring will soon be here and the Texas state department of health urges everyone to see that their property is cleaned of the winter's accumulation of trash.

In planning your spring cleaning start with the house itself in the attic and work down, not forgetting the basement. Attics and basements are the greatest collectors of refuse and therefore of dust and dirt that the house possesses.

Under the CWA sanitary project pit privies and septic tanks may be installed at no cost for labor, also private water supplies may be sanitized. This will be a great improvement in rural sections and towns that do not have a city water supply or sewer system.

We are prone to judge people in no small measure by the kind of yard keepers we think they are. Many times you have heard some one say, "No, I don't know the people next door, but they cannot amount to much because their yard is cluttered with tin cans and papers and their garbage can is always open."

KEEPING UP WITH TEXAS

Hospitalization for many indigent tuberculars whom the state cannot care for at present likely will be provided soon by state and federal relief agencies.

Possibility that Clyde Barrow, Texas desperado, engineered the robbery Saturday of the Galena, Kansas bank in which $7,100 was obtained, was strengthened Sunday night, police said, by information that a woman who appeared at a local garage earlier in the week had been identified as Bonnie Parker, accomplice of Barrow.

"It makes me feel sad to see them hungry and we do not have enough clothes to keep them warm," writes the father of 21 children in a plea for food and clothes for his family. In a letter written to Mayor G. A. Holland of Weatherford, county relief chairman, the man asked for help in supporting the 14 members of his family now living at home.

The romantic story of Texas since the signing of the Texas Declaration of Independence at Old Washington on March 2, 1836, will be unfolded at the eighth annual birthday party for the East Texas Chamber of Commerce in Huntsville today.

He is interviewing kings, chancellors, dictators, politicians, soldiers and common people. Europe, Mr. Knickerbocker points out, though one-third smaller than the United States, has six million men in uniform.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VIEW OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

WHEN THE LAND WAS GONE

It may seem a long distance from the disappearance of the last of the free land in the west to the complexities of the alphabetical groups by which the present administration is trying to promote recovery and reconstruction.

The connection, however, is direct and strong. What is happening is that we are now tackling the problem from which we ran away when they first were taking shape. We ran because we had a western frontier to go to; lacking it now we have to pitch in and try to solve the difficulties.

That development—the tendency of wealth to coalesce—is not a new thing. In its modern form it began to appear directly after the civil war; and the maladjustments which it brought to American society at the time were profound and disturbing.

But the country at large did little or nothing to remedy matters. The west was open and any man who felt that the cards were stacked against him could move to the frontier and start over again.

The open west was a safety valve which kept the national pressure down. As the 20th century dawned, the frontier vanished; and immediately we began to feel the loss of our safety valve.

Then came certain diversions. The war took our minds off these issues for nearly a decade. Then came the skyrocket growth of mass production industry, symbolized by development of the auto industry, to provide a temporary new safety valve.

Those outlets, too, are gone now. And in the enormous complexities of the new deal we simply are witnessing our final head-on collision with the problems that should have been attacked two generations ago.

We aren't engaged in a new fight. We are wrestling with changes long overdue.—Dallas Dispatch.

SEETHING EUROPE

The Light is publishing a series of articles on the question which, more than any other, agitates the whole world. That question is, "Will War Come?" and if so, WHEN will it come?

H. R. Knickerbocker, brilliant European correspondent, is attempting to answer that question for you.

He is interviewing kings, chancellors, dictators, politicians, soldiers and common people.

Europe, Mr. Knickerbocker points out, though one-third smaller than the United States, has six million men in uniform. Her armies parade the streets, patrol the roads, line the borders of her countries, maneuver constantly, strain every nerve in preparation for the "inevitable" conflict.

It is difficult for Americans to grasp conditions there. But if you can remember the numbers of troops which we had in khaki during the world war and then DOUBLE them you would have an approximate picture of Europe today.

With France seething, with a revolution in Austria, with Germany under a tyrannical dictatorship, with Russia and Japan at swords' points, with unrest brewing in a dozen other countries, the world's affairs appear to be in a more critical posture than they were even in the summer of 1914.

And as in the winter of 1917, this nation finds itself, as usual, UNPREPARED TO KEEP OUT OF WAR.

That, to rational Americans, is the most dangerous feature of a thoroughly dangerous situation.—San Antonio Light.

ON GUARD!

America needs as never before to be on guard against the war fever. We must not blind ourselves to the fact that there are elements among our citizenship who would lead us on. There are those so hot for the conquest of nazism by communism that they forget their normal pacifism and near-pacifism to egg us on to conflict with the counter-revolutionaries.

The appalling European conditions now being pictured in the columns of this paper by Hubert Knickerbocker doubtless would never have come to pass if the United States had taken its proper place at the council of nations in Geneva, and had assumed her proper responsibility for the maintenance of stability and peace in the world.

We refused to have a part in that enterprise. We sponsored the Kellogg peace pact, but when the test of its potency came in Manchuria we found no effective way of upholding it.

We loaned vast sums abroad, and so were helpful in the post-war years, but we resolutely refused to consider any readjustment of the impossible debt burden of the European nations in later years and so contributed to the ensuing chaos and misery.

In our effort to rebuild prosperity domestically we have frankly delayed co-operative measures with other nations; in a large measure we have been in economic conflict with them pending that time when agreements beneficial to all could be reached.

Our recent course could not have been other than it has. Nevertheless it has added new chapters to our program of isolation.

Many of us do not believe in isolation, but most assuredly we can insist that this program be maintained in the face of the war threats now heard around the world. We have isolated ourselves in time of peace; then, in heaven's name, let's isolate ourselves in time of war.

Let's fight neither for the communists nor the nazis, nor for the supremacy in Europe of the French, Germans or Italians. It will be too late to make this decision after war has started. Unless we can make it right now, in time to thwart the propagandists, in time to warn the people against the insidious appeal of those persons and groups more interested in the issues that rock Europe and Asia than in preserving the welfare of America and the lives of her millions of boys, then the day will come when those boys will be marching away with bands playing and flags flying, everyone telling them that they are going forth to battle for liberty, or civilization or, perchance, for God.

BUFFALO HERDS IN ALASKA

Everybody knows about the few reindeer brought from Europe to Alaska that have since increased to nearly 1,000,000 and also about the supervised migration of some hundreds of them from there to Northern Canada in recent months, to become the hardy live stock of a sparse Arctic population.

The buffalo of the plains used to give a good account of themselves even in the howling Dakotan blizzards and somebody had the bright idea of making Alaska the adopted country of North America's largest indigenous quadruped. Six or eight buffalo were taken there sometime by the biological survey and when the herd was counted the other day, it was found with astonishment that it had increased to sixty. More than fifty of them, accordingly, are native, not naturalized, Alaskans, and Jarvis Flats, where they were left to shift for themselves, is not the only place in the great peninsula where they will thrive.

conditions in our national parks and elsewhere buffalo have been preserved from threatened extinction and multiplied amazingly, but along various Alaskan streams and foothill valleys all the conditions of a natural habitat for buffalo are found. Buffalo herds as wild, though not

CRUCIAL YEAR FOR NEW DEAL

Before the end of the year the fate of the New Deal and the Roosevelt administration will have been decided, thinks John C. Cresswell, writing in the current issue of the Magazine of Wall Street. He sums up the situation, as he sees it, thus:

"The race between the greatest governmental peace time spending since the world began and revenue will determine whether this nation will have to go through the fires of another cycle of inflation and deflation before its scorched feet rest again on firm ground. No man can assuredly pick the winner, but the race will be run, and lost or won, this year."

The greater part of the article is devoted to a pessimistic recounting of colossal and "crazy spending due to the personal indifference to consequences of hundreds of great and little brain-trusters."

Mr. Cresswell, nevertheless, makes the prediction that the race will be won, not lost. The New Deal has had more than its share of the lucky breaks already, he thinks, but is due to get one more final and decisive break. That will be a natural business revival that will sustain activity after the peak of the PWA spending, which is to follow CWA spending, has been passed.

The really great need of the country in the face of the present situation is a reawakening to the necessity of individual responsibility, regardless of what kind of socialized order we may be passing into. We need to work up our doles resistance. We should not be deceived into thinking, even if a new social order comes, that it means the end of individual worry.

The passing of "rugged individualism"—even if it passes as the brain trusters are predicting—will add to the citizen's intellectual and social responsibility, although it may detract a little from his direct accountability in his struggle for a livelihood. Mr. Cresswell is right. It is a crucial year. It is to be a test of whether we go by social or remain rugged, or whether we shall be led by demagoguery and misplaced confidence into some Utopian scheme that will end in worse disaster than the one that has already overtaken us.—Dallas News.

JUDGE AND JURY The jury system was inaugurated as a protest against autocratic tyranny. Before juries were invented, "little tyrants" sat in judgment upon the lives and properties of the masses. Sometimes it was suspected the little tyrant was suborned by rich defendants. Putting the defendant's interest in the hands of twelve men, good and true, was thought to afford a safeguard against one-man justice or injustice. If the jury system hasn't worked out altogether satisfactorily it is less the fault of the gentlemen of the jury than of the body of technicality the latitude of the lawyers, the restrictions upon the judge, upon the court as the bailiff himself. As a rule, an innocent man would choose to have his case tried before an upright judge than before a body of twelve jury men. He could count on the wisdom and honesty of the judge, but might have his doubts concerning the intelligence or sincerity of all the twelve. When judgment day comes in the court of Heaven there will be no jury. The All-Highest Himself will pass upon the guilt or innocence of the earthlings brought before Him. Wouldn't the average Texan choose to leave his case with God alone than with a panel of twelve archangels, with Gabriel the foreman? There are some who hope that even after their day of grace has passed, the Lord may find some technicality that will save them from utter condemnation.—State Press in Dallas News.

Under more or less sheltered quite as numerous, as those exterminated by the western pioneers and the reappearance of buffalo robes in commerce and of Buffalo Bills in amusement circles may, accordingly, be predicted.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Comanche

The Van Dyke school now has a teacherage. The school board there recently purchased the D. E. Nabers residence in the Van Dyke community for that purpose.

John Magness and W. C. Stark of Comanche state that they have leased a pool of 10,000 acres in Mills county on which they will make a deep test for oil. Machinery is being moved to a location five miles northeast of Goldthwaite, the promoters state.

An Erath district court jury Wednesday awarded Graham Smoot, Blanket school superintendent and Brownwood and Brady band director, $10,300 judgment against Walker Smith Company of Brownwood for alleged damages received in an automobile crash near Dublin, June 8, 1933.

Seven men were jailed at Comanche the latter part of last week as officers climaxed a weeks' drive against burglary and thievery which has been so common throughout the county and especially in the city of Comanche during the past few weeks.

George Hulsey of Comanche was appointed county treasurer to fill out the unexpired term of Mrs. Murt J. Sullivan, resigned, by the commissioners court Saturday, and will take up duties March 1. Mrs. Sullivan was married Thursday to Valter Wagon of Muleshoe and her resignation was accepted by the court Saturday.

Approximately $15,000 was received this week from the state for the Comanche county schools, representing an apportionment of $3 per pupil for the 5000 scholastics in the county. This is the second payment on the 1933-34 allotment, a one dollar payment having been made some time ago. Of the total amount received this week Comanche city schools will receive nearly $1800. This is the first time within several years that a three dollar payment has been made at one time.

The office of the Texas Louisiana Power Company suffered a loss of $58,20 Thursday night of last week, when burglars took cash from the firm's safe, after the lock had been worked. The building was entered by a rear window, the same method that has been followed in nearly all of the recent burglaries in Comanche. According to the DeLeon Free Press, an electric drill that cost $75 new, and a new U. S. L. battery composed the loot of thieves which ransacked the Crawford & Johnson garage last Wednesday night. — Chief.

Hamilton

The first of Hamilton county's wheat checks arrived Monday.

Under the new set up Willis Collins has been made project superintendent of Hamilton county CWA.

A banquet was given at Fred's cafe Wednesday night by the friends and co-workers of Dr. A. G. Livingston, chairman of the Hamilton county civil works administration, as a token of appreciation for the service he has rendered during his tenure of office.

The home of Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Ganske was destroyed by fire about 10:30 o'clock Sunday morning, and Mrs. Ganske was painfully burned from an exploding can of oil, which was the cause of the fire. She was kindling a fire in the cook stove and poured coal oil from a can on some live coals, causing an explosion, which enveloped the house in flames in a very short time.

A carrier pigeon alighted here early Thursday morning. It was fed and placed in a cage. It was found that a note was attached in the small rubber carrier pocket. This note from the Santa Fe hospital at Temple bore information that the pigeon had arrived there on February 19. They did not know where it had come from, but released it hoping it would arrive at its destination. Evidently the pigeon is a government bird. The metal bands on its legs bear the numbers S-44918, August, 1933. The left leg band reads Lone Star 159. After feeding it and allowing it to rest it will be released with another note attached.—News.

Brownwood

County Administrator C. E. Boyett Thursday received notice that the CWA quota for Brownwood had been reduced from 881 to 639 workmen, effective immediately. This is a reduction of 242 workers.

Direct relief in Brown county must have lost favor with several hundred children with the receipt this week of 48 dozen bottles of cod liver oil for distribution to families on the relief rolls.

The average Tom Green county cotton farmer agreed to reduce cotton production by 40 acres in 1934, and will receive nearly $300 in rentals. Discreetly used this should pay the running expenses on the farm this year, the county agent estimates.

Dr. Mollie W. Armstrong, who served as chairman of the President's Birthday Ball Committee of Brownwood, has received word from the treasurer of the Warm Springs Foundation that the Brownwood check for $500 has been received.

A check for $5500 for direct relief work was received by the Brown county office this week. This will be the last money available until more state relief bonds are sold, a letter accompanying the check stated.

Seventy-two students will be enabled to continue their school work at Brownwood colleges through approval of applications of Howard Payne and Daniel Baker colleges by the Federated Emergency Relief Administration this week. The two applications were made to the state board at Austin last week, and approval was forthcoming immediately.

Active steps to have every child enrolled in the Brownwood public schools vaccinated, will be taken by the school board. It was announced this week, when a report of the health survey, being taken by Brownwood physicians and dentists, revealed that approximately 30 per cent of the children enrolled in three of the larger elementary schools do not have satisfactory vaccination scars or records of vaccination. —Banner.

Lometa

Owing to Lometa's splendid fire record in 1932, the insurance penalty has been cut exactly in half.

Miss Josephine Swain, who is attending Baylor College at Waco, spent the week end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mont Swain.

Mrs. W. E. Whittenburg went to Temple Tuesday, to visit Uncle Joe Morgan, who is in the sanitarium there. It will be good news to his many friends here to learn that he is doing as nicely as could be expected under the circumstances.

Monday afternoon, as he was returning from Lometa to his home in Long Cove community, L. R. Hereford had a pretty bad smashup, but no one was hurt. With Mr. Hereford was his wife and infant daughter. Just about a mile from town, at a narrow bridge, when they were meeting a car, in some manner the front wheel of his car locked, throwing the car sideways and into a sedan being driven toward Lometa. Fortunately no one was hurt, but both cars were pretty well smashed up, though not beyond repair.

Early Tuesday morning the timely discovery of fire in the office of the Barnes Lumber Co., averted what might have been a disastrous fire. The fire caught around the flue in the office and the ceiling around the flue, which was hidden by beaver board, was burned completely through before the discovery and the entire furniture department upstairs was a dense fog of smoke. However, the prompt work with a chemical fire extinguisher, put the fire under control, with only a few dollars damage unless some of the furniture suffered more from smoke than was thought.—Reporter.

San Saba

Rev. Val L. Sherman, pastor of the First Methodist church, announces a Christian Education school for March 11-16.

Mmes. L. W. Yarborough and W. G. Lindsey visited Mr. and Mrs. B. W. Yarborough of Santa Anna Thursday of last week.

Misses Lucile Hoover and Billie Weatherby of Goldthwaite were guests of Miss Johnnie Weatherby in San Saba over the week end.

At the regular meeting of the board of directors last Friday morning President H. O. Timmins announced the appointment of committees for the annual banquet of the Chamber of Commerce to be held Tuesday night, March 20.

A check of the records of San Saba county reveal the fact that there were a total of 103 arrests for drunkenness made by the sheriff's department during the year 1933. Of the 102 persons arrested 82 paid fines and others are still pending.

In a difficulty near the Palace theatre Monday night about 9:30, Jim Miller and Sam Miller were both painfully wounded. Both were cut and bruised about the head, neck and face. Sheriff Doran and Deputy N. H. Sellman and Nightwatchman Jeff Lewis were on the scene immediately and they were rushed to the doctor's office and received treatment.

Sheriff Doran was called to the home of L. B. Wood, in town Saturday night and found Mr. Wood shot in the shoulder. A doctor was summoned and the wound examined and found not fatal. Tuesday Wood was improving nicely and barring any complications, bids fair to recover promptly. It is reported that Wood admitted to Sheriff Doran that he inflicted the wound himself. He was shot with a 38 caliber pistol.

Four miles of new roadbed straightening the old bed on highway 81, north of town, is to be completed with CWA labor immediately. In addition to this another five miles of the same highway is to be let by contract at an early date. This five miles will be a connecting with the present five miles that is under construction. The second contract will extend the work south to include the large bridge structure on the Buffalo and will complete the heaviest drainage and dirt work on the entire route through the county. —News.

Lampasas

The county committee has approved 555 cotton contracts which more than gives the total acreage set as the quota for Lampasas county.

County Administrator Allen is in receipt of a telegram of Feb. 21, from Adam R. Johnson, director, in which he states that the quota for Lampasas on relief work will be 200.

At the regular meeting of the directors of the Lampasas Chamber of Commerce last week they voted to extend the bankers of the sixth district an invitation to hold their next regular meeting in Lampasas.

The egg breaking plant at the Producers Produce Co., is now in operation and J. H. Clark, manager of the company, states that 25 girls and 7 men have been added to the payroll of the plant due to that fact. This gives employment to 31 more local people.

The fire department was called Monday morning to the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Shelburn, known as the Oliver place, on South Main street, when the roof of the house caught fire. There was quite a hole burned in the roof and practically the entire house was damaged by fire and water.

The annual banquet of the Lampasas Chamber of Commerce was attended Tuesday evening by a crowd of over 350 guests at the city hall. The ticket committee had arrangements for 350 plates and all of them were taken and then a few more were made places for. — Leader.

NEWS BRIEFS

Nineteen Texas convicts were freed by Governor Miriam A. Ferguson Saturday.

Four hundred fishermen and 190 horses were reported at Moscow, to have been carried away on an ice floe which broke Sunday from the main pack of the Caspian Sea.

The Gray county grand jury has indicted Rev. Louis H. Shockley, itinerant preacher, on four counts, charging a series of poisonings at McLean, several years ago.

Protests against distribution of war propaganda in Japan, especially articles dealing with the possibilities of conflict between Japan and the United States, recently brought declarations from the Japanese war and navy ministries that such articles would be suppressed. That such articles are still being printed is claimed.

Education by hypnotism is to be tried in the College of the City of New York. The head of the philosophy department stated that if the experiment succeeds, knowledge worth years of ordinary instruction may be acquired in a semester. Ten students, who must be in sound health and have their parents' approval will be taught first.

Governor Miriam A. Ferguson Saturday commuted to life imprisonment the death sentence that had been given Paul Mitchell, convicted in Lubbock county of robbery with firearms. He was to have been electrocuted Sunday morning. The governor said more than 1000 Lubbock county citizens, including the sheriff, had petitioned her for clemency. Five jurors who voted the penalty also asked for commutation she said.

An appropriation of $140,000 to the livestock and sanitary commission would be granted by a bill approved by the Texas house. The fund would be used to fight tuberculosis in cattle, particularly in East Texas, where the disease is more prevalent, according to sponsors of the bill. West Texas, they said, was comparatively free of the disease, but infection is threatened unless it is stamped out in other sections of the state. The federal government would match state funds dollar for dollar, which would bring the total fund to $280,000.

An amazing revelation of the state of unpreparedness in which the army air corps found itself as the result of governmental economy when called upon to handle the nation's air mail was disclosed to International News Service. The informant, a high ranking officer, revealed that no less than 62 per cent of all the airplane motors possessed by the army air corps were in repair depots awaiting overhauling when the army was called upon by President Roosevelt to fly the mails following cancellation of commercial air mail contracts. The motors were piled up in the repair shops because governmental economy slashes left the air corp without sufficient funds to carryout repair work, it is claimed.

BEAUTY in the HOME

A Charmingly Decorated Guest Bedroom

THE above guest bedroom designed by Marjorie Thorsch, the decorator, has a lot of interesting features. The window grouping for one thing, with the big Victorian chair and ottoman in silver grey pin striped corduroy piped with green, its back so comfortably against the window, is quite charming. The classic feeling shown on the design of the dresser, the soft colors of the rugs and the use of Venetian blinds are other uncommon features.

The window hangings are just as up-to-date, in their way, as the rest of the room. Knitted Cellophane is the material used at the windows, white for the glass curtains and green for the over-draperies. The light filtering in through these lovely curtains gives the whole room an unusual suavity.

Regardless of Price Judge the new FORD V8 on what it will do

Thousands of people who can afford to spend two or three times as much for a car, are today choosing the Ford V-8 for 1934, instead. Here are some of the reasons.

VENTILATION. With the new Ford V-8 you get an all-steel body, safety glass, welded steel-spoke wheels, exceptionally low center of gravity and more braking surface per pound of weight than any other American-made car we know of.

POWER. The Ford V-8 for 1934 gives you better than 80 miles per hour with the quicker acceleration and greater smoothness of an 8-cylinder motor. Power has actually been increased by 12 per cent over last year's model.

COMFORT. The Ford V-8 for 1934 offers more actual body room than many other cars that cost considerably more. It offers you new Clear-Vision

SAFETY. With the new Ford V-8 you get an all-steel body, safety glass, welded steel-spoke wheels, exceptionally low center of gravity and more braking surface per pound of weight than any other American-made car we know of.

ECONOMY. Gasoline economy is increased by two or three miles per gallon with the new Ford V-8. Test runs show that the new engine will give 20 miles per gallon at 45 miles per hour.

METHODIST NOTES

gospel which he preached. It is not ours to be disobedient to the command to go. So the Methodist church, and most of the others at this time are thinking in terms of evangelism at home, and abroad.

It has been said that the church is not engaged in any financial campaign in this proposed revival. This, I am glad to say, is true. That is to say, that the financial side is not the thing uppermost with its promoters. Yet it is true that all the missionary enterprises have greatly suffered the past few years, and every mission board that I know anything about is suffering for lack of funds. These funds they must have, if they are to carry on. As a result of this fact our people will be asked for a free will offering between now and the close of the Easter-tide, to meet the obligations of the church. If the almost three millions of members of the Methodist church in the south would discharge but half their duty in this matter, I venture to say that a great revival would come, and every obligation would be more than met in a financial way. The same is doubtless true of our sister denominations, in whose success we are all vitally interested.

Be at all the services Sunday. It is greatly to your interest to be there. The church needs you.

CENTER CITY

We are having real winter, the coldest of the year so far. It is hard on all stock and especially the ones which have not been fed. Some of the farmers have lost lambs and kids during this spell.

Bro. Brown filled his regular appointment Sunday. The weather was cold and many were not at church. He announced an all day meeting at Pleasant Grove Easter Sunday and hope many from here attend.

The declaimers enjoyed practice at Star Friday night. They were accompanied by Miss Lois Keese and a number of parents. All enjoyed the declamations of the Star pupils, as well as those of our pupils.

Those who visited in the J. M. Geeslin home Sunday were Mrs. Tom Davis and daughter, Miss Margaret, and their friends from Hamilton and Mrs. Smith of Evant.

Miss Luckie visited her sisters, Misses Jewel and Bertha, at Eola last week end. They went to Abilene Sunday.

Miss Lucile Welch was a judge in the declamation contest at Mount Olive Friday night. Miss Mary Bowles and Miss Featherston were the other judges.

Prof. Cooke, Misses Valentine and Wilcox of Mount Olive visited in the Blackwell home last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Geeslin received the pleasing news that their son, Bertram, had written the best theme in the freshman class and had received honorable mention of it in Howard Payne college. He also plays in the band.

Miss Keese visited in a neighboring county Sunday and learned they were not taking so much interest in Interscholastic League work. She, as well as all of us, are proud of the interest our school is taking. She has charge of declamations, one act plays and the spelling. Miss Luckie is going nicely with the senior and junior glee clubs for the contests, while Prof. Womack and Prof. Kerby are coaching athletics.

Thos. Atchison's mother and sister of Ralls are visiting here.

Ray Knight and family of Westbrook are visiting relatives and friends.

Miss Eulabel Chappell visited her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Head, the first of the week. Miss Oleta Knight visited Eulabel Chappell Friday night.

We are glad to report Mrs. W. L. Eddy improving, after a serious attack of heart trouble.

Mullin teachers and pupils entertained with three short plays here Thursday night. A small sum was charged which netted the P. T. A. about $9.00. We enjoyed these plays very much and assure Mullin they have good talent and invite them back.

Prof. Richardson and his Indian Gap orchestra furnished music.

Walters Hester of Goldthwaite visited Miss Keese in the Oglesby home Friday evening.

PLEASANT GROVE

Bro. Kirby filled his regular appointment here Sunday morning, but owing to the cold weather he did not preach Sunday night.

Mrs. Ira Crawford and Miss Charline Bryan were improving from the flu at last report.

Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Berry spent a few hours in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hurdle one night last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Moreland sat until bed time with Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Miller Sunday night.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Kirby and family of Big Valley and Gordon Toliver of Brownwood spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hodges.

Bill Virden spent Saturday night with his sister, Mrs. Lee Benningfield.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Z. Berry and daughter spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Walker Berry.

Mrs. Bill Virden and children visited her mother, Mrs. Ike Collier, of Plainview Saturday night.

Levi Berry happened to the misfortune of getting his nose knocked out of place while boxing one day this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cornelius of Comanche, attended the funeral of her little nephew, Herbert Clark Miller, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Berry and children spent a few hours with Mr. and Mrs. M. C. Morris Saturday night.

Grandmother Covington has been sick for the past week.

F. H. Watson and daughters of West Texas visited his sister, Mrs. Walker Berry, one day last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Moreland spent a few hours visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Jeffery Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Berry visited their daughter, Mrs. Jewel Oneal, at Molline Friday.

Mrs. Lola Kelly and children spent last week visiting Joe Kelly and family at Brownwood.

Miss Ann Oden transacted business in Goldthwaite Monday morning.

Mrs. O. Z. Berry spent one evening the first of the week with Mrs. Tackett.

Principal Hollis Blackwell is busy getting the school boys ready for the county meet.

Mrs. Rob Ross of Goldthwaite visited her sister, Mrs. Walker Berry, one day last week.

Ernest Benningfield and son, Sterling, of Mount Olive had business in this community this week.

Fred Stanford has been cutting wood for Melvin Crawford this week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Berry and family sat until bed time with Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Warren Saturday night.

Dean Hall was taken to the doctor Sunday morning.

Mrs. Alvis Irvin and children were shopping in Goldthwaite Wednesday.

Troy Newton Berry visited Miss Bertha Berry Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Perry and children transacted business in town Saturday afternoon.

We are hoping before the weather clears up, we get a good rain.

Remember Sunday night is League night. Let's every one be present. SMILES
