ART AND CIVIC CLUB

Thursday afternoon, Sept. 20, the Art and Civic club met in the home of Mrs. Harry Allen for the first meeting of the year. The subject of study for the year is "Notable Women in History."

In looking over the business for the coming months the club decided to add to its annual flower sale, the sale of all kinds of nursery stock. So if you plan to buy any kind of evergreens, bulbs, rose bushes or orchard trees, buy through the Art and Civic club. This is the pioneer club of Mills county and needs no introduction, as everyone is familiar with the good works of this organization.

If you want the best results from your plants put them out in November.

The club is happy to be back at work again and everyone present enjoyed the program in Mrs. Allen's home. A lovely and delicious refreshment plate was served to the club members and the one associate guest, Mrs. Haynes Harrison. REPORTER

Methodist Notes

Our last quarterly conference for this year will be held at the church next Monday evening. This is the most important conference of the year. At this time the officers for the church will be elected for the coming year. Much of the success that is to be attained the next year may depend upon the selections that are made at this meeting. It, therefore, behooves all the official members to be present.

At last Sunday services we had at both the morning and evening hour among the best audiences of the conference year. This is one of the things of which the church should be proud and all should make an honest effort to keep it up. It is said by those who are in a position to know, that while the Goldthwaite Methodist church, in point of membership, is far below many others in the Llano district, still the attendance at the church services and at Sunday school exceed, in most instances, the larger churches of the district. This is a record that has been kept up for some years, and one of which the church has been justly proud. Notwithstanding this fact, however, this could be much improved, if those who really ought to attend would make an effort to be present at each service. Let us see to it that all who can possibly do so be present at every service.

This is the season of the year when the Sunday school work is to be planned for the incoming year. The officers and teachers are to be elected by the school itself, and the superintendent of the general school is to be elected by the quarterly conference. Possibly no more important work is to be done than this. The future of our youths is in a great measure dependent upon the work that is done now. It is needless to say that the future of the church is to be typed by this work. It is to be presumed that none of us will become indifferent to a work of so great importance.

During the entire history of organized churches there has been a serious question as to what disposition to make of the superannuated preachers. By this term is meant preachers who from age or physical infirmity have been retired from permanent work. In case of superannuated horses mankind has known just what to do: The animal was either taken out and shot, or turned out on the commons to die. This latter practice has been tried upon the superannuated preachers with some limitations surrounding the plan, so as not to make their outgo from the walks of men too precipitous. But it remains for a thoroughgoing Texan, a business man, a relation, if you please, to carry into effect the most successful and expeditious means of accomplishing the end sought. If the daily papers are to be trusted for the fact we are most surely on the road to the end of a very perplexing problem; a problem that the wisest minds of the combined intellects of all the churches has not yet discovered. It is very simple. The landlord, referred to, simply went out to collect his rent. Falling to get the cash upon the barrelhead, he is alleged to have shot the old preacher down in his tracks. It seemed not to have been effective so far as the collection was concerned, but as Sir Walter Raleigh was said to have remarked when he examined the ax that separated him from his head, "It is a severe remedy, but very effective."

Come to church Sunday.

ALLOTMENT COMMITTEE

The cotton allotment committee will be in session Monday, Oct. 1, in commissioners court room. All producers desiring to file protest on allotments will meet the committee on above date.

ALLOTMENT COMMITTEE

Commissioners Appoint Judge

Commissioners court held a special session last Saturday, at which time the resignation of John L. Patterson as county judge was accepted and Judge R. J. Gerald was appointed to fill out the unexpired term.

Judge Gerald, who has been assisting in the office for several weeks, at once entered upon the duties of the office.

Judge Patterson was familiar with the duties of the office, having assisted his father, the late Judge L. E. Patterson, in the work. He agreed to act as judge until time for his school to open in Haskell county, which would enable the commissioners to appoint the nominee for the office, which was done. Judge Gerald will serve under this special appointment until he is elected in November.

The court, in its session Saturday, approved Judge Gerald's official bond and Mr. Patterson turned over the affairs of the office to him.

EAGLES VS. INDIANS

Last Friday afternoon the Lometa Hornets beat the Goldthwaite Eagles by a score of 7-0. The Eagles looked punk in the game. Most of the players were new, but the old players didn't do much better than the new ones. Todd played a pretty good game and the Lometa players found it a hard job to stop those line plunges of his.

The Eagles are going to have to develop a good center. They lost a good many yards because of bad passes from the center. The team looked and played better in the last half of the game. Maybe it was the talking the coach gave them.

This afternoon the Eagles will journey to Comanche to have a try at the Comanche Indians. Coach Cloninger says the team is in much better shape this week than it was last week. They are going to have to be in good shape when they meet the Indians this afternoon.

During the week some new men have been added to the team. Son Campbell, a letterman started coming out this week and will probably be in the starting line up. Voyd Lee Doggett, the 105-lb. hunk of dynamite will also be in the starting line-up this week. He's little, but his plenty fast and plays like a veteran.

The probable starting line-up will be: Ends, Yarborough and Coffman; tackles, Lucas and Jones; guards, L. Doggett and Johnson; center, Elwayne Doggett; quarterback, Todd; fullback, McDermott; halfbacks, Ford and Rudd.

Let's go to Comanche and see the game. Boost your team. Beat Comanche.

A FATAL SHOT

Winfred Duren, the 18-year-old son of former Commissioner E. A. Duren of Pompey Mountain community, died about noon Wednesday from a gunshot wound through his left breast. The shot was fired about 9 o'clock in the morning and a neighbor soon afterwards discovered him while he was yet alive. The family was notified and his father hurried him to a hospital in Brownwood, but his life could not be saved. The shot that caused his death was from a small caliber automatic and passed entirely through his body and into a live oak tree against which he was seated.

A love affair is said to have been the cause of the act.

MRS. SCOBY HONORED

Last Friday afternoon Mrs. A. E. Scoby, a recent bride, was complimented with a miscellaneous shower by Mrs. Flora Jackson and Miss Leona Pass at the home of Mrs. Jackson.

When the guests had assembled, Mrs. Scoby, upon request charmingly told us something of her courtship and marriage. Mrs. Jackson then remarked "that she believed we were going to have a shower," and immediately an umbrella was raised from which small packages fell upon the bride and the "shower" ended with a box of gifts for Mrs. Scoby.

After the gifts were opened and viewed by all, a refreshment plate of delicious cake and punch was served.

Those enjoying the occasion with the honoree were: Meses Mollie Horton, Jim Cockrum, Sallie Rudd, E. L. Pass, Ed Gilliam, Hardy Bradley, Laura Sullivan, E. B. Anderson, R. L. Armstrong; Misses Ollie Lep May, Lois Skaggs, Gertrude Frye, Emma Harrison, Georgia Frizzell, Vera Horton; Little Sonny Gilliam and the hostesses.

Especially did the members of the Fidells class, of which Mrs. Scoby was a member, enjoy the occasion as it was their first pleasurable opportunity of being with their teacher, Mrs. Jackson, since her resignation early in the summer. ONE PRESENT

BUSINESS IS GOOD

It is generally conceded that business has greatly improved in most every line since the opening of the fall season and the beginning of cotton picking. The merchants in Goldthwaite are doing good business and very little complaint is heard about poor collections. It is a fact that most everybody in this county or in this trade territory will pay their debts if they have money and the government program of buying cattle and sheep, paying rental on cotton acreage and the other government plans for helping the people have made conditions as good here as they could be expected.

The main thing in the way now is dry weather. A good rain right away would make fall plowing and sowing possible, as well as fall gardens and this would all help.

Cattle Buying About Over

The county's quota of 6053 drouth relief purchase of cattle has been filled and buying will end Saturday, unless an additional quota is received.

The sheep quota for the county is 17,000 and buying is now under way.

One requirement will be in regard to the purchase and slaughter of sheep that all pelts must be retained by the producer thirty days and must be in good marketable condition when presented for payment.

No order has yet been received for buying goats, but the order will likely be received in the very near future.

ANOTHER SPECIAL SESSION

Former Governor James E. Ferguson indicated Wednesday that another special session of the legislature might be called soon.

In an interview, at which Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson was present, Ferguson said relief funds appropriated by the extraordinary session just ended would be insufficient to care for needs past October.

"Maybe if members of the legislature would serve without pay there might be a special session later," he said. "At least we can consider the matter."

Later he stated his reference to serving without pay was jocular. Throughout the interview Ferguson spoke generally in positive terms about another special session, although he did not make the flat statement another one would be called.

In answer to a question as to "when the next extraordinary session would be called," he said, "that will depend on the reaction members of the legislature get when they return home."

ROLLS OPEN

Notification has just been received by the local relief office that they are to receive applications for CCC camps beginning Tuesday, September 25, and shall continue to take applications until September 29.

Young men between the ages of eighteen and twenty-five years of age who will agree to send $25 per month out of their monthly wages to their dependent families, and whose families are either on relief rolls or in needy circumstances are eligible to make application.

Mills county's quota for this enrollment is four. Those young men who are interested should call at the relief office at once and make their application.

TEXAS CENTENNIAL

Texans, in discussing plans for the celebrations of the Texas Centennial in 1936, can relate that Sam Houston was the first President of the Republic of Texas to be elected by popular choice of the people. He was inaugurated on October 22, 1836, succeeding David G. Burnet, who had been chosen by the convention of colonists, who had declared their independence from Mexico and created their own Republic on March 2 of the same year.

The independence of Texas was recognized on the first anniversary of the declaration and this date, March 2, 1837, also was an anniversary of Sam Houston's birth.

CHANGE IN RELIEF MANAGEMENT

The state board of control took over the helm of relief work in Texas Tuesday.

Notified that the governor had signed the bill placing responsibility for the administration upon its members, the board immediately called upon the state bond commission to issue the first million dollars of the bond money authorized under the bill.

A Good Market

Cotton has been selling this week around 13 cents per pound and in some cases at a slightly higher price.

The county agent received cotton certificates last Saturday and has been delivering them to those for whom they are issued. These certificates are required under the Bankhead law, in order to sell the cotton. Producers who have more cotton than is allowed under the apportionment to them can buy certificates from other farmers who have not produced their apportionment and the price is a matter of private contract, although it is generally estimated at about 4 cents per pound. Where certificates are not presented the grower must pay a tax of $5.67 per 100.

Much of the law is not thoroughly understood by the general public, but the county agent and all cotton buyers are glad to explain the details to those who have interest in the matter.

PRE-NUPTIAL PARTY

Having announced her engagement and marriage date for Oct. 14, Miss Mozelle Tamplin, bride-elect of Mr. Clell W. Reed, was honored with a surprise miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. J. L. Martin Wednesday afternoon. Joint hostesses were Mesdames J. Wellington Taylor, J. Isham Green and A. H. Riley.

The hues of silver and gold were combined with a wedding bell theme in appointing the party. The home was gay with its adornment of golden field flowers, arranged in a natural effect in floor baskets and placed at vantage points about the entertaining rooms. Silver bowls added emphasis to the decorations.

Upon the arrival of the honoree, Mrs. J. L. Martin, Jr., gave a toast "To The Bride," and a bridal contest was enjoyed. Miss Tamplin was then directed to the dining table, which was centered with a huge silver and gold wedding bell. She was asked to ring the Tamplin-Reed wedding bells by pulling the golden rope, which held the bell intact. When the cord was pulled the bell was lifted, displaying many neatly wrapped packages. She was then invited into an adjoining room, where other packages, many in number, were presented to her.

A dainty refreshment of orange sherbert and individual angel food squares iced in gold was served. Miniature wedding bells in the party has made appropriate favors.—McCamey News.

Mr. Reed was reared in Mills county and has many friends here who extend congratulations and good wishes.

INJURED ONES IMPROVING

Chas. Frizzell and Hulon Fletcher, who were badly injured in the automobile wreck near Waco two weeks ago, are able to be up and about, although still suffering somewhat from the injuries. It is hoped they will be sufficiently recovered to return to their business in the next few days—possibly next week.

Miss Frances Page was brought home from the hospital last Friday and is reported to be improving nicely, although still confined to her room.

William Yarborough and Miss Lucile Bledsoe had so far recovered as to be able to enter college several days ago.

STUDENTS TO COLLEGE

Quite a few Mills county young people are attending college this fall. A list was given last week and several additional names have been reported.

Will Yarborough left Saturday for Austin to resume his studies in the state university.

Walter Glenn Saylor left the first of the week for Austin to re-enter the university.

Alvin Caraway has gone to Stephenville to enter John Tarleton college.

Highway Work Brings Payroll

The highway work in this county has put a considerable amount of money in circulation for labor and material. According to figures furnished the Eagle the total so far paid out here is between $13,000 and $14,000. This money has been paid out by the contractors and comes from the highway department. L. J. Miles Co. and the Monarch Engineering Co. are the principal contractors handling the work in the county. According to the figures given the Eagle 121 men were employed in July and 220 were employed in August. This data was taken from the records of Resident Engineer Burtner.

These figures do not include the amount paid out for labor on these highways during September, which will add quite a considerable sum to the total.

WEAVING A WEB

Authorities in New York, assisted by federal officers and detectives, have found a strong case of kidnaping around Bruno Richard Hauptmann, an unemployed carpenter of the Bronx, in whose garage was found approximately $14,000 of the $50,000 ransom money paid by Col. Chas. Lindbergh for the recovery of his baby son, who was stolen from his crib two and a half years ago and murdered, notwithstanding the ransom money was promptly paid as demanded and the grief-stricken mother published appeals to the kidnappers to treat the baby kindly. Hauptmann has been indicted by the Bronx county grand jury on a charge of extortion and investigations are still going on.

The kidnapers and murderers of the Lindbergh baby were sought in every civilized country in the world and the best minds among law enforcement officers in our own country have been employed in the search.

The first developments in the case against Hauptmann began when he offered a gold certificate at a filling station in payment for gas. The bill proved to be one of those listed as a part of the ransom money and a search of the garage at the man's home revealed the hiding place of a large amount of the money paid in the hope of recovering the baby, who had been murdered before the money was paid or demanded.

There is no doubt that several persons were involved in the crime, but officers express confidence that they have one of the leaders in the kidnaping and murder, if not in reality the master mind.

All civilization awaits with unabated interest the developments in the case and swift and terrible punishment will be demanded when the crime is finally fastened on the inhuman brute who committed it.

MINISTER INJURED

Rev. J. W. Kelley fell while walking in a pasture at the J. C. Darroch ranch, in Big Valley community, Monday evening, and broke his left arm just below the shoulder. He was at once carried to the hospital in Brownwood, where the broken arm was X-rayed, and given proper attention. He has since remained in the hospital at that place, but it was expected he could be brought home yesterday afternoon. He has not suffered greatly from the injury, owing largely to having been given such prompt attention.

There was Sunday school and church Sunday morning. Brother Homer Starnes from Brownwood preached. He also preached Sunday night. He will be back next fourth Saturday night and Sunday. The church called him for their pastor and he is to let them know the fourth Sunday.

Sunday was set to elect the officers and teachers for the Sunday school.

This church, as well as others, should be represented at Trigger Mountain Saturday and Sunday at the fifth Sunday meeting.

The sheep killing was at J. F. Davis' Tuesday. I guess there will be lots of sleep-lined coats, after all the sheep are killed, and I expect they will be high priced. If we didn't get anything for the sheep and hides.

Bro. Homer Starnes dined at noon Sunday in the Cooke home. He ate supper in the Roberts home.

W. A. Daniel and family, Ira Dewbre and wife enjoyed ice cream in the Dewbre home Saturday night.

Ben Davis and family helped Mr. Circle to finish picking cotton last week.

Herbert and Horace Cooke and Fred McClary joined Shirley Nickols in town Thursday night and they played croquet on R. E. Clements' croquet ground.

J. T. Robertson and Harvey Dunkle had business in town Saturday morning.

D. Dickie from Henryetta, Oklahoma, visited his friends he hadn't seen for years last week. He visited in W. A. Cooke's and J. M. Traylor's homes. He also went to Mullin to see other old time friends.

Webster Mitchell and wife and Dial Rainey and family spent Saturday night and Sunday in J. C. Stark's home.

Some from here went to Center Point to Mr. Hill's to a party and some went to Louie Ponder's in Rabbit Ridge to a dance Saturday night.

Sunday afternoon August Kauh and wife from town and Marvin Spinks and family from Rabbit Ridge, W. A. Cooke and Herbert, Fred McClary and Mrs. Glenn and Mrs. Eula Nickols visited in the J. C. Stark home.

Mmes. Nickols and Roberts and children from town spent Monday afternoon in the Nickols home.

Those who enjoyed cream in the Ellis home Monday night were Mrs. Underwood, Lucile Click from across the river, Ed Hufstutler and family, Richard Sowers and wife, Landy Ellis and wife, Fred McClary, Glenn Nickols and wife, Mrs. Eula Nickols and Shirley and Collier Ballard. This was the first time Mr. Ballard has been with the bunch in quite awhile, but he hasn't forgotten how to eat ice cream. He seemed just a little blue at first, but he got better along at the last. They really missed his two-gallon freezer, but it was across the river and he says he is going to bring it home soon.

Ed Hufstutler and family visited lots of their friends and kin-folks in San Saba county Sunday. They dined with J. T. Oliver and family.

J. Frank Davis and wife and Joe Davis and family dined in the J. C. Stark home Sunday. We welcome the Massy family from Ridge into our community. They are living on the Weather-by farm.

Duke Clements sheared his goats on the Nickols farm Monday morning. Glenn and James helped him.

Hillard Dyches and family from Breckenridge spent Sunday in the J. T. Robertson home. They also visited in Woody Traylor's home.

F. W. Chadwick and family spent Sunday with M. R. Circle and family.

Lola Dewbre visited her brother, Ira Dewbre, and wife Sunday.

Miss Vera Fry, who is teaching in the Big Valley school is doing lighthousekeeping in the W. A. Daniel home. We welcome Miss Fry into our community. Miss Leona Pass from town brought Miss Fry out Sunday morning.

J. T. Robertson and wife and Mrs. Harvey Dunkle spent last Wednesday in Walter Robertson's home at Center City.

Mrs. Eula Nickols visited in L. B. Walters' home in town last Tuesday.

Mrs. Lula Gatlin and Miss Love and Miss Mary Bowles from town made a visit to the Gatlin farm Sunday afternoon. They

Mrs. Glenn Nickols took care of Mrs. Bob Steen Saturday, while Mr. Steen worked. Mrs. Steen was sick. We are glad to know she is better.

Louie Kemp Davis spent Saturday night with Haskell Gatlin in Rabbit Ridge.

Mrs. Landy Ellis and Richard Sowers spent Sunday in San Saba county in the Johnson home.

Ollie Strickland from Hamilton spent Wednesday night with John Roberts and wife.

Mrs. Eula Nickols visited in L. B. Walters', R. E. Clements' and Dwight Nickols homes one day last week.

Friday night Louie Ponder from Rabbit Ridge, Glenn Nickols and wife, Fred McClary, Jas. Nickols and mother sat until bed time in the R. C. Webb home.

Horace Cooke's school began last Monday at Center City. He seemed proud to get to teaching. He doesn't like housekeeping and picking cotton so well.

Miss Nellie D. Cooke's school began Monday at Harmony in Rannels county. We wish her success in her school work.

Bro. Collier from Ratler attended church Sunday morning. Claud Laird and Ben Davis and boys went to the bayou fishing Saturday night. I haven't heard any fish story, so can't say what kind of luck they had this time.

Texas Lady Tells How Black-Draught Laxative Helps All Her Family

Here's how Black-Draught fills the needs of a family laxative in the home of Mrs. J. S. Stoker, Fort Worth, Texas: "The grown-ups in my family," she writes, "have always taken powdered Theodor's Black-Draught for biliousness, headaches and other ailments (due to constipation) and found it a reliable remedy. I was very pleased when I saw Syrup of Black-Draught advertised. I bought it and gave it to my little daughters, ages 6 and 4. They needed something to cleanse their systems and Syrup of Black-Draught acted well. . . . Your druggist sells this reliable laxative in both forms. "Children like the Syrup."

Cotton picking will soon be over and school will open Monday, October 1.

Mr. and Mrs. R.V. Leverett and son, Bobbie, visited in the Spinks home Sunday.

The young folks enjoyed a nice party in the Hill home Saturday night. There were several out of this community there. We always like to see other young folk come and enjoy themselves.

Mrs. Carl Perry has been ill. Her mother is staying with her. We surely hope she can soon be up again. She has a serious throat trouble.

Miss Ruby Brooks spent last Wednesday night with Julia Dee Fallon.

A most delightful party was held in the Allen home Wednesday night. A fine group of young folks were present. Mr. and Mrs. Fred Davis and Mrs. Ray Davis chaperoned the young folks. After having played several games the crowd departed.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hammond and family went to see Mrs. Kate Shelton Sunday.

Albert and Woodrow Spinks spent Saturday night with their sister, Mrs. R. V. Leverett, of Lake Merritt.

Mr. and Mrs. White of Brownwood visited in the Perry home Sunday. We are always glad to see them, as they lived here several years ago.

Miss Faye Ruth Robbins spent Sunday with Miss Theilma Horton.

Miss Merlene Stark visited Miss Anna Beth Davis Sunday. J. T. Stark and Donald Ronnie called in the Ray Davis home Sunday morning.

Willard Davis visited his aunt Sunday, Mrs. Emil Steinmann.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Williams and son visited in the Bob Martin home Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Hammonds and family made a call in the Shelton home Thursday.

Bro. Long is doing nicely at last report.

Dallas Newman from Stephenville spent the week end at home.

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Davis and family of near Mullin enjoyed Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Davis.

Miss Anna Beth Davis visited with Misses Evelyn and Doris Robbins last Friday.

Sunday School Notes
Sunday school was well attended Sunday. There were several young boys out. We like to see them come. Help your community by coming to Sunday school.

Next Sunday the subject will be "God in Hebrew history." The report of the Sunday school is:

Opening song No. 95.
Prayer—Mr. Horton.
Officers and teachers present, 4; absent, 3.

Pupils present, 30; visitors none; verses recited, 30; chapters read 356; daily Bible readings, 3; collection, 26c.

Next Sunday will end the contest in class two. It is rather hard to see who will win. Misses Theilma Horton and Lucille Taylor are ahead. The present will be given next Sunday.

B. Y. P. U. was well attended. The program was fine. The young folks are taking a lot of interest in the organization.

The subject for next Sunday night will be "The authority of Christ in the church."
Leader—Anna Beth Davis.
The relation of the church—Evelyn Robbins.

The relation of the Christian to the church—Doris Newman
The mission of the church in the world—Curtis Taylor.

The authority of Christ recognized by the members of the church—Joe Spinks.

The authority of Christ and the unity of the church—Lyndon Davis.

The authority of church and the spirituality of the church
Luther Hugh Soules visited with Samuel Carroll Sunday.

The Hill sisters of Chappell Hill spent Saturday night with Miss Besse Hutchings.

Gerald Davis spent Sunday with Albert Horton. Oran Stark spent Sunday with them, too.

Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Wesson and family spent Sunday with Mrs. Julia Taylor.

We were deeply grieved when we heard that Miss Lessie Shelton would have to be taken to the hospital at Brownwood Sunday night. We hope for her a speedy recovery.

Mr. and Mrs. James D. Fallon and daughter, Julia Dee, enjoyed the afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Robbins and family. Jimmie Frank Kely spent the week end with Dallas Newman. Mr. and Mrs. Herman Cox and son, J. E., and Miss Opal Cox of South Bennett called on Mrs. Julia Taylor Friday. Mr. and Mrs. T. T. Brooks and daughter, Ruby, visited in the Fallon home Wednesday.

The 4-H Club met last Friday night. We met for the purpose of having a play. We intend to start it when school begins. The next time we meet will be Oct. 3.

This boy is going to be Near-sighted

THE above picture illustrates one of the very common causes of nearsightedness . . . one of the reasons why twenty children in every one hundred have defective vision today. What is happening in this picture may be happening in your own home . . . damaging the eyes of your children. The boy is reading in poor light . . . and in order to see the printed words, without effort, he has brought his eyes much too close to the book. Constant reading in this position will eventually cause nearsightedness.

If your boy holds a book less than 14 inches from his eyes, he needs more light, or glasses, or perhaps both. Remedy the lighting in your home by providing each member of the family with his own reading lamp . . . equipped with at least one 100-watt lamp, two 60's or three 40's, according to the number of sockets. Then see that these lamps are properly shaded to eliminate glare or shadows. We will gladly help you correct the lighting in your home.

STYLES IN NEW YORK

British Influence Marks Smart Fall Shoes

That neat, trim, tailored British influence noted throughout the fall mode finds a decidedly smart interpretation this season in footwear not only for sports and country, where it has long been felt, but in shoes for all occasions. Outstanding among these new British stylings are the English classics, including a new sturdy walking shoe in brown calfskin designed in the manner of the English town shoe, and very smart with the new tweedy fall suit and top coat. Other new stylings featured for daywear, including town and country, are high-throated oxfords in suede and in combinations of suede and calfskin with discreet stitching trims and scuffless Cuban heels. For dressier occasions including restaurant and late afternoon wear is another high style number—a rather high-throated single-tee steeple, carried out in suede in either black or brown with a collar of patent leather matching a scuffless patent heel. Black and a rich deep brown are the leading shoe colors throughout the collection, which includes evening stylings, particularly in silver kid slippers and sandals of black satin with silver kid pipings.

Belts Important Among Fall Accessories

Belts, which are decidedly important in the fall mode, are being featured in New York's smartest shops in a variety of materials and designs. For the most part, they are wider and often noted in crushed versions carried out in soft leathers, suede, lacquered fabrics and in a limitless number of novelties, including fabrics combining metals. They are featured not only on sports and daytime clothes, but for evening, particularly on the tailored woolen evening frock—a decided favorite of the season. Buckles are of wood, plain and highly polished, metals, leather and composition—many in the new elongated stylings. One smart belt noted on a chic brown frock of a soft tweedy mixture of wool and rayon was carried out in a dark brown lacquered fabric featuring a Robin Hood bow and arrow buckle, and shown with a matching lacquered fabric handbag with same design. Black belts in suede and in combinations of suede and lacquered fabrics are noted in smart ensembles, these often featuring vivid composition buckles. One note also belts made entirely of plastic materials and metal mesh in supple-looking effects. In addition to buckles, there are other belt fastenings, such as large metal, wood or composition button fastenings. Some are hooked together. One smart belt called the "cruise" has a nautical leather hook. Another, the "Teardrop," has a button and hook fastening.

Neckwear Important Detail

It's the neckline treatment that determines the style importance of many a costume this season. Generally speaking, the high neckline prevails. Higher than last season and in all sorts of new ways to make it look even higher as, for example, some of the new jabots worn reversed to accentuate the height. White collars soft and rippling and with a pushed-to-the-front appearance are style favorites on the new dark frocks. They are noted in a variety of new fall fabrics including silk and crepe, satin, moire, faille, taffeta, sheer mouseline and chiffon—many in the metal threaded versions. The all-over metal fabric collar is important particularly in the various gold tones. One of the newest collars is the Molyneux collar of Medici inspiration—upstanding and turned over in the back and with a plastron or small bib front. Youthful and flattering, are the new boyish collars reminiscent of Buster Brown and Peter Pan—lying flat or slightly rounded at the neckline. One notes them in all the above mentioned fabrics. New and effective are the collar rever treatments including the cascade effects. There are new cowl treatments and broad draped collars framing the face smartly, but they are not bunched. There are cape collars and interesting variations of the sailor collar. Neckwear made of ribbon in silk and synthetics is highlighted among chic stylings—many of these in bib effects and collar treatments with bows, grosgrain, satin and velvet featured and frequently two colors combined. Bright colored corduroy and velveteen are emphasized among the sporty neckwear.

Lace Gains In Style Importance

With such couturiers as Maggy Rouff, Mainbocher and the House of Worth sponsoring lace in new and interesting versions in their collections, it is a decidedly important part this season of the evening mode. New York shops are featuring lace evening gowns—particularly black and white along with smart combinations of lace and tulle. There are new net laces featuring gold threads and some embroidered with cellulose film. The latter are particularly effective, since they reproduce in light weight something of the effect of spangled nets. Spanish laces are important, especially in various crisp versions, the latter being featured not only for evening gowns, but for smart collar and cuffs on dark frocks for dressy wear. The filmy lace veil edged with embroidery is new in the smart dressy hat mode. As to styling of lace gowns, one notes they are carried out on simple lines over slips of silks or synthetics in matching color. Many feature the square neckline accented by a jeweled clip on either side. With some an accenting note of color is introduced through soft wide ribbon belt with long sash ends.

Style Briefs

A chic way of wearing the new square scarf—now in plain and printed silks and synthetics—is the lei-like manner—a soft roll around the neck but well away from the throat. One such noted in a white rayon satin is very effective worn with black crepe dress for afternoon.

New York shops are showing lovely new hostess gowns in uncrushable transparent velvet—all in simple stylings—many with coats. Black is most important. They are featured also in vivid red and a new Lapis blue.

Soft satin in silk and synthetics is favored this season for lingerie, which is featured in tea rose and white in plain, simple styles. Alencon lace trims some of the dressier models. Most are strictly tailored.

The two-piece frock with short tunic blouse and pleated skirt is the school girl favorite. It is featured in New York shops in new soft plaid woollens with white linen or pique cuffs and collars.

Huge rings and link bracelets in composition are new and smart in the costume jewelry mode. There are strikingly new combs and clips for the smart coiffure and lovely little jeweled bands and caps that promise to take the place of the tiara of last season.

Finger-tipped jackets are featured in the daytime mode—these noted in the soft woolen and tweedy mixtures.

Lucia—the well known famous opera velvet—fashions some of the loveliest evening gowns of the season. One, in black, features the smart Mainbocher cape back.

Kept Taking Cardui Until She Got Rid of the Severe Pains

When Mrs. Ida Hege, of Edinburg, Ind., was in a painful, run-down condition, she took Cardui, with the results she describes below: "I had just been what one might say dragging around, feeling miserable and all out of sorts. I remembered how Cardui helped my aunt. I sent for six bottles of Cardui and when I had taken them, I was much better and stronger. I did not suffer so much pain. I continued taking Cardui until I had taken nine bottles. I do not have the severe pains." . . . Thousands of women testify Cardui benefits them. If it does not benefit YOU, consult a physician.

RABBIT RIDGE

Well, I haven't told the happenings in several weeks, but I have taken time to read all the letters in the Eagle and enjoy them all. I think the Eagle gets better every week.

Mount Olive, I am enjoying your letters, keep them coming. I think some of the young ladies were disappointed to learn that you were a married man.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Lowe were overjoyed to have their son, J.D., and wife with them the past week. They returned home Thursday.

Will Stark and wife spent Sunday in Big Valley with Charles Stark and family and attended Sunday school at that place.

Connie Knowles and wife spent a few days this week with her parents. He helped his father make syrup.

Mrs. Spinks and Mrs. Knowles spent Monday with Mrs. Pass and Leona in town.

Ernest Hagan and family spent Saturday night and Sunday with Earl Hale and family at Ratler. They report a fine time and caught a lot of fish.

M. L. Spinks and family spent Saturday night with Earl Davis and family at Ridge.

Mrs. A. F. McGowan returned from Arkansas Friday morning, after a few weeks' visit with her daughter at that place. She said she waded water to get to the train. Wouldn't it be fine if we could get that much rain here.

Mrs. Bohannon returned home Saturday after a few weeks' visit with her son, Dewey.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. McGowan called on Mr. and Mrs. Estep in town Saturday.

Quite a large crowd enjoyed the dance at L. W. Ponder's Saturday night.

Most of the farmers have sold their cotton and spent the money. We won't have any more money to bother us until next year.

Marvin Spinks must have a good car. Austin Cooke looked it over good and then said, "Well, you sure have a good trailer hitch on it."

Mrs. Austin Whitt spent Thursday afternoon in the Will Stark and Ernest Hagan homes.

Well, I guess it won't be long now until the Rabbit children will be hopping to school at Rock Springs. We are looking forward to having a good school this year.

Jesse Lowe took some sheep to Walton Daniel's Tuesday morning to sell.

Miss Elsie McDermott is away at school. We hope for her a successful year. CROSS EYES

Reading Fun In Store for Boys

Here's important news for the boys of America. THE AMERICAN BOY—YOUTH'S COMPANION, the nation's quality magazine for boys, has been reduced from $2.00 a year to $1.00. The three-year rate, formerly $3.50, has been reduced to $2.00.

"For a long time we have been seeking a way to reduce the cost of the American Boy to readers," states Griffith Ogdin Ellis, editor. "Recently we have effected savings that make the cut possible, and we think boys will agree that the new price is big news on the reading front. We hope boys will help us to spread the good news by telling their friends."

Along with the cut in cost, the magazine's publishers are planning a magazine that will continue to set the pace in fiction, articles and departments. The favorite characters of millions of boys will parade through THE AMERICAN BOY in new stories. Douglas Renfrew of the Royal Canadian Mounted, Hide-rack, the read and gold collie, Bonehead Jim Tierney, the detective, will give the reader many exciting hours in the months to come.

William Heyliger, whose true-to-life, gripping vocational stories have won him wide acclaim from parents and librarians, as well as the hearty approval of boys, is working on new stories. Staff writers are interviewing famous coaches and athletes and world renowned explorers, to bring boys the color and fun of sports and travel.

In short, THE AMERICAN BOY, under its new price, will continue to give boys a magazine that measures up to the best standards set by adult magazines. Send your subscription to THE AMERICAN BOY, 7430 Second Blvd., Detroit, Michigan. Enclose your name and address and the proper amount of money, and THE AMERICAN BOY will soon be headed your way, loaded with reading thrills.

Valance New Feature in Shower Curtains

AN innovation in shower curtain styles is shown here, with a valance that conceals unsightly hooks. The rayon curtain in black and white has definite style appeal both because of its unusual valance feature, and because of the texture and design of the shower curtain itself, with its black stars contrasting sharply against a white background. The fabric is water repellent.

Most all of the farmers are nearly through picking cotton.

Mrs. Jerry Davis and Christine visited Mrs. H. T. Vaughan Saturday evening.

Miss Inez Spinks of Center Point spent a few days this past week with her sister, Mrs. Will Harmon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sanderson and baby spent the week end at Molline.

Lee Ruth Graves and Jewel Vaughan spent Sunday evening with Loraine Calaway.

Frank Jenkins of Oklahoma is visiting his brother, Ed Jenkins. Claude Bramblett spent Sunday with his parents.

Mrs. Jim Hays and Mrs. J. C. Sanderson spent one day last week with Mrs. Swindell of Indian Gap.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Harmon were visitors in the J. W. Randless home Wednesday evening.

A few from here attended the party at Omer Hill's Saturday night. They all reported a good time.

Mabel Lillian Graves left Saturday for Locker, where she will teach school this winter.

CENTER CITY

We are hoping this wind will blow us a good rain before it ceases.

Sunday was Bro. Brown's day at church and was probably his last message before conference. Next Sunday the last quarterly conference will be held at this place and it was announced to be an all day affair with lunch on the grounds. Presiding Elder Lovett is expected to be present and preach at the 11 o'clock hour. Many visitors are expected to be present.

School began Monday morning with an enrollment of 77 the first day. Three others entered Tuesday and others are expected to enroll soon. The teachers and pupils all seem enthusiastic over their work and with the co-operation of the parents as heretofore, we will have another good school year. Prof. Womack has charge of the high school division, Horace Cooke has charge of the sixth and seventh grades, Miss Keesse the third, fourth and fifth and Miss Luckie is the primary teacher. Many parents and all the trustees were present for the opening Monday.

Lee Woolsey brought his two little daughters to make their home with their aunt, Mrs. Jim Mason, and attend school here.

Relatives of Bob Lucas were notified Tuesday evening that his condition was serious and he was in a hospital at Santa Anna. His brother, Bill, and nephew, Chester Head, left immediately for that place. He died about midnight and other relatives, Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Head, Mr. and Mrs. Mel Booker, Mrs. Bill Lucas, Mrs. DeArmon, Mrs. Ellis Reid and Bud Harper, left to be with the family and attended the funeral services and burial, which were held at the family home at Crews Wednesday afternoon. We have not heard the cause of his death, as the folks here did not know of the illness until they received the message. The family once lived in this community and is kindly remembered by all. Our sympathy is extended to all the relatives in this sad hour.

Mr. Tepera left Sunday for Legion, where he will receive treatment for his eyes. Alvin Harper is at that place for treatment and we are glad to report he is doing nicely and hopes to be at home soon.

We failed to state Miss Clara Blackwell and Alfred Carter are also attending school at Goldthwaite. Miss Virginia Womack also goes to Goldthwaite for her tenth grade work. Avery Lee is at Stephenville and likes the work fine.

Mrs. J. Everett Evans and daughter, Miss Gladys, visited Mrs. Walter Doggett at Goldthwaite Monday.

MOUNT OLIVE

Saturday and Sunday the Primitives had church. Elder Nathan Lester preached, and was assisted by visiting Elders Venable and McKinsey.

It is reported Mount Olive school will start Monday, but possibly it will be put off another week, due to cotton not being picked out yet.

Miss Eva Koen left last week for Lometa, where she will attend high school.

Alpheus Roberts and family of Breckenridge were in this community on business and meeting friends last week end.

Houston Balentine, Ira Kerby and Frank Poer played croquet at Melrose Hodges Sunday evening. Due to skillful and scientific playing and not being watched closely, Frank won in every game.

The farmers here received their allotment tags this week. The best I am able to find out some of the farmers went straight up and have not returned to earth yet. But they didn't go to heaven when they went up, judging from their language. So it seems that Bro. Bankhead does not have a friend at Mount Olive. Personally, I think Bro. Bankhead is very generous. He gave me a two-bale allotment and I will make only one bale.

Charles Roberts came in last week from Pampa, where he had been gainfully employed. He stayed here only a day or two and then left for California. He plans to enter a special school of optometry in that state. We predict that he will do well in this line of work as he is young and has a good college education upon which to base his work. We are wishing you well, Charles.

Miss Ruby Balentine spent the evening Sunday with Miss Mary B. Hodges.

L. B. Porter and family of Goldthwaite came to Mount Olive to their farm Sunday.

Frank Poer went to town Monday for some lumber for his garage. He has torn down and remodelled his old garage, and now has a first class garage and a second-hand Chevrolet to put in it.

And there was the lady who bought a new V8. She was very proud of her new possession. She could do nothing all day long but talk and think V8. So this lady goes into a shoe store to purchase a pair of shoes. The clerk asks her what width and size. And lo and behold! Her answer was "V8's". Being greatly embarrassed the lady promptly left the store and the astonished clerk made out a special order for a lady's shoe of that size.

Mann and Jesse Roberts were selling potatoes in the community this week. They report their sweet potato crop very light this year.

I was interviewing a girl one day this week with hopes of learning something for publication. I was asking her a few questions, when suddenly she said, "Say, you remind me of the Liberty Bell." I started to ask her why, but on second thought I ended the interview. I knew the condition of the liberty bell.

Now I am at war with the girls again. I have tried to interview several with similar results. I ask them why, when, how, where, etc., and about the only answer I get from the sweet young things is, "Oh, yeah!" So clever and original.

Firman Crawford went somewhere Sunday and brought home some cotton pickers I failed to learn who they were.

Leslie Kerby went to Goldthwaite Sunday. He plans to get a job with the highway crew. We hope he gets on.

I wish to thank you, Rock Springs, South Bennett and Caradan for your favorable comment and encouragement. I certainly appreciate it all. To those who do not know, it takes a little time and effort to report community news, but if it meets with the readers' approval, then the writer feels rewarded. It seems though, that I find less news to report than any other writer. Caradan, you must report regularly, as we always look for your letters, and you sometimes, are not present.

With this issue this writer must resign as reporter of this community, due to moving away. I could tell you where I am moving and why, but I cannot tell too much. I might reveal my identity. This seems an appropriate time to quit, while my

SOUTH BENNETT

There was a fairly good crowd at Sunday school Sunday, but we are expecting a larger crowd next Sunday. Let's all be sure and be there.

A welnie roast was enjoyed Monday night at the Walter Simpson tank. A good time was reported and I am sure those who missed this occasion missed a real good time.

School opened Monday, altho I haven't learned how many were enrolled. We are expecting a real good school this year and are sure that we will have it. Mrs. Claud Smith and Miss Rose Miller are the teachers.

Several met at the school house Thursday afternoon and cleaned the school house, fixed the windows and cleaned the school grounds, all of which certainly improves the looks. A few went back Friday afternoon and worked some more.

Miss Rose Miller is lighthouse-keeping at the Walter Simpson home. We are glad to have her in our midst.

Mr. and Mrs. J. H. English of Fort Worth spent Friday night and Saturday with their daughter, Mrs. M. L. Casbeer, and family. While here they, with Mrs. Casbeer, visited in the J. S. Kuykendall home and the J. M. Stacy home.

Travis Griffin took Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Jones and children to Kerr county for a visit with their son, who is in the hospital. They went Saturday and remained until Sunday night.

Miss Evelyn Covington visited her sister, Mrs. Clyde Featherston, Friday and Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Elton Horton and children spent Sunday with her mother, Mrs. J. M. Stacy, and family. They brought Valeria Stacy home, who spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. Horton at Caradan.

Those visiting B. R. Casbeer and wife Sunday were: J. T. Morris and family, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Blackburn and daughter, R. L. Casbeer and Elton Horton and family. Mrs. John Casbeer is spending the week in the B. R. Casbeer home.

Will Horton visited in the Huffman home Sunday.

Mrs. Walter Jones of Goldthwaite spent a few days the first of the week with her sister, Mrs. B. R. Casbeer.

Ray Blackburn and family visited R. G. Blackburn and wife awhile Sunday afternoon. M. L. Casbeer and family sat until bed time with Mr. and Mrs. Blackburn Sunday night.

Mrs. William Biddle of Center City visited her sister, Mrs. Dan Covington, one day last week.

I don't know much news this week, but will try to do better next week. ROSEBUD reputation is up as a writer. So bidding adieu to my readers, I shall look forward each week to reading the various community letters. Keep them coming.

EBONY

E. L. Green of Brownwood preached for us Sunday morning and at night. Bro. Green will now devote full time to the Melwood Avenue Church of Christ in Brownwood and will not be with us again soon. Bro. Green endeared himself very much to those who knew him while working with us.

The opening of school was put off until next Monday. The cotton wasn't quite out.

Mr. and Mrs. P. R. Reid spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Billie McNurlen.

Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Clements and children, Etta and Ruth, visited Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Dwyer Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. Mac Chestnut of Vernon is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. M. Haynes.

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Philen and children attended church at Indian Creek Sunday.

The Indian Creek school bus is coming down to the Ebony school house each morning now to take all the children above the eighth grade to Indian Creek school.

R. M. Haynes and E. O. Dwyer went to Goldthwaite Saturday afternoon and brought out the cotton tags for this community. Ralph Wilmeth has been employed to teach in the Milburn school and began his work last Friday.

Billy Ray McNurlen is attending school at Indian Creek. Mrs. Mildred R. Roberts has returned from San Antonio, where she has been working for the past two months.

Miss Marie Wilmeth, who is teaching in Brownwood, spent Friday night and Saturday at home.

Miss Odene Russell is staying at the Billie McNurlen home and attending school at Indian Creek.

Avis McDearmon visited Ruth Mashburn Sunday.

Bob Egger attended the Mills county singing convention at Pompey last Sunday. He reports that he never attended one that he enjoyed more.

Mr. and Mrs. Charm Whittenburg visited the P. R. Reids Monday night.

Our quota of cattle is to go to Goldthwaite today.

Herman Glenn Egger will stay with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Egger, and attend the school here this year.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Caywer and little Edna Beth left Thursday of last week for Valley Springs to be ready for the opening of school there.

Logan Patterson of Brownwood attended church here Sunday.

With cotton tags and cattle quotas and court proceedings, most of our citizens have had business in Goldthwaite this week.

Sampler Pattern In Dinnerware

A new pattern in American dinnerware, perfectly suited to early American furniture, and especially to maple which is now so highly favored, is the Cross Stitch. In sampler effect, shown above. The table cloth with its open work border makes an especially suitable background for this china.

The design, which is strictly of period character, is given a modern note by its American ceramic coloring which offers a bold contrast of red and black. A point of very practical interest is that this coloring, even on the very inexpensive dinnerware, is so applied to the china that it never becomes faded or washed off.

News Notes Clipped From the Mullin Enterprise

SCHOOL OPENING PROGRAM WELL ATTENDED

The school opening program, which was held in the school auditorium on Monday evening, was a great success. Success on such occasions can be marked by the attendance of school patrons. A most excellent representation of school patrons was present.

The response was of such nature as to clearly manifest the co-operative attitude of the community toward the school. The general spirit of congeniality and interest was of such nature as to inspire teachers, pupils and patrons to put forth a determined effort to make this a profitable school year.

The program was of the informal type that makes everyone feel at home. The Mullin P. T. A. served refreshments to those present as they entered the auditorium. The house was called to order by Supt. Tolbert Patterson, who delivered the welcome address. Plans for the school year were outlined and the unselfish work of the teachers was pledged for this school year. Mr. Patterson urged that all interested in public education might realize that the public school system of America is the greatest business enterprise, in terms of money expended and human lives touched, that exists today.

The orchestra, under the direction of Mr. Elliott, furnished music for the occasion. Two group songs were sung by the audience. Readings were rendered by little Miss Gladys Sadler and Miss Mary Bowles of Goldthwaite.

The new teachers and other members of the faculty were introduced and each made brief interesting talks. Talks were also made by County Judge John L. Patterson, Judge-elect, R. J. Gerald, Rev. I. A. Dyches and Mrs. S. J. Casey, president of the local P. T. A.

MRS. M. A. GREENE

PASSED AWAY

The angel of death came Saturday and beckoned to her eternal home the spirit of a beloved sister of the Enterprise editor.

A telegram from Memphis Tenn., stated that Mrs. M. A. Greene of Holly Springs, Miss., died suddenly of a heart attack Saturday morning in a Memphis hospital, where she had been for the past week for treatment.

She was an untiring worker for the cause of the Master and a life-long member of the Methodist church, and loyally beloved in the Woman's Missionary society; a beloved sister and a devoted Christian mother.

May her splendid influence live on and bear fine fruit to be harvested for years to come in the lives of the loved ones she has left to reap, where she has sown with loving hands and heart.

Mrs. M. A. Greene, nee Miss Kate McAuley, has visited her sister, Mrs. R. H. Patterson, here and other places in Texas and has many friends who will keenly feel, as does the editor, the passing of this beloved one.

FORMER MILLS BOY DROWNS

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Smith received news Friday of the tragic death of their grandson, Autry Cook, age 24, who was in a CCC camp in Wyoming. Autry and several other boys were in a car accident, the car hanging over a 60-foot embankment and Mr. Cook jumped the sixty feet into the river below and drowned. The other boys clung to the car and rescuers came and saved them.

Mrs. O. E. Smith went to Big Spring to attend the funeral services. He is an only child of Mrs. Lily Cook and the late Jim Cook, who lived for years at Moline and Center City.

SCHOOL GETS NEW BUS

The Mullin school has purchased a new school bus, which was delivered the early part of the week. This new bus will make a route by way of the Sleepy Hollow, Chesser Valley and Blanket Springs road.

Temporary transportation was provided while awaiting the arrival of the new bus.

Will E. Bureson is reported on the sick list, a rheumatic sufferer.

Mrs. W. L. Clark and Mrs. J.H. Brown of Brownwood visited relatives here Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Isham of Strawn spent the week end with G. M. Fletcher and family.

Mrs. Frank Kelso and Mrs. Will Morgan of Gatesville were guests of Mrs. C. C. Hancock Sunday.

Mrs. F. E. Leineweber of Seaborn visited her mother, Mrs. E. V. Bolten, the first of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Young and Miss Emma Harvey were guests of Turner Vaughn and family Sunday.

Willard Mosier and family have been at the bedside of his father, W. W. Mosier, for several days since his relapse.

Rev. E. P. Swindall preached here Sunday morning and Sunday night to an interested audience at the Methodist church.

D. A. Hamilton and family are enjoying a nice new car, and L. W. Wigley and family are delighted over their new radio.

Mr. and Mrs. G. A. Buchanan and daughters, Misses Esther and Odessa, of San Saba visited in the home of Lehman Knowles Sunday.

W. W. Mosier suffered another attack of paralysis and is reported in a very serious condition with small chance for recovery.

G. R. Willis and family have moved to Comanche, where he will drive the Pettit bus and also teach in the Pettit school for 1934-35 term.

Mr. and Mrs. J. N. Crockett spent Friday with W. H. Wasserman and family and assisted them in papering and redecorating their home.

Rev. L. J. Vann was called again to preach at Duren for another year. He has preached in this good community and held many revival meetings.

Mrs. Cleve Warren has gone to Rosebud to visit her sister for the first time in fourteen years. Imagine the joy and pain of the meeting and parting again.

Imogene Wasserman is suffering from an infected foot, where a splinter of two months standing was removed, and the little girl is much better at this time.

Mrs. J. L. Farmer has returned to her home in this city, after a visit with her daughters, Mrs. W. W. Perkins and Mrs. D. A. Hamilton, and their families at Duren.

Mrs. Will T. Fisher, Miss Katherine Kemp and Earl Fisher visited Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Hutchings and other relatives at Graham Monday and returned home Tuesday.

I. McCurry made a business trip to San Antonio Thursday and inspected good roads in that section on the drive. The roads have been greatly improved in this section.

Little Bobby Henry fell from a swing at school Tuesday and received a broken arm below the elbow. Local physicians set the broken member and Bobby is now a good soldier.

Miss Leta Hancock has gone to Whom, where she will teach this year. She has taught for years on Coleman county and has many friends in that section as well as in Mills county.

Friends will be glad to hear that Miss Frances Ratliff is resting well since an appendicitis operation Saturday. She is doing as well as could be expected, according to the last report from the sick room.

W. G. Hancock and family moved to the Shiloh community in San Saba county, where Mr. Hancock will teach this year. He and his family will reside in a teacherage and be conveniently located to the school.

J. E. Wright, a prominent business man of McGregor, was here Tuesday looking after his ranch interests and meeting old friends. Mr. and Mrs. Wright lived here a long time ago and have many friends in this section.

Mrs. J. H. Randolph of Goldthwaite has submitted to an operation at Temple and the last report was that she was quite nervous, but her physicians thought she would soon respond and be greatly improved with rest and quiet.

MULLIN SCHOOL OPENS WITH LARGE ATTENDANCE

The Mullin school opened at 8:45 Monday morning for the 1934-35 school session. High school pupils had registered the preceding Friday and Saturday.

Supt. Tolbert Patterson announced that 85 high school pupils were registered on the opening day of school. This is an increase over the enrollment on the opening date last year.

Many of the new pupils came from neighboring schools to the high school to take work not offered in the schools of their communities.

The seventh grade registered 18 pupils and is this year located in the high school building.

The first six grades enrolled as follows on the first day: First, 17; second, 17; third, 16; fourth, 16; fifth, 19; sixth, 12.

DUREN BOY FATALLY SHOT

Winifred Duren, 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Duren, was found in his father's pasture shot Wednesday morning.

He was rushed at once to a hospital in Brownwood. A telephone message stated he died a brief time after reaching the hospital. The particulars of the accident were not available, as the young man was too seriously wounded to ever make a statement.

Sincere sympathy is extended to the parents and other members of the bereaved family.

DUREN SCHOOL OPENS

The Duren school had a number of patrons out for the opening of their school and many new pupils will start this year.

W. H. Wasserman is superintendent of this school and Miss May and Miss Katherine Duren are the assistants. The entire faculty has taught three for years and are familiar with the school and school work and we expect another good school term for this splendid community.

NEW PUPILS ATTEND MULLIN HIGH SCHOOL

The following is a list of the pupils that are enrolled today in the high school this year that are either new pupils or pupils coming from adjacent neighboring schools: Woodrow Cowart, Prairie; Maxwell, Jack and Tom Cooksey, Chesser Valley; Ralph Duren and Ben Jones, Duren; Jones Hodges, Pompey Mountain; Herman Jenkins, Prairie; Vernon and Wilson Lewis, Lake Merritt; Cleo Massey, Ridge; Alene Frances McCrea, Zephyr; Lillie and Modene Slaughter, Chesser Valley; Margaret Skipping and Mildred Skipping, Zephyr; Milton Vaughn, Lake Merritt; DeLols Wilkins, Rex Williams, Chesser Valley; Maxine Williams, Joe William, Center Point; Dale Young, Brownwood; Era and Vera King, Pompey Mountain.

MUSIC ARRANGEMENT ADDED ADVANTAGE

Music arrangement by Mr. Elliott and school will present an added advantage for pupils. In addition to the private music lessons by Walter Elliott, music teacher and orchestra leader, the new special music classes are being offered this year.

1. Rhythm Band—This class is open to all pupils in grades one to three. This class offers a wonderful opportunity for the training of the little fellows in rhythm and the fundamentals of music.

2. Harmonic Band—This class is open to pupils in grades four to eight, inclusive, and presents similar opportunities in music to the pupils of these grades.

3. Public School Music—This class is open to both high school and grammar school pupils. This will be purely a course in the rudiments of music and is of excellent cultural value as well as valuable from a technical point of view in the music field.

INTRODUCING

CARADAN

Here we are again this week with a cold norther hovering around the lengthy, but limited buildings of our city, Caradan.

Our Sunday school and B.T.S. are growing in attendance, and that is just what we want—better attendance. We now take this privilege to invite Mr. Smith and family and Mr. Cooke, teachers of Mount Olive school back with us. Each and every one in the community and all surrounding communities.

Several in our community attended church at Mount Olive Sunday.

Floyd Reynolds visited in the Reed home Sunday.

Charlie Anderson and family visited in Mrs. Shipp's home on Sunday.

Oren Reynolds and Lillian Oatis of Dallas came in Monday night for a few days' visit with home folks. Jemmie will return with them Friday. Also Mrs. Oatis little daughter, Glory, will spend a few weeks in Dallas. She is planning on taking the prize at the Doll's Parade at the State Fair.

Miss Hazel Beard has her tennis court finished and is arousing interest in the game.

Dewey Gerald and family and Frank Kerby and family visited in the Beard home and played tennis last week. Dephane also visited Miss Hazel Sunday evening.

Dewey Gerald visited in the Frank Kerby home Sunday.

Mr. Jackson and family visited Mrs. Jack Kerby and boys Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Coley Stephens and family and Mr. and Mrs. Ruth Harwell and family left Saturday for Arizona. We do not know just where they are going to make their new homes. We are wishing for them all the success and happiness that is in store for them.

Junior Oatis visited Myrtle Stewart Sunday.

Jemmie Reynolds had lunch in the Jackson home Saturday and made some pictures of the Jackson family.

Little Don and Walter Reynolds have been staying with Grandmother Anderson.

Aubry Cline and wife visited in the A. J. Cline home Sunday. Also Arthur Cline and family of Goldthwaite.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Philen drove their goats to South Texas a few weeks ago, as did R. L. Denton.

A few in our community are through picking cotton.

Miss Hazel Beard, principal of Midway school, announces that school will start Monday, Oct. 1. She is making a big day of it. There will be a nice program and several speakers in the morning and dinner on the grounds. Everyone bring a hoe and a few other tools to help clean off the school grounds and really have a house cleaning. Everyone is invited to be there. Books will also be issued Monday morning.

RATLER

Another week has gone by and no rain yet, and the northers don't last long enough. But the Lord knows best. He will send us a rain when he sees fit.

Bro. Renfro preached at Cat Claw Sunday morning and night. We didn't have any church on Sunday. Tad Sunday school Sunday morning and singing Sunday night.

Ellis Wallace and Forrest Renfro and Roy Woods went to Big Valley Tuesday evening.

Earl Hale and family visited in the Ellis Wallace home Sunday night.

William Wilcox and wife visited George Brooks and family Sunday.

Dorsey Collier and family had dinner with Mrs. B. P. Renfro Sunday.

Mrs. Earl Hale had relatives visiting from Rock Springs over the week end. I failed to learn all their names.

Little Miss Elton Ruth Spradling's mother gave her a birthday party Monday evening. The following were served ice cream and cake: Jewel Collier, Elsie Collier, Annette Renfro, Mary Beth Renfro, Wade and Patsy Sue Wallace, Elva Faye Brooks, Arlene Partridge Nita Earl Hale, Vera Maye Bell, Mrs. Ellis Wallace, Mrs. Spradling and the honoree, Elton Ruth. Mrs. Earl Hale arrived at a late hour to get her daughter and was served cream and cake.

Elton Ruth received some cute gifts and after wishing her many more happy birthdays the guests departed for home.

Joe Davis from Rock Springs spent Saturday night and Sunday with Wilson Renfro.

The following young folks visited and played 42 in the Brooks home Saturday night: Wilson, B. F. Jr., and Clifton Renfro, Cleo Boles, Ray Partridge, Floyd Kenon.

Ben Spradling and family visited in Neal over the week end. Ellis Wallace and family had supper at the Earl Hale home on Monday night.

Mount Olive, you may include the Tattler among your list of readers. I enjoy your letters very much and am wondering just who you are. I use to live over in that section of the county and I know lots of people over there and wonder if I know you.

Opening of School

School opened Monday, Sept. 24. We are all looking forward to a happy year of work with our teachers. Mr. Lawson and Mr. Hale from Big Valley, Miss Pauline Piper from Evant and Miss Vera Frye from Copperas Cove. Miss Piper and Mr. Hale were with us last year, while Miss Frye and Mr. Lawson are with us for their first year.

Last Year's Seniors

We miss the senior class of last year very much. We congratulate Goldthwaite and San Saba, for these students have enrolled in their schools. Ruth Warlick and Lovene McConal are attending at San Saba. Allene Stark, Virginia Long and Alson Peck are attending in Goldthwaite. We, the students and teachers of Big Valley wish them much success.

Boys' Basket Ball

The senior boys met in the auditorium of the school and organized their basket ball team for the season. Wayne Miller was elected captain of this team.

We are looking forward to a good year. We challenge all of the other schools in the county to come and play us!

Girls' Basket Ball

The senior girls met in the auditorium of the school Tuesday morning and organized their basket ball team for the year of 1934. Kathryn Moss was elected captain. The girls showed much enthusiasm and are looking forward to a good year. We challenge any of the neighboring schools to play us!

Sixth Grade English Club

We organized our English club Tuesday. Lacy Thompson was elected president; Cartwright, vice-president; Sally Jean Hyslop, secretary. We chose to call ourselves, "The Good English Club." We miss our former president, Gerald Peck, who is a student in Goldthwaite high school this year.

Humor

While riding to school on the bus one day, Veseva overheard Mary telling Campbell not to hold her hand. She didn't intend to hit him.

Alene, returning to school after a day's absence asked Virginia Dennard her Algebra lesson.

After showing her the lesson, Virginia said: "Mr. Lawson said that he was going to start us off easy."

Alene replied: "My goodness, he'll be giving us the whole book the next time."

Mrs. Mitchell: "I wish the hens would start setting."
Oma Jean: "Mother, you need a refrigerator to hatch the eggs in."

Injunction Dissolved

Little surprise was caused by the action of the court of civil appeals in San Antonio in dissolving the injunction, which was obtained by Joe Burkett and others last week, to keep the name of James Allred off the general election ticket in November, as the Democratic nominee for governor. Nobody expected any other result. It is easy enough to get a temporary injunction, but when the cause is brought to hearing for a permanent or final determination it assumes a very different attitude before the court. It is announced by Mr. Burkett that he will continue to press his suit and if a new hearing is not granted he will appeal to the supreme court. If the proceedings continue until it is too late to place Mr. Allred's name on the ballot, the people will write the name in and he will be elected anyway. Mr. Allred was not the Eagle's choice for governor, but he was nominated by an overwhelming majority and it is the duty of all who participated in the primary election to support him and the great mass of voters will support him, whether his name is on the ticket or they have to write it on. It is alleged that more money than is allowed by law was spent by Mr. Allred and those who acted for him in securing the nomination and this may be true, yet the law governing campaign expenses is unenforceable and has never been invoked successfully. Some years ago it was charged that a gubernatorial candidate and those who acted for him, spent about $200,000 in the campaign and nothing was done about it and the candidate was elected and served his full term in the office. Few people are favorable to corruption in politics, yet there are so many ways in which money can be legitimately spent in campaign expenses that the courts and the voters have never been favorable to thwarting the will of the people, as expressed at the polls, even though a technical violation of the requirements may have been shown. Maybe Mr. Allred's campaign organization spent more than the $10,000 allowed and maybe not, but those who opposed him in the campaign may as well be good sports and accept the result of the primary election, for they haven't the slightest chance of defeating him.

Strike Ended

The textile strike, denominated as the greatest strike of recent years, was terminated Sunday and several thousand strikers returned to the factories throughout the nation Monday. President Roosevelt requested the termination of the strike and agreed to appoint a new board to determine the rights of all parties to the controversy, and while labor leaders announced they had gained nothing by the strike, other than the agreement to appoint a board, they expect several advantages to result later on from their strike. During the progress of the strike there was much lawlessness, a number of people killed and a great amount of damage done to the property of the mills. As a result of this lawlessness, thousands of strikers have not been taken back and it is sincerely to be hoped that the mill owners will remain firm and refuse to restore to employment any who were guilty of wanton destruction of the property simply because their former employers refused to meet their demands.

Much of the dissatisfaction and unrest among those engaged in the various industries and affiliated with the organizations is caused, very likely, by a misunderstanding, or at least a misapprehension of the federal government's policies. The proclamation demanding a reduction of working hours and at the same time an increase in the basic pay, issued when the National Recovery Act was first put into operation, undoubtedly caused the organizations to expect government intervention in enforcing their demands and there can be small wonder when the strikes and violence grew out of that misconception of the plan.

Production Control

The enforcement of the provisions of the Bankhead cotton control law appears to be more popular now than at the beginning of the season and it is possible the provisions of this law, although a drastic change from the old free and easy way of handling the cotton crop, will meet with better favor in the cotton growing states, when the full effects of all its provisions are fully understood. Several efforts have been made in legislative halls and in gatherings of farmers, to demand a repeal of the law, but so far very little progress has been made and certain it is that a better showing will have to be made than has been made so far, before the federal congress will agree to repeal the law. Possibly some of the provisions of the law may have been found to work to the disadvantage of the cotton growers as a whole and, in that case, amendments should remedy such defects, but the consensus of opinion appears to be that the law in the main is good and helpful. It is well understood and universally believed that some way had to be found to regulate the production and marketing of cotton and the Bankhead law is undoubtedly an effort in that direction, even though some of the provisions are somewhat burdensome, or to say the least, inconvenient. The rough places will be knocked off in a short time and some amendments can be made to remedy the defects as they appear. One thing is sure, however, and that is that cotton growers have learned that it is wise to sign up for the reduced acreage as long as the law is in force.

Relief Will Continue

The legislature and those charged with administration of the relief system of the state and national government, have been confronted with some hard problems, one of which was the proper amount to appropriate or provide. In all of the discussions the idea appeared to predominate that these relief measures are only temporary and the dawning of the coming year appeared to be the date set by most of the speakers for a termination of the appropriations, or at least a time for beginning to curtail the amounts handed out. We will all hope that this time limit will be small, but the system has covered so much territory and reached such proportions that its effects will be seen and felt for years to come.

Last year Texas voted twenty million dollars to be used in this relief system, a large portion of which was unnecessary and would have the effect of fostering a paternalistic spirit. The voters in this state were told the federal government would cut off appropriations for Texas relief if the bonds were not voted. Now we discover that Texas is away down toward the bottom in per capita of federal relief and a good many states are given the general relief appropriations without having voted a penny of state funds.

SUNNY SQUIBBLES

The women, it is said, pick good looking men for husbands. Don't have him too good looking, though, girls, or he may not be willing to spend much time at home.

Many schools are going to remain closed this fall, but the devil's educational institutions are said to run continuously.

There is talk of three wheel automobiles, and many drivers on four wheels seem to think they have one wheel too many, judging by the way they run around corners.

Claimed Sunday is no longer a day of worship, but a good many people in Texas are always down on their knees Sundays, changing punctured tires.

They tell us not to blame the jinx for our misfortunes, but we all have to find someone to blame besides ourselves.

Formerly people were determined to own their own homes, but now they seem to be satisfied with the down payment on the automobile.

Pity is expressed for many big city children who never saw a cow or a calf, but many farmers of West Texas will say they wish they had never seen one.

Women are said to be not as black as they are painted, and they are not as red either.

The world can't improve its schools, because it takes most of its money to pay for wars, and it has to spend its money for wars because its schools did not teach the people any better.

After talking all day to anyone who will listen to them many people complain there is no free speech any longer.

Those who run for office should look out they don't run out of gas when too far from any filling station.

No one need doubt the ability of women to see new light, from the more favorable opinion the girls entertain of a boy when he shows up with a new car.—Titus Service.

KNOW ANY BIGGER?

While visiting in the mountains of western North Carolina in the fall of '29, I (that's Barton W. Freeland of Crowley, La., talking now) took a hike around the vicinity of Chimney Rock. As I walked the path led me up along the steep side of a mountain, until finally the trail dwindled to a narrow ledge 18 inches wide. Suddenly I met a large mountain lioness, who was bent on going down the path. It was impossible to pass on the ledge, so I decided to scare her back.

The effect was the opposite of what I intended, for she became infuriated and began a speedy advance in my direction. I turned and ran down hill as fast as my legs could carry me. Near the bottom of the hill I spied a large barrel with one head out and at once decided this would do for a refuge from the lioness, who was at that moment at my heels. In another moment I was diving under the barrel and a second later the lioness was sitting on top of the case.

I was still feeling hot from my sudden descent down the hill and the close quarters of the barrel gave me little opportunity to cool off. I began feeling the sides of my prison for a possible bungle, which when removed would admit both light and air. Luckily there was one.

As I looked through this hole I spied the nervous twitching tail of my guard, the lioness. If then occurred to me that with this tail I might be able to do something which would make her go away, I reached out thru the hole, pulled the tail inside the barrel and hastily tied two tight knots in it. This brought the desired results instantly, for scarcely had the last tug been taken in the second knot than the barrel was lifted clear of my head, and by the time I blinked and looked around the lioness was going through the woods at a terrific rate with the barrel tied to her tail.

Again in the fall of '31 I went back up to the same camp to spend a few days and as I walk-

JUST A PUSH

If I could, I would delight to pay the highest eulogy to any mother, who at all times, commands prompt obedience and due respect from her children. Such a mother possesses one of the high arts of the world. She may not wear the crown of a queen, but she wears that which is more admirable and enduring. The rain was pattering on the roof, the water trickling down the outside of the windows from an angry cloud and the rollicking children were shut indoors. The patient mother had endured the clatter and bustle of the children for most an hour. She spoke in commanding tone, "Children, settle down and make less noise. I can hardly hear the thunder. Each of you get something to read and that will quiet you." In a few minutes obedience was perfect. Later a son in the teen age read aloud from an old mutilated book. "The most ancient mariners peopled the fearful uncharted seas with ferocious dragons and deadly monsters." Then closing the book, he asked, "I wonder if that was all so?" "Yes," said his older sister, "Yes, or it wouldn't be put in books." "No," said the mother, "No, that was superstition. Later navigation proved the fallacy of such a thing." The controversy went on for some length, the mother contending that those monsters were imaginary and not real and the daughter contending that early sailors believed there were such things. They were both right, but didn't understand each other.

Most of the controversies and contentions of life are after that pattern. We neglect to see but one side of the question. We forget that a hill has two or more slopes. It is said that the great good men, Messrs. Wesley and Toplady, had their sharp contentions. Mr. Wesley, probably the greatest evangelical force that England has had, and Augustus Toplady, writer of some of our most sacred church hymns, had each viewed matters from the other's standpoint, they would have walked in happy agreement. Surely, much of present international dispute and labor strikes and personal prejudices could be cured by comprehending the opponent's viewpoint. It is obvious that all those who are obdurate to contention and dispute do not aim at imposition. In the story, the last words of the daughter were, "If those mariners really believed there were dragons and monsters it was to them as truth was it not?" It won't do to analyze her question. To discuss her position would be to drag us all over into the realms of moral life, politics and religion. You would call it a question of rank in psychology, but it also involves a lot of "know ology." SAM SAY

Unemployment relief in New York City costs $6.37 a second or about $7,000,000 a month with 23 per cent of the population or 1,600,000 persons on relief rolls.

The federal government now has loans to states, cities, financial institutions, farmers, home owners and others totaling over $6,550,000,000.

Our national income this year is estimated at $45,000,000,000, of which taxes are figured to take nine billion, food seven and a half billion, rent three billion six hundred million, clothing three and a half billion and fuel $1,000,000,000.

Something like 115,000,000 hogs, cattle, sheep and calves are slaughtered in this country every year to supply less than 130,000,000 people with meat.

Seventy per cent of all the cotton Spain imports is from America.

More than 3,000,000,000 persons in New York City ride the subway each year.

The average speed of autos on the open road is 41.2 miles per hour.

In the sixteen years since the world war the nations of the world have spent more than $60,000,000,000 for armies, navies and munitions of war.—Pathfinder.

sd through the same general locality in which the barrel incident had taken place I heard an awful racket not far from where I was seated on a log. EDITORIAL COMMENT

VIEWS OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

SLIGHT DANGER OF WAR

The admission of Russia as a member of the League of Nations, finally accomplished, will make for peace, not war. As long as the Soviet government was an outcast nation, anything might happen. Now that state occupies a permanent seat in the council of the league and its influence will be for peace.

The Russian government is deeply interested in its own economic development, in its growth in industries, and it is eager to develop its enormous natural resources as the basis for national wealth. It has no desire to take the offensive in war. Its ambition is to maintain its territory intact—East Siberia against Japan; Ukraine against any possible aggression on the part of Poland or Germany or both combined. As Litvinoff said in his introductory address to the league: "But little has been done for peace. We must set ourselves against the extremely active organization of war. No war of serious dimensions can be localized; sooner or later any war must bring misfortune to all countries, whether belligerents or neutrals."

It is perhaps natural that Europe should feel troubled about the possibility of war. There is still intense friction in the Far East. Mussolini and Hitler both alternately breathe out war threats and talk soothingly of peace. Poland and Germany have rejected the East European Locarno, France's pet project for keeping the peace in East Europe, and certainly munitions revelations have muddled up the situation considerably.

Fortunately, however, no nation really desires war, realizing the inevitable consequences of national bankruptcy and the probability of arousing a second world war. The dove of peace has a safe resting place at present, even in Europe, though it dislikes the noise of war talk and militaristic preparations.—Dallas News.

FERTILIZER

Legume crops, such as clover, peas and alfalfa, gather nitrogen from the air by means of bacteria, which live on the roots of the plants. Nitrogen is one of the elements essential to plant growth and one which is very often deficient.

In the older countries of Europe, where the same fields have been tilled since the ancient hurners turned to farming, nitrogenous plants are regularly utilized to fertilize the lands they are grown upon. In the thickly populated countries pasture land is scarce, therefore, animal fertilizer is relatively scanty, because farm animals are necessarily few. But fertilizer is an absolute necessity, so the farm folk save the straw upon which their farm stock is nightly bedded. This straw is removed daily and wetted down on a compost heap. There it rots under the stress of the rains that come in due season, and the mass is well rotted by springtime. Then it is spread upon the fields, giving humus and refreshment. This, in addition to the nitrogenous crops of the year before, under a system of rotation, serves to renew the lands from year to year and, granting adequate seasons, heavy harvests follow. In every country the farmer has to contend with the weather, but a crop failure is very rare in the case of competent farm management. In the better portions of Italy for example, a family of five will thrive and save money on a farm of ten acres. And a farmer who allowed his land to be wasted by erosion would be considered as squandering his children's birthright and bringing odium on the community.—Gilmer Mirror.

SALT FOR SALVOR

Nobody but a scientist would seriously care to know how much salt there is in the Great Salt Lake.

Anyway, two geologists from the University of Michigan and a local investigator have determined the question.

After two summers of painstaking study they have been able to announce that the bottom of Utah's "Dead Sea" is lined with crystals two inches in depth, containing an aggregate future supply of four hundred

LICENSE THE DRIVERS

When the legislature meets in January there will be something for it to do besides providing relief for unemployed persons and levying taxes for paying for that relief. Among other things will be an effort to move the legislature to provide statutes that will tend to lessen the number of automobile deaths in Texas, which is altogether too high.

The first, and what appears to give promise of most effectiveness, will be a driver license act. Many states have such a law and in some of them its enforcement is credited with reducing the number of accidents and deaths. There will be no use enacting a law that does not cover the case thoroughly, nor will there be any good purpose served by enactment of a law that is not enforced or not enforceable. If the penalty be too great there will be no convictions—we have had ample illustration of this in the Dean liquor law. Juries will not inflict unreasonable punishment on persons who are tried before them and it is useless to try to make them do so.

But there should be an act that will meet the need. What shall it profit us to provide a living for people and then allow irresponsible and incompetent car and truck drivers to go careening over the roads, killing sometimes the very people who are being saved at the expense of the state.

There will always be reckless and selfish drivers. We had them in the horse and buggy days, tho their ability to wreak damage and death then was not so great as now. The animals often had the sense the driver lacked, and, although dumb brutes, they generally avoided accidents. But the auto is solely at the control of the person at the wheel and that person should be under such examination as will make it reasonably certain that he is qualified to drive with ordinary care. If he is not, he should not be allowed on the roads.—Paris News

RELIEF LOAD

A bill has been introduced in the Texas legislature to require the counties and cities to assume an equal part with the state in the relief work. The bill will not likely pass, but it should, it is the only way to purge the relief rolls of the unworthy. So long as county relief organizations can rely on Washington and state money, we will always have large relief rolls. Not only the county relief organizations are disposed to get all the money possible, but the citizens encourage them by saying, "Get all you can. If we don't get it, other counties will." But if it was local taxation money that was helping pay for relief there would be an entirely different attitude.

Somehow as long as the state and national government is putting up the money, the ordinary citizen is interested in his county getting every dollar possible to spend, but if the county or city was paying one-fourth there would be an entirely different proposition. The motive then would be reversed—see how little can be spent. Mr. Hopkins of the national relief organization has announced that 23,000,000 of our people must be given relief this winter. It looks impossible that one-fifth of all our people are on charity. Hopkins says this will be 8,000,000 more than last year. If this is true, it looks like the brain trust should try some other plan to put people to work. But we don't believe that many of our people are impoverished to the point of seeking charity.

It's too easy to get on the relief rolls. The way to make it hard is for the local taxpayer to feel the direct pinch. Something like this must be done or the first thing we know we will pauperize millions of our people.—Marshall News-Messenger.

million tons. Also, the quantity is slowly but steadily increasing as salt in solution in the water precipitates itself and crystallizes.

There have been gloomy, long range forecasts that at some far distant time America may become a short-rationed nation.

But the scientists at work in Utah have assured us of one thing: Whatever else may happen to food supplies, posterity will be quite while in running out of salt.—San Antonio Light, Weekly.

BE IT EVER SO HUMBLE

That dilapidated tenement in a shabby neighborhood, the crowded little apartment in some city slum, may not seem as if it could be a real home for anybody. But people cling to those familiar scenes like vine tendrils to a tree.

The federal government is finding out about that. It has plans by which it is hoped eventually to remove 1,000,000 families from barren farms and scenes of dead industry, to places where there will be work. But many of these folks dread strange scenes and faces. They feel affection for the little old alley, and the kindly gossip over the back fence. After life is well planted, it's not so easy to tear it up by the roots. If the factory which has given a man his daily bread shuts down for good, it is not usually good judgment to haunt those old ruins like a ghost. Men and women were given feet to walk on in such emergencies and seek out new places for labor.

But under ordinary conditions, if it were not for this affection for the home scene, the country would be full of roaming tramps and vagrants.

The old saying has it that the distant pastures look the greenest. Young people dream of the golden opportunities in distant sections. But when they get there, they find the same old rush for jobs.

There is an opportunity in most locations, for anyone who is willing to work, and is not fussy about the kind of work he does. The home scene may be ever so humble, but something of value is thrown away when one closes its door for the last time. The instinctive love of home was planted deep in the human heart, to restrain people from useless wandering.—Home Interest.

A CITY LOTTERY

That New York lottery has started something. The ministers of New York City have protested vigorously against this method of raising money, but apparently the board of aldermen and Mayor LaGuardia are determined to go ahead with it. Meantime, reports are already coming from other sections of the country of proposals to follow New York City's example. Indeed, an official of the District of Columbia proposed adopting the plan, but there was such a prompt protest that he dropped the matter immediately. Of course, lotteries are illegal in New York as elsewhere. But Mayor LaGuardia and the board of aldermen think they have found a way to get around this fact. The ordinance authorizes the organization of a "supplemental relief association" with members paying "dues," the tentative amount being $2.50 a member. Then periodically the "association" will elect "officers" by drawing names from a jury wheel. The officers will be paid high "salaries," which would amount to 55 per cent of the total dues, less the cost of operation, and 44 per cent would be turned over to the city for relief. Of course, this is pure evasion. The "salaries" are lottery prizes and nothing else, and the "dues" are the price of the chances on those prizes. It is to be expected that the New York proposition will be enjoined by citizens opposed to it, and that the courts will have a chance to pass on its legality. We cannot see how the courts can uphold the legality of the scheme, but one never can tell. If it is legal for a municipality to organize such associations to raise relief funds, why would it not be legal for individuals to organize such associations for profit? And in that event, is there not danger of an epidemic of such gambling enterprises all over the country? Even if some technical difference can be defined as existing between municipal and private associations of this kind, is there not danger of the idea sweeping the country, so the speak, and being proposed even in Texas? We expect to hear of somebody proposing it in Texas any day now. It would be unfortunate, to say the least, if there should be widespread adoption of this scheme over the country. The gambling spirit has become too widespread.—Texas Weekly.

Hamilton

Mr. and Mrs. C. D. McKinley spent last Sunday in Goldthwaite, as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Steen. Mrs. McKinley is a sister of Mrs. Steen.

The cotton census report shows that there were 1098 bales of cotton ginned in Hamilton county from the crop of 1934 prior to September 1, as compared with 1832 bales ginned to September 1, crop of 1933.

J. Pope Gerald, who had been under treatment of specialists in a Temple sanitarium for some two weeks, returned to his home here Wednesday. Mrs. Gerald was with her husband in Temple.

County Agent C. E. Nelson announces that payments to Hamilton county farmers totaling approximately $45,000, will be made as the second acreage rental payments for cotton farmers who reduced acreage this year will be received next month.

Local Manager E. Webb of the Texas-Louisiana Power Co., has had a large street light installed directly in front of the high school auditorium, and one on west Main street, just at the turn of the hill near the home of R.L. Raley. These two lights are gifts of Texas-Louisiana Power Co. to the city.

En route to Dallas early last Wednesday morning to accompany Charley Harbor home from a hospital, Raymond D. Williford and John Morrison came near losing their lives when the steering gear of the car failed to work and the auto plunged over a six foot embankment beside the road one mile this side of Ireddell. A farmer living near the road heard the crash and came to their rescue.—Record-Herald.

Up to Thursday morning the three Hamilton gins had ginned 2214 bales of cotton this season.

The public is urged to attend the Hamilton county fifth Sunday singing convention, which will be held at Pottsville Sept. 30.

W. D. Short, who lives six miles north of Hamilton on highway 66, states that he will gather more than a thousand pounds of cotton per acre from three acres.

A cave in at the Pugh-Pace well at Ireland is delaying operations at present. However, the operators expect to have the hole cleared soon and again start to making progress.

Misses Clemmie Mae and Leta Hancock of Mullin spent the week end with their sister, Mrs. Osteen Patterson. Miss Clemmie Mae left Monday for Jonesboro, where she will teach school, and Mrs. Patterson returned with Miss Leta to Mullin for a week's visit.—News.

Brownwood

Unused disbursing orders for fresh meat now in the hands of relief clients are void, according to Miss Adeline Ziegenhals, case supervisor.

Pouring of the foundation has been completed and the walls will be started up this week on the Fundamental Methodist church building. The work will be pushed.

Approximately sixty percent of the 1934 cotton crop in Brown county has been picked and ginned, according to estimates of the Brownwood gin operators.

Mayor W. H. Thompson has issued an official proclamation setting aside the week of October 7 to 13 as fire prevention week in Brownwood.

The schools of Brown county this week received a total of $8,724.50 from the state, this amount representing a payment of $1.50 per capita on the 1933-1934 scholastic apportionment. Only fifty cents per capita remains unpaid.

The 40x100 foot bathhouse at Hot Wells was destroyed by fire about midnight Tuesday with an estimated loss of about $4000. Origin of the fire has not been ascertained, but firemen believe that it started from a short in the electric wiring.

A contract for the furnishing of material for converting the barracks at Lake Brownwood park into winter quarters and for the construction of six new buildings for a 250-man CCC camp, scheduled to move to the park September 30, was let Tuesday morning of this week.—Banner.

San Saba

Guy Risien has the distinction of bringing in the first pecans of the 1934 season.

L. E. Dupuy of Big Valley, Mills county, was a business visitor in San Saba last Thursday.

Rev. T. K. Anderson of Burnet is holding a revival meeting at Rough Creek this week.

Roy Lanham arrived Tuesday night for an extended visit with his mother, Mrs. Ed Lanham. Roy has been stationed in Peking, China, for the past eight years and this is his first visit home. He is in the Marine corps and is now stationed at Mares Island, California.

A total of more than 36,000 cans of feed have been put up by the two relief canning plants here and at Richland Springs, Miss Grace Baxter, county canning supervisor, reports. Of this amount 15,000 cans or more have been canned at the San Saba plant and more than 20,000 at the Richland Springs plant.—News.

Prof. W. W. Hart, superintendent of the Llano public schools, was a business visitor here Saturday.

C. H. McMillan, who has been starting races at the fairs in the Panhandle, will return to San Saba this week end and stay about three weeks before going to South Texas race meets.

Sheriff Will H. Doran has issued a warning to drivers of automobiles who pass school busses while they are receiving or discharging pupils en route to and from school.

According to W. J. Millican, president of the Bend Pecan Growers' Association, that organization will ship about one car of pecans this year, where last year some 800,000 pounds were shipped by the 26 members of the association. Millican states this is the first almost complete failure of the pecan crop in his section of the county for a period of thirty years. The case-borer and the extreme drouth have caused the crop shortage.—Star.

Lometa

Mr. and Mrs. Greathouse of Goldthwaite were Sunday visitors in the home of his son, E.C. Greathouse.

Jack Kirby suffered a painful injury last Friday night, when a mule belonging to J. W. McCann crushed the bone in one of his toes on the right foot and otherwise bruised the foot.

The Lometa football squad will meet the Lampasas Badgers on Friday night, September 28. The Lampasas football field is now in process of being lighted for night games. The lighting equipment will consist of 32 1500-watt lamps.

Mr. and Mrs. Barney Laughlin and son, Mr. and Mrs. L. J. Laughlin of Seallorn, Miss Ime Faye Laughlin of Goldthwaite and Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Maxwell and two children were Sunday visitors in the Webb Laughlin home in Midway community.

Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Robbins, who lived here from 1920 to 1930, were up from their home at Taylor, Thursday, looking after business matters regarding their farm which they still own in the Long Cove community.

Mr. and Mrs. Wicker and small son, and her sister of Caradan near Goldthwaite, have moved to the J. W. McCann home to live while Mr. and Mrs. McCann are away teaching school. Mrs. Wicker's sister will attend school at Lometa this year.

The final plans for highway 74A from Lometa to the Mills county line have been completed and were delivered to the highway engineering department last Friday. The deeds to the right of way have all been secured with the exception of some 2000 feet near the Santa Fe overpass on the San Saba branch.—Reporter

The meeting of the West Texas Sheriffs association will be held here November 26, 27 and 28.

The Lampasas Badgers will play their first football game of the season here with Lometa on Friday, Sept. 28, and will have the lighting system installed in time for that game.

The Lampasas public school has purchased two blocks of land just north of the Abney plunge along Burleson creek, and this will be used by the school for an athletic field. They will not get the use of the land this year.

James L. Abney, who was re-elected in Lampasas, has been appointed assistant federal district attorney in the south Texas district, according to announcement. Abney will work principally at Brownsville, Corpus Christi and Laredo, he said, although he also will do some work at Houston. He will be assistant to D. W. McGregor.

On October 10, 1934, an old-time barbecue for old timers will take place at the state park, two miles east of Lampasas. C. D. Stokes, who has lived in Lampasas county for more than a half century, has had this reunion in mind for over a year. It is his plan and it is his pleasure, to bear absolutely all of the expense, and he invites every man and every woman who has lived in Lampasas county 50 years or longer, to be his guests on that occasion. The invitation has no object except a great get-together of old settlers and old timers.—Leader.

Comanche

Elder A. M. Fagan, Baptist minister, celebrated his 85th birthday September 1.

Five hundred and ninety-four pupils are enrolled in Comanche public schools.

An 81 pound watermelon was brought to Comanche Saturday by R. McDonald of Hasse. The melon was the largest of four he sold.

The grand jury and petit jury lists were drawn Monday for the October term of district court, which will convene here Monday, October 15.

The Comanche high school Indians will open their home schedule at the ball park Friday afternoon, Sept. 28, with a game with the Goldthwaite high school Eagles.

Jim Reese of Comanche, coach at Denison last year and athletic director of Greenville for two years previous to that, was elected athletic director in Colorado high school last week.

Up to Wednesday night, Sept. 12, at the close of the last day of the cattle buying program in Comanche county, 3669 cattle had been condemned and accepted by the government and out of this group 1992 were shipped and 1677 condemned.—Chief.

In a handbook just prepared for the guidance of New Deal candidates, the Democratic national committee sounds the keynote of its campaign for the November elections, by saying that the one real issue in the congressional campaign is the recovery program of President Roosevelt.

About 1000 Brockton, Mass., high school students went on strike Monday in protest against a change of the school closing hour from 1:15 to 1:45 p. m., and failure of school officials to keep an agreement they said to allow a 15-minute study period in each hour. Two thousand other students refused to join their ranks.

A group of twenty citizens headed by two preachers in Beaumont Monday, guided deputy sheriffs on a series of liquor raids. Decision to swear out complaints against alleged liquor dispensaries was reached at a church conference Sunday. An assortment of bonded liquor valued at $150, along with a large quantity of corn whiskey, was confiscated.

Formed for the purpose of opposing Upton Sinclair, Democratic gubernatorial nominee, an organization known as "American Democracy of California," established headquarters in Los Angeles. The organization is headed by Hamilton H. Cotton, state Democratic leader, who was the Southern California spokesman for George Creel, whom Sinclair defeated during the recent primary election.

The will of the late E. B. Phares of McAllen, who expired after a heart attack several months ago, directed that an insurance policy be bequeathed to his estate, but when the insurance agent wrote the policy he inadvertently made it read "to my state." In keeping with legal processes, payment of $693.39 from the policy was made to the state of Texas. The Texas legislature has just passed, in its general appropriations bill, an item for payment of the $693.39 to Mrs. Phares.

The strange case of a Kansas City woman, who several weeks ago mystified medical authorities by shedding tears of blood, was solved by physicians at the General Hospital, who said she caused the unnatural weeping herself. Authorities placed the woman under close observation and said they discovered that she was able to cry bloody tears by holding her nose, closing the larynx and by straining and increasing the intranasal pressure sufficiently to cause a backflow of any nasal bleeding into the

HEALTH MEETING

The twelfth annual meeting of the Texas Public Health Association will be held at the Wooten hotel in Abilene, October 3-5, stated Dr. T. J. McCamant, president. The meeting is open to physicians, health officers, sanitarians, nurses and others interested in public health.

Besides the general meeting, there will be special sections for nurses, laboratory workers, and full time health officers. Among the speakers will be Dr. John W. Brown, state health officer; Dr. Lewis C. Crabbe, E. A. Baugh, Senator J. W. E. H. Beck, and representatives of the United States Public Health Service, State Medical Association, Agricultural department, American Public Health Association and State Medical Association.

The program will consist of discussions of health work possible with relief funds, milk sanitation, water and sewage, public health nursing, health legislation and communicable disease control.

Many cities send their health workers to this meeting so that they may keep up with the new developments in their field. This will be especially true this year as much health work may be accomplished with relief funds.

BEAUTY in the HOME

Modern Home Decoration Service

Modernism In Period Interiors

ALMOST everyone interested in home furnishings is interested in modernizing. Often the problem of a period background, which is not readily changed, presents itself. The above picture shows a happy solution of this problem.

A dressing table and stool of strictly modern design are shown in a Colonial setting but with details following the modern trend. The toiletware is a particularly interesting accessory, the set shown here being modern both in design and composition. It is in a design known as the Bridge, and is made of Pyralis in black, with chromium handle and trim, which is an interesting modern development, as it represents the first successful combination of a plastic material with metal. The perfume bottles and lamps are also in keeping with the dressing table type. Accessories play an especially important part in modernizing, and are often chosen for this purpose even when the furniture is of a period type. In a bedroom, toiletware such as is shown here, in stamps of crystal and chromium or white porcelain base, with white shade, are especially successful.

Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Garner and children spent Sunday in the J. J. Northcutt home.

Mrs. J. H. Long and daughters, Johnnie Belle and Darlene, visited Mrs. J. D. Robertson and girls Sunday afternoon.

FROG SHOW

For the first time in history there will be a frog show at the state fair of Texas. In a specially constructed pool, adjacent to the poultry building, Supt. Walter Burton has arranged to exhibit some 800 monster bullfrogs. These frogs have been specially caught in the ponds of East Texas. The frog orchestra will give concerts nightly with basso profundo solos prevailing. To keep the frogs company, Mr. Burton will install a couple of hundred of them.

There will be many special days at the 48th state fair of Texas, which will attract thousands of visitors to the great southwestern exposition. These special days are for every day of the fair from October 6 to 21.

A SEVERE LAW

The senate passed Wednesday afternoon a bill providing a maximum of life imprisonment for any person aiding convicts to escape from the state penitentiary.

The proposal was sponsored in the house by Representative Gordon Burns of Huntsville, who explained that there was no state law making it a felony for participation in prison escapes. He said the guard who was convicted in the bizarre break of Raymond Hamilton and others was sentenced under a statute applying to abetting in escapes of county prisoners.

CHAPPEL HILL

Those happy days are here again. School opened Monday morning.

Norris Crook has returned home from San Marcos, where he has been working.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Fickel and Miss Bernice visited in Comanche Monday.

R. Buffe helped his brother, Willie, fix his windmill that the wind blew down Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Fickel, Cecil, Dorothy Nell and Miss Bernice visited in the Walker home Sunday evening.

Lee Price and wife of Oklahoma visited Jim Evans and family last week.

Clayton Crook is going to school at Lockhart.

Ernest Eakin and family visited in the Fickel home last Friday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Harris and daughter of Comanche county visited her brother, Will Fickel, and family last week end.

Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Aldredge and two of their sons are moving to Desdemona. We hate to see them leave.

Miss Kathleen and M.C. Walker visited in the Fickel home Saturday night.

Mr. Editor, will you allow me space to make some suggestions or give some advice.

To the boys and girls, one and all,
For each of you there is a call,
What it is you may not know,
That you must learn as on you go.

It may be a lawyer, a doctor or preacher,
A painter, a plumber or some big teacher,
A butcher or a barber, but they are about the same,
You know the old adage—
There's nothing in a name.
And the way to find out
Is to buckle down and try
Just step on the gas and
Throw yourself in high
If you will do that
You will surely make the grade
And that's the only way that it can ever be made.

Your minds are like the motor
That sits in the car.
If they don't work,
You'll never get far.
And to make them work
It takes spark and lube
If you don't possess that
You are just an old rube.
So don't go to school and
Take the teacher's time,
You had better stay at home
And get some slaked lime,
Whitewash the trees, the fence and the barn.

If you don't try to learn
You will never be worth a —
Then you'll have to be a farmer
Or a farmer's wife,
And drive a model T the rest of your life,
And have the government help you dispose of what you make.
But it's too late THEN
To correct your mistake.

A REASONABLE CHARGE

The Eagle must observe its rule of long standing of making a small charge for articles written by persons giving their views on any public issue. Matters of public record or on current events are news, but private views in advocacy or opposition to political or personal issues come legitimately under the head of advertising. There is no good reason for expecting to give voice to one's views at the paper's expense. The editor pays a good price for this privilege, as the preparation of every line for publication costs real money.

Metal Featured In Modern Furniture

A distinct trend toward the increasing use of metal is seen in the new modern American furniture. This is partly because the material itself is modern in feeling, and partly because metal lends itself particularly well to the curves and angles embodied in the simple lines of modern design. Practical advantages, so essential a part of modernism, are also influential in the choice of metal as a material for furniture.

Another distinct trend in the modern movement toward more livable, cheerful rooms that have grace and charm, without which no furniture design survives. To achieve this end, new finishes have been especially developed for modern metal, some in color, others in exact simulation of natural wood. In addition to their aesthetic value, these finishes, which are made on a synthetic base, are virtually damage proof.

Above is shown a section of a bedroom with a metal furniture ensemble of this type. Hardwood, with the appearance of a natural wood finish in grey, trimmed with black, is illustrated. Blues and greys are the main room colors, with accents of yellow shown in the chairs and lampshades. With its predominance of cool blue-grey, this room is especially successful where a calm soothing scheme is desired, and is particularly well suited to a bright, sunny exposure.
