VOLUME FORTY-ONE

GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 12, 1934.

NUMBER SEVEN

District Court Third Week

The third and last week of the fall term of district court has been in session since Monday and a number of cases have been tried.

Two divorce cases were heard and divorces granted.

In the trial of Raymond Wilson, charged with robbery with firearms of the A. L. Woods Filling Station, he plead guilty and was assessed five years in the penitentiary.

Vivian Milam also plead guilty in the Wood's filling station robbery and was assessed five years in the penitentiary.

State of Texas vs. Otis Allen, charged with possession of liquor, assessed one year in the penitentiary.

State of Texas vs. L. B. Woods, charged with selling mortgaged property, assessed five year suspended sentence.

D. C. Langford, charged with possession of liquor, verdict of guilty and assessed one year in penitentiary.

Ex parte Medford Langford, removal of disabilities of minor; granted.

The case of State vs. Grover Dixon, charged with felony theft, was on trial when the Eagle was put to press.

It was thought yesterday the court would likely adjourn for the term last night or today.

The jury commission to draw jurors for next term of court was composed of W. M. Dennard, S. P. Sullivan, D. A. Hamilton and J. E. Perkins.

P. T. A. MEETING

On Tuesday, October 9, the Parents-Teachers association met in regular session. Mr. Ramsey was leader of a brief program on "Texas." The audience sang "The Eyes of Texas," and Doris Robbins, a senior and transfer from San Saba, gave an excellent talk on "The Texas Centennial." Miss Cox, senior sponsor, introduced each member of the senior class to the association.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Rudd, Mrs. Jacob Saylor presided over the business session. A membership of sixty was reported. A scheme of parties designated as "Vanishing Texas," which are still in progress, was reported. The teas not only entertain those taking part, but also up to the present have brought in something over $20.

The treasurer reported a balance of $47.74.

October 27, was set as date for a Halloween Carnival. Committees were appointed and work has already begun. Let's all work and make it a success.

A set of eight volumes of "History of the World" books, four of which concern mankind primarily, the other four nations, was donated to the libraries by Mrs. Winters. Not only parents and teachers appreciate this donation, but also pupils, as well as all concerned.

The seniors were declared winners of a prize given for having the largest number of mothers present.

Every parent come to our meeting next time. You do not have to be a paid member to get full benefit from the association.

BAPTIST MINUTES

Minutes of the 1934 convention of the Mills County Baptist association, held with the Goldthwaite church, have been printed in pamphlet form for distribution to the churches of the association. The church clerks or other official members are requested to call at the Eagle office for the number apportioned to their church.

The minutes have been distributed to some of the churches, but the copies apportioned to some of the churches have not yet been delivered to them.

Methodist Notes

Our last quarterly conference, as formerly announced, was held last Friday evening. The personnel of the officers elected to serve for the next conference year remained almost as for the past few years; only slight changes were made. J. T. Helm was made superintendent of the Sunday school, replacing C. E. Bayley, resigned.

Saturday morning following the fourth quarterly conference, the pastor, true to apostolic succession, remarked: "I go a fishing." The presiding elder, Rev. J. E. Lovett, also true to the best traditions, said: "I go with thee." I learn from hearsay evidence, I have no concrete evidence to offer, that it can not be said of these worthy brethren as of the early disciples: "They toiled all day and caught nothing." Neither is it intimated that the catch was so great that "the nets break," or that any one was needed to aid them in landing the catch. Personally, I am glad that their luck was better than has been that of some others whom I shall not name.

It is impracticable, and possibly inappropriate to attempt to keep up with all the social affairs of the various organizations of the congregation. There is one organization, however, that should be given consideration. This is the ladies class. For 30 years or more, this class has been going strong. Much of that time Mrs. R. M. Thomson has been its teacher. Mrs. Dan Yates, ever faithful, is its president. These faithful women are always on the job, doing every thing within their power to accomplish all that could be expected. They succeed in all things. Last Monday night they held their monthly meeting, together with a social hour, in the home of Mrs. Harry Allen. They had delicious refreshments and a fine time. This report came to me in a roundabout way, but I think it is authentic. As soon as I can see Harry Allen I shall try to verify it.

These closing days of the conference year are important and trying. I suppose no Methodist preacher ever went through the last part of the year who did not rejoice when the last week ended. There are so many things to vex the soul. The benevolences are to be raised. This is not an easy matter in any church. Many times the work to succeed is almost exasperating. As a rule, payment of such subscriptions are put off till the last hour. Many times this writer has gone at the last minute to collect these belated subscriptions, and has actually had to run to catch a train in order to get to the seat of the conference on time. But when the joy of success! No one knows this joy except the faithful pastor, who is anxious to be able to report that his church has met all its obligations.

In most instances any church could meet all its financial obligations, if each member would do his or her part. In the closing of our work here, this very difficult year, it will be needful for all to lend a hand. Let us do our best. Two more Sundays and the conference year is at an end.

BRIM—ODEN

J. D. Brim, Jr., and Miss Ann Oden were married in this city last Saturday night, Elder Hoover officiating. The wedding was not a surprise to the many friends of the young people, who are glad to offer congratulations and good wishes.

The bride taught in the Pleasant Grove school last session and since that time has owned a millinery store here, formerly owned by Mrs. Bodkin and known as Ann's shoppe. The groom is manager and part owner of the Royal Cafe. They are both popular with a large circle of friends.

Commissioners Order Hearing

Commissioners court was in regular monthly session Monday, at which time a petition was presented asking for a bond election in precinct No. 1, to provide funds with which to buy and fence right of way on highway No. 74A from Goldthwaite to the Lampasas county line. The court created road district No. 1, to conform to the lines of commissioners Precinct No. 1, and ordered a public hearing on the matter of the bond issue to be held in the district court room at 11 o'clock Oct. 27. An order to that effect is published in this issue.

The public road money from car license was apportioned to the precincts from which it was received: Precinct No. 1 received $138.94; No. 2, $47.17; No. 3, $75.10; No. 4, $20.36.

Official reports were examined and approved.

Accounts against the county were audited and ordered paid.

Cotton Market Still Strong

The cotton market was around 13 cents here yesterday and a considerable amount has already been marketed. However, a number of farmers have been unable to market all of their crop because of the shortage of certificates, which are required under the Bankhead law. Some farmers have these certificates to sell locally, while others must buy from the government certificate pool or pay a heavy tax.

Most of the cotton in the county has been picked and it will be marketed as rapidly as certificates can be secured.

WESLEY WORKERS CLASS

Our class began a new year's work Sunday, October 7, with Mrs. S. P. Sullivan as teacher, and the following officers: W. W. Johnson, president; Mrs. Joe A. Palmer, first vice president; Misses Bessie Crews and Lizzie Virden, second vice presidents; Claude Dickerson and Mrs. Jess Hall, third vice president; Mrs. Nora Berry, chairman devotional committee; A. H. Smith, fourth vice president; Ray Blackburn, recording secretary; Sparks Bigbam, corresponding secretary; Robert Steen, Jr., treasurer; Miss Lou Ella Patterson, reporter. The executive committee met Wednesday night to make plans for the year's work.

We are hoping to be able to make this the best year in our history.

BRIDGE NEEDS REPAIRS

A report is in circulation that the bridge across the Colorado river at Lunsford crossing, on the San Saba-Goldthwaite highway, is in bad repair and needs prompt attention. The Eagle is not advised as to the extent of the repairs needed, but the report says the repairs are to be made.

This bridge was built about forty years ago by Mills county and later a half interest was deeded to San Saba county. However, it is possible the highway department will take it over and make the required repairs.

HAUPTMANN INDICTED

Bruno Richard Hauptmann, already under arrest, was indicted for the kidnap-murder of baby Charles A. Lindbergh by a Hunterdon county, N. J., grand jury Monday.

Swiftly, with Colonel Lindbergh among the witnesses, the state of New Jersey laid down the evidence charging up to the "cold, tight-lipped German alien the most sensational crime in modern annals.

The indictment was voted but a few minutes after the last witness was heard.

Selling Cotton Certificates

The following telegram has been received at the county agent's office from George E. Adams, assistant state agent regarding sale of surplus tax exemption certificates:

"Sections 101 to 103 of the Regulations provide the only ways in which cotton tax exemption certificates may be lawfully transferred or assigned are as follows:

1. From one producer to another at the regulation price of 4c per pound;
2. Listed for sale in the national pool to be sold at 4c a pound, or
3. Retained by the owner for use next year, if the act continues.

"Any transfer or assignment not in accordance with regulations is illegal and in such case both the person disposing of certificate and party acquiring it are subject to penalty in Section 14E of Act for violation of regulations for each certificate involved and such certificate is subject to cancellation. No one is entitled to possession of certificates except cotton producers and transfer is legal only as above stated to enable growers to use certificates in ginning and marketing this year's crop."

Washington office has demand far in excess of present supply for certificates in Eastern cotton belt; suggest you assemble all certificates possible under contract on form 116 and wire Cobb.

KING AND DIPLOMAT ARE ASSASSINATED

King Alexander of Yugoslavia and Louis Barthou, Foreign Minister of France, were assassinated by a Yugoslavian gunman Tuesday afternoon as they motored through the beflagged streets of Marseille, France, a few minutes after the Yugoslavian monarch had stepped on French soil for a state visit.

The assassin was a native of Zagreb, Petrus Kalemán, 35, who was armed with two pistols of German make and a small bomb. He fatally wounded three men and shot eleven others, including seven women, before being mortally wounded by police. He never had a chance to use the bomb.

The king and Barthou were riding in an automobile with the populace of Marseille cheering, when the assassin jumped to the running board of the car and poured out his fatal fusillade.

The king was shot three times in the liver, the left shoulder and the left lung. He died within an hour. The 72-year-old diplomat died within two hours of loss of blood. He was shot in the left forearm and a leg.

The assassin stood in the midst of the great crowd in the big square before the stock exchange. He wedged his way through the police line. The king's chauffeur saw him coming, heard him cry: "Vive le Roi!" He jumped on the right-hand running board, the chauffeur smashed him in the face with his fist, but he clung to his coat. He jerked two pistols out of his pockets and fired point blank at the king and at Barthou. The preliminary police investigation disclosed that only Kalemán had been involved in the shooting. Brief questioning by the police brought nothing from him. They discovered he was 35 years old and a Croatian, but they learned that from his passport, issued last May.

Coming as it does the second political assassination in France within two years, the tragedy stirred up great emotion in the nation which had looked to the visit of the 46-year-old Yugoslavian monarch as a great political gesture destined eventually to cement the peace of the Balkans.

Goat Buying Under Way

Goat buying has been added to the government's list and cattle and sheep are also being purchased. The cattle quota has been reached, however, unless another quota is set.

Up to this time 6605 cattle have been bought, this including the last quota of 500. Of this number 2935 were slaughtered. The first quota was purchased from 629 producers and the second or 500 quota was purchased from 151 producers.

A total of 11,161 sheep have been bought and of that number 8539 have been slaughtered. Inspection was made for 239 producers and $2 per head was paid for the sheep. It is reported that 49,171 sheep have been left on the farms and ranches.

No report has so far been made of the purchase of goats, which are being bought at $1.40 per head.

Oil Well Nearing Finish

The Rock Springs oil well had reached a depth of 1320 feet Wednesday night and it was expected it would be down 1500 by last night. The machinery is working fine and on a test Wednesday afternoon the drill went down 30 feet in 20 minutes, which proves that the drilling is now running good.

It is the purpose of the drillers to go to 1700 or better, if they do not reach the oil before that depth. All interested in the well are enthusiastic over the prospects.

THE MERRY WIVES

Mrs. W. C. Dew was hostess for the Merry Wives at their first meeting of the season on Tuesday afternoon.

Four games of bridge were played with Mrs. Tom Toland holding high score for club member and Mrs. Frank Taylor high for guest.

The special guests were Mrs. Frank Taylor, Mrs. Mark Fairman, Mrs. L. E. Miller, Mrs. M. Y. Stokes, Jr., and Mrs. G. R. Burtner.

Queens Crown and roses were used attractively in decoration. A delectable salad course was served.

In a short business session held before the games of bridge, the following officers for the year were elected. Mrs. Charles Frizell, president; Mrs. D. A. Trent, vice president; Mrs. Walter Fairmarvin Hodges, reporter, and Mrs. Earl Summy, assistant reporter.

I will attend at Sweetwater Thursday and Friday, Oct. 11 and 12, a Sunday school conference. There will be a representative from each association in the state at this meeting. Bro. Travis Sparkman will represent our association. There will also be all the district presidents with our state Sunday school secretary, Mr. Hopkins. The purpose of this meeting is to emphasize associational Sunday school organizations. I am glad that Mills county as organized now.

Sunday morning I will try to answer the question "Is Christ Divine?" There has been a diversity of opinion from the early Christian centuries concerning this vital doctrine.

Sunday night my subject will be the "Rainbow."

A man in one of the early Kentucky feuds was shot with the handcuffs on. It was said on his monument that he never turned his face from a friend or his back to an enemy. As we have the following enemies, namely gambling on horse racing, liquor traffic and laxity in divorce laws, many of us have our faces turned from our friends and our backs to our enemies. You can never fight either one of these evils so long as so-called Christian people indulge. A man who buys, sells or gives liquor today is a party to the crime of whichever one of the three commits it. FRANKLIN E. SWANNER

MONDAY'S BIBLE STUDY

Last Monday afternoon Circle No. 1 gathered in the pretty home of Mrs. Charlie Rudd to enjoy our Bible study.

Mrs. Jeff Priddy read the 15th chapter of first Corinthians, followed by a prayer.

Secretary's report was read and approved. Mrs. Anderson was elected assistant reporter.

Mrs. Wm. Johnson brought a most interesting lesson on the book of Corinthians.

Texas Solons Extra Session

Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson Monday called the 43rd legislature to convene in extraordinary session at noon today, Friday, Oct. 12.

It is the fourth time Governor Ferguson has called a special session of this legislature. The last session adjourned Sept. 25.

The governor's proclamation listed as subject for legislative consideration:

Remission of penalty and interest on delinquent taxes; development of the Brazos and Colorado river project; provision of funds for the Texas centennial; provision of additional relief money; any other things the governor might submit.

The governor finally decided to call the session after a telegraphic poll of members of the legislature. She said soon after the last session adjourned that she wanted to know the reaction of the "folks back home" before she set the legislators to work again.

Jas. E. Ferguson announced the telegraphic poll showed 104 members of the house of representatives favored another special session, 3 oppose it and 10 were neutral.

Of the senate, he said, 18 members endorsed another session, nine were against and two could not be reached for an expression of opinion.

The date for which the session was called removes all question as to conflict in terms of members," Ferguson said.

He referred to the fact that the general election will be held on Nov. 6 and many new members of the legislature will be returned. Under the new election law, however, the returns do not become known officially until a week later.

TEACHERS INSTITUTE

The first meeting of Mills county teachers is called for Saturday, October 27, at 9 o'clock a. m. in the public school auditorium at Goldthwaite. All teachers of the county are urged to be present and all other persons interested in our schools are cordially invited.

Program

Response—C. A. Womack. Address to Teachers — Miss Opal Gilstrap, deputy state superintendent.

Curricula News—A. H. Smith. Teacher Organization in Mills County—Tolbert Patterson.

Afternoon: Entertainment — Lois Blackwell and Doris Scott. Interscholastic League Organization.

County superintendent's conference with rural teachers. Goldthwaite teachers will supply a musical program in the afternoon.

Come! Let us lay a foundation for more interesting meetings later in the year. A number of new teachers are in the county this year. Come and get acquainted.

ROCK SPRINGS

The faithful few were at Sunday school Sunday morning. I didn't find out what kind of program they had Sunday night.

There are 21 enrolled in school this week. Last week the teacher and children had a good time clearing up the underbrush and burning the trash. The grounds sure do look nice.

The drillers will be back at work again when you read the paper this week. If nothing bad happens we will soon know what is down under the ground. Jas. Nickols is taking his brother, Glenn's, place. So, since he is a new hand we hope he won't hinder in any way in finishing the well.

Miss Kathleen Cockrum spent Friday with Mrs. August Kauchs in town.

Phil Ford and Phillip Nickols from Abilene visited in the Nickols home Wednesday night. Phillip stayed until Thursday.

Phil Ford had business in Austin, while here. He also visited his parents here. His father went to Austin with him.

Mrs. J. T. Robertson is visiting her son, Walter, and family at Center City this week.

James Nickols has been doing quite a bit of horse swapping lately. Some times his trading looks pitiful. Some of his cheap sheep are not trying to live.

Some of the men and boys had to be in town Monday in order to help get through with court this week.

Landy Ellis and wife were in town all day Monday. Mrs. Ellis spent the day with her daughter, Mrs. Loy Long, while Mr. Ellis went to court.

Collier Ballard spent Sunday across the river. He is glad it is not too deep to wade. If it was too deep he could swim.

Mrs. Beryl Turner and babe visited in her parents home, the J. M. Traylor home, Friday and Saturday. She and some of her relatives went to Brownwood on Friday.

Mrs. Harvey Dunkle spent the afternoon with Mrs. Joe Roberts Tuesday in town.

Mrs. Eula Nickols called in the A. J. Harrison home Friday afternoon. She reported Max improving fast. He has been a very obedient child and we hope he can soon be up again.

Ira Dewbre and wife spent Saturday night with his parents.

Center Point and other communities were well represented at the party in the Nickols home Saturday night. The orchestra was fine. It was composed of a French harp, piano, mandolin and guitar. The 42 players didn't seem interested so they just enjoyed the music and snap. The small boys and girls had a good time, too, so they reported.

Sunday Loy Long and family and Shirley Nickols from town and his mother and Mrs. Glenn Nickols spent the day in the Ellis home. In the afternoon Ed Hufstutler and family and Richard Souders and wife visited in that home.

R. C. Webb accompanied Marvin Fowlledge from Lampasas to West Texas last week.

M. C. Morris and wife, who live east of town, spent Sunday in the Daniel and Dewbre homes.

Eagles vs. Dragons

The Goldthwaite Eagles played their first conference game with Coleman last Friday, Oct. 5. The score, though 13-0 in favor of the Bluecats, was well earned, for the Eagles showed no little amount of fight. The field was fixed for the night game by Coleman and was dedicated to their school by the town. It was the first regular night game that the Eagles have ever played.

The crowd numbered about 2000 people, about the most the Eagles have ever played before.

Todd showed up on the Eagle side, while Snodgrass showed up for the Bluecats. Both teams played hard, clean football and seemed to enjoy the game.

This week the Eagles play the Bang's Dragons for the first time in two years. The game will be called at 4 o'clock, this afternoon.

Pep Squad

The pep squad has been very busy since the last report. The girls have decided to build a "buzzard roost" at the football field, which will be used for the pep squad to stand on during the games. The girls sold candy on Saturday afternoon and made five dollars and thirty cents for the building of the roost.

The students of high school had a pep rally on the court house lawn Thursday night. A large crowd attended and it seemed to be a success.

Goldthwaite will play Bangs this afternoon at 4 o'clock. We hope that the students will be there boosting for the Eagles.

Junior Class Report

The junior class of Goldthwaite high school met Tuesday, Sept. 18, and elected officers and a faculty sponsor. The officers were as follows: Sponsor, Miss Vivian Campbell; president, Earl Harvey; vice president, Mary Clements; secretary-treasurer, Irene Ray; reporter, Florine Woody.

Wednesday, Sept. 25, the junior class selected the class colors, which are to be red and white. The class flowers will be red and white roses.

The class discussed its plans for this year, chiefly the junior-senior banquet. We plan to give the best banquet that has ever been given in the history of Goldthwaite high school. With a class of 36 pupils we feel sure that we shall have a good year.

Revelers Organized

Monday night, Oct. 8, the Glee Club boys met at Mrs. S. P. Sullivan's home for their weekly practice, and to elect officers for the year 1934-35. The following officers were elected: Woody Saylor, president; J. N. Bayley, secretary-treasurer; Harold Yarbrough, reporter.

The Revelers are working and already have several engagements for public approval. The Revelers also intend to participate in a state-wide contest for boys' glee clubs at Fort Worth next spring.

Freshman Class Report

The freshmen are going to have a good year, because they have made a good start and have a real good sponsor.

Physical Education Starts

Monday, Oct. 8, the high school started physical education. This training is compulsory to everyone. Mr. Cloninger has charge of the boys in general and Mr. Watson has charge of the indoor baseball events for the county meet.

Seniors Sponsor "The High School Herald"

The senior class of the Goldthwaite high school will sponsor each week the column "The High School Herald."

This column is sponsored in the interest of the people of Goldthwaite, so that they may see how the school is progressing, and take more interest in school activities.

The senior class wishes to thank Mr. Thompson for allowing them space for the school column.

Feels a Lot Better When Black-Draught Relieves Constipation

From many states come reports like the following from Mr. W. M. Henderson, of Jasper, Fla.: "I have been taking Thedford's Black-Draught twenty years. I take it for constipation that gives me a dull, tired, aching feeling, and I have headache, too. Black-Draught relieves me of this trouble. After a few doses, I feel as good as new. I keep it in my home. I have a big family. When one of us is ailing (from constipation), we take Black-Draught and almost always feel a lot better. It has been worth its weight in gold to my family." . . . Sold in 25¢ packages. "Children like the Syrup."

SOUTH BENNETT

There was a good crowd at Sunday school Sunday. Our crowd has been increasing the past few Sundays and we are hoping it will continue to increase.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Covington visited in the Clyde Featherston home one day last week.

Mmes. Clyde Featherston, M. L. Casbeer and Travis Griffin helped Mrs. B. R. Casbeer and Will Horton and J. M. Casbeer to can beef Wednesday.

Billie Smith was bitten by a snake one night last week and was rushed to the doctor, where aid was given at once. The kind of snake was not known, but was thought to have been a copper head. He is getting along all right and we sincerely hope he continues to do so.

Mohler Oglesby and family of Center City spent Sunday visiting with Walter Simpson and family.

A good crowd from this community attended the singing at Roy Simpson's at Live Oak Sunday night. There was some real good singing as well as a good crowd. Those who missed this occasion sure missed a treat.

The carpenter work has been completed on the M. L. Casbeer house and Mr. and Mrs. Casbeer have moved into it. Will Horton and J. M. Casbeer moved for them.

Mr. and Mrs. Dan Covington dined with Dick Griffin and family Sunday.

Vols Belle and Ila Mae Scribner, Henry and G. W. Simpson, Evelyn Covington and a few others that I didn't learn who they were, visited the Kuykendall girls Sunday afternoon.

Mrs. M. L. Casbeer and children and J. M. Casbeer visited Mrs. Clyde Featherston Thursday.

Will Horton visited in the Huffman home Saturday, Sunday and Monday nights. As this is only Tuesday morning, I can't say whether he will go tonight or not, but it seems to be a nightly visit now.

Elton Horton and family of Caradan, Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Casbeer and children and J. M. Casbeer visited B. R. Casbeer and wife Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Kuykendall visited Mr. and Mrs. Whitt Sunday.

Valeria Stacy visited her sister, Mrs. Clyde Featherston, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. D. O. Simpson, L. K. Simpson and Mrs. J. T. Morris visited Mr. and Mrs. B. R. Casbeer a short while Monday morning.

G. W. Simpson of Live Oak spent Saturday night and Sunday with Henry Simpson.

Mr. Inall and Jimmie Lee Huffman helped Willis Hill cut feed the first of the week.

Mrs. M. L. Casbeer made a visit with Mrs. Townsend Perry Saturday afternoon.

There was a party enjoyed in the Stacy home Saturday night. Mrs. B. R. Casbeer visited Mrs. Walter Jones Tuesday.

Edgar Simpson is having a new well drilled on his place.

M. L. Casbeer and Henry Simpson have been going to town this week. M. L. has been on the petit jury. ROSE BUD

PLEASANT GROVE

School started Monday with Supt. Hollis Blackwell and Miss Gladys Casbeer teaching. We hope to have a much better school this year than was before.

Mrs. Leonard Warren returned home Sunday afternoon from Temple, where she underwent an operation.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Moreland spent Sunday in Goldthwaite visiting in the Lee Berry home.

Miss Hazel Loe, who has been staying at Goldthwaite, returned home Saturday afternoon.

Mrs. Melvin Crawford and son spent Sunday visiting with Mrs. Harvey Jeffery.

Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Hurdle were visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Hurdle, Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. O. Z. Berry visited Mr. and Mrs. Dutch McKenzie at Goldthwaite Sunday.

Henry Allen Benningfield went to Hamilton one day last week.

Ernest Benningfield of Mount Olive was looking after business matters in this community Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ray Berry and children visited in the W. W. Berry home Sunday afternoon.

Little Miss Ina Beth Irwin entertained several of her little friends in her home Sunday with a nice birthday dinner.

Mr. and Mrs. J. D. Hodges spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Ira Horton and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Travis Griffin and children of South Bennett were visiting in this community Sunday.

Dealva and Cecil Virden spent a few hours visiting with their aunt, Mrs. Lee Benningfield, and family one afternoon last week.

Several of the people of this community are hauling water, while others are very near without.

Quey Irwin visited Troy Berry of Goldthwaite one day last week.

We are glad to have Miss Gladys Casbeer and Miss Myrtle Harbour back with us in Sunday school.

Charline Bryan visited her aunt, Mrs. Chester Frazier, a few days last week.

Several of the neighbors enjoyed ice cream in the O. Z. Berry home Saturday night.

Otha Lloyd Crawford has been sick and was carried to the doctor Monday morning.

Mrs. W. W. Berry visited Mrs. Leonard Warren Monday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Hoover Hodges and Mrs. Flora Hodges sat until bed time with J. D. Hodges and wife Saturday.

We invite all adjoining communities to come and help us sing Sunday night.

LIVE OAK

Miss Virginia Simpson is here from Fort Worth visiting with friends. She spent the summer in Colorado, but plans to make her home in Fort Worth. We are always glad to have Virginia with us.

Miss Louise and Juanita Harwell entertained the young people of our community with a party Friday night. Many interesting games were played. One of the most attractive was a "scavenger" hunt. Each couple was given a slip of paper on which was written the name of four articles. The couple who collected the articles named and returned them first, was awarded a prize. In a very few minutes the house was turned topsy-turvy by the eager couples in their scramble to find their articles. Miss Izetta Featherston and Francis Knight received the prize. Cake and cocoa were served. We all had a very enjoyable evening and hope that the Harwells will entertain again soon.

A number of the young people serenaded the newlyweds on Friday night. Frank Stevens and Miss Clara Bullard of Hamilton were married the week before. I don't think that they will forget our visit soon, at least not until they find all the furniture, and clothes and household utensils, which we hid.

Miss Christine Simpson visited at South Bennett Saturday night. She visited Miss Christine Denman Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Manuel entertained with a party Saturday night. The party was well attended and thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Simpson opened their home to the singers Sunday night. We were very glad to have the large representation from South Bennett present.

Mr. and Mrs. O. U. Tumlinson and family spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Smith of Lampasas.

Miss Margie Featherston spent Tuesday night with Miss Ruth Parker.

Floyd Manuel made a business trip to Fort Worth and Dallas last week.

EBONY

A. J. Caldwell of Howard Payne college at Brownwood, preached here Saturday night, Sunday morning and night.

Mrs. Rube Tanner from near Brownwood is visiting her father, W. E. McDorman.

Mrs. Tell Chaillette and little daughter, Mary, of Indian Creek, are visiting Mrs. Chaillette's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Crowder.

Mrs. Ode Henson of San Angelo visited her sister, Mrs. Allen Lovelace, last week.

Will Kelly and Fred Kelly of San Angelo visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Kelly, here last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wood Roberts visited their daughter, Mrs. P. R. Reid, Sunday after church.

Bro. Caldwell took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Josh Philen Sunday.

Miss Alline Lovelace, who is attending Daniel Baker college at Brownwood, spent the week end at home.

Robert Lee Ratliff of San Angelo spent the week end with his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. S. N. Kelly.

Ralph Wilmeth, who is teaching at Milburn, spent the week end at home.

Joyce Lovelace spent Sunday night with Avis McDermott.

R. M. Haynes, J. R. Briley and W. M. Clements are on the jury this week.

Mr. and Mrs. George Goins and children of Regency visited Mr. and Mrs. Walter Minica Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Austin Cawyer and Edna Beth of Valley Spring spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Dwyer.

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Beeman spent the week end with Mrs. Beeman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Crowder.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Wilmeth, Mrs. Clara Wilmeth and Mrs. J. R. Briley visited at the Dwyer home Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Crowder, Miss Letty Crowder and F. L. Jr. attended church here Sunday.

Gene Wilmeth and Lillard Wilmeth attended church at Milburn Sunday.

SUPPLEMENT TO HIGH SCHOOL HERALD

Senior Class Organized
 Wednesday, Sept. 19, 1934, the members of the senior class of Goldthwaite high school met in their home room to organize.

Mary Louise Fairman acted as chairman and called the house to order and the officers and sponsors were elected as follows: President, Bill Todd; vice president, Gerty Johnson; secretary, Wallace Johnson; treasurer, Ima Lois Bayley; reporter, Daffy Evans; faculty, Mrs. Barnett and Miss Cox, sponsors.

There are 45 in the senior class and they are all proud of the fact that they are "dignified" seniors.

Senior Class Selects Ring

The senior class have selected their class rings. The first period Thursday, Sept. 28, the seniors met and looked at all the rings displayed. After a short discussion the house came to order for the vote. Mr. Smith, acting as chairman, seemed well pleased, when the entire class voted for the same ring.

Senior Project

Friday, Oct. 5, 1934, the senior class met to discuss the senior project for this year.

Last year the seniors made money all year and placed forty-four opera seats in the junior high school auditorium. This project took much time, energy and encouragement, but at the end of school it was a pleasure for each of the seniors to leave in their memory, a seat with a silver plate on the back and their individual name on it.

The seniors voted to take up the same project and add as many seats as there are members. We have high hopes and with the faithful help of the P. T. A. and the co-operation of the citizens of Goldthwaite we will succeed.

CARD OF THANKS

Members of the Hunt and Duncan families desire to express their grateful thanks to the neighbors and other friends of Mrs. M. E. Hunt for the great kindness and care shown her during her last illness and the help and sympathy offered the members of the bereaved family after her death, also for the flowers provided for the funeral, all of which will long be remembered by them all.

STOP THAT ITCHING

"OLD TIMERS"

MORE than 5,800,000,000 seconds have been ticked off by the grandfather clock standing in the Dorchester, Mass., office of W. M. Robbins, vice president of Walter Baker & Company, Inc. Built 1749, this venerable timepiece had already earned several service stripes when the Baker organization was founded in 1765. This highly prized antique is shown here with Daniel S. Campbell, the chief Baker employe in point of time. He has been with the company 25 years.

A REASONABLE CHARGE

The Eagle must observe its rule of long standing of making a small charge for articles written by persons giving their views on any public issue. Matters of public record or on current events are news, but private views in advocacy or opposition to political or personal issues come legitimately under the head of advertising. There is no good reason for expecting to give voice to one's views at the paper's expense. The editor pays a good price for this privilege, as the preparation of every line for publication costs real money.

SCHOOL NEWS

The new school bus is driven by W. C. Scrivner and he enjoys the trips especially now, as the roads have been wonderfully improved and in good shape.

The bus is very popular and many of the town pupils would like to camp temporarily out on the route at the farthest point and enjoy the rides. The pupils on this route have had hardships for years to overcome. Some came by private conveyance to school. Others walked when possible and a few were deprived of school advantages.

Now the bus privileges are doubly appreciated and we rejoice with these pupils and their parents over the splendid opportunity they have to be conveyed comfortably to school. The pupils, will no doubt, be more prompt in attendance and do better school work and excellent results will be obtained.

FINE CROWD

A jolly crowd was in town Saturday, trading and looking after business. The merchants report a good trade and everybody seemed in a happy frame of mind and were enjoying the greetings of old friends.

The cool October days and nights have been both profitable and pleasant and beneficial to man and beast as well as vegetation in general.

A number of our citizens are now enjoying good fall gardens and when the rains come, just watch them grow.

THE POINTER

Published by the teachers and students of the Center Point school.

Editor—Merlene Stark

Assistant editor—Clairene Dennis

Girls' sport reporter—Doris Newman

Boys' sport reporter—Eammon Perry

The Center Point school opened Monday, October 1, under the supervision of the following teachers: E. W. Robbins, principal; Miss Gertrude Frye, Miss Loraine Duey, assistants. There were several patrons at the opening of school and each patron assured the teachers of their earnest co-operation. There was a large enrollment, exceeding expectation. We wish and expect a very successful year of school.

We have a new windmill and water fountains, which are more sanitary and a great improvement to the school.

The girls have a volley ball and are striving to obtain the knowledge of how it is played successfully. Come on one of teams that is raring to go.

The playground ball remained unorganized.

The fourth, fifth and sixth grades organized a "Better English and Reading Club" Friday, October 5, with the following officers: President, Oran Perry Stark; vice president, Mae Ellen Williams; secretary, Lucille Taylor; counselor, Miss Frye; poster committee, Norma Lee Harmon, Florence Elizabeth Davis, Sherman Perry, Gerald Davis; color, green and pink; motto, "Correct English and Good Reading Is the Key to Happiness."

The club will meet twice a month.

The primary folks are glad to be back at school again, after an enjoyable vacation. They have an enrollment of 26 in their room, and nine are beginners. They have resolved to work while they play.

Due to lack of seats for our enrollment this year, the trustees are having some desks repaired.

Miss Gladys Perry visited the school Friday afternoon.

Willard Davis was a visitor at school Friday.

Miss Edna Harman visited the school Monday afternoon.

We are always glad to have visitors visit us.

Gus Henry Myers was absent several days last week on account of sickness.

Doris and Anna Beth Davis were absent Friday.

The Wesson and Taylor children were called home Tuesday morning on account of the death of their cousin, Miss Lessie Shelton. We were very sorry to hear of her death and wish to express our sympathy to the loved ones.

Humor

Marjorie Hazel Williams was just home after her first day at school: "Well, darling," asked her mother, "What did they teach you?"

"Not much," replied Marjorie Hazel, "I've got to go again."

Mr. Robbins: "Where do you place your tongue when you say 't'?"

L. D.: "In the top of your head."

Mr. Robbins: "If you are unable to spell a word correctly, what should you do?"

"Deward: "Spell it as near right as you can."

Give the Eagle your order for N. R. A. cuts for your advertising. We can also order rubber stamps of the same style.

The World Moves On!

Lutheran Convention Issue

Dr. Martin Luther (above) translating the Bible in his chamber at the Wartburg Castle, Germany, 1534. Luther's translation of the Scriptures unified the country's numerous dialects into an accepted German speech, which is practically that of today. As a result of Luther's work, one may obtain the Bible today in the languages of 1000 different peoples. Besides the two great churches noted on this page, millions of Christians in other communities are recognizing the event this Fall.

St. Paul's Lutheran Church, Waverly, Iowa, in which the sessions of Second Biennial Convention of the American Lutheran Church will be held Oct. 12th to 18th. Insert the Rev. Carl C. Hein, D.D., of Columbus, Ohio, its president. This group within the Lutheran Church is organized in 15 districts in the U. S. and Canada its strength centering in the middle Western States. A Celebration of Quadrcentennial of Luther's Translation of the Bible will share the program with action toward closer relations among Lutheran bodies and more effective contact with current public opinion.

Lutheran Church of the Ascension, Savannah, Ga., where the United Lutheran Church will open its Ninth Biennial Convention on Oct. 17th. (Insert) The Reverend Frederick H. Knobel, D. D., L.L.D., of New York City, its president. The convention will comprise delegates from 34 synods in the United States and Canada. High spots of its program will be consideration of Lutheran Church Unity; debate upon motion picture reform and other social problems, and celebrations, respectively, of the Bible Translation Anniversary and the 500th Anniversary of the landing of the Salzburg exiles at Savannah.

A "SANHEDRIN" MEETING.—The care with which the Luther Translation of the Scriptures was used is indicated by the fact that he called on Wittenberg University professors into weekly consultation. He referred to them as his "Sanhedrin." All the scholars of note, theologians from other schools were consulted also. Hebrew, Greek, Latin, Chaldee and German entered into the discussions. Luther's word was final.

Election Tickets Prepared

The tickets, for use in the general election to be held Nov. 6, have been prepared and absentee voting will begin Wednesday of next week—Oct. 17. A sample ballot is printed in this issue, in order that all readers may post themselves in advance of going to the polls to vote. The proposed constitutional amendments are really all that the voters need to study, for they all know how to vote on the candidates. All are familiar with the requirement contained in the political party test obligating those who participated in the primary election to support the nominees in the general election. Many voters did not participate in the primary and are, therefore, free to vote for whom they please. One requirement is made of them, however, and that is to write the names of those for whom they desire to vote in the unheaded ticket; provided, of course, they do not desire to vote for those whose names are printed on the ticket. As an example: One desiring to scratch the name of a candidate on the Democratic ticket must then write the other name in the unheaded ticket, not in the Democratic ticket. Be sure to mark out the names on all other tickets if you want to vote the right Democratic ticket. If one fails to mark out all names on other tickets the vote does not count. There are six columns. Run a line through the other five columns if you vote any one of the party tickets. Above all, read the proposed amendments carefully. If the information contained on the ticket is not sufficient, ask the presiding officer of the election.

Centennial Celebration

An order has been issued to Texas highway patrolmen to brush up on their Texas history, that they may be prepared to entertain and give information to visitors from other states who come to Texas to view the displays of progress and join in the celebration of the one hundredth political birthday of the Lone Star state. The advice to the patrolmen is good for all other residents of the state. A good impression can be made on visitors by beautified highways, fine exhibits of achievement and development in the state, but a far greater influence will be exerted on the visitors if citizens of this state are able to tell them of some of the glorious history of our great state and tell it with knowledge and understanding, rather than in a recital of textbook expressions. Tell them of the Alamo, of course, but tell them also of the bloody battles fought by General Sam Houston and his forces and the other heroes. Tell them of the capture of Santa Anna, who termed himself "The Napoleon of the West," by a scouting party of six, one of whom was for many years and until his death a citizen of Mills and San Saba counties. Tell them of Goliad and of San Jacinto, of the ousting of E. J. Davis as governor and the installation of Richard Coke. Above all, tell them of the great advancement the state has made in a commercial, social and civic way and assure them of further advancement and development in Texas. We have a great state with a glorious history and the remains of some of the grandest heroes of any whose names ever emblazoned the pages of history are entombed in Texas soil. Most people appreciate Texas with its wonderful and inexhaustible resources and its patriotic and progressive citizenship, but all the world should be told of these things and the year of the Centennial will be a mighty good time to tell them all about it.

A Laudable Ambition

It is undoubtedly true that the primary ambition of all, or at least a great majority of people, is to assure adequate economic protection for themselves and their dependents in the way of providing for the future, but it is a fact that few attain that end. It is hard to determine the reason for this failure. Some writers and thinkers say the cause is that when people reach the meridian of life they have a feverish desire to attain independence before old age encroaches too far on their abilities, but this is not necessarily the prime or controlling reason for the fact that an overwhelming percentage of people become dependent in their old age, notwithstanding many have been wealthy or at least independent in earlier life. Many managed to build up sizeable estates, only to see them swept away by one financial misfortune or another. That was the case even before depression, and during the last few years an infinitely greater than normal number of people have faced the tragic problem of approaching old age with out money or savings. The aim to be followed in any savings plan is security, rather than profit—small dividends from investments which offer maximum protection to principal, are far better than possible large profits from unsafe investments. Whatever the plan, every man should prepare for old age. Dollars that are earned with comparative ease today will come hard indeed when the period of greatest productivity is over. Think of the years ahead. Especially is it necessary that young people realize the importance of making provisions for the future.

An Expected Ruling

A federal circuit court in Tennessee has ruled that the price fixing provisions of the National Recovery Act is unconstitutional and can not, therefore, be enforced. This was to have been expected and the wonder is that it has not come up for consideration by the federal courts before now. This ruling, to be sure, is not necessarily final and may yet come up for a decision by the higher federal courts, but the likelihood is the ruling will be allowed to stand. At the beginning of the enforcement of the act a requirement was made of Texas and other states that the anti-trust laws be abridged, so that the manufacturers, dealers and others engaged in the same line of business could conform to the National Recovery demands. The Tennessee court says price fixing is unauthorized by the act and was not the intent of congress at the outset.

Optimism Justified

It is not mere whistling to keep up their courage when the optimists tell us that the country is building back to normal and things are getting better. The federal banking system proves the facts and shows the improvement. Many banks that had been closed were re-opened in September. A large majority of the other banks closed as a result of the depression and frozen assets have secured approval of re-organization plans. In commercial affairs there were fifty-six fewer failures in Texas in September than in the previous month and lower than were recorded in the month of September a year ago. There are many other indications of improvement along various lines.

Health Hint

IMMUNIZING CHILDREN

The Schick test is the key to one of nature's secrets. It determines whether children are susceptible or immune to diphtheria. The medicine used consists of a highly diluted form of diphtheria toxin, several drops of which are carefully introduced between the outer layers of the skin, on the inner surface of the forearm.

This susceptibility test is entirely harmless. Fifty times the amount used for a child would be necessary to injure a small animal such as a guinea pig or mouse. The red area is nature's danger signal. Such a child, if exposed to diphtheria, might acquire the disease.

Seventy-five to 90 per cent of children under 12 are naturally susceptible to diphtheria. This information has been gained through Schick tests carried out on thousands of children in this country during the past decade or more. Young children should, therefore, receive immunizing treatments against the disease, without a preliminary Schick test. Such a test should, however, be carried out six months after preventive treatments, to make certain that immunity has been established. In older children and adults, a preliminary Schick test is advisable, since immunity may already be present.

During 1933, 632 children died of diphtheria in Texas. Nature has revealed the secret of susceptibility through the Schick test. With the knowledge of susceptibility, diphtheria could be reduced to the vanishing point if parents would have their family physician protect their children. — State Health Department.

BRAZIL MAY COMPETE IN COTTON RAISING

India, Egypt and Russia decreased cotton acreage in 1934, and their future cotton growing expansion seems limited. It has been seen in previous articles in this series, prepared from material furnished by the cotton section of the agricultural adjustment administration. China, it has been shown, is severely handicapped by need of land for food and by poor transportation, indicating that cotton acreage increased in China will probably come very slowly. In South America the situation is somewhat different. Brazil offers a real threat to American cotton supremacy.

It is believed that nearly all of that country, if cleared, would be suitable to cotton production. Brazil is larger than the United States. The 1933-34 crop is expected to total 630,000 bales. The previous five-year average was 514,000 bales per year.

Cotton has been grown in Brazil almost as long as it has been in the United States. Brazil must have real problems or cotton production would already have increased much more than it has. The greatest drawback is said to be in the character of the people. They farm an average of only 2 1/2 acres of cotton per farmer, and don't like to do that because of the hoeing and picking. They are a hunting and fishing type and will probably have to be replaced by imported farmers if cotton production is to expand much.

Brazil is a thinly settled country in no danger of food shortages as are India and China, but cotton expansion must await the clearing of dense hardwood forests as well as a change in type of people. It will require vast sums of money, probably from outside sources, to clear Brazilian lands for cultivation. Only the spur of unusually high cotton prices over a long period of years is apt to tempt investors.

Cost of production is so high that there is little immediate danger of serious competition from Brazil. During the past 12 months Brazilian cotton prices have declined more than those in any other important cotton growing country. This should tend to limit further increases. It is also believed that the present infestation of pink boll worm will help to restrict cotton production in Brazil for considerable time.

American cotton prices brought up to parity by the AAA cotton program will not be high enough, it is believed, to offer any great

OCTOBER RELIEF FUNDS

Two million dollars for general relief in Texas this month was granted Friday by Federal Relief Administrator Harry L. Hopkins, on condition that the state provide a like amount for November. Agreement was reached following a conference between Mr. Hopkins and Claud D. Teer, chairman of the state board of control. The money may be used both for direct relief and work relief.

The October advance was approved because Texas relief funds are exhausted and no revenue will be available for several weeks from the sale of relief bonds. Gov. Miriam A. Ferguson had asked for $1,000,000 to be repaid from state funds another $1,000,000 grant to be matched with state funds. Instead, Mr. Hopkins approved a federal grant of $2,000,000 available for November from state funds.

Mr. Teer said the $2,000,000 federal allotment for October would be spent in accordance with conditions laid down by the last legislature, which stipulated that not less than $350,000 monthly be applied to work relief. Other budgeting stipulations of the state law will be followed in the expenditure of the federal funds for October, including such items as 7 1/2 per cent for hospitalization and tubercular treatment and 1 per cent for handling commodities.

In addition to the $2,000,000 granted Friday, the FERA earlier in the week advanced $3,581,000 for October, which need not be matched with state funds, making a total of $5,581,000.

—EDITORIAL COMMENT—

VIEWES OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

FORCING DEFLATION MAY INJURE CHINA

Further evidence that China doesn't highly appreciate our effort to increase her buying power by increasing the price of silver, the base for her money, is given in the protest just lodged with our state department by Finance Minister Kung of the Nanking government.

Minister Kung points out that American revaluation of silver not only is a manipulation of American money values, but affects China's money even more directly, and disturbs all her domestic conditions. As the value of silver increases the Chinese find themselves forced to ask more for their exportable products while they pay less for their imported products; in other words, their sales are made more difficult; purchase of foreign products is made easier, while all domestic prices decline, instituting a severe deflation.

The American process of depressing the value of the dollar was, of course, just the opposite; it lowered the price of our exportable goods, in terms of foreign moneys, increased the price of imported products, in terms of our own money, and tended to increase the price of all home sold commodities.

Thus when we seek inflation by the silver program we force deflation on China, involving all the stagnation of business and industry which goes with such a process.

Naturally China protests. She may even undertake drastic steps to defeat our purpose. She may abandon silver money for gold; and thereby probably end bimetalism experiments forever. Such a course on her part would virtually destroy the money of the remaining silver-money countries.

On the other hand China may struggle along with the present situation as best she can. But the picture should open the eyes of those strange silverites in the United States who have banked heavily on the claim that by increasing the value of silver we would increase automatically our business with China.

We wouldn't; we would help wreck it.—Houston Chronicle.

SAFETY FIRST

The National Safety Council is seeking to make a thorough investigation of road accidents. The rapid increase in these, especially in cities, is attributed largely to liquor drinking. It is not that drivers are necessarily reary drunk but that they have drunk enough to make them careless and inclined to be reckless. They run through red lights and race around corners, compete on the highway with moving trains speed up hills not knowing what is on top, pass other cars carelessly and exceed the speed laws in city streets.

In court it seems obvious that they were not drunk, merely careless or incompetent, so that no serious punishment is inflicted, such as the loss of license, heavy fine or imprisonment in the case of severe accidents.

In Europe, where accidents also are multiplying, punishments for those suspected of drinking are usually severe. Revocation of license, jail terms and heavy fines are common. Our states and cities are gradually becoming aware of the danger of drinking and careless drivers and they are following Europe in stricter enforcement.—Dallas News.

PIE COUNTER

See where another benighted newspaper man was led to the pie counter when M. Y. Stokes, of the Goldthwaite Eagle, was appointed postmaster of that town. It will probably mean the raining of a mighty good newspaperman, but Stokes asked for it and we are glad he got it. Others of our fraternity are found to have a place at the pie counter. All are good and loyal Democrats and richly deserve the places given them. They also have the ability to do the job in a great way and we are proud to congratulate them.—Rising Star Record.

SENSE FOR A SENSELESS STRIKE

The president's special board of inquiry into the textile strikes has done a good job. It has decided that national unionization of the textile industry is not now feasible, it definitely advises the strikers to go back to work, and recommends that employers accept them without individual discrimination. It proposes a special board for the industry to examine the grievances of the employes and adjust them. The present controversy is to be settled by a presidential decision after the facts have been ascertained by competent inquiry and aired in a hearing.

All of this might well have been done before the strike was called, but the haste of the leaders in plunging their followers into a strike which could not win may be pardoned in view of the long-prevailing bent of the administration toward the fallacious idea that wages are entirely a matter of good will on the part of employers regardless of economic realities.

This destructive strike would hardly have made a ripple if the local authorities everywhere had promptly moved to maintain law and order and individual rights. Its apparent extent was largely the product of terrorism which sought to impose the will of a minority upon a majority of the workers. This is not to say that there is no chance to improve the lot of the workers in the textile industry, but it is to say that an emotional strike is no way to deal with a complex industrial problem.

The finding of the inquiry board that national unionization is of wide significance. It is the best thing that has happened yet to that trouble-making 7 (a) article of the Industrial Relations Act. It gives hope that industry may be saved from central labor dictatorship and be enabled to deal locally with local situations—but in accordance with general principles and supervision designed to prevent the exploitation of labor.—The Magazine of Wall Street.

A FINAL EFFORT

Under the new emergency set up, Donald R. Richberg is virtually assistant president of the United States, accountable only to President Roosevelt and working directly with the White House.

Combining of the several phases of federal activity in behalf of recovery under one board of five members, headed by Richberg, should result in greater efficiency, possibly in much better results.

Not only NRA but the entire recovery program has been faltering of recent months, and President Roosevelt's personal assumption of direction, through Richberg, represents a coldly-calculated effort to salvage it from failure and carry it on to success.

Not one to let things drift, the president is determined to leave no stone unturned to save the major features of the New Deal and bring about recovery. There is nothing frantic or hurried in the latest developments. On the other hand there are signs that the president and his advisors are acting with cool deliberation and taking no chances. This time, the program must succeed or be pronounced a failure.

The country has confidence in the president, and is eager to see his recovery plans succeed. Public support will be had in plenty.—Abilene News.

A WOMAN PRESIDENT?

A woman president of the United States? A lot of men might scoff at such a question and say it is impossible. But there is nothing in the constitution of the United States that would prevent a woman from holding the office of president. This was true even before adoption of woman suffrage. Now "a woman president of the United States within a generation" has been predicted. Miss Lillian D. Rock, secretary of the National Association of Women Lawyers, says: "I expect that within my

THE BEST SELLER

From "Our Heritage," the report in popular form of the British and Foreign Bible Society for 1933, it appears that nearly 11,000,000 copies of the Bible in various tongues were issued and distributed last year. England took 855,000, Europe as a whole nearly 1,000,000, Asia 6,700,000. In China, divided and distraught as it is, 3,900,000 copies were sold. Translations into eleven new languages were made. This brings the list of the society's translations to 678. "Let every tribe and every tongue,"—the society is carrying out the spirit of Coronation.

While peace is spoken unto the heathen of Africa in nine more languages, how fares it with that inestimable treasure, the English Bible? The author of the report is despondent:

"We possess a Bible in the sense that we have it in our homes and in our churches, but in the deepest sense do we possess our possessions? The English Bible is today neglected by great masses of the people. They perceive no beauty in its literature, no guidance in its teachings, no power in its message."

What is the case in the United States? In spite of the immense extent of Bible teaching, are there not too many signs of a curious and discreditable ignorance of the Bible among many Americans, even the intelligent? Leaving out considerations of religion, the King James version is a great monument of the language. Much of the noblest thought, poetry, imagination, wisdom, the world has known is there transmuted into the noblest English. Many Biblical phrases have made their way into the common speech and are used, often mutilated, every day, unconsciously, without thought of their origin. How many younger readers of "Many Inventions," or "The Valley of Decision" recognized the source of those titles? Newspaper writers are sometimes surprised to find that familiar biblical quotations or allusions are unknown to some readers. Why do our civilized heathen deny themselves enlightenment?—New York Times.

MOTORS AND MOON

Motors are senseless mechanisms which can wreck themselves and others without a moment's warning, but could not in a thousand years repair a single break or a fault in themselves. They will perform wonders under competent direction, but can do nothing for themselves. Somebody ought to invent an automobile with brains under its hood, so that a brainless driver may be relieved of the responsibility to which he is inadequate. Learned men sometimes tell us that the universe just happened that it was not created, and that there is no creator who could repair it if it went bad. At the same time they tell us that the moon was torn off some other planet and was accidentally assigned to a position in the astral scheme whereby it could go ahead and be a regular moon. Might not the lowly listener ask why automobiles do not create themselves without help from a creator, and why a wheel thrown off from a car on the highway may not attach itself to another car and help run it? The moon was thrown off, we are told by some, yet it helps run the solar system. Why not a lost wheel pick itself up, dust itself off and start revolving with the assurance that characterizes the moon? Science tells us many things, but doesn't tell us half as much as we would like to know.—State Press in Dallas News.

own lifetime some brilliant woman will make her way from the ballot box to the presidency. All of our country's presidents have gone forth from women. What is going to prevent woman herself from going forth to occupy this exalted post? Indeed, I will be sadly disappointed if, within the next decade, a woman is not made at least vice president. ITEMS FROM LOCAL PAPERS OF TOWNS MENTIONED

Hamilton

Over 5000 sheep have been purchased and out of this number only 1200 were received in condition for shipment.

The cotton census report shows that there were 4099 bales of cotton ginned in Hamilton county from the crop of 1934 prior to September 16, as compared with 6122 bales ginned to Sept. 16, crop of 1933.

A residence in northwest Hamilton, belonging to Mrs. T. E. Streater and occupied by W. S. Moore and family, was damaged by fire on Wednesday afternoon at about 2 o'clock.

Paul Smith, son of Mrs. Lillian Smith and grandson of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Petree, was complimented on the eve of his departure for Lubbock to enter Texas Tech as a student, with a dinner party at the Atkinson House.

A very extraordinary occurrence is for a mother and her child to have identical birthday anniversaries. However, this is true of Mrs. Ida Kuklies and her youngest daughter, Elna Kuklies, of the Springdale community who celebrate their birthdays on September 26.

D. D. Enyeart, geologist of Waco, says they got the wrong man in the Lindbergh case. Enyeart saw the kidnaping in a vision the day after it happened, he says, and it was a Mexican, in a white hat with a yellow band, and with a long black mustache, who stole the child and then killed him. He did it, says Enyeart, for spite, not ransom, and in his vision, Enyeart says the Mexican crossed the border into Mexico.

W. A. McGlothlin, of the Emery community, well known here, was brought to the Hamilton sanitarium Sunday for the attention of surgeons, following an accident in which he sustained two mangled fingers of his right hand. On account of water shortage on the place of Ernest McGlothlin, son of the injured man, several men were engaged in an effort to increase the supply by a re-arrangement of some pipes. W. A. McGlothlin, in handling the piping, had the misfortune to get his fingers caught and mangled, when a portion of the heavy pipe slipped from the hands of the other men and fell to the ground.—Herald-Record.

San Saba

Miss Johnnie Weatherby, student in Baylor University, Waco, spent the week end at home.

Doc McNeill of Mullin was a business visitor in San Saba last week and was a pleasant and appreciated caller at the News office.

Mrs. Irene Gibson, case worker from the San Saba county relief office, will leave the latter part of the week for Dallas, where she will take a six-weeks course in training for welfare work.

A number of men were put to work by Allhands & Davis construction company of Dallas, on the five and two-tenths miles of state project highway work, south of the city on highway 81, Monday morning.

According to Special Agent Bob Norris, the census report shows that there were 2209 bales of cotton ginner in San Saba county from the crop of 1934, prior to Sept. 16, as compared with 3206 bales ginned to Sept. 16, 1933.—News.

Miss Nell Skaggs of Brady visited friends here last Friday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. H. DeWolfe averted a serious accident last Sunday morning while en route to Fort Worth, when their automobile collided with a truck that skidded crosswise on the highway.

L. M. Stone of San Saba left for Teague to visit his son, B. F. Stone, who was injured in an automobile accident four miles south of Buffalo, near Corsicana, and C. G. Robinson, 26, was killed in the accident.

Mrs. Bertha Jones, case supervisor of the San Saba relief office, announces that two sewing rooms, here and at Richland Springs, will open November 1, to make clothes out of government material for the relief rolls.—Star.

Brownwood

Mrs. O. T. Shugart, a prominent worker in the Central Methodist church, has resigned as teacher of a class of boys at Central, after having served continuously for forty-five years as a Sunday school teacher.

Rev. Noel P. Wilkinson, son of Judge and Mrs. T. C. Wilkinson of Brownwood, was formally installed Sunday night, September 30, as pastor of the Presbyterian church at Eldorado.

The residence of W. J. Brewer at 1808 Avenue B, Brownwood, was totally destroyed by fire on Friday afternoon, with a total loss of about $2000. The fire started when a pan of paraffin, which was being melted on a cook stove, caught fire.

Approximately 2500 people registered at the national reemployment service offices, which were maintained in Brownwood for one year. The office was closed September 15, when PWA work was stopped in Brown county.

William Boland Green, 72, a pioneer citizen of the Blanket community, was fatally injured last Thursday morning, when he was pulled from a horse and suffered a broken neck. Mr. Green died the following morning in a Brownwood hospital, where he was taken, after being found by two neighbors. He was conscious when found and was able to tell how he was injured.—Banner.

Comanche

Comyn, DeLeon, Duster and Bowman communities, each had agricultural booths at the DeLeon free fall fair last week.

Comanche county stockmen and farmers have been paid a total of $55,000 for cattle bought under the government plan.

Open season on ducks will begin October 26 and continue to December 30, but this year nimrods will be allowed to hunt these birds only three days a week—Fridays, Saturdays and Sundays.

The Comanche Indians and the Goldthwaite Eagles fought bitterly through a fifty-minute game Friday without either team being able to score in a contest at the Comanche park, which opened the home schedule for the season.

Stagg Creek was awarded the next meeting of the Comanche county singing convention by a vote of the singers who attended the session at Van Dyke recently. The Stagg Creek meeting will be held the fourth Sunday in December.—Chief.

Lometa

Mrs. Mont. Swain and Miss Josephine went to Temple Tuesday for a visit with relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. Spinks of Goldthwaite were visitors in the Jno. Shelton home Wednesday.

Commissioner Medart is starting this week or has started the graveling of the road to the Live Oak school house.

Resident Engineer T. H. Dillon was in Austin Monday on matters pertaining to 74-A and was highly elated over the encouraging report given him.

According to Van Hereford who has charge of the shipping of government bought cattle and sheep, there have been shipped from Lometa up to Tuesday of this week 1136 head of sheep.

J. H. Spangler this week notified Scoutmaster Elma Nance that the Santa Fe had donated the Lometa Scout troop a box car, which they will move to the vacant lot just back of the Humble Filling Station, and it will be used as a permanent home for the scouts.—Reporter.

Lampasas

More than 11,000 sheep have been purchased in Lampasas county to date by the government.

Completing 123 garments this week at Wednesday night the relief sewing project workers brought their total since the start, Sept. 21, to 400 garments. Shirts, dresses, underclothes for the entire family are being made by these workers, materials and equipment being furnished by the Texas relief commission.

STYLES IN NEW YORK

New Hat Fashions

High hatting is the smart fashion news of the moment—but it's new and youthful height in hats with toques and turbans, and crowns—often Cossack in origin and, in various interesting manipulations, being featured by such exponents of chapeaux de luxe as Lily Dache, Louisesanders, John-Fredericks nad La Mode Chez Tappe. Hats for day time, sports, dressy afternoon, dinner and evening in these smart New York collections are characterized further by a wealth of new materials. There are soft new antelope, velvet felts and velours stressed for day with velvets, lames, metal cloth, tulle, embroidered net and novelty materials including silver and gold paillettes and slit cellulose film important for evening—the latter stylings often with open tops to show the coiffure and many with veils—some featuring them around the chin—Egyptian influence.

One of the newest models—paradoxical as it sounds—features height, depth and shallowness—height in front, depth at back and a shallow crown effect. Important also in this collection are pill box turbans, porch front hats and hats with long narrow lines from front to back, these often with feather trims.

High crowns are stressed in soft new felts and velours, the latter featuring, particularly for evening, the close-fitting tricorn in metal net, and for dressy afternoon, the close-fitting Persian lamb.

Another collection—stressing the high turban in a very chic and youthful version—features it in soft felts and velours, often wider at the top and higher in front, with some stunning models having the lower part of flat fur. Some are accented by stiff little side cockades of grosgrain ribbon or stiff little brush aigrettes. For dressier wear, there are velvet turbans with high drapings and others with the entire hat made of fur with a slight suspicion of draping. For evening there are interesting versions of the Cossack stylings carried out in lames, metal cloth and velvets. A stunning dressy model is made of rondelles of felt, and accented by a sheer little veil with an intricate edge, which harmonizes in its shiny glistening blackness a daring little Dicky bird of jet perched over the eye.

The close alliance of hats with other accessories is smartly illustrated in this collection—in hat, collar and handbag sets featured in the above mentioned fabrics and in the new gold brocades. Decidedly smart for formal wear is a hat, bag and collar set in a rich gold brocade (taffeta twenty karat gold)—the hat in tight fitting turban styling with Cleopatra wings over the ears and matching a stiff little collar of the same material, which fits snugly around the neck and finished off in front with a tab and gold tassel. The handbag—a tailored smallish flat back strap pouch is also of the same gold brocade. Another formal evening set, in a bright gold lame, features a close-fitting little tricorn with cuff of the material in interwoven lacings and the top with open spacings to show the coiffure. Complementing the hat is a cape-like collar with the same interwoven lacings in a high bateau neckline, the lacings made of narrow bias cords of the lame and extending down some nine or ten inches from the neckline.

A glorified version of the net, is made of beautiful shirred black velvet that stands out in ruffle effect on either side—high on one side and sweeping low on the other—a very youthful and flattering effect.

Costume Jewelry—The current mode, characterized by a greater richness and elegance of fabrics, has given a new style interest to costume jewelry which, in its smartest interpretations is, as it should be, classic in its simplicity. Gold metals are in great favor, as are composition and combinations of metal and composition for daytime, while pearls and rhinestones are decidedly important for evening. There are interesting revivals of "old jewelry" stylings, as, for example, the "Grandmother's Gate Bracelet" —which is interpreted in a wide gold metal band that works on hinges, and which is accented in some very effective models by effective are those featuring a composition trim. Particularly single large square of the composition in various jewel tones embedded in the gold metal band.

The demand for glittering accents in the mode is achieved in this collection in smart stylings in a new mesh jewelry known as "Joan d' Arc"—jewelry that well might be classified as dress trims—including, as it does, these mesh effects carried out in glittering belts and triangular scarfs—soft and supple gold and silver lacquered metals, which easily convert the plainest frock into a glamorous costume for dressy occasions. There are wide band bracelets in this same lacquered mesh effect but firmly supported in a foundation of composition which outlines it on either side.

Outstanding among the hair ornaments for evening is the flexible headband—featuring rhinestones arranged in rather wide spacings on very flexible little gold and silver wires, and giving the effect in the hair of delicate little twinkling stars. This little jeweled headband and a little Juliet cap carried out in the same manner promise to take the place of the stiff and upstanding tiara of last season's evening coiffure mode. For day time there are new little combs and clips—often Spanish in feeling.

Pearls, which are always smart particularly with velvet, are favored this season in sixteen, eighteen and twenty-inch strands, as well as in choker stylings.

If AILING EYES were CRIPPLED LEGS

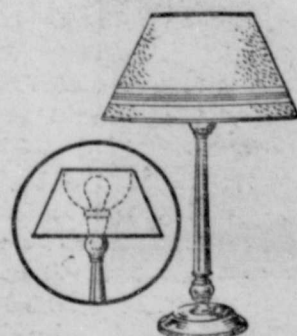

ONE child in every FIVE would need crutches

It is an appalling fact that 20% of the children of school age—one child in five—suffer from defective vision. And this total mounts so rapidly that 40% of our young people are wearing glasses, or should be, at college age.

The new Science of Seeing shows that much of this eye trouble comes from one preventable cause—inadequate light. Here is a typical case—a child spends several hours a day studying or reading in poor light. Instinctively she forms the bad habit of holding the book too close to her eyes. Her eyes adjust themselves to this wrong reading distance—and she eventually becomes near-sighted.

If your child holds a book less than 14 inches from her eyes, there are two things you should do. First, have her eyes examined by a competent eye specialist. Second, check your reading lamps and see that lamp bulb sizes meet these scientifically correct standards: one 100-watt, two 60's or three 40's, according to the number of sockets.

We will gladly help you solve your lighting problems. There is no charge for this service.

The New Study Lamp

Designed by the Illuminating Engineering Society, this scientifically correct study lamp provides 5 to 10 times as much light as ordinary lamps. It is 28 inches tall—the height prescribed by science—and is equipped with a white glass diffuser which distributes the light evenly without glare or harsh contrast. The shade is lined with pure white pigment.
