

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

VOLUME FORTY-ONE

GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, NOVEMBER 16, 1934.

NUMBER TWELVE

A Fine Rain Falls Here

Rain estimated at from two to three inches fell in Goldthwaite and over most of the county Tuesday night and Wednesday.

The rain commenced to fall in this city about 4 o'clock Wednesday morning, but had been falling in the Mullin section some time before that hour, some reports being that the fall started about 1 o'clock in the morning.

The fall was slow and steady, which was the very kind needed to go into the ground, although there was sufficient fall to make stock water in most places. Creeks were flushed and surface tanks were filled, all of which was needed.

Much small grain had been sown and it was already up or sprouted, which made the rain fall just right for the grain crops. The plowed ground also received great benefit from the rain and, in fact, all the lands were helped and it is thought grass will sprout in the pastures if a freeze does not follow too close on the rain.

This was the best rain to fall in the county for several months and it was badly needed, but the outlook is now greatly improved.

MILLS COUNTY GETS CATTLE QUOTA

A report from the county agent's office says: "The county agent's office is advised that a quota of 1000 cattle will be purchased by the government some time this month. Dr. E. D. Rhodes will take charge of the buying in Mills county as soon as he has finished in Hamilton and Comanche counties—probably the week beginning November 26.

Only condemned cows over 2 years old will be purchased. No calves, steers or bulls will be accepted. Producers who have never made application will be allowed to sell this time.

Necessary papers will be presented at pens when cattle are bought. No signing up is required. Cows will be accepted from all producers except those who sold all they desired before buying was restricted, September 12. We have a list of those whose selling was not restricted.

Any surplus left after others have a chance will be made available to those who sold before September 12.

Sufficient notice will be sent all producers eligible to deliver and concentration points will be made as convenient as possible to expedite the work.

DERELICTS ON ROLL

The policies are announced as being the desire of the Texas relief commission in regard to relief families who allow a part of their relief grant to be expended for alcoholic liquors.

Each case will be handled on its individual merits. In instances where knowledge is obtained by the local relief office that the head of the relief family is expending his funds for alcoholic liquors, that family shall receive no cash for work performed, but shall be paid in commodities only, and no direct relief shall be granted to such family. The same rules apply in respect to gambling and similar derelictions on the part of relief clients. Conviction in police court or frequent arraignment before any local court immediately brings the client within the scope of these instructions. If the head of the family refuses to perform work when he is not paid in cash, local relief offices are instructed to confer with public officials and prefer charges of vagrancy against the client. If the public official refuses to act, notification shall be given the Texas relief commission.

Hereafter clients classified as "derelicts" will be paid in kind only and after they have worked out a weekly budget.

Methodist Notes

I learn from competent authority that the service at the Methodist church last Sunday was up to the highest standard. I must depend upon the opinion of others for this information, as I was away, in attendance at the Central Texas conference at Fort Worth.

At the evening hour the Methodist folks were much in evidence at the Baptist church, where they heard a good sermon by the Rev. G. C. Ivins, a former pastor of the Baptist church here. Bro. Ivins was a popular pastor while here, and the people of all classes are his friends. Personally, I regret very much to have missed him.

In an attendance of almost half a century at Methodist conferences, I do not remember a session which gave such personal pleasure as this session. The old supernuantes were the subjects of special care and attention. They were all placed in the Hickman hotel, two blocks from the church, where the conference was held. Breakfast was furnished for them at the Elks lodge, a block from the hotel, and other meals were furnished in the great dining room of the million dollar First Methodist church. After such entertainment, it is difficult for this supernuante to settle down to the life of the supernuante again.

I think one of the most wonderful sermons I ever heard was on Friday afternoon of the conference. It was preached by the great Dr. T. Ferrier Hulme of Bristol, England. He is a young man. He will be eighty years young within the next four months. He is now traveling throughout the United States holding meetings and visiting American colleges. His ability and activity is a living contradiction to the idea that so often obtains that only the young men can be trusted with great responsibilities. For years, there has been a strong demand for young men in the pulpit. The prayer has been: "Lord, send us a kid that we may make merry with our friends." Such men as Dr. Hulme would be a credit to any pulpit and to any church in the world, where the people really think real preaching worthwhile.

I think no one enjoys more the real success of old friends and acquaintances than does the writer of these notes. This statement grows out of an experience while in Fort Worth the other day. At the conference session I met Mrs. Christian of Weatherford. Our people will remember her as Miss Zay Williams, the daughter of the late brilliant, big-hearted R. L. H. Williams, of Goldthwaite. In conversation with two ladies from Weatherford they told me that Mrs. Christian was one of the most faithful, intelligent, competent women in the church at that place. It was a joy to meet Miss Zay and to know of her faithfulness. I also met Miss Bina Renfro, the name by which she was familiarly known here, now Mrs. English. She took charge of a class of five people in one of the Fort Worth churches as their teacher, and has built her class up to seventy in number.

At the Methodist hospital I met Miss Clarice Ashley. A company of people went to visit that great hospital, the greatest in all the south. Clarice met us at the reception hall and was given the responsibility of guiding us over the building. While she had been there only three months, she seemed as familiar with every department as if she had helped to build the institution. Her brightness and her wonderful insight into the workings of the great hospital was a joy to the company who were with us.

I relate these things because of the fact that our people will be glad to know that these former Goldthwaite people are making good, and are being helpful in their sphere in the city where their lots have been cast.

Commissioners Hold Session

Commissioners court met Tuesday in regular monthly session. Monday was the regular day for the session, but it was changed to Tuesday this month, on account of Monday being observed as a holiday by many people.

The court transacted a considerable amount of business of a routine nature, such as auditing official reports and accounts against the county.

The most important business, outside of the routine, was passing an order employing W. P. Weaver another year as county agent. The state pays two-thirds of the county agent's salary. Without an agent the county would lose a great amount of benefit from government funds, which far more than equal the county's part of the agent's salary. Those familiar with Mr. Weaver's work feel that the county is indeed fortunate in having one of the most efficient and progressive agents in the state.

P. T. A. MEETING

The regular monthly session of the Parent Teachers' association was held on Tuesday afternoon of November 13. A very interesting program in remembrance of this being book week, was given by Miss Mary Bowles. The entire program centered around Charles Dickens, England's child writer. A rainbow dance by several tiny tots, illustrating his stories for children, a pantomime of a scene from Oliver Twist, and a sketch of Dicken's life given by Mrs. McDermott, made the program.

The treasurer reported $108.40 cleared on the Hallowe'en carnival, in addition to $20 cleared by the senior booth and kept by the senior class. At present, a balance of $179.83 is on record.

Allowance for replenishing the first aid kit was made. Two prizes for the carnival, one of which goes to the seventh grade for the cleverest division of the parade, the other to the third grade for the largest number present were allowed for.

The fourth grade was declared winner of the attendance prize for the meeting.

Five dollars was allowed Mr. Smith for interscholastic league purposes.

Ninety-nine members were reported up to date.

Appeal For Help

The chief business taken up during the meeting was that of caring for those who are among the unfortunate of our town and county. The association agreed to work with the national government in giving relief as much as possible. Patrons and friends, these unfortunate children who are unable to attend school and become worthy citizens, are going to grow up with our children and be members of the same society, so let's help them to become efficient citizens. We, not only can give clothes or food, but a kind word might help some heart-sick person to have a little confidence in the world about him.

The relief office reports a great need of clothing and bed clothing. If you have any of these articles that some child might be able to wear and thus keep him in school, then report to Mrs. Bowles at the relief office or to any other member of the welfare committee, which consists of Mrs. Bowles, Mrs. Wellie Saylor and Mrs. R. J. Gerald, and we are sure that you can be of help in some way. On the other hand, if you know of someone who needs help and is not receiving it, we shall appreciate your reporting it to the welfare committee.

Patrons and friends, let's all work together with our government and see if we can not all pass safely through this crisis without a loss of confidence in God and humanity. REPORTER

Cotton Pool Soon Closed

Those who have cotton certificates to be entered in the government pool must turn them in before November 24, else they can not be entered. There is a strong demand for these certificates and farmers having a surplus of them should notify the county agent at once. No use to take a chance on a loss on them or having to carry them over until next season.

A number of checks in payment for sheep were received by the county agent this week, but the remainder of the cotton, cattle and hog-corn checks had not been received up to yesterday. However, when the checks do come the county agent will notify those to whom they are to go.

TABERNACLE BURNED

The tabernacle belonging to the Baptist congregation and located on the lot with the Baptist church, was destroyed by fire last Sunday morning about 9:30 o'clock. It is supposed to have started from a defective flue, as fires had been started in the stoves prior to the discovery that the roof was on fire. The fire company responded to the alarm promptly, but the structure was dry and there was much inflammable material stored therein, causing the fire to spread so rapidly that it was impossible to save the structure and the fire fighters directed their attention to saving the church building and parsonage and other nearby buildings.

The loss is estimated at about $2000 and there was $900 insurance on the building and contents. A large number of chairs were burned, as was other furnishings.

PRIDDY P. T. A. AT WORK

The Priddy P. T. A. with Will Koch as president, Mrs. Ray Priddy as secretary, August Drueckhammer as vice president, Prof. Emmett Cunningham as treasurer and Weimar F. Hein as reporter, has begun a year of sundry activities.

A program committee composed of Miss Eleanor Tiemann, Mrs. Lillie Drueckhammer, Otto Kunkel, John Hiller, Walter J. Marwitz and Walter Dearson, in charge of the monthly P. T. A. program to be given on the fourth Friday evening of each month. Miss Tiemann is chairman of the program committee.

Thursday evening Nov. 8, the P. T. A. sponsored a supper and program for the Lions club of Comanche.

Friday evening, Nov. 9, the Priddy P. T. A. sponsored a 3-act play, "The Street Called Sham," which was presented by the Mullin P. T. A. The funds derived from such enterprises will be invested toward the installation of a permanent light system in the Priddy high school, the P. T. A. stellar project for 1934-35.

The program committee announced at its last meeting that a 3-act comedy would be presented at the next regular P. T. A. program on Friday evening, November 23. This comedy is presented by the Priddy sons of rest, headed by Walter J. Marwitz and will be presented under the auspices of the Priddy P. T. A.

There was good attendance of club members and most of the associate members were present. The program was on the Middle Eastern States.

Ginners Reports Show Decrease

Reports from Mills county ginners to the department of commerce show a decided decrease in cotton, as between this year and last year. The total given for the crop of 1934 up to Nov. 1, is 4260 bales, as against 6229 at the same date last year. This is about one-third decrease in cotton production for the county, but the increase in the price made more money for the growers than the larger crop.

Had it not been for the government's effort to curtail production, there would have been a much larger crop and the total received by the growers would have been much less than the amount received by them for the smaller crop.

Baptist Reminder Trades Day Next Monday

Of course we were somewhat upset by the fire last Sunday and did not have our Sunday school and B. T. S. I would like to remind you that we will go right ahead with all our services this week end.

The adult department of our Sunday school will meet in the Presbyterian church. This includes only four classes, namely: Athens, T. E. L. Men's Bible class and the Fidelis. All other classes will be held in the church auditorium. In order to avoid dragging our services we will have to meet promptly at 10 o'clock.

Our entire B. T. S. will meet in the church Sunday night. We will make definite announcement Sunday morning. Our B. T. S. will meet at 6 o'clock and the preaching hour will be 7 o'clock. This will be the last change in the time of service for the winter months. The B. T. S. will meet in their places Sunday night and make their reports and plan their programs and reassemble in a few minutes to hear Professor Havens of Howard Payne college speak to our B.T.S. It will be necessary for us to have a brief conference Sunday morning, since we had no service Wednesday evening. Let every member of our church be present. The pastor will preach at both services Sunday.

BAPTIST PROGRAM

Associational program for Mills county B. T. S. and Sunday school to be held with Caradan Baptist church Sunday afternoon, 2:30, November 25. Congregational song leader—Deacon Lee Stuart.

2:30-2:40—Devotional—Ed Obenaus.

Special music—Big Valley Baptist church.

2:40-3:00—The relationship of the Sunday school to the church—F. P. Bowman, superintendent of Goldthwaite Baptist church.

Special music—Big Valley.

3:00-3:20—When is a rural Sunday school a success—Bro. Byler, Sunday school superintendent, Trigger Mountain.

3:20-3:30—Awarding of the banner and announcing of the next meeting place.

There will be a banner awarded to the church that has the greatest number present and having traveled the most miles. Of course, it will have to be given on percentage basis, taken from the Associational Minutes. This will prevent the big church from having the advantage over the smaller, Trigger Mountain should have had the banner the last meeting held at Sealom. They had 30 present. Goldthwaite had 41, but their membership is larger, which brought the percentage down. We had five churches represented at the last meeting. Will your church be represented this time? COMMITTEE

Trades Day Next Monday

Big plans have been made for Trades Day next Monday. Not only do the livestock dealers and traders look forward to a good business and a large crowd, but the merchants are also planning for specials of various kinds, as will be seen by their advertising.

It is proposed by those responsible for the designation of a Trades Day to make it a regular monthly event in the town and provide an opportunity for the people to trade among themselves as well as buy goods and meet together in a social way.

Those who have property of any kind they desire to sell or trade will do well to join the crowd here Monday.

Wilford Schuster.

The biology class went on another field trip Monday morning to one of the student's farms.

A large collection of insects and some grass were gathered for experiments in the laboratory.

The members of the tenth grade were very glad to have another student, Lester Geeslin, in their class last week.

There are now five boys and eleven girls in the tenth grade.

In plane geometry we are studying about parallel lines. In Spanish we will study about the colonial life in Chile. In English we are still studying transitive and intransitive verbs, direct and indirect objects.

Ninth Grade News

The ninth grade pupils are working very hard and are trying to make this year a successful one. We were very sorry to hear that Matt Ivy shot himself in the leg and will not be back in school for a few weeks.

During algebra class the other day Mrs. Cunningham came running into the room and said, "Oh, Emmett, the baby has swallowed the yeast."

"Umph, you were always predicting she was bound to rise."

Imagine!

Cecil Fickel, not knowing his history lesson.
Hazel Eakins fat and funny.
Dora Mae Steinmann tall and fat.

Eighth Grade News

The eighth grade is called the willing workers by the English teacher, Miss Swindle, but Mr. Cunningham on the opposite calls us hambones, although he is the hambone.

We, the eighth grade class, are hoping to make this year a most successful year, as it is our first year in high school.

Imagine!

Mary June Perryman thin and frail.
Erwin Simms dried up and quiet during class.
Raymond Schrank walking bowlegged and pigeon toed.

The seventh grade pupils are now reading library books, on which they make reports. They are also learning new songs.

The following made a hundred in spelling all last week:

Fifth grade, Myrtle Schrank, Morene Schumann, Dorothy Langley, Minnie Stinmann, Oleta Walkers, Lorene Druckenhammer, Arnold Koch and Leroy Mason; sixth grade, Waldo Hoberitz, Alvin Harris, Clarence Rosh, Marvin Koch and Cecil Porlin.

Clyde Fowler, a sixth grade student, has moved away. We sure do miss him, as he was our chief speaker.

Booby Willman: "I would like to see something cheap in a straw hat."

Mr. Jeske: "All right, put this one on and go look in the mirror."

The third and fourth graders have lost two pupils. One is Montrude Fowler out of the third grade, and the other out of the fourth grade is Crawford Hopper.

We sure do hate to see these two pupils leave. Montrude will go to school at Brownwood and Crawford will go to school at Eola.

Dorothy Nell Fickel is absent this week, because of sickness. Franklin Schumann was absent Tuesday because of illness. The Priddy boys' basketball team was defeated by Prairie in a game at Pompey Creek. The score was 19-10.

The home economics club had their outing, which they had planned. Most of the girls asked someone to go with them. They met at Mrs. Watson's house and from there they went to the Priddy picnic grounds. Games were played and refreshments were served, after which we all went to Goldthwaite. First we rode the ferris wheel at the carnival and then we attended the show.

Primary News

We are expecting the arrival of our number work note books at any time.

After checking we found that 15 pupils out of 34 bring milk for lunch. We are hoping that the remainder will begin bringing milk soon.

We will start our regular program Tuesday, of washing our hands just before lunch. We have completed our list of articles that is needed to carry out this program. We are striving to keep our names listed on the "Keep Clean Chart."

Girls Sports

The Priddy basketball girls were defeated by the Indian Gap basketball girls Tuesday, November 6, by a score of 32 to 8. The players from Priddy were as follows: Forwards, Edna Lubke, Lillie Henkes; centers, Irene Gromatzky, Velma Bufe; guards, Paula Wiedebusch, Louise Koch. During the last quarter Ethel Hoberitz was substituted for Louise Koch.

The girls fought hard, but because they had to play two division courts, which they had not practiced, they could not do as well as before. However, they are practicing diligently.

Chapel Program

Last Tuesday morning the high school was favored with a chapel talk by the new Methodist minister, the Rev. R. E. Duke. His words were both entertaining and inspiring. The students of the high school are glad to have this man in our town and hope to have him in chapel with us again.

New Basket Ball Court

The CWA workers are at work on a new basket ball court for the high school basket ball team. It will be located in the extreme southwest corner of the school ground, next to the road. The court will be completed by the time basket ball season opens.

Progress of the Revelers

The Revelers met last night for the weekly practice and there was a new member in our ranks, Delton Barnett. We are very glad to have him in our club. This runs the total membership up to 16. The glee club hope to entertain you again in the near future.

The freshman class is glad to welcome a new pupil, Wallace Allen Johnson, to their class. This makes the fifty-ninth pupil.

Capellas

Tuesday morning the Capellas directed by Mrs. S. P. Sullivan, were invited to sing during the chapel program of the Goldthwaite high school. We sang three songs, Love In Bloom, Oh, Play to Me, Gypsies, and I'm Humming, I'm Singing, I'm Whistling.

There is not as much interest in the glee club this year as there has been before. Several members are absent from each practice, which hinders the progress of the club. It is very necessary that each member be present at the meetings in order to have an A-1 glee club. So let us urge every member to come and make our club 100 per cent, and the best club that our high school has had.

Before the glee club will be eligible to enter the contest at Belton, it will be necessary to have two new members. We will be glad to have anyone join us who wishes to do so. We have entered the contest for the last three years and won the cup once. This year we can win first place again, and we feel sure that before time for the contest we will have two more girls join us so we can go to Belton and bring back the cup.

CWA Work

Members of the CWA are at work on a football field for the high school. This field is located on the south end of the school ground. Of course, it is necessary for the ground to be level and that is exactly what these men are doing. On the north side of the field they have dug down about two feet and will gradually taper it off until they get it level.

This will be a great addition to the school, because more students will see the games, as it will be closer to the school. It will also bring more out of town people up to see our school buildings and campus.

Work of Pep Squad

The pep squad has been working hard, learning new yells and songs for the San Saba game. It will be impossible for the pep squad to go to the Ballinger game this afternoon, but it will be backing the team in every way possible.

There will be a pep rally on the court house lawn next Thursday night before the San Saba game. The pep squad intends to do its part toward defeating San Saba. Everyone is invited to come and help us boost for Goldthwaite high.

Painting of High School Auditorium

The high school auditorium is now aglisten with a coat of new paint, which has improved it very much. The painting of the auditorium was a much needed improvement in the building.

Mr. Smith says he intends to make additional improvements on the campus and buildings.

Pep Squad Entertains Football Boys

After the Brady game, the pep squad gave the football boys a picnic at the Wesley Workers park. All the guests arrived about 7:30. Games were played, including volley ball and cross-questions and crooked-answers. While the games were being played, Mrs. Barnett and several boys were preparing supper, which consisted of wieners, bread and potato chips, pickles, cake and fruit. After supper a few more games were played, then the hostess bid the guests good night and everyone thanked her for such an entertaining evening.

Seniors Lose Student

The seniors are indeed sorry that Wayne Coffman from Center City is not in our midst any longer. He was becoming known as a good sport and student, and we miss him.

Improvements

There have recently been several new improvements made to the high school. In the laboratory there have been added sixteen new tables, also six sewing machines were installed for the use of the home economics class. Not only these improvements have been made, but an electric iron and an ironing board have been added as an aid to education.

These improvements are appreciated by the whole student

L. B. PORTER, Co. Clerk, Mills Co., Texas.

A challenging insistence that the Republican party is not dead and is not going to die, was flung at Democrats Saturday in answer to Postmaster General Farley's reading that result into the G.O.P.'s defeat in Tuesday's election. Taking notice of reports that a new party might be formed on the wreckage of the G. O. P., Henry P. Fletcher served warning on Democrats that "we will continue to fight."

Compulsory control of cotton production, most radical of the New Deal farm plans, will face the acid test of a popular vote during the second week in December. After a year's trial of the Bankhead act, which sought to limit production to 10,460,251 bales this year, the farm administration announces that it will ask cotton farmers: "Are you in favor of continuing the Bankhead act for next year?"

In its first official accounting of benefits spread by its billions, PWA said Sunday 2,000,000 persons are drawing wages and 5,000,000 of their dependents are being assisted as a result of construction of useful public works. The 2,000,000 included employment directly on construction sites, indirectly in producing, processing and transporting materials for use on projects, and, secondarily, employment created in supplying goods and services to persons receiving income in the turnover of public works dollars.

The high school tennis teams are beginning practice for the county meet, and the prospects for several good tennis teams is very likely.

In the past years the Goldthwaite high school has been allowing the county schools to take off a large percentage of the honors at the county meet, but it looks as if they intend to put a stop to the county schools taking off any prizes this year.

The Value of An Education
 An education is one of the greatest assets that a man can have. With an education and a certain amount of backbone, a man can climb to the top. Without an education, no matter how much backbone or initiative he may possess, it is impossible sometimes for a man even to secure a job or position.

Often a young man will rise from the factory or workshop with some new idea or invention. It is imperative that he go before the board of directors and explain his idea or invention. An uneducated person would have the greatest difficulties in explaining clearly his invention, while an educated person could explain it coherently with the greatest ease and fluency. It might be said that a man without an education is like a ship without a sail.

No matter how poor a person may be, he has the opportunity of securing an education if he has the backbone, initiative and will power that it takes to win through. Some of the greatest men the world has known, have come from poor families. These men were prepared to grasp the hand of opportunity when it knocked at their door. Those who sit down to wait for opportunity to come to them are the ones who will never see the dawn of success. It is those who prepare themselves today that will reach the height of success tomorrow. To ever reach success, you must be prepared to grasp opportunity and climb the ladder of success rung by rung. Many times a young man will start up the ladder of success, and upon finding the going hard will decide that it is much easier to live in the same old rut than it is to work.

A person who trains himself in his younger days to forge ahead, will be the one to reap the harvest of success in the future. —Editor

OVER THE WORLD

Two men and two women were arrested Saturday by officers in Corpus Christi, seeking to break up an automobile theft gang said to have been operating in the larger cities of Texas. Capt. Lee Miller had other state highway patrolmen who made the arrests said they believed the ring definitely was smashed.

A new set up all its own, to handle insurance of mortgages on new houses, was announced Saturday by the housing administration. The FHA had paralleled the National Emergency Council and used some of its men, but Saturday it announced the division of the country into 12 regions and the appointment of 11 regional and 48 state directors.

The new farm program to be presented to the next congress by an AAA spokesman will turn sharply away from acreage restriction on the country's two great money crops—cotton and wheat—says the Associated Press. Instead of this Chairman Jesse Jones of the agriculture committee, will recommend a domestic allotment plan, by which the grower will be paid benefits only on that part of his production destined for consumption in this country, being left free to produce as much as he desires for the world market.

A dog's funeral is causing a storm of indignation in Sweden. The body of the dog, in a wreath covered coffin, was taken in a hearse attended by pall bearers in all the trappings of mourning and followed by two cars containing mourners, from Stockholm to a dog's cemetery at Taby. At the graveside the dead pet's master made a very long speech, extolling the dead animal, while the other mourners stood around in respectful silence. Except for the absence of a minister, the burial ceremony might well have been that of a human being.

Soviet Russia's quest for long-term loans from leading capitalistic nations in order to carry on ambitious programs for industrial expansion is doomed to fail, British and American officials in close touch with Russian affairs said Saturday. A high authority said the strong stand Great Britain has taken against long-terms to Russia is not likely to be altered by settlement of the Lena gold fields controversy, particularly since the settlement is regarded as unfavorable to British interests. Recent reports said the Soviet was prepared to pay only $1,000,000 for British mining concessions in the Lena and other districts, which were nationalized in 1917 and have been subject to controversy since.

Finis was written in indelible ink on labors of the forty-third legislature last Saturday as the fourth called session of that law making body died a natural death at midnight.

The Texas state parks association has asked teachers of history in schools of the state to make class projects of the points of historic importance in their communities. Neither the parks board nor the association ever has had funds to even conduct parks work, yet today Texas has 72 state-owned parks with an aggregate area of 256,405 acres. These have been donated to the state without cost to taxpayers.

When sheep disappeared from Dan Crowell's ranch at Menard, he turned detective. By way of identification, he tied strings around the necks of a number of his sheep, concealing the strings deep in the wool. Shortly afterward, a man suspected of stealing sheep was arrested and Crowell went to see if he could pick out any of his from those recovered. "That one will have a black string with two knots around its neck; the one there has a green string with three knots and that one will have a string with five knots," he told officers. His description proved to be correct.

New and conclusive information on the effects of the Middle West's devastating drought on the various crops is given by federal and state crop reports from Oklahoma and Kansas. It was estimated by the state department of agriculture and the U. S. department of agriculture that the 1934 corn yield in Kansas would be approximately 10,492,000 bushels. This is the lowest on record. The monthly report of the Oklahoma City United States agriculture bureau disclosed the drought dealt a blow of corresponding extent to the 1934 cotton crop in Oklahoma.

Huge imports of gold and scanty offerings of silver on international markets have combined to slow the national treasury's progress toward the three to one ratio in gold and silver holdings, as ordered by congress. For every dollar's worth of gold received from abroad, the treasury must acquire 33.3 cents worth of silver to keep pace, to say nothing of the tremendous purchases of silver necessary to bring original holdings into the prescribed relationship. The last week or so has seen, in addition to large actual imports, some $50,000,000 worth of European gold withdrawn for shipment to America.

Now that the hunting season is here, too many deer hunters appear to be stalking nudists instead of game, judging from a complaint made by the director of a nudist colony in the Almadan hills of California. "Our members insist upon privacy," he said, "and we intend to see that they have it." A hunter came into the colony and immediately lost all interest in his quest for deer, and, according to the director, left only after officers had been summoned. Clothes are worn at the colony only at meal times, which resulted in one applicant losing interest in the place. He was reported as saying the only reason he wished to join the colony was to keep from spilling egg on his waistcoat.

Autumn rainfall has ended the devastating drought in China, but the spectre of famine, still hangs over millions of homes in the drought stricken interior. Plans have been laid for the establishment of a national food administration by the Chinese government, which often in the past, has been caught unprepared for the emergency. The administration plans to purchase, store and control the sale and transportation of the nation's rice supply. In times of famine the administration would buy rice in districts where production had been heavy for transportation to less fortunate areas. Large amounts of the cereal would be stored away to be drawn upon in times of critical shortages. Rice imports also would be controlled.

Black-Draught For Dizziness, Headache Due To Constipation

"I have used Theford's Black-Draught several years and find it splendid," writes Mr. G. W. Holley, of St. Paul, Va. "I take it for dizziness or headache (due to constipation). I have never found anything better. A short while ago, we began giving our children Syrup of Black-Draught as a laxative for colds and little stomach ailments, and have found it very satisfactory." . . . Millions of packages of Theford's Black-Draught are required to satisfy the demand for this popular, old reliable, purely vegetable laxative. 25¢ a package. "Children like the Syrup."

MOUNT OLIVE HIGH SCHOOL

Chapel Program

Monday morning we had a very interesting chapel program. Talks were made by the teachers and several songs were sung. The S.O.U.P. song seems to be a favorite among the students.

New Playground Equipment
As Tuesday was election day, Mr. Cooke and the trustees took the opportunity to add some new equipment to the school grounds—four new swings were put up, which the little folks enjoy very much. The trustees have worked hard and faithfully, trying to make this one of the best schools of the county. When we look back over the improvements of the last few years we can certainly say, "They've done their part."

Pep Squad Rally

Wednesday, a pep squad rally was held. More pep, more enthusiasm and harder yelling was put out than ever before. The girls have ordered their pep squad dresses and hope to have them soon.

Visitors

Ruby Leach was a visitor in school last week. We're very glad to have visitors come to school.

Music Class

Mr. Richardson began his music class last Wednesday. He has about 12 taking music and thinks that soon he will have a nice band.

Mr. Cooke, as well as Mr. Richardson, wishes the sympathy of all the people, as he is beginning music on the piano.

Ball Game

We played our first ball game Friday. Everyone seemed to be in high spirits Friday morning and were anxious to go to the game. Mr. Roberts was so very kind as to let us have his truck. Finally at 2 o'clock, all the pep squad, except five, and all the basketball boys left for Center City. Considering the heavy load the truck made "notches" going over there (not mentioning the hills it refused to climb, until the boys decided to walk up them). Well, one team always has to lose, and in this case it was our hard luck, as the score was 22-13 in favor of Center City. Every man on the team played hard and clean, having only 2 personal fouls marked against the team. Clinton Harris was high point man. Cecil Huckabee did some very good guarding and all the other men that played—Bert Weathers, Elmer Koen, Sammie Roberts, Louis Hodges, Boozey Couch, Alvin Guess—deserve honorable mention. We regret very much that one of our first team men—Vernon Lawson—could not play, due to sickness in his home.

The pep squad did their part. They kept yelling to the very last, never once discouraged, even though they saw their team getting beat. Miss Blackwell deserves a gold star for yelling against her home school. Mr. Cooke hated for his brother's team to beat his team. "Our bones will rise again."

Re-organization

The students decided to change their colors to red and white, with "Give to the world the best that you have and the best will come back to you," as their motto. They have decided that they have the courage, the fight and the daring of a cat, so they are going to be the cats. Yeah, Bobcats!

Humor

Billy Hightower, after profound thought, wrote this definition of the word "spine" at Mr. Cooke's request. "A spine is a long, limber bone. Your head sets on one end and you set on the other."

Charles: "Miss Blackwell, if I had an apple and you had a bite what would you do?"

Miss Blackwell: "Well, Charles, I don't know—eat it I guess."

Charles: "I wouldn't. I would scratch mine."

Last fall Mr. Cooke couldn't decide whether to come back and stay with Maudie and Furman Crawford or not, as he had been previously annoyed by the number of hogs they kept on the farm. Finally, he wrote to Furman and explained the objectionable features. He received the following reply:

"We haven't had any hogs on the place since you were here last spring. Be sure to come."

Calvin and Vivian define the exact difference between life and love:

"Life is just one fool thing after another. Love is just two fool things after each other."

Take a look at Mr. Smith's face and ask him if it pays to talk back to his wife.

Can You Imagine?

Ruby slapping Arvin?
Eva not being a good school teacher?

Mr. Cooke playing ball.
J. R. teaching algebra?
Mildred and Vera getting tickled?

Alvin and Jack not arguing about science?
Annie falling down?

Mount Olive basket ball boys getting beat?
Miss Blackwell riding in a model A?

Melvin sitting still one minute?
Herschel getting in a hurry?
Weldon throwing paper wads?
Elmer riding in a model A?

Bert combing his hair?
Clinton Harris and Velma Leach talking?

(Too late for last week)

End of First Month

Friday closed the end of the first month for Mount Olive. The monthly report was one to be proud of. The attendance was above ninety per cent. Each room turned in a good report. Our principal reports that he is well pleased. Let us all work together, starting now to make the second month better than the first.

Work On School Grounds

Thursday morning all the pupils and teachers worked until noon on the school grounds. We believe that a good school can not be taught on dirty premises. We believe that cleanliness in every way inspires children to be neater and cleaner in their habits and will encourage them to do better work and to live and play happier.

We also believe that if the children help to do the cleaning they will have a deeper respect for their school and will do their best to help keep it clean. For those reasons we do not feel like the morning was wasted. We did a nice job and are proud that we have a school ground that we are not ashamed for our neighbors and friends to see.

Indoor Baseball

The junior boys have only played one game this year, but they proved that they will make real baseball players sometime.

T. H. McArthur proved to be a first class pitcher. This is his first year to pitch, and Wednesday was his first game. By the middle of the season we think other teams will be afraid of his pitching.

Billy Hightower is an A-1 first baseman. He always gets his man if his fellow playmates will only get the ball to him or even near him.

Melvin Wilcox also proved to be a back catcher that any team would be proud of.

All the boys showed to be very strong in the field, because they would take three of the Priddy men up and take three down. With a little batting practice Mount Olive will have a dandy team.

Basketball

Clinton Harris is making a fast forward. He never missed an open shot. He is a little slow in turning to his defense, but after a few more practice games he will make a player any team would be proud of.

Elmer Koen is a faster man than Clinton on his offense, but is not as good as Clinton in dropping the ball through the basket.

Sammie Roberts is hard to beat as long as his wind holds out. Sammie is improving every day.

Boozey Couch is little, but loud. If Boozey were not inclined to hold the ball too long and would put out a little more energy he could run circles around any guard.

Cecil Huckabee, Vernon Lawson, Lewis Hodges and J. R. Kiser, are all real first class guards. At present it is hard to tell just which will win a place on the first string line-up.

Bert Weathers and Alvin Guess are fair centers. They are pretty accurate at goal shooting, too.

Now teams, we are not boasting yet. We have the men and we will have a team in a few weeks! We hope we can win our first game. We know we have not had enough practice yet to be confident, but boys, look out, we have that fighting spirit and will give any team a fast game.

Pep Squad

Last Friday we started to Big Valley with the basketball boys in Sammie Roberts' truck. Practically all of the girls went. When we left, a distant rumble could be heard, but as we thought Mr. Cloud was only fooling us, as he has so often done this summer, we went on to Caradan. Several rain drops hit us in the face as a warning—but still we did not heed. Finally, as if in punishment for disobeying the warning, it started to rain very hard. Before we hardly had time to turn around we were soaking wet. Not to have all our songs and yells wasted in vain, we gave them going home and quite had quite a lot of fun. We were a wet and bedraggled pep squad when we reached our homes. However, we still have our fighting spirit and are ready for the next game.

Junior Glee Club Girls
Never has so much enthusiasm and such pep been shown as the glee club girls are showing. They are all willing workers, come to practice regular and working out their very best. Evelyn Hodges, Annie Marie Kiser, Juanita Benningfield, in fact, all of the girls are proving that they can sing fairly well. We're behind you girls and wishing you luck.

Can You Imagine—
The large girls playing or running at recess?
Eva being tiny and frail?
T. H. and Boozey not wanting people?

How Alvin and Arnold felt when Mr. Cooke called them into his room?

A more wet and drooping crowd than the basketball boys and pep squad were Friday?

Miss Blackwell without something red?
Mr. Cooke talking slow?

A Load of Wood
Saturday morning Mr. Smith and Mr. Cook met Elmer and James Koen in the woods and cut the first load of wood to go as a payment for the new victrola for the school. By noon the wood was cut and loaded.

Now, folks, your teachers and Elmer and James have been very faithful. It is now your time to cut a load. Be sure and do it before Saturday week.

Oh, yes, for making real Chili use Bill's Famous Chili Mixture. It makes real chili. At Bill's cafe or your grocer.

When you have visitors or know any other local item the Eagle appreciates your reporting it.

LIKE READING WITH Smoked Glasses

You wouldn't bind your feet if you wanted to walk! Then why read in half light... as if you were peering through smoked glasses?

Reading or working in poor light causes eyestrain, which affects the entire nervous system and results in damaged eyesight. Statistics show that 60 per cent of all people over 40 wear glasses, or should wear them. Yet many folks today continue to read in light that equals only two candles stuck in bottle tops.

Check over your home lighting tonight. See that each member of the family has his own reading lamp... equipped with at least one 100-watt bulb, two 60's or three 40's... according to the number of sockets. Use shades that are wide in spread, light in color and open at the top. In this way, you can be sure your family is getting light that is adequate to protect vision. We will gladly help you re-arrange your lighting without charge.

See the Sight-Saving New

I. E. S. STUDY LAMP

The new I.E.S. Study Lamp was designed by lighting engineers to give the maximum of soft, glareless light. The extra wide outside shade (A) is lined with white pigment and reflects twice as much light as ordinary lamps. The opal glass diffuser (B) eliminates glare, and sends enough light upward for general room illumination. The stand (C) is 19 1/2 inches from bottom of shade to base and spreads light evenly over a wide area. Only $6.95; 95c down, $1.00 monthly.

Will Celebrate Texas Centennial

The fact that the legislature failed to make the desired appropriation for the Texas centennial celebration need cause no surprise and certainly does not justify the advocates of the celebration in despairing of success. While the people voted an amendment authorizing an appropriation, it is doubtful if those who favored the amendment realized the enormous amount required for such an undertaking. They only knew that they wanted the celebration on an elaborate scale and it was fashioned in that way by the commission, but when the legislators were confronted with a demand for a five million dollar appropriation at a time when the country had little more than started a reaction from the depression, a withering drought was still extending over the entire state and the delinquent tax rolls of the state and its taxing subdivisions were larger than had ever been known in the state's history, it was to have been expected that the legislators would move cautiously in involving the state financially in such a large amount. It was unfortunate that the matter must of necessity be pressed under these circumstances and had conditions been different there is small doubt that the outcome would have been satisfactory.

But the celebration will take place and it will be staged on a scale as magnificent as the most patriotic citizen could desire. Dallas, the chief city of the celebration, has already authorized several million dollars expended for the centennial, while San Antonio, Houston and other cities will fall in line with appropriations that will get the work of preparation well under way. Added to this, there is no doubt that the next called or regular session of the legislature will make the desired provisions to carry the state's part of the financial load.

We all want the centennial celebration and the action of the legislature in refusing the appropriation will cause the various municipalities, civic organizations, and individual citizens to become more active in their efforts to have the state's progress properly portrayed for the admiration of the world. Individual capitalists will be found to underwrite the undertaking, if it becomes necessary. All will yet be well. Let us all take courage and bend our efforts toward a better preparation of our local communities and the section of the state in which we live for the magnificent showing we want to make.

An Improved Cotton Plan

It is no doubt universally agreed that some plan was necessary to force the reduction of cotton in the southern states, but the people are not all agreed on the plan. Some favor the Bankhead law and others have different plans and systems, but it is not likely any of the proposals would meet with universal approval. The administration has made further progress than has ever been made in former efforts to bring about the desired result. It must be conceded, and it is not likely any of the plans put forth by individuals or administration critics would have accomplished as much as the plan in effect the past season has accomplished, yet we must agree that there are some objectional features in it and some needed remedies. The most apparent objection is the encouragement of foreign competition to the cotton growers and it now seems a plan is working to decrease that danger or do away with it entirely by trade agreements with other nations. Press dispatches tell of these negotiations being under way with some of the largest cotton using nations whereby they will continue to take American cotton and America will buy products of those nations. A reciprocal arrangement of this kind will not only assure a market for American cotton, but will lessen the danger of destructive competition and the result will be a good price for cotton and prosperity for the cotton growers and the cotton growing states.

Drastic Changes Under Way

Most of the reading public know that there are drastic changes under way in the National Recovery administration; that in fact, some of these changes have already been made, one of the outstanding changes being the dropping of price fixing in some of the codes. The entire plan was an experiment and there is no doubt about it having brought benefits in a general way, while some hardships were necessarily entailed and much dissatisfaction resulted. Some of the requirements were misunderstood, which accounted for much of the dissatisfaction and criticism, but now that the entire scheme has been tried out, the weak places have been strengthened and the undesirable sections have been dropped. The whole plan was such a complete change from the old system that there was much objection and criticism from many who now see the wisdom and necessity for some change being made from the old free and easy, everybody for himself system, that had been in vogue so long. There are yet some rough places to be smoothed down and some regulations to be made that will cause the act to become more universally satisfactory.

The results of the recent election in various parts of the nation prove that the country as a whole approves of the efforts put forth by the administration to bring about recovery and place the business of the nation on a better footing.

A Brighter Outlook

It can not reasonably be claimed that the depression has ended nor that its blighting effects are not yet being felt, but all who read the signs of the times are forced to the conclusion that the outlook is brighter and that there are encouraging indications. Reports of industry and commerce give evidence of improvement and there is a general upturn along many lines. Reports for the past two months, as compared with those of the last several years, give cause for hope and courage and history proves the same point. This is not the only depression the country has ever known, neither is this the first comeback it has ever staged.

It is undoubtedly true that economic conditions at the present are far from satisfactory and there are many problems to be solved by the administration, as well as by business and industry but there is ample justification for the hope that these problems will be solved. The history of the human race is that of progress and recovery from temporary depressions and the people of this great nation have the spirit and ability to build back to normalcy and prosperity and they are building back now.

COTTON PROGRAM

A 1935 program for America's principal export crop—cotton—which calls for the largest possible acreage reduction and increased payments to co-operating farmers has been drafted by the agricultural adjustment administration.

As yet the plan is labeled "unofficial" but authoritative quarters report Secretary Wallace almost certainly would order an acreage cut of 25 per cent below the average in the past of around 41,000,000 acres.

The majority of the south's cotton growers already have signed contracts pledging reduction for 1935. Those agreements provide that the 25 per cent reduction is the maximum which may be ordered from Washington.

Only the discovery that funds would be unavailable, one official said, would prevent the increase in payments to southern farmers who are co-operating, or who agree to do so in the future.

At the same time, it was revealed by the farm administration that negotiations are under way with Germany for deal which would involve exchange of about 500,000 bales of cotton for German goods.

The decrease in cotton exports to Germany constitutes the principal factor in the decline in cotton shipments abroad and is one of the reasons why AAA officials feel that the maximum acreage reduction permissible is imperative for next year.

Other developments which point to the 25 per cent slash are:

Reduced consumption in the United States.

A cotton carry-over on Aug. 1 of more than 10,000,000 bales, the third largest carry-over on record.

Estimates that a yield approaching 11,800,000 bales would be grown next year even if every farmer eligible to sign up reduced in accordance with the 25 per cent direction.

A cotton forecast which estimated production this year at 9,630,000 bales, an increase of 191,000 on the October forecast.

Representative Wright Patman of the Texarkana district took time between sessions of the special committee which he was in Washington to attend to announce the first bill he would introduce in the new congress would be for full payment of the soldier bonus, amounting to $2,200,000,000. The Texas member has been the leader in this legislation for a number of years. Patman sees no conflict between the position of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, which demanded payment of the bonus, and that of the American Legion, which recommended payment.

FARM CREDIT PLAN

An Associated Press report from Washington says:

The creation of a permanent farm credit system as powerful as the federal reserve and stripped of all private profit will be proposed to the next congress by Chairman Jesse Jones, Texas, of the house agriculture committee as the key log of a farm legislative program.

Essentially, the set up would be broad enough to afford permanent credit facilities to agriculture in all its operations—credit to be given at cost, plus a fractional charge to build up a reserve and protect against loss.

The system would be operated through the existing farm credit administration. It would be empowered to issue currency—farm credit notes similar to federal reserve notes—and thus to save the interest charges resulting in financing through bonds.

It would use existing facilities of intermediate credit banks, the production credit corporation and land banks.

The money to start the farm reserve system, Jones added, would come either by earmarking gold now held in the treasury or by direct appropriation of congress. He declined to estimate how much would be needed.

He said the exact rate of interest to the farmer under the proposal had not been determined, but that it probably would not be more than 3 1-2 per cent.

Powerful backing for the plan already has been obtained.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VIEW OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

MAY WAIVE BONUS

The controversial bonus may not after all crop up in the coming congress. Gen. Frank T. Hines, the administrator of veterans' affairs, believes that the American Legion will not press its demands, if congress will agree to remit the interest charges on the half of the adjusted compensation certificates already paid in the form of a loan. As the announcement was made after a white house conference, the solution is possibly agreeable to the president.

The legion's national commander, Frank Belgrano, counters with the declaration that full payment is on the program and will not be dropped. What is more likely then, is that the Hines' suggestion will be accepted by congress, approved by the president and tossed as a sop to the veteran bloc, postponing a showdown on full payment to the future.

The suggested compromise would cost the government a negligible amount in actual money, since little interest has been paid in to be refunded. It would, however, cost the Treasury in the long run the full amount still due on the certificates, on which loans have been made of just about $1,300,000,000.—Dallas News.

BASEBALL IN JAPAN

Relations between the United States and Japan can not be so bad when 100,000 Japs turn out to greet an American ball team. That is the estimated size of the throng that lined the Ginza, Tokio's Broadway, when the group of American League players headed by Babe Ruth arrived from Yokohama. No fewer than 65,000 fans, larger than the crowds at the world series games in St. Louis and Detroit, packed the Meiji Shrine Stadium last Sunday, when the Americans defeated the Tokio All-Stars 17 to 1, a lopsided score, but not so different from the score in the final game of the series won by the Cardinals.

The result of the game does not indicate that the Japs have developed pitchers that could be compared with the Dean brothers, or hitters and fielders who could win a place in our major league, but the outcome of a single game is not a fair measure of their ability, and the Japs faced some of the leading batsmen of the American big leagues.

The courtesy and orderliness of the Japanese crowds is a cause of favorable comment.

This, indeed, is in sharp contrast with the conduct of the Detroit bleacherites in the final game of our world series. It may show that the Japs are not as quick to become excited over a ball game as they are over international affairs. Or it may be only the calm before the storm that will break if the Americans win the second and third games, or if an umpire makes a wrong decision. At any rate it is clear that baseball is becoming almost as popular in Japan as it is in the United States, and in a few years if the Japanese stars are not called to arms against Russia, a group of ball players from Tokio or Osaka may come to the United States to test whether the world championship in baseball really belongs to the Western Hemisphere.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

THANKSGIVING

Prices are never what the growers want them to be, but consumers should be willing to pay a proportion to the enjoyment to be had with consumption. Thanksgiving turkeys deserve to go at high prices, as a testimonial to their own pride and as acknowledgement of their capacity for making a memorable dinner. Everybody ought to be thankful and eat turkey on Thanksgiving day. Such a state of mind improves the turkey market and gives a fillip to the cranberry merchant. A turkey wing is never so delicious as on Thanksgiving day. Take it from State Press, who usually gets the wing, or, if he happens to be in luck, both wings. There have been times when he craved a portion of the white meat, but never a time when he wasn't happy with what he got. An adaptable mind and grateful disposition are as good as Thanksgiving day for making a person glad.—State Press in Dallas News.

DELINQUENT TAX BILLS

The Texas legislature passed two separate tax bills dealing with delinquency collection. There were really three but the Pope and Rawlinson bills supplement each other.

The new system of dealing with delinquency under the highest law is constructive. It offers tax reduction for early payment, encourages prompt settlement by holding out a penalty schedule for undue delay, and by reason of making penalty charges lighter than heretofore does not harass the tax debtor who is unable to pay. The new law has removed all excuse for future action of the legislature in affording costly and unjustified "tax delinquency relief." Whether it will have the desired effect is a problem. Tax owners like to be relieved of all penalty and legislators like to be re-elected. The co-ordination of the two preferences has sired such unwise measures as the Pope bill, which the special session passed and which the Rawlinson bill seeks to make immediately effective.

With the adoption and signing of the Pope bill, all tax debt due as of August 1 last is relieved of penalty and interest if paid by February 1 next. The measure applies not only to state and county taxes but to tax obligations due all subordinate units. The bill does not contemplate that penalty and interest collected on previously delinquent taxes not exempt through limitation shall be repaid to the delinquents but, since by constitutional mandate, taxes must be equal and uniform, it is probable that this repayment may have to be made or credited on tax accounts. One of the principal difficulties in delinquent tax relief is the train of objectionable consequences which the taxing units must face.

Passage of the Rawlinson substitute bill may have had the practical effect of enabling taxing officials to collect delinquent taxes now without interest and penalty. The point does not seem important, for no taxes will carry a penalty until February 1, 1935, and the average delinquent will cheerfully postpone consideration of his bill until the dead line nears. When that occurs, he will doubtless consider getting more legislative relief.—Dallas News.

Gathering of the Texas peanut crop, which began about the middle of October, developed that the yield is above the average, the price running from 80 cents for the best down to 40 cents a bushel for the poorest grades.

With forage very scarce in Texas due to the long drought, peanut growers are finding additional source of income in the peanut hay, which has found ready sale at $15 to $20 a ton.

The agricultural adjustment administration has developed a plan whereby the 1935 peanut crop will largely be diverted to feed and oil purposes, with the farmer receiving a much higher price for his crop. One-fifth of the crop grown by each farmer, may be so diverted, and the AAA will pay the farmer $15 per ton for the peanuts so diverted. Farmers signing contracts for 1935 will also agree to reduce their acreage slightly and for so doing will be paid a bonus of $8 per ton on their 1934 crop, this bonus being in the neighborhood which bonus will apply on all of 12c per bushel of 30 pounds, peanuts harvested this year.—Tyler Journal.

AN AMERICAN MARKET

While the controversy between American publishers and Canadian newsprint manufacturers rages, the southern publishers continue to develop their own sources. The vast forests of the South, rich in slash pine, stand by to be cut down and hauled to mills for conversion to an American made newsprint. The fear of a depleted supply, which ruined the spruce market in Maine, can be no bogey to scare away the business man looking for a long-term investment.

Need he worry about the southern product. It has already been proved by Dr. Herty and his associates of the Pulp and Paper Laboratory of Savannah, Inc., that newsprint produced from slash pine compares most favorably with its Canadian competitor. It has the added advantage of being cheaper.

As soon as the South has definitely established itself in the newsprint field, tariff fears and mutual commercial pacts need no longer worry the publisher. The lobbyists in Washington, angling for favoritism for their foreign-made products, may be sent on their way.

Propaganda to the contrary, the south is definitely determined to carry out its program to a successful end. The southern publishers not only have experts on the field preparing to erect a newsprint mill, but they have already discussed the possibility of limiting their newsprint orders from other sources after December, 1935.

There is no doubt that the project is of such immense proportions that it would take a Croesus to finance the erection of mills to supply the entire country at this time, but the proposed mill will be a wedge whereby many financiers, still doubtful of its possibilities, will see for themselves the advantages of the southern newsprint.—Newsdom.

ANCIENT SHORTHAND

A contributor to the Observer of London says that it is not yet known what song the Sirens sang, against whose allure Ulysses had to cause the ears of his mariners to be stopped and himself to be tied to the mast, but that we know in what shorthand the speeches of Isocrates were reported. Some forgotten authority of earlier days told us that though Isocrates was called the "Old Man Eloquent" of his day and the "First Great Publicist of All Time," he never made a speech. He wrote his speeches and they were circulated among his followers. Perhaps the shorthand reports of his speeches were made by his students of rhetoric in cultivating his style. However, that may be, the tradition is that shorthand in Greek was invented by his contemporary Xenophon, who was two years younger than Isocrates. One would suppose that the author of the Anabasis must have had a simple sign for the phrases at least which he used constantly: "Kalgarg" and "ententeen exelauel."

The proof is now forthcoming that there were even in those early days shorthand strokes or combinations of strokes for familiar phrases. For example, the cliché still used by orators as it was in the ancient Greek days, "Why should I say more about this?" is represented by two lines at an angle tied together. A long and conventional greeting of King Philip was indicated by a looser loop. It was characteristic of this symbolism that the stylus was scarcely ever lifted. The symbol for "by land and sea," did, however, break—as it suggesting a landing and a re-embarking.

The system was not a modified longhand, but a shorthand in the precise sense, in which the term is used today. It is characterized as "blood-brother" to our proud modern systems—logical and symmetrical as anything Greek would be expected to be. It is, as the reporter of the deciphering of the ancient stenographers observes, another "demonstration of the homogeneity of human thinking."—New York Times.

STYLES IN NEW YORK

American designers are brilliantly making their presence felt this year, in Styles in New York. Their creations are stunningly beautiful, attracting attention everywhere. They have made a smashing hit with a youthful sweater-like blouse, with matching velvet cowl-like collar, cuffs and deep girdle. It is worn with a matching hat of the same materials in the new high Cossack turban styling.

They have attracted attention with a youthful evening gown in black lace with patterns outlined. It has a deep front cape, which falls high against the throat in front, crosses in the back and ties at the waist front. It is easily removed, leaving a very formal gown with low decollete front and back. It is made more beautiful the vogue for soft and dull fabrics with glints of light running through by creating a smart ensemble of black wool. It is a daytime model, in the favored shirtmakers styling, worn with hat and gloves in matching fabric.

Outside of dress styles, New York is finding many beautiful things in home furnishings. The vogue for leather and more especially synthetic fabrics in the leather textures, continues important. A modern budget house shows a dining room in mahogany with chair seats and backs in coral leather fabric. On the porch is a unit group, which may be arranged as three separate chairs or a couch, in yellow and turquoise rattan with upholstery of grey lacquered fabric in leather texture. The combination sun porch and breakfast room is in yellow and white, with painted furniture both wooden and metal in pure white, round seated chairs upholstered in canary yellow leather lacquered fabric, and a tiny but luxuriant two-cushion tubular couch with a rough textured check material of yellow and black design against white background. In the living room is seen a card table with leather-like top of oyster white and matching chairs, in the now popular arrangement of a permanent set-up in a window alcove.

Styles in New York have entered into their most interesting phase. It's a fight against the drabness of a depression left-over—jackets everywhere—suggestions of bustles—lovely curves emphasized in sheath-like gowns. After the fall and winter showings by the great dressmakers, there was a lull for the moment to see how feminine acceptance would react. It has chosen definitely, for the evening, the way of the glamorous and the brilliant. Matelasse effects and metal are the two outstanding trends in fabrics during the past week. The Fifth Avenue windows are full of them. The Green Ball, which opened New York's social season last week, revealed green in a fascinating variety of shades and fabrics, including velvet, satin, crepe and taffeta in silk and synthetics, velvet being a great favorite in both Lyons and transparent versions. Among the popular shades of green were mint, emerald, mossy, bottle, water and peacock. A famous designer created green slippers with suffless heels.

Hair ornaments continue in the smart evening style picture. Not those of last season—but new combs, clips, bands and caps. Little stars and other twinkling effects are particularly favored for the evening coiffure, which is arranged high on the head and in a clean-cut manner accented by ornaments.

BAPTIST THANKS

Last Sunday morning the Baptist church and congregation, by a unanimous rising vote, expressed their thanks to the Goldthwaite fire company for extinguishing the tabernacle fire. We want you to know that we appreciate your noble and successful efforts in saving our church building and pastorium. We wish to thank every person, who in any way, helped to control the fire. W. E. MILLER, Church Clerk.
