ROCK SPRINGS

There was a large crowd Saturday night and Sunday and also Sunday night at church. Bro. Starnes preached two fine sermons, but he was called home Sunday afternoon. One of his school boys was hurt in a car wreck and the boy wasn't expected to live.

We wish to extend our sympathy to Mrs. Ashley Weathers in the loss of her sister, who died last week.

Friday night a crowd of the neighbors went to J. C. Stark's to his surprise birthday party. He would have been disappointed if we all hadn't gone, for he still has his birthdays. He received many nice gifts. The music was fine and the cake, coffee and chocolate was better. We wish him many happy birthdays.

Long Cove, keep your news coming. I may not know you, but I have some friends there. I can see where they visit each week.

I enjoyed each letter last week. I believe our paper is getting more newsy. We can keep up with each community and we can see just whose club is doing the best work. I don't hear the men talking so much about organizing them a club since the women are doing so much work. We really work and we also have a good time. We don't serve refreshments—it takes time from our work and it is depression with most of us out here.

Mrs. Maggie Traylor and Murna and Waldine spent Sunday afternoon in Mrs. Attie Tillman's home in Mullin. They also visited Mrs. Casey, who has been sick. I hope she can soon be well.

Marvin Powledge from Lampasas spent Saturday night and Sunday in the Webb home.

Beryl, James and John Earl Roberts visited their grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Roberts, Sunday.

Saturday night there was a very interesting 42 game in the Webb home, played by Powledge Ballard, Nickols and the Webb brothers.

Oleta Dewbre and her sister-in-law, Miss Lois Dewbre, went to Fort Worth with W. A. Daniel, and Mrs. Dewbre's father last week. They shopped while there.

J. T. Robertson and wife spent Sunday with Woody Traylor and family. In the afternoon Mr. Robertson visited in the Webb home.

Glenn Nickols and wife from town spent Saturday night with his mother and brothers.

Mrs. Eula Nickols dined Friday in the R. E. Clements home in the city.

J. R. Davis and wife spent Sunday with J. F. Davis and wife.

There are five good-looking boys who walk out home from town after school every afternoon and they are very tired after practicing football. Now don't pass these boys up when you see them on their way home.

Mrs. Will Daugherty from Fort Worth visited R. C. Webb and family Friday night. She also visited Will Guynes in Rabbit Ridge.

E. D. Roberson and family spent Saturday and Sunday in Brownwood visiting relatives.

Bernice Traylor, Johnnie Belle Circle and Sherrill Roberson dined with John Roberts and wife Sunday.

Ollie Dewbre and Mrs. Whitt, Jack McKinzy and Misses Lois and Eula Belle Dewbre from town attended church Sunday night.

James Nickols really worked this week. He was planting maize. He also plowed the garden and set out tomato plants.

Bro. J. R. Davis filled the pulpit Sunday night. The cloud scared some, so he didn't get to finish his sermon.

Some from here went to town Sunday afternoon to the B. T. S. program. The next meeting will be here the fourth Sunday afternoon in June.

Philip Nickols worked for W. A. Daniel last week while it was dry. Ed Hufstutler and family and Richard Souders and wife visited in San Saba county Saturday night and Sunday.

Four of the Nickols boys went in Monday morning to get them a government job, but to their disappointment they were left out. The job was testing cows. Bruce Burnett got this section.

HON. THOS. L. BLANTON
(Read editorial "A Proof of Patriotism")

Won't it be bad when we have to ask the government when we can sleep.

Ottis Allen and wife from town made pop calls in the Webb and Nickols homes Thursday afternoon.

Joe Roberts and wife and son visited with friends in Rhome, as they went to Dallas last week.

James Nickols and Miss Ethel Tyson from town sat until bed time in the Webb home Saturday night.

The W. M. S. met Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. J. R. Davis.

Jack Montgomery and wife are staying with Mrs. Claud Laird and children.

Mrs. Maggie Traylor and Murna, Bernice and Oliver and grand son, Roth Robertson, enjoyed the play at Big Valley Friday night.

Fred McClary has been making some very important trips the last few days. Seems no one knows just where he is going. Well, who wants to know?

Mrs. Eula Nickols spent awhile with Mr. and Mrs. Kauhs Sunday afternoon.

Bro. Homer Starnes spent Saturday night with J. F. Davis and he ate Sunday dinner with John Roberts.

Marvin Spinks from Rabbit Ridge sat until bed time in the Webb home Monday night.

The S. E. Q. club met with Mrs. Eula Nickols Tuesday. The ladies pieced on the tobacco sack quilt and on a nine patch. They got lots of work done and have a had a bushel of fun.

Joe Roberts and wife visited his parents Sunday afternoon.

J. O. McClary is still building. He made him a shop to work in, which will be fine this summer.

Everybody is working fast for fear it will rain. The season is fine and the ground plows good. BUSY BEE

THE TARIFF WALL

Democratic fundamentals, or rather the fundamentals of the Democratic party, would seem to dictate a move by the present congress to get tariff rates down before the 1936 election. There undoubtedly is a well defined division of opinion in the country on this subject already, and it could easily be stimulated so as to make revision of the tariff downward a major issue. For while the Republicans could take the position, as many of them already are doing, that the situation in which they advocated the protective tariff has changed radically, and the interests of the country now require a different policy, the Democrats have no similarly sound basis for a change from their traditionally position.—Texas Weekly.

LODGE RESOLUTIONS

Center City Texas, April 20, 1935. To the Worshipful Master, Wardens and Brethren:

We, your committee, heretofore appointed to prepare resolutions on the death of our brother in Masonry, James S. Livingston, now departed from us, beg leave to submit the following:

Brother James Samuel Livingston was born in Alabama, April 16, 1848. The family moved to this country many years ago, long before Mills county was organized. In 1887 he was married to Miss Ella Welch of Center City, Texas, to which union three sons were born, Hugh Livingston, Rollo Livingston and Mark Livingston.

Brother Livingston received the Entered Apprentice Mason Degree in Mullin lodge No. 476, (now demised) on April 27, 1887. He received the Fellow Craft Degree in Goldthwaite Lodge No. 694 July 22, 1893. He was raised to the sublime degree of Master Mason in Goldthwaite Lodge on August 26, 1893.

Brother Livingston was demitted from Goldthwaite lodge to join the Center City lodge No. 558 on April 14, 1894. He then affiliated with the Center City lodge on May 19, 1894. He was Senior Warden of this lodge in 1895. He was Worshipful Master in 1896, 1897, 1899, 1900, 1901, 1903, 1904, 1908, 1909, 1910, 1913, 1914, 1915 and 1916. He was District Deputy Grand Master of the 35th district in 1897.

For many years he has held a certificate to teach and exemplify Masonic work.

Our hearts are made sad once again, a brother Mason, having completed the designs written for him on life's trestle board, has passed through the Portals of Eternity, and entered the Grand Lodge above in the New Jerusalem, and has received his reward, the White Stone, with his name written thereon in letters that shall never die, and

Whereas, the all-wise and merciful Master of the universe, has called from labor to refreshment, our beloved brother, and whereas he was a true, faithful and trusted member of our beloved order,

Therefore, be it resolved that Center City lodge No. 553 of Center City, Texas, in testimony of our loss, be draped in mourning for him for thirty days, and that we tender to the family of the deceased our sincere condolence and deep sympathy. That a copy of these resolutions be spread on our minutes, and a copy be furnished to his family. Also that a copy be furnished to Be House Lodge No. 261, and David Carter, who conducted the funeral ceremonies. Also to Goldthwaite Lodge No. 694, participating in the burial.

Respectfully submitted,
J. V. COCKRUM,
GEO. L. WALTON,
LEWIS HUDSON,

It is nice to have teachers who are graduates of our own high school. The members of the faculty of Goldthwaite High School are also graduates of our school. Probably you have heard in what the students think of these teachers. Describe one of these teachers and try to tell us how the body feels toward the teacher as I see him standing there and the roll and at the same time. "Don't forget your work. We are going to send you for the seats tomorrow. Really she isn't so hard on the money."

The senior class sponsor is one of the directors of the school.

Do you have guessed who she is? It is Mrs. Delton Barry.

Do You Believe It? Virgil Howard says I wished that I had a million dollars, a hundred million dollars, a hundred million dollars, a hundred million dollars.

School Mystery Solved. The week's edition of the Goldthwaite Herald, theories were given in relation to Norman's chair turning curly over the following theory was given by a student of Texas University.

On April 23, Editor:—Concerning extreme anxiety for the advent of a practical theory will explain the sudden death of Mr. Norman Black's chair and otherwise normal would be a great satisfaction to myself should I be able to explain such an unusual event. I have spent the major part of two long years of my life studying the laws on phenomena of physics. It occurs to me that there is only one reasonable and possible cause for the mysterious behavior of our friend's chair.

According to Dr. Malcolm Colby, Ph. D., adjunct professor of physics in the Texas University, there exists a certain light, invisible to the human eye, which has a very peculiar characteristic about its frequency of oscillation. Now the length of this particular ray is about one-tenth of a centimeter long (0.0001 cm.), not a very tiny thing as you see. About ten million waves, there are a hundred thousand waves tend to deviate further from the line of wave motion. When light ray is free to move, it is formed a large wave motion of about two centimeters length, made up of this extremely small ray, which is composed of the smaller waves whose lengths are, as I say, about one-tenth millionth centimeter.

Naomi Langford wills her good looks to Oleta Faye Shave. To Fred Soules, Ted Kirby leaves his football genius. Billie Johnson leaves his ability to work geometry to Elaine Stephens. We wonder if she needs it.

Florine Woody has been left the ability to croon and play the piano by Wallace Johnson. Doris Robbins, our big little senior, leaves her ability to play tennis to Virginia Womack.

Robert Burtner wills his Spanish genius to Aileen Stark. If you were in public speaking you'd know what a bequest this is. Jack Chilton leaves his ability to speak to Opal Smith.

Wayne Hamilton leaves his seat in civics class for the '35-'36 reprobate to torment Miss Love. John D. Ford wills his general intelligence to the junior class as a whole.

Now Juniors, with all this you should be a perfect class. We expect to see your history the greatest the world has ever known. May you profit by these bequests, is our sincere wish.

Taking a load off dad's mind. The head of the house was reading a newspaper article very carefully. Presently he remarked to his wife: "Do you know, dear I think there is something in what this article says—that the cleverness of the father often proves a stumbling block to the son."

Can You Beat It?
 By Vergil Howard

Where can a man buy a cap for his knee?
 Or a key for a lock of his hair?
 Can your eyes be called an academy because there are pupils there?
 Could the crook in your elbow be sent to jail?
 If so, what will he do?
 How can you sharpen your shoulder blades?
 I don't know, do you?
 In the crown of your head what jewels can be found?
 And who crosses the bridge of your nose?
 Could you use in shingling the roof of your mouth and the nails in the ends of your toes?
 Could you sit in the shade of the palm of your hand?
 Or beat on the drum of your ear?
 Does the calf of your leg, eat the corn on your toe?
 Then why not raise corn on your ear?

Words of a Statesman. Hon. Chas. L. South, our congressman, made a speech in congress the other day that stamped him as a thinker and a statesman who can be trusted to do the right. He said in part: "Mr. Chairman, someone has correctly said that a statesman is one who is thinking about the next generation, while a politician is one who is thinking about the next election. If that statement is true, I do not believe there is any scarcity of either in this country, as has been clearly demonstrated in the consideration of the economic security act, and more particularly that part of the proposed law which deals with old-age pensions."

"I have spent a good deal of time, as I presume most members of congress have, studying the provisions of the bill now under consideration and studying the hearings before the committee on ways and means. This legislation, in my opinion, is one of the most forward-looking steps which has been taken by our government during its entire existence. There is no doubt but that our problems are social as well as economic. There is no doubt but that our country as a whole has become decidedly old-age pension minded. This has resulted in part, I am sure, from

WHEN COURAGE WAS IN FLOWER

Texans celebrated the victory over the Mexican army at San Jacinto the first of this week. The battle was fought ninety-nine years ago by that rugged, spectacular character, General Sam Houston, and the little loyal band fighting for independence. But few men in that army had any property. They were patriots who loved liberty, and it was for the right to be free, to acquire property and be protected in the ownership of it, that they struggled that day on that battlefield. It was the shortest decisive battle ever fought in the history of the world, and it represented the highest type of human bravery and loyalty to a great principle that was ever waged.

The lesson of San Jacinto should be valuable to us in these trying times. We are fighting a battle but it is not as hard as the one those heroes fought. We have much more to eat than they had; we have more to enjoy. They slept on the ground in the driving rain, they drank black coffee and ate poor beef, as they carried the Lone Star to that field of final victory. If we would put the grit and nerve and endurance and sacrifice of Sam Houston and his men back of our present effort towards recovery we would "snap out" of this depression as quickly as those brave Texans won that immortal fight.—Waco Record.

As for me, I owe no sacred and binding obligations to the people who sent me to congress to be re-elected, but I am under a solemn and sacred obligation to such people to contend for the things which I believe to be to the best interest of our country as a whole, and to oppose such measures as I believe detrimental to its welfare, and this I propose to do."

Seniors Extend Appreciation To P.T.A.

The senior class wishes to extend their appreciation to the Parent-Teachers association for their generosity in sponsoring their trip to Austin, April 22. They also extend their appreciation to those who furnished cars for the trip.

Some of the high spots of the trip were a visit through the Texas University buildings; a visit to the assembly of the joint session of the legislative body; an excursion through the governor's mansion. Some of the students drove to the Elizabeth Ney studio. Supper was eaten at Barton Springs about 6:30 that afternoon. Everyone enjoyed the trip and will always remember it as a high spot in their senior year.

Freshmen Elect King and Queen

Last Tuesday morning ballots were passed out among the students in order that they might vote on their candidates for king and queen of the May day festival, held Wednesday afternoon in the school auditorium.

The freshman class, being the largest class in high school, elected Clark Davis and Joyce Johnson as king and queen, respectively.

The festival went over big, and everyone liked and enjoyed it immensely. This was the second annual May day festival held in Goldthwaite.

agitation of measures, some of which are unquestionably unreasonable and unworkable. If such agitation and propaganda was necessary, however, to sell this country on the question of old-age pensions, it has, in my opinion, been fully justified. * * * Many people who signed petitions were misinformed; were told that a straight 2-per cent sales tax would raise sufficient money to pay each person over 60 years of age $200. * * * It is an admitted fact that the transaction tax will, in many cases, amount to more than 10 per cent. Even with all the taxes above provided for in such bill, it is admitted by most of the proponents of the measure that it will fall far short of producing sufficient money to pay $200 per month as originally proposed. Therefore, it becomes quite evident that this proposal has not feel sure that it will continue to progress next year.

LONG COVE

Our hearts were made sad last Sunday night, April 28, when Mrs. J. A. Godwin, affectionately called Grandmother Godwin, passed away at the home of her daughter, Mrs. L. W. Hill. She was born October 11, 1850, in Alabama, and came to Texas when a small child. She joined the Missionary Baptist church at the age of 19. She married J. A. Godwin in 1874. To this union eight children were born, four of whom are still living. Her husband preceded her in death on October 23, 1932. Her surviving children are Mrs. L. W. Hill, Mrs. Ely Roberts, Mrs. Della Alexander and Enoch Godwin. Rev. Frank Cochran of Brownwood and Rev. B. F. Renfro of Goldthwaite conducted the funeral services. MOUNT OLIVE
HIGH SCHOOL

The pupils and teachers of Mount Olive have been very busy for the past two weeks. School will be out May 10. Every one has been busy, yes, very busy.

Graduation Exercises

Wednesday night, May 8, graduation exercises will be held for the seventh and tenth grades. Five boys and four girls will graduate from the tenth grade. Mildred Wilcox will probably be valedictorian. Her average is a fraction above 93.

Four boys and two girls will graduate from the seventh grade. Lorene Hodges has the highest average at present. Her average is above 92.

Tolbert Patterson, superintendent of Mullin schools, will be the principal speaker. We invite all of our parents, patrons and friends to attend this exercise.

Senior Reception

The Mount Olive seniors held their annual senior reception April 20 at the school house. All desks and other furniture that would remind one of school were taken from the room. The room was beautifully decorated with the class colors, red and white. Four tables were placed in the room, arranged like the leaves of a four leaf clover. Each table was covered with a white linen table cloth and on them there was a vase of red roses and a basket of red and white Easter eggs.

The menu consisted of chicken sandwiches, potato chips, pickles, punch, marshmallows, brick ice cream and squares of red and white cake.

The seniors and their guests were: Mildred Wilcox, Elton Hucklebee, Velma Leach, Alvie Doyle Eppler, Vera Koen, Herbert B. Cooke, Eva Koen, Willie Neal, Cecil Hucklebee, Vera Shipp, Alvin Guess, Mary B. Hodges, Furman Bleeker, Oleta Horton, Clinton Harris, Vivian Koen, Miss Lois E. Blackwell, Horace Cooke, Mr. and Mrs. Lennan Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Joe J. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. F. W. Crawford, Audra Eppler, Zella B. Conway, Ruby Valentine and Eldred Lane.

Eighth and Ninth Grade Party
Mr. and Mrs. Huston Valentine entertained the eighth and ninth grades at their home Thursday night. The weather was so bad that all of the pupils did not get to go. Those who did go had a grand time and wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Valentine. The following were served cake and hot chocolate: Mr. and Mrs. Joe J. Smith, Mr. and Mrs. Lennan Lane, Mrs. May Hodges, Weldon Couch, James Hodges, Sammie Roberts, Lewis Hodges, Eldred Lane, Nadine Hodges, Bowie Lane, Lorene Hodges, Ruben Lane, Bill Poer and Betha W.

Everyone is glad to get thru practicing on plays.

We have had lots of visitors this week. We are always glad to have parents and friends visit us.

The sport of mud ball throwing was enjoyed during the muddy season.

Plays

"The Adventures of Bill" was presented by the primary and intermediate rooms Tuesday night. A large crowd attended.

A large crowd also attended the "Wild Oats Boy" presented at the school house Friday night.

Both of these plays were long plays and well prepared. The Mount Olive pupils will not put on another long play this year.

But next Thursday, May 9, the seniors will present a thirty-minute play called "Sonnie from Sonville." This play will be preceded by a short program from the primary and intermediate rooms.

A LIBERAL POLICY

The Eagle has been more liberal than judicious in the matter of subscriptions for the past three years, owing to the depression, but the time has come when all newspapers are being required to call their lists to those who really want and pay for the paper. One requirement recently brought to the attention of the Eagle management is that the paper can only be sent through the post office at the second class rate to bona fide subscribers and business men who carry advertisements and are entitled to a copy of the paper to check such advertisements; but the old "free and easy" policy must be abandoned.

News Notes Clipped From the Mullin Enterprise

FORMER CITIZEN OF MILLS COUNTY PASSED AWAY

Editor Enterprise:— We have just received a letter from Mrs. Sammie Traxel of Carey, Kansas, stating that her mother, Mrs. Henrietta Hutchinson, passed away April 25.

The old doctor said her's was the most difficult death certificate he ever filled out— good blood, good heart, good lungs, no disease—just worn out. Had she lived until the thirteenth of next month she would have been 95 years old.

Old friends will remember her as the woman who kept hotel at Williams Ranch and the good eats with which she spread her table. No doubt there are old cowboys of the seventies in San Saba and Brown counties, as well as Mills, who can recall memories of the good biscuit she used to make.

When Mullin was placed on the map she moved her hotel to that place, and carried on for a few years. Later, in declining years, she gave up that work for a good number of years she lived with her daughter, Mrs. John Goode in Carey, Kansas. She leaves two daughters, Mrs. Traxel and Mrs. Goode, and three grandchildren.

Her life was a strenuous one. With enterprise and industry she forged ahead, where others would have failed. She was born in 1840 in the state of Florida. Very pleasant was here memory of childhood life on her father's plantation.

MRS. L. W. FRENCH

SCHOOL NEARING CLOSE

A few more weeks and school will close for this year. The pupils are all eagerly looking forward to promotion. A progressive step up the ladder and thru high school.

The senior class is eight strong this year, the smallest group in Mullin history, but eight fine girls deserve commendation.

One wonders where the little boys were who were in that class and should be there now, graduating.

It's just too bad when the boys fail to have the perseverance to study and progress and stay in school.

A high school education is one of the essentials of life now. A few generations ago it was not so essential, for the opportunity did not exist. In this age and state when boys and girls refuse to accept a high school education it is at a very dear price and they pay the price all the days of their life.

ACCEPTS BLAME FOR DIVULGING SECRETS

An Associated Press dispatch from Washington, D. C., dated May 1, says: Full blame for the revelation of secret army testimony which reverberated internationally and brought a stern rebuke from President Roosevelt was shouldered personally Wednesday by white-haired John J. McSwain of South Carolina.

The chairman of the house military committee read the extraordinary censure addressed him by the White House and firmly announced: "I assume the full blame. The responsibility is mine and that of the clerks under me."

It was the sixtieth birthday of the South Carolina veteran of legislative and war-time military service. Quickly he took steps to prevent any repetition of the slip which publicized war-plan testimony given by army officers under pledges of secrecy.

Stenographers Must Leave
Then he set himself to phrasing a letter of regret to Mr. Roosevelt, who had written not only as president, but also as commander-in-chief of the army and navy.

To assure that hereafter there will be no possibility of a leak of testimony given the committee in executive session, McSwain ordered that stenographers must leave the committee chamber during secret meetings.

In his bluntly worded communication Mr. Roosevelt had advised McSwain he would if necessary censor all army and navy testimony. McSwain preferred not to comment on the White House reprimand.

Unfortunate and Regrettable
In the testimony which became public high army generals spoke of a camouflaged air base near Canada and the need for seizing nearby British and French isles in an emergency.

After the drawing, amiable South Carolinian had absolved his committee of responsibility, he termed unfortunate and regrettable the slip by which words of Brig. Gen. Charles E. Kilbourne and Brig. Gen. F. M. Andrews, speaking behind closed doors on a bill to create a system of powerful defensive air bases around the nation, were included in a public committee record.

The president had emphasized that the generals voiced the views neither of the administration, the commander in chief nor the United States government. McSwain agreed in Mr. Roosevelt's statement of friendship for Canada.

A delightful social affair of the season, was the 6 o'clock dinner, given last Wednesday by Mmes. Casey and Chancellor, for the faculty of Mullin school, at the home of Mrs. Casey.

Spring flowers were used in attractive arrangement in decorating the rooms. The dining table was attractively laid, and held as a centerpiece, a cut glass vase, filled with white roses and lace fern, with red tapers in matching holders on each side, lighting the table.

At the conclusion of the dinner, forty-two was played by those present. The guest list included Misses Guthrie, Lindsey, Mills, Summy and Fisher, Mmes. J. D. Giles and Leone Walton, Messrs. Patterson, Parker, S. J. Casey and G. W. Chancellor and the hostesses, Mmes. Casey and Chancellor.

Most Powerful Type Of Magnet Can Be Made In A Few Minutes

EVERY boy is familiar with the simple horseshoe magnet which picks up nails, needles, and other metal objects and makes them act as if they were bewitched. But a magnet can be made in a few minutes which will furnish even more entertainment and interest than one of the regular kind.

The kind we refer to is of the most modern, powerful type known. It is called an electro-magnet, and is used in great industrial plants. Such magnets, attached to traveling cranes, are employed to pick up heavy metals and carry them about, and they are so powerful that they can hold tons of iron and steel suspended in the air. They are often five or six feet in diameter, and one of that size, weighing about three tons, can pick up thirty tons of iron.

An ordinary screwdriver is one of the easiest objects to turn into an electro-magnet. The only other equipment needed is a short piece of cotton-insulated wire, along with a dry cell battery such as can be found in any electrical or hardware store, but be sure that the battery is fresh and dependable. The insulated wire is wound around the metal part of the screwdriver, as shown in the illustration, and the ends are connected to the battery.

The operator, then takes hold of the handle of the screwdriver and touches the metal end to any object he wishes to pick up. Tacks or light nails will instantly attach themselves to the point. Sometimes they will jump up to meet the metal. Not only will single tacks and nails adhere to the screwdriver point, but they themselves will pass the electric current into other nails or tacks until a string of metal objects may hang from the end of the screwdriver.

The lifting power of the magnet may be increased according to the number of times the wire is wrapped around the metal of the screwdriver. With a piece of soft iron from one-quarter to three-eighths of an inch in diameter, and a wire long enough to make 175 turns around the metal, a weight of 200 pounds or more can be picked up and carried about.

FORMULATING POLITICAL ISSUES

The opponents of the Democratic administration, or to make more personal the opponents of Mr. Roosevelt, are lining up and are formulating plans for next year's campaign, which bids fair to open early and cover a wide range of subjects and issues. The "share the wealth" slogan will emblazon the banner of one of the foremost groups of opponents of the administration, but with the unprecedented call on the national government for help in every imaginable situation, very little headway will be made by the opposition. It is undoubtedly universally admitted that but for the policies of Mr. Roosevelt and his advisers there would have been a far worse condition developed throughout the country than has been experienced. Most people who have been given help from the administration would not be swift to join the opposition so soon. Hon. Alfred E. Smith, one time Democratic candidate for president, when asked his opinion of the possibility of the success of the opponents of the administration, said that "Nobody wants to shoot Santa Claus." His statement covers a wide scope, but to apply it to every day facts, it means that Huey Long and his supporters will find that the country as a whole appreciates the liberal help that has been given in the time of depression and unemployment. It is true that many mistakes have been made, but it is not likely they would all be cured by the "share the wealth" policy and certainly the proponents of that system, especially Huey Long and his preacher running mate, would not likely be able to improve conditions.

PLAN IN THE BALANCE

The cotton processing tax system, inaugurated under the New Deal, has to do with the South's most important crop and industry. It is therefore, a question of vital interest to the cotton growing states and the method of handling the situation calls for the most mature thought and judgment of the statesmen of the country. If continuing the processing tax is to further depress the cotton market, certainly it should be abandoned. One writer who has made a careful study of the situation says: "The textile situation threatens to become explosive. At the present time, the government assesses all textile manufacturers in order to obtain the money it is paying farmers for non-production of cotton. Manufacturers say that this tax makes it impossible to operate at a profit. They now suggest that the tax be dropped and the farmers be paid from the public works fund. President Roosevelt has looked coldly on that idea, has said that the textile people exaggerate. Secretary Wallace, as might be expected, agrees with the president. Some textile spokesmen have made the dire forecast that if the present plan is continued not a loom will be turning in six months." The closing of the cotton goods factories would have serious consequences, hence it is a matter requiring careful and wise handling.

REFINANCING PUBLIC DEBTS

There is and has been for a long time severe criticism of the government appropriations for various purposes and the almost universal comment is that these debts must be paid some day and that the public will have cause to realize that the help extended the country has been at the public expense. All of this is more or less true, yet an analysis of the government's financial situation is decidedly encouraging at this time, as explained by Secretary of the Treasury Morgenthau in a recent radio address, when he said that when the present administration came to office the gross public debt was a trifle under $21,000,000,000. On March 31, it was $26,000,000,000. He said that it would naturally be supposed that the interest cost of the debt would be at a record high, inasmuch as the debt itself is. But the annual interest cost—now amounting to $890,000,000—is less than it was in 1923, when the debt was $8,000,000,000 less. The reason is that government bonds now pay less interest than at any time in history. The average on the bonds outstanding is but 2.86 per cent, and the treasury is gradually calling in old, high-interest bond issues, and issuing low-interest ones in their place. The saving in interest will help a lot, he said, in providing relief for those who are being helped.

A PROOF OF PATRIOTISM

Hon. Thos. L. Blanton, Texas congressman and for many years representative of a district in which Mills county was included, has always been an outstanding member of the national law-making body and his services have been worth millions to the nation, because of his watchfulness of the public interest and his knowledge of law and procedure, together with his ability to defend on the floor of congress his every position and policy. He has been recognized throughout the nation as one of the foremost members of congress and his retirement would be a serious loss not only to his district but to the nation; therefore, his announcement that he would not accept the judgeship of a new federal court was received with satisfaction by his friends in Texas and the country at large. The position on the court bench would pay him as much as he receives as congressman and is freed from political strife and contests by being a life-time appointment; hence, a refusal to accept such an appointment can but be interpreted as an act of patriotism, which is indeed a source of pleasure for his friends, for it vindicates their opinion of him.

OLD SUBJECT EVER NEW

Discussion of highway accidents and their cause continues to occupy a considerable amount of space in publications throughout the country, but the pleadings, warnings and arguments appear to have no effect on the automobile drivers or the pedestrians and others who are involved in such accidents. The burden of the arguments is directed toward the drivers, however, when it is not likely a majority of the accidents are due to the fault of the drivers. One needs only to experiment with the operation of a motor vehicle on the streets and highways to be convinced that the spirit of defiance and daring plays a leading role in the traffic tragedies throughout the country. There is reason for blame on every side, but the motorist should not be portrayed to the public as being wholly at fault.

SPREADING PROPAGANDA

So many of the interests have literary bureaus organized and maintained for spreading their propaganda, through a free press service, that the publishers must be increasingly careful less they be used as cat's paws to pull the chestnuts for the interests. Some of the most innocent news items or articles on public matters often contain a meaning that is pure propaganda in a campaign for certain interests. It is not alone a desire to avoid payment of advertising rates that actuates these interests, but rather an effort to commit the press to the support of their cause.

NOBODY'S BUSINESS

Austin, April 30—A chaotic legislative jam, which promises death to hundreds of bills, some good, some bad, appears in the making, as the adjournment date proposed by the house resolution, May 7, approaches. Pay of legislators will automatically drop from $10 to $5 a day on that date. If adjournment is taken in circumstances that require a special session immediately, pay for the special session is $10. Those who know the workings of the legislative mind best do not believe the session will be prolonged very long at the $5 rate.

Last week end, only 71 house bills and 59 senate measures had passed finally. Most of them were local bills, of little importance. The people and the press of the state are being aroused by the long-drawn-out session and its record of minimum accomplishments. Here is a typical expression from the Cuero Record, who quotes this column and comments: "Julian Capers x x x x declares that a lobbyist's paradise has been created in Austin by the Texas senate, obviously to retaliate against Gov. Allred for the barbs he threw during last summer's campaign x x x x. We are prone to agree with him. And the Texas legislature can be assured that Texas voters are not exactly pleased with the manner in which business is being transacted or 'non-transacted' in Austin just now."

Lieut. Gov. Woodul believes that $4000 a year is far too little for the state to pay its governor, after serving for a few days in the office which he took over when Governor Allred went to Washington to testify against the federal oil control bill. "I enjoyed being governor, but it is no bed of roses," remarked the personable lieutenant governor. "The salary paid the governor is grossly inadequate, and we ought to pay a living wage. I would like to lead a campaign to amend the constitution and raise the pay from $4000 to $12000 a year."

Gov. Woodul also left the state for a day during his brief incumbency, going to Oklahoma. Ken Reagan, president pro tem of the senate, then became governor briefly. Both he and Woodul found time to send messages to the legislature, and to appoint many colonels.

Race horse betting in Texas appears safe for awhile, at least. A test vote in the senate, when Tom DeBerry of Red River, sought to call up the repeal bill as a special order, met overwhelming defeat. Requiring a two-thirds vote, the motion failed even to get a majority. The able lobbyists hired by the horse race betting crowd, abetted by the inertia of the legislature, have earned their fat fees. Any further action at this session on horse betting is extremely unlikely.

Both houses must saw wood during the next two weeks on the appropriation bills, including those for state departments, for education and rural aid state institutions and judiciary. The eleemosynary, departmental and judiciary measures have gone to conference, while differences must be ironed out and the compromise bills approved by both houses. No important new taxation measures have passed, and none is likely to, but action on various bills to tighten up collections of gasoline, cigaret and beer taxes, would bring increased revenue estimated at $17,000,000 for the biennium. That would finance a centennial appropriation, if any is made, and take care of increases provided in the other general appropriation measures. Then the legislature probably will submit a prohibition repeal amendment—after settling the row between house and senate as to whether the people or the legislature shall decide the state monopoly question.—pass some kind of a compromise state police bill,—and go home.

This correspondent is "out on a limb" by reason of the story written two weeks ago, predicting early final passage of the Texas Centennial appropriation bill. The joint conference committee reported the bill as predicted. But the house rejected

CHILD HEALTH DAY

The May day slogan, "Immunize Now—Stamp Out Diphtheria," is designed to intensify the attack upon one of the most deadly foes of children, according to the director of the bureau of child hygiene. In the early days of our country's history an epidemic of diphtheria in a town not infrequently resulted in one or more deaths among the children of almost every family in town. These devastating outbreaks continued to appear in our various cities and towns until the latter part of the last century.

The campaign carried on in connection with the celebration of May day as Child Health day, should give added interest to continuing diphtheria immunization work and extending its scope to include as many children as possible. The best time to immunize a child against diphtheria is during infancy. The procedure can be carried out any time after six months of age—the sooner the better. By carrying out a state-wide May day program for this year with the slogan, "Immunize Now—Stamp Out Diphtheria," it is hoped that the death rate from diphtheria may be reduced in Texas.

HELPING FARMERS

Secretary Wallace is the only cabinet member who has ever done anything tangible for agriculture. He has favored and been largely instrumental in helping the farmer by direct action rather than by academic recommendations from the rostrum. He has not been content to preach agricultural aid, but to add to a modicum of preaching a realizable contribution. He is certainly right in deploring the lot of the share-cropper. But the share-cropper so long adapted his thinking and living to his accepted condition he has been in no great sweat to change it. A share-cropper on a cotton farm has the fewest possible responsibilities. He has his landlord to look to in the direst emergency, and his leisure to safeguard when field work is out. Some harried landlords have been moved to look with envy on the situation of the share-cropper. Now, it remains true that a share-cropper with average luck and extra capacity for planning and managing can become a landlord if he wants to. But it requires the urgency of ambition to make him want to. If he has been a share-cropper for long, his ambition has departed with his sense of economic responsibility.

THE BRIGHT SIDE

Today this country needs invincible optimists. It needs men with spirit! It needs men who look up—not down. It needs men with courage, initiative and faith. Folded hands and gloomy talk grease the slide to failure. America is not ready for the dirge! Strike up the band! March ahead! Roll up your sleeves. Leaders everywhere are seeing a rift in the clouds! Things are getting better. Factories are humming again. People are buying. Come out into the sunshine of optimism. Get into the fray and believe you will win! There's a rift in the clouds! — Silver Lining.

the conference report, much to everybody's surprise, and then sent the bill to a new conference committee, loaded with "instructions." Some of these appear to be fatal handicaps. But Nobody's Business hereby signs off as a forecaster of what the Texas house is going to do about appropriating funds for a centennial.

The writer, making an advance trip to arrange entertainment for the boosters aboard the Texas Press Association's centennial special train, has been into 14 southern states in ten days. Throughout the south, he found the people tremendously interested in Texas and her centennial, and eager to receive the Texas visitors with the open-hearted hospitality for which the south is famous. There is no question but that thousands of southerners plan to visit Texas in 1936, if the centennial is held. The Press Association, forced to postpone departure of the train by the legislature's delay, is assured that its project, when carried out, will meet with splendid success.

EDITORIAL COMMENT

Views of the Nation's Press on Topics of Interest and Importance

LAST OF THE LIBERTYS

In announcing the treasury's call for redemption of the last block of Liberty bonds outstanding, Secretary Morgenthau estimated that the Roosevelt administration will have saved $100,000,000 annually through its refunding of the war time debt. As the federal budget stands today, this is no longer so large a sum as it would formerly have seemed to be. Mr. Hopkins and FERA will spend in twenty-seven April days as much as the treasury manages to save in a year thru its reduction of interest charges on the debt. Fortunately, however, this saving will continue to be made from year to year, whereas, a substantial recovery of business would check the enormous expenditures now being made for relief of unemployment.

Thus far the treasury has managed with great skill a refunding operation so vast as to deserve the description of a high adventure. More than $8,000,000,000 (billions) was outstanding in Liberty bonds when the Roosevelt administration entered office, most of it bearing interest at the rate of 4-1-4 and the rest at 4 and 3-1-2. Within eight months after the government changed hands in Washington, the treasury began refunding these obligations into new bonds bearing sharply lower rates of interest. It has stayed by this task persistently, pursuing entirely orthodox methods in its refinancing and showing so keen an appreciation of its market that only a small percentage of the bonds called for redemption has had to be redeemed in cash—the rest being willingly converted into the new securities offered in exchange by the government.

The result has been not only a large saving in the cost of carrying the war debt, but a general lowering of interest rates which has begun to have a marked effect upon the investment markets. Mr. Morgenthau notes the sharp gains shown recently in the amount of refunding undertaken by private corporations. The record of last month was particularly striking. The country will hope with him that the tendency thus revealed, a tendency which is in large part the government's own effort to lower the cost of credit, means that "the financial log-jam has been broken."—New York Times

OUR TRADE WITH EUROPE

The imposition of additional restrictions on foreign trade by several European countries in recent months is now adversely affecting our commerce with that continent, current trade statistics indicate. While our trade with most countries has shown an increase in dollar value as compared with last year, a substantial shrinkage has occurred in the case of Europe.

For the first two months of the current year, American foreign trade has registered a gain of 9 per cent as compared with the corresponding period in 1934. Our trade with Europe, however, is down more than 10 per cent. Further analysis indicates that our exports to that continent have dropped more than 15 per cent, as compared with 1934, while imports have held virtually unchanged.

Our exports to other continents by contrast, have risen 10 to 50 per cent as compared with 1934, while our imports from them have risen from 10 to more than 40 per cent.

These statistics indicate unmistakably that additional foreign exchange restrictions, quotas, etc., imposed by Europe during the last year are injuring American trade with that continent. At the same time, while Europe has not increased her exports to us, they are holding constant. Hence, the desired objective of establishing a better balance between her exports to us and her imports from this country is being approached by European nations, but at a cost of a progressive strangulation of the total volume of American-European trade.—New York Journal of Commerce.

SEISMIC RESEARCH AND FORMOSA

If scientists who have been studying earthquakes so intensively had been on the Island of Formosa last Sunday they would have had an interesting though not an enjoyable experience. Just before dawn buildings collapsed upon the sleeping population of this island, whose name, meaning "the beautiful," was conferred by Portuguese explorers and which was acquired from China by Japan in 1895.

It is now estimated that more than 3000 of the island's inhabitants, mostly Chinese and aborigines, have lost their lives, and the condition of those who escaped death is pathetic. Thousands more are injured, others are frantically searching for missing relatives, and continual after-quakes, which may continue for days or even for weeks, create terror. It was not as destructive, of course, as the quake that shook populous Tokio and Yokohama in 1923, when 100,000 lives were lost, but it was more severe than Formosa's last quake in 1906, when 1300 were killed.

Fires which broke out in the Japanese cities were responsible for most of the deaths in the disaster in 1923. The catastrophe in Formosa was due mainly to the crumbling of structures in settlements in various parts of the island, though there were some fires. The first news of what has happened in a number of these population centers was brought by carrier pigeons.

As Formosa is situated in one of the belts where earthquakes are most frequent and most severe, the present disaster will not surprise the scientific world. But while knowledge of earthquakes has increased much in the last few years, and new instruments have been perfected for promoting this study, the scientists still are unable to tell people in earthquake zones just when to expect one of these seismic shocks. Will earthquake prevention be any nearer when the available facts about this disturbance have been analyzed? Instruments to record the exact movement of the earth, if there should be a strong movement of this kind, have been installed along our Pacific coast and doubtless also in Japan, where they are most apt to be needed. Did the scientists have the foresight to set up such apparatus in Formosa?—St. Louis Globe Democrat.

THEORY AND PRACTICE

Recently the board of education in a middle western industrial city appointed a committee to make a survey of the citizenship training that was being given in the city's schools. The committee presently reported that the courses were making a fine showing, except for the fact that the children were learning too much about their city outside of school hours.

In class the children were taught all about the principles of government, how it is supposed to operate, what the ideals of democracy are. Then in their homes and through other contacts they were finding out that things don't always work that way. They were discovering that the practices in democratic government don't always jibe with the theories. The result was that they were concluding that their school room training was all very pretty, but that it didn't mean much.

A child who hears his parents boasting about some evasion of the law, who sees teachers going unpaid, while political gangs are loading up the public payrolls preparatory to election day, who sees criminals escaping justice, is receiving a liberal education in government that can't be found in books. No wonder if he begins to think that ideals don't mean much in government.

The antidote, of course, is a different attitude on the part of his parents and citizens generally. We can put all the fine theories we like in to the school books, but they won't have much effect unless we ourselves show a disposition to follow them. We can't achieve perfection overnight, but if by our example we

UNWISE TACTICS

The Chronicle probably has little sympathy for the doctrines of Father and Senator Huey Long, but reasonably imaginably would like to warn some critics to amend their both in the interest of and in the interest of results.

The diatribe which Smith delivered in the States senate on the priests and ministers was entirely unjustified. America when we are classes of citizens, with privileges, then priests and lawyers have as much politics as lawyers or men, just as law bricklayers must go to men, asking no special attention because of occupation that respect which is shown every man of and good citizenship.

Whatever else may be the political field as a citizen. He has not sought as a priest in politics, an American citizen in the denial that fact, as Senator Long does, is to indulge in religious prejudice, evil he is charging against Coughlin.

Brownwood

An addition of 75,000 bass minnows was made to the stock of fish in Lake Brownwood this week. S. B. Wright of Cisco brought the 30 cans of fish from the hatchery at Cisco. He said that the Cisco hatchery had a large surplus of fish and that he would return here in the near future with another large supply.

Chamber of Commerce directors voted at their weekly luncheon Wednesday to make an effort to run a special Santa Fe train to Plainview to take Brownwood delegates to the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention to be held there May 13, 14 and 15. The plan is to run the train the second day of the convention and stay until the meeting closes.

Mayor W. H. Thompson got a salary increase from $125 a month to $200 a month at the meeting of the Brownwood city council Tuesday night. The mayor also serves as city manager and city judge. The action in hiking the salary was bolstered by a petition, generously signed by Brownwood taxpayers, asking that such action be taken. Petitioners pointed out that at one time the city paid $400 a month for similar services. The petition also review the splendid financial condition of the city at the present time.—Banner.

PREPARING FOR CONTEST

A report from Austin says: "It may be that Texans will vote twice on the question of prohibition repeal. The conference committee, which for two weeks has been attempting to write a resolution that would please all sides gave consideration Saturday to a new form of dual submission. Representatives Alfred Petach and George Moffett, joined by Tom DeBerry, proposed that the question of outright repeal be submitted Aug. 24 and that an additional amendment providing for state stores and a state monopoly of liquor be submitted at a later date, probably at the general election of 1936.

"As matters have stood, the senate wants submission of an amendment that will repeal prohibition and forbid open saloons. The house resolution would permit voters at the election to say whether they favor repeal of prohibition and whether they want a state monopoly. The new plan would separate the submission of these two questions."

A school teacher had found her class of boys reluctant to do their arithmetic. So to arouse their interest she started them figuring the old problem of how many apples Adam and Eve ate. And here is the way they figured it:

Some said Eve 8 and Adam 2—a total of only 10.

Now we, said others, figure the thing out far differently: Eve 8 and Adam 8—a total of 16.

We think, another group ventured, the above figures are entirely wrong. If Eva 8 and Adam 82, certainly the total will be 90.

Other students, however, on the strength of the theory that the antediluvians were giants, reasoned something like this: Eve 81 and Adam 82—totaling 163.

Wrong again, cried another group. What could be clearer than if Eve 81 and Adams 812, the total was 893.

I believe, ventured another student, the following to be the true solution: Eve 814 Adam and Adam 8124 Eve, making a total of 8938.

Still another calculated that if Eve 814 Adam, Adam 81242 oblige Eve, bringing the total number of apples consumed to 82,056.—Pathfinder.

Black-Draught Good For Biliousness and Bad Taste in Mouth

"I have found Theford's Black-Draught so good for biliousness, bad taste in the mouth and other disagreeable feelings due to constipation," writes Mrs. Mary Garner, of Dallas, Texas. "My mother used it for a number of years and we do not think there is a better medicine. I was pleased when I saw Syrup of Black-Draught advertised. I sent for it and gave it to my children (as a laxative) for colds and when they felt bad. Soon they felt fine."... Hitler's reported construction of 250-ton "vest-pocket" submarines in violation of the Versailles treaty is believed in informed quarters to have wrecked plans for the scheduled Anglo-German naval conversations in London next week. The revelation that 250-ton undersea ships can be dangerous antagonists in warfare is held by experts to refute Germany's claims that the new craft by their very size, would be restricted to defense uses in coastal waters.

A LIBERAL POLICY

The Eagle has been more liberal than judicious in the matter of subscriptions for the past three years, owing to the depression, but the time has come when all newspapers are being required to cull their lists to those who really want and pay for the paper. One requirement recently brought to the attention of the Eagle management is that the paper can only be sent through the postoffice at the second class rate to bona fide subscribers and business men who carry advertisements and are entitled to a copy of the paper to check such advertisements, but the old "free and easy" policy must be abandoned.

Claiming that 10c an acre under the government's soil erosion control program is insufficient to pay the cost of listing land, representatives of nine north Panhandle counties have started a movement to obtain more federal funds to fight land blowing. That amount will buy the fuel necessary to list an acre, they say, but will not pay for repairs necessary before any plowing can be done and farmers are unable to pay for the repairs. Several counties are obtaining signatures on petitions, asking that 50c an acre be allotted.

A report from Prague says that Zdenek Pivnec, 29, unemployed clerk, traveled from Prague to Jugo-Slavia with two wives and neither wife had any idea of the other's existence until they reached their destination. When one caught sight of her husband buying chocolate from a slot machine for the child of the other woman, the result was a trial for bigamy and fraud in Prague. During the case it was disclosed that Pivnec had gone through the marriage ceremony a second time with Jane Stankova, a rich young woman, to secure funds for the support of his first wife and their child. For several months he managed to live with both of his families. Each wife believed him to be a commercial traveler.

If the entire amount requested is not granted by the government, he said, he will get what he can from Washington and spend it as wisely as possible in order to facilitate movement of tourist traffic through the state during the time of the centennial exposition.

DRIVERS' LICENSE BILL PASSED BY TEXAS SENATE

An International News Service dispatch states: "A drivers' license bill was passed Wednesday by the Texas senate, 16 to 11, and sent back to the house for concurrence in senate changes.

The senate substitute for a bill passed several weeks ago by the house would require all drivers to obtain licenses at a cost of 25c for a three-year period. The house bill had stipulated yearly licenses, at 10 cents apiece.

Enforcement of the law would be in the hands of the state highway patrol, under the senate bill, but licenses could not be revoked without a trial and a court order.

In counties of less than 30,000 population the tax assessor would conduct examination and issue licenses; in counties of more than 30,000 the tax collector, sheriff or town marshal could be designated for this duty by the chief of the highway patrol.

SHEEP HAVE COME UNTO THEIR OWN

The month of May is honored by shepherds for May 23, 1809, the first sheep were imported to the United States. Sheep had to prove their worth and were not extended a welcome by large numbers of cattlemen. The sheep business gradually improved and with better fences and less dogs the business is thriving as the years pass. To day it is one of the leading lines and cattlemen long ago decided sheep and cattle could run in the same pastures profitably and smile over the low opinion shepherds were paid a few generations ago by the cattle kings. Prejudice gone and times have changed since the first importation of the lowly sheep back in 1809.

CARRIED MARKER AWAY

Tourists and souvenir hunters who visited the supposed grave of Jesse James in a cemetery at Kearney, Mo., during the week of the fifty-third anniversary of the noted outlaw's death, failed to find the well-chipped tombstone, which formerly marked the burial spot. For years visitors to the grave delighted in chipping off pieces of the stone as souvenirs. The granite marker was thus reduced so that the date was completely removed and the name partly obliterated. Where the stone had been moved, could not be learned.

According to story books and popular belief, it was in April, 1832, that James, the quarry of law enforcement officers throughout the United States, mounted a chair in his home in St. Joseph, to hang a picture on the wall. In the home at the time was Bob Ford, a member of the James gang. With the infamous bandit's back turned to him, Ford drew his pistol and shot James. Rewards offered for the gang chief's capture, dead or alive, prompted Ford's act.

Members of the James band of outlaws later denied this version of the ending of the career of their leader.

INDEPENDENT PRESS ON RECOVERY IN BUSINESS

There is a distinct hint of old times in some of the rumblings in real estate. No doubt there is a considerable upturn in general public confidence.—Toledo Times

Nothing has happened in congress yet to cause uneasiness. The Herald-Post does not think anything will happen to justify a halt in the betterment of business conditions. Rolling up sleeves is the best prescription to allay fears.—Louisville Herald Post.

That producing industries and distributive trades maintain their pace as well as they do, suggests that long-standing adverse political influences are beginning to lose force. The developments emphasize an increasing disposition to consider the many proposals of the administration on their merits.—Wall Street Journal (Ind.)

A reader of the Times, referring to Commissioner Kennedy's remark that we have not been thankful enough for a 34 per cent increase in general business challenges the calculation of business expansion. We are not sure which particular calculation, in the multifarious indices, Mr. Kennedy was citing, but his percentage increase of 34 per cent appears to us most conservative.—New York Times.

Many ups and downs naturally have been experienced since Roosevelt took office amid the most desperate economic plight this country has ever faced. But the situation now is that business is growing steadily and definitely better. The improvement is too consistent—has been evident for too long a time—to be considered merely as a passing phase. The general trend can not be interpreted as anything but a comeback.—Chicago Jobber Topics.

Commenting on business gains, H. P. Kendall, president of a big textile corporation in Boston, said: "A consistent, co-operative effort, freed from partisan chiseling, either industrial, labor or political, toward the employment of effective workers in the regular channels of industry, can have no other result than an acceleration of the progress that has been made since March 4, 1933." This statement, sanctioned by 52 of the foremost leaders of American business and industry, is an absolute endorsement by them of the Roosevelt plan of national recovery. Their purpose is to convince the nation that, in their judgment, recovery is on the way. It is a powerful answer to the carping critics who, for party reasons, are trying to break down or obstruct the efforts of recovery.—Portland, Ore., Journal.

A dead man dangling from an open parachute floated down out of the skies in Chateauroux, France, Wednesday, after two army planes engaged in maneuvers, collided in midair. One of the planes cut the other in two, throwing two pilots and an observer from the cockpits of the ships. The observer was killed in the fall to earth, but the pilots' parachutes opened and one landed safely and the other one was dead. Apparently he was killed in the collision and his parachute opened of itself.

SOCIAL SECURITY

One of the large chains, referring to the security bill now pending in the United States editorially:

"The United States is behind some European in establishing a social system. This reform passed quickly."

"Which reminds us of a dialogue when the mothering to get her small child eat spinach."

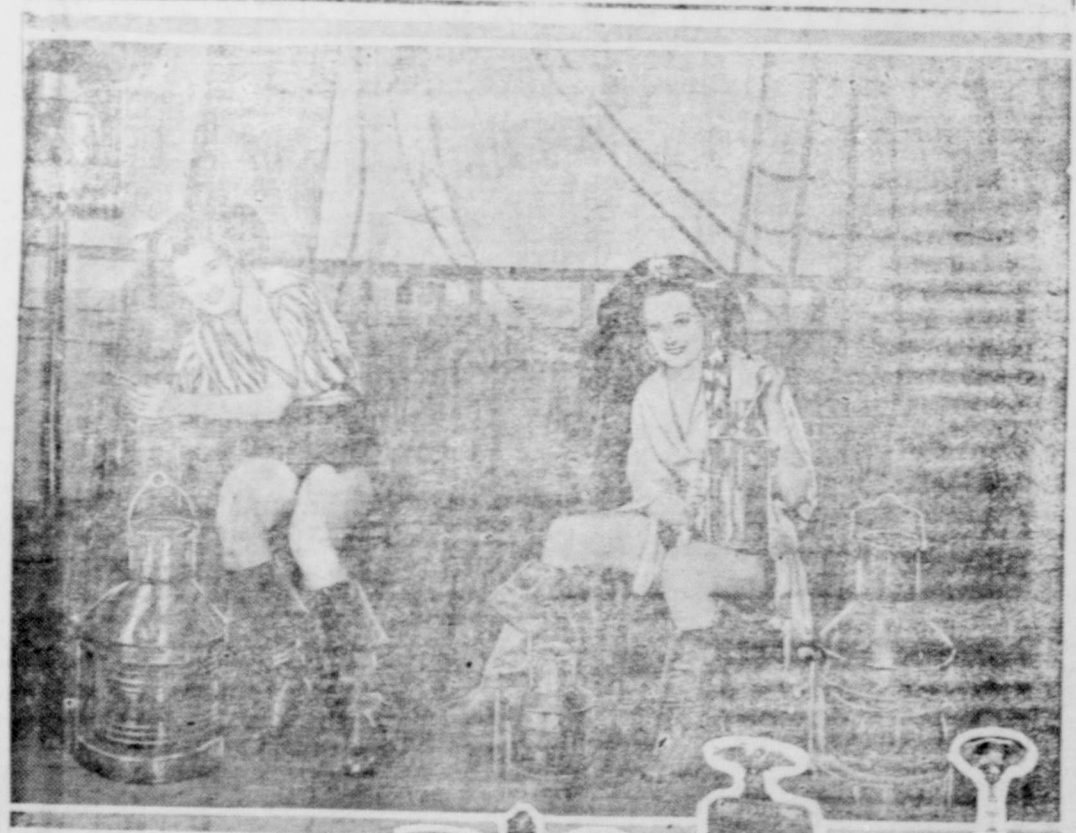

"There are thousands of girls who would like to eat spinach," said the mother. "Name just one," the daughter, ending the dialogue.

So, we request: Name European country that social security that is better than the American system.

True, the American differs from the European. Here, social security is a mythical thing, a set of laws that fall security, as it is the workmen for 150 years enjoyed security of working conditions that them to provide home, insurance and profits for themselves and families. There, the average citizen had to suffice for luxuries in Europe—tomobiles, radios, etc. Here, the employee often is the employer's row. There, men and women are born to "class" strata few are able to climb the wage and so insurable is the social barrier. American industry provided for its workers superior to any that are cured through legislation. Why handicap this payroll taxes which would down instead of building up? The depression is a cause enough to destroy them that represents the of 150 years—progress matched by any other in the world.—Industrial

Copper Lanterns Give Century Of Service

WHEN Captain Kidd, Bluebeard and other infamous pirates plied their nefarious trade on the Spanish Main in the long ago, their ships, as well as the Spanish galleons on which they preyed, were illuminated by copper lanterns. Because this age-old metal cannot rust, these lanterns were often used for more than a century. They saw service on all types of ships that sailed the Seven Seas.

Pedestrians on fashionable Fifth Avenue, New York, are being attracted by a unique and interesting display of some of these old ship lanterns. They were purchased by a buyer of A. G. Spalding & Brothers during a recent trip to England. The collection comprises masthead lanterns, fighting lanterns, signal lanterns and binnacle lamps. Most of the collection was obtained when famous old sailing vessels and H. M. Naval ships were dismantled.

Contrasted with these antiques which weathered battles and storms at sea, here shown three new lighting fixtures that have become very popular. Reading from left to right they are: "The White House", "The Jamestown" and "The Charleston."

"The White House" is mounted against a plate of toned black. It is an exact replica of an authentic Federal Museum piece. The eagle, torch and candle arms are French sand castings, beautifully finished in Federal brass. The crystal chimneys are etched with the Federal star and arrow design. "The Jamestown" is made in brass with a Federal brass finish, trimmed with black. The inside metal is sprayed garnet and the light reflector is in a dull steel finish.

"The Charleston" is entirely finished in Federal brass and surmounted by a beautiful cast brass eagle. The glass decoration is of burnished silver etched in clear glass panels.
