

THE GOLDTHWAITE EAGLE

GOLDTHWAITE, MILLS COUNTY, TEXAS, FRIDAY, JUNE 21, 1935.

NUMBER THIRTY-THREE

Streets Closed by Mayor

The meeting of the municipal officers interested in the work funds for the streets, held in Fort Worth, Texas, Monday, June 17, was presided over by Mr. Montgomery, mayor of this city. Plans have been made by the council for the co-operation of the property owners in the city in carrying out the plan, but it is not certain to be carried out.

At the meeting the three streets which are being paved are progressing rapidly and it will soon be possible to close the highway department's Fisher street.

Remarks

During the evening and the people being sick, we felt just a little better. This is the first we have had in prayer meetings for some time. Let us pull together and make our services now, as it is sponsored by our pastor, begins with Rev. Dr. Wells.

Dr. Wells is one of our general evangelists. Yes, he is an evangelist, but different. Greatly different, I am glad to say, from some that I have known in Virginia, Missouri, Kentucky and other places. He is a high-class preacher without making any extraordinary attempts to impress you. He has shown no disposition to use language in the pulpit for which you need to apologize. He appears not to know what it is to drive people like they were cattle. In other words, he impresses you as a high class Christian gentleman, and seems never to forget that he is expected to be just that. His sermons are always worth hearing and having heard him you feel that you desire to live a better life. Do not fail to hear him every chance you have. Dr. Wells is a singer of splendid ability. He occasionally sings a solo that is decidedly uplifting.

Services each morning at nine o'clock. Each evening at eight o'clock. Come, and come so as to be there on time.

Would it not be a great blessing to our community, to the world, in fact, were we to learn that the one thing this world needs to lead it out of the evil days, the depression and all the things that have befallen us, is a great revival of pure and unfeigned religion. Nothing else is going to save us from the chaos that is, and has been enveloping us for the past few years. Let us think of this, and act upon the suggestion and then see to it that it begins in our own little community. The great revival that swept our country about the middle of the last century began with a noon-day prayer meeting in a church in New York. A mighty revival swept the northern part of Ireland years ago, starting with three young men.

Methodist Notes

The meeting at the Methodist church began, as announced, Sunday morning. There was a fine attendance from the very beginning. Rev. B. L. Nance, the personal worker, was on hand ready for his work Sunday morning. Dr. Wells held his first service Monday evening.

I have known of these men and their work for years. They seem to have met with success wherever they have been and I am sure they will succeed here. Bro. Nance is among us to serve in a work much needed everywhere. He will visit people in their homes and in their places of business, and talk with them about the one important business of the service of God. His universal success, his graying head, the sign of God's approval, indicate that he is engaged in a great work. Let all our people give him a brotherly welcome and show their appreciation of his great work. Should he come to the home of those who are not Methodists, be assured that he comes for the good of the general cause of Christianity, and not through any mercenary motive. Bid him welcome.

Dr. Wells is one of our general evangelists. Yes, he is an evangelist, but different. Greatly different, I am glad to say, from some that I have known in Virginia, Missouri, Kentucky and other places. Old Age Pension Adopted by Senate

The Associated Press brought the news from Washington that the president's social security plan, including the old age pensions, had been adopted by the senate and now is practically an assured fact.

Beginning next month it will offer $15 of federal money a month, if matched by state funds, for every individual over 65 years of age, or needy blind persons of any age. States without pension plans would not have to match the federal fund for the first two years.

It also would appropriate about $50,000,000 for dependent and crippled children, mothers' aid and other welfare work, all of which must be matched by the states.

Eventually the bill contemplates that about 25,000,000 workers will be covered by state unemployment insurance funds to take care of them during periods of temporary idleness.

Altogether the measure contemplates eventual expenditures of between $4,000,000 and $5,000,000 annually, more than the normal present cost of running the entire government.

Although it excludes farm labor, domestics, casual governmental and charity workers, the bill would create a huge national unemployment reserve. Proponents declared it would cover nearly 25,000,000 people who would draw from $10 to $35 a month after they reach 65 years of age.

The people of Texas are to vote on a constitutional amendment in August, allowing the legislature to appropriate $15 per month to match the federal appropriation for the old age pensions.

Birthday Celebration

On the occasion of the twelfth birthday of Lawrence Morrison Stokes, a large party of young people assembled at the Stokes home at 7:30 on Monday evening, June 17, to assist in celebrating the happy event.

After playing a few lively games, partners were found, to go into the dining room, where delicious apricot ice cream was served with the birthday cake. The dining room was decorated with yellow flowers and candles, the lace-covered table held the large chocolate birthday cake, decorated with yellow. Favors were found on the plates.

After the refreshment course the party proceeded to the Melba theatre, where a special section had been reserved for them to see the picture, "The Little Colonel," starring Shirley Temple.

After the show, everyone wished Lawrence many happy returns of the day. The out of town guests were Carl B. McDaniel of Randolph Field and Joyce Mae Weaver of Coleman.

ONE PRESENT

Homecoming At Indian Gap

Indian Gap is making preparations to entertain a large crowd at its annual homecoming to be held on the school grounds at that place Sunday, July 7.

This is the sixth annual affair of this kind that has been held and each year it has grown larger and larger, until it has become one of the big days to be looked forward to in Hamilton county. Former residents come in large numbers and from long distances each year to meet old friends and to exchange greetings. A big basket dinner is a feature of the affair and this year this will be supplemented with free barbecue.

Music will be furnished by the Indian Gap band and orchestra, which boasts some of the best musicians in the county and other entertainment will be arranged for by the committee on arrangements. The secretary is now engaged in sending cards to all former residents of Indian Gap, whose address is known, and all who are interested are cordially invited to attend.

Engine Derailed

Engine No. 4050 of the Santa Fe railroad was derailed on the switch connecting the main track with the sidings at the First street crossing. The accident occurred Sunday night after noon and was caused by a faulty rail turning over. The tender happened to have remained on the track. Engine 3917 from Brownwood, came to pull the derailed locomotive back on the track. The two tenders were connected and engine No. 4050 was again placed on the rails.

The faulty rail was repaired immediately and no trains were kept back by the accident. LMS

Athens Party

Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clements entertained the Athens class and a number of guests in their lovely and spacious mountain home.

Arriving we were welcomed by Mr. and Mrs. Clements and their son, Owen.

The house was beautifully decorated throughout with bouquets of pink roses. After a short business session, tables were arranged for 42 and several interesting games were played. We were then entertained by a program made up of extraordinary singing. First was a number of songs by John Bowman, second, a quartet by the ladies, Mrs. Homer Doggett, Mrs. Frank Bowman, Mrs. Duke Clements and Mrs. W. E. Miller. Next was a quartet by W. E. Miller, Frank Bowman, Earl Clements and Duke Clements. Then we all enjoyed a number of old time love songs by Mrs. W. E. Miller. We Baptists could be assured of a real male quartet now, if we can manage some way to trade the Methodists out of Mr. Clements.

Delicious refreshments of cake, punch and candy were served by group No. 2.

Invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. Duke Clements, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Campbell, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Miller, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Summy, Bro. Swanner, Billie Stephens and Mrs. Homer Doggett.

At the eleventh hour the male quartet began to sing "Good Night, Ladies," so we all knew what that meant.

We wish to thank Mr. and Mrs. Clements for their hospitality. Lewis Gartman, chairman of group No. 3, will entertain next regular social night, which is the second Monday night of each month.

A Fine Report

A report from John Tarleton college is most pleasing to the friends of the young people named. It says: Misses Mordine and Morine Brown, daughters of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Brown of Goldthwaite, were named distinguished students of John Tarleton college in an announcement from the registrar. Twenty-eight students received the "distinguished" ranking during the 1934-35 session. The honor is awarded those who make 81 or more grade points during the school year. Misses Mordine and Morine were also named on the second semester honor roll, as were Miss Wilma Cleo Black, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Irk Black, and Miss Veona Flatt, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Flatt.

Charles Littlepage, son of Mr. and Mrs. Noel Littlepage, formerly of Goldthwaite, also won honor roll ranking.

Heavy Flood Damage In Many Sections

The damage from floods and torrential rains in Texas the past week have been enormous and in some sections the high water was unprecedented. While most of the high water has receded, Wharton and some other places in that section of the state are still menaced by high water.

The highway commission estimates the damage to highways and bridges in the state to be $2,200,000.00.

Six highway bridges were destroyed by raging flood waters Saturday, according to reports to Bridge Engineer G. G. Wickline of the state highway department.

The bridges were: Llano river bridge on highway 9, between Fredericksburg and Mason. Two 180 foot spans and the middle pier washed out, the spans being swept 200 feet downstream. The river at this point was reported nine feet higher than the previous record.

The Llano river bridge at Llano on highway 81. Four 200 foot spans and one pier washed out. The Colorado river bridge at Marble Falls, consisting of one 250 foot span and two 180 foot spans. This bridge was built in 1891.

The Montopolis bridge on the Colorado below Austin, an 1131-foot structure built in 1888.

One span of the Nueces river bridge west of Uvalde on highway 3. The span was 150 feet long. Approaches also were destroyed.

The Nueces river bridge on highway 4 between Crystal City and Uvalde. The railroad bridge paralleling this structure also was demolished.

Bridges between Llano and Mason and between Fredericksburg were washed out as well as the 800 foot structure which served highways 29 and 81. Highway department officials planned a temporary span to replace this last, as the river dropped four feet.

Damage in Mills County

This is the first time in many years that Mills county and other counties in this section of Texas have suffered from too much rain in June. However, it is possible to get too much rain as well as not enough, as has been demonstrated by the rains and floods during the first two weeks of this month.

The county lost a large number of culverts by overflows and high water, the estimate being that the loss to the county will reach $3000.

It was thought for some days that the loss to farmers on account of small grain falling or sprouting in the shock would be serious, but since the cessation of the rains and the starting of the reapers again it has been decided that the loss will not be very heavy, while most growers of small grain suffered some loss. The yield of grain is so much better than was anticipated earlier in the season that many farmers feel they will harvest more grain than they expected anyway.

The rains were beneficial in many ways, while too heavy in some sections. Corn will possibly be carried to maturity by the moisture already in the ground and a good cotton crop is almost assured, while feed crops of various kinds have been made.

The Colorado river and Pecos bayou, as well as the creeks and branches, overflowed their banks, but did not do as much damage as was done by the overflows several weeks ago.

People in the several communities have various estimates of the amount of rainfall and the damage, but when it is all summed up the benefit will far surpass the damage.

Baptist Reminder

My text Sunday morning will be, "Nevertheless, I Have Something Against Thee, Because Thou Left Thy First Love." Rev. 2:4.

We had good services this past Sunday. We had five additions to our church at the morning hour. It always adds to our services when people come into our fellowship.

We are trying to visit all those available for our Sunday school this week. We are visiting by classes. Each class will make its report Sunday morning. If you call by, telephone, write a card or visit in person, either on the street or in the home, count it. Let's do our best Sunday morning. Remember, our preaching service, through the summer, closes at 11:30.

One special feature of our service Sunday morning will be the "Mountaineer's Quartette." If you miss hearing them you will miss a real treat. I have heard them once and they were just fine.

Sunday evening we will meet at the usual hour for our B. T. U. at 7:00 o'clock. We will get thru in ample time for the Methodist revival. I hope that all our people will take advantage of this opportunity. I am praying that this revival will mean much to our town and community.

Storm at Stephenville

The press reports Tuesday told of a severe storm at Stephenville Sunday night. The report said:

"J. R. Ellis, 76, died early this morning from injuries received Sunday night when a tornado struck the eastern part of the city. His three daughters, Anne, Grace and Lucy Ellis, were injured, but all are expected to recover. Several houses were demolished by the tornado and other property damage was suffered. The home of John Woolverton was wrecked in the storm and two automobiles standing in the yard were overturned. The family escaped injury by taking refuge in a storm cellar. M. L. Hays saw the storm approaching and gathered his family together in their automobile and drove rapidly out of its path. Shortly afterward their home was demolished. At the county home a horse was picked up by the storm and carried 300 yards. The storm apparently dipped first in the neighborhood of the Stephenville country club and traveled in a southwesterly direction down the Bosque river."

A Great Revival

Rev. R. E. Duke and his congregation have a fine revival in progress at the Methodist church and big congregations attend every service. Rev. B. L. Nance and Rev. A. R. Wells are assisting with the preaching and other parts of the service and the outlook is for a very interesting and successful revival. The splendid sermons are being discussed in the homes and on the streets and there is a spirit of co-operation among the people of the town, regardless of denominational lines.

Brother Bowles gives a full outline of the meeting and the plans, as will be seen by reference to his Methodist Notes.

Automobile Accident

Monday afternoon as Harve Kelly and Joe Dixon were driving on the South Bennett road, about three miles east of Goldthwaite, a punctured casing caused their car to swerve and run into a ditch, turning on its side. Mr. Kelly's left arm was caught under the car and badly crushed at the elbow, one bone protruding. He was hurried to a hospital in Brownwood, where the broken elbow was set and it is hoped and believed the arm will be saved.

Mr. Dixon was not hurt in the accident.

Lampasas Stores Burglarized

The dry goods store of Stokes Bros. & Co., and Fox & Mills Hardware Co., both at Lampasas, were broken into early Sunday morning by burglars who cut holes in the roof in both cases. They first took a small amount of cash and several hundred dollars worth of merchandise from Stokes Bros. & Co., packing it into suitcases. They then left the suitcases on the roof and entered the hardware store next door and were knocking the knob off the safe when Jack Long, the special officer, discovered them. A man was arrested outside the store and lodged in jail and another was arrested later in the day.

All of the stolen merchandise was recovered on the roof, where the frightened thieves had abandoned it.

Sheriff J. Hern Harris was notified by phone Sunday morning in time to search the west-bound train, but found no one answering the description of the wanted men.

Bride Honored

The Tuesday Study club honored Mrs. Raymond Little with a bridge party and linen shower Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Bob Steen, Jr.

Mrs. Steen's home was lovely, cut flowers being attractively placed about the rooms. Bridge was the main diversion until an announcement came over the radio concerning the work of the "love bugs" this season in Goldthwaite. All ears tuned in to listen until the announcer, Julian Evans, directed Mrs. Little to a certain box in a certain room of the home, where she was being entertained. The box proved to be filled with household linens for the honoree. High score prize, a pretty "what-not," was also presented to the bride.

Delectable refreshments were served buffet style in the dining room. Seated at the table, which was laid with lace and centered with daisies, the club flower, Mrs. Sparks Bigham served the salad.

Those present other than the club members were: Mmes. Walter Summy, J. D. Brim, Jr., Paul McCullough, Earl Summy and J. T. Sanders of Arlington. XX

Slumber Party

To compliment Allene Ross of Goldthwaite, who has been visiting here with her cousin, Billie Scott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Steve W. Scott, Betty Fuller entertained with a slumber party at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Fuller, 409 West Washington Drive, Wednesday night, June 12.

Breakfast was served the next morning, covers being laid for the honoree, Billie Scott, Jane Covington, Jay Dean Perry, Viola Beth Hearn, Mary Thompson, Frankie Dean Tate, Gwendolyn Irvin and the hostess.

The visitor is to leave today. Mr. and Mrs. Scott and Billie will take her as far as Ballinger—San Angelo Standard Times.

Girls' Auxiliary

Tuesday, June 11, the intermediate girls met at the Baptist church to re-organize the G. A., with Mrs. T. F. Sansom as leader. The following officers were elected: Thelma Henry, president; Aline Ross, vice president; Wanda Bledsoe, secretary; Gloria Armstrong, reporter; Wilma Bledsoe, assistant reporter.

June 18, the second meeting of the G. A. was held at the Baptist church. Twelve members were present. Several committees were appointed. Next Tuesday at 4 o'clock in the afternoon, a social will be held in the Carl Bledsoe home. We invite all of the intermediate girls who are interested in G. A. work to come.

I didn't learn whether the faithful few had Sunday school Sunday morning or not.

I wish everyone of you could see our mail carrier's new car. Gee, it is pretty. No reason now for us not to get our mail on time.

The men worked faithfully at the bayou to get the truck out Friday. We hope nothing else happens as dangerous as that. The men were very fortunate in not getting hurt badly.

Don't fail to go to church Saturday night and Sunday, as it is Bro. Homer Starnes' appointment.

Did you ever hear as many wedding bells ringing in your life. Almost all at once. If you noticed, it was town bells ringing.

The rain and wind did quite a bit of damage in our part last Friday night. Some of the corn has straightened up, but some is still down, and the grain was flat on the ground.

Canning is the pastime work now. Some are canning beans and plums. I guess those who have been piecing pretty quilts will lay them aside until the canning season is over.

E. E. McKnight and family from Brownwood spent Sunday in J. F. Davis' home.

Mrs. Ben Davis has the job as supervisor over the canning in this county. We are proud it was some from here who got the job.

We hear that our friend, Haskell Gatlin, who lived in Rabbit Ridge, has gone back to Coleman, where he will work for his parents. We hope he won't stay away very long.

Mmes. Ellis and Souders called on Mrs. Loy Long Monday afternoon, while in town.

Mrs. R. C. Webb was very brave Friday afternoon. She killed a large rattlesnake. It was close to the house. Her turkeys gave the alarm.

Interesting Items From Over the World

Belief that the coming year would mark the real beginning of "picking up of the greater part of the unemployment slack" was expressed Monday by President Roosevelt in discussing the work relief program.

The house completed congressional action Saturday on a bill to create a national park in the Big Bend sector of southwest Texas and sent it to President Roosevelt for signature. The bill, by Representative Thomason of El Paso, authorizes Secretary Ickes to acquire by public or private donation as much as 1,500,000 acres in Brewster and Presidio counties on the north bank of the Rio Grande and create a public park.

A polite note cabled to Washington and approved by the French cabinet informed the United States that France would default on her war debt payment due Saturday for the sixth successive time. France's eagerness for stabilization of the franc, dollar and pound, which authorities here consider essential for trade recovery, was hinted in the note. It declared that government's readiness to seek an acceptable basis of settlement as soon as circumstances permit.

Under the Nine-Power treaty the United States, Great Britain, Japan, China, Italy, the Netherlands, Portugal, Belgium, and France bound themselves to respect the sovereignty and territorial integrity of China. Japan has warned China that her invocation of the treaty would result in serious consequences. Reliable sources say the Chinese government has sent a note to Great Britain and the United States. In the case of the note to Britain the United Press learned from a trustworthy British source that the Chinese ambassador appended a remark virtually appealing not only for consultation, but for action by the signatories to the treaty.

A petition for reorganization under the national bankruptcy laws was filed Friday in federal court by the Postal Telegraph & Cable company. The action came as no surprise to the financial world, for it has been known that the company was considering some means of ending its long succession of deficits resulting from inability to earn its fixed charges. The $120,000,000 corporation was formed in 1928 as a holding company for the Mackay companies, which then were brought under the operation and control of the International Telephone & Telegraph company. The Postal telegraph and cable system comprises a network of telegraph lines extending throughout the United States and 37,000 nautical miles of submarine telegraph cables extending from the United States to Europe and the Far East. Through a subsidiary, Mackay radio, the company also has an extensive radio communications business.

Japan is preparing to take its official decennial census in October, with the expectation it will show a population of nearly 70,000,000 in Japan proper, greater than the homeland population of any other world power except the United States and Russia. The Japanese do not rank China, India and the Dutch East Indies as world powers. It also is expected that the count will give the Japanese empire, including Korea, Formosa, Saghalien and smaller possessions, and mandates, a total of 100,000,000 subjects of the Mikado. If to this figure is added the 34,000,000 or 35,000,000 inhabitants of the "independent empire of Manchoukuo," actually under the protection and control of the Tokyo government, the portion of the human race whose destiny is directed from Tokyo approaches 135,000,000, approximately equal to the population that lives under the Stars and Stripes. Japan's census is a one-day affair, and the count is expected to be an accurate picture of the population at the midnight which ushers in Oct. 1. The takers will swarm into every household in the empire that day.

JAPAN'S DEMANDS China cannot accept Japan's demands, national government officials said early today, because they would reduce China to the status of a protectorate. The first open demand of Japan's aggressive military leaders was made shortly after the national government's executive council, China's highest executive body, met in an urgent session and reportedly decided to reject some of the Japanese demands.

The AAA administrator Monday estimated the 1934 cash income from wheat, including adjustment payments, at $380,000,000, the highest figure in four years.

Gen. Calles, iron man and political dictator of Mexico, bowed out of the government picture Monday, leaving President Lazaro Cardenas to continue his program.

A move to make the British navy the permanent measuring rod for all the principal navies of the world was seen in diplomatic quarters Monday, as a result of the disclosure Germany has agreed to permit the regulation of the size of her navy by Great Britain.

Governor Allred appealed Monday for contributions to the Red Cross for funds to carry on relief work in flood-stricken areas. "The disastrous floods in central Texas," he said, "have resulted in suffering and sorrow. Many families are homeless, without food and, worse, without medical care." Unless immediate steps were taken, he warned, "epidemics are likely to follow."

Without dissent the national house Saturday virtually ended all traces of the "1933 economy act" by approving the bill to return 50,000 veterans to the pension rolls at a cost of $45,581,132 a year. Advocated by President Roosevelt soon after he took office, the act removed pensions from many Spanish-American, Boxer rebellion and Philippine insurrection veterans, who could not prove disability in line of duty.

Believe it or not, but Robert A. Thieme, 103, of Downey, Cal., celebrated his birthday recently. On his birthday Thieme showed his fifteen marriage licenses and photos of his fifteen wives. He owes his longevity to moderation, he says. He is the youngest of twenty-five children and was born in Savannah, Ga., June 9, 1832. He has had sixteen children, losing seven boys in the World War. He has outlived all his fifteen wives and spent a quiet birthday reminiscing with his former wives' pictures.

The Huey Long "share the wealth" substitute for the administration social security bill was rejected Monday by the senate. The substitute, offered by Senator Long, would have provided old age pensions for all people over 60 who did not have an income of $500 a year or property worth $3000. It would have been financed by a capital levy on wealth beginning at 1 per cent on fortunes of $1,000,000 and 99 per cent on all above $8,000,000. Long's plan was defeated by a chorus of "noes" without even a record vote.

Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, Monday proposed an amendment to the constitution, prohibiting the supreme court from holding an act of congress unconstitutional unless the decision was by more than two-thirds, or seven, of the nine justices, and unless the action was started within six months after enactment of the law. Norris is author of the "lame duck" amendment to the constitution, which prevents members of congress defeated in November from serving until March and provides that congress meet in January.

After 2000 years the Great Wall of China is to be repaired. American tourists and not the exigencies of national defense are behind the move. Yearly hundreds of American visitors go to Peiping and make the short train journey to Chinglungchiao on the Peiping Suiyuan railway. There they mount the Great Wall and wander over its large stretches as it climbs the mountains. Top surfaces of the brick work have been loosened, while the various towers and crenellations have disappeared. This havoc of time and predatory natives is to be restored as part of a million dollar campaign fostered by American tourist interests to make Peiping a tourist capital and promote trans-Pacific travel on United States ships.

France Leads Race To Rule Atlantic

Normandie's Maiden Voyage Marks New Chapter in Ocean Rivalry

IN 1940, Samuel Cunard, founder of the British shipping-line, began regular ocean-sailings with the building of the first group of sister-ships, Britannia, Acadia, Columbia, and Caradonia. The latest ocean-going vessel, the French Line's Normandie, has just docked at the new Hudson River pier after her maiden voyage.

The Queen Mary, the British bid for Atlantic supremacy, will come a year later. Reports that enormous first-class accommodations of either of these superliners, easily could hold the Normandie, which made a record ocean-crossing in 1934 from Liverpool to New York of fourteen days and eight hours.

Financed, in part, by government banks, work was begun on the French Normandie and the British Queen Mary to win for one or the other the tourist and luxury passenger trade to Europe.

Simple in line, an honest, sturdy, sea-worthy ship, the 1,018-foot Queen Mary, now a mere hull, will dock in the Hudson River some time in 1936. But the sleek, pert, smart Normandie, with all the charms of the latest creation by a Paris draughtmaker, has taken the lead. Her predecessor in the French Line docked in New York from Havre in 1934, a mere 730 feet long, and 8,400 tons.

Eleven Stories High Approximately 1,025 feet long, of 79,230 gross tons, eleven stories high, 125 feet from keel to top of chart-room, the Normandie is equipped to carry 2,000 passengers and a crew of 1,339.

Her beam of 119 feet and six inches will not permit her to pass through the Panama Canal.

Needed New Docks To dock such an immense floating mass, New York City through a PWA grant of $1,152,000, has erected a three-story steel and concrete shed at Dock No. 88 in the Hudson at a total cost of $4,785,500.

Preparations to assure a berth of forty feet—the Normandie draws thirty-eight feet—and supporting the present twenty-three piers by thirteen larger of steel and concrete will cost $19,200,000.

Pari-Mutuels Lose Fight in New York

LEGISLATORS in twenty-five States that have adopted the legalized form of betting known as pari-mutuels still are wondering why and why New York State passed up a million or more in revenue when the Senate turned down pari-mutuels and left the field to the book-makers.

Table titled "Last Year's 'Take' From Pari-Mutuels" showing revenue by state: California $339,213; Washington 149,060; Oregon 625,291; Ohio 135,796; Maryland 863,265; New Hampshire 658,629; Rhode Island 312,414; Kentucky 223,593; Michigan 580,000; Texas 553,285; Illinois 545,670.

Mutuels a Menace Mutuels in New York, these people point out, would soon end thoroughbred racing all over the United States. They admit that betting in the pari-mutuel machines has not ended racing in other States, but they say that they see the end coming. New York, minus mutuels and the all-consuming "take," will soon become the "backlog of the sport," they say.

The system in New York is different. There the book-makers bet that the public is wrong, which it probably is, but in theory at least the public is not betting against its own money. The $100,000 which was sent into the machines at Miami, and of which only $20,000 came back, may bring the public a million in New York.

Public Losses In other words, the public at least has a chance to beat the book-maker, and often does; it never can win at a mutuel track. At mutuel tracks a few of the lucky ones win, of course, just as in New York, but the drain of the "take" is on the community and, in the end, even the lucky ones, or their bank-rolls, must be eaten up by the machine.

Second Largest Diamond Bought

American Buys Stone Insured for $1,000,000

HARRY WINSTON, New York City gem-dealer, has bought the Jonker Diamond, world's second largest, from the Diamond Corporation, Ltd., of London.

Winston, saying that he "wanted the finest gem in the world," is reported to have paid $1,000,000 for the stone. It is insured for at least $1,000,000 by the St. Paul Fire and Marine Insurance Co.

Cullinan Largest The largest uncut diamond in history weighed 3,106 carats. It was christened the Cullinan Diamond, after the chairman of the company which discovered it.

The Jonker Diamond, uncut, weighs 726 carats. Emerald-cut, it would be the second largest cut stone—weighing about 425 carats. The uncut stone will be shipped to the country soon.

A BETTER 100 PER CENTISM

Americans do their system of government an injustice when they clamor against free and open discussion of other systems. They betray lack of conviction that representative government can bear the impact of increased knowledge. In expressing confidence that Communism and Fascism can without danger be discussed in American schools, and can be critically compared with American government without undermining loyalty to that government, Secretary Ickes of the Interior Department displays an Americanism that has nothing to fear from any other isms.

"If I were not satisfied that our American political institutions are the most enlightened and freest in the world, I would join the ranks of those who would forbid the hateful words Fascism and Communism even to be spoken with a whisper in our schools."

This is the kind of confidence by which a true 100 per cent American should be known. Those who lack such faith may after all achieve little comfort from the banning of outspoken examination of all governmental doctrines, for they cannot forbid the utterance aloud of "hateful words" without driving those words into that far more dangerous sort of discussion which is whispered.

But those whose desire to defend representative government spring from their own enlightened belief that it is the best system under which men may live happily and progressively, will not try to shield it from attack as one would shield a weakling, but will let it go into battle as a strong man.

Democracy needs no alliances with ignorance or partial ignorance. Dictatorship—Fascists or Communist—may thrive on half-truths. Free government can stand the light—Christian Science Monitor.

WORLD'S CHAMPION BUTTER-PRODUCING COW Femeo Johanna Bess Fayne, nine-year-old registered Holstein cow, has just completed an official test which established her as the highest record-holding cow alive. Her record is 1,525.5 pounds of butter in 365 days, churned from 32,727.1 pounds of milk. Only five cows in the United States have ever produced over 1,500 pounds of butter in a year and Bess Fayne is the only cow in the world to have passed that mark twice, having produced 1,500.70 pounds in 1932. Bess Fayne is owned by F. E. Murphy, publisher of the Minneapolis Tribune and owner of the world record of Femeo Fayne at Brookside, Minn. She was bred at Femeo Farm, where she is kept with other champion butter cows.

ODD ACCIDENTS

Smoke emerging from the crevices around the lid of a casket twice delayed a New York funeral until water could be poured in with the corpse. It was believed a spark from a cigarette of someone viewing the body before the casket was closed had ignited the shroud.

While Joe Wagner was working in a North Carolina factory the drive belt of a machine caught his coat and hurled him thru a window. Joe was only bruised, but he had to buy a new coat.

Mrs. Alice Barstow of Texas kept a candle burning at night and she also permitted her cat to remain indoors. This resulted disastrously when the cat prowled too close to the taper and caught fire. The feline rushed into a closet, setting fire to and destroying most of her mistress' wearing apparel.

An Oregon man, John Woodson, was burned about the face when the "shell" rims of his eye-glasses caught on fire as he lit his cigar.

Bathtubs still stand high as a cause of accidents. An Illinois lady, Mrs. Ida Perry, drowned in one while taking a bath. Her head became submerged after she fainted.

Fractional animals mean little to Pete Miller, Oklahoma cowboy, who has handled many bucking broncs and steers unscathed only to be vanquished when a rooster kicked him. Two deep gashes in the leg were inflicted when the big bird attacked and spurred him as he entered the ranch yard.

It's just no use to try to hide from those Wisconsin golfers. A hard driven ball struck Mrs. Jno. Marter in the eye, after it had crashed through the front door of her home, bounced from the hall into the living room and on into the kitchen, where she was cooking a meal.

Lightning may or may not strike twice in the same place but locomotives can and frequently do. An Illinois motor club reports the case of an out of state motorist and his wife who were struck by a train at a grade crossing. Exactly one year later the same man with the same wife in the same car was struck by the same train at the same crossing.—Pathfinder.

With Conoco Germ Processed Oil in your crankcase, you KNOW the strain won't hurt your motor!

Tests prove this new alloyed oil has 2 to 4 times greater film strength than plain mineral oils and resists heat better!

On July 4th or week-end and vacation trips, you'll want to drive far and get there in a hurry. And you don't want that nagging worry of "I wonder if this speed and heat will hurt anything in my motor."

You can't always be sure when you use plain mineral oils, for they have little film strength and oils over-refined by new cleansing processes have even less. Moreover, as motor heat goes up, these oils rapidly lose film strength.

Film strength is the load-carrying ability of an oil, the quality that keeps bearings and cylinders from wearing out. Lack of film strength results in costly damage.

You can drive without a worry when you use Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil! It has 2 to 4 times greater film strength than any plain mineral oil. Heat does not lessen this advantage.*

Supervised road tests—over good and bad roads, at low and high speeds, in all kinds of weather—give practical proof that Germ Processed Oil protests motors better. In every test, metric measurement of motor bearings showed that Germ Processed Oil prevented wear far better than plain mineral oils. Tested in a fleet of equipped with the new alloyed bearings used in many 1935 cars, high-quality plain mineral oil permitted 45% more wear on connecting rod bearings than did Germ Processed Oil.

CONOCO GERM PROCESSED MOTOR OIL PLAIN MINERAL OILS

HERE'S THE PROOF

Note that as heat increases, the plain mineral oils continue to lose film strength, but that above 225° (Minimum Summer crankcase temperature) Germ Processed oil's film strength is not affected by heat. Tests made with Timken machine.

Conoco Germ Processed Motor Oil is the first alloyed oil—alloyed, as metals are, by adding concentrated oily essence to highly refined oil. The only oil made by the Germ Process. It is the oil with the "High Quart" that stays up in your motor and never drains away!

Say "O. K.—Drain"—fill with Germ Processed Oil. Drive far—drive fast—without a worry!

THE GREATEST RAIN FALL OF THE YEAR

Thursday night, one of the heaviest rainfalls of the year fell here. It continued to rain most of Friday, with a recess to Saturday night, when several more inches of rain fell.
More than ten inches in all, came making this a wet June. A few have reported poultry drowned, others a small loss to grain. A great benefit was given to the corn, though the sun is needed to help straighten the corn up. A few pretty days of sunshine will remedy that. Most of the creek farms lost fences and there are no idle people at the present here. Grain fields are calling for help and a few days or weeks of sunshine will now be needed to harvest the crop.

UNION REVIVAL MEETING BEGINS JUNE 30.

The union meeting between the Baptist and Methodist churches of Mullin will begin the 30th of June. It will be held under the Baptist tabernacle, near Baptist church. We want the cooperation of every member of those churches and all others who will, to make this meeting a real blessing to our community.
This is a day when we need a revival. Will we pay the price to bring it to pass?
Miss Grace Willholt of Coleman will have charge of the song service. She is very fine. She is a splendid worker with young people. Rev. Hal C. Wingo will do the preaching. He is pastor of the First Baptist church at Santa Anna and is a very successful pastor. He is a great soul winner and an excellent preacher. Let's pray for him and help him with our presence.
The third quarterly conference will convene at Mullin June 23. Rev. H. S. Goodenough, pastor of the Central Methodist church will preach at the 11 o'clock hour. Our presiding elder, Dr. J. T. McClure, will be with us in the afternoon. There will be dinner served at the church. We are expecting a good crowd from the other churches and hope to have a great day together. Let every official have his or her report well in hand. The public is invited, and we especially urge the community to come for the 11 o'clock hour to hear Brother Goodenough. Faithfully yours,
CHESTER WILKERSON, P. C.

PASSING OF J. J. CANADY

J. J. Canady died Saturday night at 7 o'clock in a Brownwood hospital, where he had been for several days and had submitted to an operation in hopes of restoration to health. He was born in Alabama and came to Texas when a small child. Mr. Canady settled in this section about fifty years ago and located in Mullin about 20 years ago. He was a member of the Baptist church, quiet and reserved, a man of few words and many friends.
He is survived by the bereaved widow and four children—R. P. Canady of Ballinger, O. J. Canady and Mrs. Will Sanders of this city, Mrs. J. L. Pickens of Lometa and a number of grandchildren.
The funeral services were held here at the Baptist church Sunday afternoon, Rev. T. F. Cooper and Rev. L. J. Vann, officiating. Pall bearers were his grandsons, Prentiss, Glen and Jack Sanders, Harrel, Murray and Melvin Canady. The floral offering was beautiful. Interment was made in Oakview cemetery.

NARROW ESCAPE

Barney McCurry drove on the Slack bridge late Thursday evening with his last load of lumber for the day, when the west span, with the new steel girders collapsed, and Mr. McCurry and truck fell about seventeen feet to the bottom of the bayou. The truck was pierced by a pecan tree, through the seat and but for the quick wit of Mr. McCurry, who glimpsed his danger and jumped to the running board, he might have been killed.
He received only a few minor bruises and the collapse of the west span of the bridge was due, probably to the recent rains.

Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Patterson of Hamilton came over Friday to spend a few days of his vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Hancock. They were mud-bounded at Lake Merritt and stuck several hours and were doubly glad to reach the parental home.

Thursday, a travelling man, en route to Charlie Ashton's missed a culvert, went over and down into the mud and slough, and was a gigantic task to get the car out a few days after taking so much rain for an introduction to Mills county.

H. S. McCoy had cut six acres of fine wheat and Mullin creek rose and swept it off clean.

MILLER GROVE

Rain, rain. It seems as if we have had plenty of rain. The rain did some damage, in the community, as it washed grain away for several farmers. All water washed up some cotton. It has been said that North Brown creek, which runs through this community, was higher than it had ever been.

THE PRESIDENT'S COURAGE

"One could easily praise the president for his courage," writes Walter Lippmann in the New York Herald Tribune. "But the fact is that courage is perhaps his finest and most habitual virtue, as it is the source of his greatest political power."

"He has made mistakes, his judgment is not infallible. But courage he has never lacked at the decisive moments in the past two years."

"Whatever else may be charged against him, it can never be said by any fair-minded man that he has ever shrunk from danger or run away from trouble."

"One has only to look at the powerful lobbies he has defied to see that a gallant man is at the head of affairs. The people know it. That explains his prestige."

NOTICE TO THE PUBLIC

Any erroneous reflection upon the character, standing or reputation of any person, firm or corporation which may appear in the columns of this paper, will be gladly corrected upon due notice being given to the editor personally at this office.

A Continual Call

Newspaper publishers had a right to hope for a cessation of calls for free publicity, to a large extent, in an off-political year, but their hopes have been badly grounded, since the calls increase steadily and from every direction. It has come to be a regular business with organized associations to call for free publicity for every conceivable object and almost every line of business. They maintain offices, a force of stenographers and mimeographing outfits to prepare the copy. Not only do private individuals and many lines of business resort to this method, but various departments of government make steady and persistent calls for this free space, not realizing, possibly, that space and advertising constitute the newspapers' stock in trade. When a publisher attempts to be liberal and give them a reasonable amount of his space free they redouble their efforts and calls. This paper endeavors to be liberal in the use of its space for every public call, and this appears to encourage the calls for more and more, seeming to inspire the thought in the minds of those free space solicitors that they have found one publisher who is easy, hence the copy should be doubled in volume. The Texas Press Association, in its Galveston meeting last week, entered a mild protest to this constant demand for free advertising when it referred to the Texas centennial publicity. Every newspaper in Texas wants to have a part in making the centennial celebration a success, but so far there has been ample means provided for stationery, stamps, stenographers, office help and every other facility for providing the advertising for the centennial but not a dime for the publication of the propaganda. The newspapers are expected to do the publishing free, on the hypothesis that the paper is to be published anyway, and needs something with which to fill its columns. On the same basis, the railroad trains are running anyway and the travelers in the interest of any public enterprise or organization should be given free transportation.

Public Works Program

The government's extensive and liberal program of providing for all manner of public works, either as government undertakings or partial public enterprises, has had the effect of providing employment for many people and a continuance of the program through the dull months ahead, when employment will likely be at a low mark and the unemployed rolls are likely to grow. It is one of the most wonderful plans ever promulgated by any government or directed by any nation. The immense appropriations recently placed in the hands of the president by congress will enable the government to continue to provide funds for many undertakings, all of which are for the public good, such as water works and sewer systems, the extension and improvement of highways, the elimination of grade crossings on railroads and similar plans. All of this work will be helpful to the country, as well as provide employment and none of the money will of necessity be wasted. To be sure, much of the public funds will be secured from the sale of bonds and must be repaid in time, but an emergency exists at this time that makes the expenditure for the purpose of providing employment a most worthy and laudable cause.

No Loss Possible

The community or individual householder and property owner who makes improvements in preparation for the centennial celebration, with the thought of attracting attention and admiration of the visitors who are sure to pass through this state during the time of the celebration, will have no reason to regret the expenditure of time and money in beautifying property and surroundings. Such investments are always profitable, even though they do not result in a sale or even an increase in the value of the property involved. There is a certain amount of satisfaction in the ownership of attractive and well kept property that can not be measured in dollars and cents. Then, too, the improvements in a large majority of cases, will incite other property owners to improvement and when this is done there will be advancements along many lines, such as better sanitation and reduced fire hazards. All betterment and beautification that is done in the interest of the centennial celebration will redound to the interest of the property owners and the community.

Licensing for Safety

The new Texas licensing law soon to be in operation is expected to be of benefit in preventing wrecks and accidents. It certainly is to be hoped such a result will be attained, for a change of some kind is badly needed in every community in the state. Every year in this country alone, some 35,000 people die—victims to improperly driven motor vehicles. Among them are the famous and the obscure, the brilliant and the mediocre. Each life lost means that the nation's resources have been sapped—such death means misery and unhappiness to others. Reckless driving is an unbeatable game, at which the player always loses—and which likewise penalizes and robs the innocent. Some means should also be discovered to protect the traffic from careless and insolvent pedestrians who apparently deliberately put themselves in the path of the traffic and expect drivers to look out for them. Careless and reckless drivers are responsible for many of the accidents, but not all of them.

An Effort Toward Protection

Millions of dollars are lost in Texas each year by citizens who buy worthless stocks and securities from irresponsible people. This loss, when calculated in aggregate for a number of years, is simply appalling and the last legislature, in an effort to protect the citizens, adopted a law requiring the sellers or agents for such stocks and securities to be registered with the secretary of state. This law takes the place of the old Blue Sky law and is said to be more enforceable and is broad in its definition of what constitutes securities. This law will not give absolute protection to those who are inexperienced in selecting securities or making investments, but it is an effort in that direction and it will at least have a deterring effect upon those who would attempt to sell worthless securities to the people in this state.

REORGANIZED NRA

The Blue Eagle with clipped wings will continue to stroll around the barnyard, fences, however, restrained in activities and it is far from being the arrogant bird of yesterday. The executive order terminates the National Recovery Board and reorganizes the administration of what remains of the recovery act under the extension authority provided by congress. This indicates that, in the emergency of the expiring original law, the administration has rallied its ideas of how to proceed and now presents a sensible plan. This embodies both orderly complete demobilization if this becomes necessary and continuance with trained personnel if this should prove possible.

The country at large will agree with the President that NRA workers should be retained for the present at least and not released outright to the relief rolls. Nor can there be much criticism of the administration's effort to preserve the NRA structure on the permitted basis of statistics collection, administration of voluntary codes and protection of labor so far as collective bargaining can go under the act.

James O'Neill, successor to Richberg, or to put it more accurately, the man who takes over the new job that Richberg did not want, has a background of experience with NRA. What is more important in the changed character of its administrative leadership he has executive training. Probably Richberg might have had the post, yet he must have felt that both his special talents and his ideas of NRA's real mission would be wasted, if the wild Blue Eagle is to become a domesticated fowl at the end of a leading string.—Dallas News.

During the five years ending with 1933 over $4,500,000,000 was paid as fire insurance premiums in the United States.

Taxes paid in the United States now amount to more than $9,500,000,000 or one-fifth of the national income annually.

Still more than 94 per cent of the persons of working age in this country in the year 1933 did not pay any income tax to the federal government.

Figuring on the basis of the 1930 census, there are now approximately 47,000,000 people in the United States 18 years old or older who are able to work.

Nearly six million hunters in this country paid close to nine million dollars for state licenses in 1933, the last year for which records are now available.

HELPING WITH RELIEF

A complete record of local participation in the relief program will be kept beginning with the month of June, according to instructions issued to county relief administrators by J. T. Duke, director of finance of the Texas relief commission.

"It is hoped," Mr. Duke said, "that through a complete report of local participation, Texas may be granted a larger share of federal emergency relief administration benefits. In view of this fact, we are asking counties to report each month the amounts expended in connection with the relief program through other agencies than the Texas relief commission.

"Examples of such contributions are utility bills, rents, materials provided on Texas relief commission work relief projects. Such expenditures are made in practically every county by either city or county governments. SHOULD RANSOM BE STOPPED

Department of justice agents have run up a magnificent record of captures after kidnappings. Yet kidnappings still occur and ransoms continue to be paid. Sympathy with the family of the "snatched" victim has usually impelled officials in the United States to leave channels clear for communication with the criminals and for compounding the felony with them by payment for their crime. Consider the handling of two abduction cases in neighboring countries.

In Cuba, a few days after young George Weyerhaeuser was kidnaped in Tacoma, Wash., conspirators seized Antonio San Miguel, a railroad president, and demanded $286,000. Police immediately took into custody his closest associates to prevent payment of ransom. Three days later Senor San Miguel was released unharmed.

Some months previously a wealthy brewer in Ontario was abducted. There, too, the members of his family were at once placed under guard and the notice was given to the criminals through whatever newspapers they might be reading that there would be no opportunity for contact or passing of money. The man soon was back in his home and the kidnapers could not claim even a momentary profit from their crime.

The reasons for keeping the channels of communication between kidnapers and the victimized family open until the hostage is safely returned are understandable enough. Nevertheless, cases in which these channels have been kept open but without averting tragedy, give rise to inquiry as to whether the technique employed successfully by the Cuban and Canadian police should not be tried in the United States.

Enforcement belongs on the enforcement of the law and detection and punishment of crime as a protection to society in general. In a case of kidnaping this protection should extend to all those families who may be threatened if this practice shows an appearance of occasional profit. It is a point to consider whether, in this war on kidnaping, the state does not have a right and even an unpleasant duty to intervene against the payment of ransoms.—Christian Science Monitor.

WHY THE EMBLEM?

A writer in discussing the reason for the adoption of the bald eagle as a national emblem gives some interesting facts and history when he says:

"The eagle was called in ancient mythology the bird of Jove and it was believed that it bore the souls of the dying to their abode on Mount Olympus. The bird was also sacred to Cishnu in the mythology of India and is the bird of wisdom in the mythology of the Scandinavians.

"The ancient Etruscans first took the eagle as a symbol of royal power and bore its image upon their standards. The Romans adopted the same symbol in the year 87 before Christ, the second year of the consul Marius. A silver eagle, with expanded wings, poised on the top of a spear, with a thunderbolt held in its claws, was adopted as the military standard to be borne at the head of the legions. This image was made of silver until the time of Hadrian, after which it was made of gold. The standard adopted by the Byzantine emperors was a two-headed eagle, as a symbol of their control of both the east and the west. From these early standards come all the eagles on the standards of modern nations.

"The emblem used in the United States is the large, bald-headed eagle, its use, which dates to the beginning of the republic, was partly inspired by its connection with the Romans, those early champions of civil liberty; but, of course, also by the bird itself, which has always occupied a position in human esteem similar to that of the lion. It suggests power and commands respect and acknowledges no creature as its superior."

well as the type of contribution or donation such as used clothing, loan of equipment, utility service, non-relief supervision, materials on work relief projects, will be recorded along with the value or amount of these contributions."

EDITORIAL COMMENT

VIEW OF THE NATION'S PRESS ON TOPICS OF INTEREST AND IMPORTANCE

TARIFF AND COTTON

A hopeful sign, it seems to us, is the more outspoken manner in which Secretary Wallace insists that revision of the tariff downward is absolutely essential to domestic recovery. Secretary Wallace makes it very clear that such tariff revision is essential to recovery for cotton, but he makes it equally clear that this applies also to general recovery. Undoubtedly, Secretary Wallace has "chosen," if the published reports of his Foreign Affairs article accurately reflects its general tenor. He no longer contemplates the possibility of choosing the course of economic isolation is untenable. If we are "America Must Choose" that he "leans" toward the international point of view. Evidently he has quit "leaning" and is insisting that the course of economic isolation is untenable. If we are justified in this assumption, it is a hopeful sign, we say. For it may presage the following of a more definite policy on this subject by President Roosevelt himself. There are no signs, it is true, that the president has any immediate intention of doing anything about it. But there is at least ground to hope that his annual message to congress next January will deal with it more definitely than any of his previous messages, and that he will make definite recommendations to congress.—Texas Weekly.

WHEN WILL IT BE?

America will attain greater prosperity than ever before. More individuals and families than ever before will share in this prosperity. More families than ever before will own their own homes. Our current total of 21,500,000 automobiles will be doubled. Our 13,500,000 telephones will be more than doubled.

Such little-used conveniences, and comforts, as air-conditioning equipment, sun lamps and television receivers will be commonplace in the home.

Much better provision will be made for caring for those thrown temporarily out of employment.

In short, a better day will dawn—certainly!

That isn't the opinion of a professional optimist of the "prosperity is just around the corner" school. It is the opinion of B. C. Forbes, the realistic financial analyst.

The natural question to ask, then, is when are all of these blessings going to come to us? And that, in Mr. Forbes' belief, is largely dependent on the activities of government. He is confident that the pent-up natural forces of recovery are rarin' to go—and that only man-made obstacles are standing in their way. Fears of inflation, stifling taxes, government competition with private business, industrial regimentation, bureaucratic regulation of our great businesses—these are the friends of depression and the enemies of recovery. What is needed, in Mr. Forbes' words, is "a sensible get-together between government and governed; a pact to work in harmony rather than at cross purposes. . . ."—Industrial News Review.

INSTALLMENT BUYING

Installment buying is in a big way. It is an American plan. Europe was slow to take hold of it, and there has been much learned discussion of its dangers and advantages by European savants. But the masses over there are taking to it with avidity. It raises the living standards of the people as a whole. It gives them the use of a thing while they are paying for it, and if they waited until they had saved all the money necessary for an important purchase they might wait until doom cracked. Yet there are grave risks in installment buying. It conduces to extravagant buying. Extravagance, whether on the installment plan or by bank check, is capable of dissolving family fortunes almost before the family is aware of the impending catastrophe.—State Press in Dallas News.

SYNOPSIS OF AMENDMENTS

In an outline of the seven constitutional amendments to be voted on in August the Houston Chronicle gives a short and comprehensive synopsis of the amendments, when it says:

Texas voters should soon turn their attention to the constitutional amendments which they must vote on August 24. Everyone knows, doubtless, of the prohibition repeal amendment which will be before the voters on that day—and it is to be hoped everyone knows how he or she will vote on it—but the fact that six other amendments will be presented on that same day probably has slipped the minds of many people.

The official ballot will present these propositions:

1. Authorize the legislature to appropriate money for old age pensions, up to $15 per month for each person in the state more than 65 years of age, with the legislature empowered, of course, to impose such restrictions on these payments as it may deem wise.

2. Authorizing 90-day commitment of persons suspected of insanity to state hospitals for observation without necessity of a jury trial.

3. Repealing the provision prohibiting the sale of alcoholic liquors.

4. Authorizing submission of constitutional amendments at special sessions of the legislature.

5. Authorizing trial judges to extend suspended sentences, place defendants on probation and revoke suspended sentences for cause.

6. Abolishing the fee system as a method of compensating public officials and substituting the salary plan.

7. Authorizing the state to supply free textbooks to the private as well as public schools.

WHY WAR?

Once upon a time wars were explained by hunger. Peoples roved from place to place to find means of feeding themselves. Those who had fertile lands and fields of growing grain excited the envy of those who lacked. They fought to defend while the aggressors fought to win.

But in these days while civilization is in peril of extinction because of the perfection of the arts of war, there is too much food. There is so much wheat in the world that it is spoken of as a "glut." And the representatives of the nations meet in London in an "international wheat conference," not to find ways of procuring bread, but to come to agreements to grow less grain.

Out of London comes the news that "a new crisis in wheat production more serious than that of 1933, unless 'an act of God' or a new export restriction agreement intervenes, was forecast in a report presented at the opening of the conference."

Only divine wisdom could comprehend why men need to waste lives and treasure in war in a world that in time of peace produces too much of everything that men need to support life.—Livestock Reporter.

FARMERS FORGE AHEAD

Farmers of Texas are carrying on adjustment programs, regardless of all wild rumors that the recent supreme court decision endangers the adjustment program and more than 70,000 new contract signers have shown up this year in the various commodities, according to the assistant state agent of the Texas extension service, who reported that he traveled through twenty-six counties last week, including the lower Rio Grande valley, and in all of them the farmers are going ahead with the programs.

Confirming them in their confidence, Secretary Wallace issued the following statement a few days ago. "In co-operation with the leaders of congress, amendments to the agricultural adjustment act are being perfected, which are intended to bring the act's provisions as to marketing and licensing into line with the supreme court decision and also to safeguard the farm-

RUN DOWN OR WOUND UP

There are two kinds of fatigue, physical and mental. Physical fatigue. People collapse physically who suffer from a case of "nerves."

A case of "nerves" will result from continuous mental stress caused by anything that is a constant source of anxiety, worry, apprehension or fear. The cause removed, nervous tension subsides.

A noted physician puts it this way: "Many people think they are run down when in fact, they are all wound up." So the thing to do is to unwind, to get rid of anxiety, worry, fear.

There are certain things in this world that can't be helped. Why be over anxious about them? Why try to control them? There are things that may happen. Why cross the bridge until you come to it? There are things to fear, but until we contact them why waste the nervous energy we need to combat them? Why get all wound up?

One thing is certain, a person will not become run down who has not been wound up.—Town Crier.

"The maximum penalty possible in event of conviction under the Lindbergh law is life imprisonment, in view of the fact the 9-year-old lumber heir was returned unharmed. The death penalty is provided under Washington state law.

Officials of the bureau of agricultural economics, discussing results of the annual survey of the trend of population to and from farms in 1934, said that while there had been net gains in the farm population in 1934, there had been only a quarter of the huge march back to the land that took place in 1933. While conditions varied in different sections of the country, they said that in the northern and northeastern industrial states the reduction in migration from cities, towns and villages to the farms "was probably the combined result of a farm housing shortage, somewhat better employment opportunities in non-agricultural industries and the larger cash relief payments generally available to urban residents as contrasted to rural dwellers."

Rosendahl Defends Use of Dirigibles Drive Launched for Construction

America's Foremost Air-ship Expert Cites Record of Goetz Zeppelin in Commercial Service in Defense of Lighter-Than-Air Craft

"SINCE the War, submarine accidents have caused two and a half times as great a loss of life as air-ships; marine disasters forty times, railroads 300 times, automobiles, 1,000 times; yet we hear no talk of discontinuing construction of submarines, steamships, railroads, or automobiles," cried Lt. Comdr. Charles E. Rosendahl, U.S.N., before the Society of Automotive Engineers, meeting in New York.

Slender, youthful, assured, a striking figure in naval uniform, the man who is considered one of America's foremost experts on the construction and navigation of air-ships made a brilliant defense of dirigibles both for peace and war. His address is expected to launch a new campaign in this country for continued construction of large rigid air-ships for naval defense and commercial development.

As commercial carriers of passengers, dirigibles since the loss of the Macon at sea off the California Coast, on February 14, roused a storm of opposition to further air-ship construction.

No Real Opposition

In the audience were engineers and scientists of international reputation, several of whom, it was reported, had come for the purpose of "moving up" the air-ship idea. If this was the case, they must have become converted before the hour of questioning arrived, for no very real opposition appeared.

1. Large load-capacity.
2. Long cruising-range.
3. Ability to go slowly, or stop in mid-air, without falling.

The Graf Zeppelin, for example, since September, 1928, and up to December, 1934, had made 423 individual trips, flying a distance of 630,000 miles. She had carried 10,500 passengers, at a speed averaging sixty miles an hour; mail to the extent of 57,500 pounds; freight, 96,000 pounds. Her total time in the air was 10,905 hours.

A POISON INSECT

The sting of an unidentified insect brought quick death on Tuesday to a man of Davis, Oklahoma. Rushing into his home, he told his wife a bee stung him on his ear and asked her to apply medicine. She started to apply a home remedy, but his face and body turned black. She summoned a doctor just as the man died, fifteen minutes after being stung. The doctor said he did not know what kind of an insect stung the man.

EBONY

One of the hardest rains ever known fell here Friday night. Buffalo creek and the Colorado were torrents next morning.

R. M. Haynes said he had a seven-inch bucket in his yard that caught full. Jim Tippen says there was an olive oil bottle out at his house that caught full. He measured it and found it to be eight inches. Wash kettles caught full. Some say that there was ten inches of rain.

Others say that by measure which they had there was twelve inches of rain. The river got over part of the Wilmett farm, the White farm, and the Hosea field. The creek ran over most of W. M. Clement's field. A branch of the creek flooded and washed a good part of Cloud Mashburn's field. Most everybody's garden washed and damaged.

Clifford Crowder says the water got up in his kitchen. Oats were damaged badly. Many terraces were broken.

Miss Lily Bell and D. Ford of the Brownwood nursery, were married in Brownwood, Wednesday, June 12. This came as a surprise to Lily's friends here, and even to her own family, but she has nothing but good wishes for them.

RATLER

Bro. Renfro preached Sunday morning and evening. There was a large attendance at both services. There was also baptizing Sunday evening. One candidate being baptized in S. R. Stewart's tank.

We certainly have had the rain the past week. Last Friday night, believe it or not, it was estimated that from 15 to 20 inches. The small creeks completely destroyed the crops that were on the streams, as well as others that were not. The rain came in such torrents it washed oats out of the fields and they will have to be replanted.

S. R. Stewart and wife and Ellis Wallace and family enjoyed a chicken supper in the Tas Renfro home Saturday night.

D. C. Collier and family and Ellis Wallace and family had dinner in the Renfro home Sunday.

Tas Renfro and wife and S. R. Stewart and wife had dinner Sunday with George Bogush and wife.

Mrs. George Brooks had relatives visiting from west Texas, a few days last week. They returned home Friday, except her mother, Mrs. Thompson, who will spend the next month with her.

The roads are almost impassable around by Mullin, since the big rains. We certainly hope the bayou bridge will be completed before long.

Bro. Renfro is making preparations for threshing in a few days.

Our revival meeting will begin Friday night before the first Sunday in August. May we all try to be prepared to attend the meeting and try to make it the best revival meeting we've ever had in Ratler. Bro. B. F. Renfro will do the preaching.

Let me mention also that an ordination service is to be held the second Sunday in July. Four deacons will be ordained and one minister. Everyone that will come is heartily invited to be present at this service.

Guanita Bell had dinner with Florene Griffith Sunday.

Canning time is here and the housewives are busy as bees trying to put up all they can for the winter. The Lord has blessed us wonderfully with the good rains so we could have good gardens.

Our mail carrier sure has had a time the past week. The roads are bad, but he is ever faithful. He only missed Saturday and he got stuck at Ridge and could not come any farther. We all hate for his time to be up, which will be the first of July.

Sunday will be preaching day. Everyone try to be present.

AN INCREASED NAVY

France Wednesday night was discussing enlarging her navy in answer to the Anglo-German naval agreement which, it was freely asserted, wrecked the 1922 Washington treaty.

A naval race was forecast in quarters close to the chamber of deputies naval committee as a result of the accord allowing the Reich naval tonnage 35 per cent of Great Britain's.

Members of the committee, which met secretly, said its consensus was that the Washington treaty was dead and France was free to build whatever warships she chose. The majority, it was stated, favored building up the French fleet at once.

men holding a prayer meeting in an old outhouse. Would it be too much to expect that God would begin a great work in Goldthwaite?

We have been having great rains, destructive rains, helpful rains. Now the weather has fared up and we are trusting that our people may be able to harvest their grain, so much needed. God is good to us after all. Let us be thankful.

As a matter of news the great papers of our country are announcing that the beer barons have held a convention to tell congress that they are opposed to congressional control of the beer business. This is no news to any of us. We know that no liquor business has ever been willing to be controlled. It is true that they insisted, when clamoring for the repeal of the eighteenth amendment, that they wanted repeal so that the business could be controlled. But they never fooled any one who has ever taken the trouble to learn anything about their tactics. The only thing that the liquor business wants is to be let alone, so that it may dam souls or do anything else, just so it gets the shekels. J. S. BOWLES

GOOD FORTUNE FATAL

A 60-year-old "wild cat" oil operator who won and lost three fortunes, died in Fort Worth Tuesday, just as he had made a fresh strike in a territory of which many experienced oil men were skeptical.

Two hours before a heart attack caused his death at his home he was told of the discovery of oil in a new Anderson county well he was drilling. Elated over the news, he ordered lunch as he talked of the new well, expected to prove up thousands of acres in that territory. A few minutes later, before a doctor could arrive, he was dead.

MRS. DEISING PASSED AWAY

Mrs. Deising passed away yesterday morning at her home in the Priddy community and friends of the family announced to the Eagle that her funeral would be held at Priddy today.

J. D. Urquhart, who has been very sick for several weeks, reported improving.

Editor Hensley of Anderson county, was a visitor here yesterday and made the fraternal call.

Hubert Martin and wife and Arthur are visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. B. and other relatives in Waco.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Waco are visiting with Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Martin in this city and relatives in Big Valley, who are looking after his farm interest and orchard.

Rev. R. E. Duke returned day evening from a visit to his son and family in Austin, accompanied home by his granddaughter, Elaine, daughter of Dr. Duke of Austin.
